The Indian troubles still remain in an unsettled state.

Thayer and Boyd are still holding the fort as governors.

A half dozen bottles of Dr. Koda's drops costs the neat little sum of $1.00.

H. Rider Haggard, the well known novelist, arrived in New York Jan. 14th.

The Indian republicans have been notified to begin labor for the purpose of bringing the state into line for the nomination of president Harris.

Governor Boyd's "hangers" will be put down as one of the great events in American history. - New York Daily News.

Ah Thayer!

The harvest trust is busted - of course democracy's free trade harlotry did it - a cargo. The republican anti-trust law is in.

For old decayed, toothless, amputated, chestnuts, Boyd's letter in answer to that of Mr. Richard's yanks the news of the Nebraska legislature into a nothingness, as a comparison.

The World-Herald's Lincoln war correspondents announce that "the men wounded in the joint session battle are recovering, although they will wear coat, plaster, and raw beef and sea anemia for at least a week."

The fight yesterday at New Orleans between Robert Fitzsimmons, the New Zealander and Jack Denney, for the middle weight championship of Australia and America, resulted in a victory for Fitzsimmons in the thirteenth round.

Either drinking is a new form of intoxication general speaking, but in Great Britain it is making great ravages. Most other drinkers are rages, most strange as it may seem, and it is already clutching many American women in its death grips.

A mere suggestion, originating in the far end of one of the corridors of the state capitol building at Lincoln, last week, would assume an immense supposed fact were it reached the other, and these rumors were as life as the ragged edges of the life of many newspaper editors, and the hairs of a dog's back would be no comparison.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Meikins is a hummer, and wears the pants fitting to do business with Uncle Sam in the near future. His excellent generalship of the equable in the legislature last week - in which occurred the chance of a life time - proves beyond question that he is a man of nerve as well as somewhat of a lawyer himself, and that his presence has been established.

It is said that "adversity is the trial of principle; without it a man hardly knows whether he is honest or not." The Alliance legislators, if reported grievances are true, will have the opportunity of their life at the present session to test themselves as to the greatest of virtues, honesty. It is the earnest desire of the mass of the people that during the calm of the present session they will enact such momentary laws as will not bring grief to proud Nebraska, in its financial interests. These things matter only through diligence and close observation, with honest purport and the avowed intent of protecting one's integrity.

PROTECTION FOR WAGE EARNERS.

Why need Foreigners labor sold only to pay so liberally to have our tariff reduced, if it be true, as alleged, that they will be content to sell their products to our people at prices less than the tariff? They now have this privilege, as they are only required to pay the tariff to bring their wares into competition with the products of our own industry. Their dissatisfaction with this arrangement is proof that they desire the substitution of some arrangement more favorable for their wares. There is no reason to see why people store goods (that are now bought abroad, and under this increased demand they hope for a decline to increase prices) in the warehouse, when they have every opportunity offered.

But inasmuch as the necessities of our people are provided for under existing arrangements, an increased demand for goods will not create an unimpaired market for home products. This means less work for the thousands of workers now engaged in making goods. Foreigners propose to take the place of the thousands out of employment made either go hungry and cold or find work in some other business than that to which they have been trained, which is a waste of skill acquired their service are most valuable.

Right at this point the situation assumes special interest for every citizen of this country who is compelled to earn a living. Every man thrown out of work to which he is best adapted and compelled to crowd the lists of workers in some other industry, by such employers as employ men for all workers the more precarious, and the maintenance of fair wages the more difficult. The more work we do in this country the better it will be for the workers, by adding security to the tenure of their employment and keeping the matter of wages more completely under their control, and the more work we do for a living cannot afford to lose sight of this fact, however evenly the scales of Free Trade may sing in their ears. - American Economist.

A PAPER.

The following paper was read by H. L. Chaplin, of Geneva, at the late meeting of the Free State Teachers Association, which was held at Geneva, N. Y., on the 10th inst.

THE STATEMENT OF THE PUBLIC-AN LARGE UPON THE EDUCATION OF ITS YOUTH.

"And they said: Go to, let us build us a city, and a tower, whose top may reach unto heaven; and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth."

Such is the interesting description of the construction of the famous tower of Babel, and were our calling preaching instead of teaching, we would adopt it as the foundation of the remarks we may have to make upon the education of its youth.

The disastrous failure to complete that great undertaking is too well known to require review. It is to be noted, however, that many towers of Babel have been begun, which have so often met with disastrous results. The warning has often gone out, that any great undertaking is to be undertaken in order to be crowned with success, must have the approval of the great architect, to whom all plans for the upbuilding and perpetuation of his temporal kingdom must be submitted, and approved, without which it is folly to proceed. It is not enough that the workman be skilled; the plans must be right; the purposes just; the structure, in toto and detail, approved of.

In treating this subject, let our views be regarded by some as pessimistic, but we wish to state beforehand that we are not in any sense plain and rather unwholesome truths concerning the sentiment of the public toward the education of its youth, we do so, not as a pessimist, but as one who is convinced that the best work of education, and in the hope, that these remarks may provoke discussion as to the best means of ridding the profession of the evils, which, perhaps, are doing more harm, and ignorantly weigh it down at the hands of the very people it is trying to serve.

To begin with, the public are to be praised for one thing; they recognize the importance of universal education. We hear no one deny its worth, but from the rostrum; from the pulpit, from the people, we hear one universal voice, that we should have the best work of free institutions. Indeed so absorbing is this idea become, that in the language of the ancient Assyrians, the public are saying, "Let us build us a city, and a tower, whose top may reach unto Heaven, and let us make us a name, lest we be scattered abroad upon the face of the whole earth."

And who shall say that this is not a worthy purpose? What can be done without inspiration? And if inspiration is needed, why not be inspired with the loftiest inspirations? And what grander motive can a people have, than "to build a tower of confusion, whose top may reach unto Heaven?" And who shall say that it was not a worthy inspiration of the sons of Noah, to perpetuate their names? The simple minded builders of Babel adopted the wrong means to attain that end; and reviewing that great folly 3,000 years later, we do not wonder that it displeased God and made a sleigh and traded it for a cow and calf worth 333 the other day.

M. S. Eagler and F. C. Nelson were rabbit hunting the other day. They were quite a distance apart in a corn field. Each of them started up a rabbit about ten minutes apart. The first started and the other west down the same row, and as they passed each other they started first and killed both rabbits at one shot.

I will sell this spring a few settings of eggs 12 per setting, for $3.00 from pure bred Champion Game. I have 100 of the rooster, 55 for the hen, and 31 1/2 express charges on them from Fort Collins, Colo. All letters promptly answered. M. S. ENGLER.

State of Nebraska, ss. I, C. O. FISHER, County Treasurer of Wayne County, and State aforesaid, do declare on oath that the foregoing is a true and correct statement of the money on hand, collected and disbursed by me from July 1st, 1890, to January 7th, 1901, inclusive. Witness my hand and seal of the said County, this 12th day of Jan. 1891. (SEAL) C. O. FISHER, County Treasurer. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of January, 1891.

tower of Babel? Is not this fever of enlightenment which has been so generously founded, which seems to promise so much, and of which the American people are so proud, liable to become a veritable tower of Babel, which shall arise a confusion of tongues as disastrous as that which scattered the children of ancient Assyria? Viewed at a distance, the institution known as the public school presents an imposing appearance. And to the workmen employed in rearing the structure, that is, to the vast army of teachers, who by daily ministrations have become accustomed to the dangers that menace its triumphant completion, it is, as it looms heavenward, an ever ending source of delight. (Continued next week.)

COON CREEK.

Several loads of hogs went to Wayne Monday. Nick Lenck, who has been seriously ill, is now recovering. Mr. Frevert sold his fat cattle to Ben Frazier last Saturday.

The farmer-tinker that will get a good price for their gear yet. J. P. Larson and family of LaPorte spent Sunday, with Mr. Larson on the creek. Mr. Sheweg's baby has been quite ill, also one of John Thompson's children. Dr. Regan is attending them.

Leather Men will start for New York next week, and will be back in about a month for ten years. We wish him a happy trip and a safe return.

Chris Nelson came near meeting with a serious accident the other day. While handling a gun it was accidentally discharged taking a piece out of his cap.

C. A. Howell is the best trader on Coon Creek. He bought one dollar worth of lumber, forty cents worth of bolts and ten cents worth of paint and made a sleigh and traded it for a cow and calf worth 333 the other day.

M. S. Eagler and F. C. Nelson were rabbit hunting the other day. They were quite a distance apart in a corn field. Each of them started up a rabbit about ten minutes apart. ## OREGON, WASHINGTON, AND THE NORTHWEST PACIFIC COAST.

The constant demand of the traveling public to the far West for a comfortable and at the same time an economical mode of traveling, has led to the establishment of what is known as Pullman Pullman Sleepers.

They are all built on the same general plan as the regular first-class Pullman sleepers, but they differ in that they are completely air conditioned. They are furnished complete with good comfortable lying mattresses, warm blankets, and all the conveniences of plenty of towel, clean brushes, etc., which secure to the occupant of a berth in much privacy as he has had in first class sleeper. There are also separate toilet rooms for ladies and gentlemen and smoking is absolutely prohibited. For full information send for Pullman's Circular Sleeping Letter, E. L. Loomis, Gen. Passenger Agent, Omaha, Neb., or apply to the nearest agent.

The stockholders of the syndicate which controls the majority of the street railway lines of the adjoining cities of Davenport, Rock Island, and Moline voted to increase the capital stock from $500,000 to $750,000.

The following Iowa people celebrated their golden weddings during the week: William and Susanna Pickrel, near Oskaloosa, married at Salem, Mo., and Mrs. C. R. Foster, of Danville, Des Moines county, with her son, John Spauldy, De Moines.

C. H. Bacon, living near Cromwell, shipped thirty yearling hogs to market which averaged 754 pounds; he got $2.40 per hundred weight, or $18 per head for that weight. They made about $100 worth of profit.

J. Deveredot, dealer in fancy articles, Toys, etc., at Cedar Rapids has placed the amount involved being about $8,000. The stock has been placed in charge of A. B. Everett, a relative. Mr. Deveredot is one of the oldest merchants in Cedar Rapids and was for years in the dry goods business.

Loretta Kane, daughter of Ex-Sister of the Baptist church here, has set against the Chicago school board. She was hired for the school year and discharged before its expiration. She sued for a month's pay due and got judgment for $75.50 and costs. It is believed she will sue every month until the expiration of her term.

The transcripts of justices in Des Moines show that liquor search warrants on which nothing was found were issued as follows: June, 11; July, 22; August, 9; September, 8; October, 14—a total of 54 in five months. In all these cases, as well as those in which more or less liquor was found, the costs were saved upon the taxpayers.

While boring a well near Milford, the Miller was killed by gas. He had been working for some time and had gone ten feet, when the poison reached and instantly overcame him. Hector Green, of Milford, was at the scene of the accident in half an hour, but the boy was dead. He was only about 18 years of age. He was buried by friends and relatives, alive.

While skating on the river near Burlington, Elsie Jordan, a society belle, broke through the ice. Luto Abrong, an Associated Press telegraph operator, was on the ice with her. He broke it. He managed, however, to seize the lady as she was being carried under the ice and after a hard struggle, in which he nearly lost his life, succeeded in drawing her out. A romantic sequel is looked for.

The charred and mangled remains of George Peterson, the young man supposed to have been crushed beneath the falling wall during the big fire at Burlington, were taken from the remains. Peterson was helped at the Waldhoff family remove their goods and was for some time being the Waldhoff building a few feet before the walls of the building were removed. The remains of the body were found in a corner of the building, and were taken to the morgue.
