

Tribute Paid To Pioneers

Club Dedicatés Granite Boulder on LaPorte Site

The work and plans carried on for seven years by the La Porte community club reached a consummation last Sunday with the unveiling of a granite boulder dedicated to the Wayne county pioneers at the site of old La Porte, the first town established in Wayne county.

Mrs. Ray Agler and Miss Cora Haglund who have been on the marker committee since its beginning were in charge of the ceremonies.

James E. Brittain was the guest speaker of the afternoon.

The pioneers present included Mrs. Mary Brittain, Mrs. John T. Bressler, Mrs. W. A. Hunter of Wayne, Mrs. Ditz and Mrs. Marriott of Wakefield.

Miss Clara Mae Zimmerman unveiled the marker.

The plan of the club is to put the boulder on permanent base so that it may be easily seen by motorists who pass by.

Ten years ago, the club entertained all Wayne county pioneers at the old courthouse building now the home of F. C. Hammer. At that time there were twenty-eight in attendance.

P. O. TO DIRECT UNEMPLOYMENT CENSUS

President Roosevelt has directed the Post Office department to take charge of an unemployment census at which time the department will deliver 31,000,000 registration cards by regular mail carriers to American homes Nov. 16 and 17. Employed persons will not need to answer the questions. The unemployed will be asked to fill out these cards promptly and return them to Washington through the regular postal facilities.

It is probable that the cards will be printed in several foreign languages as well as in English in order that they may be understandable to the foreign population throughout the country.

Through the census, Congress will be able to pass more effective legislative measures relative to the jobless population and their relief.

Alumni Elect Nellis Pres.

Seventy-Five Grads Are Present at Buffet Supper

Approximately seventy-five alumni attended the annual Wayne college association buffet supper held at the college Calisthenium during homecoming Saturday. Cyrus V. Jones of Wynot, retiring president, presided. William E. Johnson of Schuyler was program chairman.

Huntington, noted magician, entertained the assembly with sleight-of-hand tricks which as usual leaves the audience baffled. His repertoire of "quicker than the eye" tricks was clever and well planned.

Reports of the various committees on accomplishments during the last year were given by the members.

At the business session, and election of officers by ballot was held. Candidates had been nominated by the nominating committee recently and the alumni members voted on these candidates. The result of the election is as follows: Gerold B. Nellis, '28, of Ponca, president; Georgia B. Howe, '35, of Schuyler, vice-president; Rollie W. Ley, N N C, of Wayne, re-elected treasurer, and Louis M. Wendt, '17, of Wayne, secretary.

To Present Four One Act Plays

College Dramatic Class Will Give Program Friday

The themes and types of the four one-act plays which will be given by the college dramatic class under the direction of Miss Florence M. Drake at the college auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock are many and varied.

"My Lady Dreams" is a dramatic fantasy directed by Elizabeth Dely in which Patty Dawson plays the part of My Lady, a writer of some renown. My Lady refuses to marry Lord Varone, her lover, because through marriage she will lose her power and influence. Marie, her maid, played by Lucille Braasch attempts to persuade her to marry the young nobleman but it is of no use for My Lady is determined to marry someone whom she does not love. The Old Lady, Helen Tasse, meyer, who is the ghost of all the old ladies, appears to her in her dreams and pleads with her to marry Varone. The Other Woman, Irene Bastian, and Two Adorable, Mary Renard and Joan Ahern, also appear before the Lady to beg her to marry Lord Varone. My Lady realizes at last that a home is the thing for which she longs.

The second play, "I Know George Washington," directed by Heln Peterson is a one-act drama. It takes place during the days of the Revolutionary war. The leading character, Grandama Pettibone is played by Bernice Tonjes. Mahala, a pretty young girl who is very much in love is played by Ethelyn Cook. Lucy Chase, her rival is played by Ruth Eggers. Mrs. Goodrich, a minister's wife, and Mrs. Enor friend, played by Mary Ann McKenzie and Doretha R. Hoke respectively, add to the interest of the play. Complications arise when Mrs. Pettibone, Mahala's stepmother played by Sylvia Pearson, tries to force her step-daughter to marry a widower. Nahoma, an Indian girl of twelve, played by Elizabeth Dely, keeps the audience interested. The climax arrives when Mahala saves the life of her sweetheart, and Lucy Chase begins pursuing the widower.

The fantasy "Overdue" is directed by Lorine Schulte. The leading characters are Pierrot and Pierrette whose parts are played by Genevieve Storm and Marjorie Goldner. Pierrot and Pierrette are having a quarrel over financial difficulties.

Mrs. Grant Is District Home Supervisor

Mrs. Elizabeth Grant of Columbus has been transferred to the Wayne headquarters of the resettlement office as district home supervisor. She succeeds Miss Emily Peterson who has been transferred to Columbus.

Mrs. Grant had been county home supervisor of Wayne and Pierce counties until January of last year when she was transferred to Columbus. The resettlement home supervisors department was recently revised combining the several counties in the state into district regions with one district home supervisor in charge in place of the several county supervisors. This revision was made to cut administrative expense and centralize the department.

Mrs. William Beckenhauer spent Monday in Norfolk at the home of Dr. and Mrs. N. J. Pickett.

M. E. CHURCHES WILL HOLD NATIONAL OBSERVANCE

Prayers for the cause of peace will be uttered by nearly three million Methodist women when they assemble under the auspices of the Million Unit Fellowship Movement this coming Tuesday, in the twenty thousand Methodist churches in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico to study the international scope of church work.

Adopting the African word for Journey of exploration, these women will make a "karari" into the fields of activity of the Methodist church's world service agencies. World peace, and holy the church is working to promote it, is one of the many phases they will examine.

Gov. To Loan 50c On Corn

Congress to Allow 85 Million Dollars to Underwrite Loans

Farmers were assured Tuesday that the government would lend 50 cents a bushel on this year's corn crop. The 50-cent loan will be made on corn sealed on the farm, testing 14 1/2 per cent moisture content or less.

Officials said that 85 million dollars has been made available by President Roosevelt's order permitting the Commodity Credit corporation to underwrite loans to farmers on about 170 million bushels. These loans will be made for the most part through lending agencies. Banks are expected to make additional loans without government underwriting if prices are maintained, officials said.

Spokesman for the agriculture department said the loans would tend to keep market prices from falling below the loan rate.

General terms of the government loan will correspond to those of previous years. In the past, corn offered for loan was tested, measured and sealed in a crib or warehouse on the producer's farm. In former programs, farmers were assured that if their corn was worth less than its loan value they could turn it over to the Commodity Credit corporation and thus cancel their indebtedness. However, if the corn was worth more than the loan, the farmer was permitted to sell it, repay the loan and costs, and keep any balance.

All of the $150,000,000 of corn loans advanced in the past has been repaid in full, it was announced by agricultural officials. The bureau announced that it is the belief that a relatively small part of this year's crop will be pledged under government loans. This is due to the fact that the 50-cent loan is near the price of corn on the farm.

The first administration corn loan was allowed in 1933 at 45 cents on the bushel which was well over the market price level at that time. A loan of 55 cents a bushel was made on the drought-reduced crop in 1935. The 1936 program was aimed at conserving seed corn supplies.

RUSSELL BUYS HALF INTEREST IN CITY GROCERY

Annual 4-H Banquet Will Be Held Next Friday

The program committed with Miss Arlyn Nelson as chairman are planning a worthwhile and entertaining program. To date plans are incomplete.

Mary Sue Wigley, Noted Lecturer, Talks On Home, Character

"Running a home is much more complicated than running a business, even a complicated business," said Mary Sue Wigley, noted lecturer in her talk on "The Economic Problems of the Home, Character, and Citizenship," at the municipal auditorium Tuesday evening. She was brought to Wayne under the sponsorship of the Wayne Woman's club.

In giving a resume of her life she stated that early in her life she set four goals which she completed in a period of a little over twenty years. The family debts on property were a source of worry to Miss Wigley and she was determined to pay these debts which in due time she did. She also wanted to study at home and become a teacher which through diligence she accomplished. To own a home of her own was another goal.

In emphasizing the importance of good character building she pointed out each individual should have more giving to others in their life rather than attempting to greedily grab all and give nothing in return. She stressed the fact that one can get what one wants if they are willing to pay the price for it. Above all she said, "Enjoy what you have."

The importance of adopting a family budget based on a long time forward planning can not be minimized in the efficient running of a home. Budgeting the family finances carefully and economically has saved many a home from crumbling through quarrels and separations.

HOT-WEATHER COLUMNIZING

The weather in Washington was distressingly hot, Congress had gone home, the President was on vacation.

Perhaps it was the combination of circumstances, and the resulting death of news happenings at the Nation's Capital, that was responsible for some of the torrid imaginings.

Pretty much everybody who can get away, leaves Washington in the summer months, but apparently this year there was left at home a large population of intimate friends and close advisors of the President devoting their particular attention to whispering his intimate secrets to the press commentators most hostile to him.

One hot weather tale appeared in the New York Herald-Tribune.

ing and that the Democratic party is approaching a ruinous split.

So far, these distinguished sources of woe-mongering have contented themselves with finding deep and subtle reasons for the special session call, the least meretricious of which is that the President is endeavoring to hurry Congress into passing some unspecified legislation for some dire purpose of his own.

It has not occurred to any of them that perhaps all the President is looking for is progress along those lines of domestic service that failed to reach enactment at the last session—farm legislation and the wages and hours bill, for example.

Some details of these are highly controversial, although the objectives are in accord with the whole membership, except the small minority who are, on principle, against anything a Democratic President is for. Incidentally there have been some weird stories published during the summer.

ADMINISTRATION BLAME PRETEXTED

Twenty-eight Democratic senators are up for election or re-election next year, and four Republicans. It is a safe bet that any opponent of the President who fails to ascribe his failure to administration interference?

If any of those who stood by the President should lose out, it will similarly be asserted that his defeat is a repudiation of the administration.

And we may look forward to such columnists as Frank Kent proclaiming, however the elections go, that it was the vengeful President and the wicked Farley who did it.

There never has been a campaign in which factional feuds and clashing ambitions have not cluttered up things more or less in the pre-nomination stage. Invariably in such controversies, the contestants have sought sustenance and support from the national political organization and invariably the neutrality of the National Committee has been the answer.

It has to be so. The central political body could not openly oppose the candidate chosen by a State, and there is no such thing as secret opposition either by the administration or the National Committee.

To have any effect on any considerable number of voters, such opposition would have to have wide publicity.

Undoubtedly the President is a normal human being, is more concerned with the success of his friends than of his opponents. Like wise, having formulated a policy that he deems serves the public interest, he would rather see in Congress legislators who support that interest than those who oppose it.

Hence it is unlikely that the President would shed many tears if some of these Democratic Senators most violent in their opposition should fall of re-nomination. But, on the other hand, if they are re-nominated neither the administration nor the National Committee is going to fight them, if for no higher reason than the maintenance of the present anti-administration propagandists.

It is a curious manifestation of something or other that while the anti-administration propagandists are horrified at the idea which they are seeking to build up of the Democratic regime taking part in pre-nomination fights, it does not work both ways. An example in the case of that wheel in the Republican machine, Mark Sullivan, who urged on his readers the righteousness of Republicans going into Democratic primaries to vote for the renomination of those Democrats who opposed the President.

But that is hot-weather stuff. A columnist has to print something regardless of thermometer readings.

WOULD AGAIN DESTROY CONFIDENCE

Mr. Landon of Kansas, one-time republican candidate for the presidency, stood before a microphone last week and let the country know what he thought of Mr. Roosevelt. Our impression is that Mr. Landon, like Mr. Hoover, has no love for our great President.

Mr. Landon accused Mr. Roosevelt of everything except kidnapping the Lindbergh baby and he probably is saying that charge for another speech. In the eyes of Mr. Landon, Roosevelt has done nothing but harm, he is wrecking the country and the only solution is to turn back the reins of government to the party that sat helplessly in Washington and allowed the panic to eat the heart out of our financial and business life.

We can all remember before Roosevelt came into office how businessmen and farmers alike were hiding their money at home and in safety deposit boxes because they were afraid to deposit it in banks. One of the most important contributions of the Roosevelt administration has been to re-establish public confidence in our banks. But Mr. Landon passes such accomplishments by without notice and implies that we should go back to the "good old days."

Perhaps, if Mr. Landon were president he would stop CCC work and put those boys on the streets without work and without hope. He might stop all efforts to save farm lands from erosion, to prevent child labor, to establish better working conditions and better pay in ining and that the Democratic party is approaching a ruinous split.

So far, these distinguished sources of woe-mongering have contented themselves with finding deep and subtle reasons for the special session call, the least meretricious of which is that the President is endeavoring to hurry Congress into passing some unspecified legislation for some dire purpose of his own.

There never has been a campaign in which factional feuds and clashing ambitions have not cluttered up things more or less in the pre-nomination stage. Invariably in such controversies, the contestants have sought sustenance and support from the national political organization and invariably the neutrality of the National Committee has been the answer.

It has to be so. The central political body could not openly oppose the candidate chosen by a State, and there is no such thing as secret opposition either by the administration or the National Committee.

To have any effect on any considerable number of voters, such opposition would have to have wide publicity.

Undoubtedly the President is a normal human being, is more concerned with the success of his friends than of his opponents. Like wise, having formulated a policy that he deems serves the public interest, he would rather see in Congress legislators who support that interest than those who oppose it.

Hence it is unlikely that the President would shed many tears if some of these Democratic Senators most violent in their opposition should fall of re-nomination. But, on the other hand, if they are re-nominated neither the administration nor the National Committee is going to fight them, if for no higher reason than the maintenance of the present anti-administration propagandists.

It is a curious manifestation of something or other that while the anti-administration propagandists are horrified at the idea which they are seeking to build up of the Democratic regime taking part in pre-nomination fights, it does not work both ways. An example in the case of that wheel in the Republican machine, Mark Sullivan, who urged on his readers the righteousness of Republicans going into Democratic primaries to vote for the renomination of those Democrats who opposed the President.

But that is hot-weather stuff. A columnist has to print something regardless of thermometer readings.

WOULD AGAIN DESTROY CONFIDENCE

Mr. Landon of Kansas, one-time republican candidate for the presidency, stood before a microphone last week and let the country know what he thought of Mr. Roosevelt. Our impression is that Mr. Landon, like Mr. Hoover, has no love for our great President.

Mr. Landon accused Mr. Roosevelt of everything except kidnapping the Lindbergh baby and he probably is saying that charge for another speech. In the eyes of Mr. Landon, Roosevelt has done nothing but harm, he is wrecking the country and the only solution is to turn back the reins of government to the party that sat helplessly in Washington and allowed the panic to eat the heart out of our financial and business life.

We can all remember before Roosevelt came into office how businessmen and farmers alike were hiding their money at home and in safety deposit boxes because they were afraid to deposit it in banks. One of the most important contributions of the Roosevelt administration has been to re-establish public confidence in our banks. But Mr. Landon passes such accomplishments by without notice and implies that we should go back to the "good old days."

Perhaps, if Mr. Landon were president he would stop CCC work and put those boys on the streets without work and without hope. He might stop all efforts to save farm lands from erosion, to prevent child labor, to establish better working conditions and better pay in industry, or provide social security for Americans who reach the retirement age. Landon might add to do for the common people what Roosevelt is doing, and that is why we turned thumbs down on him in 1936 and that is why we will turn thumbs down on the republican candidate of 1940. The Howells Journal.

EAST LEARNS FROM WEST

TEA officials of the East took a lesson from a westerner Monday when Governor Ray L. Cochran of Nebraska told them how to keep down taxes in their states. And strangely enough, when Governor Cochran spoke, the easterners listened, for the reputation of Nebraska under Cochran has become almost a byword for state governmental economy.

As outlined by the Nebraska governor, there is no secret to operating a state on an efficient, low-cost budget. Sound business judgment and the policy of having money on hand to pay bills as they come due is given credit for the whole success of the state's financial structure.—Madison Star Mail.

Five points only, says Cochran, will cover the problem. They are, as outlined Monday:

- 1. Resistance to pressure groups seeking greater expenditures.
2. Constitutional and legislative limitation upon spending by local subdivisions of government.
3. Efficient administration.
4. Avoiding new forms of taxation which usually result in additional taxes and certainly heavy administrative costs.
5. A pay-as-you-go plan for all state expenditures, and for local subdivisions of government except in extreme emergencies.

The success of the Nebraska system is attested by the record of public construction since the policy went into effect—and all without the usual indebtedness.

Under the pay-as-you-go system, Cochran said, the state has built its famed $100,000,000 capitol, a $103,000,000 highway system including 8,000 miles of surfaced highways, a state university, four normal schools and eighteen institutions of a penal and charitable nature. The total investment for these expenditures is $161,000,000.

Gives Methods of Preparing Meat Dishes

What shall we eat? is the question which confronts the homemaker three times daily and 1095 times each year. Meal planning is not the easiest task, but it becomes simplified when meat holds a prominent place on the menu. In planning meals for a hungry family, the homemaker knows that the meat will be more apt to satisfy if meat is used generously. Nothing is more tantalizing to the appetite of a hungry man coming home from work than to be greeted with the odor of a meat which is cooked to the "just right" stage.

Meat is almost universally liked. Aside from this it is a good source of energy and is an excellent body builder because of its high quality in protein and mineral content. Meat is also a good source of some of the vitamins. Because of its wholesomeness and its adaptability toward making meals more palatable, meat occupies a place of importance in the family diet.

The rich flavor of meat makes the more bland foods taste better. It is easy to have a variety in the daily diet by serving meat combined with different foods. Meats add flavor, interest and variety to meals.

To serve the most satisfaction for the amount of money expended for meat, the homemaker needs to consider the various cuts of meat and choose the one which suits her purpose best. As far as nutritive value is concerned, the less expensive cuts are as nutritious as the more costly, and can usually be served at a saving to the family budget.

The meat retailer has an entire carcass to sell, and his problem is to sell all cuts. The cost of the most desirable or more tender cuts may be said to be governed by the demand for the less desirable cuts.

Best cookery is a fascinating study for the housewife. The tender cuts can be quickly cooked by dry heat at comparatively higher temperatures. The quick methods such as broiling and roasting can be used for tender cuts but are suitable for less tender cuts. When roasting meat, a constant oven temperature of 300 degrees F. is recommended. Less shrinkage occurs, and the drippings are not charred. The roast may be browned at the end of the roasting period just as well as at the beginning so searing is not necessary.

By merely putting a cover on the roasting pan the method of cooking is changed. The moisture from the meat accumulates in the closed pan and a moist heat method is used. When moist heat methods are used, economical cuts are suitable. The most popular methods used to cook less tender cuts are Braising and Stewing.

Braising is used when preparing Spanish Steak, Swiss or Casserole Steak. Often acid in the form of tomato juice, vinegar or sour cream is added to help soften connective tissue. To properly stew meat, simmer it below the boiling point, as boiling tends to toughen meat.

What Irvin S. Cobb Thinks about

Intriguing Construction.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—Downtown I saw some sort of siege-wall going up. At first I thought it must be a part of the proposed plaza leading from our new terminal.

Our new terminal has been under construction almost as long as New York's unfinished Cathedral of St. John. Inch by inch it progresses, giving creeping defiance to those critics who say that what Los Angeles needs is not any additional entrances, but more exits.

On second glance I decided the owner of the business property behind this strange rampart probably made the same mistake I did. I saw a picture in the paper and I said, "Pretty late to be printing a photograph of Fifth avenue showing how it appeared when the World's war heroes got through pranking last month."

I looked again and saw it was only a scene in Shanghai after the Japanese finished bombing.

So I figure this forehanded Los Angeleno is just getting ready for next year's convention of the vets out here. When his wall is absolutely impregnable against assault, he'll no doubt paint a big sign on it reading:

"Welcome, American Legion."

Kindness for Reptiles.
UNDER the slogan, "Kindness for reptiles," the National Park service discourages people from destroying every creature they encounter, merely because it wriggles or crawls.

I'm what you might call an occasional snail, indulging in snakes only in moderation. In other words, I can take my snakes or I can leave them be. But realizing that practically all snakes destroy noxious vermin, I refrain from murdering every passing snake, regardless of his private habits and personal disposition, just for being a snake.

I was raised in a locality where moccasin snakes were so numerous the Republicans used to accuse us of voting them at county elections. Yet I recall only one instance of a moccasin snake biting anybody, and it must have been tempted beyond all power of self-control, for the fellow bitten was a pious party who didn't think little children should be suffered to believe in Santa Claus. I regret to state that he recovered. It was the snake that died.

Movie Preferences.
I DON'T like movies about hospitals where an impossible young surgeon performs impossible operations, in four strokes under par, using his hands all the way round; and then, while replacing the divots, makes love to an impossible although beautiful nurse. But between operations he washes his hands. Dargum him, he's always washing his hands! Who does he think he is, Pontius Pilate?

I don't like movies about newspaper offices where the hero is a drunken reporter who behaves in a manner peculiar to newspaper reporters (in the movies); which is so darned peculiar that, in a real newspaper office, somebody'd beat out his brains with a wet towel.

I like movies showing Myrna Loy, when not playing nurse; and Spencer Tracy, when not playing reporter.

Anyhow, nothing could be an absolute failure that has a Walt Disney short separating the ultra-colossal or regular feature from the extra-special four-star absolutely unparalleled super-stupendous preview feature.

Gossip About Cobb.
JUST a little effort to trace down gossip now going around:

(I) The claim that I am going to play Scarlett in "Gone With the Wind" is absolutely unfounded. Latest word is that the coveted role will go to Fannie Brice, although the Ritz brothers are being mentioned. If they should be chosen, Scarlett will be played as a three-handed quartette.

(II) Dame Ruiner luth it that the Atlantic sperm whale will be renamed the Justice Black sperm whale. Not yet confirmed, but sounds sort of plausible. The Atlantic sperm whale has a hide almost two feet thick.

(III) The statement that Charley McCarthy may join the reorganized brain trust at Washington remains unsettled. Probably without foundation. For while Charley is trained to sit upon his master's knee, he cannot be depended on to keep silent and has too many brains to be trusted.

(IV) Stories to the effect that Representative Ham Fish will be Republican nominee for President in 1940 may be regarded as absolutely authentic so far as Representative Ham Fish is concerned.

THE REASON BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a tumbler of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving. This speed of disintegration enables genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets to start "folding hold" of headache and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is more severe, another dose is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field

Washington.—Frank R. McNinch is going to blow away the smoke that has been hovering over the Federal communications commission and put out the fire if there is any. Primarily that is what he was put in there for. Scarcely anything pending on Capitol Hill has worried President Roosevelt more than the Wallace White resolution providing for a sweeping senate investigation into FCC. Particularly in that this resolution would be handled by the senate interstate commerce committee of which Burton K. Wheeler is chairman. The President correctly interprets Wheeler's attitude as one of active dislike for himself, despite Wheeler's approval of many of the New Deal economic and social objectives.

Whatever may be the truth about the "fire," certainly many folks in the industry just assumed that it was there. They gave no open indications of a suspicion that anything so gross as actual passage of money would be effective. But many approved the policy that the distillers followed, when they offered the jobs as their czar first to James A. Farley and then to Forbes Morgan, Mrs. Roosevelt's uncle. There were little signs of this, such as the hiring of Charles Michelson by one radio station which wanted its license extended.

Actually, whatever the fact may be, it has been the common assumption in Washington and in the industry that wave lengths were awarded according to the political influence those seeking them were able to bring to bear.

McNinch, although formerly a politician, has shown no evidence of being swayed by politics in any action since coming to Washington. He is honest beyond question, and punctilious about merit as he sees it. In fact, it is often commented that it is worthy about which is the right thing to do that causes his bad spells of nervous indigestion.

Three Plums Less

Just two weeks after taking office McNinch killed three birds with one stone by abolishing the set-up by which the seven-man commission had been divided into three water-tight compartments dealing, respectively, with telegraph, telephone and radio matters, thus neatly removing three juicy political plums from the Washington tree. For when the three divisions cease to function on November 15 there will be no further need, of course, for the services of Robert T. Bartley, A. G. Patterson, and Joseph F. Killeen, the directors of the three divisions. Bartley just happens to be a nephew of Representative Sam Rayburn, house majority leader; Patterson is a close friend of ex-Senator Hugo L. Black (who now has a better job), and Killeen is an old associate of Postmaster-General James A. Farley and of Edward J. Flynn, Democratic leader in the Bronx in New York City.

To analyze the action justly, it should be explained that the reduction in personnel was a secondary result. It is generally acknowledged that the purge victims have performed adequately the rather superficial duties of their respective positions. It is also admitted that the commission's work will probably be carried on without noticeable lag after they leave. The real objective can be read between the lines of McNinch's official statement: "... Experience has shown that to subdivide a small commission has a divisive effect and tends away from co-operation and mutual understanding; the assignment of such important work (to division) has resulted in two members of the commission... exercising an undesirably large portion of the power and functions of the commission, while denying the other commissioners any practical opportunity to participate in decisions. Commissioners not only particular division have felt a natural reluctance to inquire into the work committed to others... The aggregate wisdom and judgment of seven minds is surely greater than any two or three of the seven." In other words, it is harder for seven men to fall into error than for two to do so.

Word About Hard Coal

Most people think of hard coal—anthracite—as rather an expensive luxury. And what with oil and gas heating, occasional coal strikes, etc., as pretty nearly a dying industry.

So it's rather interesting that a study has been made of the situation in northeastern Pennsylvania, with a view to determining how the use of anthracite can be increased in producing electricity! And this in this era of government subsidized water-power, with President Roosevelt's eulogies of Bonneville and Grand Coulee so recently on the front pages.

The fact is that anthracite has been used for the production of electricity for some years. It is more economical in that little section of the country where the hard coal is mined. They have become rather efficient in using it under boilers in generating plants, too, being able now to produce a kilowatt hour from a pound and a half of low-grade anthracite. It took twice as much back in 1919.

Another strange thing is that the use of anthracite in power production is virtually the only market for hard coal which has not diminished in the last few years. Actually it has increased slightly. It is now running about two million tons a year.

There are points about this situation, which caused this study and inspire optimism among the hard coal miners, which are interesting in connection with the whole power problem.

As to Freight Rates

For example, freight rates. One of the reasons why so many folks are skeptical about the success of the big western power projects is just that. They figure that the manufacturer who goes to Bonneville to get cheap power is going to run into "freight rates." Partly on his raw material, but mostly on shipping his product two thousand odd miles back to where the consumers are.

It's not a new story. Back in the early '20's lots of farmers went broke on irrigated land in western Montana. They raised potatoes and shipped them to Chicago, considerably more than a thousand miles. Potatoes are heavy—for their value. Maybe the railroads ought not to charge so much. But it's a long haul. So one hears a lot about "intermountain freight rates."

Now the fact is, as the bureau of standards will tell you, that there are more units of heat in a ton of bituminous coal than in a ton of anthracite. And you can buy a ton of bituminous at the mine mouth cheaper than you can buy a ton of anthracite.

But it is cheaper to use anthracite to produce power than bituminous, if the production occurs in anthracite territory. The answer is freight rates.

Whereas right in the anthracite territory there are all the industries a power salesman could ask, and all the consumers for the products of those industries one could desire.

A Sore Spot

Apprentice training is one of the sore spots in the present business management problem, but there is little prospect of any corrective action. There is plenty of lip service for the idea of doing something—of opening the door to employment at the more lucrative trades to more boys and young men—but union opposition plus lethargy seems too strong for the irritated employers who suffer in times of shortage of skilled employees. Especially as the employers have never put up anything remotely resembling a real fight.

In most skilled trades it is more difficult for a youngster to get aboard the bottom rung of a ladder than it is for him to get into a very exclusive Greek letter fraternity at college.

Once the youngster has been "tapped" for apprentice training, it is fairly simple. Of course he has to put in four years' training before he is recognized as a mechanic, palpably absurd in most trades, and absolutely essential in none. But by the same token he does not have to display any special aptitude or mental ability, or physical dexterity to master something in four years which another boy would be able to do in from six months to a year—or he himself for that matter.

This has been the labor union rule. Recognizing the need for more skilled mechanics and for more young men trained so as to take care of the future, the government stepped into the picture and set up the Federal committee for apprentice training. This body has solemnly stood by the union requirements—four years, frills, Greek letter "tapping" to get started, and all.

Makes It Worse

But along comes another government agency and makes the situation still worse—for the small employer. This is the government employment agency. Here is what has happened again and again in the last few months, when despite the alleged slowing down of business there has been a scarcity of skilled mechanics.

Mr. Big Employer needs 100 skilled mechanics of a certain variety. He informs the government employment agency of this need and tells what he is willing to pay. Whereupon the government agency rounds up the men for him, taking them from anywhere from 10 to 30 small competitors of Mr. Big Employer.

Mr. Big Employer is able to pay more. Mr. Little Employer cannot hold them. Mr. Little Employer does without.

When this situation is pointed out to New Dealers, with the possibility that, if carried on indefinitely, such a course would lead to the gradual elimination of all the little fellows. New Dealers do not seem frightened.

"This practice tends to force wages up to their proper level," they answer. "These little employers you are feeling sorry for are exploiting their workers. They should meet the prevailing wage scale. This would boost the buying power of their communities, and help general prosperity."

There Seems to Be Several Angles in This Football Game

THIS game called football: Cognomen confusers—Bethel college, McKenzie, Tenn., and Bethel college, Kansas. Bowling Green Teachers' college, Kentucky, and Bowling Green Normal school, Ohio, Dickinson college, Pennsylvania, and Dickinson Teachers' college, North Dakota. Marquette university, Wisconsin, and Marquette Teachers' college, Michigan. Monmouth college, Illinois, and Monmouth Normal school, Oregon.

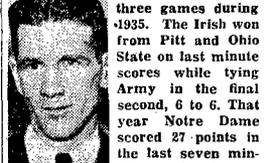

Twenty-eight Notre Dame graduates—each college—teams—compared to seven from Minnesota. Only two alumni of Carlisle, as famed on the gridiron 25 years ago as the Irish and Gophers are now, are coaching. They are William Dietz at Albright and Gus Welch at American U.

Of the 40 or more football players whose last names are the names of colleges only two seem to be competing against their namesakes this year. Dickinson of Delaware played against Dickinson college and Marquette of Villanova bore down against Marquette. None of the athletes seem to be playing on teams bearing their own names. There is, though, a "Furman" at Cornell and a "Cornell" at California.

Coach Jock Sutherland of Pitt started his athletic career as a track and field man. He coached at Pitt for 10 years. He coached at Cornell for 10 years. He coached at Cornell for 10 years.

How Irish Were Saved by Hairline Finishes

Hairline finishes—Elmer Layden's Notre Dame team was saved from defeat in the final minutes of play in three games during 1935. The Irish won from Pitt and Ohio State on last minute scores while tying Army in the final second, 6 to 6. That year Notre Dame scored 27 points in the last seven minutes of play in seven games. In the Ohio State game Andy Pilney scored 18 points in the last quarter, 12 of them coming in the last two minutes.

In 1906 Cornell beat Oberlin, Hamilton, Bucknell, Bowdoin, Pitt, Holy Cross and Swarthmore. But was twice defeated by the Penn Frosh. Coaches whose teams meet the coach's alma mammy this season include:

Harvard once had five plays from the Holy Cross one yard line. (The extra chance being due to the Crusaders being offside) without scoring the touchdown.

Thomas of Middle Georgia college ran back the opening kickoff for touchdowns in three games one season.

Duke plays teams from five different states in its first five games this season.

In 1935 Byron White of Colorado made four touchdowns runs through the snow against Utah. After these jaunts of 39, 28, 89 and 45 yards he threw a 50 yard pass over the goal line for a fifth touchdown.

At least two Olympic contestants are playing college football this season, Hurdlers Forest Towns of Georgia and Fritz Pollard, Jr., of North Dakota. The two, incidentally, ran a 14.2 dead heat in the British Empire games.

In 1936 Guilford college defeated only Bridgewater. Bridgewater defeated only Gallaudet. Gallaudet defeated only Wilson Teachers. Wilson Teachers won none.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE:

WHEN discussing football prospects Carl Snavely, coach of Cornell's high-rising eleven, could spot Gil Doble six towels and still run away with any crying contest.

Jack Dempsey has been a most frequent racetrack visitor recently. Can it be that Jack is taking the sport of kings seriously again after that technical kayo he suffered from his first experience with the gee gees?

Owner Ben Swanger of Pittsburgh is quoted as saying he would rather finish sixth with a fighting ball club than third in the manner of the 1937 Pirates. So it has been predicted there will be various trades this winter with Arky Vaughan already on the market.

N. Y. U. may not be the hardest luck eleven of the year. But what other team has lost such key-men as Swilwood, Savarese, Williams and Bloom in rapid succession?

Three generations of Whitney owners, William C., Harry Payne and Cornelius V. have cheered while their famous Eton-Blue-and-Brown Cap have been carried to victory in almost every important American stake and an Epsom Derby. The colors, which will be retired from the turf after this season, were obtained in England 50 years or so ago.

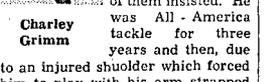

"Those colors are a jinx," the famous English trainer Jack Lambert told William C. Whitney. "You can buy them for a song." Art Rooney will return in the spring for another crack at the ponies. You can take a short price on that, horse players never quit. For instance there was a celebrated English punter, a higher roller than any Rooney, Gates or Chicago O'Brien. He's dead now but until he ended it all, shortly after being turned down for a flyer, he still had been talking of a comeback.

That football return duel between Fordham Tackle Barbartsy and Pitt End Daddio was a honey. Daddio and the other star Panther end, Frank Souchek, play numbers one and two on the Pitt golf team.

Cubs' Loss of Pennant Is Blamed on Wives

Some Chicagoans claim Charley Grimm's Cubs finished second this year because too many wives were interfering in their husbands' business.

As usual most of the obit writers were wrong when Princeton's great lineman, Billy Lea, died. He was not an All-America end for four years as most of them insisted. He was All-America tackle for three years and then, due to an injured shoulder which forced him to play with his arm strapped to his side all season, he moved out to end the next year. Made the All-America as end this time. It is extremely doubtful that the new world record for the mile, set in London last summer by Stan Wooderson, will be allowed by the international federation. There are two reasons, both sufficient under the rules to prevent acceptance of the mark. One is that the race was won by club members. The other is that it was a paced race and he was permitted to have the pole all the way.

Charley Grimm

Umpires Emslie and Byron, once two of the best in the big time, visited the World Series. When they arrived at press headquarters the first guy they asked for was Casey Stengel.

Both the Yankees and Joe McCarthy are to be congratulated on their new contract. Joe has had plenty to work with. Baseball never has known a more efficient organization than the one shrewd Ed Barrow has perfected during his years as business manager. Yet some men squander their own talents as well as the gifts that are offered to them. Joe never has done that. He has made good and full use of every opportunity. Although $35,000 a year probably is beyond the comprehension of most of the fans who pay to make the club richer each season there is no doubt but what cash customers are wholeheartedly glad he is getting it.

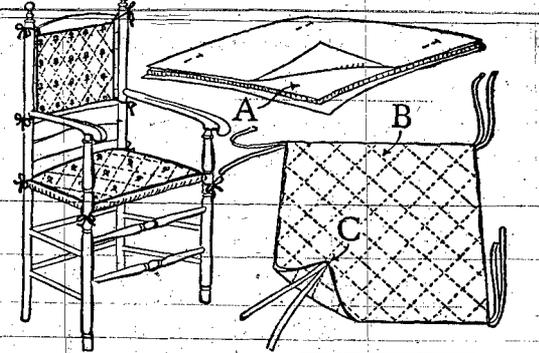

Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers rushes from the dressing room to the nearest soda emporium after each bout to fill up on cantaloupe and ice cream. Two home games in Washington drew within $13,000 of what the Redskins took in at seven games in Boston. A British newspaper syndicate paid Tommy Farr $30,000 for his life story after the Joe Louis bout.

Bill McKechnie, new manager of the Cincinnati Reds, formerly managed five of the seven rival pilots in the National league. They are Grimm, Frisch, Traynor, Grimes, and Wilson. Dean Cronwell, track coach at Southern California, let out a deep groan when Bob Peoples fractured his wrist in a freshman football game with Stanford and no wonder. Peoples probably is the best javelin prospect in the United States.

Joe Louis' softball team has been touring California cities, asking a guarantee of only $150 a game. Joe gives all the receipts to the players. A letter addressed "Barney Ross, Somewhere in the U. S. A." was delivered to the welterweight champion in Chicago a few days ago. Dorothy Bundy, who eliminated Alice Marble from this year's national tennis tournament, is en route to Australia with Dorothy Workman.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

There May Be Many Reasons for Making Quilted Chair Pads.

IF ALL the reasons for quilted chair pads were lined up in order of their importance the most intangible reason of all might head the list. Yes, it is quite likely that any decorator, amateur or professional would place atmosphere at the top. But then it is also possible that first rating might be given to the reason that the pressure of slats across the backs of chairs is softened by quilted pads. Then, though it might not be mentioned, it is a known fact that worn out cane seats are sometimes replaced with inexpensive composition seats which may be disguised by gay quilted pads.

Chintz, calico or gingham chair pads are in fact one of the simplest and most inexpensive ways of adding color and charm as well as comfort to a room. Such pads are often used on the backs of chairs and not on the seats, and especially for side chairs, the seat pads used without any back covering. In making such small things as these it is quite easy to do the quilting on the machine. Or, if you wish to take the other point of view about it, the work of quilting them by hand would not consume an unreasonable amount of time. There is no doubt that handwork has a certain quaintness that machine work lacks. The pads shown here are made with one layer of sheet wadding between the two layers of the chintz. The edge bindings and ties are made of bias tape. Cut the three layers of the pad material exactly the size and shape you want them to be when finished. Place the sheet wadding between the two layers of covering material as shown here at A. Either pin or baste in this position, and then quilt as shown here at B. Make the ties by stitching the lengthwise edges of the bias tape together, and then tack them to the corners of the pad as at C before it is bound. Now, bind the edges, sewing the ties right in with the binding as shown here at D.

Annexing two national championships and four inter-sectional titles all in one week is the record made recently by Nebraska boys and girls. 1—From Nuckolls county came the grand champion 4-H heifer at Ak-Sar-Ben. Merle Mumma is the exhibitor. 2—National 4-H dairy cattle judging team from York county. Left to right: Harry Silvey, Donald Tracy, Harold Walkup. 3—Two Seward county boys won major honors. John Gard, on the right, with grand champion 4-H fat lamb. Arden Aegerter, on the left, with his reserve champion. 4—Lester Lutt, Wayne county, showed the second consecutive 4-H grand champion baby beef at the Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha. 5—York county's second national championship in dairy demonstrations. Albert Tietmeyer and Marvin Jones. In addition the Dodge county 4-H meat loss prevention demonstration team (not shown) won out at Omaha.

STATE PASTURE CONTEST TO CLOSE

With a complete "diagnosis" of grassland management, a banquet at which three winners will be named and 25 other farmers given special recognition, the third annual statewide Pasture Improvement Contest closes in Omaha on Tuesday, Nov. 3. Several hundred Nebraska producers will attend including a delegation from Wayne county.

Plans were being made here this week for representation at the Omaha meeting. Agricultural Agent Walter Moller will accompany the following individuals who have competed in the contest this year: A. T. Claycomb, John Owens, Joseph C. Johnson, R. F. Roggenbach, G. W. Alberts, C. H. Morris, Herman Steube, G. C. Sellen, T. B. Roberts, John Grice, Fred Jensen, Henry Dieje, Ed Grubb, E. F. Shields, Geo. Baskirk, Harry Samuelson, and Scott Van Slyke.

The afternoon "clinic" is open to the public while the evening banquet is for contestants. Everything from electric fences to discussions of sudan grass poisoning will be discussed at the clinic.

STRIP CROPPING CONSERVES SOIL

That strip cropping is successfully aiding yields in various parts of Nebraska is attested by reports from farmers who tried out this method of controlling erosion and storing moisture on fields.

The chief object of strip farming, the Soil Conservation Service points out, is to check the momentum of run-off water, filter out soil particles and increase the absorption of water by the soil. It can be practiced on any slope capable of being cultivated and does not require the engineering exactness necessary to mechanical methods of erosion control.

Strip cropping alone for erosion control is recommended only for the more gentle field slopes. On the steeper slopes terraces are recommended for use in conjunction with strips.

It is not unusual for farmers to report increased yields the first year strip cropping is practiced on their fields. Each year, however, this method should show soil improvement, due to its control of run-off water, which guards against soil movement. Undisturbed soil retains its organic matter and plant residues from succeeding crops are added, a richer and more absorptive soil is noted.

ENROLLMENT OF 4-H BABY BEEF CLUBS LARGER

Cheaper feed and higher-priced calves than this year are in the "offerings" for Wayne county farm boys and girls now getting ready to enroll in 4-H baby beef clubs for the 1938 season. The lowered cost of feeding causes more youths to show some interest in feeding.

The 1937 baby beef year closed with the Ak-Sar-Ben livestock show in Omaha. There Lester Lutt, 14-year old Wayne county boy, showed the grand champion for the second consecutive year. "Diz", the champion, sold for $1.60 per pound and was bought by the Paxton Hotel. The $11 head of steers in the sale averaged $19.02 per hundred.

Club members though will probably face a falling beef market for next year. Despite this fact, the 1938 year is expected to be a profitable and more normal feeding year than 1937. In the estimation of Walter Tolman of the Nebraska college of Agriculture. Many local club members who fed efficiently this year are reporting profits of $25 to $45 per steer. Profits in 1938 will probably hinge more on wise buying of calves than this year. Gains will be cheaper than the cost of the calf so Tolman is recommending lightweight feeders. Since the sale of the steer will depend to a large extent upon his quality and type, it does not pay to long feed low-grading feeders. Yet Tolman adds, careful buying is of the greatest advantage.

The feeder market is fluctuating rapidly and boys are urged to watch it in buying their steers. No one but the experienced feeder who is prepared to stand a loss of necessary, should pay a premium for a calf which might make a poor calf. Calves of good type and promising feeders, bought at $10 per hundred are more sure of showing a profit than the $11 per hundred cattle brought with the hope of producing a successful show animal. To the perilous tasks of bridge building in which bridgeworkers seem to cling like spiders to threads of steel. Farm Program Plays Important Part in Status of Midwest

(By Mrs. Mary Brown)

I wonder how many farm women realize that if their husband or any member of their immediate family is a member of the Farm Bureau, that they are also members, that the husband's contract covers the farm and family and that the Farm Bureau should mean just as much to the women as it does the men.

In discussing the Farm Bureau with other women at meetings, or even social visits, it is appalling to me the small number that understand anything about the organization's program.

To me, the Farm Bureau has done more for the farm women of America than it has for men. Yet most members seem to think its program has nothing to do with the women at all, except when it comes to fixing food for a Farm Bureau meeting.

In the larger sense, the objectives of our program are aimed directly at improving the living conditions in this country, and the women stand a better chance to benefit by this than do the men. In a few words, I will try to tell you why I think so.

Let us take, first of all, the Farm Bureau program for parity prices for farm products. Certainly this must be the main program and the man's worry, but is it?

What do parity prices mean for farm people? Simply, they mean that farmers can buy and sell with other groups on a fair exchange basis. Our first consideration should be the holding of our farm free of debt, or if we are in debt, to be able to prevent foreclosure and loss of our homes and business. Does the man suffer any more when a farm is lost through bankruptcy than the women? Certainly not, and probably not as much.

Soil Conservation. Our next consideration should be soil conservation. If our farms are allowed to wash away because our income is not enough to maintain them, do the men suffer more than the women if the fields cease to produce good crops, and we leave to our children farms that are not worth half what they once were because much of the good top-soil is gone? Only parity income can make it possible for most of our farmers to maintain their soil as it should be.

Another item in any farm program, and a very important one, is the money needed for producing crops and livestock, payment of taxes and interest, and other items incidental to the operation of the plant that cannot be dispensed with by the operator. Parity income is needed here, and is just as important to the woman as it is to the man, although the man usually is of its actual operation. As they do with soil conservation and prevention of bankruptcy to the entire plant.

Just as so much money is required for operation of the farm plant in producing crops, a certain amount is needed for maintaining the home with enough necessities. On farms the yard, food and clothing. This the women have to look after, but it is of equal importance to both that the required money for these expenses is available.

But why all the talk, you may ask, about the women benefiting more from the parity price program than the men. You have said that both have shared equally in the success or failure of the program.

Yes, that is true, but another very important item has been left out, that the parity price program includes in no uncertain terms. It will be admitted by all, with or without parity prices, that the above-mentioned expenses will come out of the farmer's funds if they permit, regardless of other expenditures.

Yes, that is true, but another very important item has been left out, that the parity price program includes in no uncertain terms. It will be admitted by all, with or without parity prices, that the above-mentioned expenses will come out of the farmer's funds if they permit, regardless of other expenditures.

But the Farm Bureau's program for parity prices means that the farm and home will have more than the bare necessities essential to keep them alive and going. It provides for a standard of living that will make life as attractive in the country, on a comparison basis, as life in the cities. It provides for just as good an automobile for the farm family as the city family of equal means can afford to have.

It provides that the farmer can afford a car, and furnishings that will be in line with his city cousin. The parity price program, if carried out, saves the farmer the money with which to avoid themselves of electricity, which is one of the necessities of the Farm Bureau, as well as good roads, go schools, and money with which to educate their children. Personally, I think that the woman stands to benefit a lot more if these expenditures are possible than the men, for after all, a nice home with modern conveniences takes much more work off the woman's shoulders than the men's, and adds much more to her health and happiness.

The other things can only come after the necessities are provided. So that is why I believe the women have more reason to be interested in the Farm Bureau than the men. The Bureau program is so broad and sweeping in its character that it is impossible here to point out its fine features. But there is one thing about it, you can rest assured that every bit of it is aimed at making life in the country better, that our farms and homes will be further from bankruptcy, and that our children will want to farm, and will love the soil as we love it, if only some of the drudgery can be reduced to a great degree.

WOODLANDS CUT FARM EXPENSES

Many farmers are reporting to the United States Forest Service that growing fuel and lumber and pulpwood or other forest products cuts down the running expenses on a farm. Good cash returns also are obtained when some of the forest products are sold off the farm.

One farmer says: "I farm your woods in my yard as a crop of corn. Take out the wood trees and the unhealthy and crippled ones and give the best trees a chance to develop. Cut the good trees only when they are ripe."

Still another farmer says: "My woods are my bank. I keep going to it and getting money, and each time the money keeps right on coming back."

A fourth farmer says: "Cross ties are legal tender around here. We bring in our ties and take home flour, sugar, coffee, tobacco, etc., and overalls."

Another farmer says: "Money from the sale of timber has helped to pay for the farm, taken care of taxes, and assisted in giving the children a good education. In addition, our farm woods has furnished lumber, posts, and fuel for the farm."

And another reports: "Timber farming is different now from the old days when woods work was just chopping down trees and cutting them up just as you came to them, and after that, 'Now you take care of trees as a paying farm crop.'"

CONTINUOUS CROPS IMPOVERISHES SOIL

Planting poor crops continuously on poor land may eventually lead to the paucity, according to Soil Conservation Service men. Soil subjected to continuous croppings of corn, cotton, tobacco, and other cultivated crops are impoverished by erosion, become thin from the standpoint of fertile topsoil, and often are unable to produce a profitable yield. When this happens, farmers are apt to try the next best thing.

They choose a less desirable crop and try to make at least something off the land. Usually this is the first step in a downward cycle. Usually it is not long before the impoverished soil fails to produce anything.

That's when farm lands are abandoned and when soil erosion is allowed to complete the ruin. The remedy for excessive cropping is to retire the badly eroding areas to grass before the damage has gone too far.

Report Best Results With Contour Planting

Wheat may be wheat regardless of how it is drilled but Henry Gooking, Thayer county farmer, who drilled it both on the contour and in rows and down the slopes last fall reports that best wheat is that drilled on the contour.

"I drilled 42 bushels of wheat on the contour last fall, 22 acres of which averaged 30 bushels per acre and 20 acres made an average of 24 bushels," says Gooking. "A field of 17 acres, drilled up and down the slopes, average only 17 bushels per acre. As the soil was of similar type and each field has the same chance, it is evident that the contour-drilled fields hold more moisture. I drilled all of my wheat on the contour this fall and will plant my row crops on the contour next spring."

Gooking has learned from experience that a furrow on the contour of a row of any growing crop running on the level will hold much moisture on the field and in doing this will also keep the topsoil from leaving the field.

LAND GRANT COLLEGE TO CELEBRATE

The 75th anniversary of the land-grant college system and the U. S. Department of Agriculture will be observed at the annual meeting of the Association of Land-Grant colleges and Universities which takes place in Washington, November 13-17. Representatives of the Nebraska land-grant college, the college of agriculture will attend.

With $1,000 appropriation to collect statistics and encourage collection and distribution of seeds from plants in foreign countries that gave promise for cultivation in the United States, federal aid to agriculture began in this country in 1832. The work was conducted by the Commissioner of Patents, then an official of the State Department.

The bill creating the Department of Agriculture was signed by President Lincoln May 15, 1862. The Morrill Act, granting lands for the endowment of state agricultural colleges was enacted in the same year. The importance of agriculture in the life of the nation was mentioned by George Washington in his first inaugural address.

The Morrill act, granting lands for the endowment of state agricultural colleges was enacted in the same year. The importance of agriculture in the life of the nation was mentioned by George Washington in his first inaugural address.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and other nationally-known figures will be among the principal speakers at the anniversary meeting. The speakers will review accomplishments of the Department and the land-grant colleges and interpret their influence on the agricultural life of the nation.

The principal talks will be broadcast over a Nation-wide radio network each day during the National Farm and Home Hour from 12:30 to 1:30, eastern standard time, and millions of farmers throughout the nation are expected to listen in.

Livestock Raising Increases Income

HOGS CONSTITUTE ITEM OF FARM BUDGET

Despite the severe decrease in live stock numbers in Nebraska during the past few years, the principal item of farm income during 1936 was derived from such products and not crops.

Such was the gist of a summary of 1936 receipts of farm record keepers as released this week by Arthur George, extension economist at the Nebraska college of agriculture. The report is of interest to Wayne farmers in that it shows the relative returns of farms in other parts of the state. Hogs constituted the one principal item of income in 1936 to the farm account keepers followed by cattle and third by crops.

George quoted income figures from the record of seven counties. Thirty-five records from Buffalo county, for instance, showed cash receipts of $5,896 and cash paid out of $2,497. With inventory gains and decreases accounted for, the farm gain was $1,626. Out of this income, the farmer must pay interest, living expenses and decide whether there is any left for wages and interest on investment.

Thirty-eight records from Cass county showed a net farm income of $1,175. In Cheyenne county the average net income for 31 farmers was $2,331. Twenty-seven records from Hall county showed a net farm income of $1,495 while in Hamilton county the net income was $1,077 on the basis of 59 farms. In Perkins county, it was $1,627 and in Phelps county $1,948.

"These records are from counties representing eastern, central and western Nebraska," George explained. "In Cass county, cattle and hogs accounted for about $2,000 of the $2,550 gross receipts. In Buffalo county, cattle and hogs accounted for about one-half of the gross receipts. In Cheyenne county, cattle and hogs accounted for over $1,100 and crops over $2,000 of the $3,700 in gross receipts. In Phelps county cattle and hogs accounted for nearly $1,200 and crops $1,100 of the gross receipts of $2,997."

ORGANIZE 4-H FORESTRY CLUBS

It may be a long time until spring tree planting but this week the Wayne county Farm Bureau called attention of farm boys and girls to the possibility of organizing 4-H forestry clubs. In other sections of the state, some clubs are already organized.

On the basis that boys and girls will benefit most from trees planted now, Earl G. Maxwell, junior extension forester at the Nebraska college of agriculture, has called attention of the club project to Agricultural Agent Moller. Some of the forestry 4-H requirements have been changed for 1938, he said, in urging better care of seedlings planted.

The first year requirement for number of trees to be planted and cared for has been reduced from 100 to 25. Clarke-McNary seedlings will be furnished only in counties where at least three 4-H forestry clubs are organized by February 1 and where leaders of such clubs attend a leaders' training meeting before planting time.

TO HOLD ANNUAL POULTRY CONGRESS

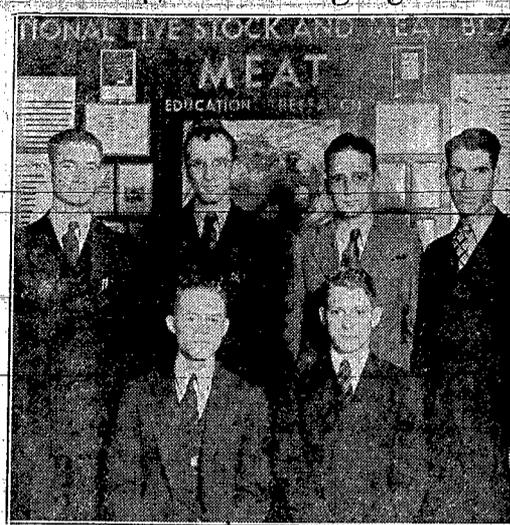

The industrious hen again will be an international figure when the Seventh World Poultry Congress meets in Cleveland July 28 to August 7, 1938. The first of these triennial congresses was held in Holland in 1927. Spain, Canada, England, Italy and Germany also have been hosts to the Congress.

About 7,000 foreign visitors from some 60 countries are expected. Four languages—French, German, Spanish, and English—have been designated as official for the presentation and discussion of scientific papers and in publishing the proceedings. The chairman of the national executive committee is James E. Rice, of Trumansburg, N. Y., and the general secretary is W. D. Ternoellen, United States Department of Agriculture.

"It is a long step from the days when the poultry flock was chiefly a side line on the farm, managed by the women and children, to the international recognition of the hen as a great producer of wealth and food," says Herby Winton, in charge of poultry investigations in the Department's Bureau of Animal Industry. "Formerly little attention was given to the hen's diet. Today on many general farms and on scientifically managed poultry farms the breeding of the flock and the ration and management practices used are carefully considered. The high food value of both eggs and chickens has led to immense commercial development of the poultry industry as well as to continued maintenance of farm flocks."

William E. Johnson of Schuyler visited at the Mrs. Frank Gamble home and attended the Wayne State Teachers college homecoming Saturday.

Winning Meat Judging Team

Producer of another meats judging championship team is the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. The squad won the title in the tenth annual intercollegiate contest held in connection with the American Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City.

It was the second victory for the Cornhuskers since the event was inaugurated in 1927, thus giving them two legs in the National Livestock and Meat Board perpetual trophy which must be won three times to be kept permanently. Nebraska scored 2,497 points out of a possible 2,700 to win.

The Nebraska team was composed of Carl Swanson, Kearney; Lester Schmadeke, Bradish; and Tom Aitken, Tecumseh. R. H. Miller of the animal husbandry department coached the squad. Schmadeke shared highest individual honors with William Alsop of Wakefield, Kans. Both scored 845 out of a possible 900 points.

Nebraska showed its greatest strength in judging beef while Minnesota excelled in the pork department and Kansas was high on lamb. Contestants were required to judge quality of nine classes of meat and give written reasons for their decision.

There were four exhibits of beef, including beef ribs, beef chucks, heavy beef carcasses and light beef carcasses. There were three exhibits of pork and two of lamb. Each exhibit contained four examples of varying quality selected by specialists from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Complete Crop Land Survey COMMITTEEMEN IN CHARGE OF FARM VISITS

Wayne county farmers will complete a farm survey of all the crop land in the county before the ground is covered with snow this winter. Such was the announcement made this week by F. I. Moses chairman of the Agricultural Conservation Association. Results of the survey will be used in future federal and state farm programs.

According to the plan developed for the ten cornbelt states, the county agricultural conservation committees in each county are to direct the survey. Most, if not all, of the men making the visits to the land will be community committeemen of the county association. On each farm, the report will include a description of the slope, erosion, inherent productivity and present productivity of each field which has been used as crop land or which is suited for crop production.

Reduction of Mortgage Loans Increase

Home Loan Board Report Heavy Increase in the "Rent Plan" Loan

Direct reduction mortgage loans made by the 16 Federal savings and loan associations in Nebraska showed a heavy increase in the first nine months of this year, rising from $3,410,564 to $4,155,553, or $744,989, it was reported today by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

Such loans were made for construction, purchase, reconditioning and refinancing of Nebraska homes. A direct reduction loan is one in which the face value of the mortgage is continually decreased by easy monthly payments like rent until the borrower owns his home free of debt.

During the same period, from January 1 to October 1, assets of these 16 institutions increased from $4,619,227 to $5,328,738 or $709,441.

Aggregate savings which totaled $2,693,044 on January 1 had increased to $3,091,889 on October 1, the increase being $397,935. Such savings invested in these and all other Federals and in many state chartered associations are protected through insurance up to $5,000 on each account by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, a $100,000,000 governmental agency.

Federal savings and loan associations in Nebraska are located in Wayne, Bloomfield, Broken Bow, Cozad, Falls City, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Lincoln, Nebraska City, Omaha, Schuyler and Sidney.

Samuel Johnson's dictionary of 1755 contained about fifteen thousand words. The complete modern dictionary contains forty times that many words.

Over the fine concrete road, running through the red sandstone of Judea, ran huge six-wheel engine trucks hauling potash and bromine from the Dead Sea. The Jews have established a huge plant on the north shore to reclaim some of the 40,000 tons of potash carried down annually by the Jordan River. The bromine will be used for chemicals, dyes, and for anti-knock gasoline.

Luckless Wildcats Drop Homecoming Game 18-13

SEVERAL SCORING PLAYS GO HAYWIRE

LARRY BUCK frowned on Coach Hickman's Wildcats Saturday afternoon when she crowded into one football game enough tough breaks to supply a team for a season or two. The fickle dame was responsible for the loss of two, three maybe four touchdowns for Wayne State Teachers; two passes slipped through the fingers of receivers in the end zone, a side line got under the feet of the ball carrier on a 70 yard touchdown run, a fumble following a blocked punt near the goal line nullified the fourth touchdown. On the other hand Chadron presented a team of magicians. They not only slipped over the winning score in the last two minutes of play but were adept at stealing the ball at moments when their defense was not sufficient to stop the Wildcats. Not content to leave town with the long end of an 18 to 13 homecoming game these Chadron redshirts were so starved for statistics that they swiped a cake from the Stratton coffee shop Sunday morning. So Chadron had their cake Saturday on the gridiron but also savored it until Sunday.

Opening Kick-off
Goodell kicked to Finney on the 20 and the latter raced up to the 37 where he was downed by several Wildcat tacklers. Gatewood was injured and replaced by Retzlaff. Chadron using a Notre Dame shift gained 3 on a power play and lost 2 on an end sweep. A quick kick went out on Wayne's 28. After two plays, Murray kicked out on the visitors 35. Finney failed to gain and fumbled, Planansky recovered. Planansky kicked out on his own 45 against a stiff wind. Murray and Retzlaff and a pass Bradford to Warren took the ball to Chadron's 28. Brenn recovered Bradford's fumble. A run and two passes brought the ball to the 18. Chadron tightened and took the ball on downs. Chadron failed to make a first down and kicked out on their own 41.

On first down Bradford passed to Murray but the ball slipped away. Trying for an early score Bradford again passed, this time the ball sailed through the air for 50 yards into the hands of Brenn who was in the end zone but again the ball slipped from the receivers hands. Murray kicked but on the 27.

Bradford stopped Finney after an 8 yard gain. Finney failed at center but Wilkinson cracked tackle for 8 and a first down on the 42. Brenn was hurt and replaced by Raaz. Lodge picked up 4 on a center sneak. Lodge and Finney made it a first down on Wayne's 35. Chadron lost 15 yards on a holding penalty on the next play but Finney ran off right tackle for 10 and lateraled to Lodge who went 6 before he was brought down by the secondary.

Second Quarter
Fox went in for Retzlaff. Finney passed to Planansky for a first down on the 20. Finney and Planansky cracked the line for 9 yards and Planansky ran wide around his right end for a touchdown. McGinnis came in for Lodge to kick the point, his kick was wide. Score: Chadron 6, Wayne 0.

Bradford took the kick-off on his goal line and returned to his own 25. Murray gained 3 on a reverse and Bradford fumbled but recovered for 2 yards gain. With the ball on the 30, 3 down and 5 to go, Bradford reeled off a beautiful 70 yard run over the goal but the officials ruled he stepped out on the 27. Fox smashed center on a delayed play for 6 yards. Warren gained 3 on a single reverse. Bradford hit right guard to the 11 yard line.

Murray and Bradford gained 12. Warren lost 5 on a double reverse. Warren's pass to Bradford was incomplete. Chadron took the ball on downs in the scoring zone for the second time. On the 3rd down Lingenfelter broke through and blocked Planansky's kick and recovered on the five yard line. It looked like a sure score for Wayne but Bradford fumbled and Chadron recovered on the first play. Standing in his end zone, Phylansky set off a long kick out to the 16. Murray kicked out on the fourth down on Chadron's 28. Chadron advanced to the 43 yard line. Finney then ran wide around his right end to the Wayne 25. Wayne took the ball on downs on the half 20-0.

Third Quarter
Bradford ran the kick off back to the 40. The fourth down kick was taken by Finney on his 24. Chadron could not gain consistently and kicked to their own 44. Bradford passed 40 yards to Murray who was in the open near the goal line but the ball was dropped again. On the next play Bradford dropped deep and hurried another 40 yard pass to Warren who fumbled to Lingenfelter who ran 39 yards to score. Wayne's first touchdown. Fox kicked the point. Score: Wayne 7, Chadron 6.

in play on the 35. Chadron could not make a first down and Murray took the kick on his 45. Murray gained 5 then 2 on a reverse but Wayne drew a 15 yard penalty. Bradford kicked 70 yards into the end zone. Retzlaff tried to make the ball dead on the one yard line but slid across the goal line. After three plays were four yards short of a first down Finney kicked to his own 48. Fox went to the 35 in two plays. Murray was stopped for no gain. Murray lateraled to Bradford for a three yard gain. Bradford passed 25 yards to Lingenfelter for Wayne's second touchdown. Lingenfelter took the ball on the 10 and ran unimpeded to score. Fox kicked wide on the try for point. Score: Wayne 13, Chadron 6.

Goodell's kick-off went over the goal and the first enclosure fence. Wilkinson ran 9 yards and Finney ran 24 on the next play to Wayne's 47. Two plays were good for 5 and then Finney broke away for 23 yards to Wayne's 20. Wilkinson cracked center for 5 and Planansky planked the piskin down on the 12. Lingenfelter and Lingenfelter lifted Lodge for no gain. Armstrong then was called on an end around and was good for 4 yards. Finney could not gain. McGinnis came in for Lodge as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter
Finney shot a bullet pass to Armstrong for a touchdown. Lingenfelter blocked the try for point. Score: Wayne 18, Chadron 12. It was another great play for Lingenfelter who had been playing a great game all afternoon.

Bradford took the kick-off on the goal line and returned to the 17. Gatewood failed to gain. Warren ran through center 11 to the 28. Bradford picked up 3. McGinnis knocked Bradford's pass down. Murray returned to the game for Gatewood. Planansky returned Murray's punt from his 45 to the 50. Chadron was offside on the next play. Finney and Wilkinson gained 4 yards.

Warren returned Chadron's long kick 145 yards to his own 28. Warren failed to gain on a double reverse. On the next play one Chadron player pulled a stunt which cost the game. This stunt involved the stealing of the ball from the hands of a Wayne man on the next play. From here Chadron advanced the ball to Wayne's 9 yard line where they lost it momentarily on downs. Finney ran Murray's kick back to the 28. McGinnis drove from the 2 yard line on the sixth play with but two minutes left in the ball game. Finney's drop kick was wide. Score: Chadron 18, Wayne 13.

Bradford returned the kick-off 30 yards to the 45 in a run behind blocking which all but paved the way for a touchdown. Four passes failed to click and the game ended with the ball in Chadron's possession on Wayne's 41.

S. T. C. Displays Form Against Southern State

Hickman Presents His Versatile Eleven In Thrilling Game

Note: The following account of the Wayne State Teachers Southern Normal game was crowded out of last week's paper.
Displaying a spectacular offensive which thrilled a large crowd of spectators for 60 minutes, the Wayne State Teachers ran rough-shod over a fast but lighter Southern Normal team to win 18-0 Friday. From the opening whistle to the sounding gun the Wildcats carried on an offensive that could not be stopped. It was a game which fans like to see. At no time regardless of a comfortable lead did the Wayne team let up with their deceptive smashing, running and passing game. It seemed they had every type of offensive weapon to hurl at Coach Montgomery's team. Defensively, the Wildcats showed equal strategy. Backed up by their own goal line their opponents lost ground after four tries at a stone-wall defense, this thrust proved to be their only threat at scoring.

Wayne returned the opening kick-off 25 yards to their own 37. Bradford drove into the line for three yards and then Murray ran 58 yards to Springfield's 2 yard line. State Teachers lined up quickly and Murray went over for the initial counter on a reverse. Bradford took a bad pass from center and missed the point when his kick went wide.

Goodell kicked off to Stowel on 27 where Wayne's ends and center met the receiver. Stowel hit the line for 7 yards in two tries Salter made a first down. Stowel and Montgomery advanced the ball to the 47. Fitzgerald on a fake run to Wayne's 39. Fitzgerald took it again, this time to the 37. It was second and a yard to go. Stowel drove through for 9 yards, Fitzgerald and Stowel made a first down but Southern was off side, a Murray's kick was long rolling to the visitors' 26 where a Wayne player fell on it. Montgomery kicked out on the Wayne 45. With it third down, Montgomery returned to his own 31. With three plays short of a first, Montgomery kicked out on Wayne's 42. Bradford's pass to Murray was good for 5 yards and Murray ran to Southern's 40. Bradford's pass to Gatewood was good for 9 yards. With fourth and a yard still to go Stowel intercepted Murray's pass on his 24 where he was tackled. Montgomery fumbled and recovered for a 6 yard loss on his 18. Stowel kicked on fourth down but it was blocked, he recovered near the goal line. Coach Hickman sent in several substitutes. Fitzgerald kicked to Murray on the Springfield 22. Two thrusts at the line and a pass by Bradford to Murray placed the ball on the 11. Here a play went haywire and lost five yards. Murray ran wide to the left cut back sharply side-stepping several tacklers to gain 7 yards. On a triple pass which crossed up Springfield's line badly, Retzlaff went to the one yard line. Murray scored the second touchdown on Bradford's pass into the end zone. Bradford reeled off his second bad pass and his kick went wide again. Score: Wayne 12, Southern 0.

Goodell's kick-off suited over Southern goal and the ball was put in play on the latter's 20. Springfield tried to run on a fake kick but were stopped cold. Retzlaff kicked Fitzgerald on a sweep around left end. Fitzgerald's kick rolled dead on the Southern 48. Wayne ran from a punt formation for the first time having used a single wing most of the game with a play now and then from their double wing back formation. With two plays short of a first down Murray kicked to Gaymire who has been inserted into the Springfield line-up. Gaymire was tossed on his 14. Fitzgerald's pass was short, he then kicked a kick and ran 5 yards, a pass was knocked down and he kicked out on Wayne's 45. Salter intercepted Bradford's pass but fumbled when tackled and Wayne recovered. Murray on a neat shifting gullup went 16 Southern's 40. Murray was stopped on the same play and Wayne drew a five yard penalty. Trying the same play a third time Murray ran 20 yards. Third time Murray ran 20 yards. This play advanced the ball 13 yards to Southern's 7. A bad play from center was fumbled but recovered for a 6 yard loss. On the last play of the half Murray ran 7 yards.

Second Half
Bradford returned the kick-off from the 5 to the 27 yard line. Murray cracked center for three Bradford dashed to the 47, but the play was called back for an off side penalty. Bux in the Springfield line-up received a painful kick in the mouth and left the game. Murray's kick was dead on Southern's 32. Fitzgerald and Stowel failed to gain. Montgomery's kick was hurried and went out on yard loss. Murray lateraled to Bradford who fumbled but recovered. Bradford kicked to Montgomery who returned to his 27. Lingenfelter recovered Montgomery's fumble on the 22. Wayne drew 15 yards for use of hands. Murray was thrown for 3 yards loss. Retzlaff ran 14 on a triple pass, he injured his arm on the play and left the game. Gatewood who just came in dropped Bradford's pass. A second pass was knocked down. S. D. took the ball on downs. Montgomery gained two and Salter ran to the 42. A shovel pass lost a yard. Stowell took a pass for a 6 yard gain.

Montgomery tossed another to Stowel who broke into the clear for what looked like a sure touchdown. Then Murray came up from somewhere to stop Stowell from behind on the 4 yard marker. Montgomery tried, the line but was stopped for no gain. A run and two incomplete passes gave Wayne the ball on the 20. Murray ran wide for no gain and Wayne received a 15 yard penalty. Standing in his end zone Murray got off a beautiful kick to the 48. A pass was knocked down by Bradford. Montgomery and Stowel failed to make a first down and the former kicked off on the Wayne 14. Murray completely rooted the Springfield team when he threw a bullet pass to Bradford who dashed up to the 44. Murray on a reverse went to the 39. Quarter.

Coach Hickman sent in practically a complete new team. Coach Montgomery also substituted freely. A lateral Murray to Bradford gained a yard. Bradford hurled a pass to Murray who pulled loose from half dozen tacklers and ran to the 5 yard line. Bradford faked a pass or else couldn't locate the receiver, anyway, he lost no time dashing over for the third and final touchdown. Score: N. S. 18, Southern 0. Bradford drew his third bad pass and for the third time his kick for point failed to meet between the uprights.

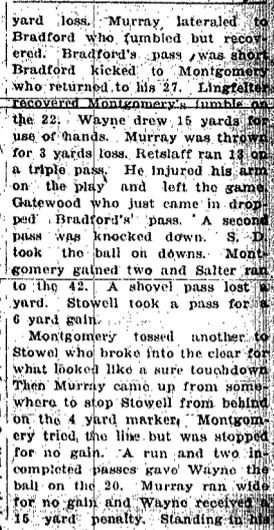

Montgomery took the kick-off in the end zone and returned to the 27. The ball was kicked over from the 36 to Gasser, Southern end, took the ball on his 30 and was stopped without a return. Montgomery made a yard and Stowel ran 30 yards to the 49. Montgomery was good for 3 yards and Fitzgerald ran to the 35. Another try by Fitzgerald fumbled and Wayne recovered.

Bradford's pass was knocked down. Another was intercepted out of bounds. Bradford's kick was caught by Brant and fumbled in a 15 yard penalty. Pass was incomplete. Another pass was grounded by Murray. Wayne took possession of the ball. Murray and Bradford made it a first down. Bradford's pass was short. A double pass lost two yards. Montgomery returned the punt 10 yards to the 22. Two runs and an attempted pass lost 2 yards. Montgomery kicked to Fox on Southern 44. A pass and run went to the 17. Wayne drew another 15 yard penalty. With the ball on the 32, Fox took a beautiful pass and was run out on the 3 yard line. A backfield in motion penalty nullified a two yard gain. Wayne was smeared for a 20 yard loss on an attempted pass. It was second and 23. Another pass failed to click.

Ahern was tossing left hand passes to score as the game ended.

Floyd Gibbons' ADVENTURERS' CLUB HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Elephant Hunt in West Virginia"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

And all the courtesies of this Adventurers' club to "Bring 'em Back Alive!" James Brogan of Tompkinsville, S. L. N. Y., for his knock-out animal adventure today.

Jimmy Brogan didn't really do a Frank Buck in this story—at least he didn't mean to—but, by golly, he did bring himself back alive and, boys and girls, when you've read Jimmy's experience you'll agree that that's something.

How would you like to be out pheasant hunting with a little twenty-two-caliber rifle and all of a sudden run smack into a great big—but let's start this story at the beginning.

Back in '28—the year before the Great Depression—Jimmy and a pal of his went hunting pheasants in a wood adjacent to a farm of Jimmy's uncle in West Virginia. The boys were having a swell time. They had their lunch with them and had bagged a couple of the birds, and as the sun started to set started back home in great spirits.

Jimmy says it was great fun walking through the dense woods and pretending to stalk big game. In their imaginations the hunters were trekking through the jungle of Africa—the shadow of every tree seemed to hide a tiger or a lion or even an elephant. Of course you wouldn't have much chance with a "twenty-two" against an elephant, but it was fun anyway, and besides who ever heard of an elephant in West Virginia?

Jimmy says he was creeping along Indian fashion when he heard a crashing behind him—then his hunting companion let out a scream of terror. Jimmy thought it was part of the game—a war cry—but when he looked around he let out a scream and nearly dropped his trusty rifle in his hand.

A MONSTER ELEPHANT WAS CHARGING STRAIGHT FOR THE BOYS!

Well, sir, Jimmy says he couldn't believe his eyes. He knew that the human mind can play strange tricks on a fellow, but he knew that this was no trick of the imagination.

The elephant was there in flesh and blood, and, as he came tearing through the underbrush—gigantic ears flapping and bellowing with rage—Jimmy decided that discretion was the better part of valor and ran for his life.

"Climb a big tree!" he yelled to his pal.

Jimmy says his pal did climb a tree—dropped his rifle and went up the trunk like a monkey, and this gave Jimmy a chance to think. He ran for the thickest part of the wood—thinking the elephant would have a hard time following him—and looked back. There was his pal safely out of reach of that long trunk, but the boys had not figured on the keen intelligence of the elephant—who is one of the smartest as well as the largest of beasts. Jimmy saw the huge monster stop under the tree and look up. Then the next thing the animal did made Jimmy raise his futile little rifle to his shoulder.

That elephant calmly took hold of the tree with his powerful trunk and shook it as a man would shake an apple tree!

The tree swayed and shuddered under the tons of weight—Jimmy was sure no man could hold on under such a shaking. Jimmy's pal was all wrapped around the branches, but it looked as though he would come tumbling down any second and be stamped to death beneath those huge feet.

Jimmy did the only thing he could do to help his pal—he fired straight at the elephant's head. It was an easy shot, Jimmy says, the target was so big. And he thinks the shot went true because the elephant let go of the tree and with a challenging bellow came charging straight at Jimmy.

Jimmy says fear must have lent wings to his feet that minute, because he turned and ran like a deer. He dodged in and out of the trees and kept as much as possible in the thickest part of the woods. He could hear the infuriated beast behind him as he snapped trees in two and crashed into larger ones. Undoubtedly Jimmy's strategy in keeping to the densest growth saved his life. But Jimmy says he was tiring fast and his heart was beating like a bassdrum.

Just as he thought he must fall from exhaustion he came on a farmhouse in a clearing. He screamed a warning and burst in the door of the house. The farmer thought Jimmy was crazy when he cried out "elephant," but a few seconds later the man changed his mind.

Wham! Mr. Elephant hit that door and shattered it as though it were paper. But the door was too small to admit his huge bulk. Insane with fury now because he had lost his prey, the beast started in to wreck the farm. Each time he charged the house, Jimmy says, it fell like an earthquake. But the house was strong, and although badly damaged, did not collapse.

Baffled—the beast smashed up the barn, stamped the life out of chickens and killed two dogs who bravely snapped at him. The farm had no telephone and Jimmy or the farmer did not dare leave the house for help.

But help came and plenty of it.

A small army of circus employees—led by Jimmy's pal—and armed with heavy rifles, closed in and a volley of big caliber lead ended his man-killing days.

Then Jimmy learned why he had encountered a wild elephant in the woods of West Virginia. The circus animal had suddenly gone berserk—as elephants in captivity sometimes do—killed his trainer and escaped. The rest we know.

Well, boys and girls, it was all over then but the paying for damages, and the circus soon did this, and they gave Jimmy and his pal $50 for their part in the capture.

Dogs Ahead of Us

Dogs probably wagged friendly tails or barked at the first American settlers who landed on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, because, although cattle, horses and other domestic animals were introduced to this continent from Europe, the dog was here ahead of us, comfortably established in many a tapee, asserts a writer in the Washington Star. Dogs owned by the Indians were about the size of a small colt; were usually white and had long coats. They were virtually disappeared, and the Mexican hairless and chihuahua are the only so-called native dogs in existence, although they, too, may have been imported. All other dogs known as American have been produced from experiments with breeds not native to this continent.

Alaska Has Odd Geese

A race of dark-complexioned wild geese reside in the coastal region of British Columbia and southeastern Alaska. They are similar in general appearance and size to their better known relative, the Canada goose or "honker," but differ in being very much darker. They are known as the white-checked geese. Apart from the difference in coloration between these two races of geese there are differences in habit also, the most important being that of migration. The Canada goose makes long annual journeys to and from its nesting grounds; some raise their young on James bay and spend the winter on the Gulf of Mexico. The white-checked goose, on the other hand, may spend the entire year, or even all its lifetime in the same region.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

WHY JUMPER THE HARE WAS NOT AFRAID

THE most surprising thing about the meeting of Buster Bear with the other little people of the Green Forest was that he was introduced by Jumper the Hare. Now you know, Jumper the Hare is very, very timid—Everybody knows that. He is so timid that some people say he is afraid of his own shadow. Of course, this isn't true, but it is true that he is very, very timid. So no one could understand how it happened that he dared to introduce Buster Bear. In fact, he didn't seem any more afraid of Buster than were Jimmy Skunk and Prickly Porky the Porcupine. But everyone knows why they are not afraid; Jimmy has a little bag of scent and Prickly Porky has a thousand little spears to make other people, even those a great deal bigger than they are, respect them.

But Jumper the Hare has nothing of the kind. He has nothing with which to win respect save his long legs, and as he uses those to run away with, of course, he never wins respect—with them—for you—know people who run away are seldom respected. So it was that when Jumper appeared not in the least afraid of Buster Bear and introduced him as a friend, the other little people, most of whom were frightened almost to death, couldn't understand it at all. Peter Rabbit wasn't there at the time, but, of course he heard of it, and it puzzled him more than it did anyone else. He is timid himself; is Peter Rabbit, but he isn't as timid as his big cousin Jumper. And yet here he was himself having little cold chills of fright at the very thought of those great claws of Buster Bear, while Jumper was not afraid at all. It was too much for Peter, and the first chance he got he asked Jumper about it.

Jumper smiled. "Why," said he, "Buster Bear comes from the Great Woods where I came from, and I know all about him—and he knows all about me. So we are friends."

Peter scratched his head thoughtfully. Somehow he didn't understand any better than before. "Aren't you afraid of those great big, cruel claws?" he asked.

Jumper shook his head. "No," said he. "Why should I be afraid of them?"

"Because they can tear you all to pieces!" yelled Peter promptly. "But they can't!" cried Jumper happily. "That is just what they can't do, and that is why I am not afraid!"

"I don't see why they can't," persisted Peter.

"Because they can't catch me!" Jumper made a long jump, a very long jump, twice as long a jump as Peter could make, as if to show why those cruel claws could not catch him. Peter began to see what Jumper the Hare meant.

"You mean you are not afraid of Buster Bear because you think Buster cannot catch you; is that it?" asked Peter.

Jumper nodded his head so fast that he made his long ears flop. "That's just it!" said he. "Buster Bear can't catch me—I know it and he knows it, and so he doesn't waste any time trying. Instead we are very good friends. The only things to be afraid of in this world are things you know may hurt you, no matter how sharp you watch out. Now, I am afraid of Granny Fox and Old Man Coyote because they are so sly and swift that I am never sure that I am safe from them. But Buster Bear is not swift enough or sly enough to make me afraid. When you have known Buster as long as I have you will know that he isn't half so terrible as he looks, and that he really can be very nice and kind of fun. I'm not afraid of Buster because I've learned how to keep out of his way, and when you've learned the same thing you won't be afraid either."

Peter looked as if he would like to believe it, but found it a little more than he could quite credit.

In 1904 the artist completed a second "Light of the World," which hangs in St. Paul's cathedral. It was painted because of his dissatisfaction with the way in which the Keble picture was shown.

Home Heating Hints

By John Barclay
Heating Expert

IT'S really no trick to build a good furnace fire quickly and easily.

Leave a layer of ashes about two inches deep spread on the grates. Spread about two inches of coal over this layer of ashes. Over the coal, place a generous amount of kindling—newspapers and light, dry wood.

The turn damper in the smoke pipe and the ashpit damper should be open wide. If the ashpit damper on your furnace is in back, open it and also the ashpit door in front. This assures maximum draft and quick ignition.

When the kindling is burning well, add fresh coal gradually. In this way you get a deep fire in little time—the kindling burning the coal beneath it, and the fire, in turn, igniting the coal above it. From time to time, add additional fuel until you have a solid, deep fire. When this is done, check your dampers and close the ashpit door.

Should the kindling while igniting smoke a bit through the furnace door crevices, it is due to the chimney being cold and not providing enough draft to carry off the smoke. This is easily overcome by wadding a bit of newspaper, lighting it, and inserting it into the check damper. This heats the air, creating a draft in the flue pipe and chimney and carries the smoke away.

Brief History of Wayne Business Firm

Editor's Note: We are well pleased with the readers interest shown in the Brief History of Wayne's business firms. The short account of a business firm each week is to review the establishment and familiarize our readers with the management, personnel, and history of the firm.

Business Firm:

The Central Garage which is located at 101 Main street was established in 1918 with Walter Miller and the late Guy Strickland as co-partners. At that time, the Central garage had the bulk agency which it kept for 15 years and also serviced all makes of cars. In 1932 the bulk agency was discontinued. The present building was remodeled for the second time in the summer of 1931. In 1932, Mrs. Minnie Strickland became an active partner in the firm.

Personnel:

Walter Miller, owner, is in charge of the service department. Mrs. Minnie Strickland, owner, manages the front office. Ivor James and Don Miller are the mechanics. Bill Miller is employed part-time in the service shop.

Wanted! Old Discarded Toys

Wagons with only three wheels, dolls with broken arms, and stuffed animals which are not overly stuffed will under the hands of the American Legion members and volunteering boy scouts be reconditioned and made "just as good as new." These remade toys will go to make some little underprivileged youngster's eyes shine with happiness at Christmas time.

The Legion members are more than happy to take time from their busy day to work in the reconditioning, toy shop but they need the townspeople's cooperation. You just can't make things without materials. So they are calling on Wayne folk to supply the materials and they'll do the work.

In countless attics and basements in Wayne are discarded toys that have seen better days. It is these "better days" toys the Legionnaires want. A little paint here, a new part there, a gay print dress for dolly and presto—Christmas toys each youngster wants Santa to bring.

These cast-off toys may be brought to either Swan's, Fred L. Blair, Wayne Cleaners, or Barney Stark's where they will be collected for the Legion members. The committee has requested that the toys be brought to the named headquarters this week and next.

HOUSEWIVES WELL PLEASED WITH COOKING SCHOOL

Approximately 500 persons, mostly ladies, attended the three day movie cooking school at the Gay theatre last Thursday, Friday and Saturday which was sponsored by the Nebraska Democrat.

The audience was apparently unanimous in their approval of the cooking clinic, notwithstanding the fact that most of those present had at some time attended different types of cooking schools.

Many Wayne merchants generously cooperated with the event to its success. Tie-up advertisements and window displays assisted in bringing staple and national known products before the public in a most acceptable manner. All in all the school was impressive and when held again will undoubtedly attract even wider interest.

MINCE PIE TAKES ON NEW AIRS

Here's our sedate Mince Pie donning a frivolous frothy meringue and stepping out as a light-minded luncheon or party dessert, instead of keeping exclusively to the ceremonial holiday and family dinner and the substantial New England breakfast tables—its usual haunts. These gay new Mince Pies appear in individual little round tart shapes. They're most interesting to make!

16 baked and cooled Pastry Rounds
2 1/4 cups mince meat (drained)
3 egg whites

Spread a generously rounded (1/2 cup) mince meat on a pastry round. Place a second pastry round on top of it—and spread more filling on that. Make a meringue by beating egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff enough to hold a point, then gradually beating in the sugar—continuing beating until mixture is stiff and glossy. Fold in the grated lemon rind at the last. Spread this meringue over the tops and sides of the tarts. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a slow moderate oven, 325° F. Amount: 8 individual tarts.

Pastry Rounds

1/2 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 tsp. salt

Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening with two knives on a pastry blender—leaving some of the shortening in lumps the size of giant peas. Add ice water. (Sprinkle the water lightly—a little at a time—over the flour and shortening. As first, blend it in lightly with a fork; then gather dough together lightly with the fingertips. As soon as you can make dough stay together, you have plenty of water in it. Round up dough on cloth-covered board (using flour rubbed into cloth to keep dough from sticking). Roll out about 1/4 inch thick. Cut into 3-inch rounds. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Prick with a fork to prevent puffing. Chill thoroughly. Bake 15 to 12 minutes in a very hot oven, 500° F. Amount: 16 pastry rounds.

Betty Crocker Advises

Question: I've seen pies with a beautiful shiny top crust. How can I make mine look that way?

Answer: There are several ways to achieve a glazed top on your pie. If you want a brown, polished finish, brush the pastry (before it is baked) with a whole egg (or egg yolks) mixed with 1 tbs. of water. The egg should be beaten only enough to mix it with the water. Sprinkling with a little sugar, or brushing with a little milk will also give an attractive finish to the crust. If gloss, but no color is desired, use the white of egg alone.

Question: Would it be all right to use a lace tablecloth, not too elaborate, for an informal dinner? And could I use a white table pad under the cloth for an informal dinner?

Answer: Yes, use the lace table cloth if you wish—but a table pad is never supposed to be used with a lace cloth on any occasion. The table under the cloth should be bare—with individual pads slipped under the cloth wherever a hot dish is to be placed.

Question: How can I make high, fluffy meringues for my pies that will keep their shape—sometimes mine get beads of syrup on them—or they collapse—or get water underneath. How can I prevent this?

Answer: Beat egg whites with rotary beater only until they will hold a point—do not beat until they are dry—adding the cream of tartar at the frothy point. Then start beating in the sugar... a little at a time... beating hard between the additions. Continue beating until the meringue is stiff and glossy. Complete blending in of sugar prevents the beads of syrup on the cooled pie filling. Do not remove the pastry or it will shrink away during baking. The most important factor for successful meringues is slow baking (15 to 20 minutes at 300° F.). Stand up light and high. (High heat toughens any egg meringue, and in the case of meringue causes the sugar to crystallize out.) After meringue-covered pies are removed from the oven, they should be left on top of the stove or in a warm place. (Cold air striking a warm meringue will turn the steam in it back to water and so cause it to fall and liquid to gather on the top of fillings.)

Question: I know several women who always make their pie crust with hot water. Do you recommend this? If not, why not?

Answer: It is true that hot water does make a tender pastry, but it will be more sticky and sticky as pastry made by the method recommended in this recipe I give.

If you worry about what to serve, if you dread to start the next day just crop a card to Betty Crocker in care of your newspaper. Send for this week's menu. Complete menu for the week with the main items will be sent to you at no cost. Please enclose a stamp to cover return postage.

The W club also sponsored the annual float parade in which there were twenty entries. Neihardt Hall was voted winner with Pile hall receiving second place and Y. W. C. A. placed third.

Judges for the float parade were Martin L. Hinger, Freeman Decker, and Miss Arlie Sutherland.

GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN'S NEW SERIAL OF WEIRD MEXICO!

CHAPTER IV

El Tenebroso occupied a triangle at the intersection of a side street with the Calzada Manuel Villalongin. A string of private rooms comprised its longer flank but on the shorter side there was a respectable entrance leading directly to the restaurant and dance floor. The room was fan-shaped and fairly large. The orchestra was placed in the stem of the fan which put the master of ceremonies, the highly popular Adan Arnaldo, at a distinct advantage since he could watch the entire assemblage without having to worry about anything behind his back. The tables were in two banks, one at the level of the floor, the other raised and hugging the slant of the walls. The wide outer fringe of the fan was given over to stage entrance, hallway, cloak room, cooking and service departments.

General Onelia met Joyce and Margarida in the foyer. He was dressed in mufti and when Margarida, divesting herself of an ultralike overcoat, displayed a dark tailored suit, Joyce felt a qualm as to her own lovely semi-evening dress. But immediately her attention was seized by something else; at a murmured request from the check-room girl two men were condescending to park their guns with their hats. Margarida cast a hurried and curious glance at Joyce's face but found she need not worry—

Joyce was given a seat with her back to the wall. Sensing the concentrated stare upon her she was troubled and looked around anxiously. It must be her clothes. But to her relief she saw a few people on the dance floor in evening dress and then discovered a party of men against the opposite wall, all of whom were togged out in the full regalia of tails and white ties. She wondered about them, perceiving at once they were onlookers rather than participants. Evidently they had come to watch the fun, perhaps in an effort to forget the boredom of some diplomatic function. At the thought she examined them more carefully and suddenly found herself gazing at long range into the eyes of Dirk Van Sultart. She looked away at once, making no sign of recognition, but not before she had caught the rapid change of expression in his face. In an instant it had passed from surprise to wonder and from wonder to dismay tinged with aversion. He was profoundly shocked.

A flush of anger stained her cheeks but at that moment Adan Arnaldo came to Onelia's table to do homage to authority. He was a handsome young man and lacked the sleek look which usually distinguishes the master of ceremonies of such a bout as El Tenebroso. His manner, as he greeted Margarida whom he knew, declared him a substantial partner as well. Acknowledging an introduction, to "Nothing easier I'll have him shot the next time he shows his face in town. I've been wanting to do it for years."

"I'm afraid I've come at your siesta hour. Naturally General Dorado must not be killed before the abandoned hacienda is definitely in possession of the rightful owner."

"Ah!" exclaimed Onelia. "If General Dorado, who now holds La Barranca, should be killed—even if he should die a natural death—his heirs would inherit. They would have as good a case as he has now and our work would be all to do over again."

"Who wants the place? Not I!" Margarida looked at him steadfastly. "I wonder if you can see a picture if I hold it up before your eyes?" she inquired.

"Try me," said Onelia testily. "Here's the picture, General, and that you're not to appear in it at all goes without saying. Suppose some of your trustful men attend to the eviction of Dorado without killing him—simply drive him and his following out and chase them into the hills. Simultaneously your men plant the girl and leave her. The incident gets in the papers, here and across the border. The girl is young, beautiful, has perfect title as titles go and the courage of a bobcat to back it with. Do you begin to see anything?"

"Of course I see her getting herself killed, and so do you."

"Probably, but that's a mere incident—perhaps a necessary incident. It doesn't occur to you you might also see the ambassador from a country we both heartily detest up to his neck in boiling water and one or two of our own cabinet officers hanging to their toppling perches with nails and teeth? I used to think you had the brains of a great minister of war, but I'm beginning to doubt it."

During her long speech Onelia had been advancing toward her with a catlike tread. Now he placed a blunt finger under her chin, tipped back her head and stood looking down into her unflinching eyes.

"You've started something," he rumbled, "and we two are going to finish it. If I betray you, you can always get me shot at the market price, but if you betray me I'll have you dragged by a frightened horse."

He stepped back, shrugged his shoulders and sat down. "Call in the girl."

When Joyce entered nothing could have exceeded Margarida's complacent air of accomplishment unless it was the General's urbanity.
