Both commer-dul as well as program writing and presentation will be studied, including all current problems affecting radio. Facilities of the Lincoln broadcasting stations will be used in part as laboratories. These two courses are being offered by the school of Journalism.

Agricultural courses are now more in demand, than before 1929, enrollment figures reveal, showing that about a 28.00 fifth more students are now specializating in agriculture and home economics. Foutry husbandry, agronomy 7.70 horticulture, and dairy husbandry are 65.50 among the most popular courses.

The 36 per cent students increase in business administration since 1929 also indicates the demand for increased business training from the state university. Besides organization and man-agement was the most popular course, followed closely by the study of economics. Political science, offered in the

This year Fire Prevention Week will be observed from October 3 to 9. The slogan for the week, featured in pos-ters and news releases issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, is "Lend a Hand."

is 'Lend a Hand."

This slogan is particularly apt. For if fire is to be prevented and controlled, and hundreds of millions of dollars and thousands of lives fire destroys each year, are to be saved—all of us must lend a hand. Fire is largely an individual problem—each one of us, with the exercise of a little effort and care can easily almost the correction. care, can easily elimate the common hazards on our property.

Fire Prevention Week is drawing near and no one need wait for it. It is a simple matter to put on an individaulized fire prevention period of your own, starting today. How long has it been since you cleaned out basement and attic—old—newspapers—furniture, clothing and other odds and ends that are prolific sources of fire? In a fee months maximum demands will be made upon your heating plant—be-fore then, have it inspected by an ex-pert, and it necessary, repair and re-place parts.
