The Congressional Record of September 22 reports that the Memorial of Mrs. Angie E. Newman, National superintendent of WOPF for Mormon women, in behalf of the loyalists of Utah, Senator Edmunds presented to the committee on territories. He said: "This Memorial is principally, not argument or oratory, but a statement with extracts from the hierarchy's law and regulations concerning marriage and its null, which, after verified, and the document is, therefore, of much value for public information." The Memorial was thus printed and referred.

It gives, in its summary, of the speech of Hon. John P. Caine of Utah, in the House of Representatives August 25, 1888, and to its use as a session makes categorical answers. It also contains a list of the statistics. The first assertion is, that polygamy is a dead issue; that less than one per cent of Mormons are now polygamists. Statistics show that more than half of the Mormon men have been convicted of polygamy under United States law; that the number of indictments out is greater than the number of convictions, and that not one twentieth of those living in polygamy have been reached by law. Six women are incarcerated for "contempt of court" in refusing to acknowledge the paternity of their children. One of these was a girl of sixteen, the wife of her own father, and six months' old child a slender upper lip and no roof to the mouth, and yet polygamy is a hot act. And this is a Christian country.

Some other facts brought out in this Memorial are that since the organization of the territory of Utah, its legislature was solely Mormon—mostly polygamists until the passage of the Edmunds Bill, and in all that time, thirty eight years, it passed no marriage law, no law against incest, adultery, or any sexual crime except rape. Consider what this means to the women of Utah, and then cease to wonder that the Christian women of America are aroused to come to their rescue. Many quotations are given from high Mormon authority proving that open rebellion against the laws of the land is encouraged and enjoined. Here is an extract from a "Conference Record" sent for by John Taylor and approved by the General Conference of 1862: "I have freedom, political equality and the rights of man, that reminds us of similar utterances by liquor organs, it says, 'I do not want to be class as a favor—we demand it as a right. The Edmunds Bill was brought by prejudice, conceived in ignorance, and brought forth in hate.' Another of their utterances read: "Territorial Legislature: The Edmunds Bill is an unjust law, and it will be so until it is buried. We are not here in this territory under the laws of the United States, but under a self-made law."

Mr. Caine claims that the education furnished by Mormon authorities is "non-sectarian" how can this be when the Book of Mormon is a standard reader in their school, and the Territorial Board of Education is appointed by the General Conference of the church? At its last session, September 1, 1888, this conference declared in favor of restrictive laws on education, and appointed seven of the leading lights of the Mormon Church in a Territorial Board of Education. The Memorial justifies Senator Edmunds' statement that it is a document of great value for public information, as it is packed full of inciting to the Mormon problem that can probably nowhere else be found in such compact form. It is entitled "The Criminal Missions' says: 'Facts are figures of God.' Certainly these facts are His figures pointing out a awful danger to our nation. To those who have been misled by the craft consideration of Congress. 'First, as the official record of a people who, under the guise of love for the American flag, are seeking statehood at our hands; secondly, we ask that in this emblem whose crimson bars have been made indelible only by the blood of heroes, you see that in its field of blue no star of dishonor is set.

A man just recently from Mrs. Newman brings the good news that on Tuesday afternoon the senate unanimously passed the bill appropriating $80,000 for a Home for Mormon women. Our readers will remember that the Home is designed to afford a refuge and means of fitting themselves for self-support to Mormon women wishing to escape from the horrors of polygamy. It is the first step in their redemption, and is the thing the thing for which Mrs. Newman and the missionary ladies of Utah have been laboring. All who have heard Mrs. Newman's telling reports at our National Conventions will remember her eloquent appeals for help in securing this Home as the only way out for our sisters from their worse than Egyptian bondage. If they recognize Missions they must have protection, or their lives are not worth a moment's purchase; this protection cannot be given by any private institution, but can be secured only under the United States government. They must be taught something by which they can earn an honest living, or the last end will be worse than the first. These two things the bill just passed by the Senate proposed to do.

THE WINNEBAGO INDIANS are gradually becoming civilized. They are greatly to their interest to immediately dispose of the 30,000 acres of surplus land after the completion of the railroad which is now in progress.

RANDOLPH TIMES. The oldest child of agent Busfield, who has been very low with diphtheria, is at Mosine, Wisconsin, since leaving this place has recovered from this dread disease. This little girl arrived at this office late Friday night. Both of their other children are very low. This will be a terrible blow to the bereaved parents, and the sympathy of the entire neighborhood is extended to them in their affliction.

HARRINGTON NONPAREIL. The brick masses are now on the second stories of the new brick, and there are rumors of newsmen who will be put at various heights. Harrington will add largely to her population as an inevitable result of the town and country, or they would not now rebuild.

DAKOTA CITY EAGLE. We speak, an Omaha Indian, came to the office of medical physician last Wednesday complaining of pain in his throat and having a bad cough. He told the physician that he had spit up a quantity of blood and began to unwrap something he had carefully folded up in a rag. Upon examination the contents were found to be two very small pieces of bone, concave, convex and circular. The man was evidently very much frightened, his eyes were dilated, and he was coughing up some of his bones. After being closely questioned he acknowledged he had eaten a snail a few days previous to his trouble. This was the cause of his trouble, causing a slight ulceration, and were ejected by paroxysm of coughing.

HARRINGTON TIMES. About 2 o'clock this afternoon during the high wind that was blowing, the new brick building of Otto House, the walls of which had arisen up in the second story, was seen to bulge out in the middle of the sides, and then fall into the cellar. A laborer, George Cole, who was working in that part was instantly crushed to death. People came rushing out of the building, and in the middle of the street and it was discovered that two of the bricklayers were on the top of the wreck below, and one was still on top of the scaffolding at the east end, but unhurt. A lumberman was also on top and he came down. One of the other bricklayers, Quimby, received some slight bruises on one arm, the other was entirely unhurt. A street car was made of boards and Cole's body was taken to the town jail. His wife arrived as they were carrying him away, and her own were piteous to hear. It was not thought necessary to hold an inquest. He leaves a wife and four children. There is a general opinion that the walls were not made strong enough. Only the four corners would stand. We can not give further particulars as we hurry to press.

On Division adjourned sine die.

A. R. Carter, C. F. Hughes, Sec'y. O. L. Lamb, Clk.

The south part of the state and all southern Iowa were visited by a big snow storm Sunday.

A mortgage was recorded this week in this county given by the Nebraska & Western Railway Co. to the Manhattan Trust Co., on all the road that may be built from Covington to the west line of the state. Similar mortgages have been recorded in all the counties through which the road will or may pass, and the same thing has been done in Wyoming, Idaho and Utah under different corporate names.

There seems to be no doubt whatever that the road will be built from Sioux City to Ogden to connect with the Central Pacific, and it will be built soon. What road is behind it is not made public, but there is good reason to believe that it is either the Central Pacific or the Illinois Central. But no matter what road it is it will be a great thing for Sioux City and all the country through which it passes. It will probably not come to Wayne and it may possibly not even touch the county, but it will nevertheless be a fit by filling up of the county immediately north of us and inducing the tide of immigration to flow in that direction.

We wish once more to urge every voter in Wayne county to carefully consider the matter in all its bearings before he finally makes up his mind as to how he will cast his vote for senator from this district. Against

Mr. Miller personally, we shall have nothing to say, but every one who has given the matter any consideration knows that he can not be any more likely to be elected. A choice between Mr. Manning and Mr. Bitter was made by Mr. Miller; he will be absolutely thrown away so far as any direct effect on the result is concerned. In choosing between Mr. Manning and Mr. Bitter, we do not see how any farmer in this county can decide against Mr. Manning. Of Mr. Bitter we know little or nothing. Of his character, his views and his qualifications for the office we are all ignorant. With Mr. Manning the case is very different. Almost every one in the county knows him personally, and knows that intellectually he is the peer of any man in the district; that his character is above suspicion; that he has the courage of his convictions, and that in questions relating to the transportation problem, in any of the forms in which it can come before the legislature, he is in full sympathy with the people of the county and the district. By his fitness for the position and the fact that he so fully represents the views of the people of the district, he deserves and should certainly receive the hearty support of his own county.

The Statute Register has the following in regard to Mr. Axen, who received the republican nomination for representative last Friday.

As will be seen elsewhere, the Republican convention held here Saturday, October 21, 1888, elected Mr. Axen a candidate to represent this district in the Legislature next winter. According to custom, Stanton county is entitled to the nomination, and we find that the local association of Wayne tomorrow will ratify the preference Stanton county has shown for Mr. Axen. In making this selection Stanton county desires to guard well its people's interests as well as the honor of its most successful farmer, and an old soldier who has a good war record. While Mr. A. may not have the gift of tongue of an attorney, the choice language of a cultured orator, or the wiles of a professional politician, he has the necessary good common sense to make him desirable to the people as their representative in the Legislature, and trusting him they may rest assured that his confidence has not been misplaced.

Mr. Axen was born in Schleswig, Germany, in 1836. He was apprenticed to a cabinet maker, and after working that and the carpenter trade, came to the United States in 1861 and enlisted in McKee's regiment, 33rd Illinois volunteers, and served with this regiment until it was mustered out. He then joined the 60th Illinois Veterans and served with them until the close of the war. He came to Stanton county in 1871 as one of Uncle Sam's Tommies, and worked at his trades until he was able to get a start on his farm, since which time he has given his attention wholly to farming and stock raising, and has been very successful. He served the people one term as county commissioner, during the building of the court house, which he superintended to the full satisfaction of the people, whose interests he zealously guarded.

Mr. Axen is fully aware that a seat in the next legislature is a responsible one, that grave and important men will be looking to him for leadership for his action, and if the people see fit to elect him to the office his friends have urged him to accept, he will fill the same to their full satisfaction. Mr. A. has shipped each year from three to five cars of cattle and hogs of his own raising, and while not desirous of enacting any legislation to cripple the railroad interests of this state he is strongly in favor of passing some good wholesome laws regulating railroads that will be equitable and just as between them and the people. While willing that the railroads should make their own profit, as in the investment, he thinks it only fair that the farmers should receive rates on their products that would leave them a just and honest recompense for their toil.

Deer Creek and Mt. Hope Bad weather for corn in the orb.
R. C. Osborn is putting up a new windmill.

Mr. McKee, of Dakota, may occupy the same house where Wm. Surber formerly lived.

Mrs. Egner, of Iowa, is visiting with friends and relatives in this vicinity. The people of this vicinity are talking of organizing a literary society at the Francis and Strahan school houses meeting alternately at each place. It is a movement we would like to see pushed to the front.

Miss Alta Giddings, formerly of this county, but who has been making her home in Michigan, has in the past two years, is now visiting with relatives here. She expects in a few days to start for California, where her father now resides.

George Kirshin has bought the farm where John Harsco lives, but he will not move onto it next year, as John has it rented for another year.

C. W. Simons' literary and speaking ability has excited a feeling of respect and admiration. The book was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the literary exercises were good. "How does it make him propose," by Jack Stubs and Roger Jones, was well called, and we congratulate them upon their oratory.

Mr. Editor, please allow me to answer your item relating to the Mt. Hope correspondence. You call me a liar, but you cannot charge me with lies or the thoughts of the people. The very reason Mr. Editor the people of this county did not attend the fair was just what I have intimated, and if you do not believe it charge them 25c again to celebrate the Fourth of July and you will realize the fact. You say the fair and the driving party caused the people to be in different arrangements. This we know, and we also know that the driving party association and the Fourth of July are two different organizations, but they are both the same people. For this reason, because the people would not attend on any other day. Is not this so, Mr. Editor? And another thing. Not one half of the people in this county knew that they were to pay to celebrate the Fourth of July until they arrived at the gate of the fair. It was not the amount of admission paid, but the people to be so far from a hatred against the "Wayne clique," but it was for paying to celebrate the independence of their country. And another thing. Do you suppose the people of this county are going to go to a fair and only get ten per cent of the premium money? Not by any means. You may think they do not care for the premium money, but they do, and why shouldn't they? You may think that they are bucking an ignorant class of people, but you will soon wake up to the fact that you are mistaken. We are not clumps. THE KID.

IMITATION JELLY.

Cheap store which sells the jelly in 10x Cans & Glass

The manufacture of raspberry jam has been increasing late," said a leading dealer to a New York Express reporter. "They are now eight firms engaged in its production, and they make an aggregate of nearly 200 tons per year, which sells for $120,000. The manufacture of jelly is a new movement in the market, though several parties make more of this article for bakers' use.
New York consumers have had the tomorrow to attempt to compete with Holland manufacturers of cheap "jellies," such as those which sell all over the country at the present time at 70 cents a dozen, or less than 4 cents each. The cheap jellies contain these fillers can hardly cost less than 2 cents apiece, and so the difference between the two grades for nothing, the price received for the jelly itself is evidently not much above 3 cents each. Although the demand for this jelly has become large, of late it is pretty well understood that it is principally an animal instead of a vegetable product being composed mostly of gelatine, variously colored and flavored.

The jelly that is manufactured in New York is nearly all made of apples, and sells at about 14 cents per pound.
Apple now forms the base of an enormous number of jellies, such as currant, raspberry, peach, pineapple, etc., which are made by simply adding or extracts to favor the apple jelly, and so perfect is the impost on, that the great majority of consumers are deceived by it in other words can not tell it from the jelly made from the fruit with which this is only flavored. It comes in such cheaply that the grocer can sell it for 10 cents per pound. The Real currant jelly, for instance, costs about 28 cents per pound. The latter is made of one real article and is sold by grocers who enter to the highest class of family and hotel trade.

Hogart's Epitaph.

There are other interesting graves here, but the chief of association which the world has with Christian churches is that therein has the dust of William Hogart. This monument covers a sort of square tower of marble, on which are carved in combination a lunar wreath, rose-tinted palette with the famous "Giant's foot" pencil, a mask, and portrait decorated with rose leaves and acorns. Beneath is a relief of a man in a top hat and "Giant's foot" pencil pointing to the "Giant's foot" pencil.
And through the eye correct the heart.
"If you'll see that, the eye is right,
If you'll see that, the eye is right,
If you'll see that, the eye is right,
If you'll see that, the eye is right."
Dr. Johnson also wrote an epitaph upon Hogart:

"The hand of him here to rest lies Was drew the essential funeral grove; Here closed in death his attentive eye, That saw the measure in the face." I do not wonder that preference was given to the ingenious but of Hogart's "Monsieur D. Conspicuous to Hogart's signature.

He ought to be trusted.
There are different kinds of pink.
They don't always inspire the same response and confidence. A man in Arizona sent in to Mrs. J. San Francisco for some goods. They were to be delivered on credit and he gave a reference in town. The firm called upon the reference.

"Do you know this man in Arizona?"
"Know him? Certainly; know him well."
"What kind of a man is he?"
"He's a splendid fellow; a good follow."
"He's in business there, isn't he?"
"Why, yes, he's an enterprising chap; got lots of push and pick."
"He's a wasser he?"
"What does he wash?"
"Credit."
"Well, we'd like to know what kind of a man he is."
"What kind of a man he is? Grift?
That's what he is. He's the kind of man who'd put up $1,000 on a pair of boots and never wink."
"Thank you, - has Francisco for note."

An Eastern View of It.
The Chinese minister at a leading European court, concluding with an ambivalent Englishman because his wife had gone to England for the education of their children. "You must be lonely," said he, "that of course, you have associated with 'old men, that would be quite out of the question," said the Englishman. "My religion and the law of my country both forbid it. My wife would be in a rage if I took a second one, and my government would punish me severely." The Chinese diplomat was astonished, but presently said: "You Europeans have now so much intercourse with the Chinese that you will be sure to see them become audaciously civilized to as we do." - Argonaut.

Learned His Lesson.
A group of men who had seen something of public life had diplomatic service, were discussing up town the language of diplomacy, when this story about ex-Assistant Secretary Charles B.
Cox was told. It was taking its course in French some years ago, and was said to concern a secretary with the "King of France" as a subject. He was a man who had been in the service of the King of France for some time, and had been very successful in his work. "Mind your subject," said the King to the secretary. "You have been very successful in your work."
"You are very kind, sire," replied the secretary. "I have been very successful in my work, but I have also been very unsuccessful in my work. I have been very successful in my work, but I have also been very unsuccessful in my work."
"You are very kind, sire," replied the
unsuccessful in my work." - New York Tribune.

No Universal Remedy

Has yet been discovered; but, as a preventive of human diseases hereafter, Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., has prepared a medicine which is a universal remedy for all diseases that can be produced. Ayer's Sarsaparilla affects the blood in each stage of its formation, and is, therefore, adapted to a greater variety of complaints than any other known medicine.

Boils and Carbuncles, which defy ordinary treatment, yield to Ayer's Sarsaparilla after a comparatively brief trial.

Dr. C. K. Murray, of Charlottesville, Va., writes that for years he was afflicted with boils which caused him much suffering. These were succeeded by carbuncles, which he had several of consecutively. He then began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after taking three bottles, the carbuncles disappeared, and his skin became healthy and smooth.

That insidious disease, Scrofula, is the fruitless cause of innumerable complaints. Consumption being only one of the most fatal. Eruptions, ulcers, sores, glandular swellings, weak and watery humors, a capricious appetite and the like, are poverty near indications of a scrofulous taint in the system. Many otherwise beautiful faces are disfigured by pimples, eruptions, and unsightly blotches, which arise from impure blood, showing the need of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to remedy the evil.

All sufferers from blood diseases should give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a fair trial - avoiding all powders, ointments, and the like, and especially those worthless compounds, which not only do not cure, but more frequently aggravate and render the disease more frankly advertised.
