OUR NEIGHBORS.

COLLECTOR SENTENCE.

The Collector held mass in Martin's hall last Wednesday and a goodly number of our enterprising catholic neighbors were in attendance. The Rev. Father Moriarty, of Wayne of course, was in charge.

WEDDING.

John Christian, a Sneebe farmer, 45 years of age, was last night married to Miss Sneebe, 22 years of age, at the residence of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Moriarty.

RECENT JOURNAL.

We learn that Ingle, of the Pender Times, and his wife, have mutually agreed that their marriage should be dissolved.

RECENT JOURNAL.

Wm. Hollstein has just finished putting up his new barn. The barn is 14 inches high, and is clear to the roof. The roof is 26 inches thick, but mostly slush or snow ice.

RECENT JOURNAL.

The measles, chickenpox and diphtheria are in town, and people are warned to be on their guard against allowing their children to be exposed to these diseases and especially to the diphtheria. On Monday a child of Mr. Johnson, who resides near the school house, died from what is said to have been a very malignant type of diphtheria.

RECENT JOURNAL.

The coal company still continues to deliver its coal into the bowels of the earth. The shaft is down about 60 feet, and was progressing very fast. It is believed they will in due time reach a large vein, but when it will be is as yet very uncertain.

RECENT JOURNAL.

H. Folsom, living east of town, was caught out in the storm, and wandered about for two hours before reaching home. He had on wooden shoes and they were soon lost in the snow. His feet and hair is were badly frozen.

RECENT JOURNAL.

Charles Lamb says it was so cold here in the winter of '73 that all the whips in town were frozen solid. The wagon keeper, he further alleges, melted the whips and ran it through cast-iron moulds and packed it away. In the summer he sold it in sticks, 10 c. each, or three for a quarter.

RECENT JOURNAL.

The winter passed that winter in Madison, and can testify to its being an unusually cold one. During nearly the whole winter no one pretended to blow out a lamp, but would take a stick and knock the light to the floor, and the children would pick them up and save the largest and brightest ones and play with them for months. One boy who had twenty fine bright matches on a string traded them to an Indian for a splendid buffalo robe. One man had an ice house, and as fast as the fire in the stove would freeze he would knock the lights off with a pecker, and then packed them in his ice house—a layer ### of blazes and then a layer of ice, and so on till he had nearly filled the house. All the following summer his wife did not have to cut a bit of wood. If she wanted a fire she just ran to the ice house and got her apron full of the blazes and put them in the stove, applied a match, and lo! there was a roaring fire.

CONCORD, A WEEKLY PAPER. Largest Circulation of any Paper in Wayne County.

Official Paper of Town and County, THURSDAY, JAN. 26, 1898.

Property to the amount of $150,000,000 went up in smoke in the United States last year.

A bill has passed the senate providing for the return of the direct taxes collected in the different states in 1891.

The supposed discovery of natural gas at Chicago is expected to produce the wildest real-estate speculation on record.

Governor Thayer has issued an order guaranteeing the state against cattle from infected districts in a number of states.

The Republicans carried the election in the new county of Perkins, formed of a portion of Keith county. No choice of county seat was made.

It is said that the new postmaster general has a truly Jacksonian contempt for civil service reform, and will proceed at once to make clean sweep of all reformers remaining in the postal service, paying special attention to filling the places in the railway service with thoroughbred democrats.

The cold waves last week so depleted the stock of coal along the Union Pacific that in many of the towns the people took matters into their own hands, forcibly seizing the coal cars in transit and hauling away the coal. In some cases they even mounted the engines and took the coal from the tenders. Resistance from the train men was met by the threat that they would ornament telegraph poles if they did not submit.

Representative Plumb, of Illinois has discovered that an alteration was made in the original law authorizing the issue of over seven hundred millions of the outstanding four per cent bonds, by which, instead of being made payable at any time within their life by the pleasure of the government, they were made payable at the expiration of thirty years. The matter will be thoroughly investigated, and it is believed that the bonds can be recalled now the question of the capital will be specifically settled, and the government saved about two hundred millions of interest.

An attempt is being made in Omaha to compel the saloons to close at the hour prescribed by law, and to remove all screens and blinds. The saloons intend to combine and resist enforcement. They could not make a more foolish movement. It is simply a repetition of the action of the liquor men in Iowa and other states, where by continual violations and open opposition to the law, they aroused a sentiment that resulted in the enactment of prohibition. If prohibition comes soon in Nebraska, the liquor men will have only their own shortsightedness to blame. The Sixteenth law is strict, and though the saloons may think it unjustly so, their only safety lies in complying with it. A great many voters not particularly in favor of prohibition are emphatically opposed to law breaking, and would not hesitate long in making a choice between them.

The Herald still harps on the price of iron in connection with the tariff, and continues to claim that protection is for the people, notwithstanding the fact that under it the cost of iron products has been reduced to one fourth of what it was under free trade. What is true of iron is true of wool. There never was a time when every kind of woolen cloth and clothing was as cheap in this country as it is now. The same is true of protected cotton goods, of protected silks, of protected carpets and books, and of thousands of other protected articles that are necessities of life. The protective tariff protects our people from 10 to 400 per cent. England had what might be termed a "soft soap" under free trade in this country. Since then the protection of the United States has nearly doubled, and inspired by the hope of getting possession of our economic trade, it is no wonder that England is working with all her might, and that her Golden Rule is pouring money into the democratic campaign.

The only people that protection in this country "ruin" are those of the old world. That is the kind of law by the Republican believes in—Omaha Republican.

Mr. Mast's book on "The Art of Revolutionary Warfare" will not meet all the wants of its anarchist readers. It lays down no tactics for keeping out of the hands of the law, says Mr. Mast, although a profound master of the art of revolutionary warfare, shows by his own case that he is unable to devise any.—Chicago Times.

It is a lucky thing that Barnum's elephant Alton died, for in her stomach were found between three and four hundred pennies. Had she lived much longer and continued this absorption of the currency, a catastrophe to the money market would sooner or later have been the result, with a consequent panic in Wall street.—The Epoch.

A Surprised Teacher.

A number of St. Paul boys are attending Notre Dame university, at South Bend, Ind. There is also at the school a student from France, a full-blooded marquis, who, in his utter ignorance of the English language and American customs, has been affording the boys a good deal of amusement. Recently the boys have been teaching the marquis correct English. I shall not say whether any of the St. Paul youths were among his instructors, and have been succeeding admirably, as the sequence will show. Through deficiency of intellect or natural obtuseness the marquis acquired his knowledge of English in a parrot-like way, a given expression for a given occasion, as is Olanoff. One day the president sent for him about some trivial matter. He asked the boys how he should address him, and was duly informed. Entering the venerable president's study, he made a sweep with his hat, almost touching the floor, and saluted him with, "Ah, there, old sport." The amusement of the president can best be imagined. An explanation followed, and the astute instructors in English were duly rewarded, but the marquis got a ducking in the icy waters of the lake for "giving them away." He has since declared his intention of returning to France, where schoolmates will treat him with more deference.—St. Paul Globe.

Low-Born Cardinals.

The cold weather record was all knocked to pieces last Saturday night in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan. At Minneapolis it was 48 below, Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin got to the head of the list with with 68 below, and many places report from 50 to 55 below.

Additions to the death roll from the mizzard continue to be made, and the loss of life will certainly be not less than three hundred, and may possibly greatly exceed that.

It cost Omaha three hundred thousand dollars to run her public schools last year.

HENRY LEY Wayne, Nebraska.

W.C.T.U. All in Service in Iowa. The liquor men of Iowa never were in so tight a place as now, and with the most impudence they have been pleased to assume whenever very hard pressed, they are causing dispatches to be sent out over the country claiming that the saloons are again getting the upper hand and are about to wipe out prohibition at one fell blow. The dispatch from Council Bluffs to the New York Tribune, asserting that the Clark prohibitory law is in serious danger of repeal, because it is obviously evidently inspired by the liquor ring and not by the facts. Of course the usual desperate effort will be made by the rum party to include the coming legislature to repeal the Clark law. A few republicans who have joined the rum brigade will help, but the attempt will fail. Prohibition has never been so strongly entrenched in this state. The decision of the United States supreme court was hailed with joy by all friends of law and order, strength among their hands while carrying dismay and utter discouragement into the ranks of the abolitionists and brewers. Brewers and distillers are suspending operations and removing their plants and other fixtures. High license Nebraska is the chosen refuge of felons of many of the exiles. Petitions are being circulated in many localities asking the state to reimburse the brewers. This hour the petition granted by a legislature strongly for prohibition to men who have for years persistently defied the law, and who have murdered Dr. Haddock and others who have sought to enforce the law. By the use of money provided in immense quantities by liquor organizations, mostly outside the state, and the consequent snubbing of witnesses and other methods, John Arnsford was acquitted, but he will carry the mark of Cain as long as he lives, for there is little doubt in the minds of the people that he was fully shown to be guilty of the murder of Haddock. Judge Shiras of the United States district court has remanded all the brewers and saloon cases before him to the state courts. This renders the enforcement of the prohibitory law a comparatively easy matter, for it means that if such cases are hereafter taken to the federal court the writ will at once be remanded, and thus final judgment will not be delayed by appeals. It is generally conceded that a large majority of members of the legislature are pledged to do as made enforcement possible in every part of the state. Temperance workers from different parts of Iowa are in session today to agree upon the amendments needed. A demand will be made for the repeal of the odious pharmacy law of two years ago, under which many drug stores have become saloons. There seems a division of opinion as to the kind of law that should be passed to provide for the sale of liquors for the excepted purposes. Some favor placing the business in the hands of county or town agents, and this seems to have the most support. Others favor authorizing the sale by a few druggists under proper restrictions. "HACKMETACK" a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25c and 50c. Sold by B. J. Kass. For the past two years an advertisement under the heading "An End to Bone Scraping" has been going the rounds of the press. It has become a positive nightmare to sensitive people. It is worse than the "punch, consider, punch with care." advertisement. It is sandwiched in between sentimental poems. It follows heavy editorials. It works its way into the telegraph columns, and looks arms with the city editor's briefest articles. The people are glad that there is an end to bone scraping, but they do not care to be reminded of the fact more than ten times a day. The ad in question must be suppressed.—Lincoln Journal.

That HACKING COUGH can be quickly cured Sibley's Cure. We guarantee it. B. J. Kass. An entirely new machine has been invented for printing postal cards from the roll, and to turn them out packed in bundles of twenty. This machine prints the cards at the rate of 300 a minute in the usual way by means of a rotary press. A set of knives then cuts the cards off and drops them four abreast into little cells prepared for them. When twenty-five cards have dropped out a set of steel fingers turns the package over twice on paper bands about and pastes it together. The packages are caught in an endless chain of buckets, which carry them into an adjoining room, where they are received by girls who place them in boxes ready for delivery. One man can look after two machines. Buckley's Arctic Salve. The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Piles, Burns, Fetter, Chapped Hands, Blisters, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25c per box. For sale by Wightman & McFarland.
