

Bitter Days Fail to Close Local Schools

School Attendance Records Unusually High In Spite Of Cold Weather

School in Wayne carries on! Through thick and thin, wind and twenty below zero, classes are meeting as usual. Though many of the surrounding schools are closed during this sub-zero weather, which has surpassed all records for the last sixty years as far as extremity and length of cold waves are concerned, Wayne students continue to answer the bell. In spite of the cringing mercury, there have been comparatively few absences, school authorities report. In the second grade of the city school there were but three absences Wednesday afternoon, which is evidence of real school spirit. Even the students living in the country managed to reach school.

Blain Auker came to school from home in the country one morning this week when horses were used to pull the car from the lane to the highway. On the way even these faithful creatures failed and man power and shovels were employed, with the result that another victory was scored for the do-or-die school spirit.

Bitter weather and deep drifts prevented 45 Training school grade pupils from attending school Tuesday morning, said Dean Hahn. In the afternoon there were 25 absences in the grades. Nevertheless school continued to remain open and attendance records rose sharply after Tuesday's blizzard.

By showing their hardihood and continuing to attend school in spite of the weather the students of Wayne are proving to their elders that the younger generation has not gone soft and that they really can "take it".

Training School Pupils Drink Many Bottles Milk

Children in the Training school kindergarten and first seven grades are careful of their health, if one might judge from the quantity of milk consumed by them during the month of January. The milk is served to the children in the morning midway between the opening of school and the noon hour.

Please Throw Out a Bit Of Grain for Pheasants

Have you ever been cold or hungry? If you have, you may know something about how the pheasants must feel out there wading about in the deep snow trying vainly to find a bit of something to eat. If you have not felt the pangs of cold and hunger, you have no conception of what these brave birds are enduring. The birds are dying of hunger. If there is to be open season next year the birds must be fed now. Everyone likes to hunt pheasants. Everyone likes to eat them. Mail carriers are volunteering to feed the birds. Many persons are donating grain. Carl Munson of Norfolk had put out more than 3,000 pounds of feed by Monday. The state game forestation and parks commission has established headquarters at Mr. Munson's place and will distribute between 5,000 and 10,000 pounds of grain there for this purpose. You are welcome to get it there as long as it lasts if you are in no way able to donate grain yourself.

Here's one cigarette that writes its own advertising..

It's like this—
You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen—Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it? Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—
It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.

Club Pays Tribute To U. S. Conn

College Debate Team Before Kiwanis Club Last Monday Noon

Harry E. Siman, in behalf of the Wayne Kiwanis club, paid tribute on Monday noon to Dr. U. S. Conn, former president of the club and president emeritus of Wayne State Teachers college who died January 28 in Long Beach, California, following a cerebral hemorrhage.

"Dr. Conn", stated Mr. Siman in his eulogy, "was more than a citizen, more than a worker in church, lodge or civic society. He was an integral part of our local history and we, of Wayne, and, only in a lesser degree, thousands in neighboring states have been the direct beneficiaries of the greater part of his life's work."

Reviewing the outstanding events in Dr. Conn's life, Mr. Simon continued "The election of Dr. Conn to head the Wayne State Teachers college may have been lucky, a fortunate accident, but we believe that his reputation as an educator and as an executive was such that the appointing power having the best interest of the school at heart had no alternative. The growth and development of the institution occupying the hill to the North and overlooking the fairest little city in our state proves the soundness of their judgement. Conn was a born educator in which were blended the attributes of the executive, the two forming the ideal man for such a place."

"The record of a life full of good deeds is the real escutcheon upon the tomb. Conn needs no mausoleum. His epitaph is engraved upon the hearts of this community. No cunning sculptor with his monumental marble would be able to erect a memorial more fitting or appropriate and which would so well typify the splendid life of Conn."

Program at Kiwanis meeting following the memorial service consisted of a debate by members of the Wayne State Teachers college debate team, which is coached by Miss Florence M. Drake. Those participating in the debate were: Affirmative, Joe Walton and Gale McGee; negative, Oscar Olson and Robert Sexton. Question was "Resolved: That Congress should be permitted to override by a two thirds majority decisions of the Supreme court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional."

THE BEST BEANS

If you can bake better beans—that's something! Ask any Boston housewife. Yet, like any good artist, Boston women are never quite satisfied with their creation. They are constantly exchanging recipes and striving to produce better and better baked beans.

But they have not been able to find anything better than the canners of beans have created. If you have ever eaten canned oven-baked beans you will know that. If you have never tried canned oven-baked beans, you will be delighted with that mellow oven-baked flavor which savors of long hours of outdoor cooking such as woodsmen put into their favorite pork-and-beans treat.

And for Variety

It is almost needless to suggest ways of serving them, for it is difficult indeed to improve the completeness of their flavor just as they come from the can and are served piping hot. However, just for variety, try this nice dish:

Bean and Cheese Casserole: Dice four slices of bacon and fry crisp. Remove from the skillet. Drain off most of the fat, add one-fourth cup of pecans and brown gently. Add one-third cup of diced cheese, the contents of one can of New England oven-baked beans and the diced bacon, and salt to taste. Pour into greased individual casseroles. Cut two slices of bacon in halves and place a piece on top of each casserole. Bake in the oven until the bacon becomes crisp. This serves four persons.*

LOBSTER FOR LUNCH IS LATEST FOOD FAD

EVERYONE is lunching on, not with lobsters this fall. A specially nice way to make lobster a most tempting luncheon dish is to serve it in a salad. So here are some ways to serve this delectable crustacean in salads.

Lobster Salad in Green Pepper Cases: Remove tendons from two cups canned lobster meat, but keep in as large pieces as possible. Drain one can asparagus tips. Cut off ends of six green peppers, and cut out the white parts and seeds, making cups. Place several stalks of asparagus upright in each cup, and then fill center of cavities with the lobster meat. Season with salt and paprika, garnish with plenty of mayonnaise and capers. Serves six.

Lobster Salad en Gelée: Dissolve one package lemon gelatin in one and three-fourths cups boiling water, cool and let get thick as honey. Add one-fourth cup mayonnaise, the shredded contents of one 6-ounce can lobster, one-half cup diced cucumber and one-half cup diced celery (the last two having been marinated in one-fourth cup French dressing for one hour). Chill for several hours in molds in ice box. Serve on lettuce with a garnish of sliced cucumber and radishes in French dressing. Serves eight.

A Hot Lobster Dish Lobster and Shrimp Ramekins au Gratin: Make a cheese sauce of one and a half tablespoons butter, one and a half tablespoons flour, and one and a half cups milk and one-third cup grated cheese, and season to taste. Add the contents of a 5 1/2-ounce can of shrimp, cut in pieces, and the shredded contents of a 6-ounce can lobster. Pour into individual, flat, shallow ramekins, cover with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven. Serves five.

Even in a Sandwich Lobster-Aspic Sandwich: Soften four teaspoons gelatin in four tablespoons cold water and dissolve in one and a third cups chicken stock (or water and/or chicken bouillon cube). Add one tablespoon lemon juice and four drops tabasco sauce, and cool slightly. Add one slightly-beaten egg white and the crushed shell, and bring slowly to boiling. Boil one minute, let stand twenty minutes, then strain through double cheese cloth. Put in a loaf mold and let harden thoroughly.

Meanwhile soften one-half tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, and dissolve over hot water. Add slowly to one cup mayonnaise, beating constantly, then add two tablespoons lemon juice and chill. Fold in the shredded contents of two 6-ounce cans lobster and spread over the hardened layer of aspic. When set, pour on the remaining aspic and let the whole thoroughly chill and harden. Turn out and cut in slices. Serves six liberally.*

DEMAGOGUES

The epithet "demagogue" is being hurled at each other by speakers these days and is freely bandied about in the public press, and we are wondering how many people know what the word means.

Glenn Frank of Wisconsin, who is sometimes mentioned as a possible Republican candidate for President, says there are two kinds of the animal, the reactionary demagogue, and the radical demagogue.

On the other hand "the radical demagogue" arrogates to himself a monopoly of progress. He appeals to that sympathy for the unfortunate which all decent Americans feel, as the shiftless.

The true demagogue, whether radical or reactionary, is always a master of crowd psychology. He can rouse the rabble and make the demagogues rattle with their shouts of approval.

After 18 years the veterans of the World War have been awarded additional compensation for their services by an Act of Congress passed over the presidential veto, known as the "bonus" law.

There is not much question that those who entered the service made an economic sacrifice, even if they did not receive wounds or injuries.

While war-time wages were being paid at home, and many were making plenty of money, they were serving their country for $30 per month. The bonus recognizes this sacrifice and is a belated attempt to compensate for it.

Since the question was first raised the bonus has always been opposed by those who condemned it as a threat to the national budget and the credit of the government.

But during the administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, the government repeatedly reduced the income tax rates, upon the recommendation of Secretary Mellon.

Such tax reductions also had a tendency to unbalance the budget, but the secretary consistently opposed the bonus on the same grounds.

The beneficiaries of the two policies were not the same. The veterans were sacrificed in favor of those who had large incomes.

The government recognized the obligation in 1924 but insisted that the payment should be postponed until 1945. The recent law provides for payment during the present year.

It is too late to hedge on the costs of the last war. They should have been considered before we entered it, for once a war is fought it must be paid for.

Bonuses and pensions are a part of the cost of war. The time to decide whether those costs are to be paid is before we go to war, not afterward.

"Within our borders, as in the world at large, popular opinion is at war with a power-seeking minority. This is no new thing. It was fought out in the Constitutional Convention of 1787."—President Roosevelt.

Hoover was so reluctant to help out the states and local communities that he shocked many of his old admirers in social welfare and emergency relief activities. The American people may be thankful that Roosevelt disregarded Herbert Hoover in announcing the principle that "No American shall starve."

Day after day American newspapers, bitterly opposing all that Mr. Roosevelt has done and sought to do, charge the New Deal with complete failure. More significance might be added to such statements if the financial and trade pages of the same newspapers did not invariably reflect in the same issues the increasing trade volume and improved conditions in all lines of business and industry.

It is tremendously difficult to convince the world of existing stormy weather while the sun is shining in all its glory.—Santa Barbara News (Ind.)

The Bystander

By Stan

It is snowing, (for a change) as I write this Sunday afternoon late on returning home from the cinema where in a supposed under water picture, I was surprised to see a mermaid smile and actually show her lovely white teeth. How did she do it?

Though today was passed in a rather lazy lounging manner, I cannot feel that it was an entire loss. Scanning the Sunday papers I note that too much space as usual is given to the things which should be of little consequence to a progressive race.

In this respect I refer particularly to the Hearst publication which circulates here as in many other Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa cities.

The death of Richard Loeb can mean little to most of us who look back and feel that he should have met his fate about 12 years ago. Since he and another wealthy man's son, Nathan Leopold, took the life of a little lad just for the thrill of the thing, there has been altogether too many thrill slayings.

Interesting to me is the account of Lincoln Ellsworth's being found after having been given up for lost in the south polar wastes. I surely hope the story is true which is to the effect that Paul Redfern is safe and is monarch and god of a nation composed of savages in the South American interior.

You will recall that Redfern was given up for lost a number of years ago when he hopped off from Macon, Georgia on a nonstop flight to Rio de Janeiro. His good fortune seems almost too good to be true. What stories he will have to tell when he descends from his throne and decides to return to our civilization.

I was happy Saturday to receive a very good letter from my brother, P. J., who with other brothers does a pretty good job of farming in Iowa. In concluding his letter he predicts that "if President Roosevelt can have the good fortune to antagonize a few more chaps such as the poor losers, Hoover and Smith, in his own and the opposing party, he will slide in again just as easily as he did in 1932."

I heartily agree with you, P. J., and recall that another famous Roosevelt once said in substance that he cared not what was said about him so long as the public kept his name upon their tongues. He too had some laws made which were thrown out by the Supreme court and I think he was disclaimed by many of the big wigs of his party but in spite of that died a great man.

I am thankful to Mrs. Ringer, mother of our good mayor, for a generous slice of a fruit cake she received recently for her birthday present. Mrs. Ringer is making her home now at the Stratton home where I also live.

Governor Roy L. Cochran is taking a step in a very good direction in calling a conference at the state house next week for the purpose of promoting safety on our highways. It is hoped that the governor will be met with hearty cooperation, that a state safety council may be formed and that they can at once start functioning and by so doing save some lives. Everyone interested is invited to attend this conference. The governor wants our help in a matter that is vital. We must all help him in his effort to make driving conditions safer in Nebraska.

Great strides have been made in reading matter for children in the last few years. Not long before I began writing this letter to you, a Wayne mother showed me children's books, the "Winnie the Pooh" books, if you please, by A. A. Milne, she had purchased recently for her young son and daughter. Amusingly written in a style most fascinating to the kiddies, grown-ups too can get something of a buzz out of reading them. Milne is clever. He writes for both young and old in terms easily understood by both just to be sure some of the oldsters will be able to get the point.

If the fellow who was attempting to start his car not far from my bedroom window the other night will drop into the Democrat office and give himself up I will award him with whatever prize he thinks he should have for being the most profane man in the world. He had a way of putting them together that was altogether new even to me and that's something, especially if things are not going well in hot or cold weather. Anyway it was cold that night, I wonder what the poor chap will do when faced by real catastrophe.

Right now that Texas centennial exposition at Dallas looks like it'd be a pretty good thing to attend — it opens June 6 — Probably will be warm here too then . . . Don Beaman says it should be quite easy for anyone to get the drift these days . . . I'd like to hear my brother P. J. sing that song, "Southland" . . . What a program did Whiteman and his boys broadcast Sunday evening . . . They tell me that Don Cunningham has a good runaway story . . . Linn McClure in his shirt sleeves again refuses to take the cold weather seriously . . . The great Fleetwood likes to tell us about real cold weather he has experienced . . . Hope they get through the coal shortage in Iowa OK . . . I surely feel for those stranded fisher-folk out on that island . . . A working girl raps on my window as she passes wearing a bright green snow suit . . . Yep, the weather man has been showing us a few new holds . . . A Wayne man tells of an invitation to spend a month on the sands of Miami beach as the guest of a friend — He ponders whether or not to accept — would you? . . . When informed that she was now senator from Louisiana, (pretty lady) Mrs. Huey Long says, "Hmmm, that's nice" . . . A friend tells me he believes the only way to maintain peace is to adopt the selective service act — that act would conscript capital as well as men in case of war — industrialists would receive only the pay of a military general — commodity prices would freeze at the war declaration level — I think my friend is right . . . Don't you think we should make an effort to have such a law passed?

Well, I can think of little more to say but feel that I must pass on a little crack I heard on my radio last night. It had to do with the chap who was so honest he hadn't even taken a bath in all the three years he worked in a Turkish bath room. Goodbye for this week and believe me when I tell you that I'll be seeing you.

New Ways With CORN

The day has passed for the intelligent housewife when a can of corn was just a can of corn. She knows enough now to look at the label, and select the style of corn best suited to the dish she has in mind.

She knows that creamy style corn is scraped from the cob, making a milky mixture, and that this is good for soups and cooked dishes. She knows that whole grain corn is cut from the cob in individual kernels and prefers it for succotash or served plain as a vegetable.

She may even know that roasting ears of corn are now vacuum packed, four to a can, and that this corn has extremely small cobs and large deep sweet kernels. All she has to do with the ears is to heat them from three to five minutes in boiling water.

Recent Recipes

The next thing for her to know is some good recipes for corn dishes. Here are two recent ones in which whole grain canned corn should be used. Both are quantity recipes.

Corn Salad: Marinate the contents of three 12-ounce cans whole kernel corn and one and a half cups grated or finely-chopped raw carrot in one cup French dressing for an hour or so in the refrigerator. Add one cup shredded ripe olives, and serve in a nest of lettuce. Serves twenty-four.

Corn Fritters: Chop contents of one 10 1/2-ounce can whole kernel yellow Bantam corn, or put through a food chopper. Add two well-beaten eggs and one-fourth cup milk. Then add two-thirds cup flour, one teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon baking powder. Drop by spoonfuls into hot fat or drippings in a skillet and brown on both sides. Good served with chicken. Makes sixteen.

For Mrs. Stella Chichester spent Friday visiting in Winslow with her brother, Harry Lindsay. J. H. Spahr was a Thursday morning caller in the Frank Spahr home. James Grier, Jr., spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kinder.

Shoes Items Will Have Carnival The Shoes Consolidated school will present a "Ski-Hi" carnival on Friday, February 8, beginning at eight o'clock. There will be all the features of an indoor carnival plus a floor show. The purpose of this carnival is to secure funds to purchase a portable piano for the lower grades.

Miss Maxine Burnham spent last Wednesday evening with her friend, Miss Irene McFadden. A. G. Carlson transacted business in Coleridge last Saturday. Je Winkelbauer went to Sioux City last Friday to attend business matters.

Eugene Miller returned from Pennington last Wednesday where he was employed. The condition of L. T. Whalen remains about the same. Mr. Whalen has been ill with pneumonia for about a month. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Simmons were Sunday guests in the A. G. Carlson home.

Mrs. John Voss visited her sister, Mrs. Ray Smith, in the Wayne Hospital last Friday night. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kenney went to Norfolk Saturday where Mrs. Kenney received medical attention. Mrs. Tom Smith returned from Wayne last Tuesday where she has been helping in the care of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ray Smith, who is recovering from an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson of Belden spent last Monday evening in the Damod Kenney home. Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Kuhl went to Dixon last Wednesday morning to attend the funeral of Mrs. Kuhl's grandfather, Bert Hall. Miss Irene McFadden entertained the high school girls' bridge club last Wednesday evening at the home of her parents.

MODERN MEAT Means a Lot DOWN in the "hot country" in old Mexico, where they have no ice, they drive a cow into the yard, kill it, cut off a piece, cook it and eat it—just like that. And anyone who has exercised his jaws on it will assure you that it's plenty tough. But they're about four hundred years behind the times in those remote districts in old Mexico. Almost anywhere in this country with all our modern refrigerating devices, we can hang meat until it has reached exactly the right tenderness. But there still remains the problem of cooking it.

Another Step in Advance Not always, however, we wonder sometimes whether the people here who always cook all the meat they eat aren't a few hundred years behind the times, too. We're not recommending that you eat it raw, but haven't you ever heard of canned meats?

If you haven't tried them, or have tried only one or two, you have a revelation before you. It means a lot to have good meat, and saves on fuel when all you have to do is heat it unless it happens to be a meat that you want to eat cold.

A Wide Choice Canned meats offer you a wide choice. They include beef (corned, dried and roast), beef steak with onions, beef stew, chicken (boneless, deviled, in tamales and whole), frankfurters, ham (deviled, loaf, sliced and whole), hash, roast mutton, pig's feet, pulled meats, sausage, tongue (calf's, lamb and ox), tripe, turkey, veal loaf and veal roast.

In addition to these there are entrees all ready to serve such as beef à la mode, chicken à la King, chicken curry, chop suey, Hungarian goulash, lobster Newburg, a rice dinner and Irish stew.

Many Farmers Plan Woodlots

Wayne County Farmers Are Seeking Windbreak And Woodlot Trees

That Nebraska farmers are determined the Cornhusker state shall remain "The Tree Planters State" is evidenced in a report received this week by Agricultural Agent Walter L. Moller from Earl G. Maxwell, extension forester at the Nebraska college of agriculture.

Applications for Clark-McNary seedlings and transplants for windbreak and woodlot plantings now total 344,600. This is in contrast to 142,500 trees for the same period one year ago, indicating the greater interest in tree planting.

Adams county leads the state in numbers of trees applied for thus far. Other high ranking counties this week are Cuming, Fillmore, Holt, York, Cherry, Lincoln and Saline.

Wayne county farmers thus far have made application for 909 seedlings. The trees, both broadleaf and evergreen, are offered to farmers for packing and shipping charges, and will be distributed this spring. Applications are being honored as they are received. Blanks are available at the office of Agricultural Agent Moller.

SEED CORN TESTING PLANS ORGANIZED IN WAYNE CO.

Farm and Town Youths Between the Ages of 16 and 25 Years Will Be Employed Under NYA Administration

Plans for testing seed corn to determine germination for spring planting will be carried on in an organized manner in Wayne county. Farm and town youths between the ages of 16 and 25 will be given part time employment in the project under the National Youth Administration.

Agricultural Agent Walter Moller was notified this week of the state-wide seed corn testing plan. M. K. Young, former Lancaster county farmer, has been placed in charge of the testing work to be conducted by NYA funds. The Nebraska agricultural college extension service is to cooperate. Mr. Young visited in Wayne county last Friday and explained the details of the plan.

Location of suitable seed corn for spring planting and running germination tests are the chief purposes of the work which will probably start at once. Agricultural Agent Moller will cooperate in the plan. Farmers are to bring in samples of seed for testing, which will be done free of charge. Boys and girls whose families are on relief will be allowed to put in a maximum of 46 hours per month on the project. All testing work will be done by use of rag doll testers.

The value of a germination test will depend on the sample being truly representative of the lot of corn from which it has been taken, and a definite record should be made in each case, giving a full history of the sample submitted. Where a test is to be made on old corn, in the case of which the entire crib will probably be shelled and graded, then it may be advisable to take three kernels from 100 ears or more, selected at random to represent the lot. Where the 1935 corn is to be tested the kernels should be taken from the ears selected for seed, rather than to represent the entire unselected crib, unless the corn is unusually well matured or an early variety, in which case the corn might be used as crib run seed. Where 1935 corn is involved, the chances are that some selection must be done in order to secure satisfactory seed. In this case, selecting the more slender ears with shallow, horny kernels will give a higher germination because of somewhat earlier maturity.

P. H. Stewart, College of Agriculture, at Lincoln, was investigating the seed corn situation in Wayne county last Wednesday and gave the warning to farmers to test their seed corn for planting in 1936. Surveys made by the extension department show that the seed corn situation over the state is much more serious than was thought last fall.

Editor's Note—Below is a later report on the above subject.

Nebraska's state-wide seed corn testing campaign, designed to alleviate the serious seed problem facing thousands of farmers in many sections, is under way. County agents, farmers, Smith-Hughes vocational agriculture instructors, bankers, civic organizations, the state department of agriculture, and the National Youth Administration are cooperating in the movement.

County agriculture agents in the northeastern counties this week completed plans for setting up seed testing stations and will supervise the work done by NYA labor. Similar stations will be set as rapidly as possible in all other Nebraska counties. Farmers are being urged to bring their seed for germination tests.

Wayne county has some good seed corn but the supply probably will not meet the local demands. Early returns from state seed tests indicate a high germination.

66 BELOW IS COLDEST EVER RECORDED IN U. S.

The all-time low record of temperatures for the United States is 66 degrees below zero—reported from Riverside Ranger Station in Yellowstone Park, February 9, 1933. The world record is 90 degrees below zero in northern Siberia, while 78 below has been experienced in Alaska. Only two states, Montana and Wyoming, have been colder than 60 below zero since the Weather Bureau started keeping track of the weather.

Several states—New Hampshire, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Washington—have records of 50 or more below.

Every state has subzero temperatures on its weather records. The cold wave of February 1899 brought weather of 2 below to northern Florida and zero to the Alabama coast. States as far south as Tennessee have had temperatures 30 below zero. The record for cold in Texas is 23 below. Temperatures of 16 to 18 below have been recorded in Louisiana and the northern portions of the east gulf states.

RAINFALL KNOWLEDGE IS OF BENEFIT TO FARMERS

Median Annual Rainfall for This Section is 27.06 Inches Over Forty-two Year Period

Farmers in the vicinity of Wayne as well as those in other communities of the state can materially improve their economic condition if they know the percentage of variability in rainfall to expect each year. Dr. E. E. Lackey of the geography department of the University of Nebraska, as a result of his series of rainfall variability maps of Nebraska, now offers some possibilities in this connection. For example, if it is known that a certain crop seldom succeeds with an annual rainfall of less than 20 inches, then the farmer wants to know what proportion of the time he may expect the precipitation to be up to or above this minimum. The university geographer has figured out that the median annual precipitation at the Hartington station amounts to 27.06 inches, according to its 42 years of rainfall recordings. This means that the farmers in this part of the state may expect this amount of moisture or more at least 50 per cent of the time. The chart shows, however, that he has few chances for receiving more than the average amount of rain. In other words, the farmer can expect that 8 years out of every ten, or 80 per cent of the time, he will receive 22.59 inches or more of precipitation and that two years out of each ten, or 20 per cent of the time, he will get an oversupply amounting to 32.01 inches.

While figures seem to indicate that the average median rainfall for the last quarter of a century in Nebraska has not been as high as formerly, the university professor said there was a tendency to boost rainfall records in earlier years and that measuring sticks then in use were crude and contributed to swelling the reports.

Following is a table showing rainfall records for various vicinities in Nebraska and the amounts of moisture received:

Station	Yrs. in record	Median annual rainfall
Blair	64	29.81
Lincoln	56	26.50
Nebraska City	54	29.50
Ravenna	55	24.08
Kimball	45	16.10
Lexington	44	21.99
Scottsbluff	46	15.14
Valentine	46	18.27

POP CORN CROP THIS YEAR MUCH LARGER THAN LAST

Pop corn is not so much of a luxury this year as last.

The farm price in December, 1934 averaged within 2 cents of $5 per hundred pounds. In the early months of 1935 some eastern dealers asked 13c to 15c a pound for certain varieties. The December price to farmers for the 1935 crop was $2.15 per hundred pounds.

In 1934—the drought year—the crop in the three principal producing States of Iowa, Kansas, and Nebraska totaled a little over 5,000,000 pounds. The 1935 crop is estimated at well over 34,500,000 pounds by the Crop Reporting Board.

Records show that a surplus of pop corn is more common than a shortage.

Crop Losses During Past Years to Be Overcome

Efforts to overcome severe losses dealt to crop improvement during the past two unfavorable years are to be doubled this year, the Nebraska Crop Growers' Association announced, this week.

Agricultural Agent Walter L. Moller received word of the plans from P. H. Stewart, extension agronomist at the Nebraska college of agriculture and secretary of the Crop Growers' Association. Certification of small grains and other crops will be carried on in an effort to keep varieties pure and hold gains already made by experimental means.

"The drought caused the shipment of more than 700,000 bushels of spring grain into Nebraska last year," Stewart said. "Some of this was not pure and presented a serious problem to growers. In view of this situation, crop certification is more important than ever before if losses of the past two years are to be wiped off the books."

CATTLE ONCE PULLED PLOW BY THEIR TAILS

The plow, simplest and most basic farm implement, reached present excellence only after centuries of painful progress.

Research by the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering shows that the first plows, fashioned from crooked tree branches, were pulled by one or more men, another forcing the crude implement into the soil. The barbarous custom of fastening draft cattle to plows by their tails was practiced as late as 1631.

When an attempt was made to introduce cast iron plows in the United States, farmers declared they poisoned the soil and prevented crops growing. Sir Robert Peel in 1860 gave his farmers "two iron plows of the best construction." On his next visit they were again using wooden plows, believing that the iron plows made the weeds grow.

Farm Record Contest Opens

4-H Clubbers Offered Prizes Record Contest For Best Showing In

Encouragement of rural boys and girls belonging to 4-H Clubs in keeping farm records is to be given in 1936 by the International Harvester company, Agricultural Agent Walter L. Moller was informed this week. County, state and national awards will be made to the 4-H clubbers making the best showing in the farm record contest. To the county winner, where five or more records are completed, goes a $10 merchandise certificate. The Nebraska champion gets a merchandise certificate worth $100, the sectional winner a $225 certificate and the national champion a well known make of truck or tractor. Records must be started between January 1 and February 29.

Farm record keeping is a popular 4-H project with many clubs organized over the state. The first year work consists of a model farm account record. Second year work deals with an actual farm record while during the third year the farm record work plus study on farm credit is given the 4-H clubbers.

Ernest J. Sievers was the Wayne county champion in the first national contest held in 1934. Winners for the past year locally will be announced shortly after March 1 when the completed books must be in the hands of Agricultural Agent Walter L. Moller.

BRIDGING THE GAPS

THIS is the right season of the year for bridge parties. That excellent game is more than useful in providing interest and excitement on those cold, sleety winter days when you can't go skating or sleighing or skiing without coming home encased in ice. It bridges the gaps between the spells of good weather. Presumably you have your own pet way of giving a bridge party, but there are one or two considerations to keep in mind. If the affair is in the afternoon and your guests are bridge "fiends," have a light lunch so as not to produce sodden brains, and serve it early so as to have plenty of time to play.

The lunch for the "fiends" need not be elaborate. Just open a can of crab meat, chop up some celery, parsley, and a little onion. (If you know that none of your guests has an antipathy for the aroma or taste of that succulent vegetable) and serve it with mayonnaise. Start with a tomato juice cocktail, and have some hot rolls, and that's sufficient.

But if the object of the bridge party is just a get-together, with the bridge a minor interest, it doesn't matter how much you eat. Then you can elaborate the above lunch by serving the crab meat combination in halves of alligator pears, and adding a dessert.

An Elaborate Luncheon

- Creamed Chicken and Mushrooms in Patty Shells
Cranberry Jelly Salad
Hot Buttered Rolls
Pumpkin and Coconut Tarts
Coffee
Glazed Pineapple

Cranberry Jelly Salad: Strain the contents of one can of cranberry jelly and heat it with one-half cup orange juice and two tablespoons lemon juice. Soak four teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, and then dissolve it in the hot, melted cranberry. Strain and cool. Add one-fourth cup diced celery and one-fourth cup chopped nuts when beginning to stiffen. Pour into molds wet with cold water, and chill. Turn onto lettuce leaves, and serve with celery hearts stuffed with cream cheese. Serves eight.

Appetizing Sweets

Pumpkin and Coconut Tarts: Mix two cups canned pumpkin with one and an eighth cups sugar, one and a half teaspoons ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon and one teaspoon salt. Add three well-beaten egg yolks, two cups milk and one-half cup canned moist coconut. Fold in the three stiffly-beaten egg whites, and fill pastry-lined tart tins with the mixture. Bake, having oven hot at first, then more moderate. Keep it at 450 degrees for the first ten minutes, then reduce it to 325 degrees for rest of time. It is done when knife comes out clean. Serve cold with a spoon of whipped cream on top. This makes one pie, thirty small tarts the size of muffins, or fifteen regular tarts.

Glazed Pineapple: Boil two cups sugar, one cup water and one-eighth teaspoon Cream of Tartar without stirring to the crack stage, or 300 degrees. Keep hot with hot water while dipping the pineapple. Cut the pineapple in convenient sized wedges for serving, and drain well. Then dip a few at a time in the syrup, and remove to an oiled paper to dry. It is most important to have the pineapple well drained, for at least several hours, before using. Otherwise, the juice will prevent the glazing.

A Bridge Tea

Or, if they don't come to luncheon at all, and you simply plan to assuage the sharp appetites induced by a grand slam bid and made, here are a couple of hearty sandwiches which, together with tea or cider, will do the trick.

Chicken Almond Sandwiches: Mix well together one cup chopped chicken, one cup chopped blanched almonds, one-half cup mayonnaise, one teaspoon salt and paprika. Spread between thinly sliced and buttered bread. Cut in stars and crescents and Christmas tree shapes and garnish outside with bits of pimiento.

Hot Christmas Tea Muffins: Mix and sift two cups flour, three tablespoons sugar, four teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Beat two eggs well, and add one cup milk. Combine with the dry ingredients. Add three tablespoons melted shortening and three-fourths cup canned mince-meat, and bake in tiny buttered gem tins at 400 degrees for twenty minutes. This makes forty-eight very tiny muffins or about two dozen of medium size. Be sure to ask your grocer whether he carries canned mince-meat before you plan to serve this sandwich. If he doesn't, he can easily order it for you.

THEIR NAME IS LEGION

Vast Variety of Foods Now Come In Tin Cans

HAVE you ever stopped to consider the vast variety of foods that are now available in tin cans? The kinds of canned food, including the different varieties of the same product, now number about three hundred and include fruits, vegetables, meats, fish and shell fish, specialties and ready-to-serve entrées.

All these foods are prepared for you by strictly modern scientific methods. Their selection for canning is carefully made, canning plants are located in the parts of the country that are the best production areas, and the foods are harvested at their prime.

Canning Is Cooking

The foods are put into new cans, then sealed air-tight, and the right amount of heat, applied for the proper length of time, makes them keep. No further cooking of the foods is necessary. They are ready for use as soon as opened, and are perfect foundations for making interesting and unusual dishes.

Moreover, the entire contents of every can is food. There are no trimmings to throw away, and no time is required to clean or cut them. Little or no fuel is needed to prepare them for the table, and, stored at home, canned foods will keep as long as the can is unopened.

Finally the food value of products in cans is as high as that of similar fresh foods cooked in the home, according to scientists who have studied nutrition. The liquid in the can is food, too. And vitamins are retained in canned foods as much as in similar foods cooked at home.

Vegetables and Fruits

The vegetables that can be obtained in cans include artichokes, asparagus, beans, beets, Brussels sprouts, carrots, cauliflower, celery, corn, hominy, kale, lentils, mixed vegetables, mushrooms, mustard greens, okra, onions, parsnips, peas, peppers, pimientos, potatoes, pumpkin, rice, sauerkraut, spinach, squash, tomatoes, turnips, turnip greens and whole wheat.

prunes, quince, raisins, raspberries and rhubarb.

And it must be remembered that the above enumerations do not include the many forms and combinations in which a number of these foods come in cans.

Fish and Meats

The fish found in cans include anchovies, caviar, clams, cod fish, crabs, haddock, herrings, lobsters, mackerel, oysters, roe, salmon, sardines, shad, shripp, tuna and turtle, several of them in various forms.

The meats include bacon, beef, chicken, frankfurters, ham, hash, liver, mutton, pig's feet, potted meats, sausage, squab, tongue, tripe, turkey and veal, and here again the forms are varied.

Specialties and Soups

The canned specialties include Boston brown bread, catsup, cider, cheese, chili con carne, chili sauce, chow chow, clam cakes and juice, whipping cream, fiskeballe, fruit cake, grapefruit juice, jams, Japanese crab-meat, jellies, lobster paste, malt syrup, marmalades, milk, condensed and evaporated, mince, molasses, olives, orange juice, pickles, pineapple juice, popcorn, fig and plum puddings, relish, sandwich spreads, sauerkraut juice, smoked boneless herrings, spaghetti, spiced and pickled fruits, whole squab, syrup, tamales and tomato juice, paste and sauce.

The soups are asparagus, beef, bouillon, celery, chicken, clam broth, clam chowder, consommé, creamed soups, Julienne, Madrilene, minestrone, multigatavny, mushroom, mutton broth, noodle, okra, onion, oxtail, oyster, pea, pepper pot, purées, soup stock, strained vegetable, tomato, green and mock turtle, vegetable and vermicelli.

Ready-Made Entrées

These include beef à la mode, chicken à la king, chicken curry, chop suey, Hungarian goulash, lobster Newburgh, a whole rice dinner and Irish stew. Of course millions of cans of vacuum packed coffee and of beer in kegged cans are also consumed, but these do not classify under the foregoing headings.

Not every grocer carries all of the varieties of canned foods, but he can and will obtain any special item in the above enumeration that you want.

DO you know beans? Do you know, for instance, that there are two general types of canned pork and beans? One type is baked in ovens and called baked beans. In the other type the baking is omitted, and the beans are cooked in the can after it is sealed.

There are also two or three different types of sauce. Some beans are packed plain. Others with tomato sauce. Some are packed without pork as a so-called "vegetarian" product. Look at the labels and select the kind you like best. Then there are canned lima beans. Popping raw limas is a hard, time-consuming job. Housewives want to avoid it. Even right in the raw lima bean season, many of them buy canned limas to save this labor.

Neligh Defeats Gibb's Tossers

Local Cagers Lose 19 - 16 At Neligh In Fast Game Thursday

Wayne High school suffered defeat at the hands of Neligh's ball team last Thursday evening by a score of 19 to 16. The game was good from the standpoint of close guarding and fine passing, but both teams were cold on the basket. Wayne missed eleven free throws, enough to win the ball game, and was unable to score "set-ups" after having worked the ball to a close in position. Neligh, however, has been coming along at a rapid clip, and it was no disgrace to be defeated by them.

Neligh moved away 8 to 2 early in the game, but at the half way post, the score was 10-8, Neligh. Wayne held a 14-12 lead at the third quarter, but relinquished it as Neligh went away 17 to 16 with a minute and a half remaining. Bornhoft then missed two gift shots to pass up a chance for the win, and as the gun sounded, D. Thorin of Neligh lifted one through from the side to make the count 19 to 16 in favor of the Neligh team.

College Cagers Conquer York

Wildcats Win 31-41 Victory Over Opponents Friday In College Gym

Victory bell at Wayne State Teachers college rang out the glad tidings last Friday evening when the Wildcats added the scalp of another victim, York college, among their basketball souvenirs. Final score was 31 to 41. York opened up the scoring and Wayne followed until the score was tied by a free throw. From then on Wayne maintained the lead. In the last three minutes of play York needed but five points for a tie when Wayne, in a closing spurt, sealed their opponent's doom by twice tossing the ball through the hoop.

Morris stood high point man for Wayne and Feaster made high scoring honors for the victors.

TOMATOES give

that TOUCH

THE soul of a salad was said by a French chef to be a touch of garlic, but the true salad lover knows that tomatoes contribute a touch to them, either as the main part or as an ingredient of the dressing, which can be obtained in no other way. Take, for instance, hearts of lettuce with this:

Thousand Island Dressing: Mix together one cup mayonnaise, three tablespoons canned tomato paste, one tablespoon chopped green pepper and ten chopped dried olives.

It is the tomato in this combination that gives it its individual taste.

In the following pear and tomato salad, too, the tomatoes give the dish a distinct and delicious flavor which it would not have without them.

Pear and Tomato Salad: Slice ripe, chilled tomatoes, and lay one slice in each of eight individual nests of lettuce. Place half a pear from a No. 2 can on top of each, cut side up. Mix one cream cheese with three tablespoons chili sauce, and pile in the pear cavities. Garnish with strips of canned pilonito, and serve with either mayonnaise or French dressing. Serves eight.

John Gurney Presents Fine Program Before College Audience Thursday

Many lovers of good music listened with pleasure to the singing of John Gurney, well known baritone, who appeared on the college lecture course at Wayne State Teachers college auditorium Thursday evening. This was one of several appearances Mr. Gurney has made in Wayne.

In his first group of old English songs Mr. Gurney displayed the usual maneuvers of the concert vocalist warming up to his task and the temper of his audience. The numbers which followed proved to be of sheer delight to his audience.

As a whole Mr. Gurney's program was of a magnitude seldom heard from any concert platform, according to college music instructors. His selections ranged in character from the tenderest pianissimo of his "Crescendos" by Massenet to the dramatic ravings of a power crazed czar in his rendition of the death scene from Moussorgsky's tragic opera, "Boris Godounoff." The program was finely balanced and well proportioned, and revealed in Mr. Gurney a personality sensitive to the versatile tastes of a group having varied interests. The unobtrusive and workmanlike performance of his accompanist, Mr. McRae, added to the effectiveness of the program.

A PRICELESS ICE-BOX

WHEN Secretary Seward bought Alaska from Russia, scoffers called it his "$7,000,000 ice box." Today there are more than a hundred salmon canneries scattered along its rugged coast, and the value of this delectable fish caught and canned there each year is from three to five times as much as Alaska's purchase price.

But it is not with Secretary Seward's wisdom that we are concerned today, but with the wisdom of serving this "Alaskan gold" as often as possible. Not only is it one of the cheapest of all foods, but one of the most nourishing. In fact, it is called "Alaskan gold" not because of the wealth it brings, but because it is one of the richest foods in health-giving qualities. Take vitamin D, "the sunshine vitamin." Canned salmon is full of it. The element that helps to prevent goiter is iodine. Canned salmon contains plenty of that, too.

Take Your Choice

There are three varieties of red salmon and two lighter colored salmon. One variety of red is called Chinook, or King; a second Red, Blueback or Sockeye; and a third Medium Red, or Coho. The two varieties of lighter colored salmon are known as Pink, or Chum. All five are flavorful and rich in food value, but the pink salmon which cost a little less are the best buy for cooked dishes and the red find favor for festive dishes like salads.

And what a variety of dishes one can make with this fish — casseroles, creamed dishes, cutlets, hash, loafs, molds, omelets, puddings, puffs, ramekins, rarebits, rolls, salads, sandwiches, even shortcakes and souffles. If you are a good cook, you doubtless have many good salmon recipes already, but here are a couple that are out of the common run.

Tested Recipes

Salmon, Pea and Macaroni Casserole: Put the macaroni to cook in boiling salted water. You will need two cups of cooked macaroni. Flake the contents of one tall can salmon, removing bones. Drain one cup canned peas, grate one cup cheese and cut four slices bacon in halves. Make white sauce by cooking one tablespoon minced onion in three tablespoons butter a few minutes, adding two and a half tablespoons flour, then adding two cups milk slowly and stirring until smooth. Add two tablespoons chili sauce and season with salt and pepper. By this time the macaroni should be done. Drain it and fill the casserole in this order: half the macaroni, half the salmon, half the peas and half the white sauce. Repeat. Cover with cheese and lay bacon on top. Bake in a hot—400 degree—oven for about thirty minutes. Serves eight.

Salmon Hash: Break three-fourths cup salmon (about the contents of one small flat can) finely with a fork, removing any bones or skin but not discarding any of the liquor. Add three-fourths cup finely chopped cold boiled potato and one tablespoon heavy cream and season with salt and pepper. Spread out in a hot skillet in which about two tablespoons butter have been melted. Cover and cook gently until a nice brown on the bottom. Fold over like an omelet and remove to hot platter. Garnish with parsley. Serves two liberally.
