Russian Soviet Government Is Disappointment to Durant

Philosopher Believes U. S. Should Recognize Russia.

"I shall not take much pleasure in describing to you my experiences during the last summer," Will Durant, philosopher, scholar, writer and traveler told his audience at Wayne State Teachers college auditorium Monday evening. "I should be so happy if I could have come back from the land of the great experiment to tell you that Russia has found the way out of our economic and social problems. But I did not find it so."

In describing the visit which he and Mrs. Durant made to Russia in the summer of 1932, Mr. Durant said that they found poverty, rags and utter gloom. Describing a scene in a waiting room at Omsk, a city of 16,000, he said, "Eyes of the children were filled with pus and sores; yet to me those diseased childish eyes were not as horrible as the eyes of the adults, laden with a horrible despair and hopelessness." Not once, he said, did he ever see a Russian really smile.

The Durants had bought rubles from the Soviet government, paying an American dollar for two rubles. Yet the actual buying power of a ruble was not fifty cents, but two cents. A hotel keeper demanded 36 rubles, for which they had paid $18 in American money, for their small room, equipped only with two uncovered iron beds, a table, one chair and a leaky spigot, for one night.

They discovered a German in the hotel who helped them out and explained many things to them. He told Dr. Durant that 90 per cent of the Russian people hate the government; 90 per cent of them are suffering from starvation. Yet the 90 per cent cannot defeat the other ten per cent in power because they have no guns and troops in the streets constantly remind them of their helplessness.

Durant explained that the reason so many travelers return from Russia, praising their system, is that they are kept in the hands of tourist guides, trained in Marx's school. Such travelers are shown one hospital, one marriage bureau, one cooperative.

LOCAL GIRLS GO TO SIOUX CITY CAMP

Eight Scouts Take Work at Stone Park for Ten Days.

Misses Dorothy and Marjorie Hook, Miss Betty Strahan, Miss Dorothy Liedtke, Miss Larhylla Whitmore, Miss Ruth Lundberg, Miss Evelyn Noakes and Miss Leone Corryell will go to Camp of the Hills in Stone Park near Sioux City Friday for ten days' work in Girl Scout activities.

Miss Dorothy Hook and Miss Corryell will be at "pioneer" camp, in order that they may qualify for part of their first class test. The pioneer camp is a short distance from the supervised camp, and the members of whom are older Scouts, furnish their own furniture, including beds, and live apart from the others. They prepare their own meals and care of their camp is their duty.

Local Economic View Brightens

Economic prospects for Wayne and its trade territory were rosy this week, with indications pointing to a come-back of business that will put the depression definitely into the "Way Back When" column.

An increase in building activities, with consequent employment of labor seemed certain. Indications were that work on a municipal auditorium and a federal post office building would be available in the future.

A bumper corn crop was predicted, with weather conditions justifying such a belief on the part of many farmers, and market forecasts indicating the most satisfactory prices in recent years.

Better prices for hogs, cattle, small grain and all farm products seemed certain. Local business men reported increased trade, with everyone anxious to buy as much as possible before inflation prices become effective.

Thirty-Seven Register for Scout Camp

First Group of Girls to Go to Cabin on Monday.

Girl Scout camp opens Monday, July 17, at the cabin southeast of Wayne with Mrs. Willard Witse as camp director. Miss Jean Davies will assist Mrs. Witse, and Miss Faye Beckenhauer will be dietitian.

Thirty-seven girls registered for camp Friday and this number is to be divided in two groups, one to go July 17 and the other July 24—those who wish may attend only the first three days of camp.

The girls will sleep in tents on cots and meals will be served on the screened porch of the cabin. Nightly gathering around a campfire is a feature. Thursday nights are to be designated as guest nights, when programs will be presented at the campfire. Parents and visitors are requested not to go to the camp except on visitors' night. A definite set of rules has been drawn up, and parents are asked not to bring cakes and candies to the campers.

All Girl Scouts who have registered for camp, together with those who wish to do so, are asked to meet with Mrs. Witse at four o'clock today in Bressler park to be divided into two groups, one for each period of camp.

L. W. McNatt donated paint for the cabin porch and R. C. Hahlbeck put it on. T. S. Hook, Dr. R. W. Casper, L. W. Ellis and Willard Witse were at the camp last week Sunday to clear the grounds and get the place in shape for camp.

Girl Scouts cleared $30.62 on sale of tickets for "Gabriel Over the White House" last week-end, securing 25 per cent on tickets sold other than at the box office.

Ernest Kohrt Burned by Powder Explosion

Ernest Kohrt, Wayne blacksmith, suffered painful burns Sunday when a powder explosion seriously burned his right arm, right shoulder and right side of his face and neck. Mr. Kohrt is still in considerable pain, but Dr. L. W. Jameson said yesterday that he was getting along well.

Mr. Kohrt's children had found a bottle of what Mr. Kohrt believed to be powder. Alarmed at the danger which he believed faced them, he emptied the bottle and touched a match to the contents.

He had been right. It was powder.

Hail and Rain Cause Some Crop Damage

Immediate Territory Gets Beneficial Downpours This Week.

In Wayne and the surrounding territory it was a million dollar rain. In some parts of northeastern Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota it caused thousands of dollars worth of damage.

An inch of rain which fell here Tuesday night was regarded by farmers as virtual assurance of a bumper corn crop. Wayne first learned of the terrific downpour which had visited localities to the west and north when Logan creek overflowed its banks on South Main street Wednesday morning, flooding the bottoms land in that vicinity and making travel out of Wayne to the south an impossibility. The overflow ruined Ted Perry's rye crop. Rye was also washed out on several farms west of town.

Long-time residents said the creek had not overflowed to such an extent in years.

Considerable hail did an enormous amount of damage from 14 miles west of Randolph to six miles west of Wayne. The John Brugger farm six miles west of Wayne on Seventh street was seriously damaged by hail, as were the Esther and Gertrude McEachen farms. The heavy hail extended down to the George McEachen farm, where it tapered off.

Hailstones as large as baseballs fell at Winside and, driven by a terrific wind, broke screens and sky lights in several business houses and residences. Smaller hail fell for five minutes and caused much damage to crops in the Winside vicinity. The gale approached the velocity of a tornado and broke large shade trees and fruit trees. A cottonwood tree 60 feet tall and eight feet in circumference was broken off at the Alfred Kurrele-meyer home.

The storm tore the driveway off the Crowell elevator and the Farmers' Union building, 40x60 structure, was spread six inches. Chimneys were blown down and falling trees broke light wires.

Shortly after nine o'clock more hail and wind followed. Many fields throughout the stricken area suffered, total loss from hail. Some livestock (continued on page 4)

COLLEGE THESPIANS PRESENT ONE-ACTS

Varied Program Is Given Tuesday Evening at College.

Dramatics classes at Wayne State Teachers college, under the direction of Miss Florence M. Drake, presented a series of four one-act plays Tuesday evening at the college auditorium to an enthusiastic audience.

The wide variety of dramatic vehicles offered in the four plays was especially pleasing to spectators. All parts were well handled and the productions as a whole showed painstaking attention to the most minute details.

The program opened with "Pierrot of the Minute," a dramatic fantasy. "Home Sweet Home" was a comedy drama in which character parts, well played, predominated. "As the Turnbills Pass" was a costume play of the French revolution and "Thank You, Doctor" satisfied those whose particular enjoyment is farce comedy.

Tillie Wischof Passes Away Here Monday

Funeral Services to Be Held This Afternoon at Two o'Clock.

Funeral services for Miss Tillie Wischof, who passed away Monday morning, July 10, 1933, after a month's illness, will be held this afternoon, July 13, from the home in Wayne at two o'clock; church services will be held immediately thereafter at Immanuel Lutheran church northeast of Wayne. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

The services will be in charge of Rev. H. Hopmann, with Rev. F. C. Doctor assisting.

Miss Wischof had undergone an operation in an Omaha hospital about a year ago and had been in poor health since that time.

Tillie Wischof was born on April 28, 1881, at Eitzen, Houston county, Minn. She came to Dixon county with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wischof, in 1894.

She moved to Wayne with her father a number of years ago. She engaged in the dressmaking trade here. She became a member of the Grace Lutheran church in Wayne at the time of its organization seven years ago. At the time of her death she was serving as president of the Ladies Aid of that church.

Her father, mother and three sisters, Mrs. August Roerber, Miss Anna Wischof and Mrs. Walter Meyer, preceded her in death. She leaves to mourn her passing one brother, Wm. Wischof of Wakefield, two sisters, Mrs. Albert Sals of Carroll and Miss Clara Wischof of Wayne, a number of more distant relatives and a host of friends.

The first defeat was chalked up against them on Monday, July 3, when the Railroaders were credited with a 1 to 0 game by forfeit.

The U and I team, leaders of League Two, suffered their second defeat of the season on Friday evening when the Wayne Cleaners took the long end of an 11 to 5 game.

Earl Wade to Wrestle Nelson in Free Show

City Has New Ordinance for Sale of Beer

Council Passes Beverage Sales Law to Third Reading.

Wayne's city council in session Tuesday evening at the city hall, passed a municipal beer ordinance to the third and final reading, assuring Wayne of the legal sale of 3.2 beer after August 10. The ordinance was acted upon with apparent harmony and little discussion. None of the councilmen cast 'No' votes, although Dr. J. G. W. Lewis was not voting on the final reading.

The ordinance provides that licenses may be issued by the council for the manufacture, importation or sale of beverages in Wayne.

It provides that applicants for license shall first file with the city clerk an application for the kind of license desired, together with a corporate surety bond of $500.

The applicant must also pay for the cost of publication of a notice stating the name of the applicant, the kind of license applied for, description of the place for which license is to be issued, and the time and place of a city council hearing. Such application is to be made at least ten days prior to the time set for the hearing on the application.

An occupation tax will be levied for each license. The year's tax for off-sale licenses will be $5.00. The off-sale license permits the licensee to sell beer in the original package for consumption off the premises only. The on-sale license, which also costs $5.00, permits the licensee to sell beer for consumption on the premises only.

A wholesaler's license, which permits the licensee to sell and import beer to other licensees for resale only, will cost $25.00. A brewer's license will cost $50.00.

The ordinance stipulates that no beer sales shall be made to any minor. Holders of on-sale licenses must serve the beer to customers at tables or counters upon which food is served to customers while the customers are seated on the premises. Blinds or screens are forbidden in establishments having on-sale licenses.

Under the ordinance terms, no licenses will be issued for any place within 300 feet of the outside lot line of any school ground.

GOVERNOR INDICATES BIG PAVING PROJECT

Twenty-Two Mile Strip to Be Surfaced on Primary 20.

Governor Charles W. Bryan announced Monday at Lincoln plans to pave Federal Primary 20 from Waterbury to Laurel and Allen, a stretch of 22 miles. On Cornhusker Highway 77, an additional seven miles from Dakota City west and south to Homer will be paved, he added, at a cost of $175,000.

Estimated cost of the Primary 20 project is $475,000. The job has been approved in the hope of relieving the acute unemployment situation at Dakota City and South Sioux City.

Primary 20 is now paved from South Sioux City to Waterbury, a distance of 15 miles. Work on the last 4.6 mile strip was completed only two weeks ago.

Grapplers to Thrill Fans in "Happy Saturday" Program.

People who are in Wayne Saturday evening will be treated to the fourth of a series of "Happy Saturday" programs, through the courtesy of a group of public-spirited Wayne business and professional men whose names are listed in a full-page ad on Page Six of this edition.

As the feature Saturday evening attraction, Earl Wade, Wayne county's own wrestling champion, will meet Rough House Nelson of Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, in a 40-minute time-limit wrestling exhibition. Both are light-heavyweights.

Earl Wade has wrestled practically all of the top notchers in his weight division and appears regularly on wrestling cards at Omaha, Council Bluffs and Norfolk, where he is regarded as a feature attraction. He is a brother of Glen Wade, nationally-known heavy-weight wrestler who is creating a sensation in wrestling circles on the west coast at the present time.

Rough-House Nelson has proved a sensation in the mid-west in his short stay here, winning decisions from such top-notchers as Adam Kreiger and Bobbie Burns. He is regarded as one of the fastest men in the game. Earl Wade, himself a veteran of hundreds of matches from coast to coast, has met him twice in shorter-limit mixes with neither one getting a fall. The Wade-Nelson 15-minute match at Hartington on the Fourth of July was said to be the best exhibition of wrestling skill on the entire card.

Wade is anxious to appear with him on the Wayne card, believing that a 40-minute exhibition with Nelson will add one more scorch to his already impressive string of victories.

The program will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Arrangements are being made to handle a larger crowd than usual, as it is believed that this match will draw one of the largest crowds to date in view of Wade's popularity with wrestling fans of the territory and Nelson's ability as a grappler.

Miss Doris Judson left early Saturday morning by train from Sioux City for Chicago to spend a week at the Century of Progress exposition. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Judson and Miss Ruth drove her to the train.

The Inquiring Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you think married women should be allowed to hold jobs when their husbands are capable of supporting them?

Laborer: "No, absolutely not. If the woman who didn't have to work were compelled by law to quit working, the millions of men who are without employment could be put back on the job."

Pastor: "Each case is decided by its own circumstances. I doubt if a law could be specific enough to mete out real justice in the matter. There is no question but what certain married women who are holding down good positions should relinquish them to men who must support families."

Merchant: "Any person who is holding a job of any kind, and who can fill that job capably, to the satisfaction of his or her employer, should be permitted to keep it, regardless of sex, financial condition or any other factor."

Housewife: "The nation would be a lot better off if married women would tend to their jobs of running homes and raising families."

Farmer: "If a married woman is doing her job well, I don't see that the fact that men are out of work has anything to do with it. She earns her money. If the man she's working for wants to keep her, that's his business."

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 5 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, July 13, 1933. Vol. 5

Ernie — "My uncle can play the piano by ear."

Gurnie — "That's nothing. My uncle fiddles with his whiskers."

We could get a lot of testimonials from farmers right here in Wayne County on AMERICAN woven wire fence. They'd mean every word they say, too.

Take time out and fix up that sagging porch — that broken step. We'll furnish the material.

If it is true that earthquakes are caused by faults, somebody sure pulled a first class boner in California on March 10th.

You'll make no mistake if you insist on having 4-SQUARE lumber. The quality is always up to grade. The low price on 4-SQUARE is the highest price you should pay anywhere.

It is with a feeling of intense relief that we notice our name has not been mentioned in Morgan's preferred list.

Posts that you can drive easily and quickly help a lot in making temporary pasture fences on stubble ground. We have such a post at 25c. It will out-last any post at the price.

Looking like a million is entirely different from looking for a million—but it helps.

Looking for better lumber than 4-SQUARE is a waste of time for there is none better.

Contrary to general belief, Genuine White Pine is still available in ample quantities from the forests of Idaho. We unloaded a car of it last week shipped from the famous standing timber of Weyerhaeuser. All of it is 4-SQUARE grade and at prices below the present market.

An Irish court has just held that whiskey is O. K. for snake bites, but you might know there's a catch in it. There are no snakes in Ireland.

We're mighty glad to see grain prices go up. Now let's have some advance in hog and cattle prices.

Paint prices are still at low levels. They can't remain so. Better paint now before prices advance.

Mortgage Plan to Free Fifteen Million Dollars

E. H. Lulkart, state banking superintendent, estimates that 15 million dollars in frozen real estate loans in Nebraska closed banks will be eligible for refinancing through the Federal Land bank of Omaha under the new federal mortgage plan.

D. P. Hogan, president of the Omaha Land bank, is planning conferences in regard to the matter with Nebraska and Iowa banking officials.

Lulkart believes that the releasing of this federal money will be of great benefit to depositors, because real estate assets have been difficult to liquidate in the past few years.

These are the days when we're apt to cuss about lack of business—and these same days are the ones when we're most likely to do nothing about getting any business.

THANK YOU!

The Democrat and the Wayne business and professional men who are sponsoring the "Happy Saturday" programs in Wayne want to thank farmers of the Wayne trade territory for the tremendous interest which they are showing in the free entertainment.

No program was held last Saturday because the sponsors felt that people would not care for entertainment, having had considerable of it on the Fourth of July.

Earl Wade will meet Rough-House Nelson in a 40-minute time-limit wrestling exhibition this Saturday evening.

Although contracts have not been signed with the following attractions, negotiations are under way at the present time to bring to Wayne such headliners as Daredevil Weir, champion endurance driver who pilots a car on a 100-hour non-stop tour.

PLANNING FOR THE FAIR

Now that the Fourth of July is over, the next big event on the Wayne calendar is the Wayne County Fair. Although it is two months until time for that annual celebration, it is not too early for rural exhibitors to begin laying plans for their part in making the 1933 fair bigger and better than any of its predecessors.

The Wayne county fair always has good exhibits and this year, with present prospects pointing to the economic rise of the farmer, should be no exception.

GOOD WORK

"Bill" Smith, state tax commissioner, is one of Nebraska's most valuable public servants. Perhaps no other man in the state department has had so many extra burdens heaped upon him during the past year.

Right hand for Governor Bryan during his illness and no one realizes this better than the governor himself. Some day the people of Nebraska will show their appreciation for the good work Mr. Smith is doing.—Madison Star-Mail.

Contracts Being Planned for Adjustment Work

"The Triple A Wheat Plan" will be the common name for the wheat production adjustment plan of the agricultural adjustment administration.

Under its terms, Nebraska wheat farmers stand to get $10 benefit payments for every dollar which all Nebraska citizens pay as processing tax on wheat products.

The present carryover of wheat is said to be enough to do this country for another two years, even if there should be another short crop.

The contract which will be offered to farmers is being worked out. The contract will go with the land.

The farmer also agrees to plant the number of acres which will produce the number of bushels he agrees to produce.

Corn Adjustment Plan to Be Evolved Soon

Men interested in wheat, who had charge of the recent regional conference at Kansas City, told the Nebraska agricultural college group that the Department of Agriculture had gone the farthest with the cotton and wheat adjustment plans because the administration of these plans was much more simple than the corn and hog adjustment.

M. L. Wilson, in charge of the wheat plan, spent two days in conference with the agricultural college men from the nine winter wheat growing states.

SCOTT SHOTS THE ONLY SHOTS BY "SCOTT"

Main street murmure: The best break she ever got was when she got a divorce from her husband. . . . Boy, oh boy! This means money in the bank. . . . And now there's nothing left to kick about. . . . I feel good all over—think I'll go out and stand in it. . . . Well, we oughta have a record corn crop. . . . Ain't this wonderful!

"The American Press" rises to remark that a lot of the denunciation of the Morgan preferred list sounds like envy.

Recommended for hot weather (and we don't get paid for this kind of advertising either) those oh-so-cool menthol cigarettes. You gals, particularly, will like 'em on a hot afternoon when even your cocktails don't seem to have their customary zest and snap.

If there's anything you'd like to know about the money situation which has puzzled many of the best minds on several continents—we can tell you all about it. . . . except how to get it—and that's what this column conductor would really like to know.

Here's some country newspaper correspondence that is vouched for by the editor of the London, Ohio, Madison Press. He changed the names and localities, but swears that the correspondence is otherwise just as it came into his office.

Up until the present time there has not been a single fatality reported from holiday cigars or home-made hooch.

Frank Patterson has been suffering with a severe cold, the result of having washed his feet just previous to the holidays.

Several of our local scrap-tobacco chewers are predicting a very early spring, because of the fact that their overalls are getting mighty thin in places.

Norman Evans threw down the hay to a number of friends Sunday.

John Millburn is reported to have lolly-gagged in and around Smith chapel Sunday evening.

Quite a few of our local flappers have become so efficient that they can now drive the family car at a dizzy rate of speed, take a shot of mule, inhale a lucky and shift their juicy fruit from second to high without cutting off a single telephone pole.

Marylin Arthurs was femaleing at Piney Ridge Saturday evening.

Joe Brown gossiped, oystered and cranberryed with friends and relatives in Blue Canyon Sunday.

The reporter's report didn't get into the paper.

I have a city friend who used to make a lot of money. In fact, he made so much money that he was expected to live well. And his neighbors' idea of living well was such that it kept him flat most of the time living up to expectations.

I got a letter from him the other day. "This depression," he said, "is a wonderful thing. My pay has been cut to such an extent that I've been able to quit worrying about money—and you know that money is about the only thing I ever worried about. I'm not expected to live like an editorial prince any more.

Perhaps you were one of those individuals who cheered and huzzahed Friday morning when you awoke and found that a wonderful rain had fallen all night. You probably heard all these things said, but here's a list of some of the remarks that were made on the downtown streets:

Talk about a million dollar rain! . . . Boy, oh boy! This means money in the bank. . . . And now there's nothing left to kick about. . . . I feel good all over—think I'll go out and stand in it. . . . Well, we oughta have a record corn crop. . . . Ain't this wonderful!

At 25 miles it remarks, "The city speed limit has been passed. Is there a motorcycle policeman behind you?"

At 35 miles: "Too fast for city driving. We hope you are now in the country."

At 45 miles: "Your car is still under control but watch the car behind the car ahead of you."

At 50 miles: "Your responsibility is increasing. Keep your eyes on the road."

At 60 miles: "Are your insurance premiums paid to date?"

At 70 miles: "You drive—this attachment will do the praying."

At 80 miles: "Probably someone will have this car repaired. If so, we thank you for the sale of another speedometer to replace this one, which in a few moments is going to hell along with you."

Sometimes we laugh about the fellow who is always on the go, ever trying to find some way to help his business—dashing at every opportunity. "He gets too excited," we say.

Well, maybe so. But the fellow I'm thinking about right now is one who remained calm too long, and now he's in a helluva shape. He bears thinking about.

On the other hand, I think of another man who is perfectly peaceful back in the wilderness of Time. His days are spent in reminiscence—and he doesn't know that the march of modern feet has made of his wilderness of Time. His days are spent in reminiscence—and he doesn't know that the march of modern feet has made of his wilderness a paved highway. Happy? Perfectly. He hasn't failed. He simply has never gotten around to achieving. His bearing, his attitude and the little wrinkles around his eyes (the kind that only enjoyment can make) tell me that he is about the happiest man I know.

Many of us have trials; too few convictions.

An optimist is a man who thinks that women have already accomplished the extreme in ridiculous dress.

Lots of men who are always called William wish that they might be called Bill; some who are just natural Bills would be flattered if occasionally they might be given a more dignified moniker.

Claryce of the longersays recently read an article on Russia in a popular magazine and says "So far as I can see, this here free love stuff in that country is about like the stuff we have here, only the boy has to marry the girl."

Wm. Robertson and family spent Sunday at home, is a news item quoted from one of our rural representatives. Perhaps no other item in the paper so nearly complies with the dictum that nothing but the unusual is news, for it is certainly out of the ordinary for anyone to stay at home Sunday or any other day.

Reports Show Slump in Nebraska Collections

Nebraska tax collections for the fiscal year closing June 30 slumped 15 per cent, according to the first four reports of county treasurers reaching State Auditor Price's office at Lincoln.

My 4-H Club Trip

Last fall, our local pig club leader, Walford Carlson, told me that I was in line for a free trip to Lincoln to attend 4-H club week.

On May 25, I received a letter from Mr. Frisbie containing a round trip ticket to Lincoln and a badge having my name and address. They also sent a list of necessary articles.

Sunday morning my dad and two brothers took me to Wisner, where I caught the 8:03 bus. I changed buses at Fremont and arrived at Lincoln at 12:30.

Monday morning was the real beginning of Club Week. At nine o'clock every one was required to register with Mr. Frisbie.

At noon we had lunch at the college cafeteria, where we got most of our meals, and they gave us splendid food.

At five o'clock we moved into our new quarters. Six o'clock, supper, and 7:30 we returned to the Agricultural Activities building, where we heard the address of welcome by Chancellor Burnett.

Classes were started on Tuesday morning. The first was a talk on "Poultry Possibilities." Next was an interesting talk on football by Dana X. Bible.

At 1:15 we had our picture taken in front of the 4-H club building at the state fair grounds.

At 3:30 we went by bus to the State Capitol. It took nine buses for all. We went through the beautiful corridors, representatives' chambers, senate chambers, supreme court room, governor's reception room and spent the rest of the time in the tower, where one can see over the entire city.

At 4:15, we went to the First Plymouth church. Some of the stones are from the house in which Martin Luther was born.

HEAVY RAINS BLESS WAYNE COUNTY CROPS

Continued from page one was killed and many bridges were washed out. As soon as the storm subsided, the Winslow volunteer firemen were at work removing debris.

Some hail was reported west of town, but the damage was not extensive. Wayne train service was partially interrupted Wednesday, with a strip of track washed out three-quarters of a mile west of town.

Damage to telephone toll-line service was wide-spread. Although a large crew of repairmen were working no toll service was available last night to Carroll, Randolph, Norfolk and Fremont.

At Hartington, 2.56 inches of rain fell. A heavy windstorm swept through Hartington, Wymot, Verdigre, Fordyce and Crofton, sweeping farm buildings and doing thousands of dollars damage.

Arnold Bonhert, young St. Helena farmer, was killed when a barn blew over.

Rainfall in Wayne Friday and Saturday totaled .81 inch and fell slowly, and steadily, so that the dry fields got the full benefit of the water.

Weather forecast for today is generally fair, with not much change in temperature.

Temperatures for the week were as follows:

RUSSIAN SOVIET GOVERNMENT IS DISAPPOINTMENT TO DURANT

farm—all of which are carefully maintained by the Soviet for foreign inspection.

George Bernard Shaw and others who went to Russia to learn the truth did not see things as they were, Durant said; they saw only what the Soviet intended they should see.

Robinson, radical socialist friend of Durant, was cured of his belief in Russia by one visit.

The three greatest horrors in Russia, the speaker said, are poverty, gloom and spies. In Russia no one dares speak freely. In Mr. Durant's words: "In restaurants the most frequently used word is 'Shhh' Spies are everywhere."

"A Russian Christian," Durant said, "may be compared to an American atheist. In America an atheist would not be allowed to teach in the schools or hold a state position. In Russia a Christian is not allowed to teach and cannot be given work by the state. Religion means practically starvation."

German workers, he said, receive bread tickets honored at government "bread windows." One must wait in line for the necessities of life, but there is not enough food for everyone. Daily half the line is turned away hungry. At three o'clock in the morning people stand in line for the bread window to open—at nine.

All Russian industry, he explained, is owned by the government. There is no escape from the state. Either one works for the state or he starves—sometimes both. Military training is compulsory for men and women.

"Russians, he said, may leave Russia only if they meet with impossible qualifications. A Russian of the proletariat might leave Russia if he would pay to the Soviet government in foreign money, $250. It would take a Russian worker ten years to earn that much in foreign money, if he spent none of it for food.

Durant said: "I doubt if there was ever a government which gives less freedom to its people. There is no free speech. Freedom of the Press? Impossible! Writers must be enthusiastic in the praise of the government."

It is significant, he pointed out, that all of the dreamers and idealists who planned the revolution and the overthrow of the Czar have been executed or are political prisoners.

"I would give everything I have if I could believe that Communism is a good thing," Dr. Durant said. "But I cannot. The natural inequality of men will make Communism impossible. These differences in men make our society. Strong men will always object to equalization by Communism.

Dr. Durant said that he believed the United States should recognize Russia. "The goodness of a government," he explained, "has nothing whatever to do with its recognition. I urge recognition for two reasons: the opening up of a badly needed trade territory and to bring Russians into contact with the United States in the hope that perhaps the world can understand the hell in which Russians live."

A farmer's house caught fire. As he had no telephone, he ran across fields to a neighbor's to telephone for help.

The house was destroyed—the minutes he lost by not having a telephone cost this farmer dearly.*

A Telephone would have saved his home!

An emergency without a telephone has cost some farmers more than it does to have the service for a lifetime—it's worth a few cents a day to know that help is only a telephone call away.

Railwaymen Have Thrills

and Many Narrow Escapes

Railwaymen have their share of thrills. Sometimes only a second stands between disaster and preventing an accident. Some time ago on a railway line not far from Leeds, a heavy traction engine stopped in the center of a level crossing. The signal was off for a fast freight express, and three men, the driver and two rail trackmen, had a frantic and terrifying minute and a half before the reluctant road roller could be coaxed clear of the engine. Had the express hit such a solid mass disaster would certainly have occurred.

On another occasion, when a train struck a motor vehicle of flimsy make, the train rushed on carrying with it several miles of celluloid ribbons which caught alight from the bursting of the petrol tank of the van. In a few seconds sheets of flame shot up all around the startled passengers in the train, but the express was brought safely to a stop and the fires extinguished without loss of life.

Another thrill which occurs in the railway world happens at times in the handling of high explosives, and the transport of inflammable materials such as petrol and spirits.—Montreal Herald.

Says Pneumonia May Be Called Friend of Aged

Certain acute or subacute inflammations in the lungs are called pneumonia, says Ohio Health News. This is a general term and does not mean a specific disease. It may be caused by any one of a number of germs which gain entrance into the lungs and find conditions suitable for growth.

It is a frequent complication of measles, influenza, whooping cough, typhoid fever and other infections and often closes the scene in chronic heart diseases, pulmonary tuberculosis, bright's disease and diabetes. There is a marked incidence at both extremes of life; in children under six years of age, and, quoting Osler: "Pneumonia may well be called the friend of the aged. Taken off by it in an acute, short, not often painful illness, old escape those cold gradations of decay that make the last stage of all so distressing."

Cashew Nuts Grow on Trees

So-called cashew nuts grow on a large evergreen tree native to tropical America and naturalized in nearly all warm countries. Many people suppose they grow in the ground because, in general size and shape, they resemble peanuts. The cashew nut was practically unknown in the United States a few years ago. In reality it is not a nut at all. It is the kidney-shaped seed attached outside to the lower end of the cashew apple, which is the pear-shaped, fleshy, edible fruit borne in clusters on the cashew tree. The nut is edible only after the caustic oil known as cardol has been expelled from the shell by roasting. Cashew is pronounced ka-shoo, with the second syllable accented.

Proof That Fish Sleep

The fact that your goldfish do not close their eyes is no proof that they never sleep. The reason of this is that they have no eyelids—hence their eyes are permanently open. But experiments made in the aquarium at the London zoo proves that fish sleep; some rest on the bottom of their tanks, others are suspended mid-water, while others still lie quite close to the surface. Just as in the case of human beings, hunger will keep fish awake. Thus we hear of successful angling feats after dark.—Answers.

Deportation Provision

Under construction of the immigration statutes an alien who entered this country prior to July 1, 1924, cannot be deported if he has resided continuously in this country for five years, unless during that time he has been twice convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude, for which he was sentenced to a term of more than a year. If the wife can prove legal entry she can become naturalized. No alien who entered the country illegally on or after June 3, 1921, can become naturalized in the United States.

As She Is Spoke

The English Alpine visitor was met in the lounge of the hotel by a Frenchman. "Ah," exclaimed the latter, "I've heard about you. You climbed the Matterhorn. That is a foot to be proud of!"

The Englishman laughed. "Pardon me, sir," he said, "you mean 'feet,' do you not?"

"Ah," said the Frenchman, greatly excited, "so you climbed it more than once, eh?"—London Answers.

Turret Spider Never Hunts

The turret spider never hunts for prey. Instead it waits at the top of its burrow for the creatures upon which it feeds to come within reach, though this may mean it must wait out food for weeks or even months at a time. When it does capture a victim, however, it feeds voraciously.

Solemn Occasions

Certain annual Roman feast days were referred to as "solemnis" (occurring annually). Because these feasts became occasions for serious reflection the word "solemnis" came to mean something which was grave and serious rather than something which occurred annually.

Doctors Warn Against Hot Weather Activity

Keeping cool is more important than keeping up with a schedule, say physicians in a recently published hot weather bulletin.

Judicious use of the can opener, supplemented by a wide variety of fresh vegetables and fruits is also officially countenanced and even urged by the doctors for the housekeeper who wants to keep her family well and as comfortable as possible during the dog days.

"Keep your extra briskness and scouring ambitions for the cold weather," the physicians counsel in this bulletin.

"Heat exhaustion and sunstroke are unnecessary summer accidents in most cases. They generally happen in people with already damaged hearts or with high blood pressure who, nevertheless, perversely insist upon a shopping trip in the hot part of the day, or some other job that takes them onto the hot pavements, a job that could have been saved for another hour or day. Sometimes they happen to misguided vacationists who feel that golf or fishing in a hot sun are necessary vacation jobs."

For the mother in charge of a family's comfort, the doctors advise early rising to do absolutely essential household work before the heat of the day. They advise careful neglect of all chores that can possibly be saved for cooler weather. They also advise preparation of meals that require as little cooking as possible, with liberal use of canned foods to avoid necessity of using the stove.

"This is the time," the doctors point out, "to make good use of the wide varieties of canned foods to supplement the fresh vegetables and fruits. Cold fruit drinks and liberal use of milk are good, also. It is a great mistake to overeat in hot weather, and the best way to avoid overeating is to cut down on the fuel foods such as cereals, starches and meats, and substitute in their places the vegetables, fruits and dairy products that provide needed vitamin and mineral salts without unduly adding to energy producing units.

"Babies suffer more than adults in hot weather," the doctors note. "Each year it is necessary to warn over-anxious mothers against clothes for infants when it is hot. Baby's costume should consist of nothing but a diaper and he should have frequent baths. He should not be trotted out for visits and exhibitions. The greatest possible care should be exercised in the care of his food to keep it pure, in order to avoid intestinal upsets."

Closing the house early while it is cool and keeping it closed and shaded until evening is a practical method suggested by the doctors to preserve a cool spot for relaxation.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Here's one for the taxpayer: The total of all appropriations made by the recent special session of Congress, including those which are classified as "capital expenditures," is in excess of $4,500,000,000. When the appropriations of the final session of the 72nd Congress are added, the aggregate since December 5, 1932, exceeds $6,000,000,000.

One encouraging sign is that the extraordinary measures, while they appropriate definite amounts, do not specify that they be entirely spent. In the $2,000,000,000 public works bill, for example, it is doubtful if more than a third of it can be used within a year. By the end of that time it may be necessary to use more.

Also encouraging is the outlook for tax revenues. For the first time since depression began the Government's internal revenue collections are exceeding those for the same period a year before. Main reasons for this are the beer and gasoline taxes, which have been roaring successes. These two taxes, with cigarette and income taxes, were responsible for 67 per cent of all internal revenue during May. Income tax collections, however, have gone down; decrease during the current fiscal year has been $96,000,000 in comparison to the last. This loss was more than offset by increases of revenue of $313,500,000 from the beer tax, together with 25 other new taxes and five sets of higher rates on old taxes.

The World Economic Conference hasn't collapsed, but it's looking pretty tottery. It is, basically, an attempt to revive internationalism in a world which is now predominantly nationalistic. Bones of contention have appeared at every turn. Most important is the fight between France and the United States over dollar stabilization. France wants it, to save her franc from slipping off the gold standard. U. S. is against it; our internal recovery program is based principally on one kind or another of inflation, which is definitely opposed to gold standard principles. The American delegation has lost caste, due to the fact that individual members have been making statements which often conflict. European observers wonder, and justly, why they don't go into more huddles among themselves. Secretary Hull's trade resolution, main feature of which is reduction of trade barriers, met a cool response. Only resolutions on which any real progress have been made deal with matters of a minor nature.

During May, industrial production achieved the largest increase recorded by the Federal Reserve Board's index in 14 years. Reports in early June show continuance of the advance. Light industries, such as shoes and textiles, are moving to new highs. Heavy industries—steel, lumber, automobile, etc.—are participating to a lesser extent in the march. Employment and wage statistics grow more encouraging, and there has been no weakening in the commodity price rise.

Of importance to all businesses is National Industry Recovery Administrator Johnson's warning against efforts to increase prices without justification. There will be no price "wild-cats." Effort will be given to raising the general price level gradually, through elimination of unfair competition, low wage scales and poor working conditions. Mr. Johnson also gave first intimation of what fair wages will mean: About 45 cents per hour for a 32-hour week, for the lowest-paid class.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Granquist and Mrs. S. B. Miller, the last of Malvern, Ark., returned last week Sunday from South Dakota where they spent the week-end with relatives. They visited in Desmet with Mrs. E. B. Dolan and at Cavour in the Wm. Schilde home.

To Show Foods at Chicago Fair

A SALIENT feature of the great Century of Progress International Exposition at Chicago which opened its gates to the public on the first of June is a showing of what science and industry have done to improve the conditions governing food and its distribution. These conditions include quality, cleanliness, variety, palatability and convenience. Science and industry have made immense strides in these directions during the last few decades, and one of the recent industrial tendencies has been to gather under one administrative control a group of the pick of the best foods with which the public is familiar.

That is what General Foods Corporation has done, and the reason why its exhibit in the impressive Agriculture and Foods building is always crowded is because this exhibit includes well known and widely used breakfast foods, gelatin, cake flour, tapiocas, chocolate, cocoa, coconut, decaffeinated coffee, maple flavored syrup, coffee, tea, baking powder, bottled pectin for use in making jams and jellies, high grade salt, frozen foods and many more. There are also General Foods products in all, including even aids to washing and ironing.

An Unusual Method

An unusual method has been adopted to make clear to the massed crowds just how these foods are produced and in what forms they are presented to the public. On one of the largest revolving stages ever built General Foods is presenting sixteen scenic productions featuring each of its nationally advertised products, and telling its dramatic story through a variety of highly interesting and unique mediums. Eight of the performances are given simultaneously for a period of two minutes. The other eight are of the same length of time, following an intermission of ten seconds. So a person standing before one stage can see the entire sixteen shows by merely standing still because of the revolving mechanism. This has proved an admirable piece of forethought as it would be difficult to circulate from one stage to another in the dense crowd.

As each of the shows is completed, sliding panel aluminum doors close amid a splendor of changing colored lights focused on the front of the stages. At the same time, gigantic packages in full relief, towering ten feet above the stages, move in review until the beginning of the next series of shows. Multi-colored spot lights play on these cartons, which are brilliantly lacquered, as they are in motion. These mammoth packages, when stationary, serve to identify the show going on below them.

Products and Photographs

Large display cases, framed in curved glass and brilliantly lighted, contain interesting arrangements of these principal products and of approximately fifty other brands manufactured by the various General Foods units. Lining the backgrounds of the cabinets are photographic murals of appetizing food subjects—dishes of cereal and fruit, jelly, beverages, cakes, pies, salads, desserts, and many more. The cases are located at the bases of massive illuminated columns, half of them rising to a height of thirty-five feet. These columns are twenty feet apart, and a triple tier of aluminum discs tops the columns and supports the structure overhead.

Architecturally the exhibit strikes a fresh modern note. In beauty, color and lighting effects it is appropriately attuned to the modern spirit which characterizes the exposition. A color scheme of orange, vermillion, black, and aluminum is emphasized throughout the structure. The floor surrounding the space, which measures eighty by forty-two feet, is covered with a coating of polished brass.

A Monster Cook Book

At the north end of the exhibit the new General Foods Cook Book, which has proved so popular is being displayed and sold. A large reproduction of the Cook Book, with its pages constantly turning, is located above the display and shows women visitors the many worthwhile features offered in the book. Four experienced home economic experts associated with the company's consumer service department are in-charge of these Cook Book activities. In addition, a dozen recipe booklets regularly distributed by the company free of charge are being displayed and offered to visitors who wish to have them mailed to their homes.

At the south end of the space a graphic story of General Foods as an institution is told in large pictorial murals. A map and photographs show the location of the company's various plants, and division, district and sub-district offices; its manufacturing and research activities; the work of its consumer service department; and its service to various trade groups.

Quick Frosted Foods, Too

Adjacent to the Cook Book booth and occupying a prominent location at the northwest corner of the exhibit, quick-frosted foods, the company's newest development, are being shown and demonstrated. The complete line of foods—packaged meats, poultry, seafood, vegetable and fruit—comprising some sixty items, are included in this exhibit.

A balcony extending over the entire length of the exhibit is being used as an office by the company's fair personnel, and serves as headquarters for General Foods' guests and organization.
