The Gordon-Cumming Jury Deliberations Were Very Brief.

HOW THE VERDICT WAS RECEIVED

London Papers Express Various Opinions but All Agree to Effect that the Prince Has Set a Sorry Example to His Future Issue.

JERUSALEM, June 10.—The verdict in the baccarat case against Sir William Gordon Cumming.

When Williams caused a sensation when the court opened by arising and addressing the chief justice. He demanded protection from Sir Edward Clarke, who, he said, had in his address accused him (Williams) of sacrificing an innocent man. The chief justice declined to hear any statements from the general, who retired in disgust. The lord chief justice then began his charge to the jury, which was favorable to the defendants throughout. The jury were out fifteen minutes when they returned with a verdict of "not guilty." The verdict was received with mingled applause and hisses, the judge rapping vainly for order. The result was in accordance with general expectation.

London Papers' Comment.

LONDON, June 10.—Commenting on the Cumming trial The Post says it has no desire to add anything to the sad and humiliating story of the trial, but it remains that the document rendered made it impossible for eminent counsel, however experienced, to save the honor that Cumming himself treated so lightly.

The News says it was really a second affair of the diamond necklace, the accusation being of secondary importance to the surrounding circumstances. No other verdict was possible. Cumming's signing the paper was damnable. It is a pity that the heir to the throne was at the baccarat table. The Prince should show a cleaner face to his future subjects. It is grotesque to have the Prince carrying about baccarat counters wherever he goes, as a Mohammedan carries his praying carpet.

The Telegraph eulogizes the judgment of the court and urges pity with condemnation. It defends the Prince, although regarding him as wicked, but thinks a generous word will forgive him for signing the paper of condemnation.

The Times says the case is impeded in the only possible way that is entirely to be believed. We express the universal feeling of millions of English hearts and of the continent, we so profoundly regret the condemnation of the Prince of Wales with the affair.

The Times almost wishes that the Prince of Wales, for the sake of English society and the parity of Queen Victoria Coleridge, and says there is no evidence against him, and that the spectacle that Cumming merely played the well-known coup de robe. The Chronicle says the verdict is the worst that the jury that Cumming deliberately created his illutions that impudently from a trick repudiated the whole case to acquire. Cumming is not the first royal scold made to feel the ban of the courts, but the Chronicle paper asks what step shall be taken to vindicate justice regarding the baccarat which the Prince compounded by signing a compact with Cumming, or whether the scandal will be forever hushed.

The Standard says that if the plaintiff comes worst out of the affair it must be admitted that the defendants and their friends are somewhat tarnished.

The Haytian Revolution.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The steamer Orange Nassau, at this port from Port-au-Prince, brings the latest definite news of the late insurrection in Hayti. The uprising was of a serious character and for a time threatened important consequences, but the government repressed the rebellion by prompt and stern measures. Insurrectionists stormed the prisons at Port-au-Prince, and a number of prisoners were released, when the military appeared on the scene and captured the whole party.

The Grimes Will Case.

ACQUINSON, Kan., June 10.—The trial of the Grimes will, begun in the district court. The case involves property valued at $150,000. Most of the property was originally the estate of the late Maj. E. B. Grimes, United States army, who was for many years quartermaster stationed at Ft. Leavenworth. He left it to his mother, Susan Grimes, who died a year ago, leaving the most of it to five children, making the share of one of the five and entirely cutting off two children of a deceased son.

Thirty Millions Involvement.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—Before Judge Acheson, in the United States circuit court, began the trial of the case of Meyer against Dietztraut and Dietz against Meyer, involving the sum of $30,000,000. The interest is being manifested in the trial, as upon the verdict of the jury there is something like $20,000,000 at stake.

V. T. Baranov's Estate.

BRIDGEMOOR, Conn., June 10.—The estate of the late P. T. Baranov, as shown by inventory taken by appraisers and filed in the probate court, is estimated as follows: Personal property, $1,285,500; real estate, $2,985,000; making a grand total of $4,270,500.

THE METZMAN MURDER TRIAL.

Increasing Interest in the Case—Benson on the Stand.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 10.—Mrs. Rantzebach, who gave her direct testimony Saturday, was placed on the witness stand and subjected to a severe cross-examination. She said she had not promised anything for testifying against Benson, and went over in detail all her story of Saturday, including her career of crime with the defendant. She said Benson had the power to charm reptiles and she believed he had on several occasions hypnotized herself and mother. She was afraid to look at him while on the witness stand.

Number of other witnesses gave testimony tending to substantiate what had been previously proven and helping to make a strong case against Benson, when the prosecution rested. Rosa Benson was the first witness for the defense. She told nothing new except to say to her knowledge she latter never had the murder found at the scene of the murder. Benson took the stand on his own behalf. While testifying he told a shrewd story in broken English, giving the most minute details of his actions while at Leavenworth at the time of the murder. He made no confession of any kind and denied all knowledge of the murder. He was very severe on Mrs. Rantzebach, but spoke kindly of Mrs. Metzman. His story explained away very plausibly most of the damaging points against him, and it can be said so far as he went he left a good impression. The interest in the trial is increasing and is a great crowd to gain admittance to the court room. Only about one-fifth can get inside and many have been waiting for Benson when he is conveyed to jail.

A WATERPOUT.

The Poudre Valley Swept by Irresistible Torrents—The Damage Heavy. FORT COLLINS, Colo., June 10.—A waterpout burst on the Poudre valley yesterday and huge volumes of water came pouring down the valley, sweeping everything before it. One hundred and twenty acres of the Union Pacific road was completely destroyed. Two railway bridges near Lyons are now two or three feet under water. The village of Fort Collins, by the giving way of the railway embankment, was completely submerged. The surrounding farms and gardens, destroying all the growing crops within a radius of from five to seven miles. Several houses in this city are almost covered with water and will be badly damaged. The loss cannot be estimated but it will foot up into the hundreds of thousands.

Lucy and the Keystone.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Comptroller Lacey, of the treasury department, is lively engaged in preparing a statement showing the amount of the national debt in connection with the closing of the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia. It will be published by Mr. Lacey in a few days. The Philadelphia common council and give his testimony.

Mistaken for a Chicken Thief.

GARDEN, Colo., June 10.—Col. R. H. Abernethy, one of the most brilliant lawyers of the state and prominent in politics, was mistaken for a chicken thief and shot and instantly killed by his son-in-law, Dr. D. H. Baker. No inquiry had been made and Dr. Baker has not been arrested.

Henry's Ives' Illness.

NEW YORK, June 10.—So serious is the sickness of Henry S. Ives that not even his most intimate friends are allowed to see him. Late on Monday afternoon Mr. Ives was seized with a hemorrhage at the base of the brain, and was taken home in a carriage, and has been slowly recovering from the shock and the weakness.

Spellman's Fall.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Millionaire Edward Spellman, the Peoria distiller and a prominent member of the whiskey trust, fell from a ladder while examining repairs in progress on the roof of one of the trust distilleries near Polaris, Ill., and was so severely injured that he is not expected to recover.

Nine Children Injured.

NEW YORK, June 10.—By the explosion of a most blasting fuse which Jacob Levy, aged 11, stole from a contractor's supplies, nine children were seriously injured. He lit the fuse while his companions looked on. One child, Harry Walters, will probably lose his right eye.

Furniture Factory Destroyed.

ADRIAN, Mich., June 10.—The Adrian furniture factory burned at midnight. The loss above insurance is estimated at $50,000. The cause is believed to be a fire which has been shut down for two or three days for repairs. One hundred and fifty men are thrown out of work.

Sugar Beet Workers Strike.

NORFOLK, Neb., June 10.—About 100 men and boys employed on the sugar beet fields at Harley went out on strike. This is the result of the announcement by Manager Sattler that hereafter the work would be paid by the acre or row instead of $1.50 per day as before.

Gov. Butler's Illness Released.

BOSTON, June 10.—United States District Judge Nelson gave his decision upon application of Gov. Butler for the release of Mrs. Charles Johnson upon a writ of habeas corpus, and ordered the discharge of the prisoner.

"A little thing, sometimes goes a great way," remarked an exchange in commenting upon Norfolk Harrison's 6000 mile jaunt.—Portland Herald.

Not so with the exchange, however.

The sugar beet laborers near Norfolk have gone out on a strike, because the growers decided to pay the hands by the row or acre instead of $1.50 per day per hectare. It seems that some men do a third more in a day than others, thus the reason for a change.

And now that old Rosey has departed Nebraska has been favored with some fine rains and everything is smiling, indicating how glad, Oh how glad it is that that circum-d polythet has passed outside the portals of the fairest and most charming King of Corn states. There are many thousand people in Nebraska, who would not mourn if the Rose of water never returned.

Will the Wayne Herald please be so kind as to publish—with parallel lines if you so desire—the wages paid carpenters, bricklayers, etc., in free trade Russia?—Pender Times.

Russia has neither free trade or protection in the sense of either, but is hanging close upon the borders of slavery, which the democratic stronghold of this country has been so familiar with in days gone by. Perhaps the staidian of the Times, (who is no doubt a resident of Russia and familiar with its wages paid) will give the comparison "with parallel lines, if he so desires."

"Tin Plate Galore." Tell it in free trade circles, whisper it not where Mugwumps denounce protection, let it not be known where the tin plate lid does his dirty work for the Welsh combine, but local pride and truthfulness has evidently overcome its previous conservatism in the editorial sanctum of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, when we find in its steadily Democratic columns the following editorial:

"The increase of manufacturers at St. Louis is so great and evident that nobody should question the announcement that the manufacture of tinued plates on a large scale will soon be added to the list. There is every reason for believing that St. Louis will lead all other American cities in this line of manufacture as far as she now goes. The tin plate industry in St. Louis, tobacco, beer and several other leading articles of commerce.

And not only this that carload of tin plates will be mated at St. Louis, but a myth, materialized at Union, where it was ordered from Michigan by Miller & Sons, but most of it was sold before it arrived, and another car has already been ordered. And the protective duty on tin plate does not take effect for four weeks yet.

Tin Plate Prices. The Boston Post, Democratic, reports that it is informed by a tin plate importer that, while he is now paying seven cents for tin plate, he has offered as low as thirteen shillings and three pence for July delivery—that is, fifteen cents into effect.

There is one strong reference to be drawn from these figures, which is that the Welsh combine has extrajudicially put up prices to make an extra profit before it is driven out of this market. American consumers will find by holding off purchases the great quantity now being imported into this country in anticipation of the new duty will be put on the market, when the limits of importers' credits is up and they are required to pay for their plates, at prices far below what they have heretofore been selling. That is the experience in nearly every large line of imports which were marked up to create the "Markley" panic. Still another reasonable deduction is that the foreign importers will both pay the increased duty and put down prices in a desperate effort to retain their market.

We have our own tin plate, worth 7,000,000 boxes last year.

It is about time, by the way, that some of our numerous free trade consumers who are engaged in fighting for foreign interests as against American industries, should explain to the American public why methanol is so constantly at the mercy of the British tin plate monopolists.

A. A. Richardson is the engineer who has been appointed by the Wayne council to draw plans and make the specifications for the Wayne system of water works. The stand-pipe will be 75 feet in height and will be located at the intersection of Main and Ninth streets (near the Catholic church). Wakefield's system of water works still awaits the approving touch of an honored public official, who is waiting for protection to property at hazard from fire. We hope that Wakefield will not, like most towns, put off moving in the matter of fire protection until taught a severe and expensive lesson by the havoc of the fire fiend. We would do better to follow the example of Wayne in this respect and provide abundance of water for Main street at least, simply as a matter of sound business policy and wise economy.—Wakefield Republican.

"It's the west in the future," said Post-master General Wannamaker after returning from his Pacific tour with the president, the other day, "and that section is going to attract the attention hereafter. I thought I knew something about the country, but I found myself turned my face toward the setting sun, but I found before I got to San Diego that the west was doing more than I conceived." Before we get on the Light House Point, we had seen it and had seen around Washington state, as a tangent, I was amazed. The west must have better hotels, better facilities, more of them, and better post-office facilities. How quickly we make a big city in the west, with fine buildings, large hotels and beautiful streets, with all that goes on in a metropolitan. No signs of hard times out there. Everything is progress, enterprise. What nerve those people have! What profane real estate fields!—Bee.

And the flag of the free will wave from the house tops and gaily decorate our business buildings.

The various committees met at Chace & Neely's Friday night. The attendance was large and complete arrangements were mapped out for the grand celebration ever held at Wayne.

About $600 has been raised.

There will be an oration by one of the ablest speakers in the state.

There will be music, the celebrated Wayne Corn Palace band having already been engaged.

There will be the rout of cannon and the harps of many strings.

There will be trotting and running races, foot and human races, with good purses attached.

There will be amusements too numerous to mention, and a gorgeous street parade.

There will be bowery dances.

There will be a $150 display of fireworks at night, and Wayne never promises anything but what she delivers the goods.

There will be a grand ball at night.

And what there won't be has never been known.

Provided the "air ship" can be procured.

And if John M. Thurston delivers the oration there will be people by the thousands here.
