Randolph has voted bonds for water works.

Two cases of small pox is reported near Centerville.

The number of males of voting age in Nebraska is 215,000.

Tekamah has voted bonds for the construction of water works. What the matter with Wayne having water works.

Work on the Sioux City car palace will commence in a short time. The Sioux Cityians propose to excel any of their past efforts in this direction.

The Omaha ball club is gradually climbing up the ladder, it now being a number of games ahead of St. Paul. It looks as though they will win the pennant.

The low lands along the Colorado river in Texas were entirely inundated July 18th utterly destroying crops. The loss of the cotton crop alone exceeds over $500,000.

Over $20,000,000 have been contributed by the American people in the past ten years to relieve sufferers from disasters and epidemics. The Americans are a generous people.

The daily papers of Omaha seem to have reached a climax. "Blood-bud" is in their eyes; will it be a case of a Sullivan-Killrain battle for the championship? Or will their war of words result in a draw, with the Bear holding a full hand and the other pigs catching the deuce.

The New York people are beginning to see that trusts formed for public robbery mean widespread ruin, both to city and country. Brooklyn is now to be the chief sufferer. They only once enjoyed a magnificent foreign consignment of articles which were lined with the shipping of all nations. The warehousemen formed a trust, not up the price of dockage and other charges, dismissed thousands of their hands, and part of the warehouse or depot, and as a result, foreign commerce was driven to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, and even to Montreal. Silence now reigns in all the docks and many of the wharves are closed to cross and vessels. Then came the infamous sugar trust, artificially manipulating prices to secure storage of the product in foreign countries. This trust of desecration is necessary to convince the public as to the needings sinfulness of the trust principle. Our cities are full of men in high positions who look upon the trust as a good thing, degrading anything fair that strikes them money. The sentiment must arise through people that the trade of the highwayman is respectably accompanied with the trade of one respectable rascal who conspires with another rascal to rob a man of a whole penny. Over $20,000,000 have been contributed by the American people in the past ten years to relieve sufferers from disasters and epidemics. The Americans are a generous people.

The daily papers of Omaha seem to have reached a "Blud-blud" in their eyes; will it be a case of a Sullivan-Killrain battle for the championship? Or will their war of words result in a draw, with the Bee holding a full hand and the other papers catching the deuce.

The New York people are beginning to see that trusts formed for public robbery mean widespread ruin, both to city and country. Brooklyn seems to be the chief sufferer. That city once enjoyed a magnificent foreign commerce. Miles of wharves were lined with the shipping of all nations. The warehousemen formed a trust, put up the price of dockage and other services, dismissed thousands of their hands, paid part of the warehouses to close, and, as a result, foreign commerce was driven to Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, and even to Montreal. Silence now reigns in at the dockyards, and many of them have gone to grass and weeds. Then came the infamous sugar trust, artificially manipulating prices to secure storage of the product in foreign countries and thus avoid paying storage in Brooklyn. Brooklyn now wails because the trust set to catch the millions and thus enrich a few capitalists in Eastern cities has caught its own people.

We are not sorry. We are really glad that the trust is filling up its measures of iniquity and showing how damnable is any device to secure a monopoly of the necessities of life. This track of desolation is necessary to convince the public as to the exceedingly sinfulness of the trust principle. Our cities are full of men in high positions who look upon the trust with favor, deeming anything fair that makes them money. Public sentiment must show these people that the trade of the highwayman is respectability incomparable with the trade of one respectable rascal who conspires with another respectable rascal to rob a whole people. -Iowa Homestead.

A SCRAP OF PAPER SAVED HER LIFE.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and would live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her. She bought a large bottle and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, Druggist, Fort Smith. DOUBLE LYNCHING

Postmaster Averill and Kate Maxwell, the Cattle Queen,

STRUNG UP BY A COWBOY MOB.

The Surprise and Capture—The Range Queen's Executions—The Ride to the Scaffold and the Last Words of the Doomed Rustlers.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 23.—James Averill and the notorious cattle queen, Kate Maxwell, were lynched by cowboys Sunday night. The bodies of the "rustler" and the range queen dangled from the same limb. Kate Maxwell was the heroine of a sensational story which appeared in the newspapers throughout the country some three months ago, when she raided a gambling house and recovered a large sum of money won from her employes. Stockmen of the Sweetwater region have been the victims of cattle thieves for years. On account of prejudice against the large outfits it has been impossible to convict on the charge and the "rustlers" have become very bold. Averill and his remarkable partner have been very active in thieving.

The Woman Could Hold Her Own on the range, riding like a demon, shooting on the slightest pretext, and handling the lariat and branding iron with the skill of the most expert vaquero. Fifty freshly branded yearling steers were counted in the Averill and Maxwell herds. A stock detective, whose suspicions were aroused, was driven from the place when he was noticed viewing the stolen property. This circumstance was reported to the ranchmen, who determined to rid the country of the desperate pair. Averill and the woman have several times been ordered to emigrate or cease appropriating cattle, but had disregarded all warnings. After her celebrated gambling escapade Mrs. Maxwell degenerated from a picturesque western character into

A Reckless Prairie Virago of loose morals, and lost most of her following, but continued partnership with the postmaster. Word was passed along the river, and fifteen or twenty men gathered at a designated place and galloped to the cabin of Averill and Kate without unnecessary noise. The "rustlers" were at home and a peep through the window disclosed the thieves and a boy in their employ sitting beside a rude fireplace, smoking cigarettes. As half a dozen men rushed into the room, a Winchester was poked through each window and a command to throw up their hands, given with unmistakable earnestness. The two sprang for their weapons, but were quickly overpowered. Averill begged and whined, protesting his innocence. Kate cursed. Her execration of the lynchers was something terrible in its way. She cursed everything and everybody,

Challenging the Deity to harm her if he possessed the power. At attempt was made to gag her, but her struggling was so violent that this was abandoned. She called for her own horse to ride to the tree selected for a scaffold, and vaulted on the animal's back from the ground. Averill did not resist and the boy, who had been told that he would not be harmed, followed. Either end of the rope was fastened about the necks of the "rustlers." The boy made a pass with a knife at the man who was preparing Kate for hanging. He was knocked insensible by a blow with the butt of a revolver. The lad was a nephew of the bandit queen. When preparations for the execution had been completed Averill and the woman were asked to speak. The man spoke only of his office, saying that he did not wish a certain man to be his successor. He was promised

The Influence of the Party for another candidate. Kate made quite an address. She wished the affair kept as quiet as possible, desiring that her mother be kept in ignorance of her disgraceful career and tragic death. It was useless to deny that their herd had been stolen from the ranchmen of that section; if they did not wish to divide it among themselves she would like to have it sold and the money given to a home for wayward girls. Kate bade her nephew good-bye and commenced to deliver a blasphemous harangue. The horses were led from under the pair while Kate was still cursing.

Both Kicked in Lively Style for ten or fifteen minutes. A few bullets were fired into Averill's body and the lynchers rode away. It is doubtful if an inquest will be held and the executioners have no fear of being punished. The cattlemen have been forced to this, and more hangings will follow unless there is less thieving.

Hanged and Shot. ANTONOVIC, N. M., July 23.—Several days ago a number of horses were stolen from Sam Dedrick. A posse started in pursuit and when they met the thieves a battle took place. The leader of the band was killed, two others being captured and taken to Kelly, Socorro county and confined in a house. Sunday night a gang of masked men surrounded the place and took the men from the guard, hanging them to a tree and ridding the bodies with bullets. The men lynched were Mexicans and desperate.

The Mob Was Late. CENTON, La., July 23.—The project to lynch the two negroes, Charles and Isahel Dent, for the murder of Herman Pretorius, was frustrated by the officials spiriting the prisoners away to New Orleans. A mob of 100 men called at the jail at 2 o'clock in the morning but were to late.

Taken From the Sheriff. CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 23.—Dan Malone, colored, aged 23, who assaulted Mrs. Rachel Skinner, white, near here Sunday night, was taken from a sheriff by a masked mob and lynched. He had confessed his guilt.

A Thousand People Homeless. VIENNA, July 23.—The disastrous fire in Paks, Hungary, leaves a thousand people homeless. Six persons were burned to death.

31 YEARS AGO.

The Threshing Machines then in use were almost wholly of the class known as the "Endless Apron" style. Then it was that Nichols & Shepard, of Battle Creek, Mich., invented and began to develop an entirely new and better style of Grain Thresher and Separator, which they very appropriately named the "Vibrator."
It was a revolution in Threshing Machines, and from a small beginning of five machines in 1858 they soon reached a product of 1,000 yearly.
Their Vibronator drove the "Endless Apron" machine out of market, and all other makers copied it as closely as they dared. To day all Threshing Machines of any reputation or merit use the principles of the old Vibrator. Nichols & Shepard have continued in the business without change of name, location, or management; and during the past three years have brought out and developed another new Threshing Machine for grain and seeds, as superior to all existing machines as their former was to the "Endless Apron." They name this new and improved Thresher and predict as great a revolution in the trade, and as complete success over all rivals as they had thirty-one years ago.
