With fact finding facilities at his finger tips this writer, who has long been a newspaperman in both rural and metropolitan fields makes his readers aware of the fact that there actually exists "another side" of the question.

Considering how fine this railroad transportation is nowadays, you can't travel any cheaper. Fares lowest in history—substantial savings on round trip tickets. So why not take the train? It's safer. It's more dependable.

You can't beat the improved travel comfort in coaches and sleeping cars. It's a good thing movies don't have such restful seats—most folks would sure fall asleep.

Ever hear about the new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight? It's a great convenience to shippers and receivers alike. Western railroads pick up at the door, ship by fast freight, and deliver to door at no extra charge.

Railroad trains are running on faster schedules these days. Seems like the iron horse wants to show these new streamlined diesels that he can step out, too. Both passenger and freight schedules have been speeded up.

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

Talk to your local railroad agent. He's full of information about traveling and shipping.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

Catch Crops Might be Planted if Rain Falls

Should moisture conditions in northeast Nebraska improve in a few days there may be a great many "catch" crops planted in an effort to get late forage for livestock.

There are a great many possibilities as pointed out at the College of Agriculture. Siberian millet, agronomists say, is very good. Under favorable conditions it will produce a hay crop in 50 days. It is quite drought resistant. Amber is the shortest seasoned of the sweet sorghums or forage sorghums and requires 95 days to mature. It will produce a hay crop in shorter time. All would make silage. Silage has some possibilities.

Rye, popular fall and early spring pasture crop, is another possibility. It may be planted any time after August 1. The first killing frost in this part of the state comes about October 1.

CRITICISM

Speaking of some of the criticism directed against the present national administration, maybe it's a good sign after all. To illustrate, the story is told of the husband who was very ill and who responded with sincere expressions of heartfelt gratitude as his wife smoothed his fevered brow...

Another illustration relates to a small boy wearing a blue cap who ventured too close to the water's edge on a steep bank of the Hudson river in New York. The lad fell into the river with a scream, went down as his frantic mother screamed for help...

CONCERNING TELLING THE TRUTH ABOUT THE NATIONAL DEBT.

"Thirty-six billion dollars of national debt is the record of these blundering, bungling mistakes." — Dr. Francis E. Townsend, father of the Townsendites who are fighting for the most transparent fraud ever attempted to be imposed on a gullible public.

"I am quoting from Dr. Townsend, not that the statement deserves recognition, but as a sample of the kind of propaganda that has been made current by a band of irresponsible political plunderers who have no regard for truth and accuracy."

If these people were ordinarily intelligent they must know that their own words must fall back upon them, with decisive reputation.

According to this kind of opposition the national government is hopelessly in debt and heading for bankruptcy.

Mr. Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, has in the last few days made a report on the state of the national debt.

This statement has been analyzed and simplified by A. M. Lamport & Co., of New York, 44 Pine Street, a most reliable and capable firm, and published at their own expense in the New York Times, July 10th.

They show that the national debt now stands at $33,799,000,000 but they explain that the government has cash on hand of $2,682,000,000; gold stabilization fund $1,800,000,000; and investments in Portfolio or recoverable assets, exclusive of all foreign debts, $4,034,000,000, making a total of $8,516,000,000 deductible from the total of the national debt leaving a net national debt of $25,283,000,000.

When this government entered the World War the national debt was $2,000,000,000, and when the war closed the government was in debt $24,000,000,000!

When Mr. Hoover left office the government had a national debt of $22,539,000,000, less recoverable assets, of the same kind, of $3,062,000,000, leaving a net national debt of $19,477,000,000.

It is generally admitted that this country during the depression was plunged into a more devastating condition than the war left us; but this administration lifted the country out of it at a cost to the nation of over $17,000,000,000 less than what the war cost us.

The Landon analysis concludes its statement with these words: "From June 30th, 1933 to June 30th, 1936, during the three years of the Roosevelt administration the Net debt of the United States government, not offset by cash on recoverable assets, and including $1,670,000,000, Soldier Bonus certificates recently issued, rose $5,786,000,000."

So the Roosevelt administration and the recovery, as well as the reform we have today, have cost the government of the United States $5,786,000,000, and not ten, twenty, thirty or forty billion dollars or any other imaginary sum determined alone by the capacity of the loose mouth or rattle brain of a desperate and losing opposition.

Under Herbert Hoover the national debt from June 30th, 1930 to June 30th, 1933 (Hoover obligations) rose $3,250,000,000. The people got nothing but debt and despair.

Since Mr. Roosevelt has been in office the national income rose the first year $8,000,000,000; the second year, $14,000,000,000; the third year approximately $20,000,000,000.

So the people in spending $5,786,000,000 got back over $40,000,000,000; besides stocks have risen in value over $30,000,000,000 and bonds over $11,000,000,000 and the total national wealth increased, conservatively estimated, $100,000,000,000!

In addition to all this financial gain under the Roosevelt administration the country has been lifted out of the dumps, confidence restored, except among the die hards and reactionaries, the banking system put on a firm basis with deposits guaranteed, social security established, Wall Street manipulations barred, relief given to a stricken nation, youth rehabilitated, business revived, bank deposits restored to record levels, and a vast amount of other helpful things done for the American people which they will be slow to forget.

less checks, is said by county officials to be a former inmate of the Yankton, S. D., insane asylum, out on parole. She claimed to be Mrs. John Harder, and that she married Harder of Wayne, July 7, 1906. Harder denied the marriage.

There are two kinds of political "polls"—the private kind and the official kind. Every day the Liberty League newspapers report that some private agency has conducted a poll which shows the people are deserting Roosevelt and going over to the Hearst and Liberty League candidate for president.

When this government entered the World War the national debt was $2,000,000,000, and when the war closed the government was in debt $24,000,000,000!

Not really useful purpose can be served by over-exaggerating our national obligations, some useful purpose could be served by telling of the many good things that have been done for the people in the last three years by an administration that has dared to espouse the cause of a distressed people at whatever costs, political and otherwise.

The Roosevelt administration can stand on its record and nothing to fear in the just appraisal of the American people. All the people are interested in this going concern of ours with a capital of $310,000,000,000. Any executive that could take it over in an hour of distress, put it on its feet, make the people forty billion dollars in three years, increase its capital holding by one hundred billion dollars, put on a firm basis its finances where its bonds are oversubscribed six times and guarantee to the people their money in safe keeping, establishing confidence at home and abroad and put back in employment seven million people, is entitled to remain at the head of the concern as both competent and worthy.

That is what the American people will do in the case of Mr. Roosevelt, the present chief executive of the world's greatest going concern.

Landon's "Pledge" on Civil Service. In his telegram to the Republican convention Gov. Landon declared himself in favor of a civil service law that would cover the entire federal administrative service including "the entire post office department".

We were pleased to hail as progressive statesmanship Gov. Landon's wire to the Republican convention saying he proposed to extend the merit system in the federal government to include every position in the administrative service below the rank of assistant secretary and the entire post office department.

So it is quite a let-down for us to read in the Baltimore Sun (no defender of the New Deal) a dispatch written from Topoka by Paul W. Ward, Washington correspondent. Here are a few excerpts from Mr. Ward's article:

Research showed that his (Governor Landon's) own state has no civil service system at all, although, according to state officials a law providing for one has been on the Kansas statute books since before the war. No governor has ever seen fit to appropriate sufficient funds to put the law into operation.

at Washington. In nearly two weeks of traveling from one office to another in the Kansas capitol, no persons were encountered who seemed to be working, outside of the governor's suite of offices.

"All posts appear to be filled on a patronage basis. Leaders in both the Republican and Democratic camps said there is a general house cleaning whenever there is a change of administrations."

"When a Democrat, Ed Powers, who was elected state auditor, died last September, Landon appointed a Republican, George Robb, to the post, and Powers' appointees were at once replaced by Republican jobholders."

The governor might do well to remember that reform, like charity, begins at home.

The Wayne chautauqua which was concluded Sunday evening was considered an immense success.

It is generally admitted that this country during the depression was plunged into a more devastating condition than the war left us; but this administration lifted the country out of it at a cost to the nation of over $17,000,000,000 less than what the war cost us.

The Landon analysis concludes its statement with these words: "From June 30th, 1933 to June 30th, 1936, during the three years of the Roosevelt administration the Net debt of the United States government, not offset by cash on recoverable assets, and including $1,670,000,000, Soldier Bonus certificates recently issued, rose $5,786,000,000."

So the Roosevelt administration and the recovery, as well as the reform we have today, have cost the government of the United States $5,786,000,000, and not ten, twenty, thirty or forty billion dollars or any other imaginary sum determined alone by the capacity of the loose mouth or rattle brain of a desperate and losing opposition.

Under Herbert Hoover the national debt from June 30th, 1930 to June 30th, 1933 (Hoover obligations) rose $3,250,000,000. The people got nothing but debt and despair.

Since Mr. Roosevelt has been in office the national income rose the first year $8,000,000,000; the second year, $14,000,000,000; the third year approximately $20,000,000,000.

So the people in spending $5,786,000,000 got back over $40,000,000,000; besides stocks have risen in value over $30,000,000,000 and bonds over $11,000,000,000 and the total national wealth increased, conservatively estimated, $100,000,000,000!

In addition to all this financial gain under the Roosevelt administration the country has been lifted out of the dumps, confidence restored, except among the die hards and reactionaries, the banking system put on a firm basis with deposits guaranteed, social security established, Wall Street manipulations barred, relief given to a stricken nation, youth rehabilitated, business revived, bank deposits restored to record levels, and a vast amount of other helpful things done for the American people which they will be slow to forget.

Not really useful purpose can be served by over-exaggerating our national obligations, some useful purpose could be served by telling of the many good things that have been done for the people in the last three years by an administration that has dared to espouse the cause of a distressed people at whatever costs, political and otherwise.

Letters and postal cards from friends on vacation tours arriving make me feel all the more aware that this is an abnormal summer. From the northern woods of Maine comes a letter penned on birchbark which informs me that northern summers are unusually warm this season. As this is written I have just read a message from one who has recently visited Plymouth Rock, the scene of the landing of the Pilgrim fathers. Inscriptions on monuments in burial grounds have been of interest to this person who mentions having seen one dated in the eighteenth century which reads as follows: "Adieu, vain world, I have seen enough of thee and I am careesed what thou sayest of me. Thy smiles I am now at rest, my head is quiet I am not at rest, my head is quiet here." Quaint, isn't it?

Musings: They tell me that Pete Petersen is planning to import a big bunch of goats - what for Pete? Alf Landon and Col. Knox should check their theme song from "Oh Suzannah" to "I'm Building Up for an Awful Let Down". Willie, "Scandal Monger", Hearst has never been known to stick behind any candidate he has yet advocated. Word coming direct from Topeka from a Wayne man who visited there recently states that odds are offered against Alf's being able to carry his own state - he states that still greater odds are offered against his being able to carry his home county. Wish the bus company would repair that emasculated sounding horn on one of their conveyances. Who remembers when Tom Talking pictures were still a novelty? And the second of the famous quints is said to have told the first "don't look around, but I think we're being followed". Hope I can find a few minutes now and then to dip into my newly acquired volume of El. Sr. Cervantes' "Don Quixote". Wonder if Lewis and Clarke wouldn't be pleased to know that so many people are now tracking the famous Oregon Trail. Wonder what prompts some folks to use such big words. I know it's tough but we can't all be bean brumblers when we're frying. Olympic games authorities kick Eleanor Holm Jarrett, ace American backstroke swimmer off the team for imbibing a bit of beer and "hilarity" - wait a minute, wasn't one of the arguments given for the return of legalized beer based upon the beer appetites of certain Olympic athletes who would come to this country for competition at the time the games were given in Los Angeles?

Well, comma I gotta be going. I just remember having left my straw hat on the bed and that's bad. After I have my dinner of fruit salad and iced tea, I'll be seeing you again. Oh yes, if we should happen to get that cool wave, don't forget to cover up your geraniums even if Jack Hyatt does say it won't frost for a while. -Stan-

Through the Resettlement administration feed loans will be available in counties designated as drouth counties. In order that a county be designated such, a formal request must be submitted to Lincoln. This request was submitted and granted Wednesday of this week.

Governors of Six States Attack Landon in Nation-Wide Broadcast

Governors of six representative states Tuesday evening over a nation wide hook up told the people what they thought of Governor Alf Landon as a presidential candidate. Analyzing Landon's acceptance speech, the governors, one by one, in passing summed up their messages with the same query of "why change?" Governors who spoke on the program are as follows: Henry Horner of Illinois, Theodore Francis Greene of Rhode Island, Charles Martin of Oregon, George H. Earle of Pennsylvania, Clyde L. Herring of Iowa and Roy L. Cochran of Nebraska.

The following summary of the addresses was prepared for daily newspaper publication by Harry Ferguson of the United Press: Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois said the middle west was "frankly disappointed" in Landon's speech. He dealt chiefly with Landon's inference that the New Deal is "intentionally violating the constitution."

Gov. Landon himself was an ardent supporter of the AAA before it was invalidated by the Supreme court, Horner said. "If he knew it was unconstitutional, why didn't he oppose it? Almost all the measures set aside by the national Supreme court were supported by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and by republican congressmen from that state. Does Landon charge them, his political associates, with violating their constitutional oaths?" The records show that not less than eight statutes enacted by Governor Landon's administration and signed by him as chief executive have been declared unconstitutional by the Kansas Supreme court.

East Speaks Up The broadcast then swung to the East where Gov. Theodore Francis Green of Rhode Island said Governor Landon was running on a New Deal platform. "He does not like Roosevelt's policies on the farm situation," Green added, "but he wants to pay bounties to the farmers and to continue the present administration's policies on soil erosion and drought relief. He wants to balance the budget immediately and at the same time continue to care for the needy and unemployed. The budget would be balanced now if the federal government discontinued its care for the needy and the unemployed. They are fine words of the Governor's, but how is he going to eat his cake and have it too."

"He steered shy of the tariff. He made a wide detour around the utilities question. He didn't mention stock market regulation. He breathed not a word about banking legislation or a public works program." From the Pacific coast Gov. Charles H. Martin of Oregon attacked the political alliances Landon has made. "The issue is not so much Governor Landon but the company he keeps," Martin said. "It is a well-known fact that the manipulators of Wall street are 100 per cent behind Governor Landon's candidacy. They boast of the fact. Are they the new liberals? And supporting the governor also we find Mr. Andrew Mellon, Mr. Ogden Mills, Mr. Joseph Grundy of Pennsylvania, Mr. Hearst and the Du Ponts, the great packers and the great financial interests, the oil men and the bankers - are these the new liberals with whom Gov. Landon is going forth so hopefully?" Earle Attacks From Pennsylvania came the voice of Gov. George H. Earle, discussing Landon's stand on labor and unemployment. "Governor Landon holds that the federal government has been unable to solve the problem of unemployment," Earle said. "And the presumption is that he expects private industry to succeed. Let us consider an example, the steel industry. Governor Landon may be familiar with that since his uncle, William T. Mossman, is the chief lobbyist in Harrisburg for the Pennsylvania steel masters. "The Pennsylvania steel industry is booming today as it has never boomed before. Yet employment lags. Why? Because modern machinery is replacing the workers. We have come to a showdown with the machine age. "President Roosevelt gave us the solution when he shortened hours of work and established minimum wages. Now, as a result of the Supreme court decisions, we must look for another solution but no word or deed of Governor Landon leads me to believe he has the solution."

Gov. Roy L. Cochran of Nebraska said there were two Landons - "Governor Landon and Candidate Landon." "I do not see anything in his record in the state of Kansas to give cheer to the taxpayers," Cochran said. "Governor Landon does watch expenditures. For example, he watches the expenditures on the education of children in Kansas. In 1935 he boasted that under his administration all the money appropriated for schools had been cut 40 per cent. "To make this saying, some of Governor Landon's school teachers were hired for 25 a month. For some time the terms were shortened. Kansas was the only state in the union which had made no provision for general aid for school children at points distant from their schools."

Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa took up the farm question by saying: "What does Governor Landon intend to substitute for the present farm program? He makes some vague remarks on soil conservation and closes with a promise to keep the soil conservation program out of politics. Apparently some Kansas farmers should tell the governor just how this conservation program is being administered. "The farmers in each county elect a county committee to administer the conservation program. These committees are elected on a non-partisan basis. I wonder what Governor Landon would substitute for these farmer committees? Does he not think farmers are to be trusted to administer this program?"

years Miss Corbit has been engaged in similar work at Norfolk.
