Omaha Pair Confess To Police; Enter Plea Of Guilty Here

Alfred England, 32 year old father of four children of Omaha and his nephew, Orle England, 28, also of Omaha pleaded guilty Wednesday morning in a preliminary hearing before county Judge J. M. Cherry, to the charge of robbing the Carroll Cooperative Credit association office of $1,430 on June 15.

The men were bound over to district court and were taken to Stanton in the afternoon where they would receive sentences of not less than 10 years or more than 20 years.

When corralled by Omaha police Friday, the pair confessed to robbing the Elliott, Iowa, bank of one thousand dollars then told officers about the Carroll robbery.

Their ambitions, they said, was to plan and execute perfect bank robberies. Reading detective magazines in their leisure moments, while living off money they had made in the "small time" bootlegging business in and about Red Oak, Iowa, they had carefully planned their holdup jobs.

Their downfall came, Omaha police said, when they were unable to properly behave in the "prosperity" which followed their holdups.

They told Omaha police that after "stealing" some Iowa license plates they cruised about Nebraska in search of an "easy spot". Visiting Wayne, they first thought the situation here looked inviting but went on to Carroll where they found M. S. Whitney, vice president of the credit association alone in the association's office.

Slugging Mr. Whitney they escaped with the loot and with the proceeds they financed a lease on an Omaha filling station. Two weeks ago the pair decided upon another holdup so went to Missouri where they stole license tags. Following the Elliott, Iowa, robbery the men switched license plates on their car and calmly drank beer in a Red Oak tavern while police and vigilantes combed the countryside for them.

James H. Pile, Wayne county sheriff drove to Omaha Tuesday where he made arrangements to bring the men to Wayne to face preliminary hearing. Arriving here late that evening, the men were placed in the county jail to await their hearing.

Carroll Bank Bandits Plead Guilty Here

Omaha Pair Confess To Police; Enter Plea Of Guilty Here

Alfred England, 32-year-old father of four children of Omaha and his nephew, Orie England, 28, also of Omaha, pleaded guilty Wednesday morning in a preliminary hearing before county Judge J. M. Cherry, to the charge of robbing the Carroll Cooperative Credit association office of $1,430 on June 15.

The men were bound over to district court and were taken to Stanton in the afternoon where they would receive sentences of not less than 10 years or more than 20 years.

When corralled by Omaha police Friday, the pair confessed to robbing the Elliott, Iowa, bank of one thousand dollars then told officers about the Carroll robbery.

Their ambitions, they said, was to plan and execute perfect bank robberies. Reading detective magazines in their leisure moments, while living off money they had made in the "small time" bootlegging business in and about Red Oak, Iowa, they had carefully planned their holdup jobs.

Their downfall came, Omaha police said, when they were unable to properly behave in the "prosperity" which followed their holdups.

They told Omaha police that, after stealing some Iowa license plates they cruised about Nebraska in search of an "easy spot".

Visiting Wayne, they first thought the situation here looked inviting but went on to Carroll where they found M. S. Whitney, vice president of the credit association alone in the association's office.

Stugging Mr. Whitney they escaped with the loot and with the proceeds they financed a lease on an Omaha filling station. Two weeks ago the pair decided upon another holdup so went to Missouri where they stole license tags. Following the Elliott, Iowa, robbery the men switched license plates on their car and calmly drank beer in a Red Oak tavern while police and vigilantes combed the countryside for them.

James H. Pile, Wayne county sheriff drove to Omaha Tuesday where he made arrangements to bring the men to Wayne to face preliminary hearing. Arriving here late that evening, the men were placed in the county jail to await their hearing.

Auto Crash Kills Mrs. C. H. Stewart

Accident Occurs Near Home Of Judge in Norfolk Tuesday Evening

Mrs. Veda Stewart, wife of District Judge Charles H. Stewart of Norfolk was instantly killed in an auto accident which claimed the life of Mrs. Ruth Short and seriously injured Arthur Dewey who was driving Mrs. Short's automobile, which crashed into the machine, in which Mrs. Stewart was riding.

The accident occurred at 12:49 Tuesday evening as the Judge and Mrs. Stewart were returning to their home from downtown Norfolk where they had been attending the festivities of Norfolk's Good Will day. They were riding in the automobile of Harry Miller, Stanton banker, who was accompanied to Norfolk by Miss Irene Soll also of Stanton. The four had spent the hour previous with friends in a downtown cafe.

Miller had approached the drive to the Stewart home at 1605 Norfolk avenue when he stopped to let a car coming from the west pass. As he turned into the driveway the automobile owned by Mrs. Short and driven by Dewey came over the hill top from the east at a high rate of speed and plowed into the Miller car, striking the machine just back of the front seat. Mrs. Stewart and Miss Soll were riding in the rear seat. The impact came at the side in which Mrs. Stewart was seated. Her neck was broken and she died almost instantly. Both automobiles were demolished.

Persons driving back of the Short automobile said the machine must have been traveling at a speed between 55 and 60 miles per hour. Mrs. Short, too, died instantly. Her injuries consisted of a crushed skull and cut throat caused by the impact of her head hitting and going through the windshield. Dewey's injuries, said early Wednesday to be quite serious were confined to a severe concussion of the brain and a crushed chest.

Miller suffered a gash in his forehead and other bruises and injuries and the judge suffered from minor bruises and shock. Miss Soll had three ribs broken and suffered body bruises. All were taken to a Norfolk hospital. James Stewart, son of Judge and Mrs. Stewart collapsed of shock on hearing of the accident and was taken to a hospital to recover.

Mrs. Short and her companion Dewey were believed to be returning to Norfolk from a beer tavern west of the city where they had been shortly before the accident. Mrs. Short was proprietor of a liquor store and Dewey was employed by her. She is survived by a son and her husband, William Short, of Winnetka, S. D., from whom she was divorced some time ago. Weeks Tells Grads of Rut In Teaching

Head of Dakota University Urges College Students To Grow in Profession

Teachers who are artists in their profession formed the subject of the address given by Dr. D. I. Weeks, president of the University of South Dakota, who delivered the commencement address last Friday morning at Wayne State Teachers college to sixty graduates, 33 of whom received degrees and 27 two-year diplomas.

"In enumerating the distinguishing marks of an 'artist teacher', the university president summarized, 'He must have an intelligent philosophy of the purpose of education; he must have a sympathetic understanding of youth; he must possess those qualities that make for sterling character, and, above all, he must have the desire to grow.'"

Warns Against Ruts
Dr. Weeks stressed the last attribute by pointing out that teachers often get into ruts instead of growing and developing constantly in their work. "Experience itself is not enough," he declared with emphasis. "A teacher may have taught for 20 years and yet have but one year's teaching experience duplicated twenty times."

"A well known man," the educator continued, "once concluded that life is not measured in terms of time, happiness, possessions or success, but that the true measuring stick is growth—growth in human and spiritual values and in the profession of teaching."

Dr. Weeks urged the prospective teacher graduates not to be "just a teacher. Be a grand teacher—be an artist-teacher!"

WESTERN RAILROADS and THE FULLMAN COMPANY

Railroad Jim THE COLUMN CONDUCTOR Says... Freight trains nowadays act like express specials. New freight schedules are so fast, it sometimes wonder if everything has to be delivered day before yesterday. Many of our passenger trains are running faster schedules, too. Well, one thing is sure. We make faster runs, but the first railroad commandment is still "Safety First." That's one rule they won't change. Western railroads and allied industries provided jobs for 750,000 workers last year. Some of them live in our town. Good neighbors. Passenger fares are now the lowest in history with substantial reductions on round trips. And no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars. This new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight - I heard some traveling salesmen talking about it on the train yesterday. They said it saves shippers a lot of money and centers all responsibility on the railroad. The railroad picks up the freight at shipper's door and delivers to receiver's door. Of course, local delivery men get the haul from door-to-car and car-to-door at both ends. The railroad handles the whole transaction. When railroads are busy, I notice towns along the railroad are prosperous. The merchants put more ads in the newspapers. We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

Hail the Legion
Nebraska American Legionnaires convening in Omaha this week are inspired to lend their efforts toward the making of safety for America and at the same time maintaining peace.

Addressed by their national commander, Mr. J. Ray Murphy of Ida Grove, Iowa, legionnaires were told of efforts being made to provide a Universal Service law which would provide for the conscription of dollars along with men, if and when war is declared.

"The law we ask would cost not one penny; it would interfere with business not one bit, becoming operative only when war is declared and ceasing to operate upon the re-establishment of peace. We ask only that if there must be war, dollars will fight the same as men; that in time of war the country shall bring into its service, capital, industry and man power on a basis of absolute equality, with special privilege and profits for none," said Mr. Murphy.

Though the great war closed 18 years ago, we for the greater share know how phenomenal fortunes were amassed, seemingly overnight while young men lost their lives and health while dragging their bodies through mud beneath the gunfire of Flanders Fields.

We recall how many of these restless young men were unable to find in the great life they had left to preserve for the profiteers along with their loved ones.

The Legion is coming into its own. It is soon to become of age. Pales among the men are becoming white, and waist lines once trim with that militaristic appearance are now beginning to bulge over belts. Gone are the days of hilarious reunions when lives and property in convention cities were jeopardized when the ex-soldiers came to town. The legion is making a study of a well defined plan to make America, the country they fought to save, safe for posterity. Hail to the heroes of America, the American Legion.
