Custom receipts were, in round numbers, $20,000,000, against $19,000,000 in August, 1888, and internal revenue receipts were $11,550,000, or nearly a million and a half greater than in August a year ago. Expenditures during the past month aggregated $28,000,000, against $24,115,848 in August, 1888. The pension charge for the last quarter amounted to $81,740,000, or nearly $9,000,000 more than in August, 1888. The pension charge for the two months of the current fiscal year amounts to $257,000,000, or fully $1,000,000 more than in the corresponding months of the preceding year. Receipts and expenditures for the two months of the current fiscal year, compared with the corresponding months of the preceding year, were as follows: July and August, 1888, $89,387,193; July and August, 1889, $89,208,078. Expenditures July and August, 1888, $80,267,282; July and August, 1889, $99,267,282.

General Grant's Remains.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Swedenborger of States telegraph their approval of the proposition to remove the remains of General Grant from Riverside to Arlington. Swedenborger was absent from the state capitals and could not be reached by telegraph. Except in New York city there seems to be a general approval of the plan at the West. Of course it is understood by all that nothing can be accomplished without previous sanction of Mr. Grant and his family. There is good reason to believe this will be given if the former comrades of General Grant present the request with unanimity.

The Sixth Auditor's Work.

Tanner Paid His Own Bill.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 3.—The story that Capt. George E. Lemon was here paying Commissioner Tanner's bills has no foundation in fact. Tanner, who was here last Thursday night for Chicago his bill was paid at the cashier's desk by John Palmer of Albany, N. Y. who made the payment to save Tanner the annoyance of pushing through the bill and to prevent the news of his departure.

The Pacific Short Line Stops at the River.

THE NORTHWESTERN'S POSITION.

That Company Manipulates the Short City Bridge and Other Matters—Harred from Track Ownership—The Short Line Passes for Relief.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 3.—When the railroad bridge at this place was built it was under a charter granted in 1860 to a private concern known as the Short City Bridge company, and by that company transferred to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. By the terms of the charter any railroad company shall have the right to cross the bridge on the payment of reasonable toll. This much is conceded by the Northwestern company, and with this understanding the Pacific Short Line graded its track up by a connection with the Northwestern track to South St. Louis City, Neb., expecting that it would be allowed to put in switches to enable it to get over the bridge. The Northwestern railroad company says that while the Short Line can run its cars over the bridge for a reasonable toll, it cannot in any way make a connection with the Northwestern tracks as to get on the road bed. Legal advice has been sought, and the claims of the Northwestern are held to be good. The Short Line will be allowed to cross the Short Line until some relief is had in the way of legislation or until a compromise is effected. The Short Line has 100 miles of road all ready for the ties and iron, which is arriving daily. Another 100 miles of grading was to have been laid some weeks ago, but this has also been postponed, and there is a heavy feeling of uneasiness, particularly among the new towns that expect to have a railroad ere this.

ON DEGRADED MEAT PRODUCTS.

The Senate Commission Investigating Transportation Facilities at Chicago. WILSON OF SEPT. 3.—The Senate commission began the work of investigating the transportation facilities and dressed beef products of Chicago and vicinity. The first witness was E. T. Jeffery, general manager of the Illinois Central, who testified that the Illinois Central was not interested in the sale of stock, and had no agreement with that company as to transportation of stock, and that he had no exact figures, but thought the profits of carrying dressed beef and live stock about the same. He has given $100,000 to the commission to carry out the exact figures to Judge Morrison of the interstate railway commission, and would be glad to submit a copy of it to the committee.

It is therefore particularly important that every republican who wishes to have any influence on the result should go to the primary and express his choice of candidates. A vote in one precinct counts exactly as much as a vote in another, without regard to the number of delegates to which either is entitled.

The Short Line has struck an unexpected snag, and work on the line, it is said, will stop until can be removed. The officials of the road expect to cross over the Northwest line's bridge at Sioux City, and made their grade to connect with the Omaha line at the end of the approach. The Northwestern officials say that while they are obliged to permit the use of the bridge they are not compelled to allow other companies to use the approach, and that the Short-Line must build its own.

An anonymous correspondent who signs himself "A Stalwart," takes the HERALD sharply to task for what he characterizes as its "manifest favoritism for Perry;" and after dwelling at considerable length on the merits of the candidates, says: "Would it not look better if you took no part in the matter until after the nominations are made?" Possibly it would, and see no good reason why the HERALD should not indicate its preference as well as our correspondent, and we have no idea that he will wait until after the nomination to take any action. The only point on which the HERALD purveys particular stress was that Mr. Perry had proved himself a "straight and reliable republican by his actions in every political campaign since he has been in the county. By objecting to our using it our correspondent virtually admits that it is a strong virtue in his favor. If it comes to be understood that fidelity to the party is of no consequence, then the party organization might as well be abandoned. It is the privilege of everyone to refuse to support one or more of the candidates nominated by his party, or even the entire ticket, but he should be prepared to take the consequences. We do not believe in any one blindly committing himself to every and all nominations his party may make, but to refuse support to one or two candidates is a very different thing from bolting the party entirely and doing everything possible to defeat its nominees. If in support of one candidate that he has to say of the party is to hurt another candidate, so much the worse for the latter. To welcome back prodigals is all well enough, but if in order to get up a feast of fattened calf for a prodigal it is necessary to confuse the party who have worked steadily at bringing the thing a little too far. To give the biggest plin you have to the fellow who has helped to give you a thrashing may be charitable and forgiving, but it is mighty poor politics.

In order that it may be better understood, we reprint the rules for conducting primaries adopted by the republicans of Wayne county two years ago. It is Wayne county they were originally in the county will read them over carefully.

PRIMARY SYSTEM

Sec. 1. Candidates from Wayne county for the several county and district offices shall have their names announced in one or more of the public county papers at least twice before the primary election, naming the office for which that any person not so announced, who shall receive three-fourths of the entire vote cast at the primary election may be declared the nominee.

Sec. 2. All primary elections held under these rules and regulations shall be held at the usual place in each precinct for holding general elections, and conducted by a board consisting of one of the members of the republican county committee of the respective precincts, and one clerk to be appointed at 3 o'clock p. m. and to be held on the 11th o'clock p. m. In case the members of the county central committee shall not be present at the time for opening the polls, or such precinct shall not have sufficient members of the republican county committee to constitute such board, the republican electors present at the opening of the polls shall fill all vacancies in the board from their number. After the polls are opened the candidates shall be balloted for. A list of the persons to be called to keep the clerks at the time of voting. After the polls are closed the board shall proceed to count the vote that each candidate received and make out the returns accordingly, to be certified to by the board and delivered to one of the members for that precinct of the newly elected committee.

Sec. 3. At said primary election there shall be elected in each precinct as many members of the county committee as may be apportioned to such precinct by the county central committee in its call for the annual primary election, who shall be balloted for during the whole time that the polls are kept open, and hold their office until their successors are elected.

Sec. 4. The precinct election board shall deliver the returns of their board together with a list of voters, to one of the members of the county committee elected at such election by their precinct, who shall take the same to Wayne on the Monday following the primary election, and convene together with the balance of the now committee, in the court house at 2 p. m. on that day, and organize by electing one of their number president and two of their number as tellers or clerks, or if deemed expedient they may be other competent members of the party. The vote shall then be summed up by the newly elected county committee so organized, and the result made known. The candidate announced as required by Sec. 1. of these regulations having the highest number of votes for any office shall be declared to be the regular nominee of the republican party for such office, or elected, as the case may be, provided however, that in case any person not so announced shall receive three-fourths of all the votes cast for any office, such person shall be declared to be such regular nominee or elected.

Sec. 5. In case any two or more persons shall receive an equal number of votes for the same office the county committee shall proceed to ballot for a choice between such persons, tie. Or should the republican voters neglect to nominate a candidate for any office to be filled, the county committee shall thereupon choose a candidate for the same.

Sec. 6. The county committee shall be composed of a majority of the returns from all precincts where there is evidence of fraud either in the returns or otherwise, to the extent of the fraud committed.

Sec. 7. The county committee shall also, at the same time, or at a meeting called for the purpose, elect delegates to the various district and state conventions and a chairman of the county central committee, from their own number or otherwise, who shall serve until his successor is elected.

Sec. 8. All voters wishing to file his primary elections shall be qualified electors according to the laws of Nebraska within their own precinct, and members of the republican party. The precinct election board shall reject all votes offered unless they are satisfied that the person offering the same is qualified to vote at such primary.

Sec. 9. Any qualified elector at the primary election in the precinct where the same is held may challenge any person offering to vote thereat, whereupon the presiding officer or of a substitute on board shall administer an oath to such person as to any other person offering to vote as said board or any of them shall deem advisable, which oath shall be as follows: "You do solemnly swear or affirm that you will truthfully answer to such questions as shall be put to you by the members of this primary election board touching your name and residence and your qualifications as a voter in the precinct, and whether you have before voted at the primary election."

In case any person is challenged on the grounds of not being a republican, if such person supported and voted for the regular republican nominee for state officers at the last general election at which he voted, or declares his intention of supporting the principles of the republican party at the next general election, such ballot shall be received. Provided that the election board shall not be controlled in their decision upon any challenge by the oath of the party challenged, but should they believe the statement and answers under oath of the party challenged to be false, his ballot shall be rejected.

Sec. 10. (This section gives the oath to be taken by the election board.)

Sec. 11. No returns shall be thrown out by county committee on account of any informally thereto, or for want of any oath required thereof unless there be fraud connected with such returns and informality.

Sec. 12. These rules and regulations may be modified or amended in case of an emergency by the county committee.
