THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Wayne Fire Department.

The first annual meeting of the Wayne fire department of Wayne was held at the office of J. S. French Tuesday evening with about 40 members present. The meeting was called to order by president Moran.

The annual report of Chief Mines was read and ordered spread upon the minutes as follows:

To the Members of the Wayne Fire Department.

GENTLEMEN: This department has only been in existence a few months, and at this our first annual meeting, we meet to review the past and plan for the future. It affords me a great deal of pleasure to submit to you this report of the work done by the department since its organization.

The following fire alarms have been responded to by the Department:

1st. February 5th, 1894, Kortright & Newton's feed mill. Cause, gasoline explosion; time of service, one hour; amount of hose laid, 500 feet; distance of run, three blocks; loss, $500; no insurance.

2nd. February 8th, 1894, John Shorbahn's brick yards. Time of service, 30 minutes; unable to use hose; department did active service in subduing flames; loss $100; cause of fire unknown; fully insured.

3rd. March 31, R. Galbraith's mill. No loss and no service by the department.

The members have taken a great interest in the work of the department, and perform their duties well and promptly, and are becoming more efficient to perform the arduous and important duties they have voluntarily assumed to perform, and with the practice drills that can be had this coming summer, I am safe to say that Wayne will have a fire department that every citizen will look to with pride and pleasure.

On behalf of the department I wish to thank the citizens for their hearty co-operation, and their liberal assistance.

Trusting that the coming year may be one of pleasure and prosperity to you all, I remain an active member of the Wayne Fire Department.

J. G. MINES, Chief.

The Hose Company convened immediately upon the adjournment of the department meeting, President Neely presiding. Roll call showed about twenty members present.

After the reading and the approval of the minutes of the last regular meeting a motion was carried amending the clause relating to the annual meeting, changing it to read the first Tuesday in May instead of Thursday.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President and foreman, F. L. Neely; vice president and assistant foreman, George Coyle; treasurer, N. Grimsley; secretary, P. A. Williams.

After the election of officers it was decided unanimously that it was the desire of the hose company that the fire department take in charge the matter of celebrating the Fourth, and on motion N. Grimsley, J. E. Barker and W. H. McNeal were appointed a committee to attend the meeting of the hook and ladder company on next Tuesday evening and obtain their views concerning the celebration. A celebration will no doubt be given by the department, and the business men will, in all probability, heartily encourage the move.

The question of procuring caps and belts for the department was discussed, and if the hook and ladder company are favorable to the proposition President Moran will call a special meeting that they may be procured by the Fourth.

FRANK HATTON DEAD

PEACEFULLY PASSES AWAY AT WASHINGTON

In Spite of all His Doctors Could Do Death Could Not Be Stayed - A Great Landlide in Canada - Other Items of Interest.

Frank Hatton Passes Away. - Washington special: Frank Hatton, editor and publisher of the Washington Post, died at his residence, 2913 Hilyer place. He had been unconscious for several hours previous and his death was peaceful and painless. Although he was known to be a very sick man, the disease did not assume a critical stage until within a few hours of his death when it failed to yield to treatment. His physicians had understood from the first, however, that there was a dangerous complication to deal with in a kidney trouble, from which Mr. Hatton had been a sufferer, though in a mild way. Urea poisoning developed and this primarily caused his death.

Mr. Hatton never fully rallied from the stroke of paralysis which he received at his desk just one week ago, and which came with no warning. His condition at intervals showed marked improvement; he became conscious, recognizing those about him, and in a measure regained the use of his limbs. But withal there were symptoms during the whole of his illness that were anything but encouraging and hopeful. Although Mr. Hatton had apparently enjoyed good health of recent years, the effects of a severe attack of rheumatism which he suffered five years ago had never been entirely overcome. He was a man who worked with a will, putting into everything he undertook an enthusiastic determination, and was at his office early and late. For some months past, however, it was obvious to those closely associated with him that he was not as rugged and vigorous as formerly. Still there was nothing to cause apprehension to his family or friends.

GREAT LANDSLIDE IN CANADA

Four Sections Slide into a River and Chute a Flood. - Quebec special: News has been received from St. Alban, forty miles west, that a plateau 100 feet above the river St. Anne, a mile in length, with farm houses and inhabitants, slid into the river. Ten persons lost their lives as the result.

Additional news from St. Anne de la Paroisse says the slides of the river, which were composed of clay and 150 feet high, carved in, blocking up the natural channel of the river for a distance of five miles and to a depth of seven feet, making the water rise 100 feet above the earth walls that are supposed to hold it back. The walls were not strong enough to keep it or check the fury of the stream, and with a terrific roar and rush the water came down upon the unprotected villages, carrying away bridges, houses and everything in its path.

The accident was especially severe on dumb animals. Hundreds of cattle, horses, sheep and pigs perished. In the wrecks that flows past, the poor brutes can be seen struggling, apparently alive and making an effort to reach the shore, which their exhausted renders abortive. The people of the surrounding districts are panic stricken, and on account of the altered condition of the country it is difficult to reach the scene. The piece of land which slid into the river is about a mile long and four miles wide.

To Drain a Big City

City of Mexico special: With a silver pick President Diaz has finished the opening from end to end of the seven-mile tunnel out of the Valley of Mexico. Several members of the cabinet and other prominent persons were present at the final ceremony, which was held in the presence of a vast throng. It is hoped will at last successfully drain the valley and thus remove all danger to the City of Mexico from inundations, have been in course of construction for many years, and when finished will have cost nearly $10,000,000.

To Guard Other States

Springfield, Ill. special: All the railroads in Illinois running into adjacent states have issued a circular letter to all conductors, station and depot agents, requiring those officials to promptly report to the several state boards the appearance of suspected passengers, baggage and other matters regarding the prevention of the infection of smallpox. A case was reported to the State Board of Health as appearing at Rockhouse.

Des Moines special: The supreme executive body of the American Protective Association in the world, have arrived in Des Moines to attend the meeting. The sessions will be held at the Hotel Hamilton. Among the most important questions that will be taken by the council will be the promulgation of a platform of declarations with reference to anti-French foreign immigration.

A MOB WITH A ROPE

A Tramp Has Little Chance of Saving His Neck

Tama, Mo. special: There is good prospect for a lynching in Iowa. There would have been one before had the victim been available. A mob of 1,000 or more persons remained out all night hunting for the culprit, with the full expectation of securing him at daylight, but they were disappointed. An unknown tramp assumed and attempted to ravish Miss Maggie Pooth, the daughter of a prominent merchant of this city. In the evening a large crowd assembled to search for the fiend, and following him into the woods, succeeded in surrounding him. A guard was kept on the place where the mob felt sure the man was located, but he was not found.

The mob is pursuing the tramp through the woods west of Tama, but the reports that he has been all forenoon finally ending his pursuit. There is little doubt that a lynching will be almost sure to result, should the tramp be caught. The tramp was seen by his pursuers about two and a half miles east of Tama. They were close upon him and fired at him, but without effect. It was quite dark and he fled into a clump of bushes and escaped. Since then there has been no development, although $500 reward is offered. The sheriff's posse claims to have corralled the tramp near the Iowa River Bridge, but he escaped in the darkness. Thirty Musquakie Indians are on the trail of the ravisier, of whose capture there now seems to be little probability.

SEASON FOR RAINMAKERS

Jewell Will Go Out Again with His Bottles and Boxes

Chicago special: In spite of all the cold water poured on the science of rainmaking, the spring season has no sooner arrived than there are indications that the experiments of last year are considered a scientific success and will be renewed this year with renewed vigor. The Rock Island Railroad last summer set one of its employees to rainmaking. This was C. B. Jewell, the company's train dispatcher at Goddard. His efforts were astonishingly successful, both in Kansas and in Colorado. Mr. Jewell's method is one invented by Louis Gathman of Chicago, whose theory is that rain is never produced naturally except by the vapors of the atmosphere becoming agitated and mixed with the colder upper strata of air. He therefore fills up into the air metallic bombs filled with liquid carbonic acid gas. When these bombs explode the liquor expands instantaneously into gas, producing intense cold and immediate precipitation. Mr. Jewell will give the people of the west an ample opportunity this summer to enjoy the benefits of this discovery.

TO UNITE ALL LABOR ORDERS

Important Conference Being Held in Philadelphia

Philadelphia special: The meeting of representatives of the labor organizations of the United States, which assembled here in response to a circular sent out by Joseph R. Buchanan, promises to be attended with important results. It is proposed to unite all labor organizations on the common ground of mutual assistance and joint action and thus prevent an impregnable front to the foes of labor organizations. An immense number of letters from labor unions in all parts of the country not represented by delegates were read and expressed sympathy with the movement. A committee to formulate plans for a permanent organization was appointed and a committee on resolutions was named. The meeting then adjourned after the session for the purpose of electing permanent officers and adopting plans for future working.

A Clairvoyant Scores

Boston special: Nelson Chace, of the Auburn, Me. Shaker, who is reported to have fallen heir to a fortune of $5,000,000, is in the city, and reading the story of his fortune. A few months ago, according to his story, a clairvoyant told Chace that there was a large estate awaiting him, and advised him to find his half brother. He found the missing relative, William T. Phelps, in this city, and on investigation they learned that two unions had died in San Francisco some time ago without leaving wills, and that the property which he is said to be worth $5,000,000, has since been in care of the state. Mr. Chace says he and his half brother expect to come into possession of the estate soon.

The Hague special: The Dutch Ministry has resigned owing to the defeat of the Government at the recent elections.

A NEW ORLEANS BLAZE

At Least Four People Perish in the Flames

New Orleans special: Fire broke out in the kitchen of the St. Charles Hotel. A large number were leaving the St. Charles Theatre at the time, and in a few minutes the wildest excitement prevailed in the street. The guests and employees of the hotel were soon dashing out of the burning building half clad, with such personal effects as could be snatched up in a hurried exit.

The block St. Charles was one of the most valuable in the city, containing besides the costly hotel, banks, stores, railway offices, one of the largest turf exchanges in the country and finely furnished offices.

As nearly as could be ascertained four lives have been sacrificed. One man leaped from the fourth story and was almost instantly killed, while four others were seen to leap from the iron staircase leading from the rear of the building and were lost to view in the court, which looked to be almost a solid mass of flames. One man made his escape into the street, but nothing was seen of the others. It is also reported that a child is missing, but this lacks confirmation. The hopelessness of the situation, so far as the saving of the hotel was concerned, became evident almost as soon as the fire broke out. At the center of the vast pile of masonry, which forms the hotel and occupies over half the square in which it is situated, was a kind of cylinder amphitheater. Having got a fair start over the engines, the fire spread "with alarming rapidity."

A number of men were set to work removing the debris in search of the bodies of the missing employees. The man who was killed by leaping from the building was John Riley, a baker. The first St. Charles Hotel was built in 1838 and was destroyed by fire in 1851. The building of the new hotel was at once commenced, and the building then completed was the one destroyed. At the time it attracted attention throughout the world because of the fact that it was the finest hotel in the world and the first great hotel in the United States. Messrs. Hildreth & Hall were the lessees. The insurance on the hotel was $212,500.

PACIFIC STEAMER GOES DOWN

Sunk on the Rocks Near Monterey, Cal. - All Saved but Four

Monterey, Cal. special: The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer, Los Angeles, bound north, ran on the rocks at Point Sur Lighthouse, thirty miles north of Monterey. The steamer sank within a few minutes and the passengers and crew took to the boats. Three boat loads reached the shore at Point Sur. Two other boat loads and a raft containing the other passengers and members of the crew were picked up by the steamer Bureka. Four dead bodies were recovered, and Capt. Leonard of Los Angeles is reported to be in a critical condition. All the women and children were saved and brought here on the Bureka. The crew and passengers numbered over seventy. The names of the four dead were not learned. When the Los Angeles struck the passengers were nearly all in their berths. The first crash was followed by scenes of the wildest confusion. Frightened men and screaming women and children swarmed the deck. Nearly all were in their night clothes. The vessel's stern was all under water and water was rushing in forward. It was a few minutes that this imperilled that three of their number were drowned. Providence intervened, however, and the vessel spiked fast upon the rocks, settled no further into the sea. All were eventually landed with the others of the survivors on the rocks at the foot of Point Sur Lighthouse.

THE WEEK IN TRADE

No Hope For Improvement in the Present State of Affairs

New York special: "Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade will say: "When account of great strikes and labor disturbances covered all the newspapers it is idle to look for much improvement in business. In spite of everything, however, some improvement still exists. Auction sales of textile goods brought prices lower. Sales of wool at the three chief markets were 5,241,655 pounds; against 3,292,400 pounds last year. And prices of some scarce kinds have advanced a little, but new wool is being taken at the lowest figures yet reported. The speculative markets are naturally lower. Western receipts of wheat were only 1,136,478 bushels against 2,717,387 last year, and Atlantic exports were 941,993 bushels against 1,243,555 last year, but the price dropped 1 cent. Corn is inactive and a shade higher. Pork, lard and coffee are all higher. The failure this week have been 180 in the United States against 216 last year.

An Ancient Well

Reading, Pa. special: A discovery, interesting to archeologists, has just been made at the highest point of the Blue Mountains, about two miles from Hamburg, this country. It is learned that the discovery consists of a rude stone wall, around a small enclosure, with clearly defined, hieroglyphics, with the figures near by. County Surveyor Dreiboldts, who is interested in the early history of the Indians, and local newspaper men, intend visiting the spot shortly.

A Texas Story

San Antonio special: A few weeks ago H. Latham of Del Rio was bitten on the nose by a polecat. As a result of the wound he has become paralyzed, and his death is expected to occur at any time. He is unable to eat or speak and is starving to death. The case is exciting much interest in medical circles.

A Mysterious Murder in the Sand Hills - An Exciting Scene at the Lincoln Penitentiary During Chapel Services When Prisoners Are Trying to Escape

Murdered in the Sand Hills

A cowardly murder was committed forty-five miles south of Rushville in the sand hills. While the victim, John Mustell, was out some distance from the house engaged in plowing the garden patch, his wife became shot, and going the door, a few near the team a man on horseback, who upon seeing her, rode off as fast as he could. She could not recognize him as any one she knew. Mrs. Mustell hurried to where the team was, and found her husband lying face down in a pool of blood, with a bullet hole in his forehead. The affair is shrouded in mystery, as no motive for the crime is known, nor has any one the least idea who the assassin can be.

CONVICTS TRY TO ESCAPE

Exploiting Scene at Lincoln Penitentiary During Chapel Services

TWO CONVICTS at the State Penitentiary at Lincoln made a desperate attempt to escape during chapel service Sunday morning and were not brought to submission to the authority of the warden until the bullets from the guns in the hands of the guards began flying in close proximity to their persons. The two convicts were Charles McGuire and Cornelius Sullivan. Both are employed in the broom factory and both have been looked upon as desperate characters.

At 10 o'clock the men were marched from the cell house into the chapel as usual, but Sullivan remained in his cell under plea of sickness. McGuire accompanied the rest of the prisoners, marched along the side of the long tables upon which the meals for the convicts are served he dropped quickly to the floor and rolled under the table. The guards in charge of the table did not notice his action, and accompanied the rest of the convicts into the chapel. McGuire crawled under the table for the full length of the long cell house and then climbed to the top of the cells. Here he was joined by Sullivan. They had secured a ladder about the cell house. Their plan was to leave the ladder against one of the ventilating shafts and cut a hole through the corrugated iron ceiling. Once above the ceiling they proposed to bear out one of the boards forming the ventilating shaft, crawl up to the roof of the building, and drop to the ground. They had a rope, hammer, several knives and tools which they had taken from the broom factory.

As soon as they got on top of the roof they were discovered by Warden Beemer and two guards. The warden ordered them down, but they persisted in their effort to escape. Then the guards were ordered to fire, which they did. Their first volley being sent near enough to the escaping convicts to start them to leave the building. The first volley the convicts threw up their hands and descended. They were placed in irons for the rest of the day. During the troubles the several hundred convicts in the chapel gave up the idea of leaving the building. The forty or fifty ladies and gentlemen who were present from the city, nearly became panic stricken. When the first sounds of the disturbance reached the chapel, Chaplain Howe paused in his sermon and said: "Boys, keep your seats. If you see any of the convicts fall down the warden will pick them up; if any of them wander away the warden will bring them back."

WILL DRAIN THE VALLEY

Dodge County Supervisors Decide to Undertake Some Improvements

The Dodge County Supervisors have returned from their excursion over the proposed ditch lines. It was determined to construct the ditch by a vote of 9 to 7, amid great enthusiasm of the friends of the measure from North Bend, Ames and Fremont, and all along the line.

The Standard Cattle Company of Ames has had everything in readiness for the putting in of a large sugar beet crop this year, conditioned upon the granting of the ditch, and will now begin at once to push the planting of about 70,000 acres. The distribution by that company of from $35,000 to $40,000 during the season for labor, and it is hailed with delight by Fremont laborers, and those of North Bend and Ames. The ditch will be about 100 feet wide, 12 to 16 feet wide at the bottom at the start, and twenty-eight feet wide at the bottom where it empties into the Platte. The cost will probably be about $15,000. It will run diagonally across the valley at a point at the foot of the bluff north of North Bend, to a south-westerly direction, emptying into the Platte a couple of miles above Ames. It means the complete drainage of at least 50,000 acres of the choicest valley land in the world, good roads, a dense valley population, and the best development of the sugar-beet industry.

OF A GREAT STATE

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF NEBRASKA

Bureau, for the week ending April 23, has been issued as follows: Nearly all portions of the state have experienced showers during the past few days, and though the silver hail was not enough to smother the vegetation, the week upon the whole has been favorable, especially to the eastern districts. Wheat and oats are recovering from effects of the cold weather of the latter part of March. All fruits, except peaches (an unimportant crop in this state), are now not thought to have been so seriously damaged as was supposed a few weeks back. Farmers Shipping Grain

Boiling as the producer allows someone else to do his thinking for him, so long will he fall short of getting fairly good labor. The average farmer is a poor business man and he should insist on doing as much of his own business as possible. It will not do for him to simply hold the plow, feed the stock, build the fences and harvest the grain. This is the hardest part of the farm, but it is only half of it. The other half is making the most out of every bushel of everything produced. Why should the farmer labor the year through to get the grain from the spout of the thrasher, and then turn it over to the work of someone else on shares?

Does selling the grain look any more difficult to the farmer? Would he rather get his grain run out of the mill board of his wagon to a local grain buyer, than to take it to both the head about weighing, shipping, billing and collecting for himself? Right here is the point. Farmers should both their heads a little more, and spare their backs. With this idea in view it is proposed to suggest with this editor, to dwell upon such facts, which will assist our readers in doing more of their own business. The object of the information given will be to stop all immediate leaks and reap direct profits.

Let us direct our thousands of farmer readers how to get $25 out of each wagon load of grain where they now get $20, we feel that they will attend to the social and educational features. If the general government in its wisdom should place a tax of 5c to 10c a bushel on all grain raised, the farmers to pay the tax, there would be such an uprising as this great country has never seen. Yet farmers are taxed just this much every year. This is the tax that the farmer does not get. It is the "independence" how many will follow this subject through a number of weeks while we throw some light on the way to get larger profits, official weights, legal bushels, correct state inspections, because of Chicago markets, sales by car lots, and money in lump sums, better business start for the boys at enough money in the year to relieve the druggery of the women folks? It is a little matter of education for our readers, and all it costs is simply the first step.

Two things tend to discourage the first shipment. First, the average farmer lacks confidence in his ability to do the business, never having tried it before, and second, he lacks confidence in the man who is to take the grain. Now see how simple the "whole matter" is. Decide that you have one, two, or a dozen loads to sell. It matters not whether it is a "consignment" of wheat, corn, oats, rye or barley. Go to the nearest station.

Ask the Railroad Agent to order you an empty car. He may try to discourage you a little but insist upon it. He will tell you what train will put your car on the sidetrack and may also tell you that the car can stand there but one day. However, that is no difficulty. The agent will give you one or two of your neighbors and if the roads are good the car can be easily filled in one day. When it is filled notify the railroad agent. He will look and seal the car. Step into this office and get a bill of lading. Take this bill of lading and enclose it in a letter to your Chicago commission house. In your letter ask the house to sell the best advantage possible on arrival and remit at once. Your car of grain is weighed and its contents are put in the scales by the State officials. It goes on the open market of the world. The price for everything sold in that market given to the world at once. Nothing is done in the dark. You get your Chicago bill of lading in eight hours after the car is weighed and you will usually be agreeably surprised. The weights will be better than at home. The price will be the Chicago market, not the safe guess of your local buyer about what he can get. You will get a bill of lading mission for the selling of the grain and you have your money in a lump.

Where to Ship

But how will you know to whom to ship? In general, deal with a house that has had experience in this line of country. You will find a steady one for honesty and square dealing. Such a firm will supply you with all the printed instructions needed, will send all necessary blanks, will confer with your railroad officials if there are any delays and will be glad to see you personally. You will find a steady one regarding further shipments. It is a clear case of doing your own business and putting the middleman's profits in your own pocket. It is as simple as selling it at home after the first car has been sent to market.

The Key-Seed Cleaning

Not very long ago a large manufacturer telegraphed a steady one safe-maker, requesting that a man be sent at once to his place of business, a town about fifty miles from the city. Upon reaching his destination the expert, with his kit of tools, repaired the key, opened the safe, and found that the vault, an old-fashioned affair, which looked with a key and which contained the safe and locks of the concern, could not be opened. The man examined the lock and then saw the key. You will find a steady one of wire and began to do a mass of dust, and lint out of the key. Then he inserted it in the lock, and while the proprietor with a sticky smile looked on, he nudged the implement and opened the door. "Your charge," asked the manufacturer. "Fifty-dollar ars," replied the expert. "Does any one know you are in town?" "Well then, here's $50," remarked the manufacturer. "I'll give you $10 extra if you'll take the first train back to New York without telling anyone the price I've paid for a man dig dirt out of a key for me."

GRAINS OF GOLD

OSTENTATION is the signal flag of hypocrisy. The acts of this life are the death of the next.

A DOUBTER is always dodging and hiding from the truth.

The darker it is all around us, the more our light is needed.

CHEERFULNESS is health; its opposite, melancholy, is disease.

NO ONE can be truly brave who is potting to be truly good.

THE CAMPAIGN IS ON.

ELECTION OF OVER TWENTY SENATORS INVOLVED.

Once to be filled in the Various States This Year - A New House of Representatives to be Chosen - Hot Fights in Some Sections.

The politicians of the country are in the saddle. This is no unmeaning phrase in this year, for 1894 promises to eclipse in interest even a presidential election. In fact, it promises to overshadow accurately the campaign of 1890. For this reason all the talent of the various parties is already being brought to the front, primed with a mass of campaign material growing out of the silver, the tariff, and the

PROMINENT CANDIDATES IN COMING STATE ELECTIONS.

Following summary of detailed notices in this issue of the congressional election, and those to follow in all the States on November 6. The Senators whose terms expire March 4, 1895, are: John T. Morgan, of Alabama; James H. Berry, of Arkansas; Edward O. Wolcott, of Colorado; Hiram Bingham, of Delaware; George L. Shoup, of Idaho; Shelby M. Culbertson, of Illinois; James F. Wilson, of Iowa; John M. Spooner, of Kansas; James M. McPherson, of Kentucky; Daniel C. Carter, of Louisiana; Wm. P. Frye, of Maine; George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts; James M. Smith, of Michigan; John M. Schrank, of Minnesota; Thomas C. Power, of Missouri; Charles F. Johnson, of Nebraska; William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire; John A. McPherson, of New Jersey; W. R. Washburn, of New York; John H. Burton, of Ohio; Nathan P. Dixon, of Rhode Island; Matthew C. Butler, of South Carolina; Richard F. Pettigrew, of Tennessee; Richard Coke, of Texas; Eppa Hunton, of Virginia; J. N. Camden, of West Virginia; Joseph M. Carey, of Wyoming.

Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith, Turner are among the possibilities, though neither are the candidates. It is assumed that the line through the group of active candidates for the place would put North and Bacon together on the anti-administration side, and leave Du Bigon on the other.

The term of Senator Butler, of South Carolina, expires within a year, and the Committee on the Judiciary of the Senate are already planning to capture the Legislature which is to choose the State's next representative in the upper house of Congress. With Senator Frye, of Maine, a Populist-Democrat as one representative, it is the term of Senator Smith, of Colorado, which will be chosen in the coming year. South Carolina elects State officers as well.

Arkansas elects its State officers on Sept. 3. Arkansas will vote for a Federal, county, township officers, an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and a Legislature, which will choose the successor to Senator Berry. The political settlement in the State has not yet crystallized into movement except to develop the certainty of an entire Populist State ticket.

Congressman Gear, the State voted for Secretary, Auditor, Treasurer, Railroad Commissioner, Judge and Clerk of the Supreme Court.

Wyoming elects its State officers and State Senators for four years. Its Assemblymen and county officers hold office for two years. This year all these offices will be filled, and the Legislature will elect a successor to Senator Joseph M. Carey.

California elects all its State officers, a Governor, a Lieutenant Governor, a Secretary of State, a Treasurer, a Railroad Commissioner, a Superintendent of Public Instruction, three Justices of the State Supreme Court, and a Legislature, which will choose the successor to Senator Millican to elect and a State ticket to take office January 1, 1895.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

WRESTLING WITH THE SUPER-NATURAL IS DISCUSSED.

A Sermon of Beautiful Imagery on the Spiritual Conflicts of Life - The Pastor Preaches Something to Say on the Necessentials of Religion.

Dr. Talmage last Sunday preached on the spiritual conflicts of life, taking for his text the words of the prophet Jacob: "I wrestled with him." The sermon was a powerful and stirring discourse, in which the pastor dwelt upon the necessity of wrestling with the supernatural in order to attain to the heights of religious life.

A Great Celebration of the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the Order.

The celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows was fittingly observed throughout the country.

WHOLE LINE TIED UP.

Great Northern Employees at St. Paul and Minneapolis Stop Work.

The strike in effect in St. Paul and Minneapolis. The American Railway Union called out at its meeting in the employ of the Great Northern Road in the two cities. Telegrams were sent to all unions on the line to stand by their guns.

SPARKS FROM THE WIVES.

An Army of 700 Coxeyites has been organized at El Reno, O. T.

A COFFEY RESERVE ARMY OF 250 MEN WILL BE ORGANIZED IN CRESTED BUTTE, MONT.

REPORTS of a small-pox epidemic in Texarkana, Ark., we said to have been exaggerated.

POLICE OFFICER AUSTIN, of Portland, Oregon, shot and killed an unknown burglar.

AT Hammond, Ind., William Bard, a Washburn factor, fell under his train and was killed.

W. H. OGLE, Northern Pacific station agent at Belgrade, Mont., was killed by a burglar.

AT St. Paul, Minn., a bucket-shop was raided, and Frank Hill and Howard Hill, the proprietors, were arrested.

THE Texas Medical Society has memorialized Congress for protection against contagious diseases other than cholera, small-pox and yellow fever.

EVIDENCE has been found showing that Leroy, A. T. Beck, of Indianapolis, was struck with a sandbag before he was shot. No arrests have been made.

EDWARD RYAN, Jr., and his sister Nedra, of Chicago, were drowned in their way to the Crow reservation in search of a ranch they could take up.

TWO WELL-DRESSED MEN robbed the R. E. Spencer Bank at Springfield, Mass., of $1,300, one occupying the attention of the cashier while the other secured the money from the change counter.

four walls were displays of courage more admirable than that of Hannibal crossing the Alps, or the pass of Thermopylae, or Balaclava, where, "into the jaws of death they rushed."

During my vacation one summer I was in a Presbyterian audience, and it was sacramental day, and with grateful heart I received the holy communion. On the next Sabbath I was in a Methodist church and sat at a low feast. On the following Sabbath I was in an Episcopal church and knelt at the altar and received the consecrated bread. I do not know which service I prefer.

GRAND TRIALS.

Learn again from this subject that people sometimes are surprised to find out that what they have been struggling with in the darkness is really an "angel of blessing." Jacob found in the morning that this strange personage was an angel of blessing. He had patched messenger to promise prosperity for him and for his children.

REDHOT DISASTER.

I will go further and say that every Christian has his struggle. This man had his combat in Wall Street; this one on Broad Street; this one on Fulton Street; this one on Chestnut Street; this one on State Street; this one on Lombard Street; this one on the Bourse.

THE HILLER-ZION VINDICA.

Before we reach the heavenly fields or walk the golden streets. Then let our songs abound and our hearts be glad. We are marching through Immanuel's ground To fairer worlds on high.

THE MARK OF THE BLEMISH.

Learn, again, that while our wrestling with trouble may be triumphant we must expect that it will leave its mark upon us. Jacob prevailed, but the angel touched him, and his thigh bone sprang from its socket.

REDEMPTION OF GUANA.

There are still "red men" in Guana, according to Mr. Smith. He has a large descendant of the inhabitants at the time of its discovery. They are, apparently, of three or more separate origins.

MAKING HAIRPINS.

Hairpins are made by automatic and very complicated machines. The coil wire is put upon drums, and becomes straightened as it feeds. It is then cut to the length required. This piece of wire then slips along the iron plate until it reaches a slot through which it is pressed into the regular shape. The hairpins are then put into a pan and japanned, after which they are heated in an oven with a temperature of from 300 to 400 degrees.

of Christ is rising up its strength to go forth "fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners." Clap your hands, all ye people, the day breaketh.

THE CHRISTIAN HOPE.

Death to many may, to all is a struggle, a wrestle. Go have many friends that it will be hard to lose. I care not how bright our future hope is. It is a bitter thing to look upon this fair world and know that we shall never again see its blossoming springs, its falling fruits, its sparkling streams, and its far away to those who were we played in childhood or counseled in manhood.

Rosewater of the Bee is now sorry that he supported Judge Scott for the judicial orbite. The Norfolk News says that H. P. Shumway, of Wakefield, is mentioned as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Democratic papers have buried the name "czar." Its use how would only taunt them and call to recollection the false position they assumed in the past.

Coxey and Browne of the Commonwealth army were arrested Tuesday while attempting to make speeches on the steps of the capitol building at Washington.

"Reddy" Wilson, who murdered Marshal Whitney, of Missouri Valley, Saturday morning, was lynched by a mob of 100 citizens of that city at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Coxey and his army are in Washington and Kelley and regiment are in Des Moines. Just how these men are going to better themselves by the move they are making is a conundrum that has not yet been solved.

The Indiana republican state convention was held at Indianapolis on Wednesday of last week and it was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the history of the party in that state. Old Indiana will go republican this fall.

A short time ago senator Allen was denouncing the organization of the commonwealth army. He is now devoting his time to encouraging them. His change of front is as often and varied as the wind, and he is abundantly blessed with both.

Here and there throughout the land there is talk of revolution, and why is it that it only comes during democratic times? The York Times very aptly remarks: "There is something about democratic rule that seems to breed turbulence and secession."

Stanton county is entitled to the republican candidate for representative from this district according to the rule that has been in vogue for a number of years, of alternating. However, the republicans of both counties will closely investigate the matter and can be relied upon to do the wise thing.

Stanton county is entitled to name the republican candidate for representative to be voted for at the next election. When it comes to naming the candidate Stanton county will unanimously present the name of Chas. H. Chase, and when it comes to election the county will stand by him also. Mr. Chase is eminently qualified for the position and can easily be elected.

The Register is eminently correct, and if Charley is nominated Wayne county will put him there with both feet. Do you mind?

It remains for the republican party to act wisely and judiciously on the money question. It is the party that has ever been ready to meet any issue and dispose of it in a manner that is universally satisfactory. Conservatism is considered much safer than ultraism, and it is the party that will find a tenable position between the extremes of free coinage of silver and monometallicism. It is the party that will bring about an international conference from which will result in a more extended use of silver, the only logical sequence of the money question. The republican is the only true American party and the one that has made other nations gaze with admiration on the United States, but they now look at us in a short year and half buried in shame, with men marching to Washington in armies and people almost starving amid plenty. This is the product of democratic statesmanship. Shall this kind of thing continue? The republican state convention will do well to wisely construct the platform this year on the living issues.

"Doc" Bixby, who writes the "Daily Drift" in the prince of western newspapers—the State Journal, is a full team with a liveried driver and a painted coach. He is thoroughly saturated with true republicanism and woe to the unjust, demagogue or hoodlum upon whom he trains his batteries of sarcasm. After he has knocked the last prop from under them that offers them an excuse for living, he ties the Muse under the chin and she then removes the remaining cuticle and sprinkles salt on the unprotected tissues. We have never seen "Doc," but imagine that a man who has such a priestly wife with her Postic Nibs must be a regular fin de siecle Apollo. We hereby forgive him for his poetry and regret that there are not more like him.—Randolph Times.

Truly stated, "Doc" is not an extremely handsome man and does not exert himself much in moving about, but that fertile brain of his is a caution, and the great lines that flow with ease from his pen are numberless. Long may he live.

The name of E. C. Dimick is being mentioned in connection with the republican nomination for state senator from this district. The party might search all over this district and they will not find a better man for the position than the big whole-souled manager of the Stanton county breeding farm. If it is decided to nominate him Stanton county will give him a fine vote.—Stanton Register.

There is no republican in Nebraska who thinks of Eugene Moore and Jos. Bartley without a feeling of pride and satisfaction. When an enemy of the party says anything against either one of these men we just give him the horse laugh and pass on.—York Times.

"Coxeyism" Defined. Says our esteemed free-trade contemporary, the Herald: "It is of vital interest that 'Coxeyism,' which is merely a new name for sedition and lawlessness in a new form of development, should be traced to its source and origin. What instigates it? Who furnishes the fuel that keeps the fire alive? Who stimulates the passion by which it is inspired?"

"Coxeyism" is a living, breathing, walking testimonial of the country's rejection of an era of unprecedented "prosperity," brought about by the wisdom-puffed democratic administration. It is a thank offering of the great and sympathetic American people, who find the English language too weak and inadequate to properly, cogently, and sufficiently express their approval of the Altkoonid democracy and his corps of bulging, teeming intellects which constitute the law-making branch of his administration. It is a glorious, hurraing, ripsnorting tribute to the democratic knorky who now stands with his heels firmly planted in the stomach of American industry. Its source is in the presidential election in the year of our Lord 1892.

"Coxeyism" is instigated by the fool and destructive policy of the democratic party. It is nursed by the fear that the democratic congress is not yet through playing football with the nation. Its fuel is the statute books which democrats are crowding with measures dangerous to the country's welfare and prosperity.

"Coxeyism" is the much-talked-of and long-promised "change." It is the holiday democracy pledged to labor in exchange for votes. It is the only fulfillment of the Chicago platform in evidence. In short, "Coxeyism" is the logical, natural, practical demonstration of the idiotic theories of democracy.—Inter Ocean.

RECIPROCITY. The man who said, "I haven't quit being a democrat," but I've quit voting the democratic ticket until some democrats who are not condemned fools can be found to run the party," is one of a very large number, and of a number that daily grows larger. The incompetency of the leaders of the party is amazing. Whatever policy other nations abandon after a long trial, that our democratic leaders adopt. Whatsoever American policy so commends itself as admirable as to lead other nations to adopt it, that our democratic leaders at once reject.

Free trade having been rejected by all of continental Europe, our democratic leaders strive to adopt it for the continent of America. The United States policy of reciprocity having so commended itself as to be thought worthy of adoption by Germany, Russia, Spain, Italy, Rumania, and Great Britain, our democratic leaders at once resolve upon its abandonment. To begin to do everything that the experience of the world has proven unwise, and to cease from doing everything that experience has proven to be wise, or has been, and apparently ever will be, democratic practice. The unprosperous seasons of the United States have, with hardly an exception, been its seasons of democratic ascendancy. This is why there are so many men who "haven't quit being democrats, but who have quit voting the democratic ticket."

Under reciprocity we have enlarged our trade with Cuba, Brazil, Germany and Italy. Therefore the democratic leaders have resolved on its abandonment. But Germany is taking up the policy that they are about to discard.

Great Britain is willing to enter upon those commercial relations with Spain that our democratic leaders are about to end. Germany, in return for our cessation of reciprocal agreement as to free sugar, may place heavy or prohibitive duties on our grain and meat, while admitting those of Russia, Sweden and Norway are ready to send their fish and lumber to Spain and its colonies on the favored terms that we obtained by our reciprocity agreements, but which the Wilson bill promises to abrogate.

No wonder that trade is dull, impairing our home market, while professing to prepare for the conquest of "the markets of the world," the democratic party is letting loose of such hold as we already had upon foreign trade, and is standing inactive while Europe enters upon a policy of reciprocal agreements in which we have neither part nor lot.—Chicago Record.

A Great Big Cut.

Owing to the hard times nearly every commodity has been lessened in price. The Nebraska State Journal, which has forged to the front as the best paper in the state, realizes that the public is entitled to cheaper state papers, and therefore reduces its price from $10 to $7.50 per year, including the Sunday issue, or $6 per year for six days in the week. There will be no reduction in quality but the increased circulation even at the lower price will permit of larger expenditures for telegraphic news, etc. The Journal is for Nebraska first, last and all the time, and every effort is put forth to build up state interests. Published at the state capital it is of particular interest to Nebraska. Its Washington Bureau is in charge of W. E. Anutt, who is thoroughly acquainted with Nebraska interests at the national capital. During the approaching campaign, and during the coming legislature, the Journal will be pre-eminently the newspaper of Nebraska. Try it awhile; 65 cents per month for seven days in the week; 50¢ per month except Sunday. Address: NEBRASKA STATE JOURNAL, Lincoln, Neb.

THE CAT CAME IN.

Is It the Reincarnation of the Old Mexican Who Didn't Come Back?

"Ha! Ha! Why of course I believe in them," said Wes Hearn to a group of congenial Bohemians crowded around the lunch counter about midnight. "There's a hant now," and he pointed to a big black cat which stealthily made its way in the door and under a table, out of the shadow of which his eyes glowed red as a coal fire. "That cat's a hant and a maseo!" in one.

"One stormy night about four years ago he came in here, and he's never been away since. There used to be an old musician who visited us every night steady for years. He used to come in hollow eyed and haggard. He never said a word, but laid down his money, got his brace and bit on his way—always the same, and went on his way. The time the cat came in the night, man noticed that the old musician hadn't appeared. It was a stormy night, too, just about this time. The wind howled and moaned, and the lightning flashed in red ribbons, while the thunder cracked like the guns of battle and reverberated in a boom that made all the dishes in the house rattle. It was a bad night, too dismal by far for people to be out in. Everybody was sitting around the stove talking. Just as the clock was striking 12, Mr. Frazee expressed wonder that the old man, moaning the musician, hadn't come in. At that moment the big black cat came in and took his place by the stove and never uttered a meow, and he's never been away since, and, more than that, he never sleeps. If that cat should go to sleep, I believe the house would fall down. Once in awhile he gets a little bit sick, and then everything goes wrong.

"But the strange part of the story is that the old musician never came back. Two days later he was pulled out of the river dead. He must have jumped in the same night that cat came. I believe the spirit of that old man is in that cat. What makes me believe so is that as soon as a band passes that door playing that cat makes for the river as fast as he can tear. He goes away the moment any music is heard, and he doesn't tarry when he starts. What he goes to the river for I don't know—perhaps he was music that drove the old man crazy. I've heard some music that would drive anybody so."—Florida Times-Union.

Dubbed a Visionary.

The probability that vehicles driven by steam would be the future means of transportation on land was very well foreseen 20 years before the last century closed by Oliver Evans of Philadelphia, the inventor of the high pressure steam engine. As early as 1786 he petitioned the legislature of Pennsylvania for the exclusive right to use his inventions for road wagons to be propelled by steam. The word locomotive had not then come into use. This privilege was denied, but the Maryland legislature granted the right for 14 years. There appeared at one time good prospects of Evans obtaining the necessary financial support to apply his steam engine to the propulsion of boats and road wagons, but some cautious capitalist of that day determined to have B. H. Latrobe, an accomplished architect and engineer, report upon the schemes that Evans was advocating. Latrobe reported strongly against the steam engine, saying that the inventor was a visionary. This report ruined Evans' career and deprived America of the benefits of the steam engine in transportation for two generations longer.

By a curious irony of fate the son of this same Latrobe performed important engineering services in building the Baltimore and Ohio, the first railroad in this country where a steam engine was used successfully.—Locomotive Engineering.

Don't Judge by Appearances.
A one legged street beggar who, rain or shine, sits every day with outstretched hand on the steps of a warehouse in a downtown cross street is quite a philosopher in his way. He says that, so far as his experience goes, little can be judged regarding the benevolence of men or women by their appearance. Sometimes, he says, he will see a man approaching who seems to be the personification of charity allied with opulence. The beggar stretches forth his hand with confidence, but withdraws it with disappointment. Then there hurries by a Methodistian looking creature, seedy perhaps, with a cynical smile on his face, who drops a quarter into the beseeching palm. Among women the beggar asserts, the best dressed are seldom the most charitable. There are exceptions to the rule, of course, but the prevalent theory that a street beggar can "size up" a pedestrian by his appearance is erroneous.—New York World.
