Robert Guilford, ex-captain of Boston...

Robert Guilford, ex-captain of Boston... West Point, served several years...

On the day previous to their departure, a party was held in a grove near by...

While these glorious triumphs were being celebrated, and the people were rejoicing...

During this time, Robert was given much opportunity to cultivate the society of her...

As yet, she had never thought to state to her feelings toward him, nor had she...

Robert was now so thoroughly awake as to realize the importance of the situation...

But Mary had another correspondent at her house...

What's the matter with that? I don't know...

She smiled as she recalled the circumstances of the dropping...

And then other and larger letters came from her...

Meanwhile General Taylor's remarkable campaign was ended...

While these glorious triumphs were being celebrated...

During this time, Robert was given much opportunity to cultivate the society of her...

As yet, she had never thought to state to her feelings toward him...

Robert was now so thoroughly awake as to realize the importance of the situation...

The following bill, introduced by A. E. Cady, to provide for an examination into the offices of county treasurers of the state, was ordered to a second reading and referred to the committee on public accounts.

It is created by the legislature of the state of Nebraska: That by and under the supervision of the auditor of public accounts there shall be an examination of the books, accounts and papers of every county treasurer of this state every year.

Section 1. That a brief summary of the result of each examination shall be made in duplicate by the person or persons making such examination. One copy of such report shall be retained by the auditor of public accounts, and the other with the clerk or chairman of the board of county commissioners of the county in which the examination has been made, the report to be published with the regular proceedings of the board.

Section 2. Any county treasurer, or any other officer or person acting as such, who shall be found guilty of any offense herein provided for, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, or to imprisonment for not more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Section 3. That the auditor of public accounts is authorized to deputize or employ any competent person to make the examination provided for in section 1, and to re-establish uniformity in the books, accounts and papers of all county treasurers.

Section 4. This act shall take effect on and after its passage.

While sitting at his desk in the office of the Nebraska Herald-Tribune, he was struck by a falling iron safe, which caused him to sustain a severe injury to his back.

Important measures that will find precedence in Congress. Washington special: The coming week will see the culmination of the tariff work in the senate...

One of these will be the reduction of the duty on lumber from 20 to 15 per cent. There may also be a slight change in the wool schedule.

Mr. Anderson, of Kansas, who led the fight against the report of the committee on the Pacific fund bill, is understood to have been successful in his effort to bring it up this week.

It is possible the conference report on the Nicaragua canal bill will be presented to the house to-day.

Mr. Harrison's conference report on the Nicaragua canal bill is rather an unusual one. It is a compromise between the two sides.

Canada's Black Bear.
From the Popular Science Monthly.
By William Pittman Lent gives an interesting account of the "Black Bear" in the "Provincetown" club of Ottawa (Canada) Wild Naturalist club. The young of bears are produced in March and are generally killed by the Canadian hunters before or after the hibernating season, that showed any evidence of being in the state of maturity. The cubs are very small—not larger, when two days old, than kittens of the same age. The male feeds principally on the berries, wild grape, grapes, berries, dogwood, oak, and Indian corn. They sometimes visit the oak trees and carry off pigs and sheep, and will even kill young cattle when pressed by hunger. They are very fond of swimming in the rivers for the purpose of catching them, and are frequently to be seen along the coast of the island of Anticosti, devouring herring spawns. They are active, though clumsy, and will run with great rapidity, but soon will descend more slowly head upward as soon as it appears safe to do so. They are very shy and timorous in the presence of man, and will run rapidly when they perceive a human being by sight or scent, but they are not affected by the scent of the black bear fights with teeth and claws, and by hugging. When in an erect position he is a perfect master of the art of self-defense and it would be difficult to get in a blow at him. His most vulnerable part is the nose which is protruded forward, and he is constantly and directly connected with the brain. When a bear is standing on all fours there would be no difficulty in striking him with a club; but when he is sitting erect, it would be an entirely different matter. Canada bears feed upon the forest vegetation, especially under the roots of large trees, or occasionally in rocky crevices—about the setting in of the season of frost and snow. They remain there in a quiescent state, although not as well established in their dens as those who have killed them in their dens in the depth of winter—in a trancelike condition of torpor, till the opening of spring. When they first emerge from their four months' slumber they are heavy and fat, and their fur is in prime condition, but shortly afterward they fall off in flesh, and soon become ragged in coat and lanky in appearance. Toward October, if they have had a favorable summer, they are found in good condition, and at any time after the middle of November their skins are the finest color and the thickest and heaviest coat of fur. Bears are still found within eight or ten miles of the city of Ottawa.

SOME MEN WHO DRIVE.
The Pictures of the Most Famous Gentleman Horse Drivers.
"No! the chestnut wins."
"No! the chestnut wins."
"The chestnut breaks!"
"Yes, and the bay wins. Not a bad race, eh?"
These are a few remarks that were heard a few afternoons ago—some similar ones to be heard any afternoon on the "Boulevard." They were called forth by an exciting scrub race which was started just for the sake of having a spin between two wealthy gentlemen of this city. One drove a fast bay to a wagon and the other a chestnut. They had been taking an afternoon spin of the road, and meeting had decided to settle the question as to whose horse was the better. Such races are daily occurrences, and the leaders of them are among the wealthiest of New York's merchants. During the past few years trotting has received a great impetus in this vicinity, and every afternoon the regular patrons of the track are taking their daily spin behind their post. Handicaps board up stables have been erected near the entrances to the park where horses are boarded for about $50 a month. A great many gentlemen are taking a spin in a morning, and then go down to their offices. Many more prefer to attend to their business first and then take their drive in the park and on the boulevards. The regular patron of the Park and road can easily be distinguished from the casual visitor. The former usually drives in a road wagon, sometimes single and sometimes double. His harness is always a perfect in his action, and he handles his reins with a certain ease that can only be acquired with consistent practice. He is usually wrapped up in a thick coat, and when driving appears to be apathetic to all going about him. He lets his horse go in a steady, quiet motion, and in a taking a fast spin of a few hundred yards. Although he seems half asleep, he is really very wide awake and notices every good horse that comes along, and is always ready to have a friendly chat with his friends. The most familiar face seen on the road is that of Robert Bonner. For years he has been a regular patron of the drives, and has done more to further the interest of trotting in this section of the country than any other man. He is known by every one, and he in turn knows all the regular drivers. Mr. Bonner looks more like a well-to-do farmer than a millionaire, and has a large fortune invested in real estate. He is a stout, thick-set man, heavily built, with square, broad shoulders, and looks several years younger than he is. He usually drives a top road wagon, and his favorite horse is a chestnut gelding named "Maid S." He frequently goes along behind the queen of the trotting turf, Maid S., and is very proud of her. Mr. David Bonner is much taller than his brother and has a commanding appearance. He has a black mustache and a military air. He looks like a veteran. Mr. Bonner is a good judge of trotters and is an active member of the Gentleman's Driving Club. He owns several good ones and usually is seen behind his own single. Mr. Alfred de Coriolas, the president of the Gentleman's Driving Club, drives every day on the road a snow mare, by Great Mountain Bay. Mr. de Coriolas is a heavy-set man, well built and a stout, hearty, Spanish descent. He is a native of Jamaica and is well known on Wall Street. He has been a long companion of Billy Florence in his visits to the racetracks, and was a member of the American Steam Yacht Club, and was president of the driving club before he became its president. He is very fond of horses, dogs, pigeons and anything that has any speed. He has a handsome farm near Chateaufort, N. J. One of the new frequenters of the park this season is Mr. Richard Carson. He is about 21 years of age and is making a king of the day of a distinctive title of "Big of the Day." Mr. Carson's father was a very fine millionaire. He owned a large quantity of real estate in the northern part of Manhattan Island, now called Carnegieville. Mr. Richard Carson is tall and well built. He is a stout, compact man, and wears a small black mustache. He drives most fastly, and has an innumerable number of suits. He drives in the park every day, and on fine days he is seen there several times a day. He drives a ten-year-old, a four-year-old, with a team of chestnuts. He is a very fine rider, and has two saddle horses that are said to have the best knee action of any seen in this market. Gen. Tom Eckert, of Western Union, is in the park every morning. On fine days he is in his saddle. He is a very handsome saddle horse and a gray and a chestnut. Both stand sixteen hands high. Sometimes the general drives. He has a fast horse named to a road wagon and spins through the park when the roads are too muddy for riding. The general is a well-known figure in the city, and his commanding appearance when on his horse. —New York Mail and Express.

Luxuriant Hair
Can only be preserved by keeping the scalp clean, cool, and free from dandruff, and the body in a healthy condition. The great popularity of Ayer's Hair Vigor is due to the fact that it cleanses the scalp, promotes the growth of the hair, prevents its falling out, and gives it a soft, silky gloss essential to perfect beauty. Frederick Hardy, of Roxbury, Mass., a gentleman twenty years of age, was fast losing his hair, and tried various growing remedies. After trying various dressings with no effect, he recommenced the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "It stopped the falling out," he writes; "and in my great surprise, converted my white hair (without staining the scalp) to the same shade of brown it had when I was 23 years of age."

Ten Years Younger.
Mrs. Mary Montgomery, of Boston, writes: "For years, I was compelled to wear a dress that contained a lead spot on the crown of my head; but you I gladly lay the cap aside, for your Hair Vigor is bringing out a new growth. I found hardly met my senses when first found my hair growing; but there it is, and I am delighted. I look ten years younger."

A similar result attended the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor by Mrs. O. O. Prescott, of Charlestown, Mass., Miss Dussie H. Dolton, of Burlington, Vt., Mrs. J. J. Booth, of Bangor, Me., and numerous others. The loss of hair may be owing to impurities of the blood, or disarrangement of the stomach and liver, in which case, Ayer's Pills, in conjunction with the Vigor, may be necessary to give health to the system. But the loss of hair sometimes can do much good without a persevering trial and strict attention to the usual hygienic habits.
