EAT ONLY THE GRASS

AN INVESTIGATION OF THE COLORADO GRASSHOPPER.

Report of the Commission sent out from Topeka, Kansas. The Grasshopper is the most destructive pest of the West.

Looking into the Grasshopper Question. TOPEKA, Kan., July 20.—Chancellor E. Snow and Prof. E. A. Poppen, who were commissioned by the Topeka Capitol to look after the grasshopper pest in eastern Colorado and western Kansas, have completed their work and sent the report of their investigations from Arriba, Colo., as follows:

"After two days wagon rides of 75 miles, the survey of the area infested by the long winged locusts has been completed and shows that the district infested is not so great as is generally supposed. It is confined to a narrow northern part of Lincoln county containing about 300 square miles. Within this area the two favored grasses, the blue and the green, have been eaten to the ground.

"Even here, however, other vegetation has remained untouched, not excepting the numerous fields of young corn in luxuriant growth. The only injury to any field crop has been to the corn plants, which will not be injured to any extent.

"A 12-acre field of fodder sugar corn or sorghum, only four inches in height, was here reported seen by the locusts. We have repeatedly seen the locusts feeding on the crop, but without inflicting the slightest injury to the crop. In several cases potato plants were reported to have been eaten by these locusts, were found on examination to have been destroyed by Colorado beetles, and we have seen the locusts feeding on the leaves of potato plants.

"If it were possible, which we do not believe, that these swarms could injure the corn, they would cause no fears for the simple crops of the state. Reports agree that the eggs from which were hatched these armies of locusts were deposited in the soil, which fell into this area in August and September from the south, and the present generation, upon acquiring wings, will return southward toward the original habitation of their parents, never to return to this area.

"It appears, then, that under exceptional circumstances like the present, locusts will do considerable damage to non-migratory crops, but will temporarily deplete a migratory locust. The immediate hopers are now rapidly acquiring wings and it will only be a short time when they will all have fled toward the south, leaving their present feeding ground to be repopulated by the next good rain or two.

"We have thus far observed no signs of internal parasitic infestation with these locusts, as was the case of the Rocky mountain species. They will probably be exterminated by the action of their own parasites, which will keep their numbers within reasonable limits should they become suddenly numerous on our range.

"We have, however, observed a large robber fly capturing and killing several hoppers. About the station at Arriba, where the locusts were feeding upon the locusts, chickens and hawks."

Campbell, who is now serving a penitentiary where he is now serving a sentence of a lifetime. During the year 1888 John L. On the afternoon of May 19 Jones left the ranch on horseback for Silverton, expecting to reach there some time the next day. Several hours later Campbell called the cabin for a distant part of their range. Jones was never seen alive after leaving the ranch and Campbell was charged with the murder. The body was found in a lonely spot riddled with the balls from a Colt's revolver. The cause of the failure and the condition of the bank. He does say, however, that the bank had a surplus of $100,000. Much of the assets, which were supposed to be pledged, are of such a nature he says, that he would expect a rapid realization upon them.

MR. QUAY MAY RESIGN

AND SO WILL BE SUCCEEDED BY J. S. CLARKSON.

What Quay Has to Say of His Honored Resignation. PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 20.—In answer to a telegram sent to Hon. M. S. Quay by the correspondent of the Associated Press of this city concerning the reports that he would resign the chairmanship of the national republican committee at the coming meeting, the following was received last night:

"I am proud to say that I will resign the chairmanship of the executive committee on the 29th."

Continuing, he said that the executive committee would meet in Philadelphia on July 29. "I cannot say," he added, "that the national convention will be held at that place, but I have it early in order to escape the storm but we have usually encountered it."

"Who do you think will succeed you provided you resign? It has been suggested that letters have been sent to the different members of the committee asking them to accept the chairmanship. J. S. Clarkson succeeded you and that they all have replied favorably."

"That is not true," replied Senator Quay. "I have not received any such letters with my knowledge. It is generally conceded, however, that Mr. Clarkson will be the probable successor, and he will fill the position. But there is no indication of what action will be taken on the national convention."

Emancipation in Brazil. WASHINGTON, July 18.—A letter to the Bureau of American Republics says: The emancipation of the slaves in Brazil the domestic service as well as the agricultural labor of the republic has been greatly demoralized, and the families and domestic servants of the former slaves—refusing to work for love or money. ELECTRICITY MUCH THE BEST FOR KILLING CRIMINALS.

The Electric Rope Never Presented in Recent Years. Slings, Electrostatic Hand in Their Execution—Electricity the Best Method Yet Devised for Taking Human Life. The Staging of Barkeley, the Philadelphia one, the Proceedings of the National Temperance Convention at Saratoga, N. Y.

The electrocuted murderer, New York, July 17.—Warden Brown of Sing Sing prison, in his annual report of death in the cases of murderers Stearn, Smiley, Wood and Judge with County Clerk Gleicherich yesterday. The confessions are more formal and confident than the sentences of the men executed. Attached to them are the death warrants and the signatures of the witnesses to the execution. Attached to the certificate in Judge's case was a statement signed by Dr. MacDonald and Ward who attended the autopsy. Its full text is as follows:

The undersigned, having served as physicians at the execution by electrocution this morning of James Stearn, Joseph Smiley, Joseph Wood and Schiller, Judge, the prison warden, under your charge, hereby submit to you the following report of their observations:

First—All of the condemned men walked into the execution room untroubled, with firmness and without any signs of nervousness. The current of the electric chair without the slightest protest or resistance and quietly acquiesced in the removal of the restraining straps and electrodes.

Second—In each case unconsciousness was produced instantaneously, and the convulsions themselves terminated without interruption until the heart had entirely ceased and death actually occurred. In every case death was manifestly painless. In compliance with the statute, an incision was made in each case as soon as practicable after the execution.

New York, in our presence and under our supervision, with the results of recording the same, gross changes in electrical resistance were observed in cases of death by the action of strong electrical currents. Specimens of the kind of the nervous system were taken to Dr. Van Gieson for the purpose of careful microscopical examination, and the results will be forwarded to you as soon as possible. In conclusion, allow us to congratulate you on the completeness by all the details in your preliminary arrangements of the execution, the order and decorum which prevailed during this trying occasion, and on the successful results of the method of painless death by this method of inflicting the death penalty. The experience of today has proved to us that electricity is the best method in any other yet devised.

We have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.—The experts appointed to investigate the case of John Barkeley, late city treasurer, have made a detailed report to the mayor, in which they say they have not been able to account for the total amount of money received each year at the state debt sold office, or the share therefrom belonging to the state and to the city and expenses and other items deducted therefrom, so that the account is entirely unbalanced, and the late treasurer may be definitely accused.

The amplification of their statement shows the total balance due to the state and city to be $2,094,551. Against this is credited deposits in various banks for $1,910,000. The balance stands due to the state and city $184,551, and Keynote bank checks paid by Barkeley in excess of the value of the same amounting to a deficiency in Barkeley's accounts of $663,835. In addition to this deficiency the interest which Barkeley received from various banks, firms and individuals, together with dividends on stock and securities in which he was invested with public money, are also included. The total amount to be added, making the grand total of money misappropriated $778,385.

A part of this money was reported by a division of the bureau of office with ex-State Treasurer Livezey and Assistant Comptroller James M. McLaughlin, in the payment of $500 to Livezey for kindness shown. Thomas McLaughlin, the auditor general, and one of his assistants, have been accused of coming up shamfully in the relation from advancing the account. Livezey, one year since received, was paid $2,000 by Dr. Griffin for some reason which does not appear, paying $14,250, which he has been ordered to refund to the auditor general.

National Temperance Convention. New York, July 18.—The first day of the national temperance convention was read an essay on "Constitutional Prohibition," by A. M. Powell, New York. The essay was read and discussed in favor of prohibition by constitutional amendment. The side issues of local option and "high license" were characterized as makeshifts that were advocated by politicians and the distillers and brewers and calculated to defeat the temperance cause. The Napoleonic temperance

Tip of finding out in the enemy camp, you to strike them, and find the place that will be in the case. Constitutional prohibition was suggested to the Senate, and the House, and the Senate more dressed, and the leading parties were in favor of prohibition and against its enforcement and the House was in favor of its enforcement. The distinct third party surges ran through the whole line of discussion with but one dissenting voice. The speakers were: Hon. J. P. Morgan, Hugh McGraw, Rev. D. T. Lawrence, Rev. H. H. Yeck, Rev. Johnson, Mr. McCall, and Mr. Wood, New York. The same sentiment was further expressed in the discussion of the essays of "The Citizen's Protective League" by W. C. Clegg, New York, Mrs. Helen M. Gouger of Indiana and others.

Mrs. Gouger gave, as an axiom, that prohibition can never be obtained by electing passive men to office. There can be no national prohibition until the "inert" will be changed to an "active" bank succeeded at the national convention held in New York City. Verster Class of Officers. Washington, July 16.—Ever since public and official attention was directed to the subject of the frequency of desertions from the army a year or so ago there has been a determined effort to secure a more efficient force. The quality of material which the service is recruited in the belief that in this by the remedy for the present situation. The government made to secure young men who sought the army as a profession rather than as a means of livelihood. The efforts of recruiting officers have been systematically turned away from cities toward the country. The new recruits are of a different quality, and it is more than justifying the expectations of those who inaugurated the change.

Another of the adjutant general's department who had charge of this work remarked recently: "We are not getting any more recruits, and I think the army today is composed of a better class of people than ever before. We have abolished the old method of recruiting in the country, where we are more apt to find vigorous young men, eager to do well, than in the cities. Such men make good soldiers, far better than the old, hardened toughs who come out of the slums to enlist as a last resort as a means of drawing their identities."

A Big Suit. CHICAGO, July 18.—Ernest Dale Owen of Chicago claims damages in a suit against the Nevada Bank, a Nevada bank of San Francisco, John O. Steinberger and L. Osborn. The plaintiff asks $2,300,000 for trespass. Owen is a trustee of the estate of the heirs of the late Jose Guisno who owned a large tract of land in Nevada. Guisno secured a large grant of land in Presidio county, Nevada, on which, it is claimed, the plaintiff has a claim. The suit was filed in the Nevada courts, and it is alleged that previous to that date the defendants took out another $1,000,000 worth of one and one-half cent notes, and raised at $150,000. Since the alleged trespass, the plaintiff has acquired the trusteeship of the estate of the late Jose Guisno, and he claims to have a right to the land to hold a title by purchase and dispute Owen's claim.

To Evade the Trust Law. CHICAGO, July 18.—The wholesale grocers of this city met to consider a plan to evade the trust law. A New York company of St. Louis intended to evade the anti-trust law of Illinois. It is understood that their plan has been frustrated by the action of the Illinois courts. The plan was to acquire the sugar trust, starch trust, etc. In brief, it proposed in part of obligating the grocers to sell their goods at a price he will be made an agent of the trust under conditions which will enforce the maintenance of prices in effecting the sale of their goods. There is considerable opposition to the scheme developed at the meeting, but no definite action was taken.

That delinquent against the law. J. P. Whipple, left behind him several unpublished essays, which have been given publication in the North American Review. The first of them, "The National Temperance Convention," will appear in the July number. It is praised by all the public and private circles which characterize the writing of one of the best of the nation's publicists. The Illinois government has received by 19,000 francs each the salaries of Italian agents in London, Berlin, and other cities. St. Petersburg and Constantinople.

Hon. John C. Watson, chairman of the republican central committee, has consulted a number of prominent attorneys in regard to the election of a governor this fall, and the question has been submitted to the attorney general of the state who will render his opinion in a few days. As it is the opinion that the election would be legal Chm'n Watson will call a meeting of the state committee for the purpose of discussing the matter also whether or not the office of governor should be inserted in the call.

Tariff—now that sounds well free-trade, the democrats howl freely and in accents wild, proclaim that the manufacturer and the monopolists are those benefited by the McKinley bill—and they are ALL republicans. Now is that so? We will venture the assertion that half, and more than half of the manufacturers and monopolists of the United States are democrats, and in New York City which is preeminently democratic, the manufacturers are two to one of this class. Then if the assertions of the free trade press are true to day, which party derives the most benefit from the McKinley bill, so far as the manufacturing interests of the country are concerned. Would the democratic millionaire manufacturers of New York city thus oppose their own interests if they were getting it all, and would they not rather favor the party or the instituting of new manufacturing interests in the United States? There is no doubt a picture for you in the above text. It simply reads opposition to republicanism.

It has been intimated that Judge Norris has a candidate for nomination on the alliance ticket the coming fall for the office he now occupies as district judge. His going over to the alliance or independent party must have been quite recent, as he was only last fall that he stamped the Third District for G. W. E. Dorsey. If the alliance can swallow a pill of this kind they must induce the voters to swallow the same kind of material which they accused the old parties of having.—South Sioux City Democrat.

No man has ever been a more staunch Republican than Judge Norris. No man has ever more ably filled the position he now occupies, nor has any man in the district better qualified to fill the position. The district he represents should suffer if he were not represented by an honest, upright and able man, and the judge possesses all of these sterling qualities. The attack of the Democrat is unwarranted and its "intimidation" drifts from hope through the judge is still a true republican, yet many are in sympathy with many of the needs of the farmer, and if they were to be converted into such republicans as Mr. Norris, there would be no need of third parties.

The Winside Watchman in commenting on the Omaha Bee's pork tariff article, at the conclusion says: To come near home with the request The Wayne Herald might serve the country well to explain this matter to the people of the Northrup who are pouring tariff arguments upon the public ear through the columns of the Herald, might "rise to explain," if he will it be his duty.

"Now that's good," it's the first time we have seen a newspaper or no other person during the past eight months has written anything for the Herald except its present management, and Bro. Fankhaer or Mr. Dodge or whoever wrote them may have $25 dollars of our money if he or they can prove otherwise. However we would be pleased to have Mr. N. write a few lines for the benefit of the Watchman on the tariff or most any other question, for we rather imagine that the Watchman wouldn't be in it. Suffice to say, that Mr. Northrup knows more about the tariff, especially if the boss of the Watchman is in sight. That's all.

Already there is a big split between the Kansas Democrats and the Kansas Farmers' Alliance. But where would the Kansas Democrats be but the Farmers' Alliance? The Republican party is entirely in Germany. You can go into some of our large clothing houses and find a label upon a made-up suit. "This is exclusively American and guaranteed to hold its color or money refunded."

The same can be said to-day of fast black history, of silks and other lines of domestic dress goods. It is rare to find an export of domestic goods, especially as regarded textile fabrics. Everything to have the stamp of quality, durability and excellence, must be imported, or be of foreign make. This, however, has entirely changed. You can go into some of our large clothing houses and find a label upon a made-up suit. "This is exclusively American and guaranteed to hold its color or money refunded."

What Can This Mean? In the course of some lamentations over our reciprocity treaty with Brazil, the Colliery Guardian, after saying that it will move the United States, on account of their not producing more than net home requirements have not done much in the way of compelling," makes the following American and foreign goods, and even an expert cannot tell, in some instances, whether the goods are made in this country or in Germany, France or England.—Dry Goods Chronicle, June 27.

England has had the lion's share of the business, but the treaty which the United States has entered into with England in pursuance of the policy means the threat to place on manufacturers at a great disadvantage when competing for Brazilian business, which is very valuable to our country, and with much perseverance by our merchants.

It might be thought from the expression we have indicated that England has been disregarding the principle of sound political economy, by paying more for its trade with Brazil than it was getting, in hope of a future profit, or was the Guardian only putting on?—American Economist.

A Democrat Warns His Party.

The public record of ex-Congressman George L. Converse of Ohio is that of a thorough good Bourbon Democrat. In no particular has he ever departed from the doctrines for which his party contended, and he has been a potent factor in Ohio by reason of his high legal position and ability. Mr. Converse, however, is imbued with the spirit of Americanism, and he has so little sympathy with the free trade theories now forced upon his party as its shibboleth that he has given voice to an earnest protest against them and a warning persistence in following those theories will bring certain defeat. Mr. Converse not only believes that the Democratic party has made a grave and serious mistake, as he says, in attempting protection as an American principle and policy, but declares that its only hope of success lies in dropping its opposition to the McKinley law and formulating other and more popular theories.

The warning he thus gives his party is sound and practical. If for no other reason than that the business of the country has had enough of tariff issues and uncertainty it would be prudent for the Democratic party to follow this advice. With such succeeding day business affairs are more and more requiring upon the heads of the protectors of the new law. The annoyance incident to any new tariff bill are virtually over and persons whose affairs are affected by the tariff have accommodated themselves to the new law. By an other year certain defeat will be the most earnest opponents of any propositions to change it. Thus from the stand point of practical politics, as well as upon economic platform of principle, Mr. Converse is wise in notifying his party that it must give up either free trade or all hope of ruling the American nation.—New York Press.

SOUND CENTS.

Wakefield Republican: Gold is the legal currency of the United States, as it is of every first class nation. A silver dollar is supposed to contain as much pure silver as a gold dollar will buy in the markets of the world. As a matter of fact the government's stamp on a silver dollar saying that it is "One Dollar" don't make it a dollar any more than if the government said it were a bushel of wheat it would be a bushel of that grain. The fact that the government will redeem the silver dollars in gold dollars, which are good, is all in the world that holds the silver dollar up. The average consignment of silver dollars and contain 100 cents worth of silver instead of only 78 cents.
