Important Facts Brought Out by Vest's Committee.

"BIG POTTS" UNLAWFUL WORK

They Have Suppressed Competition, Controlled Prices, Ruined Retail Butchers, Captured Shipping Facilities, Terrorized Commission Merchants.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 10.—The senate committee investigating the dressed beef question began its session in the parlors of the Midland hotel. George W. Glick, ex-governor of Kansas, and Charles Durst of Atchison were the only witnesses examined in the forenoon. Mr. Glick said the beef business in the cattle raising business for thirty years, during which time the prices had deteriorated 90 to 40 per cent. He claimed that this was due to the establishment at Kansas City of a combine of packers, which had developed a great competition among the sellers of cattle, and his clients related his own experience in attempting to sell cattle at better prices than those fixed by the combine. Chicago, with the statement that after shipping cattle to Chicago he was compelled to sell at "bumble" prices.

He also stated the butcher business at Atchison was being ruined by the combine until the city council passed and enforced a city ordinance requiring the inspection of beef on the hoof. Charles Durst, a butcher of Atchison, testified that the impression existed among his business acquaintances that there is a combination among packers to control the prices of dressed beef and cattle receipts.

It was recalled to testify regarding the sanitary regulations of the Kansas City stock yards he said that no one as he knew there was practically no supervision of the yards. Abel Leonard, a dealer in county stock, Shoun of Saline county, all stock feeders of long experience testified that the depression in prices of cattle, and attributed it to a lack of competition caused by the combination of the packers.

to determine the price to be paid. James Banks, who was in the custom of selling his cattle here, testified his commission man told him in confidence that the "Big Four" controlled the prices. He stated they gave the commission man's name for the Chicago packers would buycott their and run his business.

James Leper and J. Richard Thomas related their experience on the Chicago market, and hoped the committee would go to the bottom of the matter. Abel Leonard, a dealer in county stock, testified that Morris, assisted by the combination, controlled the vessels room, thereby precluding the export of cattle at a profit and that the railroads naturally favored the packers because they got two hauls—one on the live cattle going to market and one in the distribution of the dressed product. James Harty of Kansas City said he operated on the Kansas City market. He stated that he had received a warning not to ship too many cattle. He had not hesitated on account of the warning and had to sell his cattle at a loss.

know it is no more enough, as suggested by him. M. Morris, of Morris, Butts & Co. gave his testimony very reluctantly. He was forced to admit that his customers received threatening letters from one of the packers in the combine. His own firm had received threatening letters, but they did not frighten him. The witness had personal knowledge of a combination between Armour, Swift, and Hammond, by which the territory east of the Mississippi river was divided between them in such a manner that neither would encroach on the territory of the others.

The investigation will continue here until the end of the week. A Railway Approaching Completion. PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The Pennsylvania, Poughkeepsie and Boston railroad will be completed about Oct. 15, and when finished will form a connection at Campbellville with the Poughkeepsie and Boston company. A Warning State Constitution. CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 10.—In the constitutional convention Mr. Fox of Albany offered a proposition adopting the Australian system of balloting. Other suggestions were that no coalition or town should be bonded, that no corporation receive or transact business or land grants from the state, and that each county be entitled to one representative in the legislature of the legislative assembly.

CARLSON COTTAGE

The Famous Building Raided by Dan Coughlin's Lawyer,

WITH THREE BURLY HELPERS.

When Forrest Begins Tearing Out Pieces of the Blood-Stained Flooring Carlson Interfers, but is Quickly Disarmed by the Attorney's Accomplices.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Lawyer Forrest, who is defending ex-Detective Coughlin in the Carlson trial, with the aid of three large and burly men raided the Carlson cottage and succeeded in getting away with pieces of the flooring and walls covered with spots of Cronin's blood. Since the cottage has become famous it has been arranged for the inspection of visitors by the building of a railing across the corner of the room. When the attorney commenced digging under the flooring with a pocket knife Carlson and his son-in-law, Mr. Ludgren, attempted to stop him. Carlson threatened a revolver at Forrest's head. The three men accompanying Forrest jumped over the railing and overpowered Carlson and Ludgren, and held them down on the floor until the lawyer had completed his work. They also took a quantity of the flooring from him. Having secured the specimens Forrest and his three accomplices slipped into a carriage and drove away.

When they had safely reached themselves into the hotel had been shipping back and the other several others were sent out to hunt Forrest, but they were unable to find him. The lawyers' three accomplices are unknown and Carlson and Ludgren can give but a vague description of them.

Seizing a Jury. CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—But little progress was made in the work of securing jurors for the Cronin murder trial. When the court adjourned at 4 o'clock three men were seen to enter. They were arrested by the police and were temporarily charged by the defense.

Could Save for the Facts. ATLANTA, Sept. 10.—The Georgia legislature will at once take steps to expose expelling the would-be distributors. A bill was introduced in the Georgia legislature which is in any correspondence published in a daily newspaper. The bill was printed and shows that the hearing party was held in the city of Atlanta, Ga. It is believed here, however, that there will be some sort of a conflict between the two men.

A Doctor Held for the Facts. ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The doctor who was held for the facts in the case of the murder of the woman who was killed by the doctor, was held for the facts in the case of the murder of the woman who was killed by the doctor.

Newark's Murder Mystery. NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 10.—The mystery concerning the murdered Italian, whose body was found Sunday morning in the Hudson river, is being gradually cleared away. The murdered man's son-in-law, Vito Antonio Long, was arrested as he was going toward the depot. He claims to have come to Newark to arrange for the dead man's funeral, and says he was never in Newark until now and that he was at work in New York on Saturday night. He will be held until Arnold Wiggins, the watchman, who saw a man climb out of the river at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, can have an opportunity to identify him.

Yukon River Mines. SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The story that 400 miners are starting on the Yukon river in Alaska, is being followed here. The statement is based on a letter over a year ago to the effect that the Yukon region has nearly opened up for prospectors. Communication with the Yukon region has been made since the report. Game and fish are always plenty there, and there are not 400 miners in the region.

Foreign Ministers. WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The state department has received numerous clippings from foreign newspapers forwarded by United States consuls, all of the same tenor, and against the International American congress which is to meet in this city next month. The journals profess to see in the coup a well directed effort to wrest trade from Europe and general menace to European industries.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The president had the following appointments: George W. Lyon, surveyor of customs for the port of New York; John W. Sullivan, United States marshal for the district of New York.

WISCONSIN EARLY QUAKES

Damaging the Largest Paper and Pulp Mill in the World.

KATONAH, Wis., Sept. 10.—The village of Florence, Outagamie county, a small place one mile above here, was shaken on Saturday by what is believed to have been an earthquake. The disturbance of the earth's interior seemed to have been directly under the spot where stands the immense pulp and paper mill of the Washburn-Crosby Co., and great damage was done to the structure. This mill was built recently completed. Its built entirely of stone, and the immensity of the same can readily be guessed from the fact that it is the largest paper and pulp mill in the United States. The damage to the mill will reach far into the thousands. The north and east walls of the mill are cracked in many places and have separated from the floor and roof several inches. The machinery in the north end will have to be set over, as it is tilted out of place, many shafts being bent. An arterial wall on a bluff 200 feet above the mill, has ceased to flow since the occurrence.

Fatal Fire at Albany. ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 10.—P. J. Moran's factory was destroyed by fire. Five people were seriously injured by jumping from the windows.

Later—When the fire started there were twelve women and four men in the building. All but the fourth story flames spread so rapidly that there was no time to escape by the stairs, and the roof and walls were used. Three men got out by the hoisting apparatus, but the other three, the bookkeeper, jumped down the elevator shaft and was injured so that he died. Four women jumped from the fourth story window. Mrs. Mack, aged 50 years, fell from a pile of scrap iron, sustaining injuries from which she died. Others badly injured were: Lulu Hartman, Carrie Stewart, Ellen Francis, Mrs. McShane, Daniel Gorman and John Bibeau. All of the latter will recover. McShane's loss is about $30,000; fully insured.

FOREST FIRES IN MONTANA.

St. Forest's Forests, Abies, and Inhabitants. HELENA, Mont., Sept. 10.—Information has just received here that one of the fiercest forest fires yet reported is raging in the St. Regis district in Montana county, on the Rocky ranch, covey and the hostess of the ranch mounted horses and barely escaped with their lives to the river, less than a quarter of a mile away and reached the water after having their clothes nearly all burned from their bodies. A St. Regis prospector and his horse perished in the flames. J. C. Veeber who has just returned from the St. Regis county, is certain that several perished higher up in the mountains.

This can be done the new system will only result in giving the town a controlling voice in making nominations. It is supposed that every Republican in the county has some choice of candidates, and the only way to make it of any effect is to go to the primary on the 28th and vote. If you do not wish the town to make the nominations, go to the primary. Wayne has no desire to dictate the nominations, but you may depend upon it that at least nine-tenths of the Republicans of this precinct will register their choice. And the primary.

A new announcement this week in that of J. D. King for county judge. The nomination is not one of Mr. King's seeking as he only consented to the use of his name at the urgent demand of his friends, and the unanimous request of the bar. There is a general feeling that a great many cases that go to the district court can be tried in the county court, saving time, money and trouble to parties interested, and expense to the county. To bring this about it is necessary that a body of the county should not only have confidence in the honesty and good judgment of the county judge, but also that he has had the legal training to enable him to properly preside in the office. Mr. King's nomination this time has a strong interest in the office on account of the fact that the entire probate business of the county is transacted in this court and how things are managed in greater degree than any other available person the necessary qualifications, and that he will be entirely acceptable, not only to his party, but to all the people of the county, that his name is presented.

PRIMARY SYSTEM.
 Sec. 1. Candidates for Wayne county for the several county and district offices shall have their names printed in one or more of the republican county papers at least twice before the primary election. It is provided, that any person not so announced, who shall receive three-fourths of the entire vote cast at the primary election may be declared the nominee.

Sec. 2. All primary elections held under these rules and regulations shall be held at the usual places in each precinct for holding general elections, and conducted by a board consisting of one of the members of the republican county committee of the respective precincts, and two clerks. The polls to be opened at the usual place at the said office at 7 o'clock p. m. In the case of members of the county central committee shall not be eligible for office. Sec. 3. The republican electors present at the opening of the polls shall fill all vacancies in the board from time to time. After the polls are opened the candidates shall be balloted for. A list of the persons voting shall be kept by the clerk at the time of voting. After the polls are closed the board shall proceed to count the votes that each candidate received, and make out the returns accordingly, to be certified to by the board and delivered to one of the members for that precinct of the newly elected committee.

Sec. 4. At said primary election there shall also be elected in each precinct as many members of the county committee as may be proportioned to each precinct by the county central committee in its call for the annual primary election, who shall be balloted for during the whole time the polls are kept open, and hold their office until their successors are elected.

The precinct election board shall deliver the returns of their precinct together with a list of voters, to one of the members of the county central committee at such election by their precinct, who shall take the same to Wayne on the Monday following the primary election, and convene, together with the balance of the committee, in the court house at the time of their meeting. At such meeting one of their number shall be elected one of their number president and two of their number as tellers or clerks, or if deemed expedient, one or other competent members of the party. The vote shall then be summed up by the members of the committee, and so organized, and the result made known. The candidate announced as required by Sec. 1 of these regulations having the highest number of votes for any office shall be declared to be the regular nominee of the republican party for such office, or elected, as the case may be, provided however, that in case any candidate shall receive three-fourths of all the votes cast in his office, such person shall be declared to be the regular nominee of the county.

Sec. 5. In case any two or more persons shall receive an equal number of votes for the same office, the county committee shall proceed to ballot for a candidate between those two. Or should the republican voters neglect to nominate a candidate for any office, the county central committee shall thereupon choose a candidate for the same.

Sec. 6. The county committee shall be competent to reject by a majority vote the returns from any precinct where there is evidence of fraud or other irregularities, or to the extent of the fraud committed.

Sec. 9. Any qualified elector at the primary election in the precinct where the same is held may challenge any person offering to vote thereat, whereupon the presiding officer of said election board shall administer an oath to such person or to any other person offering to vote as said board or any of them shall deem advisable, which oath shall be as follows: "You do solemnly swear or affirm that you will make true answers to such questions as shall be put to you by the members of this primary election board touching your name and residence and your qualifications as a voter in the precinct, and whether you have before voted at the primary election?"

In case any person is challenged on the grounds of not being a republican; if such person supported and voted for the regular republican nominee for state officers at the last general election at which he voted, or declares his intention of supporting the principles of the republican party at the next general election, such ballot shall be received. Provided that the election board shall be satisfied that he has received upon any challenge by the oath of the party challenged, but should they believe the statement and answers under oath of the party challenged to be false, his ballot shall be rejected.

Sec. 10. (This section gives the oath taken by the election board.)
 Sec. 11. No returns shall be returned by the county committee on account of any informality thereof, or for want of any oath believed the statement and answers to be true, and such returns shall be formally.
 Sec. 12. These rules and regulations may be abolished by a majority vote at any primary election, or amended in case of an emergency by the county committee.
