OUR NEIGHBORS

Wakfield Republicans.
Mrs. Bud Bloodhart has fairly recovered from the effects of a bad burn in the face, caused by the explosion of kerosene oil.

A. F. Chan, living between here and Wayne returned last Saturday from Lee county, Ill., with a car load of stock belonging to his brother-in-law, Julius Bernhardt, who will settle the contract in the spring.

Paul Rice, A. Rice and Pres. Richardson returned last week from Louisiana, not very well impressed with that locality. For the man who is not willing in south Nebraska is as good as no prospect of the union. The man who has spent enough to secure 30 or 40 acres of Northeast Nebraska soil is sufficiently well provided for in life.

It will be remembered by many that about six months ago there was a mad dog scare in our town and the following canine bit several animals around town, among which was a fine dog belonging to Charles Merritt. The horse started to symptoms of irregularity until last Saturday when the animal became suddenly uncontrollably mad and the next day, as a consequence, killed sufficient swine. Toward the last the horse became raving, trying to bite everything and not infrequently he would jump into the teeth of one of his riders, who he bit bitter with as much as if endeavoring to tear the flesh from the bones.

Residence in Washington Road.
A social hop in honor of the departure of Mr. Henry and family was held at the Board House last Friday night, being the 11th of the winter the attendance was not large. About fifty people kept time to music's theme into an early hour in the morning. A most enjoyable time is reported by all who attended.

The Road House is about to change management. Mr. H. M. Henry, who has given general satisfaction for the past, will move to Wayne and take charge of the Road. We deeply regret the loss of Mr. Henry and family. As yet no arrangements have been made for his successor. Mr. Henry only awaits favorable weather to return. Mr. J. F. Ziegler is clerk.

J. E. Finch & Son are closing out their stock of merchandise at this point preparatory to leave the "breakers town" as they often term it. We are glad to see the father and son looking for something that suits them better. It is not pleasant to have business men in any town that are always dissatisfied with the town in general. We understand that Wakfield has opened their doors and will endeavor to satisfy the dissatisfaction. We wish Wakfield abundance of success in this undertaking. We are sure that the gentlemen would not mind not doing the business necessary to keep the gentlemen in our midst. However we wish them and their families success wherever they may get their lot.

Business Journal.
The fiscal county supervisor Collins is talking up the matter of putting in a large and well equipped reamery in Barnard. While some are inclined to discourage the enterprise on the ground that we have not contributed over $1,500 for a mill house, we find that most of our people are willing to do something towards securing a creamery. Finding it reasonable proposition is made. This is the correct view to take. Some may be content with a mill but a level-headed business man will quickly realize that the more similar business we can secure the better it will be for us all. So let us encourage every enterprise that presents itself.

When two Chinamen meet they say "Chin-chin." When congress meets it is called "Chin-chin," but that is what it does.

Mr. Cleveland is in favor of free wool, but Mr. Lincoln was ahead of him on this point, as the emancipation proclamation shows.

The law of Nebraska regarding the liability for damages from the sale of intoxicating liquors by licensed persons, as expounded in a decision of the supreme court just rendered, gives the widest scope for redress to persons damaged. All persons who by the sale of intoxicating liquors contribute to the damage of any one are jointly and severally liable, as also are the sureties on license bonds, and such sureties are liable not only for damages directly resulting from the acts of their principals, but for all damages to which such acts contribute. Furthermore, the liability of sureties is continuous during the disqualification of a person to support his family by reason of his intoxication, regardless of the termination of the license year, so that a habitual drunkard whose liquor to sell may become a life charge upon the streets of those who sell him the liquor. The termination of the responsibility of sureties is reached only when there is an end to the disqualification of the drinker. This far-reaching liability of sureties on liquor license bonds must induce great caution in assuming so serious an obligation.

On Dec. 12 Senator Blair presented to the United States congress a petition asking for the submission to the several states of an amendment to the constitution of the United States for the prohibition of the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation, and sale of all alcoholic liquors as a beverage in the United States. He also asked for the appointment of a national commission to investigate and report upon the alcoholic liquor traffic.

The London temperance hospital has been established fourteen years. In that time alcoholic stimulants have been reported to in not more than five cases, and in these instances the results have proved no more successful than where remedies ordinarily used in the hospital were employed. Up to the present time over 20,000 patients have been under treatment, more than 12,000 of whom were to a greater or less degree addicted to drink. Many of those seeing the good effect of the treatment have become total abstainers. The rate of mortality is but .8 per cent. In few cases were there fully one-fifth more deaths among non-abstainers than among totalists.

The New York Nation, speaking of the labor question and drinking habits of workmen, says:

"Improvement in the laborer's condition is impossible without cutting down his drink bills. No social arrangement which man can make can benefit people who get drunk. No matter what wages you pay a drinking man, neither his condition nor that of his family can be improved thereby. There is no use in providing extra holidays for men who use them to get drunk. There is no use in cutting down the tax's labor from ten to eight hours, if the ten hours that are gained are spent in a rum hole. There would be no use in making arbitration compulsory, if one of the parties was like to be kept from their job by liquor. There would be no use in handing over all the property in the world to laboring men, if they drank as they do now. Tax would soon dissipate it and add nothing to the store."

Mr. Canadian city of points has been voted for repeal under the Scott act. Markhead, Mass. has increased her valuation $100,000 under prohibition.

Gov. Larrabee of Iowa, reports that in 82 out of the 99 counties in that state have no saloons.

The Catholic church of Dubuque has started a movement for total abstinence in that city.

The supreme court of Iowa has decided that railroads can not be compelled to transport beer in that state.

The Queen Regent of Spain has signed a decree regulating the manufacture and importation of intoxicating liquors, and prohibiting the sale of impure alcohols throughout her dominions.

Mr. Wilfred Lawson says "There is no old saying of which I am fond. Some great man said 'I never know any one to get lost upon a straight road.' It is only when you try to make short cuts—when you try to dodge a principle, that you get into scrapes."

There is one thing to be said for the lion's hand. It never hangs back and blanches and protests incompetency when asked to play.
