High School "A" Tourney Starts Today

Fifteen Basketball Teams Compete for District Championship.

Fifteen Class "A" high school cage teams will open their campaigns this afternoon for victory in the district basketball tournament, which starts today at the Wayne State Teachers' college gymnasium and runs through tomorrow and Saturday.

Superintendent of Schools H. R. Best and Fred Dale of the college faculty are in charge of all tournament arrangements. Trophies will be awarded to the winning teams in championship and consolation flights.

Pairings for today's games are as follows:

- 2 p. m.—Allen vs. Newcastle;
- 3 p. m.—Crofton vs. Hartington;
- 4 p. m.—Wisner vs. Pender;
- 6 p. m.—South Sioux City vs. Randolph;
- 7 p. m.—Laurie vs. Wakefield;
- 8 p. m.—Walthill vs. Wayne;
- 9 p. m.—Ponca vs. West Point.

Pilger drew a bye for the first round. Waterbury high school's cage quint, winner of the Class "B" tourney here last week, will play Craig, the winner of another Class "B" tourney, Saturday night, for the privilege of going to the state tournament in Class "B" division.

Officials in charge of tournament arrangements are anticipating large crowds in attendance at all games. A record crowd is expected Saturday night, with the Class "B" game as an added attraction.

Wayne high school's chances for victory are said to be none too good, with the blue and white hoopers presenting only an average team this year. The local high school, however, has always been formidable in tournament play, and cage enthusiasts are voicing the opinion that "anything may happen."

TWENTY-FIVE FIRMS GIVE CONTEST VOTES

Here's Where You Can Get Travel Tour Ballots.

Approximately 9,000 Popularity Contest tickets have been given out by 25 Wayne business places in the first two and a half weeks of The Democrat competition for a summer vacation trip. Tickets may be obtained from any of the participating firms, but must be asked for at the time of making purchase or paying bill.

Each business place has a ballot box. People having votes may fill them out and leave them in any of these boxes, bring them to The Democrat office, or give them to any contestant.

The list of participating firms is as follows:

- Merchant and Strahan.
- Fisher-Wright Lumber Co.
- Dr. W. A. Emery
- H. H. Bachmeyer
- Johnson and Hawkins
- Baker's Garage
- Thompson and Bichel
- Palace Cafe

Mrs. C. A. Chace Is Recovering from Illness

Mrs. C. A. Chace, who underwent an operation Tuesday evening at the Wayne hospital, was said by hospital attendants to be in an improved condition this morning.

Don Miller Files for Representative

The political plot thickened yesterday, with the filing of Attorney Don P. Miller of Wayne on the republican ticket for State Representative.

Frank J. Klopping, present incumbent, has filed for the same office on the democratic ticket.

Dr. A. Texley of Carroll has filed on the democratic ticket for county commissioner, and W. H. Rees of Carroll has filed for the same office on the republican ticket. Henry Bethwisch, present incumbent, filed this morning on the Republican ticket.

County Judge J. M. Cherry has filed to succeed himself. Grant S. Mears filed yesterday for republican county convention delegate from the third ward. Dr. J. G. W. Lewis filed on the republican ticket Wednesday afternoon for county convention delegate from the second ward.

Vote Battle Missing From City Caucus

Nomination Fight Fails to Materialize; Harmony Prevails.

Anticipated fireworks failed to materialize at the caucus of the Citizens' party held Monday night in the city hall, and all candidates for office were nominated without opposition. Several hundred people were present to support their candidates in a predicted battle.

Martin L. Ringer was nominated as candidate for mayor, with Wm. Orr, present incumbent, refusing to run again. A rising vote of thanks was given the retiring mayor for his efficient conduct in office for many years.

Walter Bressler was the only nominee for the city clerk's office, and A. T. Cavanaugh was nominated for city treasurer by acclamation.

C. E. Carhart and Don Cunningham were nominated to fill positions on the board of education.

James E. Brittain acted as chairman and Len McClure as secretary of the caucus.

At the ward caucuses, held immediately following the city meeting, all present incumbents were nominated to succeed themselves. Council candidates are: First ward, Ed Ellis; second ward, Dr. J. G. W. Lewis, and third ward, Carl Wright.

Young Man Gets Stiff Fines on Liquor Count

Milton Olson, said to be a University of Oklahoma student, is "laying out" fines and costs totaling $117.25 in the county jail.

Olson was tried in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court on Monday, Feb. 29, for intoxication and possession of intoxicating liquor, on complaint of Police Chief W. A. Stewart. He pleaded guilty to count one and not guilty to count two, but was found guilty on both charges.

Judge Cherry fined him $10 on the intoxication charge, and $100 on the possession charge. Upon failure to pay, Olson was committed to the county jail.

Former Wayne Student Dies of Induenza Attack

Word has been received here of the death of Rev. Elmer L. Corbit, pastor of the Methodist church at Chester. He was a graduate of the Wayne State Teachers' college, having received his A. B. degree here in 1930. He was known in Wayne for his fine tenor voice, and was a participant in many Wayne musical functions.

Rev. Corbit died Saturday at a Hebron hospital, after a brief sickness caused by the effects of influenza.

He is survived by his wife and three small children, three sisters and two brothers.

Competition Increases in Popularity Contest

Evelyn Stephens went from fourth position into first place in The Democrat's Popularity Contest last night, with a total of $1,100 votes. Faye Winegar, holder of first place last week, was close behind in second position with 72,350.

Mercedes Reed advanced from seventh place to third, with a total of $9,800, and Alvern Johnson was only 300 votes behind, with Zola Belle Wilson and Mary Margaret McGarraugh in a tie for fifth place. Hazel Neilson, in seventh place, needed only 400 votes to tie for fifth.

Aulda Surber, Laverne Erxleben, Ruth Gamble, Violet Meyer and Helen Swanson were way up the list with substantial numbers of votes.

Some of the contestants further down the line, however, are said to be holding back votes for the final drive of the contest.

The girl who amasses the highest total number of votes by the end of the competition will be given her pick of a vacation trip to Bermuda, Cuba or Alaska, with all actual expenses paid. If she prefers, she may take a Bock Travel Tour of Yellowstone Park and take the difference in cash.

Twenty-five Wayne firms are giving votes with cash purchases or payment of bills, and The Democrat is giving 1,000 votes on every new subscription and 500 votes on every renewal subscription.

That the outcome of the contest is still greatly in doubt is probably attested to by the fact that the four leading contestants in a Popularity Contest conducted by the Norfolk Daily News all turned in over three million votes during the last three days of competition. One of the winners was a considerable distance down the list until a few days before the end of the race.

Votes in The Democrat contest are being counted every Wednesday evening at The Democrat office, and all contestants are privileged to be present at that time. A recount of all ballots will be made at the close of the competition by a committee consisting of County Judge J. M. Cherry, Martin L. Ringer, City Clerk Walter Bressler, G. A. Wade and George B. Anderson.

Ira Embody Receives 40-Day Jail Sentence

Ira Embody's address for the next 40 days will be Wayne county jail, as a result of belligerence on his part against Chief of Police Wm. A. Stewart.

Police Chief Stewart testified in county court Monday that Mr. Embody got tough with him, resisted him and heaped abuse upon his head. It is a matter of court record that Mr. Stewart defended himself ably.

County Judge J. M. Cherry found Embody guilty of intoxication and resisting an officer, sentencing him to 10 days in jail on the first count and 30 days on the second count, with the sentences not running concurrently. Embody must also pay the court costs of $10.50.

Police Chief Stewart and Wm. Parent testified for the state, and Ira and Jerry Embody testified for the defense.

One-Handed Collegians Beat High School Quint

Wayne State Teachers' college basketballers presented an experiment in juggling Tuesday night in the college gym, when they defeated the Wayne high school quintet in a one-handed handicap game. The final score was 34 to 19, in favor of the Collegians.

Wisner's town team took a one-point loss from the college "B" team in the second game of the evening, getting the short end of a 25 to 26 score.

WILDCATS DEFEAT CHADRON, 46 TO 10

Local Team Wins Second Place in N. I. A. A. Conference.

Wayne's Wildcat cagers ended their season on Friday afternoon, Feb. 26, in a blaze of glory, with the Chadron Eagles taking the extremely short end of a 46 to 10 score. The Wildcats, after opening the season disastrously, were firmly entrenched in second place in the N. I. A. A. conference.

Alexander, Andrews and Lindanood, playing their last hoop game for the local college, wound up a creditable season by playing a stellar game.

Score at half time was 22 to 9, and the Chadron basket-tossers added one lone point to their total in the second half. Bartlett, regular Chadron center, was on the sidelines with a "charlie horse." McGregor, Chadron long shot artist, made one field goal.

Alexander, with 12 points, and Andrews, with 10, were high scorers for Wayne.

Guy Best of Norfolk was referee. Immediately following the game, Lloyd Sexton of Orchard was elected to serve as captain of the 1932-33 team. Sexton will be a senior next year. He has played in 16 of the 18 cage games this season.

Captain W. R. Knight, known as "the bird man", spoke at the Wayne State Teachers' college auditorium last night and presented his film of bird life.

Paper Adds Many New Subscriptions

The Nebraska Democrat this week welcomes many new faces to its constantly growing circle of regular readers.

Entries in The Democrat's Popularity contest have turned in a substantial number of new subscriptions and renewals. Each new subscription entitles the girl making the sale to 1,000 votes, and each renewal gives the contestant making the sale 500 votes.

When you subscribe to The Democrat, you receive the News of the county written in a live, snappy, readable style. You get 52 issues of a four-page four-color comic section, the most expensive single feature ever presented to its readers by any Wayne county newspaper; a highly interesting and informative editorial page, with Scott Shots, the weekly column of sense, nonsense and gossip; full coverage on society news; many columns of short local items; The Inquiring Reporter, a weekly analysis of public opinion and many other features.

Voters Hear Political Talk By Griswold

Republican Candidate for Governor Speaks at City Hall.

Dwight Griswold, Gordon editor and former President of the Nebraska Press association, who is a republican candidate for governor, addressed a meeting of voters at the city hall Monday evening, following the city caucus. He outlined many of the policies which he is proposing in his campaign and vigorously attacked the type of candidate who makes vote-getting promises with no expectation of putting them into effect after his election.

He attacked the plan of making complete changes in the personnel with every change in the governor's office, and suggested that Nebraska could well afford to adopt a state civil service law.

Mr. Griswold contended that the rule of the gangster and murderer could best be brought to an end by a more efficient state police system, with more attention being given to the qualifications of the men appointed, keeping them on the job permanently, as is done with the Canadian mounted police and the postal department detectives.

Attempting to raise the state's money also entirely from a property tax is no longer equitable, Griswold said, due to the fact that property now represents only about one-third of the income but pays seven-eighths of the taxes.

A state income tax is all right but cannot produce sufficient revenue by itself for our needs, he said, because of lack of many large incomes in the state. Likewise, he pointed out, a sales tax levies on the necessities of life.

"I feel that the intricate problem of state taxes will never be solved in the heat and stress of a legislative session. There is too much jealousy, too much party politics. The best hope would be to have a competent committee representing agriculture, labor and industry work out a balanced program," he said.

Saying that he could offer no ready-made solution of past banking difficulties, Griswold declared that we must never again permit an accumulation of a large number of banks. He insisted that a well-paid, efficient force of bank examiners must be developed to insure properly financed and managed banks.

KIWANIS CLUB

Fred S. Berry, scheduled to speak at the Wayne Kiwanis club Monday noon, was called to Lincoln on business and so was unable to appear. Miss Mirabel Blair favored the Kiwanians with two piano solos, and T. S. Hook led the community singing.

Waterbury Is Champion In Cage Finals

Wayne Preps Lose Last Game in "Class B" Tournament.

Waterbury high school's center, a tall boy with an amazing knack of sinking long basketball shots, spelled downfall for the Wayne college high cagers in the finals of the Class "B" district hoop tournament Saturday.

The final score, 26 to 21 in favor of Waterbury, was the result of see-saw basketball, in which first Wayne, then Waterbury, led alternately throughout the entire second half. It was a beautiful game, with both teams playing a brilliant brand of basketball. Waterbury's lead came in the final few minutes of play, and the crowd was in a frenzy from watching the kind of game that would do credit to two college teams.

In the first round, Bancroft drubbed Belden, 33 to 7. Emerson beat Carroll, 20 to 3. Wayne Prep defeated Concord, 36-13. Magnet won from Rosalie, 24 to 21. Winnebago beat Holy Trinity of Hartington by forfeit and won from Wayne high school, 21-13, in an exhibition game. Coleridge overwhelmed Dakota City 24 to 2, and Waterbury beat Hubbard, 41-12. Winside beat Wynot, 20 to 12.

In the quarter-finals, Emerson won from Bancroft, 27 to 19, and Wayne Prep drubbed Magnet, 56 to 8. Winnebago nosed out Coleridge, 10 to 7, and Waterbury defeated Winside handily, 29 to 14.

In the semi-finals, Wayne continued its "hot" streak by beating Emerson, 46 to 11. Waterbury beat the Winnebago team, 18 to 14.

Winnebago and Emerson, in a fight for third place and the Logan Valley conference championship, put on one of many good games of the tournament, with Winnebago winning, 18 to 10.

Wynot beat Rosalie, 18 to 13, in the consolation finals.

Wayne Firms to Hold Fashion Show at Gay

Wayne will have an opportunity to witness a first-class style show on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, March 23 and 24. Local dealers, cooperating with E. E. Galley, manager of the Gay theatre, will present a forecast of fashions on those dates.

The style revue will be presented in connection with the regular showing of motion pictures, with a complete change of program in both movies and fashions planned for both nights.

The Inquiring Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION "What is your hobby or favorite form of recreation?"

Mrs. J. Q. Owen: "I don't believe I have a real hobby. I'm so very busy."

Miss Marian Ahern: "I have so many. Would I be too general if I would say athletics and outdoor sports, especially swimming?"

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen: "Everybody knows my weakness is reading and writing. Without a doubt my favorite recreation is reading, and I spend most of my spare time writing."

Mrs. L. W. McNatt: "Art, I guess. I enjoy any kind of fancy work or painting — anything in that line."

Mrs. C. L. Pickett: "I like to study and keep house. I particularly enjoy the study of art and literature."

Mrs. G. J. Hess: "My hobby is flowers. There is nothing I enjoy more than working around among flowers and plants in the yard."

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 41 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, March 3, 1932 Vol. 6

We did pretty well with our writing this month. We sent a New York editor three stories and he sent us back four.

And we did pretty well with our coal customers this winter. We sent three deliveries to several of them and quite a number ordered the fourth.

Whether we like it or not, the present predicament of China should be a warning to us that it is much safer to place our dependence in armaments than in treaties that are not kept.

You'll be prepared for freakish spring weather if your coal bin is supplied with coal during the next sixty days. Promises of the "weather man" are not always dependable, you know.

The spring rains are going to find the holes in your roof. If there are any, call us and we'll have a man on the job right away.

Shop Girl: "Could I interest you in a bathing costume, sir?"
Mr. Gay: "You certainly could, baby, but my wife is over there at the glove counter."

We know we can interest you in a home. Ask us for free estimates.

Down to Lincoln last week at the lumbermen's convention, a dealer said: "I don't mind carrying customers on my books in these tough times, but I sure gets under my hide to find out that they are going to my competitor and paying cash for the merchandise I have to sell." Well, buddy, that's one of the peculiar quirks of human nature. It isn't right, but it's done just the same.

There are two kinds of men—those who can't be trusted too far and those who can't be trusted too near.

There is no better time than right now to get farm machinery in shape. We have clear oak lumber on hand for this very purpose. We also have clear fir, which is usually better than the original wood in the machine you have to repair.

"Have you seen Flossie's new evening gown?"

"No. What does it look like?"

"Well, in most places it looks quite a bit like Flossie."

Have you seen 4-SQUARE lumber? It looks a good deal like ordinary lumber, too. But in most places it is different. The price is no more.

Chickens have a habit of running all over everything in the springtime and into many places where they are not wanted. A few banner posts and a few rods of poultry fencing will keep them where you want them. We have the material.

Whether the pedestrian gets an even break or not depends a great deal on where they hit him.

A few days ago a well known Wayne county farmer drove into our yard and said he wanted a load of the best cedar posts we have. But contrary to the usual rule, he insisted on having all the crooked ones. It has been well known to lumbermen that the crooked post will outlast the straight ones, but it is a rare thing to have a farmer insist on having them.

WITH THE WAYNE CHURCHES

Presbyterian Church Notes

P. A. Davies, Pastor

"Action is necessary to life; take it easy and die." The Sunday exercise that is found in church attendance has been commended as both invigorating and life giving. Our services for next Sunday are at the following hours: Sunday school 10 a. m., morning worship 11 a. m., Intermediate and Junior Endeavor service 5:30 p. m., fellowship supper 6:15, study of book, "Turn Towards Peace," 7 p. m. The lesson Sunday evening will again be conducted by Dr. J. G. W. Lewis. Between 60 and 70 were in attendance last Sunday at the first session of this study and there was the deepest interest. The hour seemed all too short. We are looking for a large crowd next Sunday evening. A great book, selected by many of the denominations as a Mission study book of the year, a very competent leader, who has given time in the study of the subject, and a people anxious for the truth gives assurance of an hour full of interest. Remember that each family brings its own meal. Coffee will be served at the church. We are glad to note that families are making this a light lunch as it should be Sunday night. Be on hand promptly at 6:15 next Sunday evening.

The Presbyterian Aid was entertained at the church last Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. E. Beckenhauer, Mrs. A. B. Carhart and Mrs. Frank Griffith.

Announcement will be made Sunday in regard to time of Young Peoples C. E.

We are in the last month of the church year. The Board of Trustees are exceeding anxious that all pledges made be paid. For if all are paid, all obligations will be met.

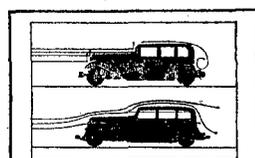

Methodist Episcopal Church
Harold C. Carsey, Minister

The Lenten season is a time of special religious interest and it brings to our minds more closely than any other time the great message that is the center and heart of the Christian Gospel. We are making the month of March "Church Attendance Month" and asking our members and friends to make a special effort to attend the services of the church each Sunday of this month. The services will have a special interest leading up to Easter Sunday morning at 11 the sermon will be "What's Wrong with the Church?" In the evening at 7:30 the pastor will preach from the text, "An Alabaster Box." There's a welcome at these services and at the church school and the Epworth League.

Easter Sunday evening the choir will present a special Easter Cantata. This will be a beautiful service that all can appreciate and enjoy. The choir practices each Wednesday evening.

A TASTE OF WAR

I am opposed to war, and so is every other man who fought in 1917-18, except perhaps, the professional soldier whose business it is to fight. I'd like to impress upon the younger fellows, the boys in or just out of high school, the terrible tragedy, the uselessness and utter folly of war. To them war means glory and excitement. We have always glorified war instead of teaching the truth. But let me tell you there is no glory when your body is a torn heap of

WAYNE MARKET REPORTS

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press Thursday:

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Price. Includes items like Corn, Oats, Cream, Eggs, Hens, Leghorn Hens, Old Roosters, Springs, and Hogs.

FARM LOANS

Where some of this so-called agricultural relief goes was supposed to have been disclosed by testimony given before a senate investigating committee some time ago.

The testimony, referred to was that of George S. Milnor, vice president and general manager of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation...

At the same time Milnor admitted that it might be possible for those connected with the organization to profit by knowledge of its operations...

But just what profit was derived by the growers of wheat, of cotton or other commodities, still remains a mystery. The growers were not helped in the least...

ON THEIR WAY OUT.

The "lame duck" resolution which has been refused by the house session after session, went through with flags flying Tuesday.

The real bone of contention has been the provision which calls for two unlimited sessions. An attempt to limit one of the sessions was made in the house under the Longworth leadership.

It is unfortunate that no attempt was made to provide a short session with a flexible ending which would guard against filibusters. It would be a simple matter for the senate to provide a limit on debate when, toward the end of a session, the first sign of a filibuster appeared.

A NEW WONDER

Wonders may never cease. So long as the human mind can be shocked by the acquisition of new knowledge the world will hear of new wonders.

Every gathering of scientists throws out to the world new wonders. Here is one of the latest: "A railroad train could be operated by the power thrown out by a new radio tube demonstrated before a meeting of American Electrical Engineers at Pittsburgh" during the past week.

Production of such power may be one thing and harnessing it for commercial use may be entirely different. When one of these radio power producing tubes pulls one of Ralph Budd's hundred car freight "trags" over Berks hill at least one interested spectator can be counted on.

NO WHEAT FOR CHARITY

It appears that we were too optimistic in anticipating legislation that would enable the use of stabilization wheat for charitable purposes. The bill passed the Senate all right, but when it got to the House, there were numerous cross currents of opinion and opposition.

All of which is rather discouraging. People and livestock in our country suffer for food and feed while the government has millions of bushels of wheat on which it is paying about 1 1/2 cents per bushel carrying charges and is not permitted to give it away.

The Farm Board has authorized the Grain Stabilization Corporation to sell wheat on credit for food, feed or seed to counties, cities or other responsible units of government.

A HARD PATH

A newspaper has a hard path to hoe no matter how you look at it. If it gives in to everyone's whims it's merely a football of the community—not a business run by a single man.

Here's a situation that an editor often confronts in the business of getting out his paper: He solicits a party for advertising and receives the reply that "Nobody reads the paper." Later this person runs afoul of the law and wants to conceal the fact.

What was the editor to do, then? Some people in the community won't support him with their patronage yet they would fawn on him in case they need something hushed up. Such problems as these are met everyday by country editors all over the land.

POETRY AND POETS

There are few things more lovely than a poem. From poetry we get the most precious thoughts and feelings of our fellow beings.

In poems the most sordid things of life are given color and made attractive. The small and obscure things, of which we never think are brought to light and given a chance to play their part in furnishing room for thought.

Poetry gives those a chance to see who otherwise would not see. The poet gives the people living in cities and towns, who seldom have the opportunity to observe nature as it really is the chance to see nature as it appears to him.

In quiet hours when thoughts are most dear, poetry brings a feeling of serenity and silent joy.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grier and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Jensen attended the Schopke-Knoll wedding Thursday at the St. Paul Lutheran church in Wayne.

McLain Grier went to North Bend Tuesday where he and his family will make their home for the coming year.

Wilma Jensen spent Thursday at the Irve Reed home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schroeder and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Gramberg spent Friday in the Anton Olsen home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen spent Sunday afternoon in the Fred Otte home.

Birthday Party.

In honor of Fred Reeg's birthday the following neighbors gathered at her home Saturday evening to help her celebrate: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Perdue and son, Allan, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Conser, Mr. and Mrs. Will Finn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barellan and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Back and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Grone and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Koppishil and children, Mr. Henry Kieper, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Surber, Virginia Keeney and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hoffman and family. The evening was spent at cards and a lunch served at mid-night.

"I'm from a big family, you know" said Smith, during a conversation about big families. "You are? How many of you are there?" asked Jones. "There are ten boys" replied the first, "and each of them has a sister."

SCOTT SHOTS

by "SCOTTY"

One of the members of the Wayne city council stops the Scott Shoter on the street and says, "Your Street Operative who saw the councilman drive past the Stop sign has probably seen plenty of trucks and commercial cars violating plenty of traffic ordinances. I have. They're consistent offenders and nothing seems to be done about it."

Really, don't you think Wayne's city council is a mighty efficient, honest, conscientious organization? I do. It's easy to criticize, but these holders of thankless jobs are doing better than most of us would do in the same place.

Speaking of thankless jobs, there's the board of education! The poor school board member gets it in the neck, regardless of which side he takes on any issue.

Let's give a burst of applause to the powers behind the two local high school basketball tournaments. Gulliver, Best, Dale and Hickman wouldn't deserve so much credit if they were in business here and could profit from their labors—but they can't be accused of having any axes to grind.

The Heron Lake (Minn.) News carried the following enlightening dissertation last week:

Somebody from over Heron Lake way, at the scout meeting Monday night, called Verne Joslin "our town liar."

Nobody who hasn't worked in a newspaper office knows how near he came to the truth, even though very few of us scribes will admit it. If we weren't such blamed cheerful liars, irate subscribers would be wrapping rolling pins or other movable articles of furniture around our ears every day.

The statement above referred to was made, jokingly, of course, by Dr. A. G. Chadbourn in nominating the writer for a committee post on the district scout council. And no one knows better than editors themselves that the title, "town liar," as applied to them contains more truth than fiction.

Whenever two hearts are made to beat as one, the principals in the matrimonial venture naturally are, in the eyes of the editor, "among the town's most popular young people." Whenever a person dies, the editor naturally visualizes him as "one of the town's most highly respected citizens."

When the town's crack baseball team loses a game because the members played like a bunch of kindergarten youngsters, does the editor say so? Oh, no. "He says their opponents got all the breaks."

When the editor knows that one of the town's up-starts was forced to marry the girl or go to prison, does he say so in the wedding write-up? Hardly. He usually refers to the marriage as "the culmination of a happy school-day romance."

And so on, ad infinitum. We even heard of the editor who, in publishing the obituary of one of his town's citizens who was electrocuted for murder, said that "at the time of his death Mr. So-and-So occupied a chair of applied electricity at one of our large state institutions."

Truly the editor is the town liar. If he weren't, no one would read his paper.

So these following items, dear readers, are lies—all lies: "I would far rather have my husband release a volley of oaths than slam a door," one Wayne wife confides. (No, no—that's all wrong. Wayne wives surely are not confiding in me.)

Other local ministers of the gospel have been jumping on the one who aired his views relative to mission-ary funds in this column. "I'd like to know who that minister is," one pastor begged. "I'd like to put him right on a few matters."

Two local bucks who had a philistine a few days ago have, apparently kissed and made up.

It's almost a safe bet you haven't heard about the local woman who winked at a local husband as she went through a hotel lobby. 'Twasn't her own husband she winked at, either.

There are five adults in Wayne (four besides myself) who get a kick out of messin' round with magic. Wonder if eating raw hamburger sandwiches could be responsible for one Wayne fellow's fusty vocabulary?

Hey, there, Mr. Law Enforcement. How come? The city sprinkler truck was driven up and down the streets of Wayne yesterday afternoon (thank goodness for that) with 1931 license plates fore and aft. And Wayne has always been known as a law-abiding city.

George Patterson informs me that he gets cussed if he doesn't clean off the streets with the sprinkler. And, worst of all, he gets cussed again if he does. Well, well, you can't satisfy everybody.

Here's a bit of rhyme, entitled "The Empty Bed," by Julia B. Dolan, that I think maybe you'll like:

Today I climbed up to the attic where I store away the things I do not need. Old books, old trunks, and in a corner there Beneath a cover stood the trundle bed. A year ago so warm, so soft a nest, And gay with silken covers tied in blue. Wrapped gently 'round its tiny angel guest, Who'd learned to know me and to smile and coo. Today the bed is stripped and cold and bare; And laid away the pillow at its head. In heaven all is warm and soft and fair But God! These aching arms, this empty bed!

Wonder if everybody feels the same way I do. Some time, in the dim, oh-so-distant future, I want to write something really worth while. And sometimes I read something that stirs me more deeply than the usual run of printed pages . . . and I almost (but not quite) get the urge to write that noble piece of literature right now. Then I try . . . and when I find myself incapable of expression I realize more than ever how much I WANT to make magic words dance row on row in brilliant phrasings. The ideas seem to gush out of the brain in a beautiful, gigantic geyser—and before they reach the paper they deteriorate into a squirt-gun fountain.

Carl Van Vechten wrote a book, "Peter Whiffle." Peter was an artistic idealist, and he was always on the verge of doing something grand—something which never quite materialized. Peter was going to write a wonderful book in which all the pages would be blank—the copy being carried in the index. If you wanted to read about Tigers, for instance, you looked in the index to find the proper page, and then turned to that page, which was blank. You could imagine all sorts of things about tigers. Peter explained that the book would achieve the ultimate goal: that it would disappoint no one, that everyone could read as much into a page as he was capable of grasping, and no reader would find anything disagreeable.

Subscribers to the Clay County Sun gets lots of news and feature stories. However, if they received nothing but Fred Howard's "A Broader View" column every week, they would be getting their money's worth. Here are a few of Mister Howard's observations for this week:

Small principles will ruin big business.

Politicians should make good golfers, for so much depends on the lie.

Many women would be pleased to let their men have a little authority were it not for the danger of their getting the big head.

He is a fortunate guy who is able to pick out the best grass in his own pasture and have no longing for that which lies over the fence.

To suffer in patience is perhaps laudable, but to my way of thinking, not nearly so intelligent as to work like hell until the cause of suffering is removed.

I can think of no predominate trait of the rapidly passing generation that has been so completely abandoned as that of striking matches on the seat of one's pants.

to spend the profits which will accrue from any change.

When I warned Miss Lobelia, the eminent southside experimenter, of the health danger in her promiscuous kissing, she laughed carelessly and said, "Man, when I kiss 'em, the heat makes everything sanitary over the entire area."

To accompany the feminine practice of making up the mug while waiting for the serving of a meal in a restaurant it is suggested that the bird who expects to pay the check may with propriety trim and clean his finger nails, dig the wax from his ears or shake his dandruff into a paper napkin. This practice would at least, justify the use of paper napkins as a table adjunct.

Here are a few Rustlings from The Scribner Rustler:

An eastern judge has decided that motorists must not run over dogs. Maybe in time the ruling will be extended to include pedestrians.

We have discovered anti-freeze for our radiators. Now if anyone wants to make a fortune, let him invent an anti-freeze for assets.

Still another trouble with the world is that too many people practice religion only while they are in church.

Many of us wish we could be as lucky as the groundhog. It only takes him one day to get out of the hole.

And another thing, no citizen ever found his credit poor when he started out to borrow trouble.

For settling the country's troubles in a hurry, it's hard to beat a couple of fellows on a street bench.

Let us sincerely hope that this year's bumper crops will not bump the farmer as hard as they did last year.

There's one thing noticeable about flaming youth—they can cool down mighty quick after getting married on $15 a week.

The American Press for February carries a little story which may have a great moral lesson for Wayne business men. The story is called

THE FABLE OF THE BIG ADVERTISER

Once there was a Big Man. All knew he was a Big Man, for His Voice was Big. Little Girl Stenos Crept About His Office, for they Hated to Hear Him Yawp.

The Big Fellow Yawped for So Many Years that he thought His Yawp was the enacting Clause in the Conduct of His Own and Everybody Else's Business.

Outside of Business his Nineteenth Hole was a Racehorse. He Enjoyed Racing for a Long Time until, One Day, he Figured Out a Graph on His Horse's Oats.

It Diagrammed the Fact that His Horse Ate the Same Oats when it was Winning $400 Purse in Tallahassee as it Did Winning $3,000 Plates at Belmont.

The Big Man Saw a Great Light. Being Liberal, He Ordered that His Horse be fed only One-eighth the Oats at the $400 Track that it got at Belmont. And So, Eventually, All that was Left of the Racehorse was a Beautiful Painting on the Walls of the Big Man's Library and Some Pleasant Memories.

The Big Man also controlled a Big Advertising Account. When Hard Times Came he Ordered Fewer Ducats to be Fed the Newspapers. Because, the Big Man Yawped, the Purse are Smaller.

And Now the Big Man Hasn't even a Picture to Hang on the Wall!

JOHN G. NEIHARDT PUBLISHES NEW BOOK, BLACK ELK SPEAKS

The latest book of John G. Neihardt, entitled "Black Elk Speaks," appeared February 18. This book is the result of a visit last spring by Mr. Neihardt and his daughters to the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota.

Mr. Neihardt, for some years a member of the staff of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, secured leave of absence last summer to complete his book. Conditions have become so discouraging in the newspaper field that it has been necessary to postpone resumption of his column of the paper. This is to the liking of Mr. Neihardt as he can now devote more of his time to the finishing of the cycle which is his major interest. He is now working on "The Song of the Messiah."—Goldenrod.

Dr. Conn Attends Meeting of Teachers College Presidents

Dr. U. S. Conn, president of Wayne State Teachers' college, attended the meeting in Washington, D. C., last week of the presidents of the American association of Teachers colleges. Most of the program was given over to administrative matters, with nearly all of the 200 state-supported training institutions represented.

A revised constitution was adopted and some modification was made in the standards upon which teacher training institutions are graded. Previously, schools offering only a two-year course or a three-year course were not eligible for membership. Dr. Conn says this condition will not prevail in the future, as it was pointed out at the meeting that a school having a two-year course for the training of rural and grade teachers may be just as good, so far as it goes, as the institution which offers four full years of college work.

In order that a school may be placed on the accredited list, it must not be short on more than two of the standards. Of the number applying for accreditation, about 30 were denied admission because of failure to meet the standards. Thirty-two schools failed in one standard; nine failed in two standards; 100 schools met all the standards. Wayne was one of this hundred.

The central theme in the various meetings in the Department of Superintendence was the necessity for schools to recognize the importance of spiritual and cultural values of education.

One whole session was devoted to the findings of the committee on character education. The committee agreed that it is not only impossible but inadvisable even to attempt an outline or a method in this field. About all that can be done, it was decided, is to impress upon the teacher the importance of taking advantage of occasions as they arise in school work to impress upon the child's mind lessons of honesty, truthfulness, reliability and fair play.

Dr. Conn says that the Washington bi-centennial celebration probably contributed in a large degree to the increased attendance. Practically the entire program of Monday, Feb. 22, was given over to some phases of the celebration. President Hoover joined with officials of the Department of Superintendence in a Program at Mount Vernon, at which several thousand teachers were present.

Dr. Conn says that it is impossible for any one individual to hear all the good things at such a convention, with 15 or 20 section meetings in progress all the time, and 30 or 40 special societies meeting every day.

Political Whisper

The city caucus, usually a tame affair in Wayne, gave promise for awhile of being anything but that, but settled back into its usual complacency and ended by unanimous nominations for mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and board of education candidates.

"What happened to that second ticket?" is the question that many asked following the caucus. A little excitement is a splendid thing for good government. Opposition stirs up all candidates and usually has a healthy effect.

Dwight Griswold, republican candidate for governor, spoke in Wayne Monday night and made a good impression on his audience. His statements seemed to be sound, based upon good reasoning.

Wm. Ritchie, Jr., candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, is slated to speak here, presenting another side of the question. Are we to be favored with an address by Governor Charlie Bryan, the third side of the triangle?

Martin Ringer didn't want the nomination for mayor of Wayne. He had told some of his friends that he absolutely wouldn't take it. He has been an important part of most of Wayne's civic projects, and his interest in community affairs is sincere and well directed. He should make a splendid city official.

More women than usual attended the city caucus Monday night. Still, there were few women present. How come? Aren't women interested in their right of franchise? Aren't they interested in good government? Or does the bridge game take up too much of their time?

"What's Al Smith up to?" is a question that many democrats are asking. Sentiment grows in the mid-west for John G. Garner of Texas. Franklin D. Roosevelt, at first the most popular candidate in this section, appears to have given much ground to the Texan.

It is the belief, possibly prejudiced, of this writer that Herbert Hoover's chances for polling a vote in the middle west are about as slim as a tubercular toothpick.

Plans are being made for a new $100,000 dormitory at Chadron Teachers college.

The Apache State Bank has reopened for business.

New Peach Recipes

EVERY good housewife has her own pet ways of serving peaches—little tricks she turns when she is in a jam—with unexpected guests or a dessert gone wrong. She has learned that peaches don't let one down. You can count upon people liking them, and nearly anything one does with peaches gives a thoroughly satisfactory return for the time invested. And if there isn't time to do anything with them, they are delicious just as they come from the can.

Add These To Your Recipes

Peach Trifles: Beat one egg till foamy, add one and one-half tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon cream and one tablespoon sherry flavoring. Then add flour until stiff enough to roll—from seven-eighths to one cup should be about right. Roll very thin, cut in squares and put a drained piece of peach in center of each, sprinkle with nutmeg, fold over diagonally, moisten edges slightly and press together. They should now be triangular in shape. Fry in deep fat. Drain on paper.

Peach Rice Pudding: Mix together one and one-half cups boiled rice, one-third cup sugar and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg. Add one-pound can sliced peaches cut in pieces and enough peach syrup to moisten. Pour into buttered baking dish, dot with one tablespoon butter. Bake in moderate oven, 350° to 375°, for twenty-five minutes. Serve warm or cold with thin cream flavored with nutmeg. Serves six.

First Wireless Valve

Was Edison Discovery

Many years ago Edison was experimenting with electric lamps, trying to discover how the blackening of the inside of the bulbs came about in those of the old carbon type. He found that if a plate of metal was sealed into the bulb and electrified positively, a current passed through the vacuum from the filament to this plate. He noticed that the current always traveled from the filament to the plate; nothing could make a current pass in the opposite direction.

He thought nothing of the discovery, and no use could be found for it, for it was many years before wireless was to be heard of.

Before we can hear anything of wireless signals the waves must be rectified. Each wave consists of a push of current in one direction followed by a pull in the other. Rectification means straining out the pulls and leaving only the pushes. All early methods of doing this were complicated and unsatisfactory.

Then Prof. J. A. Fleming had an inspiration. He made the first wireless valve in which a filament and a plate were placed in a vacuum inside a glass bulb.

The Edison effect was harnessed, for the valve would respond only to the pushes and automatically eliminated the pulls. But for the invention of the valve there would have been no broadcasting today.—London Tit-Bits.

Edison Dragged From Workshop to Wedding

Thomas A. Edison was so preoccupied with his laboratory work that he nearly missed his second wedding. This was recalled by Mrs. Franklin Ives, whose father, the late Benjamin Franklin Card, was associated with the great inventor for more than 30 years, says an article in the Brooklyn Eagle.

"The story of Edison's second wedding was one of my father's favorite recollections of him," Mrs. Ives said. "Edison was hard at work on a problem in his laboratory just before the wedding. He had become so preoccupied that he had quite forgotten time. Fifteen minutes before the appointed hour his 'best man' found him there utterly absorbed. He begged the inventor to dress and hurry to the wedding. Edison protested that he was on the verge of a great discovery and couldn't possibly leave. Finally, almost by main force, his 'best man' succeeded in dressing him and getting him to the church—a little late and still preoccupied, but at least acquiescent."

Old Society of Mariners

Records seem to indicate that the corporation of Trinity house, London, was originally a society of English mariners founded by Sir Thomas Spert with headquarters at Deptford, says an article in the Montreal Family Herald. There is no doubt that it obtained its first charter from Henry VII in 1514, and was authorized by Queen Elizabeth about half a century later to erect beacons and other marks on the coast for the guidance of sailors. Its duties today are concerned with the management and maintenance of lighthouses, lightships, beacons and buoys, and the supervision of pilots. It owns a fleet of 19 vessels. The corporation has four special flags, the Masters' flag, the Ensign, the Jack, and Burgee, all of which bear the four ship's symbol of Trinity house.

Good Chance Now to Improve Live Stock

Better Breeding Will Bring Back Day of Profits.

Now while live stock is so low in price is a good time to get for the farm better breeding animals. Often now registered live stock of good individuality can be bought for a moderate amount more than grade animals and at a much lower figure than grade animals will sell for a few years in the future. The culling out of a few milk cows, or beef cows that are not so good, and replacing them with better helpers and often with registered animals is a good use to make of the depression. The same can well be done in regard to the flock of sheep. Best ewe lambs can be saved for replenishing the flock, an extra good ram can be bought at a moderate figure and if desired, some registered ewes can be used to replace some that should be culled out. Good gilts can be secured to replace some brood sows that have not been satisfactory without sacrificing very much of the farm income.

Farming is having a hard run but will not be put out of business, and better methods and better live stock will help bring back the day of profits.—Southern Agriculturist.

Pit Silo Saved Money for Illinois Farmer

Silos save much money that would have had to be spent for feed on thousands of farms last year. The experience of Ben Boedecker, an Illinois farmer, was typical of many farmers who made temporary provision for feed storage. "The trench silo," Boedecker said in the country farm bureau bulletin, "was 52 feet long, 10 feet wide at the top, eight feet wide at the bottom and six feet deep. It required four men with three teams a short day to excavate.

"A regular-sized ensilage cutter was used to fill the silo, which held between 40 and 50 tons, sufficient to feed 35 cows and yearlings from November 24 to April 10, with no other feed except straw and corn fodder. However, from March 10 I fed no silage at night but clover hay and the cattle came through the winter in extra good shape.

"We covered the silage over with straw as soon as it was filled. We packed the silage in with a tractor and it settled only about six inches. The only trouble we had was when snow drifted into the opening.

"This year I am using a guard to keep the snow out."
The corn Boedecker used was badly injured by the drought and would have been a loss had it not been for his soil.

Protect Trees From Mice

Mice injured but 300 trees of 215,000 that were protected by mouse bait last year, according to W. E. Blauvelt of the New York State College of Agriculture. This bait is made from steam-crushed oats properly mixed with strychnine and protected with paraffin oils. New York state orchardists may learn where to obtain, at cost, the bait mixed by the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, by applying to local county agents. A 25-pound bag supplies enough bait to protect about 500 trees, he says.

Young trees should have additional protection, such as wire tree guards. Pine-mice burrow and attack trees below the surface of the ground and some mice work under the guards; occasionally with heavy snows, mice are able to work above the guards. Both guards and bait make cheap protection.

Planting Nuts

Nature's way is to drop them on the ground where with contact with the earth, they will sprout and grow, unless eaten by rodents. They may be stratified in layers of sand, kept in a dark cold cellar, for spring planting. Dr. Robert T. Morris, in his excellent book "Nut Growing," tells of his method of burying them in wire cages, of rodent-proof mesh. The nuts are put in and the cage set in the ground so as to be covered four or five inches deep with earth. That preserves them over winter.—Rural New-Yorker.

Agricultural Squibs

Maintenance of the European corn-borer quarantine kept the insect from reaching the main corn-producing regions last year, states the United States Department of Agriculture.

To be inviting and to induce buyers to come back for more, apples must be handled with great care from the time they leave the trees until they reach the consumer.

Storing sprayers without a thorough cleaning may do more damage than a year's running.

Winter bring the best chance to get tools and utensils in order before the spring rush.

Hog raising in the wheat belt is building up faster than on the coast, where dairying and poultry offer better possibilities.

Wheat which is thrashed damp shows a higher smut content than that which is thrashed dry. More of the smut is blown from the dry grain during thrashing.

Irate Woman Probably Had Time for Regrets

The bus terminal had been reorganized since the Woman's last trip, but she eventually located her bus, and, having three minutes to spare, paced up and down beside it.

From the waiting room emerged a couple engaged in wordy combat, the husband, as usual, losing in the battle. On and on raged the wife, her spouse meekly following with his arms full of bundles. As she got on the bus, he handed the bundles to her and prepared to turn away.

"Don't you dare be late for supper!" shrieked his spouse. The unfortunate male, his downcast gaze roving humbly over the bus, started suddenly.

"Lily—" he began.
"Don't you 'Lily' me!" shrieked the woman, starting off again. "You—"
"Lissen a minute!" begged the husband.

"Lissen to you! Every time I lissen—" She finished an irate monologue and disappeared into the bus.

"Lissen," the little man called after her. But she was already seated inside. As the little man made toward the bus it jerked suddenly and drove off, leaving him standing, mouth open.

The woman met his eyes with an involuntary smile. A slow grin spread over his face.

"Don't that beat all?" he asked the woman, shrugging his thin shoulders. "I only wanted to tell her she's on the wrong bus!" He chuckled. "I hope she finds out soon. The first stop for that one is Philadelphia. And we live in Long Island!"—New York Sun.

"Pure" English Defined as of Elizabethan Era

The oft-quoted saying that the purest English is spoken in Dublin, particularly at Trinity college, is of unknown origin, says the Pathfinder Magazine. Inverness, Scotland and Belfast, Ireland, are often linked with Dublin as places where exceptionally pure and correct English is spoken by the inhabitants. The saying probably means little more than that the common speech in these places contains an unusually large number of Elizabethan words now regarded as "archaic" or "classical" in England and the United States. Speech in small countries or isolated communities seldom changes as rapidly as it does in the more populous centers. Both Dublin and Belfast were settled by colonists from England and the speech of their descendants did not undergo the same development that the language of the parent country did. The English language of the periods of Elizabeth and King James was, as it were, kept in cold storage in Ireland and many words and phrases were retained in everyday speech which became obsolete in England. Thus it happens that the language of Belfast and Dublin more nearly approaches the language in use during England's golden era of literature.

Long Welsh Name

Does it not seem curious that any place should be named "Llanfairpwllgwyngyllgogerychwyrandrobwlantysillogogoch," but to a Welshman this is one of the most poetical names on his map. To the stranger who goes there and sees the place it is also a locality of charm and beauty. But the name itself is poetry. Llan is "church." Fair is "of Mary," pwll gwyngyll is "the pool of white hazels," gogery is "rather near," chwyran drobwl is "the swift whirlpool" and Tysilio gogoch is "of Tysilio of the red cave." It is not, therefore, suggestive of romance and beauty enough to visit the village of the church of St. Mary by the pool of white hazels, near the swift whirlpool of St. Tysilio's church of the red cave?

Foreign Service

The United States foreign service divides its activities roughly into three main categories—protective, advisory and administrative. The protective function safeguards citizens and their legitimate interests in all privileges and rights provided by treaty or conceded by usage. The advisory functions of the foreign service are designed primarily for the benefit of the government of the United States, which constantly requires information from all parts of the world for its guidance in the conduct of its foreign relations. The third main division of the duties laid upon the foreign service is the administration abroad of American laws.

Ornithologist Honored

The Audubon society was named for John James Audubon, a famous American ornithologist and painter of bird pictures. He was born on the island of Santo Domingo, in the part now known as Haiti, on April 26, 1785. He was taken to France to be educated and emigrated to America when he was eighteen years of age. Nearly his whole life was passed in the United States. He lived in Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Louisiana and New York. He died on January 27, 1837, in New York city.

In Use

Mrs. — started to get ready to go to church. She hunted the house over for her rubber reducing corset. It simply could not be found.

In desperation she went to her young daughter's room to awaken her and see if she knew anything about the all-important article. Sleepy little Miss Fifteen was aroused sufficiently to reply to the almost demand: "Where is my rubber corset?" "I got it on."

THE BEST KIND OF BABY

THE best kind of baby is the baby that sleeps soundly, and sleeps when it should—the kind that yells vigorously when hungry, and eats with gusto when fed—the kind that responds to your advances with coos and bubbles and a wide smile of delight. Do you know how to make yours that kind of baby?

If more mothers knew that babies are almost literally what they eat (and what their mothers eat) there would be fewer sick babies. The importance of the right kind of food cannot be over-estimated, and the right kind of food, for both baby and mother, must contain plenty of vitamins.

What Every Mother Knows

Every modern mother knows how necessary sieved vegetables are to supplement milk in the diet of babies. If there is any mother who doubts this, she need only ask her doctor. Such an eminent authority on babies, for example, as Dr. William McKim Marriott, B.S., M.D., states that beginning with the fifth or sixth month the breast-fed infant should be given once a day a puree of spinach, carrots or mixed vegetables in amounts of one to two tablespoonfuls.

Mary Swartz Rose, Ph.D., suggests a tablespoonful of sifted spinach and carrot pulp for breast-fed babies at seven months. And, since these suggestions have been published, other physicians have found that sieved vegetables are tolerated by infants at two months or even younger. But cooking and sieving fresh vegetables in the home kitchen is a long, tedious and wasteful job. A greater quantity of vegetable than is necessary is purchased and prepared. When brought home from the market, that part of the vegetable which is not good must be thrown away, and this may amount to 10 or 20 per cent. of the vegetable bought. Or, perhaps the quantity prepared at once will not keep, and the mother decides later not to use it again.

What Every Mother Doesn't Know

What every mother doesn't know is that home preparation usually destroys a good part of the important vitamins, and that she can now get sieved vegetables in cans scientifically prepared so that they retain more vitamins than those prepared at home.

With these sieved vegetables there is no picking over, no throwing away, no long cooking, no mashing, no sieving, no straining. They come all ready to warm and serve, and are of a consistency suitable for infant digestion.

The best brands of these convenient baby foods have been endorsed by the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association, and are allowed to use its seal of acceptance on their cans. This means that the scientists of the American Medical Association have independently checked every step of their processing.

However, every producer of these foods will tell you that no mother should think of feeding her baby anything which was not recommended by her own physician who prescribes his diet. So be sure, before including any of these new sieved foods in your baby's diet, to ask your doctor about quantities and his advice about using them.

With Scientific Care

Some of these sieved vegetables are seasoned, and some are not. One brand, which is put up in sanitary enamel lined cans, carries on its label a guarantee of the exact amounts of vitamins A, B and C which its sieved vegetables contain. And the proof that this guarantee is absolutely dependable and means exactly what it says lies in the fact that this is one of the brands which has been accepted by the Committee on Foods of the American Medical Association, and is allowed to use its seal of acceptance on the cans.

Biological assays of the finished products of this brand made by Dr. Walter H. Eddy of Teachers College, Columbia University, have determined not only the exact vitamin potency of each, but also that each provides a generous supply of proteins, calories and mineral salts.

Safer and More Sanitary

These sieved vegetables of various brands offered to mothers not merely to save them time, trouble and expense, but to provide them with a better, safer and more sanitary product than they can make at home, now include spinach, carrots, green beans, tomatoes, green peas, prunes, vegetable soup and purees of mixed vegetables.

Ant-Killer Uses Pincers for Grinding Its Victims

Among the myriad forms of animal life, are to be found many that tax the credibility. One is a creature only about three inches long which bears a superficial resemblance to the spider and also to both the scorpion and the vinegerone. Frequently it is mistaken for one of these, but its correct pseudonym is ant-killer, a name the implications of which are fully borne out by its behavior toward these little insects. Its reason, writes C. T. Reed in Nature Magazine, for killing the ants, and nearly all the other small animals, chiefly arthropods, is not pure love of destruction.

After killing the insects it thoroughly grinds the bodies in its powerful and needle-like chelae, which project forward in front of the small head. Then through a toothless mouth, scarcely bigger than a small pinhead, it sucks the juices from the bodies of the victims.

The ant-killer is dreaded by the Mexicans as an enemy more venomous than the rattlesnake. As a matter of fact, it has no venom and is harmless, except for the rather painful wound that it might inflict with its sharp, strong, formic acid-covered pincers. These large spider-like animals are widely distributed throughout arid tropical and semitropical regions.

Man's Critical Faculty Potent Factor in Love

Man, as a rule, can be attracted by almost any pretty and relatively attractive woman. He can be stirred by any girl who is superficially charming, as most girls are today. But the test comes when that original attraction progresses to the place where it meets his critical faculty or instinct of self-protection. Then he says to himself, "Is this worth while?"

Men may be charmed but they are never won at first sight. When they become critical they almost invariably experience a sense of panic—that panic to which almost all of them will admit they have fallen prey during the process of falling in love. Then, if they are to be really won, they must find in the girl things which reassure them and convince them that it is worth while.

The next step, therefore, depends entirely upon the girl. It is at this critical moment that she either wins or loses the game, almost entirely according to what she then offers.—Adela Rogers St. Johns in Smart Set Magazine.

Taking Chances

The teacher of the history class had been telling her pupils of the ancient Roman custom in which the bridegroom lifted the bride over the threshold to prevent her stumbling and bringing bad luck.

Just at that moment the bell rang and the class wit, who happened to be a favorite with the teacher, paused at the desk to pass his customary remarks.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed, "it'd be tough on him if he got a heavy woman!"

Rare Opportunity

A Butler coed's date was waiting patiently for the fair one to put the finishing touches on her toilet when the younger brother appeared and said:

"I'm going to the drug store to buy sis a new lip stick. Don't you want to come along and pick out your favorite flavor?"—Indianapolis News.

Young People's League

The Epworth league got its name from the name of the town in Lincolnshire, England, which was the birthplace of John Wesley, founder of Methodism. The Epworth league was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in May, 1889, at a meeting of representatives of various young people's societies.

Fossil Remains Blamed for Defects in Teeth

It is a long call from the mastodons—giant elephants that roamed over North America 50,000 years ago—to the teeth of Arizona school children, but there appears to be a clear connection as reported from the Arizona experiment station of the Department of Agriculture.

A large number of the inhabitants of the village of St. David, Ariz., had a peculiar condition of the teeth known as mottled enamel. This was found in every person whose permanent teeth had been erupted in the locality. It was finally traced to the drinking water, mostly obtained from artesian wells.

Analysis showed this water to contain an abnormal amount of the chemical element fluorine. The deeper the wells the less fluorine.

Further research in the vicinity revealed deposits of fossilized mastodon bones and tusks. This contained considerable quantities of the rare element. The conclusion was that the long dead animals constituted at least one source of the impurity in the water that affected the children's teeth with a presumably incurable defect.—Detroit News.

Masterpiece of Nature That Defies Puny Man

In 1890 the owners of a tract of redwood timber near Porterville, Calif., attempted to fell a giant redwood tree but failed. The tree was sawed through from both sides at an angle and although cut through was held as in a vise. A little Irish lumberjack used a charge of black powder in the cut, but all that the charge did was to move the sawed end of the tree an inch in its resting place. Had dynamite been available at the time the tree would not have been saved. Men at that time were engaged in the forests cutting stakes for use in fencing in the valleys. Hitching posts were turned out and were in great demand in front of all business places in the towns of the treeless valleys of California. But the tree that refused to fall though cut entirely through, still stands, dead of course, in the dense forest near Porterville.

Maple Tree Sap

The movement of sap in the maple tree is described generally as follows: It is the watery solution which circulates through the vascular tissue in woody plants. The ascending current consists of the water of imbibition in which are dissolved various salts obtained from the earth. This so-called crude sap passes through the xylem portion of the vascular bundles, to the chlorophyll-containing tissues, the leaves in most plants, where the surplus water is transpired into newly formed carbohydrates, and protids through the phloem or sieve tissue to the parts of the plant which may require them, the descending current often being called elaborated sap. From this it will be seen that the sap taken in tapping a tree is the type of sap which has already formed the carbohydrates and protids and is therefore largely from the descending or elaborated sap.

Defense of Hobbies

It was "Tristram Shandy" that made Lawrence Sterne famous, but he had other hobbies than writing novels, many of them, books, shooting, painting and fiddling. His excuse for indulging in so many hobbies was framed in words like these: "Have not the wisest men in all ages, not excepting Solomon himself, had their hobby-horses, their running horses, their coins and their cockle shells, their drums and their trumpets, their fiddles and their butterflies? And so long as a man rides his hobby-horse peacefully and quietly along the king's highway, and neither compels you nor me to get up behind him, pray sir, what have you or I to do with it?"

Needle Long in Heart

That Edward Sell, forty-five, of Hayes, England, carried a needle in his heart for more than four weeks was revealed by X-rays. Sell was working on an airplane when a needle in the apron of an upholsterer was driven into his breast. It was considered too dangerous at the time to operate. Four weeks later an operation was tried, but had to be stopped before the needle was removed. Sell died soon afterward, and a needle two inches long was found in the left ventricle of his heart.

Resin Industry Growing

In 1834 the copper kettle and condensing worm were first used for distilling crude resin. Practically the same form of still is in use today. By 1850 the world was finding new uses for both turpentine and resin, which constantly increased the demand, causing a steady growth of the industry. Today about two-thirds of the world's naval stores are produced in the southern United States, and approximately $50,000,000 are invested in the business.

Not Through

Little Bobbie went to the school for the first time. When he came home in the afternoon all tired and apparently disgusted his grandfather said:

"Well, well, my little man! What did you learn today?"
"Nothing, Grandpop," answered Bobbie, with a sigh, "and I have to go back again tomorrow."

Better Breakfasts

GETTING up in the morning is not nearly such a bad business if one happens to live in England or France. There every one has a cup of tea, coffee or delicious French "chocolat" the moment he opens his eyes. It helps a lot.

Here one is supposed to go through all the tiresome business of dressing without any comfort inside—unless—and here's the point—he has the inward satisfaction of knowing that breakfast when it does come will be a hum-dinger.

Continental Breakfasts Not So Good

Continental breakfasts are all right in their way. The trouble is they don't weigh much—not enough for us eight-cylinder Americans. We have to have a "Better Breakfast"—something that tastes good and has substance. We have a lot to do before luncheon, and we have to do it well. Something like this is what we want, and need—

Morning Punch
Shredded Wheat with Raspberries and Cream
Poached Eggs on Toast
Coffee

Morning Punch: Combine two cups orange juice, two-thirds cup pineapple syrup (all from a No. 2 can), one-half cup raspberry syrup (all from an eight-ounce can), and four tablespoons lemon juice. Chill overnight. Serves six.

Shredded Wheat with Raspberries and Cream: Serve a spoonful of drained canned raspberries and plenty of cream or rich milk over shredded wheat biscuits which have been buttered on top, slightly dusted with salt and heated in the oven.

Glee Club Dinner.

Girls of the junior high glee club, sponsored by Miss Arlene Urban, music instructor, enjoyed a covered dish dinner in the recreation room at the high school building last Friday evening. The thirty-two guests were seated at three tables, the first of which was decorated for Washington's birthday, the centerpiece being a representation of the winter at Valley Forge. The second table carried out the Valentine motif and the third honored Lincoln, with a log cabin as centerpiece. All guests were garbed as "kids" and childish games were played after dinner in the music room. The committee in charge included Marian Seymour, chairman, Imogene Kilborn, Marjorie Ellis, Wilma Baker, Arlene Peterson, Verbin Berry, Marjorie Lerner and Arlene Davis.

Coterie Club.

Coterie club members with their husbands and Mr. and Mrs. Eben Brink, Mrs. Sherwood Wheaton of San Diego, Calif., and Miss Marguerite Chase, also of San Diego, as guests, were entertained at a hard time dinner party Monday in the P. A. Theobald home. A two course dinner was served on tables covered with brown paper and adorned with potted geraniums. Following the dinner there were seven tables of bridge in play, prizes being received by A. T. Cavanaugh, Mrs. L. A. Fanske, L. W. Vath and Mrs. Shorwood Wheaton. The committee in charge of the dinner included, besides Mrs. Theobald, Mrs. Frank Morgan, Mrs. Warren Shulteis and Mrs. R. W. Casuer. Mrs. Leslie Ellis entertains the club next Monday at a regular afternoon meeting.

P. E. O.

The P. E. O. society met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. P. A. Davies. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Myrtle Ringland, president; Mrs. Maude Craven, vice president; Mrs. Prudence Theobald, recording secretary; Mrs. Ruth Best, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edna Casper, treasurer; Mrs. Inez Davies, chaplain, and Mrs. Bertha Ringland, guard. Delegates to the state convention were also named as follows: Mrs. Myrtle Ringland, and her alternate Mrs. Prudence Theobald; Mrs. Edith Hufford, and her alternate Mrs. Inez Davies. The organization voted to donate $5 to the Girl Scouts. The next meeting will be March 15 at 7:30, at which time Dr. Mary Honey will speak on South America.

"Kid" Party.

Members of the high school girls' glee club were entertained at a "kid" party in the high school gymnasium last Thursday evening. "Drop the handkerchief" and other juvenile games were played and refreshments were ice cream cones and chocolate-covered animal crackers. A feature of the party was a style show, displaying half a dozen dresses, from which the girls selected a navy and white silk afternoon dress to be worn by members of the glee club for both concert and contest. The committee, headed by Catherine Berry, included Margaret Phipps, Pauline Yocum and Isabel Hansen. Miss Arlene Urban, music instructor, sponsored the party.

Minerva Club.

Minerva club members and three guests, Miss Katherine Hagan, Miss Jessie Stephen and Mrs. Paul Simon, were entertained by Mrs. L. M.

Owen, with Mrs. H. J. Miner and Mrs. W. E. Beaman assisting. Roll call was answered by quotations on peace, and Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis led the lesson on "Woman's Contribution Toward World Peace." Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, accompanied by Mrs. Beaman, gave the musical reading, "Marching On," by Avery Abbott. The hostesses served a two-course luncheon at the close of the afternoon. The club will be entertained March 14th by Mrs. Fred Dale.

Forty-Third Wedding Anniversary.

The forty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Panabaker was celebrated last Thursday evening when a number of friends surprised the couple. The evening was spent playing five hundred and Mr. Oscar Jonson received traveling prize. The guests served lunch. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kilborn, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Lavine Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jonson, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John Dennis and Mrs. Blanche Trumbauer.

Methodist Aid.

About forty-five members and guests of the Methodist Ladies Aid were entertained last Thursday by Mrs. Chas. Brown and Mrs. Jennie McGill. Miss Charlene Brown gave the dramatic reading, "The Twin Miniatures," and Miss Lucile Surber gave a humorous reading of "The School Program." Miss Brown also played a medley of patriotic airs, "Glorious Union Forever." The committee served refreshments. It included Mesdames Carl Wright, A. W. Ross, Clarence Soranson, C. C. Kilborn, Blanche Trumbauer and Willard Wiltse.

Methodist Missions.

The Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. Julia Gildersleeve next Thursday, March 10. Mrs. Eric Thielman will have charge of the devotionals, "To Toil with God with One Mind." Mrs. Chas. Gildersleeve will lead the lesson, "He Trains the Mind." Mrs. Robert Stambaugh has charge of the mystery box. Members of the society will recall that this Founders' Day meeting celebrates the 49th anniversary of Topeka branch society.

DeMolay Dance.

About thirty were present at the dance given by the Order of DeMolay in the dining room of the Hotel Stratton last Friday evening. Music was furnished by the Victor orthophonic owned by the hotel. Prof. and Mrs. O. R. Bowen chaperoned the affair. DeMolay members who formed the committee were Dean Winegar, Donald Beaman, James Morris, Darrell Owens and Ralph Chittick.

Leap Year Party.

Terrace hall girls gave a leap year party Sunday evening and entertained their boy friends at a six o'clock dinner at the Palace cafe. Covers for ten couples were laid at a large table and place cards determined the positions of the guests. Following the dinner, the party attended the movie at the Gay theatre. Misses Carmen Uhler and Leona Grubb were in charge of the party.

Card Party.

M. and Mrs. R. C. Hahlbeck gave a card party at their home last Thursday evening, there being eight tables of five hundred in play. High prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. C. Baker and Mr. Bert Surber. Mrs. Henry Kay and Mr. Harvey Neely received consolation prizes. The hostess served a light lunch at the close of the evening.

Altrusa Club.

Mrs. Martin Ringer entertained members of the Altrusa club last Monday. Roll call was answered by quotations or verses concerning George Washington. Mrs. R. R. Larson read a paper on "The Life of Washington." The hostess served a two-course luncheon. The club will meet March 7th with Mrs. Earl Merchant.

Mission Study Class.

The mission study class of St. Paul's Lutheran church met last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Wilbur Spahr. The class studied the lesson, "The Stewardship of Time," and Mrs. W. C. Heidenreich had charge of the devotionals. Mrs. Spahr had charge of the clipping pages. The class is to meet next Wednesday with Mrs. Spahr.

J. A. O. Kensington.

Seven members of the J. A. O. Kensington, with Mrs. Dean Hanson as hostess, gathered Thursday afternoon to honor Mrs. Lester Chilcott, who moved to Wisner March 1. Each lady presented her with a handkerchief as a farewell gift. The afternoon was spent sewing sunbonnet and the hostess served.

Sunday Supper.

Members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school met Sunday evening at 6:15 for a basket supper. Following the supper, which was well attended, Dr. J. G. W. Lewis reviewed the first half of Florence B. Boehel's book, "The Turn Toward Peace."

Harmony Club.

Members of the Harmony club and one guest, Mrs. Steve Rockwell, were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Phipps. The afternoon was spent socially and the hostess served.

Women's Bible Study.

The Woman's Bible Study class met Tuesday with Mrs. L. W. Krattavil, and Miss Rose Assenheimer led the lesson. The class is to meet next Tuesday with Mrs. Dora Benschhof. Miss Charlotte Ziegler will have charge of the lesson.

Child Conservation League.

Members of the Child Conservation League will meet Tuesday evening with Mrs. Wilbur Hall. The subject for discussion will be "Domestic Science," and papers will be read by Mrs. Frank Korff, Mrs. J. M. Pile and Mrs. Hall.

Rebekah Lodge.

Rebekahs met for a regular business meeting last Friday evening. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by a committee which included Mesdames Elma Baker, Stella Chichester, Lucretia Jeffrey, Alice Chance and Dora Roberts. Miss Pearl Sewell, Mr. George Borchhoff and Mr. C. O. Mitchell.

DeMolay.

The Order of DeMolay met Tuesday evening in regular business session. Members are to have lunch together next Monday noon at Nick's college cafe.
