WASHINGTON, April 15.—In the senate the chaplain, Dr. Baile, in his opening prayer, alluded to the death of Mr. Randall, and invoked divine blessing and comfort on his bereaved family. Mr. Plumb introduced a bill intended to expand the circulation, which was referred to the finance committee. The bill provides that the money required to be deposited for the redemption of the national bank circulation shall be covered into the treasury and treated as funds available for the reduction of the public debt and for the current expenses of the government; that all funds held for the payment of the national debt, and interest due and unpaid, shall be paid out of the sum of $100,000,000 available to be retained in the treasury. The bill also provides that the fund of $100,000,000 shall be used for the redemption of treasury notes. He said that there was less than $100,000,000 of circulation for the use of the 45,000,000 of people of the United States—probably $50,000,000 more than $100 per capita. The present amount of circulation is $100,000,000, but it is not sufficient to meet the needs of the country. THURSDAY, APRIL 17, 1890.

Three more weeks of prohibition. There has joined the sisterhood of states.

The death of Abraham Lincoln was commemorated all over the country April 16th.

President Harrison has not caught on to the veto yet, but Cleveland, oh his veto act was mighty numerous.

The local option and license bill and amendments were defeated in the senate of the Iowa state legislature last Friday.

It is now conceded that the valley land of the lower Mississippi cannot be protected by the levee system; and that some other method must be tried.

The Republicans in the house of congress now have a majority of 17, and will have a majority of 20 or 22 when the contested election cases are all decided.

Omaha is making strenuous efforts towards the annexation of South Omaha before the taking of the census in June. It will add about 16,000 to the population. Omaha is not asleep.

Secretary Proctor of the war department has made the suggestion to transfer the enlistment as part of the permanent military establishment of all regiments of American Indians.

Judging from outside reports Wayne county farmers may expect higher prices for wheat in the near future, at least for a while. The speculators shortage is undoubtedly the cause of it.

The question of calling an election to relocate the county seat is agitating the people of Dakota county, Jackson county, want it. Rumor has it that the Pacific Towing Co. are at the back of it.

Gen. Russell A. Alger, commander in chief, G. A. R., accompanied by Mrs. Gen. John A. Logan and Mrs. Wittenmyer, national president Women's Relief Corps, visited that department at Omaha yesterday.

The Nebraska railroad commissioners are giving an illustration of how not to do it. The next Nebraska legislature will probably give an illustration of how to do it. The commission of regulating railroad corporations.—Sioux City Journal.

Dr. Speaker, Congressman Samuel J. Randall, one of America's greatest statesmen, of democratic faith, died at Washington, Sunday, April 13th, of internal cancer. Thus our country's great men are passing away.

It has always been considered that the Liverpool market regulated the American market in this country, but it seems that it is not the case, as dispatches state that the advance in American markets is attracting wide attention there, and that prices are going up everywhere.

Seventy-five thousand dollars have been subscribed for the building of a sugar palace at Grand Island. It is to be erected after the pattern of the Sioux City corn palace. The exhibit to consist of manufactured and raw sugars and of the sugar beet and sorghum. It will open about September 1st and continue for 30 days.

There has never been a brighter prospect for the grain crops in the history of Wayne county than there is this year. The late snow and the rain have placed the soil in excellent condition, and if we do not suffer from severe storms or become infested with insects, Wayne county crop yield will stand among the first in the west.

MORE ABOUT BEETS.

Germany's best sugar producer for 1887 was 955,000 tons. France's sugar beet production for 1887 was 485,000 tons. The best sugar producer in the United States for 1889 was 3,000 tons. There is certainly room for an increase in this country. There are but two beet sugar factories in the United States, the Alameda Beet Sugar company, situated at Alvarado, California, with a capacity of 150 tons a day, and the Western Beet Sugar Company, situated at Watsonville, Cal., with a capacity of 300 tons. The Grand Island Beet Sugar Company, of Grand Island, Neb., with a capacity of 350 tons, is building and will be ready to start about the 1st of September.

As it has been proven that the sugar beet can be raised in Nebraska, why not some of the farmers in Wayne county try it. A bill providing for a bounty of one dollar a ton to the farmer or planter for all sugar beets raised, for a period of three years will undoubtedly pass congress. It has been passed, however, by the Kansas City State, that the farmers do not get government bounties, which will meet themselves pay in the end, for the government is a pauper which can only distribute money which is given it. Is it not true that the government could not be sustained without money? And is it not equally true that if the farmer has returned to him that which he has paid the government, and especially in the case of an industry that will pay him two or three times as much per acre as it is here to raise corn, that it is much better than to have paid and received nothing in return? It has been proven that a farmer or planter who takes the proper pains can make two or three times as much money from an acre of sugar beets that he can from an acre of corn. If this is true why not raise beets? Try the experiment and see if it is a fact; the beets can be shipped to Grand Island.

Prof. Anton Yelth, director of the agricultural college at Reichenberg, Bohemia, has the following to say in regard to the raising of sugar beets in the United States:

"The United States possesses soils of a nature that is well adapted to where wide and open, are grown, it is fully possible to raise sugar beets. But in raising sugar beets the American farmer, especially of the Western States, must guard against the mistake of always trying to save labor. Sugar beets need much work, but they pay more or trouble as much as any other crop."

Raising sugar beets gives the farmer a chance not only to get more out of his land than possible with other products, but also improves his land for other products. If the farmer sells the beets to the factory and gets back the pulp for feeding and perhaps the mud or lime, he loses very little of the mineral substance from his soil as the sugar producing substances are absorbed by the plants from the air. Raising beets improves the land, because the thorough cultivation necessary brings it to a permanent state, and is obtained with other crops. The land will also be clearer of weeds.

In raising beets the whole agriculture of the country must be changed, and the farmer must have an extensive return to an intensive one. In raising corn, grain, fodder, etc., the farmer uses only the upper part of his land, and not the subsoil. If sugar beets are planted the deeper soil is also placed at the service of the owner.

In connection with the improvement of the land, cattle raising is also improved, as the waste furnishes excellent fodder and the manure is fattening. An increase of manure can therefore be produced.

Farmer Van Wick is still doing splendid service in the matter of increasing the yield of his crops by utilizing them concerning their true condition. What are wanted now in Nebraska, both by the commercial and farming interests are a number of plants of various kinds, a key of moderation to act a halt, against going to the "caustic extreme of knocking out every interest but the farming interest, which will also mean that industry with the havoc of a cyclone. Unfortunately for everybody, a state election is pending this year. If this were not the case things would adjust themselves much better than they are going to be adjusted by the brand of politicians that are now posing as reformers.—Fremont Tribune.

The Iowa state legislature came to a close April 15th. A resolution for the re-organization of the prohibition passed the senate but was defeated in the house on a motion to suspend the rules, which required a two thirds vote.

The house of congress decided the election case of Waddell vs. Wise Saturday, April 12th, Waddell, (Rep.) was awarded the seat by a strict party vote, yeas 134, nays 120.

THEIR BUSINESS BOOMING.

Probably no other thing has caused such a general rise in the price of Perine's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this winter season, and the fact that it always carries and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all other ailments of the throat and lungs can be cured before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size 21. Every bottle warranted.

John T. Bressler, Plaintiff, vs. Edwin D. Fisk, Mary E. Ford, Emma E. Ford, Joseph A. Ford, John H. Ford, J. I. Case Threshing Machine Co., defendants.

The above named defendant will file notice that on the 15th day of April, 1890, the plaintiff in this cause filed a duly verified petition in the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, the object and prayer of which is to recover from the said Fisk the sum of eighty ($80) dollars, due April 10th, 1890, upon a certain promissory note executed by said Fisk to plaintiff, and to obtain foreclosure of a certain mortgage securing said note upon certain acreage of land situated in the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter (w 1/4 of e 1/4) and the southeast quarter of the west quarter (s 1/4 of w 1/4) of section twenty five (25), township twenty six (26), range four (4), east, and also lots one and two (1 and 2) in the town of LePorte, according to the plat thereof, filed in Wayne county, Nebraska, upon which said note and mortgage there is now due the sum of $80.00, with interest thereon from April 10th, 1890, to part of which he has been paid.

It is further alleged in said petition that the defendant Edwin A. Ford and Mary E. Ford his wife, Joseph A. Ford and Emma E. Ford his wife, John H. Ford and John I. Case Threshing Machine Co. have or claim some interest in said land, but that said interest, claim title and lien are inferior to the title of plaintiff's mortgage, and that said real estate may be sold and out of the proceeds thereof the plaintiff may be paid the amount due upon said mortgage.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the 30th day of May, 1890.

Dated April 10th, 1890.
