Carroll News Owner Files Second Suit

Whitacre Asks $908.28 and Interest from Nick Warth.

H. J. Whitacre filed suit in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court this week against Nick Warth of Carroll, praying judgment against Warth for $908.28 and interest at seven per cent and costs of the suit.

Eight causes of action are set forth in the plaintiff's petition. The plaintiff charges that during all the time stated in the causes of action, Whitacre was the owner of the Carroll News and Warth was employed by him to manage the paper. Whitacre charges that after Jan. 26, 1933, Warth refused to account to him.

Whitacre asks $138.69, which he claims for conversion of money alleged to have been paid Warth by Wayne county for printing done for the county by the Carroll News. He charges that there is due him from Warth the sum of $100 for money which he claims to have advanced the Carroll News as operating expense in September of 1929. He claims $39.68, which he alleges is due for light and water. Whitacre asks $50.64 which he alleges is due for the conversion of certain articles; $25 for an electric motor, $30 for four Coik press rollers, $30 for a Coleman gas pressure stove and $100 for the files of the Carroll News, charging that these articles were converted by Warth on March 26, 1933.

Wildcats to Open Schedule Friday

Coach Ray Hickman's Wayne Wildcats go to Lincoln tomorrow night to meet the Nebraska Wesleyan football team, with prospects looking none too bright for the locals to secure a win.

Hampered by a lack of tricky, speedy backfield material, Coach Hickman has been striving to fashion a winning grid machine from his available men. With the necessity of entirely revamping the Wildcats' offense from the usual line, the opening game comes at least a week too soon for the Hickman squad.

The Wayne grid mentor expects to have his team in better condition to cope with heavy opposition when the Wildcats meet Kearney on Friday evening, Oct. 13, in the first home game of the season.

Council Takes Second Option for Auditorium

City Considers Graveling Road to Pavilion and Stock Yards.

Wayne's city council, in session on Tuesday evening, took an option on the Clyde Oman lots, on the corner of Third and Pearl streets. The option, which was purchased for $10, would permit the city to purchase the lots for $5,000. Mr. Oman would retain the improvements now on the lots.

The lots are being considered as a site for the new Wayne municipal building. On Tuesday, Sept. 12, the city took an option on two lots owned by Walter Savidge and Frank Griffith, for a purchase price of $6,000. These lots are located directly west of the city hall.

Councilmen discussed the advisability of graveling South First street from Main street east to the stock pavilion and north to the stock yards. The matter was referred to committee, and favorable action is expected to be taken.

An ordinance was passed requiring the construction of sidewalks on East Ninth street from the east line of the alley between Nebraska street and Window street to the west line of Window street.

E. E. Fleetwood, L. B. McClure and Burr R. Davis appeared before the council and asked that the city support the fire department by defraying expenses to the coming firemen's convention. The councilmen seemed to be favorably inclined.

FIRE INSPECTION TO BE HELD IN WAYNE

State Prevention Officers to Investigate Local Fire Hazards.

At the invitation of the Young Business Men's club, the Nebraska State Fire Prevention association will make an inspection of Wayne on Wednesday, Oct. 11. The purpose of the inspection is to discover any defects or conditions in construction, equipment or upkeep of a business house, an industrial plant or a public institution that may cause a fire if not remedied.

In no way will the regular order of things in a store, workshop or public institution be interfered with by the men making the inspection. They are said to carry on their work in a methodical manner, disturbing none of the employees. They note any dangerous accumulation of inflammable rubbish on the premises, instances of defective electric wiring or other conditions conducive to the outbreak of a fire. Following the inspection, the fire preventionists will list the defects they have found and suggest the necessary improvements.

No attempt will be made by the visitors to inspect dwellings here. As has been successfully done elsewhere, inspection of Wayne residences will be accomplished by means of what are known as "home inspection" blanks in the hands of school children.

The work to be carried on in Wayne on Oct. 11 is a part of a country-wide plan sponsored by business men's and civic organizations with the purpose of reducing the fire waste of the nation to a minimum. Striking need of the work being carried out by different fire prevention associations is to be found in the fact that property loss by fire in the United States amounts to over $450,000 annually.

Work on Highway No. 113 Expected to Start in Near Future.

Governor Charles W. Bryan last week ordered built Highway No. 113, extending from Wayne's city limits to the Pierce county line. J. D. Martin, district engineer, was here Saturday morning to confer with the Wayne county commissioners in regard to the project, for which it is estimated that $30,000 worth of labor will be required.

Governor Bryan stated Friday that he signed this order as a special relief measure for the unemployed in Wayne county. No outside help will be allowed, and no bids will be made by contractors who might do the work with outside help and machinery.

The job will be mostly team and scraper work, elevated grader work using county grading machinery, and hand shoveling. Little delay is expected in getting started as the surveying work has already been done. About a week will be required for State Engineer Roy Cochran's office to get out specifications.

Wayne county people look upon the project as a great help to the unemployment situation. As federal money is being used to pay for the work, it will be necessary for most of the help to be selected from those who have filed with L. C. Gildersleeve, local secretary of the National Re-employment Service. Only those in charge of machinery which might be damaged by inexperienced drivers may be employed outside of the secretary's list.

As the National Recovery Act requires such procedure, anyone expecting to apply for work on the highway must register with Mr. Gildersleeve at the Wright lumber company's office or with his assistants, Vaughn Williams at Carroll and Fred Miller (continued on page five)

The Inquiring Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

What do you think of the proposed retailer's code?

Merchant: In times past, I would have been opposed to any price fixing, but I believe the proposed retailer's code would be a great thing for business in general.

Merchant: I do not think the government should attempt retail price regulation.

Merchant: The code will stop excessive price cutting, and that will mean better business for everybody. Nobody should sell at a loss, and the new code will prevent such a thing.

Merchant: The new code for retail stores would prevent the sale of goods at less than wholesale, price plus 10 per cent. That is only common sense, and the firm that wants to sell any article for less than that is only destroying of looking the public on something else.

Merchant: It will mean the abolition of snide firms and business quackery.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 14. Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, September 28, 1933. Vol. 8

In the production of volcanic ash, used as an abrasive material in cleaning compounds, Nebraska has almost a monopoly.

Last week a farmer customer bought a bunch of 2x4's. He said, "I want nothing but 4-SQUARE. I don't have to waste any time squaring the ends and the lengths are always exact."

Little Johnnie—"Papa, what is a person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?"
Papa—"A bartender, my boy."

The trees are changing color these days, have you noticed? And that means fall is here. So is our stock of GOOD coal. Winter is just around the corner.

Fencing materials are still at rock bottom prices. Posts, barbed wire, American fence

Lots of heat and very little ash is the boast we make for SAHARA coal.

We are making an introductory price of $3.00 per ton for MARK TWAIN coal. With the first ton order we also give a fine thermometer. Both these offers will probably be withdrawn.

"I know my c o e t h e s look terrible, but my wife left 'em on the floor last night."

"What's the matter, couldn't she pick 'em up?"

"Not very well. I was in 'em."

The longer you let your buildings go without paint, the tougher they'll look and the more paint they'll take when you do paint. Save money both ways by keeping your buildings well painted with CERTAIN - T E E D. Prices low.

When we say we have a post at 25c that we believe will last upwards of 25 years, we mean it. Call at our yard any time and we can show you.

In order to cut good lumber it is necessary to have good trees. Good lumber can not be produced from small, knotty logs. The Weyerhaeuser Lumber Co. owns the largest average of the best standing timber in all the world. From those fine trees all of their 4-SQUARE lumber is cut.

"Better Lumber For Less"

It is worth $1.00 a ton to you to be able to get your MARK TWIN coal delivered now, rather than to wait till our special introductory offer is withdrawn.

We have 2x4, 2x6 and 2x8 dimension lumber at $25.00 per thousand, yes; but it's not the best lumber by any means and we do not represent it to be such. If you want to be sure that you're getting the grade you buy insist on having 4-SQUARE. Weyerhaeuser puts the grade on every package of it.

A nice bright label and a smooth talk sells some paints. Here in our office we have the chemical analysis of all the paints. That tells you what is in the can and that is important to the paint purchaser. You don't spread the label on the "bull" on your buildings, but what's in the can. So let us tell you what's in the can before you make a purchase.

Monarch Malleable Ranges

In exclusive tinted enamel finishes

Famous for its dependability and economy in operation, the MONARCH'S patented Duplex Draft Control assures uniform heat beneath the entire cooking surface and throughout the oven. The maximum amount of heat is obtained from the minimum amount of fuel, and uniform baking results are always assured.

MIRCO process finish, another patented MONARCH feature, is created by treating the iron under extreme heat. It is not a coating and therefore is not affected by the extreme heat which passes beneath the range top. It is rust resisting and is easy to keep clean and attractive. No blacking is ever required.

A durable enamel finish both inside and out protects the MONARCH from rust and corrosion. Vitrified rust resisting flue linings, exterior oven walls and back flue protect these vital parts from rust damage. MONARCH is the only range protected in this manner.

In constructing the MONARCH, unbreakable, malleable iron frames are securely riveted to the oven and body walls, assuring leak-proof and permanent fitting joints. A full enamel exterior armor is then added, greatly increasing durability.

WAYNE MARKET REPORTS

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Corn, Oats, Barley, Cream, Eggs, Springs, Roosters, Hens.

NRA BENEFITS

Wayne people who have become over-anxious for the NRA program to bring some amazing, sharp return to boom days must face the fact that many communities believe to be a miraculous recovery has already been accomplished.

In South Dakota, where they have had so many droughts that they have almost forgotten what a real crop looks like, people feel that prosperity is here.

We must realize that the reason why we have failed to see any appreciable benefits from NRA lies not with NRA itself but with ourselves.

NRA, however, is beginning to function well enough so that, even in Wayne, we will be able to feel its benefits.

President Roosevelt has said that he is going to take care of the farmer, and those of us who have followed his record know that he always means what he says.

We know that if the farmer receives a fair price for his products, the entire population of Wayne and Nebraska and the Midwest will have happy days again.

TOO MANY CASES

Perusal of any court docket will convince almost anyone that there are too many cases to permit our courts to function with the highest degree of efficiency.

It would seem that we need some kind of jurisdiction to keep petty, minor cases out of court. This could be accomplished by setting up still another court to have jurisdiction only in matters involving small amounts.

Such a court would eliminate the present situation where cases involving from five to twenty-five dollars are appealed from county court to district court and are permitted to incur great expense to taxpayers.

It would give our district courts enough time to handle serious cases at the time when they should be handled, and would serve to strengthen law enforcement by expediting the infliction of penalties for law violation.

COLLEGE FRATERNITIES

Whether or not the fraternity system in our universities is a good thing is about as difficult a question to answer as whether or not an education is a good thing. It all depends on the boy or girl.

Charges that the fraternity system is wrecking many of our large schools are probably too severe. Such statements would give the thinking reader the opinion that the author was attempting to create a sensation.

The fraternity system has its advantages and its disadvantages. At most schools the grade averages of fraternity students are above the grade averages of non-members.

It is charged that the fraternity system brings about class differences in schools. If the charge is true, it does not seem to be a serious one. The writer has never yet run across any community or any society that does not have class differences.

It has been said that the non-member has more acquaintances than the member. That is probably true, but it is probably also true that the fraternity members have more close friends than the non-member.

It has been charged that the fraternity member is a snob. In some cases, that is true. In many, it isn't. Some non-members are snobs and some are not.

The fraternity member's living costs are higher than those of the non-member. If the boy or girl attending a university wants to belong to such an organization and can afford it, he or she will probably get good value for the money expended.

Now, as never before, there are rewards for good salesmanship. The man who has the ability to sell can set his own wage.

Real salesmanship has been given far too little attention in our scheme of things. We train our young people to become doctors and lawyers and engineers and newspaper men, but those who go into the sales field must, for the most part, learn from experience.

Here in Wayne it is possible every day to see business lost by poor salesmanship. Much business has not even been touched, simply because a real salesman has never tried to sell many potential buyers.

FROGS AND PUDDLES

"Which would you rather be," he asked, "a big frog in a little puddle or a little frog in a big puddle?"

The answer is supposed to be that you would rather be a little frog in a big puddle, but that idea has also seemed lame to us. We want to be a big frog, regardless of what size puddle we're in.

The man who is smart when he is one of ten people is just as smart when he is one of five million. The city dance is still a dance in a small town.

This big and little frog argument is a lot of foolishness. Let's forget about it and try to do our work, regardless of where we are, just as well as we can do it. Then we won't have to stay in ANY kind of a puddle.

Presbyterian Women to Meet Here Friday

Women of Nebraska Presbyterian will come to Wayne Friday for a picnic and "get together" meeting, at which plans will be made for the year's work.

SCOTT SHOTS BY 'SCOTTY'

You guys who think times are tough oughta be ashamed of yourselves. You haven't any idea of how hard times really can be when Old Man Luck gets down on you.

He's not down-hearted. And if he isn't, you've got no license to be. This 'bo came into the office Monday afternoon. I would hate to libel him by saying that he was drunk, and yet I'd hate to libel the generally accepted state of sobriety by saying that he was sober.

"Listen chief, he said, 'you're a newspaper guy, see, and you like a hot human interest story, don'tcha? Well, I got one, see—but I ain't spillin' unless I get two-bits for a little grub stake. I know what I got is worth money, an' I'm gonna get dough, see, or I don't tell my story'."

"What is the story, your reporter inquired. "The story of my life. It's really somethin' that reads like the best damned book you ever read and your readers'd all be nuts over it if you take me on. Only two-bits for a story chaff'll knock their eyeballs loose."

Your skeptical reporter knew it was a gag. He knew goosh-damed well that this Looney Looney didn't have anything worth telling. But your reporter was bored and lazy and he flipped the 'bo the two-bits.

Whereupon he heard a tale of "a guy that had a way with women." He heard of this blue-eyed Lothario's conquests of many dames in many localities—all of which was "red-hot," but none of which would bear reproduction in this family journal.

And listen, you Foolloose Filbert; wherever you are—if you should happen by some chance of Fate to see this—I didn't believe a word of it. And I wasn't a sucker. I knew it was a gyp before you got the two-bits.

The record stands: No Wayne person who has attended the World's Fair has seen the famous Pan Dance.

Main Street Murmurs: Eggs has gone up again. . . If she was my wife, I believe I'd spend my time playing pool, too. . . He's personally acquainted with Bebe Daniels. . . He's the toughest coach I ever want to run up against. . . She showed me a couple of his letters and were they sticky. . . If you think its a cinch to stand on your feet all day and wait on customers, you're crazy. . . It wouldn't surprise me a bit to see her leave him, but I guess she's afraid to. . . I told her she was looking healthier and fatter, just to give her a dig. . . Pa likes beer, and it sure burns the old lady up. . . I think we'll get a new car this fall—the old one's all paid for now. . . They quit comb' out, an' they sure got the bird. . . He's distinguished looking, and yet he has a kind of a dumb stare. . . I like my teachers, but I wish they didn't take their work so seriously. . . We lost a couple of Shannon spinners. . . He has plenty of ideas, but he never puts any of them over. . . Maybe NRA'll give us some good farm prices, yet. . . Do you think Dwight Griswold is gonna run for governor again? . . . If I had a heart as big as his, I'd put a padlock on it to keep people from robbing me."

Coach Bob Gibb had the right idea when he started a junior high school kittenball tournament. If he gets the boys interested in athletics and lets them learn something of the fundamentals before they get into high school, the high school will turn out better teams in years to come.

Coach Bob Gibb had the right idea when he started a junior high school kittenball tournament. If he gets the boys interested in athletics and lets them learn something of the fundamentals before they get into high school, the high school will turn out better teams in years to come.

A deduction brought about by seeing a Scullingo sophomore give a freshman the lowdown on things in general; the only person in the world who knows more than a college graduate is a college sophomore.

Football will soon be on tap in Wayne. That's why all the grid fans are wearing such broad smiles these days. If you aren't a follower of the grid pastime, you wouldn't be able to understand the glow of anticipation that comes to a football fanatic every fall—and if you are a fan, no explanation is necessary.

While you're handing out bouquets to civic-minded people, don't forget a few flowers for J. S. Horney. His services on the building committee of the city council have been worth a great deal during this time when Wayne is getting ready to build a new community building.

He has the time to do the work—and the ability to accomplish things that we need to have done. Lots of other people have those same qualifications to some degree, but darned few of them are willing to work for the public good.

FOOLISH FABLES

Once upon a time there was a plowboy who made enough money to keep him for the rest of his days and he moved into town to settle down and loaf and enjoy life. He had been in the habit of doing business with the mail order houses and he saw no reason to change his ways.

Now it came to pass that this gentleman's married daughter moved to town and her husband was in business. His store sold quality merchandise and asked the price to which it was entitled.

And the old man hollered likeli. He hollered that people oughta support home firms and that the county commissioners oughta be run out of town on a rail for sending the money of honest, hard-working tax-payers to a firm that never spent any money here and never would.

The moral to this tale is that if the shoe is big enough to fit your neighbor, it'll fit you, too.

A minister made a smart crack at me the other day about the religious deficiency among editors in general, and so I want to start an argument. To all of you ministers I ask this question and ask for a fair, unbiased, unprejudiced answer.

And another question—"Do the people who are most apt to commit crimes against society have a closer contact with the church of with the newspaper?"

You could make a dirty come-back to that second question, but I think you'll see what I'm driving at and what I want to argue about.

All answers will be published, either with or without the names of the writers, as you prefer.

More and more readers of Scott Shots are telling me about the enjoyment they derive from the weekly republication in this column of the work of Fred Howard, editor of the Clay County Sun. You're not alone in liking his material, ladies and gentlemen, for wherever the wise-cracks of the Clay Center man have been published, they have been received with chuckles. People in Clay Center probably have little or no idea of the fame which their editor is receiving for his verber clever work.

And here's some of his stuff for your delectation: "Pin Money" is seldom used to purchase pins.

When the road is extra good the detour is sure to be extra bad.

Most of us think that our first duty to society is to see that the other guys do theirs.

Lots of men are like lots of mules. They would be jobless without a pull. To the chin we say don't east foot; to the fat we give the advice: don't eat fast.

would take the regular motto from our metal coins and substitute "Abide with me."

If your honesty is of the right kind you will probably know that while your mantle of charity suffices for you not entirely perfect neighbor, nothing less than a circus tent would cover your own shortcomings.

We sincerely wish to believe the Federal Department of Justice when it announces that it "Has Crime in America on the run," but the banners in every daily paper belie the claim.

If you have arrived at the age which will permit you to sit down in the midst of a lot of unfinished work and relax, you are old enough to really enjoy life—a life in which one must have long experience ere he discovers that there is really no great hurry about anything—it will happen anyway.

The most popular air yesterday, today and forever is chin music.

We glorify our law makers for philanthropic legislation and dam our tax collectors for enforcing the laws. "I'm sorry" is often the liar's escape from better apology when caught at something he should not have done.

College Thespians Plan Programs for Semester

Wayne State Teachers College dramatics class, of which Miss Florence Drake is director, will present a program of one-act plays on Monday evening, Nov. 12.

Members of the class will also participate in a chapel play to be given on Wednesday, Nov. 15. Another program is tentatively scheduled for Dec. 12.

Thirty-seven women and seven men are enrolled for the dramatics course this year, making the selection of plays difficult. Rehearsals are being worked under a new plan this year, being accomplished through two double practice periods in the afternoon.

With the exception of final rehearsals there will be no evening practice.

Student directors for the first programs are Wilford Parriot, Bernice McMurphy, Elizabeth Wentworth and Zola Wilson.

NOTICE OF HEARING

In the County Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

In the matter of the Estate of James Rennieck, Deceased.

THE STATE OF NEBRASKA, WAYNE COUNTY, ss.

To all persons interested in said Estate:

GETTING ON HIS FEET AGAIN...

SOMETHING WENT WRONG with conditions in this country as well as in the rest of the world, but things are improving now and people are getting on their feet again.

When the world "went down" the telephone company, along with most other businesses, was hard hit. We lost telephones by the thousands and more than a third of our long distance business. But by sacrificing earnings, we carried on in a normal manner in so far as our customers were concerned—we continued to provide good service and keep the property in repair.

As our business fell off and there was less work to do, the remaining work was spread by shortening hours. Thus many more employes have been retained by the Company than otherwise could have been employed. At the same time, with confidence in the future, the work of making necessary replacements to our property was advanced as much as practicable, thus providing additional work. All this has helped maintain purchasing power, benefiting not only employes but also those from whom they buy products or services.

Today the telephone is ready—ready to help all along the line in winning a new and sounder prosperity. It is ready to serve home and business—ready to provide quick voice-to-voice contacts, in and out of town—for protection, for comfort and convenience.

Through good times and bad this Company has but one policy—to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost to the public consistent with the financial safety of the business.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

George Rennieck be appointed administrators of said Estate. Hearing will be had on said petition before me at the county court room in Wayne, Nebraska, on the 14th day of October, 1933, at 10 o'clock A. M. (Seal) J. M. CHERRY, County Judge.
