REPUBLICAN TICKET.

For Representative in Congress,
G. W. E. DORSEY,
of Dodge County.

The republican state convention is to meet at Lincoln, August 27th.

The democratic campaign war cry is to be "Cleveland, Thurman and the banana."

The next president of the United States will be nominated in Chicago next week.

The Boyd-Morton row makes an interesting side show attachment to the democratic circus.

Cleveland and Thurman make the combination known as a dangerous ticket. Heavy end behind.

The democratic papers do not have much to say about the Gregg section.
It was a cold day for the sun-washed.

Omaha is preparing to make an effort to divert a portion of the Texas cattle trade from Chicago and Kansas City to that place.

The county treasurer of Merrick county is unable to make his books balance by thirty-five thousand dollars. His bondsmen will make them

The Nebraska delegation sat down on J. Sterling Morton very hard at St.
Louis. He was not even permitted to act as second assistant doorkeeper to the delegation's rooms.

In the protection districts the democrats call their platform a protection document; in the free trade sections it is for free trade, and in the doubtful places it is for nothing particularly, but just straddles.

Voorhees' speech nominating Gray of Indiana for vice president, was a very plain admission that without Indians the democrats cannot hope to succeed, and that without an Indian man on the ticket they could not carry the state.

The Bee announces that if Deppe is nominated it will not support him.
Neither will it favor Cleveland, and as it is so bitterly opposed to prohibition that no one could imagine that it would support a prohibition ticket, there will be nothing left for the Bee to do but throw up its hat for Belva Lockwood.

The re-nomination of Cleveland and the adoption of a free trade platform will fill the English soul with a great admiration for the democratic ticket.
Unfortunately for Grover, however, the election will not be held in England, and his popularity there will not help him much with American workmen.

Representative Dorsey appeared before the committee on appropriations in behalf of the proposed improvements at the different military posts in Nebraska, and presented the matter so strongly that the committee, which before had been opposed to the appropriation, will report favorably, which insures its passage. Mr. Dorsey may not throw many glittering generalities into his work, but when it is a matter of securing favorable legislation for his state he gets in effective work.

It is such abuses as those referred to by Mr. Steele that will compel this part of the state to keep up an agitation for another road until it gets it.
And yet there should be no reason for such a course. The Northwestern system and the country through which it runs should naturally be friends, and if a wiser policy prevailed in its management there would be an end to the demand for a new railroad. It is not more roads we want so much as fair treatment by the road we already have. If the Northwestern will give us fair rates and decent treatment, it will be little encouragement a new road would receive. But it must show that it is really disposed to treat the country fairly by giving it as good accommodations as the circumstances will justify and permitting it to ship to or from any place it pleases without any petty vexations or unnecessary delays.

Shipper's house for the wealthy man, Capitol, Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha have been explained of the manner in which they are treated by that road with regard to shock caused by to South Omaha. There seems to be a disposition to worry shippers into sending their cattle and hogs to Chicago, thus giving the Chicago & North western the benefit of the long haul from Blair. So persistent has this policy been that the state legislature in that session of Nebraska tributary to that road have become wealthy and are disposed to ask if there is not some means to stop the discrimination.
Mr. T. J. Steele, a Wayne shipper, was in the city yesterday and undertook himself to a Republican reporter.
Mr. Steele had left Wayne, which is about a hundred miles from Omaha, at 7 o'clock in the morning on June 5 and 6 o'clock Thursday morning reached South Omaha, to be unloaded between 2 and 3 o'clock Friday morning. Now Mr.
Steele thinks there is something wrong when it takes twenty hours to travel 100 miles. "Our stock," said Mr. Steele, "was landed on the cars at Wayne between 7 and 8 o'clock in the morning and hauled on the way freight and brought to Blair. Then we had to wait several hours before we started for Omaha. A few miles out from Omaha our train, which consisted of about a dozen cars each, were picked up along the line, were value-placed for about five hours before it was sent on to South Omaha. That would not be so serious if it was an exceptional case, but it is not. On any other line, or going any place else except to Omaha, we could get a train made for six cars of stock, but they will not do it for shippers to Omaha though we have from twelve to fifteen cars a day. It looks as if the company did not want to have stock shipped to Omaha, and it really hurts the packing interests here. Now the people through northeastern Nebraska are getting things from the east, and because the men can get better prices, taking into consideration the skinning age and losses, than they can get in Chicago—that is, if they can get stock through in time. The delay yesterday probably cost the shippers on board the train $100, a number having stock which would not have been lost if the train had got to the yards that we could have unloaded at 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon, as we should."
Mr. Steele thought the newspapers and business men of Omaha should take the matter in hand and see if the railroad company in question can not be compelled to give shippers the line sometime in the way of recompence, or if they will not give it to South Omaha. It would seem to be the last thing they attempt to move, and it has to give way to the end of a slow freight when the same number going to Chicago would be made up into a special train and rushed through on passenger time.
All the time the stockholders of the Northwestern Nebraska can understand but are powerless to remedy.— Omaha Republicans.

LEGISLATION OUT OF THE LEGISLA-TURE. (H. E. Kettner.)

I think it should be the privilege for the people in convention to state the principles they want embodied in the law by the next legislature and instruct their senators and representatives instead of sending them out to the wide world of legislation without a chart, or compass, or pole star over 60 days voyage. Perhaps a county convention, with members of the legislature as committee on preparing bills, run the same as lyceum in winter or any time, and so have a campaign planned in advance instead of leaving everything to a central committee as is now done, would be better.

A law should be enacted for the protection of the present practice of convening for the purpose of providing for regular elections. The business should be strictly confined to public meetings and the press. Any voter wanting advice can readily obtain it from his nearest neighbor, who will supply that article without money and without price, happy to say any amount. Jim Hollings, with whom I have conversed, states that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and applies to kicks, medicine and advice.
That being true the benighted voter can get advice without the candidate traveling over the country to give it.
This plan would save the candidate a great deal of time and expense and the farmer a great deal of profanity.

Such a system would result quite as well as at present. Such a law promptly enforced, would make possible for a poor man to run for office with perhaps a slight prospect of success, which at present he can not do.

I am to some extent an antimonop-olist and don't think it best for this state or nation that all the important men should be of one class of men, which practically has been done so that our government, which was intended to be a government "of the people, by the people and for the people," has become a government of the wealthy class. The poor man of course has the privilege of voting, turning up his hat and shouting something, but he is not heard.

Another law wanted is to provide for express by direct vote of choice of a senator in each legislative district. This would give the people the right to elect their first senator as the member who cast his first vote for him, as directed by his constituents.
In case there were several candidates and no election on first vote, all names should be dropped except the two having most votes. In case of tie all should go either to either the Illinois or Michigan delegation and the one receiving the largest number of votes should be elected.
The members of the delegation in legislature of the different states are, more of a disgrace to the reputation of this country and age. Reform is necessary.

Mrs. ZEPHIE G. WALLACE, mother of Gen. Lew Wallace, will make a lecture tour in Maine next May, by invitation of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of that State.

It is said that the widow of Gen.
Grant will contribute a series of reminiscences to a year to a New York magazine in which her son, U. S.
Grant, Jr., has become interested.

It is not strange that the physicians in charge of the Case of the young man fears further complication in the case. The complications which already exist are more than they can attend to.

Dr. MURIEL MACDONALD has taken the trouble to assert that much has been published about the Crown Prince of Germany was false. No one who has read the contradictory statements regarding the royal patient's condition when he came from San Remo will be surprised at Macdonald's remark.

INVESTIGATIONS concerning the effects of different forms of artificial illumination on the health have shown that the tall candle is the most unwholesome agent and the electric light the best. The incandescent electric light produces only about 1.30 as much heat as the tall candle, while it gives out no carbonic acid or water.
One gas jet in a room will do as much heat as 16 persons.

CHARLES DICKENS says that he has noted one peculiar thing in the country. "Your people," he recently wrote to an American, "are surprisingly familiar with English history and literature. But I cannot say the same of the native ones. I was brought up to the ways of Washington Irving and Nathaniel Hawthorne, and when I came to America I naturally began to talk about them. I soon found that many people with whom I conversed actually needed an introduction to these two authors."

SIR RONALD TAWNEY is the most rapid speaker in Congress. He talks so fast that stenographers become disengaged when he rises to speak. In his speech against the Blair Educational Bill last week he delivered his words at such a rate of speed that the record of the Rev. Phillips Brooks for rapid speaking was regarded almost insignificant.
Hawley spoke at an average rate of from 215 to 225 words a minute, 120 words a minute is the ordinary record of public speakers. But in spite of Senator Hawley's great oratorical feat the Blair bill passed the Senate.

The business men of the town should point the commissioners on the roads until that road is made passable.

West Point is discussing the purchase of a road grade for use on the streets of the town but existing, E. M. Nease, president of the Daily News, says that it can be a good investment as the work can be done better and cheaper than by the ordinary method. Wayne is where West Point is and the town is under water, but there seems to be no desire to do either. The streets will never be in better condition to grade than they are now and there is a good reason why they should not be put in good shape.

A grocery outfit is going through the country pretending to sell groceries at lower prices than they are to pay to home. It is impossible not to say to home, "The people in the city, that every one who buys anything from them will get what he pays for."

They will have a few staple articles cheap as salt, but any ordinary bill of groceries bought from them could be bought fully loaded with the same articles at home.

They charge from our home dealers on the same terms.

The Power of Flowers.

"A charming little scene was," says the "Times," "unveiled the other day in front of the Imperial Palace at Charlottenburg. Early in the morning a little girl of about eight years, dressed in white, appeared in front of the palace carrying a pretty basket filled with fresh and dewy violets. When she shirr went up to the guard at the gate, was bowed down on the creature in mute surprise, and said to him: — 'Please, Mr. Guard, I have been told to take these flowers to you, in particular, in the palace, and here again she repeated her kind request, whereupon the guard, after a few moments, went to take the child with him. She was taken into the adjoining room, where the Empress was once seated. 'My dear child,' she said, evidently moved by the charming picture which presented itself to her, 'the Empress has not yet got up, so I will give you the beautiful flowers and will wait until she has waked with them. Then you may have a seat, and I will tell her who you are, and bid her to the garden.' It appears the little girl was the foster-child of a patches king, a street-leader of the palace."

Where Noah got Out.

"That man is fine," replied Mr. Snappa, "for the ark rested in the southern states."

The Promising Young Doctor.

There is a story going about now that I ought to be made public, and so improbable that it must be true. A very ignorant London surgeon—one of the lights of the profession—the other day observed a postilion fall on the street. He went to his aid, and found him to be dead. He then took a simple fracture of the man's foot, and hurried home. The surgeon used his needles as a splint, and with his own hands and iron-handled hammers, beat the limb tight, put the patient in a cart, and drove to the nearest hospital. There they were received by a young surgeon or his housekeeper. "You've bunged this very well," said the hospital surgeon. "You flatter me," said the girl. "I suppose you're a doctor yourself." "I am not," said the girl. "This is a life-and-death dangerous thing, but the little you've learnt you've put to good account. I can't say you run underneath now, but if you leave soon, address it should be my ward," said the embittered surgeon. And so did—just the doctor.

An Unprofitable Project.

An engineering writer illustrates by a remarkable series of photographs the moving snow from streets by melting with artificial heat. Some 212 degrees is the most effective agent for melting snow. This is equivalent to the heat of 100° centigrade. The snow would convert into ice cold water a little over eight pounds of snow. Ordinarily this method of street cleaning is not adopted because of the cost of fuel, and at least thirty-five pounds of coal would be required for melting off one acre. Allowing 100 cubic feet of snow to the acre, 212 degrees would have to be burned to melt a draft twenty-five feet long by ten feet wide. To this is added the wasted steam, the difficulty of bringing the snow to the surface, and the fact that the water produced by this method of street cleaning is not fit for drinking. If the weather be cold, it must be admitted that artificial heat is not a very promising means of dealing with snow drifts.

There is a movement on rechristen the streets of London having the same name.

An unfortunate Maltese baby that happened to be born on the day of her grandparents' golden wedding was named Asia, Victoria.

A curious relic of Napoleon I. has been brought in Vienna to Prince Metternich. It is a portrait of the great emperor worked in a own hair, and was given by him to a noble Venetian lady in 1809.

Prayer WILLIAM of Prussia's twentieth birthday was on Jan. 27, and the Emperor's gift was a splendid commission to the First and the command of the Second Infantry brigade, with rank of major general.

M. DEINOTRAS SOLAKIAS, an eminent Greek merchant, has promised to erect a statue of Lord Byron at Athens. He left London for Greece the other day, and will on his arrival, at once proceed to give effect to his intention.

REPRESENTATIVE EDWARD J. GRAY, of Indiana, lost his wife sometime ago and fractured the bone of his left arm. He had previously part the loss of one of that arm by a gun explosion, while his arms are no longer bent.

The Duke of Machernberg is making every effort to protect Bohemia from fire. Since his return to England from this country he has purchased a fire engine and organized a brigade which he drills personally. He used to run with the blues himself.

Wong is rapidly progressing on the mansion of Mrs. Seale (formerly Mrs. Maria Hopkins) at Great Barrington, Mass. The large garage is nearly finished, the swimming pool is nearly completed, and the garage is approaching completion, and during their present stay in France Mr. and Mrs. Seale will order more of the furniture.

Mrs. BARRON, whose real name is Mrs. John Maxwell, is living at Richmond, near London, and has literary French books predominant. Indeed, she says she has read most French stories than English. Wilkie Collins, however, she calls her "Uncle father," declaring that all her best work has been done up to the influence of the novels of that author.

The late Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes was like her illustrious husband, a grandchild of "Dorothy Q." She was a woman of high intellectual power, and not only her physical attainments, and her husband referred to her when he wrote that the "I think so" of the pride-wives' wife was more than the stigmatic assertions of many learned men.

Among the dealers reported Friday at the Blockley's Exchange, in Philadelphia, was that of Harry C. Spiegel, whose name is familiar as the investor of "Spiegel's glass." Mr. Spiegel was born in Vermont in 1824. He went to Philadelphia and invented a special kind of coated glass—a water-proof fluid for lining walls and barrels, and several other kinds of considerable commercial value. He was at one time a very rich man, but could not stand pressure, and went down owing to his improvident habits.

A NEW and interesting anecdote of Dan Webster is told by a correspondent of the Magazine of American History. Shortly after Webster lost the nomination for president, he was writing to his friends in Washington. For a time there was no sign of life about the house, but suddenly a window was thrown open, and Webster appeared in his negligee. He recited his bonds on the windowsill and after a short cheering session snuffed a cigar and took it. His closing words were these: "Boys, I am glad to see you, but this is the last time you will hear me say it." He died a few months later, but died in his bed at his home in Marshfield.

Luxuriant Hair

Can only be preserved by keeping the scalp clean, cool, and free from dandruff, and the body in a healthful condition. The great popularity of Ayer's Hair Vigor is due to the fact that it causes complete and rapid growth of the hair, prevents it from falling out, and gives it that soft and silky gloss essential to perfect beauty. Frederick Hunt of Roxbury, Mass., a portly, strong man of 60 years, taking his bath, and after his hair was washed, and after drying with no effect, he commenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "It stopped the falling out," he writes, "and to my great surprise, converted my white hair (which was then about 20 years old) into black hair. I had when I was 25 years old."

Ten Years Younger.

Mrs. Mary Montague of Boston, writes: "For years I was compelled to wear a diadem to conceal a half-pint specimen of my hair. Last fall I sold the cow, and my hair is longer, I could hardly trust my eyes when I saw how much thicker it was. I have been much more active, but there is still a difference. I feel ten years younger."

A similar result attended the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor at Wrentham, Mass. O. P. Prentiss, a blacksmith, of Miss Beulah Failes of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. J. D. Brooks of Bangor, Me., and numerous others.

The secret of hair care is to insure purity of the blood or drainage of the lymphatic system, in which case Ayer's Hair Vigor, in connection with the Vigor Pills, in combination to give health to all the organs of the body. At the same time, it cannot be denied that a great many of these remedies can do much good, if administered judiciously with attention to beauty and temperance habits.
