

Smith Named Wayne Public School Head

Board Selects Denton Man To Succeed Dienst As Superintendent

Earl W. Smith of Deaton was elected new superintendent of the Wayne public schools at a special meeting of the Wayne board of education Saturday evening. He succeeds Dr. C. F. Dienst who recently resigned to accept a position as deputy state superintendent of public instruction. Dienst who left Monday for Lincoln succeeds Herbert L. Cushing who was recently appointed to the presidency of the Kearney State Teachers college. Smith assumed his duties Wednesday.

Smith comes to Wayne with twenty years experience as superintendent in several Nebraska school systems including Pierce, Wakefield, Hooper, and Red Cloud. Before accepting the Wayne superintendency, he was educational advisor in CCC camps at Weeping Water and Deaton for the past fourteen months.

Smith who is a graduate of the Trenton high school received his A. B. degree from the Wayne State Teachers college in January 1925. He received his master of arts degree from the University of Nebraska and majored in school administration.

He is the author of "A Superintendent's Handbook" published by Scott, Foresman and company. He has had sufficient legal preparation and would be eligible to take the bar examination.

Smith is past president of District 5 of the Nebraska State Teachers association. He was also past president of Wayne Nelhardt club. He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa an honorary educational fraternity.

He has been a summer school instructor in the Wayne and Kearney State Teachers colleges. Smith is married and has two children of college age.

See Demonstration

Volunteer firemen from Plainview and City fire fighters of Norfolk were in Wayne last Friday afternoon to witness the tests of Wayne's new firefighting truck.

Mrs. C. W. Mutter of Creighton spent Monday and Tuesday at the home of her daughter and her-in-law Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Nickolaisen.

Doris Palmer Relates First Impressions Here

Miss Doris Palmer, exchange professor from Royds Hall, Huddersfield, Yorkshire, England to Wayne State Teachers college, related several of her first impressions of Wayne and stressed the friendly community spirit and hospitality of the Wayne people at the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Hotel Stratton Monday noon.

She described her county, Yorkshire, and pointed out that life in Huddersfield centers around the activities of the woolen mills. The college is on the outskirts of the city. Miss Palmer stressed the importance that team games and sports play in English school life. She spoke highly of the growing evidences of correspondence and friendship tours between the schools of other countries. Miss Palmer commented on the value of this exchange as a means of establishing friendlier contacts and a greater understanding among the peoples of different countries.

Dr. T. B. Heckert was introduced to the club as a new member.

Pasture Contest Closes Thursday

Twelve Wayne County Men Attend Annual Banquet At Omaha

Nebraska's statewide 1936 pasture improvement contest comes to a close Thursday (today) when leading farmers from some 40 counties, including Wayne county, gather in Omaha for their annual banquet and pasture "clinic".

Wayne county is represented at the Omaha festivities by George E. McEachen, C. E. Benschhof, Fred Wilcox, H. J. Podol, Frank Griffith, Fred Jensen, Ed Meierherry, Fred Muldemeier, C. H. Morris, Grace B. Lewis, Scott Van Slyke, and W. W. Jones.

Scheduled for Thursday afternoon is a "clinic" where all pasture and grazing land problems will be discussed. The gathering is to be in the Paxton Hotel starting at 2:30 o'clock. The evening banquet, open only to contestants, will probably draw 600 people. Four Nebraska farmers are to be given "high recognition" while 20 others will be awarded honorable mention in the 1936 contest.

Ford to Announce Cars For 1937 Saturday

Phil Briggs, Wayne Ford dealer, returned Monday from a week-end visit to the Ford factory on River Rouge in Dearborn, Michigan. More than eight thousand American Ford dealers made the trip to Dearborn on an invitation of the company for them to witness the unveiling of what the company considers the greatest car it has ever built.

Mr. Briggs told of the pageantry with which the new car was announced to the dealers. More than two hundred small boys, dressed as elfs, carried light wood parts of the new car to a huge pot that stood steaming in the center of the huge coliseum on Michigan's state fair grounds located in Detroit. Other lads with paddles stirred the huge steaming cauldron until the last piece was placed therein.

By means of an elevator arrangement, the new cars then sprang, one at a time from the huge steaming pot.

A mammoth banquet was served to the dealers at which Henry Ford and Edsel Ford were hosts. Music for the occasion was provided by Fred Waring's Pennsylvanians presenting their regular radio broadcast for the Ford program.

So tremendous a task was it to serve a banquet to the more than eight thousand persons present, no catering firm in Detroit would undertake it. Arrangements were made with a Chicago concern and Mr. Briggs said he marveled at the manner in which the service was provided. Plates bore the V-8 emblem and lamps and table coverings were in harmony. The food was served hot, too. Two truck loads of silver ware were required for service and four thousand chickens were prepared. What about the new car? Well, it will be on exhibition here Saturday. It has Lincoln-Zephyr lines and is available with optional 60 or 85 horse power V-8 engine.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour left early Monday by automobile for LaCrosse, Wisconsin, where they are attending a two-day butter makers' meeting scheduled to take place Wednesday and today. Enroute to LaCrosse, they stopped over Monday evening in Marshalltown, Iowa, where they visited their son, Melvin, who is employed by Russell Prescott architect.

Myrick H. Sublette, head of the department of commerce of the college of Saint Teresa, formerly commercial head of the Wayne State Teachers college has recently had an article published in the Social Science encyclopedia entitled "Integrations". It will appear in the October issue, volume II.

Taylor-Brundieck Wed Wednesday

Private Ceremony Takes Place at Altona Trinity Lutheran Parsonage

At a double ring ceremony Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, Miss Eleanor Taylor daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Taylor of Stanton, became the bride of Ernest Brundieck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brundieck of Wisner. The marriage lines were read by the Rev. E. J. Moede, pastor of the Altona Trinity Lutheran church. The wedding took place at the parsonage before relatives and immediate friends.

The bride was gowned in royal blue transparent velvet fashioned ankle length with matching accessories. She wore an arm bouquet of pom-poms. The bridesmaid, Frieda Brundieck, sister of the bridegroom, wore a rust hammered satin with a corsage of pom-poms. Clifford Taylor, brother of the bride was the groomsmen. Both men wore dark suits.

A 12:30 o'clock wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. A yellow and white affair was carried out in the table decorations. The two-tier modernistic wedding cake formed the centerpiece with gold tapers at each end of the bridal table. Yvonne Roberts and Lera Daniels served.

The young couple after a short wedding trip will be at home on their farm northeast of Pilger.

International Club To Attend Conference

The International Relations fraternity of the Wayne State Teachers college plan to attend the Grinnell Student conference on International relations at Grinnell, Ia., Friday and Saturday.

Outstanding men in foreign affairs will be speakers at the two day meet. Grover Clark will talk on "Balance Sheets of Imperialism" Friday morning. As after dinner speaker Friday evening, Grover Clark will discuss "Storm Over Asia".

Rennie Smith who served for seven years in the House of Commons and is at present under-secretary in the department of foreign affairs will be the main speaker Saturday and will talk on "Nazi Germany Opposes Bolshevik Russia".

Wayne people planning to attend include the Rev. L. W. Gramly, Coletta Hahlbeck, George Larson, Milton Evans, Mildred Schubert, Mae Wauastapi, Bernadine Brown, Virginia LeComere, and Vera Elafson sponsor of the International Relations group.

Installation Services Sunday for Rev. Most

Special installation services for the Rev. W. F. Most who succeeds the Rev. H. A. Teckhaus to the pastorate of Our Redeemer's Evangelical Lutheran church were held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. H. Welchert of Emerson officiated.

Leslie Dienst Speaks Highly of Citizenship Meet Hospitality

The following is the account of the recent trip of Leslie Dienst who represented the third district in the American Legion-World Herald Young Citizenship contest held at Omaha in his own words.

To me the honor of representing the third district in the American Legion-World Herald Young Citizenship contest came as a series of surprises. The first try out was in the Wayne high school, followed by the Wayne county and district contests. At last I found myself one of the 52 chosen as High School Citizens of Nebraska. From the moment of arrival at the Hotel Fontanello every minute was brimful of interesting activity. Final examinations occupied the first morning. The tests included those of intelligence, general information, current history and civics. Everyone of the 52 of us took our pamphlets and worked for dear life till time was called at noon.

When this serious part of the program was over the light-seeing tours began. In the afternoon we visited the Omaha World Herald and the Majority Favors Extension Work

Appropriation Bill Carried By 24 Counties In the General Election

Twenty-four of the twenty-six counties in Nebraska voting in the general election on the question of whether or not appropriations should be made out of the general fund for carrying on agricultural extension work carried.

Counties in which the question, carried included; Valley, Greeley, Gosper, Harlan, Saline, Cedar, Cuming, Washington, Fillmore, Polk, Butler, Franklin, Sioux, Deuel, Banner, Kimball, Pawnee, Merrick, Boone, Howard, Hayes, Chase, Garden, and Box Butte.

Heavy majorities for agricultural extension voted on by all people, were registered in most counties. They ranged from better than 3 to 1 in Box Butte county down to a safe margin in all other counties. In all but two of the twenty-six counties voting, extension work was comparatively new.

The extension service popularly supported is a part of the University of Nebraska college of agriculture and has been in operation since 1914 in advocating improved farm and home practices. Through local counties supplying support such activities as 4-H Club work, crop variety tests, seed corn testing, home project work for women, dairy herd improvement associations, Clark-McNary tree distribution, trench silo campaign, farm and home accounts, improved livestock feeding practices and others are carried on throughout the year. More and more people are taking part in the work each year.

Students Register for New Quarter

Mid-Semester Reports Filed With Registrar, Classes Begin Monday

Mid-semester registration of the Wayne State Teachers college is scheduled for today and Friday and students are making all necessary program changes at this time. The new quarter will begin Monday when classes will resume.

An increase in enrollment is expected by school authorities. Registration of new students will be held Saturday and Monday morning. No new classes have been added to the curriculum. College instructors are filing estimate grades in the registrar's office at the end of the week. These grade reports will be sent to the parents to show the progress of the student and also be sent to the student advisors at the end of next week.

Dramatics Class Presents Three One-Act Plays

The dramatics class of Wayne State Teachers college under the direction of Miss Florence M. Drake, dramatics instructor, presented three one-act plays this evening (Thursday) at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium.

"Facing East", a drama, was under the co-direction of Milton Evans and Edith Horstman. Producing manager was Edith Buls. The second play was a tragedy, "Last of the Lawries" directed by Margaret Jones. Velve Lasse was the producing manager.

Royal Burnell directed the last of the three plays presented. The program closed with the staging of "Three's a Crowd", a comedy with Muriel Hansen as producing manager.

Pumper Proves Satisfactory

In a test made Friday of Wayne's newly arrived American LaFrance fire truck, the pumping equipment delivered 520 gallons of water a minute for two hours. The test was made on upper Main street where there is a six inch water main. W. H. Baldwin, engineer of the Nebraska Inspection Bureau of Omaha, observed the tests and issued a letter of approval, which stated that the equipment met all requirements of underwriters.

The truck which was assembled in Kansas City, carries combined pump, chemical and ladder equipment. It is mounted upon a Ford V-8 truck chassis and is painted white. Wayne No. 3 is painted in gold leaf on the sides and the wheels are bright red.

Baptist Youth Rally Here Nov. 7 and 8

The Young Peoples' division of the Northeastern Baptist association met here Saturday and Sunday for their fall rally. Approximately eighty delegates from several neighboring towns in district three attended the meet. Towns represented were Norfolk, Chambers, Tilden, Pilger, Obert, Carroll, and Wayne.

Red Cross Roll Call Drive Begins

Contributions Urged to Help Finance Association's Enterprises

The annual Red Cross roll call drive for membership began Armistice Day and will be completed Nov. 26. The membership of $4 is the same as other years. The drive is to raise funds to finance the various worthwhile enterprises that the American Red Cross association sponsors during the year.

Their willing prompt service in time of disaster has saved many lives and brought food and shelter to the homeless. Urgent medical attention so necessary at such times has always been competently administered by the Red Cross. Contributions for such a cause are far reaching in their benefits.

The solicitors for Wayne have not been announced but a group of approximately 15 women will canvass the residential district. The members of the Young Business Men's club will solicit the business district.

It is impossible to personally solicit contributions in the farm homes but all donations will be appreciated by local Red Cross members. Contributions of either cash or produce left at the local stores will be welcome.

Seal Sale Drive Starts on Nov. 26

Tuberculosis Christmas Stamp Campaign Planned

Plans are practically complete for the opening of the thirtieth annual Christmas Seal campaign throughout Nebraska on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 26, according to Miss Alice Marshall, executive secretary of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association, who, within the past few weeks, has organized county campaigns and named Seal sale chairman for each county.

Miss Marshall says that the need for a vigorous program against tuberculosis is increasingly necessary in view of a recent national survey by the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association that reveals tuberculosis still the foremost cause of death between the ages of 15 and 45.

"Tuberculosis has not been wiped out despite every effort we have made to do so," continues Miss Marshall. "The tragedy is that it strikes mainly at the most vital elements of the community, people in the prime of life, during their most productive period and greatest value to their family and community."

That is why health leaders feel that the public must not be lulled into a sense of false security by figures showing decreased death rates from the disease, she says. Great progress has been made since the war, but the last five or six years of depression have given the disease new hold, public leaders agree.

This year marks the thirtieth anniversary of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal, the little penny stamp that finances the fight against tuberculosis not only in the United States but in 42 other countries.

The seal itself, this year, reproduces Santa Claus for the eleventh time in the 30 years that they have been issued. He is still the genial, jolly Santa of old, but his present appearance is most decidedly modern, the artist having used a new drawing technique that has given him a very up-to-date appearance.

College Instructors to Attend Omaha Opera

Bygone Days

(From Files of Nov. 4, 1926)

The World-Herald commented on the fact that the county of Wayne was the first to get in under the wire with complete unofficial returns from Tuesday voting. At the state convention of Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs held at Lincoln Oct. 27 to 29, Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis talked on "State Wide Sunday School Contest," with the idea of establishing the old songs in the minds of the young people as well as arousing new interest for the old songs. She suggested that this be sponsored in much the same way memory contests are conducted in the public schools. Those attending from Wayne were Mrs. Charles Schlegels, Mrs. Clyde Oman, Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon F. George. George Haller formerly of Blair and recently of Omaha who last week married a student at the local college and wrote a dozen or more checks in Wayne, was apprehended and brought to trial on one of the accounts. He was given 30 days in the county jail for the offense of writing a $26 no-fund check cashed by the Parsley Briggs Motor Co., to which he plead guilty. David Shore, negro, who has been working at the Lave barber shop the past two months took some minor articles from the shop and disappeared the first of the week. He took about ten dollars worth of supplies. The local college with little effort were able to defeat Omaha University on their field last Friday making two touchdowns in the first few minutes of play. However, they were unable to chalk up a win against the Bobcats of Peru Wednesday in a fiercely contested battle. A deal was made this week by which new owners took charge of the succeeding Louis Kronik who had been the head of this eating place for the past several months. The new owners are Misses Luella and Viola McGulgan who have been successful in such work in South Dakota. (From the Files of Nov. 11, 1936) The H-Y club program Tuesday evening at the Community Hall was well attended and satisfactorily completed the preliminary arrangements for the district conference to be held here Nov. 26, 27, and 28. This program was given to raise money with which to defray the expense incident to the convention. An election of officers was held at the regular meeting of the American Legion Tuesday night. They are as follows: Ray Hickman, commander; Herman Lutt, first vice-commander; Herbert Bergt, second vice-commander; Ross Jacobs, adjutant; H. G. Hosteter, finance; Fred G. Dale, historian; William Kuper, chaplain; O. J. Perrin, sergeant at arms and, Carroll Orr, A. L. Swan, C. E. Wilson, Dr. J. C. Johnson and J. J. Steele were appointed to the executive committee. The members voted to sponsor a dance Thanksgiving night. The spelling contest which was announced in the Democrat last week met with unusual response and the problem of determining the winners was a hard one. Some of the lists of words were very long and all of them were carefully examined. All answers will be kept for a reasonable time and any of the participants will be welcome to come in and compare their list with the winners. The winners are as follows: Raymond Salu of Wayne and Richard Moses of Winside received first place; Isabelle Hansen of Wayne and Joy Lutt of Wakefield awarded second honors, and Josephine Ley and Helen Weiland won third place. Dr. J. C. W. Lewis addressed the Kiwanis club at their regular luncheon at Hotel Stratton Monday noon and discussed "The Decline of the Party System." (From Files of Nov. 18, 1926) The automobile license plates for 1927 have been received as announced by J. J. Steele, county treasurer and will be on sale Dec. 10. The color of the new plates is a dark maroon background with white numerals and trimmings. More than 3,800 pairs of plates were received or 700 more than were needed in the county four years ago. Of these 3,400 are for cars, 350 for trucks, 20 for dealers and some motorcycle plates. The county treasurers of the third congressional district held a convention at the court house this afternoon. The meeting being called by W. L. Boettcher, county treasurer of Platte county. There are eighteen counties in this district. The purpose of the called meeting was principally to instruct the newly elected officers in their duties. At a private wedding at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. June Conger, Miss Mildred Walters of Randolph became the bride of O. T. Conger Thursday evening. Robert Kingston Selected For NW Men's Glee Club W. Robert Kingston, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kingston of Wayne, is among the students who have just been selected as members of the men's glee club at Northwestern University. Composed of seventy-five members the group has earned country-wide recognition as being outstanding among such collegiate organizations. During the year, it presents a number of public appearances, many of them in cities other than Chicago and Evanston, as well as several radio programs. Membership in the club is determined by competitive examinations which test the musical ability of the various applicants. Kingston is a junior in the college of Liberal Arts. He was graduated from the Wayne High School in the class of 1933. He did outstanding work in music throughout his high school course. Presents Paper on "Economics" Dr. Jos. Gillespie, optometrist of Wayne presented a paper on "Economics," at the November meeting of the Northern District of the Nebraska Association of Optometrists Extension Program at Norfolk Sunday at 11 o'clock. Flooding Skating Pond Workmen early this week began the work of filling the skating pond on East Sixth street. It is the hope of many that sufficient ice will be on the pond to provide skating by not later than Thanksgiving Day.

Gear Cafe Wednesday morning

Buena Vista Scores 12-0 Win Over Tutors Friday

Wayne State Teachers college gridmen, Friday evening under the electric light at the college athletic field were defeated 12 to 0 at the hands of Buena Vista college's strong team coming to Wayne from Storm Lake, Ia. The evening was cold with a brisk northwest breeze blowing and spectators, for the greater share, were compelled to witness the game from their heated cars. A small crowd was in attendance at the game. Just before the first half ended, the Wayne team, in making an effort to punt out of the territory of Buena Vista's goal, lost possession of the ball when the punt was blocked. Two successive smashing drives by the visitors brought about the first touchdown. Nearest Wayne came to scoring took place in the third quarter when the hosts launched a driving campaign from their own 35 yard line, which took them to within five yards of Buena Vista's goal line. There the drive stopped when the visitors held Wayne on downs and gained possession of the ball, which, after a consistent drive ultimately resulted in the second touchdown.

Wayne Co. Champ Calf Sells for $1,294 at Omaha

The thrill that perhaps comes once in a lifetime came to 13-year-old Lester Lutt of Wayne county Friday morning of last week. His grand champion baby beef "Billy" sold in the annual auction at the Ak-Sar-Ben stock show at $1.50 per pound. The record high for Ak-Sar-Ben baby beef is $2.02 per pound, paid in 1928 at the initial show. The Lutt champion, a Hereford, weighed 863 pounds and netted approximately $1,294. The animal was purchased by George Brandeis. Mervin Aegerter, Seward lad, who has won many times at Ak-Sar-Ben has recently bought an 80 acre farm with his prize money.

RIGHT OUT OF JOAN BENNETT'S OWN COOKBOOK

Joan Bennett insists that Practical Housewifery is just as much her job as movie glamour, and proves it with this taste-teasing recipe suggestion

JOAN BENNETT, prettiest and youngest of the three glamorous daughters of Richard Bennett, may be one of Hollywood's most important stars and had a work in the starring role of the new Walter Wanger-Paramount picture "Wedding Present," but she makes no secret of the fact that first and foremost she is a housewife and the mother of two adorable little daughters. Every day before she leaves for the studio she plans the day's meals, and because she feels that her own irregular hours are apt to impose hardships on her cook, Joan Bennett is a devotee of any clever speed cooking ideas which will make a meal as quick and easy to prepare as it is delicious to the palate.

A favorite dish on the Bennett-Markey table—Joan is married to Gene Markey, you know—is a vegetable-beefpie. It's gorgeous ly good eating and an exciting new dish to boot, because it's made of soup! Also, and this will appeal to your economy streak, it's a grand way to use leftovers. Simply blend 2 tablespoons of butter with 2 tablespoons of flour. Add one can of a rich-flavored vegetable-beef soup such as Hormel's. If you have a cupful of leftovers (diced meat, carrots, peas or potatoes) pop them in, too. Cook and stir until slightly thick. Then pour the mixture in a pie plate and cover with a ready prepared biscuit mix, cut in rounds. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) until brown. There you are—a juicy, taste-tempting main meat dish that is almost a meal in itself comes steaming from your oven—and all in fifteen minutes by the clock!

A Liberal Leader
One of the men who has gone down in American history as a great benefactor is Horace Mann, father of the American public school. It is well as we observe National Education Week that we know something about him.

Born in the late eighteenth century of poor New England parents, Mann strove throughout his youth for an education. He worked at manual labor to accomplish his great goal in life. His health was poor. His father died when he was 13 years old and left him the burden of not only making his own place in the world but the added load of providing the necessities of life for his widowed mother. Horace Mann worked long hours to receive an elementary education. He taught school as soon as he was qualified. With his earnings he went forward in his pursuit of the more abundant livelihood that the benefits of education would help him to acquire. He went about the New England countryside making speeches before small groups.

In many instances, history tells us, he was compelled to sweep his hall and build fires as a preliminary duty, before making his speeches. The enthusiasm of Horace Mann in a mission he felt just, knew no limitations. He studied law and won for himself a seat in his state's legislature where he pleaded for the cause he was so genuinely interested in seeing materialize. He was responsible for appropriations, state and federal, to be made for the purpose of furthering the cause.

Horace Mann, an early American liberal, worked hard to become the father of the American public school and the publically owned normal school. He met all kinds of opposition without a doubt. There is no reason to believe that he traveled a pathway strewn with roses when he asked that taxes be levied in order that the masses might have the advantages of free public schooling.

There is no reason to believe that there were not those ultra-conservatives, then as there are today, who feared for the financial soundness of democracy when the program providing for spending of public funds for that purpose was placed upon the shoulders of the people.

Today we who live in this great country accept the public school as an institution many of us consider a portion of the original governmental set-up. For the greater share we are enlightened enough to think, of our country ever having had any other form of education, an absurd notion.

Today millions of young Americans between the ages of four and 20 years daily tread the paths of school grounds and college campuses owned by the state. Revolutionary changes have come about in methods of educating children. What was once a task to be tolerated in learning one's three R's has been turned to play. Children learn rapidly and thoroughly the same lessons their elders have before them learned in the most difficult way.

Horace Mann had visions of a better America when he set forth to provide free public education for the masses. He foresaw the necessity of education as the greatest implement with which America could become a nation characterized by progress.

America has made progress, thanks to its liberal thinking people. What this country needs today is more persons with the same courageous spirit as had Horace Mann, the father of free public education.

Almost everyone would stop a little if asked to define accurately such terms as Nazi, Fascist or Communist. About all we know definitely is that we don't like them. Then, the papers are leftist and sub-marginal. A vocabulary acquired ten years ago is not of much consequence. The man who wants to put up a good front nowadays should have a far from the dictionary.

This May Answer Some Questions Being Asked About "Security Act"

(Editor's Note) When the Federal social security act became one of the issues of the presidential campaign just closed, many persons became interested in knowing more about the law which goes into effect January 1, 1937. From the columns of the Norfolk Press the following article was clipped. We publish it in its entirety.

Government wheels on the federal old-age assistance system are beginning to turn, according to an announcement received Wednesday from the social security board. The federal old age benefit system provides for benefits from the federal government to qualified persons at the age of 65 or at death. It was established by the Social Security Act and goes into effect on January 1, 1937.

Based on Total Wages
Benefits are based on total wages for work done in this country after December 31, 1936, and before the age of 65. This includes every kind of work for an employer with a few exceptions, which are listed at the end of this article. Wages of not more than $3000 a year from any one employer will be added together to make up the total wages. There are three kinds of payments.

1. When the worker becomes 65 he may receive 3 and one-half per cent of the total wages mentioned above.

2. If the wages total $2000 or more and were earned during five years, the worker will receive instead of a lump sum, an annuity payable each month for life. The minimum is $10 the maximum $86.

3. If a worker dies without receiving either payment, a death payment of 3 and one-half per cent of the total wages will be paid.

To determine the total amount of the worker's wages, the social security record must keep a record of all wages. These records will be determined through a survey of employers, to be conducted through the post office department according to an announcement received by postmasters throughout the country Wednesday.

Survey to be Made
A survey will be made first of employers, beginning November 16. Employers will be asked to furnish, or point in the type farm. Shrieking colors of autumn leaves have diminished to the bare drabness of winter and the driving down of tiny powder-like flakes foretells the snows to be faced before spring again comes to Wayne county.

Oh, for the pleasures of a winter's sojourn in some summery clime where if one wanted a touch of winter in it's more pleasant forms he could find it as he wished in some Alpine region. But then how would a native mid-westerner know how to act in a land where he could make up his climate to suit his whims?

Yes, it would be delightful to spend part of one's winter in sunny southern France but for real adventure I'll take mine where we have but two seasons a year.

We live in the north temperate zone, if you please. Do you recall your school days when they taught you from an enormous geography book, in a vague way, that we resided in that vast concave slice of the globe that is known as the temperate zone—that immediately above us on the earth's bald pate lay the frigid zone and the torrid zone was that vague somewhere below us where one might well believe that the ocean's waters might wrathfully boil in the scalding solar rays of summer.

Insofar as I am concerned, we have both zones right here in this vast so-called temperate area. Do you recall the deep snows of last winter—the days we went without mail and train service—how the Jitney players appearing in "Accent on Youth" were the first ones to get through from Wisner by auto and that immediately after they left the roads were again sealed? Then as a contrast, do you recall the terrors of relentless heat that broiled us and seared our corn along about July Fourth when the racing meet was on here? Yes, we live in the temperate zone insofar as the map is concerned but speaking from the standpoint of either cold or hot fogures, we live in the most fluctuating climate in the world.

Interesting to me was a set of figures I secured recently that told of American incomes. There are 3,363,268 persons whose incomes run from 12 hundred dollars or more per year. Of this group 59.4 per cent receive the 12 hundred to 25 hundred stipend, 23.6 per cent are in the bracket ranging from 25 hundred to 35 hundred annually while 11.8 per cent receive from 35 hundred to 10 thousand per annum. Incomes of more than 10 thousand per year are confined to 4.23 per cent and .15 per cent of the whole are millionaires. While these figures don't mean a whole lot, they do give one a fairly good idea of how good his chances are of becoming a millionaire.

American millionaires total 14,126. New York, of course, has the most with 3,213 and Nevada and North Dakota each have one. Nebraska has 59, Iowa has 93, South Dakota has three, Kansas has 59 or the same as this state. Colorado has 89 and Wyoming has six. If an equal number of millionaires was to live in each state, the average would be about 29 1/2 to each. Mississippi with 28 would be nearly average, while Vermont with 32 would have more than its share. Montana is the only state having the supposed unlucky number of 13 and Oklahoma has the nearest to a perfect hundred with 102.

"He was a tower of strength," my friend said. "He was a great writer who said in his columns what he thought and he tried to think clearly at all times. His readers admired him for his courage though they did not always agree with him. His newspaper was considered the conscience of the little settlement he chose to call his home and his memory will live for long years to come." I had been told of a country editor

"The Touch of the Master's Hand"

"Was battered and scarred and the auctioneer thought it scarcely worth his while. To waste much time on the old violin. But he held it up with a smile. 'What am I bid, good folks?' he cried. 'Who'll start the bidding for me? A dollar, a dollar—how two, only two—Two dollars, and who'll make it three?'"

"Three dollars once, three dollars twice, going for three"—but no! From the room far back a fair young man came forward and picked up the bow. Then wiping the dust from the old violin. And tightening up all the strings. He played a melody pure and sweet. As sweet as an angel sings.

The music ceased, and the auctioneer, with a voice that was quiet and low, said, "What am I bid for the old violin?" And he held it up with the bow. "A thousand dollars—and who'll make it two?"

Two thousand—and who'll make it three? Three thousand once and three thousand twice—And going, and gone!" said he.

The people cheered, but some of them cried. "We do not quite understand—What changed its worth?" The man replied: "The touch of the master's hand!" And many a man with life out of tune, And battered and worn with sin, Is auctioned cheap to a thoughtless crowd. Much like the old violin.

A "mess of pottage," a glass of wine, A game—and he travels on. He's going, once, and going twice, He's going—and almost gone! But the Master comes, and the foolish crowd Never can quite understand The worth of a soul and the change that's wrought By the touch of the Master's hand. —A. L. B." in the Pierce Call.

whose job was his obsession. I could not help thinking what a great fellow he was and how much I would like to have known him and to have been one of his contemporaries.

Charles Good accompanying his mother, called Friday afternoon at the type farm and while here found it interesting to watch Cliff who was setting type at the composing machine. Coming up to his mother, who was about to leave, Charles said, "Mama, let me watch that man a little longer, I think he's about ready to do something!"

MUSINGS—Only 42 shopping days before Christmas—and I'm wondering what I did with my summer's wages—incidentally I must crack down on something original for a greeting card—hope I can spend the gala day with home folks this year. . . . Leslie Ellis offers the opinion—that there should be more hard Maple and Oak trees on our lawns—he spoke of the beauty of trees in autumn dress he saw while on a trip through Minnesota—John Lardner, son of the famous humorist, Ring Lardner, is doing a creditable piece of work as a sports writer—have an idea his pappy would be quite well pleased with the way the lad is going along—I for one will long remember the one and only Ring Lardner—the droll and straight faced manner in which he was able to deliver side splitters was a scream—he had that certain something that makes folks laugh. . . . A friend informs me that in the whole United States there are about 250 thousand persons whose opinions are important in matters of grave concern—wonder how many of them are editorial writers for Hearst or the Literary Digest. . . . Wonder how the Pitt game will come out—it should be worth the trip to Lincoln Saturday. . . . It all simmers down to the fact that Mr. Norris is still THE gentleman from Nebraska—I doubt if I could be such a good loser as was many of the fellows I know who bet on the election—they've showed themselves to be good sports, and REAL Americans. . . . I'll miss the cordial greetings of that genial westerner who so capably administered our city school system's affairs for the last year—Best of fortune to you, Dr. Dienst, and as you say it, "carry on" . . . Charlie Carhart takes care of all the whistling on lower Main street and Fred Blair keeps them in tune on the upper end of the main stem. Jim Ahern will tell you that this is the case, if he catches you trying to make up a tune "by hand" while scampering about the street. . . . Interesting to note how the metropolitan press, after having sold itself out, now comes "grinning around" in an effort to regain faith of its readers that it so deliberately lost. . . . It occurs to me that we start to grow up when we begin to learn not to do the things our elders have always advised against doing.

VonSeggern Places Cow First in Butterfat Test

William VonSeggern placed his registered Holstein first in a recent butterfat test conducted by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. The cow produced during October 2,080 pounds of milk and 68.6 pounds of butterfat.

During the past month there were 225 cows on test in the association. They produced an average of 658 pounds of milk and 26.7 pounds of butterfat.

VonSeggern also won high herd in the large group. This herd of twenty-eight grade and registered holsteins produced an average of 1,000 pounds of milk and 35 pounds of butterfat.

Lyle Schmitt of Humphrey had high herd in the small group of 5 to 15 cows. This herd of 6 registered Holsteins produced an average of 1,253 pounds of milk and 44 pounds of butterfat.

Hunters Draw Fine

Dean Hughes and Thomas Liveringhouse were each fined $10 and costs amounting to $4.45 in separate county court cases Friday when they were found guilty of shooting from a public highway while hunting pheasants. Complaint in each case was made by deputy game warden, Wallace Weller of Neligh.

SOME OF THE ABSURDITIES OF THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

"For partisan, political quackery, insincerity of purpose, suborned hate and loathsome grudge, I think when history records its verdict, the whole Roosevelt opposition in the recent campaign will be found guilty of the grossest political immorality since the days of the Hayes-Tilden era of mud and maggots. It has been so anti-social and absurd."—TIMOTHY T. THADDEUS, Columnist.

A thing happened in this campaign just closed that never happened before in American politics. Every candidate for the presidency was a reformer. There was not one of them that dared give praise to dead and dying leaders. The nearest approach made was to mention the name of Theodore Roosevelt but with slight comfort. All the intervening history between now and that ancient day was given the silence treatment. They talked more of Jefferson than they did of their own patron saint, Alexander Hamilton. It was almost a total eclipse for Alexander Hamilton.

Mr. Roosevelt could not talk of modern leadership in his own party for nearly every one of them had deserted him. The Democratic landscape has on it today more solitary peaks of lonely grandeur than any other piece of terrain on earth.

The reason for this sad state of affairs is that everybody today is a reformer. Mr. Landon picked up an old party, hyperdemically injected into it a rattlesnake serum, guaranteed to cure St. Vitus' dance, and put on a walkathon which for lively endurance astonished the curiosity seekers. The art is in being able to lean on somebody while dizzily whirling by.

The only thing that Mr. Landon could lean on was reform. Mr. Roosevelt had made America reform-minded. The idea was to find fault with his reforms. Not so much the reforms as how they were obtained. Mr. Landon believes more in the pedigree than he does in the horse.

Mr. Roosevelt has given small consideration to pedigrees. If he had, Al Smith would have been his Secretary of State; Bernard Baruch his Secretary of the Treasury; Jim Reed his Attorney General; and to pay his debt to the Republican party he would have made Ogden Mills his Secretary of the Interior, and Ex-governor Lowden his Secretary of Agriculture and maintained a close esprit de corps with the old guardsmen in both parties.

Without the thought occurred to Mr. Roosevelt to do these things and in thinking it over he decided not to do these very things.

When a leader passes up the leaders he is stepping on dangerous ground. They are mindful of their wisdom and influence and jealous of their importance and position. When you muss them up they are worse than a hornet's nest borne off on the end of a pitchfork.

The trouble is they know too much—they have the constitution at the tip of their fingers. So Mr. Roosevelt has had the constitution hurled at him. That he has ignored the constitution is the number one absurdity of this campaign. Some day some close student is going to write a book on Mr. Roosevelt and the Constitution. He is going back into the archives of history. He is going to dig up Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and the other great presidents and show what they did to the constitution and when he does he will draw the conclusion that Franklin D. Roosevelt was the most outstanding strictly constitutional Democrat of them all; and he is going to say in conclusion that the most inconceivable absurdity of the 1936 campaign was the insistent charge made by the opposition that Mr. Roosevelt sought to undermine and ignore the fundamental framework of our government. He will say further that the very social mindedness of the President did more to restore the American democracy to the people than any other leader of his time.

Let no one think that it is merely the figment of the imagination; it is now the consensus of the advanced thought of today.

Absurdity number two is the badinage of a confused, bad tempered and ill-mannered opposition that Mr. Roosevelt is a communist, dictator and socialist. How on earth he could be any one or all in one has nothing to do with the consistency of the charge. Their whole idea was to put it over and let any part or all of it stick. The poorest kind of politician, the shoddiest kind of morals and a most hideous travesty on the assumed rectitude of man!

Absurdity number three was the attempt of the Republican party to attitudinize a sa party of reform and progressive thought. To the front they put the liberals; at the back was the old guard of Republicanism. The whole show was a monstrosity—an abortion and a political crime—a thing so absurd that had it not been so serious it would have been hilarious.

Farm Tenants Interested In Soil Conservation

That tenants are interested in conserving the soil they till is proven by a recently completed state-wide survey of Soil Conservation cooperators. The survey shows that of the 890 farmers who have signed 5-year cooperative agreements with that organization calling for the institution of complete erosion control programs on their farms, 428 are tenants.

Tenant farmers cooperating agree to use the same erosion control practices being used by owner operators. They sign agreements calling for the use of crop rotation, strip cropping, contour farming, terracing and other approved practices.

In many cases landlords encourage their tenants to conserve soil and moisture by giving them long-time leases or by arranging better rental terms for them. Such encouragement has been found helpful to both landlords and tenants.

Laughing Around the World
With IRVIN S. COBB

The Species Was Not Yet Extinct
By IRVIN S. COBB

THE NEGROES of the coast of South Carolina and Georgia have a distinctive patois which differs radically from the speech of members of their own race up country. Everything—a man, a woman, a bull, a cow—is "he." "Where" is "war," "though" is "do," etc., etc.

With this bit of explanation, we may proceed. An Englishman, desirous of killing some big game accepted an invitation to visit a plantation-owner below Charleston. In honor of the visitor a deer drive was arranged. The Britisher, chaperoned by an old negro man, was assigned to a "stand" on one of the best "runs." Beforehand he had been told to "shoot only at bucks, as the does and the fawns enjoyed protection."

Suddenly, fifty yards away, across an open glade, a darting patch of tawny brown showed in the undergrowth. The Englishman fired, and a convulsive thumping in the underbrush told him he had not missed.

The old negro left his covert and ran forward to see what it was that had been shot.

"Did I kill him?" called the excited amateur.

"Yeah, boss. You kill 'im," answered the dorky, as he bent over the stricken game. Then, seeing that the fallen animal had no horns, he added: "E a doe do!"

At this moment the host hurried up the trail having heard the shot from his place of ambush a hundred yards or so away.

"Any luck?" he called out as he approached.

"Oh, yes," answered the Britisher, exultantly. "I thought I saw a deer and dropped it, but your black fellow yonder has just told me that it is a doe—a creature which I thought was entirely extinct. Lucky, eh, what?"

The Printer's Make-Up Rule

Probably about the handiest little gadget in the world is the printer's make-up rule. Perhaps you would not know one if you met it. Well, it's a flat piece of steel about as wide as this column and about an inch in height with a hump on the upper edge. A make-up rule is used in making up a form of type ready for the press. A printer always carries one in his pocket and it has become somewhat of a symbol of the profession. But getting back to their usefulness. We've used them to manicure our finger nails, as a shoe horn, for scraping ice and snow off a windshield, eating watermelons, opening bottles, slicing cheese, as a screw-driver, and dozens of other ways which we don't recall at the moment. Perhaps the handiest thing about them is the fact that a couple of make-ups in the pants pocket make a fair imitation of the sound of loose change.

The Seed Testing Laboratory of the State Department of Agriculture and Inspection has tested 13,651 samples of agricultural seed for citizens of Nebraska since Jan. 1, 1936. Of these 2,261 were received in January, 1,750 in February, 3,943 in March, 3,713 in April, and the balance, 1,984, during the period from May 1 to Oct. 5. This indicates that most of the samples are received during the first four months of the year at or near planting time. Much better service could be given by the seed laboratory if the seeds for testing were sent in earlier.

During the rush season, it takes from three to four weeks to test the samples and send out the reports, while the same work may be completed at this time of the year in from one to two weeks on most kinds of seed.

Since the purity analysis and germination tests must be shown on all lots of agriculture seed before they can be legally sold in Nebraska, it is important that the tests be made as soon as possible so that sales will not be delayed. Satisfactory tests of sweet clover, alfalfa, red clover, spring grains, and old corn can be made at this time.

Five germination tests and five purity analyses will be made in any one month free of charge for Nebraska citizens. Fees are charged for tests made in excess of this number.

Many of the seed samples received in the Seed Laboratory are too small for satisfactory analysis and test. At least two ounces of the smaller grass seeds, white or alsike clover, or seeds not larger than these should be sent; five ounces of red or crimson clover, alfalfa, rye grasses, lucerne grasses, millet or seeds of similar size; and one pound of corn, wheat, rye oats, barley, or other cereals.

The sample should be taken in such a way that it represents as accurately as possible the entire lot from which the sample is taken. The containers in which the seed is mailed should be strong manila envelopes or cotton bags. Glass bottles, cardboard boxes, and ordinary envelopes or thin bags are liable to be broken in transit. Each sample should be marked with the name and address of the sender, the kind of seed, lot number or other identification mark, instructions as to whether a germination test or purity analysis or both is wanted and the package should then

ANNUAL BANQUET IN OMAHA TODAY

325 Farmers Compete in Statewide Improvement Pasture Drive

Plans for the wind-up of the statewide 1936 Nebraska pasture improvement contest are practically completed with the annual banquet and "clinic" scheduled to be held in Omaha on Thursday, Nov. 12 where an active 1937 pasture program will probably be launched. More than 325 farmers from 40 counties are expected to attend this year.

Elvin F. Frolik, assistant extension agronomist at the Nebraska college of agriculture who directed the 1936 event and which was sponsored locally by Agricultural Extension, announced this week the tentative final plans. Some Wayne county farmers will probably attend the banquet and clinic.

Four men, achieving outstanding success in their spring seeding operations will be given mention at the banquet although no official state winners are to be selected. These four individuals will be presented at the banquet and will make short talks. E. P. "Ned" Brown of Davey will make the principal address of the evening. Only contestants will attend the banquet.

The pasture "clinic" in the afternoon at the Paxton hotel is open to the general public. There farmers and agricultural leaders will discuss the 1937 outlook, seed supplies, pasturing alfalfa and alfalfa grass mixtures and range pasture management. Among those to speak will be Walter Chase, Stanton; Alfred Olson, Fullerton; Ernest Kriesel, Gladstone; B. F. Sheehan, Lincoln; E. F. Frolik, Prof. H. J. Gramlich, and Dr. F. K. Keim of the college of Agriculture; and S. R. McKelvie. A sack of seed will be awarded as a prize to those getting to the "clinic" early.

SHORT COURSE FOR FARMERS-NOV. 16TH

Farm Management Class Is Scheduled for Six Month Term

Designed for farm boys who find it impossible to take a regular college course, the annual Farm Operator's Short Course will open at the Nebraska college of agriculture on Nov. 16. Given over to the practical study of farm management in all its phases, more than 100 boys from all parts of the state will probably enroll.

Some Wayne county farm boys have taken the Farm Operator's course in past years and it is expected some will enroll this year.

Dr. T. H. Gooding, director of short courses at the college of agriculture, says inquires regarding the Farm Operator course have been greater than ever, indicating an increased enrollment.

The boys are at the college for six months studying animal husbandry, farm machinery and motor, marketing and various other subjects. Most of the work is done in the laboratory.

HOW OFTEN CAN YOU KISS AND MAKE UP?

Few husbands can understand why a wife should turn from a pleasant companion into a shrew for one whole week in every month.

You can say "I'm sorry" and kiss and make up easier before marriage than after. If you're wise and if you want to hold your husband, you won't be a three-quarter wife.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Fading from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."
