Mrs. Teckhaus Succumbs to Complications; Burial Here Tuesday

Funeral services for Mrs. H. A. Teckhaus of Wayne, 48, wife of the Rev. H. A. Teckhaus, pastor of Our Redeemer's Evangelical Lutheran church, took place Tuesday afternoon. Brief rites at the parsonage were in charge of the Rev. H. Welchert of Emerson. At the church, the Rev. J. Schrader of Yutan, synod president, preached the English sermon, and the Rev. Mr. Marxen of Columbus, preached the German sermon. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery with Beckenhauer's service in charge.

Mrs. Teckhaus died in a Sioux City hospital Saturday morning, April 18. Death was caused by complications which resulted from an operation performed April 13. She was seriously ill about three days, but prior to that time was considered to be in excellent health. In two weeks, on May 27, the Rev. and Mrs. Teckhaus were planning to observe their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Gretchen Hoernemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Hoernemann, was born April 9, 1888 at Homberg, Rhineland, Germany, where she was baptized and confirmed in the Evangelical faith. She received her early training in the public schools of Homberg, Rhineland. Being unusually brilliant, her instructors wanted her to continue her training but her parents decided otherwise.

In August, 1909, she became engaged to a young divinity student who wanted to serve among the Lutheran people of German descent in North America. Her parents let their oldest daughter leave the homeland and she arrived in New York in September, 1910. She stayed at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. Larimer in Springfield, Ohio, until her marriage to H. A. Teckhaus, a young graduate of Hamma Divinity School of Wittenberg College, Springfield.

The young couple then moved to Lincoln where they lived until June, 1911 when they moved to Hastings. Here their only daughter, Gretchen, was born. From March, 1913 until June, 1919 Mrs. Teckhaus worked with her husband at St. Paul's Lutheran church of Diller, where she made many friends. In July, 1919 she went with her husband to his third pastorate at Wayne, where she labored untiringly for 17 years.

Mrs. Teckhaus is the author of several original dramatizations and tableaux for Easter and Christmas which will some day be published.

Preceding Mrs. Teckhaus in death are her parents and an only brother who died on the battlefields of France.

Surviving are her widower, one daughter, Gretchen, one son-in-law, the Rev. H. J. Goede of Bennington, and two sisters and other relatives in Germany.

Pallbearers were the Rev. Herman Goede of Columbus, the Rev. Mr. Shipwright of Pender, the Rev. Carl Koenig of Wisner; the Rev. I. Bahnsen of Leigh, the Rev. M. Schroeder of Bloomfield and the Rev. G. Wincke of Auburn.

Beg Your Pardon

It was in no way a deliberate error but due to ignorance of political procedure on the part of the Nebraska Democrat news writer who last week wrote the county primary story in which the headline stated "Cherry Wins County Judge Nomination".

Both Mr. Bressler and Mr. Cherry were nominated in the election as the law provides that the two highest rating candidates in non-political competition for office shall be considered nominated. The Nebraska Democrat wishes it made clear that Mr. Bressler too was nominated and hastens to assure its readers that the error was in no way made intentionally.

Kenneth completed his work for the Eagle badge at the earliest age possible, and would have received the award sooner had not bad weather prevented a meeting of the Court of Honor. Before he was twelve, Kenneth passed the tenderfoot work but found it necessary to wait until after his twelfth birthday to receive the award, due to minimum age requirements. There are only two other Eagle Scouts of troop 175, Tom Cavanaugh and Carroll Petersen, older brother of Kenneth.

Wayne Nine To Play In Ball League

Frank Sturma to Pilot the Local Baseball Team Opener on May 3

Wayne baseball enthusiasts Monday evening meeting with representatives of the Big Ten league meeting in Winside assured members of the league that this city would have a team in the circuit this summer.

About 45 men representing Carroll, Coleridge, Hoskins, Laurel, Pilger, Stanton, Wakefield, Wayne, Wisner and Winside were present at the meeting. Peter Petersen, Frank Sturma and Tony Olson represented Wayne.

Mr. Petersen at the meeting provided the money for paying the entrance fee to the league. Uniforms of grey trimmed in white and white socks have already been ordered for Wayne's team.

At Monday evening's meeting in Winside, rules and bylaws were drawn up. Only non-professional players will be permitted to play on the teams. Each team must hold its membership strictly to local talent and no player is permitted to draw any compensation of any kind during the season.

Five games will be played each Sunday afternoon beginning May 3 and extending through May, June, July and August. A total of 90 games will be played and at the end of the season a league tournament will be played off to determine the champions. Gate receipts will be used for building up a revolving fund for defraying expenses of operating the league baseball machine.

At the end of the season the money, after running expenses are paid, will be divided pro-rata among the league's best teams.

This (Thursday) evening a special meeting of the Young Business Men's club is being called at the city hall at which time ways and means of raising money for the team will be discussed. It is the belief of Wayne's baseball enthusiasts that $200 will be sufficient to get the team into action.

Manager Frank Sturma asks that all Wayne young men interested in playing on the team this summer come to the fair grounds at 2 P. M. Sunday and be prepared to try out for the team. Already many experienced men have indicated their intentions to play and enthusiasm on the part of players is running high.

Though it is said in several quarters that Wayne never has been a good baseball town, the men who are backing the proposition feel that that is no reason why an appetite for the sport could not be developed here. They point out that a town with a good ball team is always a progressive fighting town and that such teams are good advertising for the towns.

The first game in which Wayne will participate will take place at the fair grounds on Sunday afternoon, May 3. Everyone is urged to attend and show his support for the team.

Walter Mahnke Recalls Days He Held Linotype Championship

Walter Mahnke, who for the last three years has been living at the Lutheran hospital in Wayne, was a visitor at the Democrat office recently. While here he stated that he was once world's champion linotype operator. Following is a story which appeared in the November 6, 1929 issue of the Kirksville, Missouri, Express. At that time Mahnke was receiving medical treatment at a Kirksville hospital.

You've seen him sitting around the Kirksville fire station, talking with members of the department, or listening abstractly to the radio music. He was once a fireman himself. That's why he is in Kirksville. Well, you know, from a building and is now under treatment at the Laughlin hospital for injuries to his back. But that's a little ahead of the story.

Walter Mahnke's stiffened fingers—even now they look capable until he tries to move them—once scamped over the keys of an old Linotype Junior typesetting machine faster than any other operator known at that time. Back in 1911, it was, while he was setting type for the Warren, Ohio, Democrat.

He was 21 years old and could "hang" the old machine right along. "Hanging" the machine is what an operator is expected to do if he does not want the boss to hang him. And all it consists of is keeping the machine working at capacity.

Well, as we were saying, Mahnke wasn't drawing any reprimands for lack of speed from the man who wrote the checks, and one day he took a speed test under the auspices of the Linotype factory heads, and he turned in a record of three and one-half columns of "agate" in two and three fourth hours.

To fully appreciate his achievement it should be explained that agate is 5½ point type—in plainer words, the smallest type you'll see in large daily newspapers. The stuff in which legal notices, market reports, and athletic team lineups are often set.

"The company vouched for the record," Mahnke said. "They said it had not been paralleled on a Junior machine up to that time."

Holding a linotype operating championship carries with it the suggestion of expert craftsmanship more than it does gold medals, two column pictures in the papers, and cigaret endorsements. It's a peculiar type of athletic endeavor, running a linotype machine is. Requires fingers more nimble than a pole vaulter ever dreamed of and co-ordination between brain and muscle, oh, lots of co-ordination. But the biggest honor to the distinction is the demand for one's services and the increasing figures on the weekly check.

So in a few years Walter Mahnke was working on the New York Journal and happy. He married and had no worries about providing for the little Mahnke's.

Then came his breakdown which required that he quit the composing room and go out in the open. He did—And how! He secured a job as rural mail carrier on a route out of Mays Landing, New Jersey and plugged along over country roads for eight years.

Through the influence of Senator Edge, of New Jersey, and Enoch ("Nucky") Johnson a political leader, he secured an appointment from the mayor of Atlantic City, to the city fire department. Health completely regained, events were again beginning to shape themselves for a rehabilitation. He had a family of three boys. And then it happened—

Working on the roof of a four story hotel building which was in flame he grabbed a hose through which water was flowing under too great pressure for him to handle and he was knocked off. He landed on an awning down below and regained consciousness in a hospital, with a broken ankle and a back jammed out of shape.

He was drawing $2500 a year as a fireman and as an injured member of the force draws a half-salary pension. Two years ago he came to Kirksville to be treated and finds he is slowly improving.

"If I can ever get straightened out I want to go back on a linotype machine," he said.

In the meantime he passes the time as best he can—much of it at the fire station—and at the movies.

He stays at the Walter Murfin home at 792 West Pierce.

Plans were made for the post to sponsor a boy scout troop and a committee was appointed by Commander Green to be in active charge of this activity. discussed for Memorial day. Commander Green will secure the speaker for the occasion.

Have Scavenger Hunt

The Trinity Luther League met last Monday evening in the church parlors with Miss Mildred and Donald Christensen and Dean Granquist as hosts. Sixteen members and the following guests were present: Ruth Schmode, Juanita Fischer, Eileen Rabe, Ruth and Violet Smith, Evelyn Spangler, Eileen Christensen and Warren Jacobsen. A scavenger hunt and several educational games furnished diversion for the evening. Harvey Podoll led the devotions and the topic was "The Resurrection". Eileen Rabe joined the organization at this time. Miss Dorothea Bartlett, Dean Granquist, and Harvey Podoll were appointed as a committee to submit news to the League paper as a representative of the Winside Luther League. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the committee.

Kindergarten pupils assisted in filling the hole dug for the Auxiliary tree and the beginners filled in the special top soil for the Legion tree. Winners were announced by Mrs. W. H. Phillips, representative of the Wayne Woman's club, the Arbor Day essay contest sponsored by that organization for local high school pupils. Following are the ones who will receive prizes at the special Woman's club meeting Friday afternoon—Rodney Post, first; Wilma Baker, second; Charles Dienst, Jr., third; Gerald Wright, fourth. "PERK UP" WITH PURSANG and forget that dull, "half sick" feeling!

How do you feel these days? Are you blue, discouraged and "run down"? That dragged-out feeling may be due to a deficiency of iron in your blood. Indoor living, worry and overwork often conspire to bring on this condition. And lack of iron in the blood can make a man or woman imagine almost everything is wrong, when really the trouble can be quickly remedied.

If you are "below par" try McKesson's Pursang. It contains organic iron and copper compounds which increase hemoglobin—the substance that makes red blood red. Pursang helps to restore the balance between white and red corpuscles. And at the same time it aids appetite and improves digestion.

See how much better you feel after taking the first bottle of Pursang. Wait a week or more and you will hardly believe you're the same person—you'll feel so fit and well!

"The overwhelming majority of the people in this country know how to sift the wheat from the chaff in what they hear and what they read."
—President Roosevelt.

For a people to be prosperous, the masses must be employed and their employment must be directed so that there will be wealth enough to go round. And while prosperity does not depend upon the election of this or that political party, it does depend upon the administration of business. If our business is done in the way it should be done, our masses are employed.

Why are the duPonts so interested in defeating President Roosevelt? Because this administration, for the first time in the history of the Nation, under the leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt has taken constructive steps to prevent a repetition of America's entry into European conflicts. The neutrality laws Roosevelt has forced upon the statute books are an effective preventative. They go further. They prevent all shipment of munitions of war from this country as a neutral to any belligerent at war. So there will be no 237 million dollar munition profits while the neutrality law remains on the statute books.

Usually you can find a chuckle that wasn't meant to be there, in the report of any big business executive to stockholders. These reports follow a fixed formula. First they solemnly denounce the New Deal. Then they brag about how much money they are making.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, says sadly in his annual report that the New Deal is postponing recovery. Then came the figures. Net sales last year gained 34 per cent over 1934. Net profits were $2.69 a share compared with $1.99 a share in the preceding year. Sales earnings and payrolls were the highest since 1929. What does Mr. Sloan mean, postponed recovery?

Only five banks have failed since the establishment of federal deposit insurance, a period of over two years. The five banks had total deposits of less than five and one half million dollars.

Compare this with 1933 when 438 national banks, with total deposits of $781,679,000, closed their doors. And the year 1932 was even worse than that.

If the Roosevelt administration did nothing else than take care of the banking situation in such an able manner it should be continued in power that its efforts toward recovery in other lines of activity can be worked.—J. P. O'Furey in Cedar County News.

Stay There Mr. Norris
Nebraska's veteran Senator George W. Norris has been serving the people of this state in Washington for the last 33 years. In all his career of public service he has not wanted to be particularly known as the "Gentleman from Nebraska" but as an agent of the people. His has been a record of service and integrity to the people.

He has been the great leader in disposing of extravagant practices and promoting of more efficiency in governmental progress. He has stood alone in many instances but on each occasion it has been for noble purpose. Heartily in accord with the Roosevelt administration, voters in Nebraska should insist that our most distinguished citizen remain at our national seat of government.

Throughout America the name of Senator Norris is known. He is known as an honest, straightforward servant of the people and is respected. He exemplifies the true meaning of statesmanship. His belief in public ownership of products taken from natural resources is materializing more every day in monuments being erected on the Tennessee valley project. Senator George W. Norris has a genuine love for mankind. Nebraska could give no greater testimonial of esteem for him than to keep him in Washington doing the great things he loves to do.

It's surprising what a little repair work, bit of paint and wall paper tastefully applied here and there will do to make a surroundings more home like. Lawns and gardens can be made beautiful too if an inexpensive but tasteful planting scheme is used. Spring came to town and country in northeast Nebraska not so long ago and the spring is the proper time to help nature in making this a more beautiful place in which to live.

The Bystander

By Stan

Though arriving a bit late this year, spring in all its glory is again upon us. White shoes, tropical worsted and window pane patterned suits and jaunty new hats have made their appearance. Ladies, too, are wearing the large checks and plaids with accessories in color combinations I have long considered clashes. The world about us takes on a glamour of real beauty and inspiration. Youthful bards give voice to realization of wonderful ideals in poetic outbursts as eers, householders apply new wall paper and paint, and the smell of burning leaves assure us that lawns and garden plots soon will be in the full bloom that only a period of rebirth can bring.

Over the countryside the roar of tractor engines can be heard as tillers of Northeast Nebraska's fertile acres buck down fields of ghost-like, withered, storm-beaten cornstalks which glorified plots of a season past. Freeder cattle hook each other about the lots in the warm sunlight and spring lambs play about on brown pastures bravely mottled here and there with patches of green.

Styles of nature change but little and ever so gradually over the years that so slowly but surely pass. True beauty of early tender blades of new green grass, swelling buds on drab grey, and brown branches of staunch trees which each year spread their mercurial leafy boughs to shelter us at resting time from the penetrating rays of a glorious, energy giving sunshine. Yes, it's spring time in this great central empire which we are happy to call home. Everyone is happy to see the advent of that glorious time of year.

Soon another crop of college and high school graduates will again go forth to do battle with the stern realities of life which they have for some years past been preparing to meet. Better than classes in bygone days will these youngsters be prepared for this encounter, thanks to the increasing efficiency with which our institutions of learning are conducted today. If they have learned or can learn to be of service to mankind, their task of becoming acclimated to the world of business will not be so difficult even under conditions as they exist today, as was this task for some who learned to be of service only to themselves in the not so distant past.

I would suggest that these youngsters place happiness above everything else. But seeking and finding happiness are two vastly different things. One old Englishman famous in our literature books, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, said that the "happiness" of life is made up of minute fractions—countless infinitesimals of pleasurable thought and genial feeling.

So, youngster, don't expect to find happiness by hitching your wagon to a star too far away. You might miss more than it's worth. And if you are able to be happy yourself, you can make this condition so contagious that everybody with whom you associate will be happy too. Happiness of the body and mind stimulates a condition which enables one to do his best. It creates within a man a zest for his work, and no man who likes his work well enough has yet been known to fail.

Pete Peterson was telling me of reading in one of the daily newspaper ers not long ago of a fellow who lost a purse containing a thousand dollars and rewarding the finder with the magnificent sum of fifty bux for his integrity while in Wayne not so long ago a man of his acquaintance lost one containing but two dollars and insisted that the finder keep one of them for his trouble. This only goes to further prove that honesty is more appreciated in the lower financial brackets.

From the great Richard Henry Little's Line O' Type or Two in the Chicago Tribune. I some time ago clipped a verse by Donald Lubba of Rochester, New York, which appealed to me. Under the title of "Town and Country", I quote it as follows:

Simplicity of rural charm
That casts a spell
On country lane
And sun swept farm
By beauty awed—
Your quietude
It's something vast—
Like God.

Distorted maze of city spires
About whose feet
A little world
Each night retires—
Your ceaseless strife
And selfish mood
And something harsh,
Like life.

The other day one of my friends was telling me a little yarn about himself and a friend. They had just graduated from college and were out in the sandhill portion of the state looking for jobs. Enroute across country they became lost, but finally came upon a country school house. One of them thought it would be a good idea to inquire of their whereabouts at the school house. Going up to the little structure my friend knocked and was promptly greeted by the funniest little red headed teacher either of them had yet seen. Alert and ready to have some fun, my friend's companion asked the teacher if they might see the children stage a fire drill.

They were amazed to learn that this was one lesson the children had never been taught, so the matter of staging a fire drill was thoroughly explained while the children listened attentively. The signal was given and rapidly the children scuttled out of the building, made a circuit of it, and again took their seats.

Turning to the teacher, who had been instructed to clap her hands while the pupils ran out, one of the visitors asked her what she would do in case of fire. Bewildered, the red head grinned broadly and said she did not know. Quickly, her interrogator reached for the flag which hung on the wall, handed it to her and again gave the order for fire drill. Headed by the red headed teacher carrying the flag, the youngsters again fled from the hypothetically burning structure after which the visitors left without thinking to ask how to get to the town to which they wanted to go.

Everyone who knew Joe Meister lost a good friend when he died. Though I didn't know Joe as well as many of you do, I did know him for his kindness of heart. No man who knew Joe feared to ask a favor of him. If it was within his power to grant it he would not hesitate an instant to help. He was one of the great men of which there are too few in the world today. He was blessed with being possessed with what is popularly referred to as "the magnificent obsession".

A man once told me that it was a nice thing for us to realize our ideals if possible. He suggested that every man live from day to day with that objective in view but if after trying to do this he was not successful in realizing his ideals he at least could idealize his reals.

Well comma it's nearly press time and I must get back to work because after all one really should be able to find something else to do than run up and down the streets chasing his hat on a gusty April day. Goodbye now and remember I'll be seein' you, Love and kisses from Stanislaus Norrisky.

CCC Camps' Usefulness
Revealed on Third Birthday

The third birthday of the Civilian Conservation Corps, April 5, was marked by a report showing the work accomplished by the 1,600,000 persons it has employed. Outstanding features were the planting of 558,000-000 trees; 1,963,500 soil erosion dams built; 69,000 miles of roads and trail cut through forests. Explaining that CCC concentrated on improving and preserving the nation's forests, the report speaks volumes to foresters, conservationists and to millions of citizens interested in preserving, expanding and developing the timbered areas that still remain in this country, despite the wasteful and extravagant misuse of our forest resources in the past.

Up to March 1 the cost was $1,204,560,000, including $33,325,000 for purchase of forest lands. Of $356,638,000 paid to members, $260,000,000 was sent home to their needy families. In addition $615,000,000 was enabled them to find jobs at the rate spent for materials and equipment, including shelter, food and clothing. The average CCC recruit was enrolled for eight months.

Of the 239,000 enlistments, 17,219 were 17 years of age; 94,492 were 18 years and 50,978 were 19 years. These figures, in sharp contrast to those of former years, when the average age ranged from 22 years up to 30, show that graduates are being absorbed into private employment. Recent statistics revealed that the training the government has given CCC members of 10,000 a month and even more.

Hoover says "The farm credit machinery established by Republican administrations and improved by the New Deal should be still further improved." The plain fact is that the farm credit machinery was established in 1916 when the rural credits act was passed under Wilson. It was the administration of Franklin Roosevelt that aided agriculture in emerging from the chaos in which the Hoover farm board left it. There was always confusion in the Hoover farm policy and its complete failure was one of the most severe disasters of his administration.—Great Falls Tribune. (Dem.)

You raise bushels. You market based on the market value of the bushels. Market Value Hail Insurance written in bushels per acre is the fairest way to insure your crops against loss by hail. The cost is based on the market value of the crop. The amount paid you in case of loss is also based on the market value of the crop. When prices are low you can still afford to carry Hail Insurance. Insure your crops this sensible way. See our agent or send for complete information. We also write specific amount policies in Dollars per acre.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Council of the City of Wayne, in the County of Wayne, in the State of Nebraska, by resolution duly passed and entered in the minutes of their proceedings on the 14th day of April 1936, in accordance with Article VI, Chapter II, of the Compiled Statutes of Nebraska for 1929, directed that public notice be given, stating that the City of Wayne has outstanding and unpaid bonds in the total principal amount of Thirty-One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00), and consisting of:

Twenty-Two Thousand Dollars ($22,000.00), Refunding Bonds dated April 1, 1928 due July 10, 1945, optional any time after July 10, 1935, bearing interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4 1/2 Per Cent) annually, being bonds Nos. 19 to 40 inclusive for $1,000.00 each, which were authorized and ordered issued by Ordinance No. 346 of said City, which was passed and approved on the 27th day of March, 1928. And, Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), Paving District Bonds, District No. 7, dated February 15, 1928, due February 15 1938, optional February 15, 1936, bearing interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent) annually, being bonds Nos. 4 to 13 inclusive for $500.00 each, which were authorized and ordered issued by Ordinance No. 344 of said City, which was passed and approved on the 31st day of January, 1928, And, Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000.00) Refunding Bonds dated September 15, 1930, due September 15, 1940, optional any time bearing interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent) annually, being Nos. 2 to 5 inclusive for $1,000.00 each, which were authorized and ordered issued by Ordinance No. 361 of said City, which was passed and approved on the 16th day of September 1930.

That since the issue of said bonds the rate of interest has so declined in the markets that by taking up and paying off such bonds by an issue of Refunding Bonds of the City, a substantial saving in the amount of yearly running interest will be made to the City, that the City has accumulated no funds which may be applied thereon; that the indebtedness of the City on account of the principal of said bonds is Thirty-One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00), and that the said principal indebtedness is sought to be taken up and paid off by means of Refunding Bonds of the said City, in the principal amount of Thirty-One Thousand Dollars ($31,000.00), bearing interest at the rate of four per centum (4 per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually, which the Mayor and Council of said City propose to issue.

Public Notice is hereby given that any taxpayer of the City of Wayne may file objections to such proposed action with Walter S. Bressler, City Clerk, at his office in said City on the 7th day of May, 1936, between the hours of nine o'clock A. M. and four o'clock P. Farmers Plant Trees Wednesday

Wayne Co. Farmers Observe Arbor Day By Planting 7,800 Seedlings

Observing the traditional Arbor Day Wednesday, Wayne county farmers this week completed the planting of 7,800 Clarke-McNary trees on their farms for windbreaks and woodlots.

Cooperating in the greatest tree planting program since the inception of the Clarke-McNary distribution in 1926, farmers here helped to plant a total of 1,500,000 seedlings and transplants distributed to Nebraska farmers. This was the largest number ever distributed to farms through county agricultural agents and the college of agriculture extension service.

Although shipments of trees were delayed due to adverse weather conditions, Wayne county farmers found the broadleaf and evergreen trees of high quality. Practically all trees possessed a good root system. Survival on the trees, it is hoped, will be high this year.

The 1936 tree planting campaign, which gradually gained momentum until the supply of popular trees was exhausted some weeks ago, was considered an outstanding success. Farmers from every Nebraska county requested the seedlings. The 1,500,000 distributed this year compares favorably with the total of 1,035,000 distributed in 1935.

Several From Here Attend Feeders' Day

A sizeable delegation of Wayne county persons attended the twenty-fourth annual Feeders Day in Lincoln last Friday which was sponsored by the University college of agriculture and the Nebraska Livestock Breeders and Feeders association. Those attending from this section were Walter L. Moller, Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Podoll of Winside, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Eldridge of Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Weible of Winside, Hugo Splittgerber, Willis Noakes, Bruno Splittgerber and Jake Miller.

Moller Announces Arrival Of Two Farm Bulletins

Two new popular circulars and bulletins have just been published at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture and are now available to all Wayne county farmers. They concern broom grass and grain and forage sorghums.

P. H. Stewart, E. F. Frolik and A. W. Peterson, all of the extension agronomy staff at the college, are authors of the broom grass circular (Extension Circular 141) which is especially timely now. This circular describes broom in detail and gives suggestions for seeding and other agricultural practices.

L. L. Zook, superintendent of the North Platte sub-station, is author of the grain and forage sorghum variety bulletin (No. 297) which has just been published. Zook describes 18 varieties of grain sorghums tested under dry-land conditions at North Platte. Copies of these bulletins are available at the county Agricultural Agent's office.

Ag College Gives Advice On Prevention of Erosion

In the war on soil erosion, strips of erosion-resistant crops alternated with strips of clean cultivated crops across the slope have been found to be effective barriers, agronomists at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture and the Soil Conservation Service believe.

Strip cropping checks the velocity of run-off water, causes more moisture to be absorbed and filters out soil particles being removed. This greatly reduces erosion dangers.

Erosion-resistant strips, varying in width from 29 to 100 feet, depending on the slope of the land, may consist of thickly seeded annuals such as sudan grass, cane, lespedeza, oats, barley and soybeans. They may consist of the more permanent plants such as alfalfa and sweet clover.

Agronomists explain that if strips consist of annual crops they should be rotated each year with clean cultivated crops. If more permanent strips are used, the clean cultivated crops between strips should be rotated each year with only occasional rotation for the strips.

Strip cropping can be used to eliminate all point rows between terraces by planting terrace ridges with some erosion-resistant crop in strips of varying width.

Sherman County Youth Wins Accounting Contest

Ray Lewandowski, Sherman county farm youth, is the 1935 Nebraska 4-H farm account champion. Eva Grams, Dundy county, placed second and Gladys Weikamp, Washington county, third. The state champion is now eligible to compete for national honors.

Announcement of the winners in the national 4-H account contest sponsored by the International Harvester Company was made this week by L. I. Frisbie, state club leader at the Nebraska college of agriculture. The state champion gets $100 in merchandise certificates. County winners, announced simultaneously get $10 in certificates.

Twelve Nebraska counties competed in the account contest last year which was one of the most successful ever held in the state. Champions were named in the following counties: Adams, Cass, Cheyenne, Dundy, Hamilton, Logan, McPherson, Madison, Nemaha, Pierce, Sherman, Washington.

Assoc. Country Women Will Meet in Washington

Nebraska farm women have been invited to attend the third triennial conference of Associated Country Women of the World to be held in Washington May 31 to June 6, it was learned here this week by agricultural agent Moller.

Miss Mary-Ellen Brown, in charge of women's extension work in Nebraska has just announced tentative plans for sending a Nebraska delegation to the conference which will be attended by rural women from 40 different nations of the world. About 1,500 women are expected to attend.

A varied program will greet those in attendance. It includes an address by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and greetings from Lady Aberdeen of Scotland. President and Mrs. Roosevelt will receive the delegates at a garden party at the White House, also.

Among the general topics for discussion by delegates at the conference are: Safer motherhood, How Rural Women are meeting their economic problems, Cultural interests of rural homemakers and international relations as they affect the rural home. Another feature includes a program of music and folk dancing at which many of the women from overseas will wear their traditional national costumes.

Corn Acreage Will Increase

Nebr. Farmers May Plant Corn Excess, Official Estimates Indicate

An excessive acreage of corn in 1936 is foreseen in official estimates recently announced by the Bureau of Agriculture Economics in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The report says farmers intend to plant 15 per cent more acreage to corn this year than was harvested in 1935.

Farmers have said they intend to plant 8,993,000 acres to corn this year. This compares with 7,320,000 acres in 1935 and 6,676,000 in 1934. The average for the period, 1928-32, was 9,803,000. The latter acreage contributed to the break in the market price for the farm products.

That the increase in planting intentions for the country as a whole is less than in Nebraska is also observed in the report.

Farmers throughout the country intend to plant 6.5 per cent more acres to corn than there was in 1935.

A round-table discussion in panel form regarding, "What Makes A Good Day for the Farm Family", is to feature the 1936 achievement exercises. No formal speeches are being planned for this part of the afternoon entertainment. All viewpoints will be discussed. A new method of presenting interesting discussions, the panel is expected to prove one of the highlights of the gathering.

A report of the "Leap Year" committee is another feature of the program. Local leaders will also be honored for their work at an impressive candle lighting service. Newly elected officers for county home demonstration work will be installed. Brief reports of the project year activities will be discussed by members of various clubs.

Goodrich Paves Way For Safety Drive

In a recent discussion on the subject of "Prevention of Motoring Accidents", B. F. Strahan of Merchant and Strahan, B. F. Goodrich Company tire dealer here, traced the company's pioneering efforts in the interests of motoring safety.

"Since our company manufactured the first pneumatic tires for the first automobile to be sold in this country," said Mr. Strahan, "Goodrich, back in 1913, organized the original 'Safety First' movement. Road signs, many of which are still in service, were erected all over America warning motorists of dangerous curves and intersections.

"By 1931, faster cars and greater speeds were taking a terrific toll on our highways. It was then that Goodrich founded the Silvertown Safety League. A common sense code of safe driving was written and this pledge has since been signed by nearly two million motorists.

"The recent introduction of the Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Safer Golden Ply—the first tire specifically designed to combat the danger of high-speed blow-outs, was a real contribution to American motoring safety.

"The B. F. Goodrich Company is now making a drive for a million more Safety League members who will sign the safe driving pledge. A pledge form can be obtained from any Goodrich dealer and all motorists who sign the pledge will be given a free emblem with a special red reflector to protect against rear-end smashups," Mr. Strahan stated.

FARM BUREAU MAN ATTRACTS BIG AUDIENCE
 stated, "is one phase of a general movement for the organization of farmers." That the various organizations cooperate to the fullest extent is necessary, Mr. O'Neal believes. The farm problem must be approached from the educational standpoint, if it is to be solved to the best interests of the farmers, he emphasized.

Mr. O'Neal vigorously attacked the high tariff, saying that it is a sort of a hoax which is held out to the farmers, but which does them no good. Instead, he said, it causes them to lose other benefits.

It is imperative that the South and middlewestern states cooperate in bringing about improvements, "because they have always accomplished what they wished when they cooperated. If the farmers don't stand together now there will probably never be such an ideal opportunity during our lifetimes."

The speaker is heartily in favor of soil conservation. America has lost by soil erosion the equivalent of several New England states in addition to Pennsylvania. Scientific production is not the sole object of the Bureau, he pointed out. Its primary objective at present is bringing about education in the science of marketing and agricultural finance. Mr. O'Neal believes that when farmers learn the value of cooperation they can better themselves in the same ways as do business men. Other speakers at the meeting were C. Y. Thompson of West Point, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, and T. S. Hook, chairman of the agricultural committee of Wayne Kiwanis club, who gave the address of welcome. F. I. Moses presided as general chairman.

Music was furnished by the Wayne municipal band under the direction of Ford C. Reed.
 Mr. O'Neal was guest of honor at a luncheon sponsored by Wayne business men at hotel Stratton for the precinct committeemen of the soil conservation program, before the man took a committment meeting. Each business man took a committeeman as guest.

It is easy to believe that the store which sells for cash can sell cheaper . . . But in actual practice it doesn't work out that way . . . What happens is this—the store that sells the most goods at the same expense cost can sell the cheapest . . . If we were to cut off all our charge accounts we would cut our sales greatly. Likewise we would lose the profits on all these lost sales . . . but our rent, heat, light, etc. would not be any less. It is the extra profit on these extra charge sales that makes it possible for the credit store to sell cheaper than the cash store. Think this over. Imagine you had a store of your own and you'll soon figure how it works out.
