Winside Couple Married Sunday

Elsie Eckert Weds Alfred Janke in Pretty June Church Ceremony

A beautiful June wedding took place at two o'clock Sunday afternoon at the St. Paul's Lutheran church in Winside, when Miss Elsie Eckert, daughter of Mrs. Max Eckert, became the bride of Alfred Janke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Janke. The Rev. H. M. Hilpert performed the single ring ceremony at an attar banked with daisies, peonies, roses and ferns. The choir was banked with flowers and the bridal party entered the church through an archway of roses. Preceding the ceremony the choir sang a selection, Miss Anna Beuthien sang, and Misses Emma and Freda Dangberg and Gotthilf Jaeger also sang.

also sang.

The bride entered the church also sang.

The bride entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by the church organist, Martin Hentsch. Two Sunday school pupils of the bride, Janice Hilpert and Norma Trampe, dressed in white ruffled organdy and wearing white ribbon bows in their hair, acted as flower girls, scattering rose petals to the altar.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white net trimmed with lace over a white satin slip. Her veil which was held in place by a band of orange blossoms fell in a long train. She carried a bouquet of tearoses and baby's breath.

Miss Tillie Eckert, sister of the bride, as maid-of-honor, wore pink taffeta with a floor length shirred skirt. The dress had a cape collar edged with ruffles and was tied with a blue sash. She carried a bouquet of blue delphinium, pink roses and baby breath.

"The Death of Tintagiles" by Maurice Maeterlinck, "Are Men Superior?" by Harriet Ford, and "A Message from Khufu" by H. Stuart Cottman and La Vergne Shaw, three one-act plays were presented by the dramatic classes Tuesday evening.

The last program of the lecture course, by the Strawbridge dance group, will be given Thursday evening, July 11.

Dr. U. S. Conn will go to Lincoln Monday to attend a meeting of the state normal board.

Prof. K. N. Parke returned Saturday from Omaha where he attended the annual national meeting of the American College Publicity association.

Fires are not carnivals. They're destructive menaces that have to be fought fast and furiously. Fire consumes rapidly, hence not one precious moment should be wasted. Every effort should be made to cooperate with fire fighters in their strife to put out the blaze. Automobiles should be prohibited from following the fire trucks. Many dities have ordinances which prohibit with a penalty of heavy fine, the following of fire trucks and driving over water lines.

Sunday's fire which consumed a barn at the rear of the livestock sales pavilion is example enough of what not to do at a fire. Cars were permitted to go east on the street just south of the Ford garage all the while firemen were getting a truck ready for a westward dash laying water line on that narrow street. Following the ceremony a wedding; dinner was prepared at the home of the bride by Mrs. Etta Perrin for members of the immediate families. Miss Lydia Kant and Miss Freda Dangberg were table waitresses. A wedding cake centered the table and two, white tapers with streamers in yellow, blue, and pink, the bride's chosen coolrs, completed the table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Janke left Sunday evening for a week's wedding trip to the Black Hills. The bride's traveling costume was of blue crepe de chine with white trim and white accessories.

The young couple will make their home on a farm belonging to groom's father south of Winside.

Liggetts Return From Month's Vacation Trip

Month's Vacation 1719

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Liggett and sons, Harlan and Jimmie, returned Saturday from a month's vacation trip to the west coast.

Most of the time was spent in San Diego, Calif., where they visited at the home of Mr. Liggett's parents, the J. B. Liggetts.

Interesting to the Liggetts was the water front at San Diego, Vessels of all types including U. S. Naval craft lay at anchor there. Jimmie was a bit shy of the beach and learned a thing or two about tides while wading, when a big roller came upon him and took him for a ride, his father says.

Harlan disliked heavy fogs along the seabord but according to Hal, would be glad to go back. The Liggetts spent two days in Long Beach before making the trip home.

Municipal Band Will Sponsor Programs For Horse Races

For Horse Races

Because the Wayne county horse racing association feels that a band is necessary for making the pari-mutuel races here a success, the Wayne Municipal band, under the direction of Ford C. Reed, harbeen given the privilege of getting out the racing programs.

Lack of funds prevents the horse racing association from paying the band a fee for its services so for this reason all advertising, revenue and funds taken in from the sale of programs at the races over and above the actual cost of producing the programs at the races over and above the actual cost of producing the programs will go to the band, rather than let some outsider profit from them.

Mr. Reed wishes it to be understood that the band is not asking for donations at this time. He feels that the racing program will be a valuable advertising medium for certain businesses and sees the program avenue of raising funds the only possible way of providing the racing meet with music. While there are many members of the band willing ton donate their services, there are others who have jobe for which, it will be necessary to provide substitutes while they are away. These musicians are valuable to the organization and provision of some sort must be made to take care of that obligation. bound of N and Mrs. Charles with the second of the Warrie country bores. Three Wayne boy scouts are planning to attend the national Boy Scout jamboree which will be held in Washington, D. C., late in August. According to Carroll Orr, local camp director, the boys will have a very nice trip at a cost of $80 each.

The trip will be made by rail with scouts having a full day in Chicago where they will go on a sight seeintour. From Chicago they go, to Detroit where they will make a tour of the automobile plants and thence to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and down to West Point, N. Y., where they will visit the United State Military Academy.

Mary Jame

As this is written Mary Jane Morgan is still a member of the Democrat staff but by the time you read it, she will have resigned to make final preparations for her marriage to Donald C. Simpson of Sioux City.

We're going to miss Mary Jane more than we have any idea, here at the type farm. From the time we met her, nearly a year ago, we spotted her as a young newspaper woman of remarkable ability. We soon found it easy to rely upon her for more than was probably good for us. She added bits of punctuation, spelled the tough ones for us and did what she could to cure us of the habit of writing a whole story in one long sentence.

The gattling gun effect of her typewriter seemed more consistent when she was most fatigued and we were in our greatest rush. She has made many friends for this newspaper with her pleasant "Hello, Mr. or Mrs. So-and-So, this is Mary Jane," and then very pleasantly asking for information for

She would not stop with simply asking for news items but would chat with them about their babies, housework and other matters important to their own lives. Things that make one feel like a million dollars when he is given an opportunity to tell someone who is really interested about them.

Mary Jane is versatile and proves to us our contention that the country newspaper offers the best ground for those who are truly interested in going places in the chosen profession.

Yes, we will miss Mary Jane. We hope she will be very happy in her new home in Sioux City. We congratulate you, Mr. Simpson, for being smart enough to pick a winner, even though you have spirited away our mainstay.

Even though Mary Jane has "abandoned her typewriter for a dishpan" as she told you she planned to do in the "Newsance" of several weeks past, we cannot feel that she will have forsaken the little old mill for good.

The gal has ink in her blood and will eternally be wanting to check everything before going to press. There's only one treatment for a malady of that kind and that's lots of newspapering with little time to go and we believe we know whereof we speak.

****** Independence

On Thursday, July 4, the United States of America will have had one hundred and fifty-nine years of independence. Signed by 56 men representing the legal, medical, agricultural, commercial, military, teaching and publishing professions, the Declaration of Independence adopted by the Continental Congress at Philadelphia on July 4, 1776, meant much to the future of American citizens.

Had there not been a Declaration of Independence, it is difficult for anyone even to speculate as to what the American status would be today. It is probable that the whole continent would be a vast Dominion of Canada. Again it is probable that together the continent as a whole would have rebelled against Great Britain, forming an entirely new form of government probably quite similar to that we have today.

No one thing can entirely claim credit for the phenomenal progress made in this country in little more than a century and a half. The country itself for the greater part is rich in soil fertility and natural resources. Then there are the people themselves. Discontented with conditions as they were in the old world they set out to make a new rich country everything the old one was not.

Many things have transpired since that eventful day in early summer in Philadelphia. As the seaboard became more thickly populated a westward movement started. The locomotive and the steamboat, typical American developments, were largely responsible for the rapid settlement of the west. Necessity brought about an era of great progress in industry. Gold findings on the west coast added fuel to the flame. The sewing machine, loom, cotton gin, grain reaper and many other develop-ments along industrial lines made for progress. Benjamin Franklin, one of the signers of that vital document, flew a kite into a thunderstorm expermenting with electricity, only to create an interest among tinkerers who found ways of generating the n energy and harnessing it for power lights. Impulses were sent over wires by persons considered maniacs until the telegraph system of communication was evolved. One thing led to another until Dr. Bell developed the telephone making the human voice audible over a wire.

Through American initiative thousands of phenomenal developments have been made in all branches of endeavor-things never dreamed of in the land from whence these people and their ancestors came. Comparable to a huge snowball nolling down a steep hillside is the progress forced upthe people of this nation: Once the die was cast are was no place to stop and there will be no ace to stop. Independent self-governed Americans in a country that's rich will go forward. A solemn pledge to that effect was made in the concluding sentence of the Declaration of Independence which says "And for the suppost of this Declaration with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Provi-dence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

The Newsance by M. J. M.

Here goes for my last Newsance. I suppose that because it's the last one, I ought to turn out a farewell masterpiece which would be a fitting close for my three and one-half years on The Democrat's staff. I suppose it should rise to literary heights as yet untouched in my journalistic career."

Somehow, though, that wouldn't be so very appropriate. The work I've done here hasn't been a series of glorious achievements to be climaxed by a triumphant farewell. It hasn't been like that at all as any person who has ever worked on a small weekly newspaper will tell you.

Rather it has been a comfortably satisfying routine, the tempo of each week rising and falling as the seven days go by. As each Thursday sees another issue in the mail the newsman breathes a sigh of exquisite relief, knowing that, good or bad, another week's happenings have become local history. The week-end furnishes comparative leisure for writing of editorial copy and summarizing the probable events of next week's news. And Monday's work goes rapidly as the nearness of press day be-comes a reality. Tuesday rushes by and on Wed-nesday there are all the tag ends of news gathering, head writing and proof reading to be crowded in. Hanging over one's head through all this is the constant, unnamed fear that a sudden death or accident will disrupt the schedule, sending one of us flying with pencil and paper to convert the happening into typed black and white lines.

Wednesday nights at the office are something I'll never forget. The late news calls and the ma-chinist's black looks as I wheedle him into setting the last half column when we're already three or four galleys overset, the sight of Jake furiously hand-spiking the last headlines as he spits viciously and inaccurately in the general direction of his special corner, the gleam of the neat rows of metal lines of type, soon to be sorted and allotted to their places in the black and white scheme of the Demo-crat's pages, the friendly discussion as to position of the stories and the inevitable heart-rending decisions as to what must be omitted because of lack of space, the click of finality as the pressman locks the forms and yells at Stan to wet the paper for final proofs, the straining last minute search for errors and the roar of the press as the whole force settles down to four hours of folding, stamping and

It's all been a part of my life at The Democrat and I'll miss it, just as one misses anything which has been stamped by routine on the impressionable negative of the mind.

It hasn't all been routine, either, for there are a few high spots which stand out in memory with special distinctness. There was the thrill of pride as I saw my first week's news in print and the as I saw my first weeks news in print and after fraternal feeling which arose as Scotty said with understanding, "Your first brain children!" There was the fun of helping get out our big 28-page paper the summer of 1933 when we had our big Democrat Free Day and I secured interviews with some of Wayne's oldest business men.

There was the time I interviewed Amelia Earhart and discovered for the first time what every experienced reporter knows—that the really big people are the easiest to talk to, the most responsive and the kindliest. And of all the stories I've written the one I enjoyed most was about Carl Sandburg. I interviewed him in his hot hotel bedroom as I sat on his bed and he perched barefooted on a chair, his gray forelock drooping as if wilted the summer heat.

The hardest thing I've eval done single job—was covering the recent legislative investigation at the college, taking down the testimony in shorthand which would certainly horrify any Gregg teacher. Publishing the story meant hours and hours of work and the omission of valuable news but it helped to strengthen the Democrat's reputation for printing the news as it is, impartially and without the influence of personal prejudice.

Not the least of my treasured associations will be the friendships I've formed—with the men whom I've worked beside, with the women whose numbers I've phoned nearly every week for the last three years. My telephone friends far outnumber my personal acquaintances. Their voices, their relatives, their background—all these have been pieced together in my work until I feel as if I know many of them, even though they'd pass me unrecognized

My farewell is more than just to The Democrat -it includes the whole town of Wayne which I've known since birth-the familiar faces and landmarks, the homely events peculiar to the locality, the personality that is Wayne. For, as many times as I shall come back to it, I shall never again be a

Having lived so long on the very pulse of Wayne it will seem strange indeed to be a part of the American public about which the newsman writes. Reporters aren't a part of all that occurs, but they are always at hand, machine-like; ready to record events of the day. They are the creatures— are reporters people?—who transform each day's happenings into black and white for the world to read

Through all this there seems to be a note of sentimental regret which is most misleading because it verges on melancholy. And that's not the way I feel at all, I guess it's like finishing high You've been working for 12 or 13 toward one end and when it comes you're sorry to have it happen. It's human nature to feel that way, -I suppose maybe a convict feels some regret at leaving his gray home after serving a 20-year sen-

I've a hundred reasons for being glad I'm leaving my job to be married and probably ninety-nine of them are the man I'm-marrying-and that's a pretty irrefutable argument. Life with him, I think, going to fulfill the three great essentials of happiness, which a famous thinker has said are something to do, something to love and something to hope

To all you friends I won't have time to see, this will be my good-bye. Good luck to you, La-Verne and Stan, You've my job to do now. Here's hopin' you do it better than I have.

BEFORE you start on your holiday trip, I let us completely inspect your car. There is no charge for this service and it will assure you of a safer and more enjoyable trip.

For the convenience and safety of car owners Firestone has established more than 500 Auto Supply and Service Stores throughout the country, and thousands of Firestone Dealers are also equipped with complete A 110 Supplies and complete Service Departments, to test and service your tires, brakes, batteries, spark plugs, in addition to power lubrication and crank case service.

AVOID THE DANGER OF BLOWOUTS

Firestone removes the danger of blowouts by preventing their main cause—internal friction and heat. This is accomplished by Gum-Dipping.

THERE ARE THREE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS THAT WILL SOLVE YOUR PROBLEM OF WHAT TIRES TO BUY:

"Will the tread give me the greatest L traction and protection against skidding?" — Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes.

For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death.

"Are they blowout-proof?"

—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Not one of the 33 drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles, averaging 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without the trouble of any kind.

3 "Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

— Firestone High Speed Tires not only give your more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile. In fact, unequaled mileage records of thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

Equip your car with a set of Firestone Gum-Dipped Non-Skid Tires, the safest tires ever built and avoid the dangers of skidding and blowouts.

SALE TO BE HELD IN AMUSEMENT HALL, CARROLL, NEBRASKA

Wednesday, July 10th

SALE STARTING PROMPTLY AT TWO O'CLOCK

THE WILLIAMS FARM

Ever since Nebraska was first settled, Wayne County has been regarded as one of the better sections of the state. This has been one of the most dependable farming areas of the corn belt. However, land sold at extremely high prices in this section at one time, and with the following bank failures and generally depressed conditions, land prices have fallen very low. We believe that for real value, this section of Nebraska now offers as much to the investor or farm home owner as any part of the corn belt. The Williams place is a good farm of excellent soil. It has a nearly new, moders type bungalow of about six rooms. Fair other, buildings. Good well. Good location. This farm has been owned by good people. We have held it off the market for two years, hoping that these former owners might refinance. It now becomes necessary that we sell it,—hence this auction sale.

SALE TERMS

Farm is leased to Ward Williams for 1935. Possession on or before August 15, by assigning lease to purchaser.

DESCRIPTION—NW¼ 6-26-2E in Wayne County. Immediately at close of auction, the successful bidder will be expected to execute contract for purchase of farm and attach thereto check for $1090. Upon approval of contract by Bank's officials and approval of contract by chaser, but on or before Aug. 15, we will expect additional payments to the extent of one-half of purchase price. For nearly three quarters of a century, the world has acclaimed BUDWEISER as the very finest of beer - wholesome, smooth, sensible and sociable.

Brewed from Nature's choicest ingredients by flawless methods, BUDWEISER retains those natural elements absolutely essential to life and health. Among them are potassium, magnesium, sodium and calcium in the form of alkaline salts - and they're in every bottle of BUDWEISER you drink.

When people perspire freely they lose these salts. When the loss is too great, severe fatigue and even heat exhaustion may result. To replace these elements, nothing is more essential than a balanced diet. Top it off with wholesome BUDWEISER!
