There is some talk of submitting to the voters of the county the question of leveling a five mill tax for three years to build a court house to cost about $25,000. While the HERALD is anxious to see a court house built, and well knows that the county is hadly in need of one we do not favor a $25,000 building. Wayne county is one of the best counties in the state, and is no doubt the banner county of North Nebraska, and should have a capitol building not to cost less than $50,000: Certainly the real estate owners of the county can but know that it will enhance the value of their property much more than an inferior uilding, wherein it would appear hat the proper amount of confidence in the future prosperity of the county was not as strong in it should be. Many farmers have stated that they would vote to levy a tax for the above purpose, and it they are willing to vote a five mill levy for a period of wate a five mill levy for a period of five years, threeby raising forty or fifty thousand dollars, we think the proposition should be submitted, atherwise we had better use the pres-ent burn until we are ready to con-struct a building that is a oreditto our county. The railroad and tele-graph companies would pay about one-sixth of the cost of a $50,000 court house, and the one-resident. court bouse, and the non-resident property owners, about the same, hereby leaving about two birds to be paid by the citizens of the county; which is proportionately a small affair to each individual.
