Wayne Looks to New Year for Security

Better December Trade Increases Hope of Merchants.

Wayne business men and farmers turned this week to thoughts of 1934, with general opinion seeming to indicate brighter prospects for the coming year.

Local merchants are generally agreed that 1933 was a better business year in most respects than 1932. December, most of them say, was far ahead of December in 1932. Christmas business exceeded the anticipations of most Wayne retailers, with Saturday, Dec. 23, chalked up as the high spot of the year.

"Last Saturday," one merchant said, "is the best Saturday before Christmas we have ever had. People were buying merchandise, and seemed to be enjoying a certain sense of prosperity. I think business in Wayne was probably improved by the fact, as asserted by many customers who had shopped in nearby cities, that large city retailers tried to take advantage of improvement in general conditions by raising their prices."

Merchants, when questioned yesterday, said they base their belief that business will show additional improvement in the coming months on the fact that money is being put into circulation here by CWA work, Public Works projects, the corn loan program and the corn-hog plan. Unemployment is being reduced steadily by the government. Much of the money to be spent on Wayne's new $58,500 post office building will go into local trade channels.

They feel that the government is going to make determined efforts to raise the prices of farm products, and they indicate their belief that these efforts will be successful.

Carroll Man's Party Ends in County Jail

James Bosteder of Carroll entered a plea of guilty in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court Tuesday to charges of intoxication and possession of liquor. He was sentenced to payment of a $10 fine on the intoxication count and a $100 fine on the possession count. Upon non-payment of the fines, he was committed to the county jail. Mr. Bosteder had engaged in a fight at Carroll prior to his arrest by Sheriff A. W. Stephens.

Wayne Men Saw Pile of Wood for Sick Friend

Ten Wayne friends of Wm. Thies, who has been seriously ill, gave him a holiday season surprise Sunday afternoon when they went to his home and saved up a large pile of wood.

The men who took part in the work were Tom Dunn, Bert Graham, Walter Phipps, Frank Horrell, O. B. Hans, George Reibold, Chas. Thompson, Herman Assenheimer, Elmer Reise and M. C. Brown.

Wayne Weather

Wayne got its first real taste of winter weather on Christmas Eve, when the mercury took a sudden dive. The first snow of the season came on Christmas afternoon, and the temperature continued to fall Monday night. The low spot was reached early Tuesday morning, when the thermometer registered 14 degrees below zero. Tuesday was the coldest day of the winter. The thermometer began rising again Wednesday, but weather forecasts for today indicated another cold wave.

Post-Office to Close on New Year's Day

Wayne's post office will be closed all day on New Year's Day, Monday, Jan. 1, according to acting postmaster J. M. Strahan. Mail will be distributed to post office boxes on both Sunday and Monday, but there will be no window service. A residence delivery will be made Saturday afternoon.

Marriages Drop; Divorces Increase

Wayne county had five times as many divorces in 1933 as in 1932. But Wayne still fails to qualify as a Reno, as only two divorces were granted here in 1932 and only 10 in 1933.

County court house attaches give the depression as the probable cause of the increase in divorces, and also blame the depression for a decrease in marriages in 1933.

While 88 couples signed up to 'love, honor and obey' or 'I do, honor and cherish' in 1932, only 65 couples paid their license fees in 1933. All in all, County Judge J. M. Cherry admits, it was not a good year for Cupid.

Clerk of District Court Frank Korff says that four of the ten divorces granted this year were filed in 1932. Two divorce suits filed this year were later dismissed. Four divorce suits filed this year have not yet been acted upon by the court.

HARDERS OBSERVE SILVER WEDDING

One Hundred at Party on Anniversary of Wayne Couple's Nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harder were honored on their silver wedding anniversary when about one hundred relatives, neighbors and friends went to their home on Christmas night. The couple received many beautiful gifts, among which were several wedding cakes.

During the evening Christmas carols were sung. One number, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," was sung especially for Mr. and Mrs. Harder.

A feature of the evening was a mock wedding in which parts were taken as follows: minister, Raby Hinrichs; bride, Evelyn Harder; bridegroom, Gladys Harder; flower girl, Ardath Heitholt; train bearer, Dorothy Harder; and pianist, Lydia Weiser-shenker.

Santa Claus appeared during the evening with gifts for all. At midnight the ladies served sandwiches, ice cream, cake and coffee. A Christmas tree and holiday decorations gave the house a festive air.

Mr. and Mrs. Harder have lived for 25 years on their farm six miles north of Wayne. They have two children, Miss Gladys and Elmer.

FAMILY GATHERINGS FEATURE CHRISTMAS

Wayne Churches Observe Yuletide with Special Services.

Christmas in Wayne was observed with typical family gatherings. Those who put in their order for a "white Christmas" had their wish fulfilled late in the afternoon when the beautiful, white flakes really covered the ground for the first time this winter.

Many people attended Christmas Eve services at the Wayne churches. Christmas Eve programs were held at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran church, the Presbyterian church, Methodist church, Our Redeemer's Evangelical Lutheran church, and St. Paul's Lutheran church. High mass was held at St. Mary's Catholic church Christmas morning. The First Baptist church's Christmas program was presented Friday evening.

Special Christmas sermons and music were offered at all churches Sunday morning.

Wendts Hold Golden Wedding Reception

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wendt celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, when about 49 guests visited them during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendt's three daughters, Miss Louise Wendt, Mrs. Will Back and Mrs. Fred Weible, had invited old friends and neighbors of the couple to an informal reception. Light refreshments were served.

Among out-of-town guests were a son, G. G. Wendt of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Enke and daughter Irma of Emerson.

DEPRESSION SHOWS EFFECT ON COURTS

Fewer Criminal and Civil Cases Are Filed in Wayne.

Depression has hit the courts, according to records of the Wayne county and Wayne district courts.

Fines collected in County Judge J. M. Cherry's court in 1933 amounted to $611.35, as compared to the "pre-depression" total of $3,530.76 in 1929. The amount, however, was an increase over 1932, when only $512 was collected.

The judge said that their were neither as many civil nor criminal cases as usual, and added that 1933 was the hardest year in 15 years for the settlement of probate cases.

Clerk of District Court Frank Korff said here was reason for optimism in the fact that 1933 saw a decrease in foreclosure cases, both for the county and the state.

Stork Surpasses Grim Reaper in Wayne County During Year

Wayne county's vital statistics for 1933 show that the county should have shown an increase in population during the year, with 104 births and only 54 deaths.

Noticeable in the figures compiled by registrar of births and deaths Walter Bressler was the predominance of boy babies. Sixty-one boys and 43 girls were born during the year.

January and October were tied for high months in the birth statistics, with 14 'blessed events' registered for each month. Close behind were August and September, with 13 births in each month. The stork evidently had business elsewhere in February, March and May, as only five births were registered in each of these

LOCAL WOMAN FALLS FROM SPEEDING CAR

Mrs. J. C. Johnson Hurt When Automobile Door Opens.

Mrs. J. C. Johnson suffered serious bruises and possible internal injuries Christmas night when the Johnson family was returning to Wayne from Omaha, where they had observed the holiday with relatives.

The accident occurred about a mile east of Wisner. Mrs. Johnson, who was sitting in the front seat of the family's two-door sedan with her husband, had leaned over to the rear seat to adjust robes over the children. She had braced herself against the car door and it is believed she took hold of the door handle. The door of the car swung open and she was thrown to the road, with the car going about 45 miles-an hour.

Dr. Johnson stopped the car as quickly as possible and rushed back to the scene of the accident, where he found his unconscious wife. He took her to Wisner for emergency medical treatment and then brought her to a local hospital.

A service charge on small accounts where the average balance is less than $50 will be 50 cents per month, as heretofore. Five free checks will be allowed during the month for the 50-cent payment and one free check for each $10 of the average balance above $50. A charge of four cents per check will be levied on additional checks.

A minimum charge of 25 cents will be levied on overdrafts and a similar charge will be made every three days for the duration of the overdraft. Twenty-five cents will be charged for each N. S. F. check returned.

The minimum charge up to $100 on checks on out-of-town points left for collection by depositors will be 15 cents. The charge for nondepositors will be 25 cents.

County Gets $150,000 Corn Loan Money

Total Benefits in Wayne Territory Expected to Hit Half-Million.

Corn loans amounting to $150,000 have already been approved in Wayne county, according to estimates made yesterday by corn inspectors Albert Berry and Keith Reed.

It is estimated that the total amount of money to be put into circulation in the county on corn loans before the campaign is over will reach approximately $500,000.

Wayne county farmers are showing hearty approval of the governmental plan, the inspectors said. Crops are being inspected and sealed as fast as possible, and farmers are getting their money more promptly than had been anticipated.

Each farmer who receives a corn loan must also agree to sign the corn-hog plan contract, and this will bring additional money into the county. Each farmer who signs the corn-hog contract will receive cash payments for reducing his corn acreage and his number of hogs.

Some of the more cautious farmers are holding back on the corn loan, it is believed, until they receive copies of the corn-hog contract. County emergency agricultural assistant G. H. Liggett has detailed information on the corn-hog contract at the present time, and says there is no reason to believe that provisions of the reduction plan will be altered.

Every farmer applying for a corn loan receives payment of 45 cents a bushel on his cribbed corn, giving a mortgage on the corn for security. The mortgage is due in August, 1934. Many Wayne county farmers say it is their belief that the government plan virtually guarantees a corn price of more than 45 cents a bushel.

Local Woman's Nephew Is Injured in Accident

The E. J. Huntermer family received word the last of the week regarding the serious injury of Mrs. Huntermer's nephew, Ford Lantz of Kearney. He was with other young men in a car which collided with an automobile without lights near Kearney Friday night. All were injured, but Mr. Lantz most seriously. It is believed that he suffered a broken pelvis. He is in a Kearney hospital.

Mr. Lantz was born at Winside and is well known in that community. He is 22 years of age, and a senior in Creighton pharmacy college. His grandmother, Mrs. Marcella Moran of Omaha, planned to go to Kearney this week. Mrs. E. J. Huntermer and Miss Marcella Huntermer went to Omaha Tuesday to be in Mrs. Moran's home during her absence.

The Inquiring Reporter

THIS WEEK'S QUESTION

Do you approve of the practice of making New Year's resolutions?

Merchant: If you don't make 'em you won't break 'em—so I never make any. They're just made to be broken.

Farmer: I think it's all right. You may break over the traces, but making a resolution at least makes you try to do better than you have been doing, and a try is worth something.

Clerk: If you're doing the best you can, there's no need to make New Year's resolutions.

Professional man: Making New Year's resolutions is one custom that's about worn out. To make them is to tempt the fates. A New Year's resolution, broken, lets the world in on the secret of your weakness. I sometimes make them but I never tell anybody about it. Farmer: I'm making a resolution not to believe any of the promises these politicians make to the farmers about what they're going to do for us—to us would be more like it.

THE KNOT-HOLE

No. 23 Wayne, Nebraska, Thursday, December 28, 1933. Vol. 8

Well, we had a white Christmas after all.

It takes us from eight to ten minutes to remember who the president of Cuba is and then it's some other fellow.

There is no cleaner coal than Hot Lump.

A Miami beach vacationist assures us there are still two genders—masculine and nuder.

There is a lot of difference in briquets. There is only one SUPERIOR briquet—we sell it. Price $12.50 per ton.

Automatic stokers take all the fuss out of home heating.

Usher—"Have you a seat in front?"
Movie Fan—"Say, what do you think I am—a contortionist?"

Sahara furnace coal has taken the place of the Kentucky and Franklin county coals.

It's hot. The price is $10.00.

Carl has been busy making corn shellers, loading chutes, tables, cupboards etc. during the past month. Got anything you want done?

A friend says, "There is this about having a sixteen year old girl about the house. It eliminates most of the guess work as to who is wanted on the telephone."

There is no guess work about Mark Twain coal. At the price of $8.00, we believe it to be the best cheap coal sold.

He called his girl "Brown Sugar" because she was sweet but unrefined.

Many a man has gone to the dogs chasing chickens!
When hard coal went to $22.00 per ton, we didn't blame the people for passing it up. No that it is down to $16.00 we believe it is as cheap a fuel as anything.

DIC-A-DOO will clean your plastered walls perfectly.

With a small amount of our patching plaster, anyone can patch the holes in a plastered wall. Prices 20, 25 and 35 cents, depending on size.

We wish you all a Happy New Year.

THE USES OF CORN

HOGS now consume nearly one-half of the annual corn crop in the United States. Most of the corn released by the decline of eleven million head of horses and mules on the farms and in the cities during the past twenty years has been diverted to hog feeding. This chart indicates the necessity for an adjustment in corn production, at least sufficient to correspond with any reduction in hog numbers. A substantial reduction in corn—the main feed supply for hogs—will help bring the supply of hogs into better balance with effective demand and it will help raise the purchasing power of corn. If corn production is not reduced by an amount sufficient to compensate for the reduction in hogs, corn supplies available for other purposes will increase measurably; corn prices will decline with respect to other livestock, and eventually production of more livestock will be stimulated to higher and less profitable levels. But the Agricultural Adjustment Act seeks a net reduction in agricultural production, not a shift. Acreage of corn, therefore, is the important key to the corn-hog production problem. The sound solution is to scale down the production of both corn and hogs.

Let
the car speak
for itself

HUNDREDS of thousands of people now own and drive Ford V-8 cars. Some neighbor or friend of yours has one. If we told you what we think of the car, you might say we are prejudiced, so we let the car and its owner tell you.

Economy of operation is one of the first points they will emphasize—the owner will boast of it and the car will prove it.

The 1934 car is even better than the 1933—and that was our best car up to its time. The new car is more beautiful—faster—more powerful—gives more miles to the gallon—better oil economy—is easier riding—cheaper to own and operate than any car we ever built.

You owe it to yourself and your pocketbook to ask our Ford Dealer to let you see this car, and let you drive it for yourself. At the wheel of the car you will be sure to reach a right decision. The Ford V-8 will tell you its own story.

First 6 months

BASED on the fair exchange relationship with prices of things farmers buy, hogs during the past decade have had materially less purchasing power than they had in the pre-war period. In 1933, it took about eight hogs to buy what three hogs would buy in the 1910-14 period as indicated above. In all the years since 1910-31 (excepting in 1925-26 when there was a temporary reduction in hog supply) the purchasing power of hogs has been on a general downward trend. In 1932, the fair exchange value of hogs was $7.76 per hundred weight. The prices of things farmers buy averaged slightly above their pre-war level. But the actual farm price of hogs in 1932 was only $3.47 per hundredweight, or 44.28 below fair exchange value. Fair exchange value means the pre-war price for hogs only when the price of things farmers buy is at the pre-war level. If the prices of things farmers buy become double their pre-war level, then the fair exchange value will be double the pre-war price of hogs. The corn-hog production adjustment program under the Agricultural Adjustment Act seeks to raise hog prices to the current fair exchange value. This may be done by bringing production into better balance with the most profitable demand through a reduction in 1933 of 25 percent in hog production and 30 percent in corn acreage.

Uses Are Many for Non-Productive Land
Farmers in the Wayne trade territory are asking, "What can I do with the corn acres taken out of production under the terms of the federal corn-hog plan?"

In most cases, farmers feel that the government is paying them a good rent for the land and that they can well afford to leave it idle or seed it down to soil improvement crops, such as sweet clover. Farmers in general are now thinking more about the future productivity of their land than they have in the last 20 years and feel that it is well to use the money from the benefit payments to help finance a soil improvement program.

Some of the things that can be done with the land taken out of crops in the corn-hog reduction program are: (1) plant it to permanent pasture, including alfalfa and clovers with or without a nurse crop, (2) plant it to soil improvement crop such as sweet clover, (3) fallow it to store moisture or for weed control and (4) plant it to farm woodlots.

WAYNE MARKET REPORTS

Following are the market prices quoted us up to the time of going to press.

Market prices table for various commodities like Corn, Oats, Barley, Cream, Eggs, Hens, Springs.

THE SILVER QUESTION

President Roosevelt's silver purchasing plan is expected by him to show great effect in restoring commodity prices and increasing America's export trade.

Members of the silver bloc in Congress say that the president's program does not go far enough. They want a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Proponents of monetization of silver are finding a steadily increasing number of allies among business men, economists, officials and the public.

ECONOMIC HIGHLIGHTS

Not since the days when Bryan and McKinley fought it out along the line of 16-to-1 has the money question so swept the country.

Recently, inflation and deflation, gold buying, dollar depreciation, and all the other phases of the problem, have dwarfed everything else.

The way the wind blows was first shown with the resignation of Undersecretary of the Treasury Ashton, a conservative and an unrelenting hard-money man.

Behind all this is a quiet, scholarly figure, and a name which rarely comes before the public. It is that of George Frederick Warren, an agricultural economist of Cornell.

Year he wrote a book, called Prices, which became the bible of the Committee of the Nation, an organization of business men seeking a way to recovery.

actly as Dr. Warren said they would. Uplift was the Presidential order that sent the United States into the world market for gold, lowered dollar value in foreign exchange, and began the long process of revaluing it.

Then the criticism began gathering. The Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York passed a resolution calling for sound money. It was at once rebuked by an economist for the Committee of the Nation, who defended the President, saying the Chamber is not even representative of the commercial point of view of the city of New York.

That's where matters stand at this writing. We're easily the most important problem of the time—it can make or break the recovery program, and make or break the administration while it's doing it.

Dramatic and unprecedented, with vast potential achievements—that describes the new Civil Works Administration. It is, in the words of the President, a blow to the dole, a mentally debilitating charity which is often as psychologically destructive to the country at large.

CORN-HOG PLAN IS BEING EXPLAINED

Liggett Gets Information on Various Phases of Farm Program. G. H. Liggett, emergency agricultural administrator, returned last week from a state corn-hog plan meeting at Lincoln with much information regarding the various technicalities of the government program.

One statement in the corn-hog contract says that a farmer who signs up the contract to reduce his corn acres 20 per cent and his hog production 25 per cent agrees not to grow more wheat acres in 1934 than he grew in 1932 or 1933, whichever average was the larger.

There was much concern, Mr. Liggett says, about this statement because of the fact that in many instances a farmer who had been reducing his wheat acreage considerably in the last two or three years has had to increase his wheat acreage above either his 1932 or 1933 planting in order to carry out his wheat contract in 1934.

Scott Shots

You can read the times by the newspaper headlines. Let's take today's papers and find out what's going on:

High School Girl Is Found Dead Behind Bakeshop Counter... Major Moves by Roosevelt for Recovery... Shorter Hours Being Urged... Various Plans of Relief May Offset Slump... Missing Stock Mart Operator Returns Home... Evangelist Aimee Files Divorce Suit... Trapper Gives Version of Triple Slaying... Indicated Iowa Banker Suicide... 15,000 May Attend Farm Protest Meet... Send Me to Pen, Omaha Asks as Parole in Sight... Pig Caused Gun Fight in Which Three Slain... Seven Injured by Runaway Car... Blanc Hensey Death to Liqueur Poisoning... $100,000 More Direct Relief to Nebraska... Two Gunmen Kidnap Driver, Steal Taxi... CWA to Paint City Buildings... Officers Seek Stock Trader... Insult Named in New Probe... Windy City Is Flooded with Fake Whiskey... Dead Fighter May Present... Insanity Plea... Chicago Milk Treaty Ended... Oklahoma Man Is Convicted of Murdering Baby... Army Officer Is Released Under Bond in Attack Case.

From those headlines you read the signs of the times, and you get some idea of why men in the newspaper business regard it as the most fascinating profession in the world. In what other business can you be in such close contact with the events that make the world go round, and the events that sometimes try, unsuccessfully, to stop it from spinning?

We were talking, another newspaper man and the Scott Shutter, about the current low tide in the newspaper business, the discouragements to those engaged in it. Then we tried to decide what business we'd like to be in—and we couldn't think of any preference to the business we'd been slammung.

Congratulations to one local dispenser of 3.2 beer who is absolutely conforming to the letter of the law by refusing to permit any "spiking" in his place of business. This man loses a little business to others who are not so careful, but he is gaining the commendation of people who appreciate the purpose of the new liquor regulations.

Here's one of the funniest things that your chronicler of ways that are queer has run up against in lo these many moons. As you may know, the Scott Shutter is a magic enthusiast and carries on considerable correspondence with other nuts interested in the hocus-pocus art.

The other day a letter came to Scott Shots from a man engaged in the mail-order tale of magical apparatus. Card tricks (or effects, as we call them) are a specialty of this fellow. He wrote a nice, chatty letter, part of which read as follows: "By the way, Scotty, did you know that you have a brother magi in your town? I have been selling a lot of card stuff to a Mr. ... (I omit the name because I don't dare to do anything else). He has been buying expensive stuff quite regularly. You ought to get in touch with him and give him a few pointers. I imagine that you could sell him some of your manuscripts, etc., and could teach him a few sleights."

The letter isn't so funny—unless you know the name of the man, which, as I have already said, I don't dare to print. The reason for my hesitancy about printing this is that the fellow my friend refers to is not an amateur magician and has never been known to do a magic trick—but he is regarded as a plenteh good poker player!

He's a smart poker player, too. He doesn't win all the time—just enough to always be on the winning end of a game. The chances are that he could win every hand if he wanted to. I don't suppose he'll appreciate this story.

While we're on the subject—listen, youse guys. Don't EVER play poker unless you're absolutely sure of the integrity of the folks you're playing with, because you can be taken just as easily as Grant took Richmond—and never know about it.

The skilled card handler is never caught, because you simply can't catch him. Everything he does has been worked out to avoid any chance of a slip-up. There are so many ways he can get you, too. The simplest, of course, is a marked deck—and some of the markings are impossible to discern. They're even making 'em nowadays with invisible ink which can be seen only with the aid of a colored eye-shade. Good card men, however, are above using marked decks, because there is always a remote chance of getting caught. This remote chance is made still more re-note by the fact that you can buy sealed marked decks (sealed with revenue stamps) made up in any of the popular brands, thus ridding the deck of suspicion.

The good card man, however, spins the marked deck. He may stack the cards (which is not nearly so hard as it might sound) or he may use a hold-out, a skilful contrivance by means of which it is possible to switch a shuffled and cut deck for a stacked one, without any change in the world of being caught up on it. He may "bottom read" the pasteboards and combine this feat with dealing "bottoms," "seconds," etc. There are 101 tricks, all good, which he may utilize without fear of getting caught. Even if you know he's crooked, in such a case, you can't prove it, because there is no evidence.

You would be expected to know that card magic has progressed to such an extent in recent years that it is possible to make a person cut a deck at any pre-determined point that it is possible to bring any called-for card to the top or bottom of the deck, that it is easy to hold the location in the center of the deck of any few cards, that it is possible to actually shuffle the cards without disturbing their arrangement. But these things are a fact.

Knowing them, don't you feel you'd be a chump to play poker with a fellow who could determine the trend of the game without any element of chance entering into it? I thought so.

Frank Morgan relays this interesting bit of Americana, picked up in Newbitan Grove. A hotel in that town contains two lavatories, masked by no modest screen and side by side. Between the two there reposes a be-grimed roller towel which serves both pieces of cleansing apparatus. Hanging on the wall above the lavatories is a sign which reads:

WASHING 10c Free with Meals

And now is the time for all good men to make their New Years resolutions. Well, one good resolution would be to make more money in 1934 than in 1933. Another would be to save more money in 1934 than in 1933. I resolve to do anything I care to which might tend to better me in any respect. Which is just about as safe and conservative a resolution as can be made.

The trouble with resolutions is that they are always busted all to smithereens—Breaking your resolves gives you a feeling of remorse, a deep sense of shame and an inferiority complex. When you break what appeared at the time of making it to have been a perfectly good resolution, you immediately get mad at the whole world and probably have a fight with your wife. Let us all become members of the Society for Making New Years Resolutions that Can't Be Broken.

One thing about 1934, we think it is going to be better than 1933, and we aren't such a Pollyanna, either. Goodness knows, it wouldn't have to be much to fulfill such a prediction. Old 1933 was a year of few "bright spots," and the sooner it gets on its way to limbo, the better everybody will be satisfied. In years to come, we will probably tell our grandchildren, "You think you have hard times. Why, I remember back in 1933... now, there was a year of real hard times."

Fred Howard casts these Sunbeams from the front page of the Clay County Sun:

The self contented man is often nothing else.

Battleships and bridegrooms start becoming obsolete immediately after their christening.

Some stenographers hold a job by casting a spell, others merely by spelling.

Occasionally every successful businessman questions his judgment and prays for good luck.

I can imagine no more gross waste of God's most gracious gift to man, delicious food and drink, than to place it before an individual who is fearful of the graceful curves and billowing evidence of pleasure full indulgence in it produces.

A good friend of mine and a fine man in nearly every particular has always been careless in his church attendance. Recently his young son arrived at the age when boys enter Sunday school and one of the pleasing sights of Sunday mornings for several weeks has been this father and son, hand in hand, answering God's call to service preparation. Truly, a little child shall lead them.

I am getting a lot of satisfaction out of a national program founded upon my plan. You may think it absurd for a poor man to dress well, but it is one of the best things he can do if he wishes ever to attain to success—once successful, he may become careless of his dress without fear of losing standing. You may be down, but you're never out until you admit it to yourself.
