

Old Man Winter Finds Wayne Folks Prepared

Wayneites Recall Snow-Bound Winter and Prepare Early

Dame experience whets the memory of Wayne folk, and they, remembering days of being snow-bound last winter and the winter before prepared early for a sudden blizzardly cold wave such as settled over Wayne the last two days.

Mothers purchased warm snow suits, caps, and mittens for their children early and youngsters tramping by the Democrat windows look as if the only thing cold weather means to them is skating and coasting parties.

The Democrat reporter inquired about the coal situation in the rural schools and found that most district schools have an all-year supply in the basements. Many of the schools have storm windows and doors and school boards have provided either furnaces or good heaters for the school room.

Coal dealers stated that many Wayne folk purchased their coal supplies early rather than wait until sub-zero weather drastically drained the coal supply. In the face of snow blocked streets and roads, coal deliveries to isolated homes would be high impossible.

With improved roads surrounding Wayne and the new highway south of town connecting with No. 8 near Pilger, Wayne in the face of increased traffic over these roads will be able to command snow and rotary plow service preventing days of complete traffic stoppage.

However, the reporter must advise might hamper Wayne, as last year at times, only trains were able to get through.

A Lesson in Victory

Missouri's Kansas City is not unaccustomed to celebrating achievement in traffic control. Last year it claimed its efforts in traffic control by winning the National Safety Council's safety city award for cities of 250,000 to 500,000 population.

Proud as they were of that distinction, Kansas City's citizens recently celebrated what to them was an even greater accomplishment: The close of a year in which no child of school age was killed in a traffic accident.

It was an up-hill struggle, for it meant the odds stacked by night against the automobile registration and mileage, and a growing city.

Two lessons are to be gained from Kansas City's record. The first is that traffic safety is not a matter of luck, but rather the logical result of a long-term traffic safety program.

The second lesson is that any city that wants to be a "safety city" must do it on its own.

America Has What It Takes

In the Sunday papers we read that Miss Dorothy Thompson surveys the American scene and declares that what happens in the next 30 days will determine the future of America.

For the last six or seven years now the American people have had predicted for them about every type of destruction except flood and fire.

Maybe it's as misleading to have faith in those who lead us under different political banners from time to time as it was for boys of '17 to have faith they were making the world safe for democracy.

It is our humble opinion that there is not a better informed government on a nation's needs or a more responsive government to meet those needs during the years of the world depression than the government of the American people.

Going back perhaps to the most condemned man who ever graced the presidential chair, Mr. Hoover, we find the evidence of the above. In the year of 1929 President Hoover precipitated a national survey of social trends in the United States which was the most comprehensive scientific study ever conducted of the nation.

It should serve to help all of us to see where social stresses are occurring and where major efforts should be undertaken to deal with them constructively.

Certainly the philosophy of the scientist and the tactics of warriors of the alarmists too seriously will serve only to undermine our security. In short we need to believe America has what it takes to succeed.

will serve only to undermine our security. In short we need to believe America has what it takes to succeed.

Any One Could Have Guessed It

In this column last week we raised the question of what big business would want following the demand for immediate revision of taxes on undistributed earnings and a revision or abolition of taxes on capital gains.

What's Good for the Goose, Etc.

Now what's good for the goose is good for the duckling. Under the present tax laws, a year's worth of a single child fatality.

Just who's going to balance the budget when these tax revisions and retroactive tax programs become effective?

Flexibility Needed in Farm Program

Whatever congress may accomplish in farm legislation during the special session it is reasonable that it should be flexible enough for re-orientation without too much delay.

Speaking of a flexible farm program it might be well to take a bird's eye view of the size of the farm business.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington—Sen. William Gibbs McAdoo is having plenty of trouble trying to drum up support for his bill which would exempt American coastwise ships from payment of Panama canal tolls. In the first place, the Treasury department is opposed to the plan, because it does not want to give up the revenue. The Treasury is having enough trouble with congress because that body wants to cut taxes in various directions, and is very reluctant to impose any new ones to replace them.

But that is only part of the opposition. There are still a good many senators and representatives who remember when Mr. McAdoo was lobbying on this Panama canal tolls question, but lobbying on the other side!

One of the first big fights of Woodrow Wilson was to repeal the exemption of American coastwise ships from these tolls. President Wilson held first that the exemption violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain. But he also held that this granting of exemption to our coastwise shipping was bad economics.

So bitter did the fight become, involving all the then very strong anti-British feeling in this country, that it left scars which were still ugly when Wilson entered on his last fight to ram the Versailles treaty through the senate. So high did feeling run that on at least one occasion only the bulk of Sen. Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona, thrust suddenly between two quarreling senators, prevented fistcuffs right on the senate floor.

He was the more convinced of the rightness of his cause because most of the Republicans on the senate foreign relations committee, including Elihu Root and Theodore E. Burton, went along with him. He was the more sensitive because the platform on which he had been elected, barely a year before the fight started, pledged the Democratic party specifically to continuance of this canal tolls exemption.

The issue has never quite died. The platform on which Warren G. Harding was elected in 1920 promised that the exemption would be restored, though no move to carry out this promise was ever made.

Opponents of the exemption point out that it would apply only to coastwise ships, never to overseas shipping. As coastwise shipping is barred to foreign ships, there is no question involved of encouraging American shipping except on the possibility that the exemption would permit the coast to coast ships to haul some freight which now goes by rail. This last argument rouses no enthusiasm in the administration today because of the eagerness to do everything possible to help the railroads in order to stimulate buying by the railroads.

But Mr. McAdoo is now a senator from California, and hence sees the problem through California glasses. Whereas his devotion to Woodrow Wilson is no greater than when he wirelessed from a liner his pair against senate approval of the World court, another Wilson issue.

Anti-Lynching Bill

Pressure for the anti-lynching bill is not based purely on humanitarian motives, nor is it just politics. Similarly, resistance to the measure is not based purely on the idea that only this form of brutal lawlessness is the proper preventative for certain types of crime.

Underneath the surface there is a real struggle of far-reaching extent, which has nothing to do with lynching, per se, nor even with the crime situation.

To the South the proposal, which has been a constant threat for 30 years, is but another form of the so-called force bill back toward the end of the last century. The force bill would have put supervision of elections in the individual states in the hands of the federal government. Southerners were sure that it would mean federal troops at their polling places on election day, for the ostensible purpose of making it possible for every negro to vote, and with the concealed purpose, they feared, of providing Republican majorities by bayonets.

Needs the Money

The point is that the Treasury not only needs all existing revenue, it needs more if the budget is to be balanced. Whereas politics as well as consideration for the small income families makes taxing them any more highly objectionable, especially if the tax is to be direct so that they can see it.

Which confronts congress with the only alternative, as its leaders now view the situation—to cut expenditures to the bone.

This would be all very well if it were not that each individual senator and representative wants to keep the money flowing from the Treasury to his particular state or district. That is the traditional basis for log-rolling. Senator A wants an appropriation for his state, but to get it he has to agree to vote for similar appropriations for the states of Senators B, C and D. Otherwise these senators would not vote for his appropriation.

So that the only way expenditures can really be cut effectively is for this process to be reversed—for Senator A to say to his colleagues: "I will agree to cut the appropriations for my state if you will agree to cut them in yours."

Dolls Of Yesteryear

by Frances Grinstead

Dear Santa: Please bring me a new head for my dolly. Her name is Christina. She still has a nice body, but her head has so many dents it won't last another year. I would like one this time with real hair made into curls and eyes that open and shut.

What has become of those Christmas dolls whose bodies could outlast half a dozen heads? When the curls went straight, or the wig dropped off, or little brother Johnnie picked the wax off the eyelids, and sister was consoled by promising her a new head. Mother took her to a department store where there was as large a display of doll heads as of dolls. There were china heads, metal heads, and heads of papier-mache. There were heads with wigs and some without. There were those with parted lips and dainty teeth showing, while others hid their smiles behind firm mouths and staring eyes.

One thing these varied heads had in common. Their necks widened into four-square bits front and back with holes at the corners for applying the needle to the old body. The bodies in those days were of cloth, their inner substance sawdust. Where now are those torsos that could withstand endless repairing, fresh sawdust, and new heads?

They probably found their way to the attic in time and sister was promised a whole new doll. Then her trip to the department store was a matter of deciding between a "dressed" and an "undressed" dolly. Mothers preferred the latter because they would bear closer inspection as to materials and workmanship. Dolly's clothes were easily made out of the family scrap-bag or by the willing hands of the family seamstress, who did the job for recreation. Moreover, the undressed doll cost a little less. But sister liked to linger over those in silks and satins with poke-bonnets and plumes covering their golden curls. They wore petticoats and often they held their fragile fingers in tiny muffs of mink and sable.

CHRISTMAS GLADNESS THE chimes in the spires, The singing of choirs, Are telling these tidings anew. May all their glad ringing, And all their sweet singing Fill Christmas with gladness for you!

Real Christmas Joy

by Blanche Tanner Dillin

I WAS foolish to waste time and material making them, John Carlson told his mother when she said she would like to make some "gingerbread dolls" for the Christmas display in the window of his bakery. No one was interested in such things any more.

Yes, he was a very good son to her—he had given her a good home. She had nothing to worry her now—no respect for her. But she would enjoy making the dolls; that wouldn't seem like work. She would furnish the materials and make them in her own kitchen. Of course if she wanted to make them she could, John said.

That he was wrong, John had to admit. "We have never had so much interest shown in the window display and never sold more than we have since we put those gingerbread dolls in the window," John told a customer who had returned for a second purchase of dolls. Hulda Carlson had made not one type of doll, but different ones, and grouped them into families. "Her idea of grouping them into families is new. That's what attracted attention," the customer said.

When John told his mother this she smiled. It was the love and happy thoughts—glad memories—which went into the making that was the cause, she told herself. Her children had loved the sweet bits she had made for them at Christmas. Her children and grandchildren had outgrown such pleasures, but weren't there others who would enjoy those things? There proved to be many. And what joy it had brought her. No profit in money, but large dividends in joy—real Christmas joy—that of serving and giving happiness.

"That's What Attracted Attention," the Customer Said.

CHRISTMAS PALS

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

Make This Attractive Ottoman.

GET a wooden box from the grocer. It should be about as long as the width of the chair with which the ottoman is to be used. The depth of the sides should be four inches as shown here at A. The legs should be made of two by two's or you may have a set of nicely turned legs from an old table or other piece of furniture that may be cut down to the right length. Fasten in place with long screws through the corners of the box as shown here at B.

About half a bat of cotton will be needed. Put five or six layers of the cotton on the top, cutting the first layer about four inches smaller all around than the top of the box. Place it in the center. Cut the next layer a little bigger and the others still bigger until the last one is the same size as the top. Now cut a layer of muslin to go over the top and down over the ends as at C and another to go over the top and down the sides as at D.

Cut a piece of heavy muslin to fasten tightly over the cotton. Cut the corners of the muslin as at E. Sew with heavy thread as at F and then tack as at G.

To make the cover, stretch the top tightly over the muslin and sew it along the sides through the muslin, then make a straight four-inch band to go all around and add the ruffle to it.

Every Homemaker should have a copy of Mrs. Spears' new book, SEWING. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions for making slipcovers and dressing tables; restoring and upholstering chairs, couches; making curtains for every type of room and purpose.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT By Fred Neher

"Looks like the scrub team's in a huddle."

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

How to Be Fair.
SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—
 Every time the heirs to an undivided estate start litigating, I think of a decision which had in it more wisdom, more common sense and more fairness than even King Solomon's inspired justice.

I can't remember whether 'twas a ruler upon the throne or a judge upon the bench who handed down this ruling. But two brothers fell out over a proper division of their father's possessions. Accordingly, they carried the dispute to a higher court of the land.

So his majesty, or his worship, or his honor, as the case may have been, Irvin S. Cobb said: "Let the older brother apportion the property into what he regards as two equal shares—and then let the younger brother have first choice of the shares."

But, of course, the lawyers couldn't have favored the plan. It was too beautifully simple to suit any lawyer in any age. The American Bar association would just naturally despise it.

Cemetery Salesmen.
 I RECEIVED a letter from one of our plushiest cemeteries. We have some of the plushiest cemeteries on earth; it's a positive pleasure to be dead out here. I was urged to invest in a highly desirable lot for only a few thousand dollars—or buy a perfectly lovely crypt—slightly more expensive, but most luxurious.

Through some private whim or pique, I failed to answer this tempting communication. Today I received an appealing follow-up letter. I gather that, if I neglect this splendid opportunity, I'll live to regret it. Or maybe I won't.

Such thoughtful attention merits response. I'm replying as follows: "Dear gent: Space in a graveyard is the last thing I shall require. When that time comes, somebody else will do the shopping. Trusting these few lines may find you the same, yours gratefully."

But if a representative calls in person—as he will—I'm a gone goshing. Those sick talkers always do get me. You just ought to see my collection of oil stocks. Now, there's something that does need burying.

Making Juleps.
 SOME disputatious soul seeks to reopen the ancient debate over the proper recipe for mint julep. I decline the invitation. Since the Dred Scot decision nothing has stirred up as much bitter controversy south of the Ohio river.

North of the Ohio river doesn't count. The Yankee conception of a julep is calculated to make a host of sleeping Kentucky brigadiers rise up from their respective Bourbon casks and start giving the rebel hiss.

Naturally, the only perfect julep is the Paducah julep. Just drop in next summer and sample the real product on its native heath—not at a saloon, where the bartender is likely to have heretical ideas, such as using preserved fruits and even putting the sugar syrup in first, which amounts to downright crime—but in the private home.

Western Superiority.
 IN BORNEO, tigers slay such an incredible host of natives that the yearly mortality is proportionately almost one-tenth as great, as the average number of persons who will be wiped out in traffic fatalities on American highways during any given 12 months.

In India, owing to the refusal of those benighted Hindus to destroy any living creature, 20,000 inhabitants annually are killed by venomous serpents, whereas, in this country, in 1936, we spent only 15 billions for crime, or 18 times as much as we spent on national defense, yet managed to let many poisonous human snakes go free to build up murder statistics.

In Japan, geisha girls are governmentally licensed and protected, which is indeed an affront to the principles of an enlightened people who patronize so-called world's fairs that are dependent on unabashed nudity for popular favor, and shows dependent on foul lines and nasty situations.

Marriage Customs in Japan
 The Japanese live more as members of families than individuals. That is to say, every Japanese is under the moral obligation to perpetuate the family line inherited from his ancestors. The only son must take a wife; he cannot "become a husband", in other words, he takes his wife to his home and she shares with him the name of his ancestors. The only daughter, on the other hand, must take a husband to the home of her father and share with him her family name.

Schedule Examinations for Employment in Nebraska

The advisory committee for the examinations in the Nebraska unemployment compensation division, state department of labor, has announced plans for the forthcoming examinations. The committee is composed of Charles G. Hellmers, Lincoln, chairman; E. W. Augustine, Grand Island, and William D. Lane, Omaha. Dr. E. Glenn Callen, Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, has been selected as supervisor of examinations for the committee. He has just returned from Washington with information and suggestions as to how the examinations are to be conducted. The examination office will be maintained at room 414, Main building, Nebraska Wesleyan University.

In commenting on the importance of the application of the merit system and the place of the board in the examination program, Hellmers says: "The unemployment compensation division of the Nebraska department of labor is practically the first department of the state of Nebraska to select its personnel by a competitive merit system. The examinations and operation of this merit system, is under the supervision of the advisory board. The members of the advisory board will take absolutely no part in selecting employees for this division. The board is on record that it will assure all applicants qualified, an impartial examination and examining board. Regulations shall be applied impartially, with freedom from political influence and justice to all citizens of the state of Nebraska. It is the firm opinion of the board that the merit system will assure to the state, a sufficient, loyal personnel and to the personnel, an opportunity to be of service to the state with proper reward for loyal and sincere service. Employment will not be affected by changes in political fortunes, but will be permanent except for dismissal for cause."

The examinations are conducted on a merit basis as is required by the Nebraska unemployment compensation law and by the rules and regulations adopted by the commissioner of labor and the personnel advisory committee. The rules declare: "In order to secure an efficient and economical administration of the functions of unemployment compensation and to provide equal opportunity for all qualified persons to compete for positions in the unemployment compensation division, the commissioner of labor has adopted these regulations to carry out the merit principle as provided for in section 11 (d) of the Nebraska unemployment compensation act. All appointments shall be made on a non-partisan merit basis."

The fact that these are merit examinations and that a career service is possible in the unemployment compensation division is further emphasized by the statement in policy of the commissioner of labor that the rule which says "it will be the policy of the commissioner of labor to make possible a career service by making promotions based on efficient work and providing tenure in office for those who give satisfactory performance."

The positions for which examinations are to be held are as follows:

Positions	Salary Range	(Minimum and Maximum Per Mo.)
1. General Counsel	$215 - $275
2. Junior Attorney	150 - 190
3. Chief Accountant	215 - 275

FOOTPRINTS OF SERVICE

This is a reproduction of a picture taken in sub-zero temperature the morning after a severe snow storm showing footprints of a telephone operator leading to the telephone office. They are mute evidence of the "spirit of service" that is back of your telephone.

Blocked streets and highways seldom keep telephone employees from the job. If at all possible, they are at work ready to do their part in providing your telephone service.

The management of this Company greatly appreciates the fine "spirit of service" shown by employees and we feel sure that our customers do, also. Because of it, the Company is able to serve you much better than otherwise would be possible.

Employee devotion to the job of providing telephone service is essential to the carrying out of our policy to provide the best service at the lowest practicable charges. As a part of this policy, it is our obligation to employees to pay wages that are in all respects fair and just; to provide safe and agreeable working conditions, and to deal fairly with each individual and group.

Walking On Highways Hazardous

When walking along public highways, pedestrians should always follow the example as illustrated by No. 4. If facing the traffic, a pedestrian can observe approaching cars, thus safeguarding himself against injury.

Never walk with your back to traffic. If you make a practice of this, and you are injured, you have but yourself to blame. In the illustration, the driver of car No. 1 cannot be held liable in case of injury to pedestrian No. 3, unless he is operating his vehicle in a careless and reckless manner.

Good judgment, courtesy and common sense are the requirements for traveling on the public highways in safety whether you are walking or driving a car.

TAKE NO CHANCES WITH HIGH SPEEDS WHERE TRAFFIC CONDITIONS ARE UNFORSEEN.

"Terror in the Air"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO, EVERYBODY:
This is the story of a bunch of young lads who built a homemade flying machine and got Oliver A. Morard, Jr., of Oak Park into more doggone trouble than he's ever seen in his whole previous life.

Back in 1930, a bunch of boys in high school at Lakewood, Ohio, got interested in gliders. Among them was Oliver Morard, whom the lads called Bud. That crowd not only got interested in gliders, but they designed and built one, and then learned to fly the doggone thing. They came to be known as the Lakewood Glider Club.

"We flew the glider for almost a year," says Bud Morard, "without experiencing a single mishap. We thought we were so good that, when the 1931 National Air Races came to the Cleveland airport, we persuaded the management to let us come down and demonstrate our ability to the early patrons."

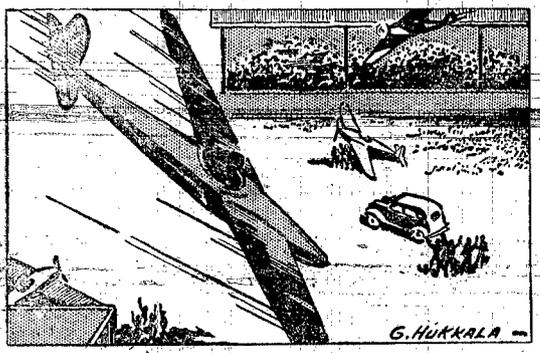

Well, sir, the air races came along and the Lakewood Glider club got ready for the exhibition. The morning of September 1 was the time picked. It was a clear day, but the air was heavy and a gusty twenty-mile-an-hour wind was blowing. Several speed planes were circling the pylons, tuning up for the big races.

Bud Won the Chance to Fly First.

The grandstand, even at that early hour, was rapidly filling with spectators. The glider exhibit was about ready, and the boys matched coins to see who would fly the machine first. And Bud Morard won the toss.

Well, you know how those gliders operate. You hook one to a car with a long cable and the car hauls it up into the air just as if it were a kite. After it is in the air, the air currents and the operator's skill do the rest. Some of those lads can make a glider stay in the air for hours on end without any motor or anything else but wind currents to propel the ship.

They hooked the glider to the tow car. Bud got in, and they were off. The car started and the glider rose gently. It was up to an altitude of 200 feet, and the car was still towing it. When suddenly a plane came cutting in between the pylons, directly in Bud's path of flight.

The pilot saw Bud's glider just in time and swerved in front of him, but the wash from his propeller and the rough air stirred up by the swerving plane, caused the glider to yaw from right to left. That yawing could be corrected by using the rudder, and Bud did just that. But something was wrong with the rudder mechanism—Bud found out later that it was a faulty hinge—and instead of turning, the rudder jammed, the elevators.

Meanwhile, Bud was enjoying the ride, blissfully unaware that his steering gear was practically useless.

Thought Warning Shouts Were Cheers.

"There was a big pylon on my left," he says, "and on my right, the grandstand, now almost filled with people. Down below me I saw the fellows in the tow car, waving and yelling frantically. And thinking that they were just cheering me on, I waved back.

"I couldn't hear what they were shouting, but everything seemed to be all-right. But suddenly the ship began to vibrate and went into a sharp dive. I knew something was wrong then—knew that I had to do something within the next few seconds.

"Immediately I detached the tow cable and pulled the joy stick back to correct the dive. A quick workout with the controls told me that the ailerons were the only things that were functioning."

Bud was nearing the ground rapidly, and there didn't seem to be much he could do about it. He had no parachute. Gliders seldom go high enough to make their use practical.

"I had to stick with the ship," he says, "and at the same time I knew I wouldn't have to stick with it very long. I was about fifty feet from the ground now, and diving fast at a sixty-degree angle.

"I knew I couldn't avoid crashing. My one idea now was to make that crash as gentle as possible. I moved the stick back into the pit of my stomach—a position that would make the left wing hit first and absorb some of the shock. I would hold that position until the last second. Then I'd push the stick forward to prevent its going me when I hit. The ground was only a few feet away now. I pushed the stick forward, covered my face with my left arm, relaxed and hoped for the best."

Did a Good Job of Crashing.

And for a young fellow who had only a few seconds to do his thinking in, Bud certainly did a good job of it. He was all set for the crash now, and he didn't have to wait more than a fraction of a second before it came.

"The thud of the impact lasted only a moment," he says. "My knees seemed to be where my arms should be and my head and body didn't have the least idea where they were.

"What happened next came too fast for me to record, but I found myself fully ten feet in the air again, clear of the ship and coming down fast. I pulled in my neck, put out my arms, and did a tumble followed by some classy sprawling, landing twenty feet from the glider, which was now a heap of junk.

"I got up and tried to walk toward the ship, but at the first step I took I fell over on my side with a numb feeling in my left leg."

And when they got Bud off the field and into a hospital, they put him right under ether. He had a bad compound fracture of the left leg and it looked as if they might have to take his left foot off. But witnesses state that Bud was more worried about busting up the club's glider than he was about losing a foot, and I'm glad to announce that when Bud came out of the ether, his foot was still with him.

Leprosy One of Oldest.

Leprosy is one of the oldest diseases known to man. Its history can be traced back more than 3,500 years. Early in the book of Exodus the Lord is said to have performed a miracle in giving the disease to Moses. In more recent times it was of such importance that in the Thirteenth century Emperor Frederick of Germany first decreed that physicians should be licensed so that persons of responsibility to the state could determine whether one had the malady. This was the first recognition of professional responsibility of the medical practitioner. The leper houses established all over Europe were the forerunners of hos-

Amber, Fossil Resin

Amber is a fossil resin from trees of the pine family. It is so old that most of the species producing it are now extinct. It occurs in irregular masses usually of small size but weighing up to 15 or 18 pounds. Along the shores of the Baltic sea, especially in East Prussia, mining for amber has been carried on for two centuries. Shavings are sunk through a superficial stratum of marl, sand, etc., finally to a layer of green sand 50 to 60 feet thick. In this green sand is a stratum 4 to 5 feet thick of "blue earth" in which amber nodules occur so abundantly that 50 or 60 square rods yield several thousand pounds.

Always Something New in This Game Known as Football

THIS game called football— From 1883 to date Yale has gone through twelve seasons with undefeated and untied football teams. Ray Tomkins, who was head coach for two years, produced the first two of these teams, the 1883 and 1884 Ellis winning a total of seventeen games.

The triumphant streak which called for the most boola boolas, though, came in the early 1890s. After beating Williams, 48 to 10, in the fourth game of the 1891 season, Yale played thirty games without having its goal-line crossed. Although beaten, 14 to 6, Penn finally brought the streak to an end by scoring a touchdown late in 1893.

H. C. Leeds is credited with being the first player to pull the unexpected in a Yale-Harvard game. He received the Yale kickoff and promptly booted the ball back almost to the Blue goal line. That was in the first game of the series, at New Haven in 1875. Harvard, supported by an imposing delegation of 150 students, won that one, 4 goals to 0.

Notre Dame Army game was the 110,000 assembled at Chicago's Soldier's Field in 1930.

Sure you know football, but—

- (1) In what year did the scoring value of a touchdown become fixed at six points?
- (2) What was the longest successful field goal ever kicked in an Army-Notre Dame game?
- (3) From what college did Gil Dobie graduate?
- (4) When were numbers first used on football players so as to give fans some chance of identifying them?
- (5) Who was captain of the Notre Dame team (1924) on which the Four Horsemen, Crowley, Layden, Stuhldreher, Miller, achieved their greatest fame?
- (6) West Point's colors are—?
- (7) Who was the first negro ever to make Walter Camp's All-America team?
- (8) What eastern team first lost in a Rose Bowl game?
- (9) Who is given credit for inventing the Reverse play?
- (10) Which of the two universities first competed in intercollegiate football, Columbia or Yale?

Sure, you knew them all along, but here are the answers anyhow just because I've got to practice typewriting.

- (1) In 1912.
- (2) Gene Vidal of Army dropped-kicked a 50-yard goal against Notre Dame in 1916.
- (3) Minnesota.
- (4) 1915.
- (5) Adam Walsh, center.
- (6) Black, Gold and Gray.
- (7) William H. Lewis of Harvard in 1882 and 1883 at center. He afterwards helped with Harvard's coaching and became an Assistant United States Attorney General.
- (8) Brown was defeated by Washington State, 14 to 0, in 1916.
- (9) Pop Warner in 1911.
- (10) Columbia played its first game in 1870, Yale in 1872. Incidentally, Yale's first game was against the Lions and the Elis won, 3 goals to 0.

J. Triplet Haxall, who kicked the longest placement field goal on record, did it from 65 yards away and while 15 feet off from the center of the field. But it didn't affect the final decision, Yale winning that 1882 game by two touchdowns, two goals and one safety to Princeton's one goal and one safety. . . . In those days, by the way, it took four touchdowns to beat a goal from the field and two safeties were equal to a touchdown. It was not until 1884 that the numerical system of scoring was established. . . . During his four years at Michigan, 1901-1904, the great Willie Heston scored more than 100 touchdowns in forty-four games.

Cornell-Penn game memories: The year when Jesse Douglas, who had been on the bench most of the season, was sent in against the Big Red to score three touchdowns and enable Penn to win, 25 to 0. That must have been in 1924. George Pfandl and Eddie Kaw collaborating on flip bucks and off tackle plays to whip Penn, 41 to 6, in 1921. The year, 1919 or so, when Heinie Miller intentionally pushed Cornell Captain Shiverick into a rolling punt so that Lou Little could recover for Penn on the 12 yard line. Charley Barrett, Cornell's All-America center, taking a terrific pounding for three quarters. Then in the final period achieving the two touchdowns which won the game.

NOT IN THE BOX SCORE!

FEATHERWEIGHT CHAMPION HENRY ARMSTRONG has not lost a fight since a foul cost him the decision over Tony Chaver in 1936. This year he has had 24 fights and won 23 of them by knockouts. The late Derby, Dick Thompson, who saddled four winners of the Kentucky classic, did not saddle the well-backed but beaten Blue Larkspur. He was recovering from an appendicitis operation at the time. . . . Lew Raymond will promote boxing in Cleveland this winter. Although he is recovering nicely from his recent operation, National Open Golf Champion Ralph Guldahl has decided to abandon his English movie plans until next spring. . . . When pressed, Art Lane, freshman line coach, will admit that Thatcher Longstreth, cub wing, is the best end to enter Princeton since Gil Lea's day.

Clap hands for little Alfred, the only eastern college to have completed its 1937 football season unbeaten and untied. In seven games the youngsters from that seldom-heralded upstate institution rolled up 168 points to their opponents' 31. . . . Also keep an eye on Williams next year. Alumni report this season's frosh eleven could whip the varsity and that two Exeter regulars of a year ago couldn't even win starting berths on it.

Navy has decided that the old wooden stands at Annapolis, which seat only 20,000, are inadequate for home games. So something is to be done about it—Cliff Montgomery, who starred for Columbia short football seasons ago, now toils for a steamship line and looks thin enough to deserve a vacation—Ralph Hewitt, another Columbia mighty of not so long ago, says he really had only one good day, the afternoon in 1930 when he scored all the Lion's points in the 10 to 7 defeat of Cornell. The rest of his rep, he modestly claims, was build-up. A lot of people, including this corona cresser, can give Ralph plenty of argument on that, though.

Kipke Feeling Heat Over Michigan Team

In spite of Michigan's improved showing, Big Ten agents insist that Harry Kipke will be replaced as head coach next year. They say Gus Dorais of Detroit and try Ubertz, former Wolverine quarterback and now backfield coach at California, are being given the most consideration as his successor—Why not Benny Friedman, one of Michigan's all time greats and the fellow who has done such a swell job at C. C. N. Y.—The heat also is on Harvey Harman at Penn but there is a real question as to who would be willing to be the next victim of the Quaker City grandstand quarterbacks. Lou Little's friends say he definitely refuses to leave his cushy Columbia berth no matter how loudly his alma mammy yells for him. Rutgers alumni also are keeping a file. A considerable portion of them demand Coach Wilder Tasker's scalp, win, lose or draw. . . . Max Machon is writing a book in German. Of course it will be titled "My Twelve Years With Max Schmeling."

Lou Little

Maxie Rosenbloom, former ring celebrity, has opened a cafe in Hollywood—Frank Moran, old time heavyweight famous for his "Mary Ann" knockout punch, is general manager at Vic McLaglen's Sports stadium—Jack Clifford, former Brooklyn matchmaker, now works in the Hollywood sheik's office—Mushy Callahan, former world's junior welterweight champion, is property man at a movie studio—Wrestling fans should like Hjalmar Lundin's new book, "On the Mat—and Off."—Another reason why the Yankees won the 1937 pennant is contained in the statistics which show Relief Pitcher Johnny Murphy and Frank Makosky won 17 games while losing 5.

Personal nomination for the country's best judge of golfers, George Low, the husky and popular young Philadelphian who never misses a tournament. Dauber has a swell chance to win the Santa Anita Derby in February. That's a tip from Harry Richards, the topnotch stake rider. . . . Yale will be hard hit by graduation, losing Frank, Ewart, Hessberg and Colwell among others. But don't be surprised if the Elis turn up with another high-class football team next fall. The Fresh team went through the season unbeaten, swamping Harvard and Princeton and revealing a future varsity great named Mickey Reilly. Barney Ross, welterweight champion, will make his home in New York after his marriage to Miss Pearl Siegel. . . . Ray King, Minnesota end whose interception of a forward pass made possible the Gophers' victory over Northwestern, was playing out of position when he grabbed the toss. . . . Bernie Bierman explained that the reason King was away from his normal position was because Northwestern several times tipped off its passes and King knew definitely when and where the pass was coming. . . . The first-string guards on the New York university freshman team are named Cohen and Kelly. . . . Louisiana State students transport their tiger mascot from game to game in an electrically lighted trailer.

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

By VIRGINIA VALE

HALF of Hollywood is diligently searching for giddy comedies, the sort that have made Carole Lombard and Irene Dunne outstanding stars. The rest of the film colony figure that the public is going to be fed up on loony antics soon, and are getting ready to delve into very serious film biographies.

Garbo still wants to do a comedy, but has turned down four stories that the studio has submitted to her. Kay Francis is all set to launch into a laugh epic. Tyrone Power and Loretta Young have started work on "Her Masterpiece," hoping that it will be as entertaining as their current "Second Honeymoon."

In the biographical division, there is the life of Clara Barton in which Irene Dunne will star, the life of Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, in which Tyrone Power will be featured, and the life of George Sand, woman novelist, which will star the dainty Annabella.

In the latest radio poll Charlie McCarthy, to no one's surprise, is voted the most popular radio star, and by a wide margin, too. The great hit of the ventriloquist's dummy and the growing appeal of Betty Lou, that imaginary character on the Valley hour, has set radio sponsors to looking for novelties. And the next one to bid for your approval will be a talking parrot. Sketches are all written for the bird, but the feathery star itself has not been located. It seems that all the tryouts have been a failure.

It takes a long time to score success in radio, motion pictures, and on the stage, so it is a good idea to start at the age of eleven as Joy Hodges did. She is almost twenty-one now and can point with pride to the months when she sang on the radio with Ted Fio Rito's and Ozzie Nelson's orchestras. You will see her on the screen in Universal's "Merry Go Round of 1938" and she is playing the lead with George Cohan in the outstanding Broadway hit of the year, "I'd Rather Be Right," which spoofs the New Deal in amiable fashion. She supported herself all through her four years at Des Moines high school by singing at revival meetings and on the radio.

When you see Carole Lombard in "Nothing Sacred," and Barbara Stanwyck in "Breakfast for Two," you may assume that a course in boxing is a necessary part of every screen actress' training. Barbara puts on gloves and goes after Herbert Marshall for all she is worth, punning and swinging until you begin to fear that Marshall will have to play masked bandit roles the rest of his life. Carole doesn't stop for gloves or any such niceties. She just goes into a slap-happy routine with Fredric March with no holds barred.

The M-G-M radio hour, improving every week, is going to be even better, because it has been decided to concentrate more on comedy. Ted Healy, who hasn't had a chance really to distinguish himself in their pictures, has walked off with all the honors in their radio shows. All inquiries about audience reaction bring a request for more Healy specialties. You will be getting them from now on. Soon R. K. O. will launch a radio hour with Milton Berle as master of ceremonies—probably late at night so that it won't interfere with your going to the theater to see their pictures.

ODDS AND ENDS—Grand National has ambitious plans to star Tex Ritter, Ken Maynard and Ruth Mee in one big super-Western. . . . When you hear dog barking in the radio serial, "Pepper Young's Family," it isn't a sound-effects man at work. It is the well-trained pet of Jean Southern, regular member of the cast. . . . Charlie Farrell, encouraged by the great comeback of his former partner, Janet Gaynor, is going to try a comeback too, with Paramount. . . . Eleanor Holm had to swim alongside two alligators in "Tarzan's Revenge." Two rifle marksmen stood by just in case. . . . Latest actor to want Olivia de Havilland to play opposite him in a Broadway stage play is Brian Aherne, but she still says "No." . . . Voting will begin soon for best screen performance of the year and Charles Boyer is likely to win for his portrayal of Napoleon in "Conquest." . . . Meanwhile several radio sponsors have voted Nadine Connor, currently substituting for Jeannette MacDonald Sunday nights, the best woman singer on the air.

WOMEN WHO HOLD THEIR MEN NEVER LET THEM KNOW

NO matter how much your back aches and your nerves scream, your husband, because he is only a man, can never understand why you are so hard to live with one week in every month. Too often the honeymoon express is wrecked by the nagging tongue of a three-quarter wife. The wise woman never lets her husband know by outward sign that she is a victim of periodic pain. For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. During Adolescence for motherhood. 2. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife. Take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Pumpkin Custard a Real Treat.
TREAT the family to a pumpkin custard as a change from the usual pie. Canned pumpkin is suggested because it is already cooked, mashed and ready to use, which saves considerable time and energy. Beat eggs slightly in a basin, not too large or too deep. A good size would be one which holds a quart.

Pumpkin Custard.
2 cups canned pumpkin 1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup sugar, part 1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 teaspoon cinnamon 2 1/4 cups milk
1/4 teaspoon cloves

Beat pumpkin thoroughly with dry ingredients. Beat eggs slightly, add to milk and combine with pumpkin mixture. Pour into baking pan, set in a pan of water (1/2 inch deep on pan), and bake for about 45 minutes in a moderate oven (375 degrees), or until a knife comes out clean when inserted in the center. Chill before serving, unroll onto chop platter, and garnish.

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—due to impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Recommend Grasses To Prevent Erosion

"Shifting sands and muddy water on cultivated fields are omens of bankruptcy for the farm owner," says Dr. N. E. Winters, conservator for the soil conservation service in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma last Saturday in encouraging the planting of grass on fields suffering severe erosion.

Many fields now in cultivation would be more profitable in grass, Winters said. A protective cover of grass was cited as being able to stop soil losses and at the same time produce a profitable feed crop.

On demonstration erosion control projects and CCC camp areas under the SCS in Nebraska, hundreds of acres of land subject to erosion have been retired from cultivation and returned to grass. Present plans call for many additional acres to be given the same treatment in 1938.

"Grass is one of the best soil holders known," Winters pointed out. "In the early days before the prairie was broken, erosion was not the great destroyer that it is today. Use of grass can bring protection to fields that should never have been plowed."

Martha Crockett Resigns Position in Shole School

Miss Martha Crockett has resigned her position as principal of the Sholes school which is to take effect the first of next semester. She expects to leave for Washington where she will make her future home. Miss Crockett has been principal of the Sholes school for four years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Crockett.

Sheep Outlook Is Favorable

The long-time outlook for the sheep industry is comparatively good, Wayne county farmers were informed this week by the Nebraska Farm Outlook being published at the Nebraska college of agriculture.

Since 1931, the total number of sheep for the entire country has been fairly stable but changes have occurred in several regions. There has been an increase of sheep in Texas but this was offset by decreases in other states. Sheep numbers for the country as a whole are not expected to change much during the next few years.

The report indicates further that there is not expected to be as large a decline in lamb prices as for other livestock. Most Nebraska farmers, it added, can well afford to keep a few sheep as a part of their livestock program for the next few years.
