J.H. Hoover has purchased the Pelren residence in Lake's addition.

Will Rickabaugh has purchased the Lewis house west of J. P. Gaertner.

You remember what the HERALD said the past summer about the sugar beet crop.

A box of soap given away with each set of dishes purchased at the Star Grocery.

Fifteen car loads of sugar beets were shipped to the Norfolk factory last week.

Mr. G. B. Nettleton is building a nice barn for Dr. Wightman on his farm west of Carroll.

J. F. Sherbaban shipped a car load of brick to Wausa Monday and one to Randolph Tuesday.

The butter market is about the only redeeming feature. Even the cows won't give milk with grain so cheap.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. Stringer, Thursday, Oct. 17, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The Ladies Union prayer meeting will be held next Sunday at the Presbyterian church at 4:30 p. m. Topic: The Keeping power of God.

If it is so, will some of our citizens tell us why money is scarce and the grunts to be heard on every hand continues in the face of the most bounteous crops Wayne county has ever produced.

There has been some talk recently of organizing a Chautauqua Circle in Wayne and all those who would like to become members of the Circle or who are interested in the work are requested to meet at the home of Rev. H. H. Millard next Tuesday evening at 7:30.

The subject for the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday is "God's Covenant with His People; or God's presence with His people in olden times and at the present time." Come prepared to say something on the topic. Y. M. C. A. hall at 3:30 p. m. Sharp. Robert Utter, leader.

The C. St. P. M. & O. will ship enough sugar beets, grain and farm produce from Wayne this fall that the railroad company could well afford to lower the freight rates so that the farmers might receive at least a small portion of an equitable division of the proceeds derived from the sale of grain.

W. H. Hoffman, of Norfolk was, in Wayne last Sunday. He attended the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the afternoon, making a few very interesting remarks. Mr Hoffman is a railroad man, running on the train between Norfolk and Sioux City, and has written a small book entitled "The Three Phases of Life—Sinfal, Moral and Christian."

The Harvest Home concert given at the Baptist church last Sunday evening was a pleasing entertainment and was listened to by a large audience.

Wm. Miller received returns from his carload of beets Tuesday showing that he had raised 17 tons net per acre, with four rows 20 rods long left on the acre.

Dr. G. Nieman, Physician and Surgeon, treatment of Galvanic and Foradic electricity in chronic diseases a speciality. Consultation in German and English.

Come to the Cake Walk to be held by the young people of the Lutheran Church near the Church on next Tuesday night. Come, come, Come all, Come great, Come small, We'll furnish fun for all.

The HERALD wishes, even if it is "wicked to wish", that there were 10,000 acres of sugar beets in the vicinity of Wayne. If Wayne is to be more than it now is she will have to have a beet sugar factory.

A meeting for the purpose of organizing a band was held at the HERALD office Monday evening. Prof. Kellor of the College was elected Director, and R. W. Wilkins, Manager. The organization starts out with a membership of twelve and will fall under the name of the Nebraska Normal College Band, the institution which marks the one real effort of our citizens to do something beneficial to our city.

As the 9:30 train came in from the east Tuesday morning Claus Holtgreen drove in from the south and as the cars on the house track hid the incoming train from view, he barely succeeded in backing the horses from the main track as the engine stopped where the team had stood a second before. At the same time a team standing near Hoover's restaurant became frightened at the train and ran away, but fortunately were stopped on Second street without any damage having occurred.

Monday's Chicago Daily Tribune contained a dispatch from Lemont, Ill. stating that Charles Simon, editor of the Cook County News, formerly of Wayne, was brutally assaulted by a mob while on his way to the telegraph office to send a message to the Tribune of which he is the Lemont correspondent. He was knocked down, kicked and badly bruised about the face and body, and but for the interference of a policeman would no doubt have been killed. As it is, the dispatch states that he will be laid up for two or three weeks. Mr. Simon has taken an active part in the law and order league of Lemont, and has incurred the wrath of some of the people of the city. C. A. Falty, brother-in-law of the Mayor of Lemont, and president of the Board of Education was the assailant.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Much to the surprise of many of the faithful the court house hall was well filled with democrats yesterday afternoon who were anxious to nominate the ticket which the republican party will have to contend with this fall, and while the HERALD has great faith in the grand old party yet there is no denying the fact that the democratic convention placed a strong ticket in the field.

The convention was called to order by chairman Shinn at 2:30, who proceeded to read the call for which the convention had assembled.

On motion of A. P. Childs the nominations were taken up in the following order: Clerk, treasurer, sheriff, judge, surveyor, superintendent and clerk of the district court.

The convention then proceeded with an informal ballot for county clerk with the following result: S. B. Russell 95, John Larison 20. On motion the informal ballot was made formal.

Phil H. Kohl was then nominated for treasurer by acclamation.

Ed. Reynolds and Henry Kloppling were placed in nomination for sheriff and the result of the ballot showed that Captain Reynolds had secured the nomination by a vote of 95 to 27.

H. P. Peterson was tendered the nomination for judge by acclamation, also A. L. Howser for surveyor.

The question of nominating a county superintendent brought forth considerable discussion, but finally the convention proceeded to ballot with the following result: Miss White 15, Harry Fisher 35, Joe Cullen 37. The next ballot resulted in favor of Mr. Cullen, who was declared the nominee.

Albert Berry captured the nomination for clerk of the district court, after which the convention adjourned.

After the county clerk had been nominated, D. B. Tallman was given the floor and for a few minutes he was allowed to berate his fellow democrats and at intervals provoked laughter from the audience, but he never failed to declare his allegiance to democracy. Postmaster Childs and A. B. Charde had also a few words.

A resolution was passed that the primary system be adopted in future conventions. The county central committee was also named.

Open Letter to all Concerned.

Highly pleased by the unexpected success of the concert given in my favor I can't help feeling dutifully bound to say myself a few words of heartfelt gratitude to all those who so very earnestly and harmoniously worked together in producing the surprising result.

But since I sincerely wish not only to speak but to act in accord with my feelings I hereby kindly beseech all my friends, ladies and gentlemen, who revealed to me true friendship last Thursday, that they at any day and hour, whenever they think it proper, to use my services, unhesitatingly grant me the kindness of a return, whose highest reward would be the satisfaction of having enjoyed a chance to pay a little of the large debt I ventured to incur.

Once more my best thanks to all, who most willingly forwarded my interests. Very respectfully,

OTTO VOEGT JR.

Nebraska W. C. T. U. Convention

The state convention of the W. C. T. U. convened in the first Presbyterian church in Beatrice, Sept. 26, at 8:00 p. m., the president Mrs. Walker presiding. Many pleasant greetings were given the delegates. In the absence of the Mayor, Mr. Pemberton, city attorney, welcomed the convention in the name of the delegates in well chosen words. Rev. Dudley, of the M. E. church welcomed the convention in behalf of the churches of the city, he gave not only a cordial welcome but a spily one which we all enjoyed. Mrs. Lester, welcomed the convention in behalf of the W. C. T. U. and Mrs. Richardson, an attorney of Lincoln, responded.

The President Mrs. Walker delivered a very able address, which was replete with good thoughts and helpful words. "We have met in our regular State Convention, which aside from the interest always attached to this event, becomes one of more importance since it celebrates our twenty-first anniversary. For twenty-one years the women of our nation have been engaged in a warfare against this terrible liquor traffic, that robs homes of its comforts and childhood of its joys, ruins the character and prospects of our young men, bringing nothing but desolation and misery to its victims. We realize its unlimited power when we see how it controls state and national interests, smothering the voice of conscience and dictates the policy of men."

"It is needless to follow the growth and marvelous power of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union."

"In twenty-one years our organization has extended into every civilized nation on the globe and the white ribbon, that emblem of our principles is recognized as the badge of temperance and purity. Twenty-one years ago the idea of teaching the harmful effects of intoxicants and narcotics on the human system had never occurred, still less the idea of compulsory education on that subject, while now every state has passed laws making such instructions compulsory. Our object and labors are for the elevation and protection of the home, and we have been trying by all possible means within our power to mould public sentiment in this direction."

Mrs. Wheelock the corresponding Secretary, dwelt at length upon the relief work accomplished in the drouth stricken districts. The Union Worker as State Paper published at David City by Mrs. Anna M. Bunting, has become almost self supporting; if any member of the masculine gender can furnish more tact and business ability than our Editor we would be glad to greet him. There are three thousand members in the State of Nebraska of the W. C. T. U. We have three hundred thousand in the U. S. Y. W. C. T. U.; five thousand are Honorary. Miss Goudy State Superintendent of Y. work, said in her address, "that if we could know the environments of our young men we would extend to them the friendly hand encouraging them as they cast their first ballot to do it for the right, placing only such men in office who will stand by the right, and enforce laws." Mrs. Cobb, State Treas. stated that we were out of debt, the first time in twenty one years, with some money in the treasury. The Convention after this reading arose and sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

We go to our homes feeling that coming together has not been in vain. Words have been spoken, impressions made that will be carried to all parts of the state and all homes will be the better thereby.

The Convention adjourned to meet in Fremont next year.

A. J. Ferguson was a Norfolk visitor yesterday afternoon.

Judge Barnes, of Norfolk, was a Wayne visitor Saturday.

J. W. Hood went to Sioux City on business Tuesday morning.

Chas. Diltz, of Hartington, was a Wayne visitor over Sunday.

John Zwright, of Norfolk, was transacting business in Wayne Tuesday.

J. M. Strahan, of Malvern, Ia., was an over night visitor in Wayne Wednesday.

Mrs. G. L. Miner went to Atkinson, Saturday for a few weeks visit with relatives.

Jackson Deitz, of California, has been looking after Wayne county interests the past week.

Nels Grimley accompanied his mother to Columbus this morning on her way home to Denver.

Mrs. W. F. Norris, of Ponca, was the guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. Phillee over Sunday.

Chas. Tower came up from Omaha and will remain in the city with his parents about ten days.

Rolla Oxford, of Bloomfield, was a Wayne visitor Tuesday afternoon on his way home from Grand Island, where he had been to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias.

Mrs. R. J. Armstrong will entertain a number of ladies at high-five tomorrow afternoon.

Three companies of regulars, numbering 180 men passed through Wayne Monday evening on a special train from Fort Yates, N. D. enroute for winter headquarters at Ft. Niobrara.

The Ray L. Royce Company was greeted by a slim house Tuesday night. The entertainment is said to have been very good, what there was of it, but a company should not represent that they present opera when such is not the case.

LOGAN.

The potato crop is a good one in this section.

Mrs. Driskill has some very nice onions for sale.

Bert Beck, of Emerson, visited his brother August, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Neff and little girl of Seattle, Wash., have returned to make Nebraska their future home.

Mr. Isaac Weaver raised his new barn last Tuesday. When completed it will add much to his already well improved farm.

Grandma Richardson is visiting Mrs. Rice. Oscar Swanson is back from Oklahoma and reports that it is not such a fine country as it promised to be.

HOSKINS PICKUPS.

Ed. Braasch of our town has the contract for furnishing the Asylum with butter.

Aug. Braasch, of Pierce, visited his brother E. Braasch of this place on last Sunday.

Steve Russell, of Wayne was looking after his political fences in this locality the first of the week.

Geo. Frost, representing the Woodman of the World, is visiting his sister Mrs. P. M. Peterson, of this place.

Mr. Shannon and sons are at home in their new office and are handling lots of grain. Twenty cars this week.

Al. Howser and Geo. Weatherholt of this place attended the Democratic convention at Wayne on Wednesday.

Frank and Mabel Philipps returned Tuesday after a pleasant sojourn with relatives at Osmond and others points. Preparations are being made to hold a grand concert at Hoskins in the near future for the benefit of the new church.

Work on the new school-house is progressing nicely. The Board of Education has appointed Harold Case to superintend the construction of the building.

The republicans of Hoskins precinct will hold a grand rally at the Hall in Hoskins on next Saturday evening (Oct. 12). Candidates and prominent speakers will be present and address the people.

The Hoskins people are expectant in return of Rev. St. Clair, as pastor of the Methodist church at this place. Rev. St. Clair is a man of good ability; his sermons betoken rare scholarly attainments, in fact he never fails to break bread for the people.

It appears that there is a disposition to indulge in party pollie woging and carry on a bit of bartering in the political mush pot. We have nominated a good ticket, let us support the candidates and vote the republican ticket from top to bottom. The "new hat" racket won't work in the west end.

TOWNS OF SETTLED HABITS.

In her article on "The Myth of the 400," in the July Cosmopolitan, Mrs. Burton Harrison tells of an American calling upon a lady in London and finding her seated in a big chair by the window and engaged in some sort of needlework. A young man came in and paid his respects, as it was her day at home, and then bowed himself out. Three years later the American was again in London, and again he called upon the lady. It was her day at home, and there she sat in the same chair by the same window with the same needlework, or some very like it, in her hand, and, more remarkable still, the same young man called and made the same remarks he had made three years before. Mrs. Harrison tells this anecdote to show how unchanged things are in England, and how you are pretty sure to find people just about as you left them. The illustration is a good one, but I can match it with a better one over here. I have the pleasure of knowing a family in Philadelphia, who have lived in the same house for forty years. As the children of this family grow up, they developed a musical talent from four or five generations of men learned in the law, as well as skilled with the bow. Every Sunday, between 12 and 1 o'clock, it was the custom of the father and the sons to play classic music, the father being first violin, one son viola, one second violin, the other violoncello. They played well, and, as I lived near Philadelphia in those days that I do to-day, I dropped in at these rehearsals, as they called them. Five years ago I was in Philadelphia on a Sunday. I had not seen my old friends in fifteen years, but I was sure they were living at the old place. I walked around to the house, and, as I mounted the marble steps, I heard sounds of music. Could it be possible that a "rehearsal" was going on? Yes, sure enough. There sat the father, his hair snow white, with his violin tucked under his chin, and the three "boys"—fathers themselves—all playing away as they had been doing since they were children. To be sure, they were married men and did not live at home, but they met every Sunday morning at their father's for the usual music. I expect to run on to Philadelphia again before long, and though it has been at least five years since I was at my old friend's house, I expect to hear the music on Sunday morning, for I shall time my visit so as to include a Sunday.—Critic.

Laziness and Ignorance. If the lazy people of education and refinement could be vigorously stirred to action; and if, on the other hand, the well-meaning but ignorant people could be properly instructed, municipal corruption and political decadence could quickly be arrested. Thackeray says, "A man will lay down his head or peril his life for his honor, but let us be shy how we ask him to give up his ease."

In the same vein an American statesman has written, "It is not the bad citizen that needs to be reformed, but the 'good citizen.' The bad citizens are a hopeless majority, the good citizens a hopeless minority." It is well always to remember that a vast majority of the so-called "lower classes" are honest; they would like to have good government if they knew what it meant. When President Low of Columbia College was first elected mayor of Brooklyn he had a heavy majority against him in the poorer part of the city. During his first administration he offended certain "influential" demagogues, and an increased majority against him in the "lower wards" of the city was predicted. But with great wisdom he went into these wards, spoke frequently, explained clearly just why what he had done was for the general interest; and the result was a great gain for reform in that district, while in his own ward, as it oddly happened, his vote fell off. "So," said Mr. Low, "I have found that the people in the lower wards are quite as amenable to good leadership as those in the upper wards."

Energy and knowledge are the two specific remedies for our political maladies.

Labouchere's Nerve. Labouchere, during his early days at Cambridge as an undergraduate, was one evening caught by the proctors walking along the streets with a young woman, and they at once demanded his name and college. He gave them, but protested there was nothing wrong—the lady was his sister. "Oh! come now," said one of the proctors, "this woman is one of the most notorious characters in Cambridge." "Well, sir," said young Labouchere, with his inimitable drawl, "do you consider it gentlemanly on your part to taunt me with that?" The proctors were not satisfied, and he was hailed before the vice-chancellor. Labouchere coolly looked round and asked whether any one would be so kind as to translate what had been said into English, as he did not understand Chinese.

LUCY WAS DEMURE.

But the Sedate Young Minister Feared High Kicking Girls.

A sedate young minister recently took up quarters in a boarding house in the Tenderloin district. He was delighted to find himself the only gentleman at a table where six young women lent charm even to murky coffee and hashed and rehashed hash. He took them to church with him on the first Sunday morning and in the evening they sang gospel hymns for him. He retired early that night, and the sound of their voices lulled him to sleep, but it did not seem to him that the song was exactly gospel. However, he had forgotten the occurrence by breakfast time.

The next day some marks on the door of the back parlor attracted his attention. There were just as many of them—although he did not notice that—as there were young women, varying in altitude from 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 feet. Over each mark was a capital letter, but it did not occur to him that these capitals were the initials of the young women. Underneath the lowest line and around all of the lines except the two upper ones—which represented progress—was a smudge as if former lines had been rubbed out in order to make later and higher ones.

The sedate theologian became very curious about these marks. He asked many questions, but the young women only teased him by way of answer, exciting his curiosity and fascinating him all the more. It had seemed to him that young women of the city had more charming ways than those of the country. One of the six in particular, by name Lucy, had won his admiration. She was the demurest of all, and she it was whom he took to church alone and for whom he bought ice cream and candy wrapped up in boxes bearing gold labels. Yet even she was proof against his most subtle queries about the meaning of those marks.

What might have been the future relations between himself and Lucy if he had not returned unexpectedly one evening from prayer meeting no one can tell. The door of the back parlor was partly open, and he heard a whisk of skirts and saw near the topmost mark on the door the toe of a little boot—Lucy's boot.

His baggage was packed before he went to bed.—New York Press.

THE HONEST FINNS.

Life and Property Are Both Thoroughly Secure Among These People.

Life and property are thoroughly secure in Finland. Trunks and parcels are left for hours in the street, to be found when wanted by their rightful owners. In the country districts the houses are never barred and bolted, even in the absence of their owners. Then, again, it is no uncommon thing for a blooming girl of 17 or a young married woman to drive alone in her cart a distance of 50 or 60 miles through dense forests and by the shores of gloomy lakes, conveying the family's butter, cheese and eggs to market in town, and then to return home alone with the proceeds. In trade the Finns are not only scrupulously honest, they are heroically, quixotically so.

A tradesman will tell you the whole truth about his wares, even when he knows perfectly well that by so doing he loses a customer whom the partial truth would have secured. "This seems exactly the kind of apparatus I am looking for," I said to a merchant in Helsingfors some months ago in reference to an article that costs $75, "and I will buy it at once if, knowing what I want it for, you can honestly recommend me to take it." "No, sir; I do not recommend you to take it, nor have I anything in stock just now that would suit you." And I left the shop and purchased what I wanted elsewhere.

"Here's your fare," I said to a peasant in the interior who had driven me for three hours through the woods on his drosky, handing him $1. "No, sir; that's double my fare," he replied, returning one-half the money. And when I told him he might keep it for his honesty he slightly nodded his thanks, with the dignity of one of nature's gentlemen.—Scottish American.

Thad Stevens' House Demolished.

One of the historic old houses of Capitol Hill is now being demolished to make way for a handsome modern residence which is to be erected upon the site. People passing along B street, between First street and New Jersey avenue southeast, have noticed for years an ancient residence on the south side of the street, which has been one of the landmarks. The oldest inhabitant when asked about it would say it was formerly the home of Thad Stevens, and thereupon the house assumed renewed interest in the eyes of many. A project was on foot at one time to purchase the house with money contributed by colored people and to make it a memorial to the regard which the colored race entertains for the memory of Thad Stevens. Ex-Senator Bruce and other colored men of note were interested in the scheme, but it was abandoned.—Washington Star.

Bullet Marks in a Church Door.

An interesting discovery has been made at the Church of St. Mary, with St. Andrew, Tenbyham, in Kent. The western door recently underwent renovation, and the removal of all superficial covering disclosed that the portal was of fine massive oak, which, on examination, was found to be scarred in several places with bullet marks. There are eight distinct punctures, in some of which the leaden bullets still remain imbedded. It is supposed that they were fired into the door by some of Cromwell's soldiers when engaged in the spoliation and desecration of the Kentish churches.—London Letter.

You have heard of the old lane story
it's applicable in Wayne county politics.

It is said that a democrat is running for governor over in Iowa, but General Drake, the republican nominee, has failed to learn of the fact.

The fact that Wayne needs a beet sugar factory must not be lost sight of
with the present low price of grain staring our people in the face.

Of course it is a republican year, but the knifing process which occurred before the caucuses will probably be continued until the polls are closed.

But, Oh! what a difference after election—with promised votes so fair, they were never deposited there—to call a man a liar, there is no objection.

The farmers find little to be thankful for even with a bountiful crop, and this, too, after the democratic Wilson tariff bill has been in effect more than a year.

Twenty-five or thirty thousand dollars direct from 600 acres of sugar beets will evidence the fact that Iowa's Ex-Gov. Boies' $1.25 (that never materialized)—wheat is not the stuff for Wayne county with a P. V. to boss the price.

Our democratic friends, as they have opportunity, are speaking of improvement in prices. But they do not seem to find opportunity in the matter of farm products. And wasn't it a democratic tariff that was to lift the farmers
out of all their troubles?—Sioux City Journal.

Judge Norval, the republican nominee for Supreme Judge, has won distinction on the bench in Nebraska.
Able, fearless and a man of exemplary character he comes before the people unstained and his re-election is an assured fact. Nebraska may be trusted to give her old time republican majority this fall.

The United States Circuit Court sustained Captain Beck in his contest with the Flournoy Land Company in the Winnebago land cases. The decision was rendered at Lincoln Tuesday.
The court declares the leases of the Flournoy Company worthless, and if the agent so elects he can summarily eject any of the tenants.

Robertson vs. Robinson is the judicial text of this campaign in the Ninth district and you can cast your ballot for Hon. W. M. Robertson with a clear conscience and with the knowledge that your vote will help elect the next republican judge of the Ninth district and a man thoroughly qualified to make an able Judge. He will fittingly wear the judicial ermine.

The populists expect to carry the campaign three years into the past and make their campaign on a couple of decisions of Judge Maxwell's wherein they allege he rose above the publican party, and they don't hesitate to admit that they must have republican votes to elect him, and are asking republicans to raise above party by voting with the populists. It takes gall,
but they always have that with them.—
Stanton Picket.

Governor Sheldon of South Dakota
says: "The Wilson Tariff law is not favorable to wage earners." He also says: "No man in this country every saw really good times except when every laboring man who wanted employment could get it at reasonable wages. That can never be as long as we go abroad to buy what we ought to make for ourselves." Governor Sheldon's head is level. He sees that South Dakota could produce much that is imported wastefully.—American Econo-

The Republican Nominees.

M. O. Cunningham and Bert Brown
the republican nominees for County Clerk and Clerk of the District Court are young men of ability, men who have grown up in Wayne county and who have fitted themselves thoroughly for the positions they seek to fill. They should receive the full republican support.

I. O. Woolston is well known to the citizens of Wayne, having resided in the county for many years. He is a man of exemplary character and chock full of good judgment and the republican party of which he is the nominee for treasurer, will show their appreciation of his worth by granting him the privilege of presiding over the county funds for the next two years.

Judge Martin who has for years so ably presided in the County Judges office, needs no recommend. He is known all over the county and for another two years at least he will wear the county judicial ermine.

Mrs. Myra Fletcher the republican nominee for Superintendent of schools is well known throughout the county.
She has taught for a number of years in the public schools and has a host of friends who will see that she is elected.

Ludwig Zeimer has made the best surveyor the county has ever had and he will in the coming election receive a larger vote than he did two years ago.
He hails from Hoskins and is the republican nominee.

J. P. Gaertner of course will be the next coroner as no one else aspires to the position, and John can attend to the duties of the office with dignity and decorum.

Geo. Harringfeld the nominee for commissioner of the Third District should receive the hearty support of all republicans of the district. He is a German thoroughly qualified for the duties of the office and if elected to the position will transact the business of the county in a manner to bring credit upon the district.

The campaign in Wayne county this fall will almost remind one of a presidential campaign. The pot boils.

It pays just as well to play fair in politics as any other way—this will be found to be the case as the days roll around.

"Tariff Reform" As It Is.

An excellent example of the thing called Tariff reform in practical operation lately occurred in the course of the business of a prominent wholesale clothing of New York City. Tempted by a bait of low prices, he had ordered of an English importing house a line of what purported to be 18-ounce clay worsteds. When the goods were received and opened, the clothier observed a suspicious dampness about them.
They were weighed and found to tip the scales at exactly the stipulated 18 ounces per yard. Then the clothier concluded to expose them to air and dry them. He did so, and when he weighed them again he found that they had meanwhile fallen off to 16 1/2 ounces per yard. That is, the clothier had been buying "cheap" foreign goods and paying for water.

The English manufacturer had deliberately wet his light and flimsy fabrics to bring them up to weight. This is known as "conditioning" and is said to be regularly practiced in England. It would yield, so it is estimated, an extra profit of $5 on every piece of goods which Tariff reform enabled the canny Briton to sell to the unsuspecting Yankees. Under the McKinley Tariff there was a specific duty on the weight, in addition to the ad valorem duty which made such trickery well nigh impossible.
And Tariff reform was going to give the American people not only cheaper
but better clothing!—Boston Journal,
August 27, 1895.

Our Foreign Trade in Cattle.

The raid upon the markets of the world that has been made by American cattle growers seems to have fallen short of expectations during the current fiscal year. From returns of the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department we find that, last July, we shipped abroad 18,613 head of cattle less than in July, 1894, while in August, we shipped 14,302 head less than in the preceding August, the total decrease being 32,915 head for the two months of this year and the money loss being $20,887,538, as can be seen from the following figures:

FOREIGN TRADE IN CATTLE.

	July.	August.	Total.
1894	41,420	35,414	76,834
1895	22,807	21,112	43,919

	Loss, 1895.	18,613	14,302	32,915
	Value
July.	1894	$3,752,644	$3,310,882	$6,063,526
1895	2,171,351	2,004,137	4,175,488

	Loss 1895.	$1,581,293	$1,306,245	$2,887,538
	We did not look for such returns as these. They are hardly in keeping with the promised capture of the world's markets. We surely can not be getting a tight grasp on them when we are losing at the rate of nearly $1,500,000 a month in our foreign trade in cattle alone.—Economist.

With a Tariff for deficiency only in existence, what so simple as the passage of a brief law placing a Protective Tariff upon wool and increasing, from a Protective standpoint, the Tariff upon woolen goods? Such a law would add upward of $10,000,000 a year to the revenue; it would prevent the utter extinction of sheep farming; it would check woolen manufacturers in their compulsory journey to bankruptcy; and it would provide steady work for tens of thousands of wage earners whose mode of existence has recently been both precarious and uncertain. The enactment of such a law should be quick and decisive; no time need be lost in discussing it; the Republicans in Congress thoroughly understand the situation and know the remedy. Their duty is to save two important industries for American farmers and manufacturers. Let President Cleveland veto such a bill, if he dares!—Economist.

CONVINCING WILLIAM.
To Do It Mrs. Brown Resorts to the Crematory.
"What's that copper can for? Colorin' pickles?" Inquired Mrs. Jones of Widow Brown.
"No; them is all that's mortal of poor William," explained the widow, as she wiped away a tear.
"Goodness me; you don't mean to say you've had him canned like corn beef?" exclaimed Mrs. Jones.
"My, no; I sent his body to the cremery and had him insinuated and them is his mortal remains—just a handful of dust, Mrs. Jones," and the poor widow sighed and wiped away two tears.
"I don't believe in that. I think it's downright wicked," declared Mrs. Jones, with a show of asperity calculated to induce an explanation.
"It does kind o' seem so, don't it, Mrs. Jones?" moaned Widow Brown tearfully, "but it was mortifyin' the flesh to purify the spereet. William wasn't a downright wicked man, though his sinfulness would crop out once in awhile, more especially when I tried to convert him. He'd always laugh right in my face an' say: 'Mary Jane, you can't make me believe that fire an' brimstone busness hereafter. I been a gettin' my share of it right along.'"
Mrs. Jones rolled her eyes toward the ceiling in horror and the widow moaned.
"Then when I got roused up an' more eloquent, he'd say: 'Mary Jane, you can't never convince me that there's a hotter place than right here.'"
Mrs. Jones groaned.
"But I alius declared I'd convince him, if it was my last act, an' if his spereet is in them ashes I'd just like to ask him if it was not enough for him."

Game in Maine.
This will be a great year for hunters in Maine if the deer are as plentiful in the woods next fall as they are now reported to be in the grain fields, orchards and vegetable patches all over the State. Farmers have been telling all summer of the notable tameness of the animals, and lately they say the creatures have become actually bold. A Caribou farmer says that last week he saw four fine deer in his oat field and drove them out. As soon as he had gone away they came right back. This was repeated several times. Of course he dared not shoot them. Other farmers tell like stories. A party of girls picking berries near North Rockport a few days ago left their pails for a few minutes, and on returning for them found a big buck eating the berries. And he continued eating until actually driven away.

French Kitchens Are Unhealthy.
The kitchens of houses in Paris, which have often been cited as models, because they are so small and convenient, have been rebelled against by the Society of French Cooks, who employed Dr. Regard to find out the causes of the alarming mortality in their profession. It was found that the kitchens were very damp, poorly lighted, and had very little or no ventilation. As a result their occupants were subject to rheumatism, varicose veins, and hernia, to throat trouble coming from draughts and intense heat, to dyspepsia, and to alcoholism, resulting from weakened constitutions. The remedy proposed is to make the kitchens at least ten feet long, eight feet wide and seven feet high.

The Greatest Medical Discovery of the Age.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS., Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder hurst). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken. When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label. If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squamous feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by All Druggists.

DEATH IN THE CRASH.

AWFUL DISASTER AT A CHURCH CORNER STONE LAYING.

Platform Gives Way and 300 Are Precipitated Into a Pit—Ferochial School Is Turned Into a Hospital—Forty Persons Injured.

Many May Die.
A frightful disaster plunged Lorain, Ohio, into mourning Sunday, and what was meant to be an incident of glad rejoicing became in an instant a catastrophe of appalling horror. One child was killed outright, ten persons were fatally injured and between thirty and forty others were seriously hurt by the sinking of a section of temporary platform built on rotten timbers. The accident occurred at the outset of the ceremonious laying of a corner stone for the new St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and just after the priests had hushed a crowd of 5,000 people into solemn silence. The list of dead and injured is as follows:

- Killed: Mary Weber, 3-year-old daughter of Mat Weber, of Sheffield.
- Fatally injured: Miss Kate Dedrick, of Sheffield; both legs broken and hurt internally.
- Mrs. John Ensting, aged lady, of Lorain; left leg crushed and chest injured.
- John Feldkamp, of Lorain; hurt internally.
- Katie Griffin, 8 years old, of Lorain; left leg crushed and hurt internally.
- Mrs. Michael Kelling, middle aged, of Lorain; injured internally.
- Rosa McGee, 3 years old, of Lorain; skull fractured.
- Mrs. Mary McGrath, of Lorain; left leg crushed and hurt internally.
- Mrs. Margaret Mackert, of Lorain; hurt internally.
- Mrs. Corneilus Sullivan, of Lorain; spine injured and left leg crushed.
- Mary Sieder, of Lorain, aged lady; chest crushed and hurt internally.
- Seriously hurt: Col. W. I. Brown, leg and arm bruised.
- Mrs. William Burgett, of Lorain; hurt internally.
- Mrs. M. Bruce, of Hoganville; left ankle broken.
- Nellie Dillard, of Lorain; head cut.
- John Ensting, of Lorain; back hurt.
- Mrs. John Fox, of Sheffield; both legs broken.
- Mrs. Mary Latimer, of Carlisle Center; right leg crushed.
- John Martin, of Lorain; left leg broken.
- Mrs. Mary O'Keefe, of Lorain; hurt internally, and leg will have to be amputated.
- William Ryan, of Lorain; right leg broken.
- George Theobald, 3 years old; head cut.
- Nicolaus Wagner, leg bruised.

Platform Was Crowded.
The foundations of the church are extended about ten feet above the bottom of the unfinished basement. It was on these foundation walls that a large platform had been built, on which the ceremonies were to be held. From an early hour in the morning until after noon people had been waiting on this platform, anxious to secure a point of vantage from which the services of the church could be seen and heard. When the reverend fathers took their places on the platform at 1 o'clock fully a thousand people were standing or sitting on it. The great majority of these were women and children. Four thousand others were grouped about the place, all within earshot.

Just as Monsignor Boff, of Cleveland, the chief Roman Catholic dignitary present, raised his hand to bring the audience to quiet, a sound of splitting timbers which became panic when it was seen that a section of the temporary platform was sinking beneath the weight of 300 people huddled together upon it. The crash came of a sudden and every one of the 300, save a dozen or two who scrambled off the edges, was precipitated into the pit ten feet below. The section which gave away was in two wings, and as it sank it formed a veritable death trap for the victims. The pit, with its slanting hoard walls, resembled an inverted roof of deep steep slant, the gable ends being at the top of the stone foundation walls, and into this vortex were hurled men, women and children in one on top of another, struggling heap, all in frightful, maddened panic. The sound of the crash was followed by a wail from the helpless victims as by an echo, and that again by a great cry from the spectators of the tragedy, who had been stricken into a panic and were well-nigh as helpless as the victims themselves.

The inevitable result of panic followed and doubled the horror, already great enough. Those nearest the top of the mass escaped on the top, but when the pit was partly emptied those victims who were still entrapped could not clamber up the steep sides, and they trampled upon each other like so many wild creatures, the strong men getting on top and the weaker women and children being crushed and beaten down beneath the greater weight. Three thousand people, lost to presence of mind, made a mad rush forward toward the pit, hoping to lend aid to the unfortunate, but as they pressed forward their weight threw at least fifty of those near the edge head over heels into the pit. For at least fifteen minutes the pit, given, and nothing was done except in the way of making matters worse. Finally ropes and ladders were procured and handed down to the struggling victims. When assistance finally reached them and the rescue was well under way it was found that the dead body of one child lay in the bottom of the basement, and that almost fifty other persons were lying bruised and mangled on the floor.

Church Is Made a Shrine.
The old Catholic church, a few rods distant from the new, was turned into a mosque and hospital, and some of the injured persons were carried into the parochial school next door and there made as comfortable as possible. Twenty physicians were on the scene within twenty minutes, and they were kept busy until sundown caring for the victims' wounds. Several of the injured will die before daylight. When the people had carried the dead and wounded into the old church and quiet had to some extent been restored among those who escaped the services of corner stone laying were resumed. The delay occasioned was not more than thirty minutes, and the ceremonies laid down by the Roman Catholic ritual were not altered in any wise, except that they became a shade more solemn and to the devout hearers a little more impressive. Father Boff delivered the sermon. It was a most impressive and stirring address tinged with the somber hue of the dark tragedy that introduced it. References to the disaster were frequent throughout. The prayers and the formalities in which Father Boff was assisted by six other priests also partook of the unwonted sadness, yet they were carried through with imperturbable purpose, though the audience was altogether unmoved and unstrung. Following prayers came the laying of the corner stone. When the ceremonies were finished the priests called at the extemporized hospitals and made inquiry concerning the condition of the victims—their parishioners.

MUST ARBITRATE OR FIGHT.

Alleged Ultimatum by Olney to England in the Venezuela Affair.
Nothing has been done by our Government with reference to the Venezuela boundary controversy since Secretary Gresham forwarded Minister Bayard a copy of the resolution passed by the late Congress urging Great Britain to submit the disputed question to arbitration. It is said, however, that Secretary Olney has prepared a note for Mr. Bayard to lay before Lord Salisbury that contains a more forcible expression of the views of the United States on this subject than has yet been officially uttered. This dispatch is of a positive and most unequivocal nature. As soon as it shall be placed before the British Government it will raise a question which can be settled only by the retreat of one or the other Government. The stand taken by the United States in this dispatch is one which involves the oldest and most sacred tradition of the Government—the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine.

Secretary Olney's dispatch is in substance a declaration in the most positive language that the United States will never consent to British occupation of the disputed territory in Venezuela unless that nation's right thereto is first determined by arbitration. While this declaration is substantially the same as that which was made some months ago, and to which the British Foreign Office replied with a statement that the English right to a part of the territory in question could be submitted to arbitration, the right to another part of the region in question could not be submitted to such arbitration.

When Great Britain took this ground the question which President Cleveland and his advisers had to decide was whether the United States is bound by the Monroe doctrine and by her dignity to insist that all the territory in dispute should be submitted to arbitration, or whether by conceding England's contention we should virtually abandon the field and leave Venezuela to fight it out alone. Few more serious questions have presented themselves to the American administration within recent years.

The decision of the President and his Cabinet advisers, after careful discussion and painstaking investigation, is that a bold and consistent policy shall be adopted, and this policy is based on the ground in the dispatch which Ambassador Bayard will lay before the British Government as soon as he returns from his present journey to Scotland. The dispatch meets England's rejoinder with a reaffirmation of the principle of original contention expressed in phrases which leave no possibility of doubt as to the meaning and earnestness of the United States. It does more. In polite, but firm and significant words, Secretary Olney declares it to be the belief of the United States that the territorial claims which Great Britain has set up in Venezuela are in the nature of an attempt to seize territory on the American continent to which she has no legal right.

CORN TO BURN.

The Garnering of 1895 Is Certainly a Monster.

The Chicago Tribune thus suggests a novel way of disposing of the surplus corn crop: "On a 2,500,000 bushel crop the West will have corn to burn. According to a Kansas City dispatch a packing house company has already issued orders to its Wichita house to begin the use of corn for fuel so soon as it can be bought for 12 cents a bushel. Last year the unusual and abnormal feature in the grain situation was the feeding of wheat to farm animals. Little attention was paid to it at first, except as an experiment, but in the aggregate it amounted to millions of bushels, and was reflected in reduced stocks in farmers' hands. Burning of corn for fuel is less of a novelty than feeding it to hogs, as it has been a general custom on several occasions to strew a great deal of attention. Both are direct results of overproduction. The conditions in wheat which made stock-feeding practicable are all present in corn in an aggravated form to make its use as fuel in many sections feasible. The 1895 crop of corn is practically made, and without doubt it will be a record-breaker. On the basis of present prices corn will be cheaper than coal for fuel during this fall and winter in States west of the Mississippi River. It is said that experiments have shown that a ton of dry corn will go further in producing steam than a ton of coal. The oil in the corn makes it especially adapted for hot fires. It is clean to handle and almost smokeless. A prominent operator on the Board of Trade offered to forfeit $10,000 if he could not furnish the 'Alle L' road with corn for fuel at a less cost than that of the coal supply."

But on the other hand reports from Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa points, where in times of coal famine resort has been made to corn for fuel, state that its use is neither satisfactory nor profitable. The heat is so intense that the iron of furnaces and stoves is soon burned out. Then, too, it is not steady, which renders it impracticable for making steam.

MORTON'S HORSE-MEAT ORDER.

Foreign Purchasers to Be Protected by Having the Product Labeled.
Secretary Morton's latest meat inspection order, promulgated to go into effect Jan. 1, is intended to prevent the exportation of horse meat as "canned beef," "salted beef," or under any of the other various titles, which it is alleged have been applied to this product to deceive the foreign purchaser. The Secretary has asserted that he has no authority under the law to prohibit the sale of horse meat, because it was recognized as an edible, but he has taken a new means for reaching the perpetrators of the fraud by his latest order amending the regulations so that the inspector's stamp shall show that the product is not only free from disease germs, but also the species and origin of the animal from which it is taken.

Burglarized the Prison.

They've broke into the Connecticut State prison at Wethersfield the other night, got the best of a mastiff dog, and drove away with an $800 pair of black horses, a $300 surrey wagon, $200 worth of silver-mounted harness, resplendent with the crest of the State; and two whips, two blankets, two sheepskin mats, and a hat. The robbers scaled the prison walls, passed the watch tower, which was tenantless, forced the lock on the barn door, picked out the handsomest pair of blacks from among a dozen horses, harnessed them to the best wagon in the stables, locked the mastiff in a box stall and drove away. Before getting clear of the prison they were compelled to break down a huge iron gateway to the east of the institution, cut down a wire fence, and drive through the vegetable garden, in full view of the warden's house. They were not captured until they reached New Haven, thirty-six miles away, and turned out to be ex-convicts.

Not the Only Hog.

He was a new man in New York, evidently a country product, and as he rode upon the other afternoon in a cable car he sat in the corner trying to read his paper while several women held on by the straps. He watched them furtively as they swayed to and fro, changing his eye every now and then to the men who occupied seats as he did. None of them moved and didn't show any signs of moving, and at last he gently pulled at one of the women's dresses and got up. "Excuse me, ma'am," he said, so everybody could hear him, "I thought I was the only hog in the car, but I see I'm mistaken."

Fast Railway Time.

A new train on the London and Southwestern Railroad recently ran from London to Aberdeen, 540 miles, in two minutes less than plus hours, or at an average rate of a little over 60 miles an hour. This beats the record in that country for long-sustained high speed, held by the same road, which was 55.9 miles an hour from London to Edinburgh, 400 miles. But the long-distance record in the United States is still unsurpassed, the New York Central having made the run from Buffalo to New York, 436.5 miles, at an average rate of 61.56 miles an hour. The record for the fastest single mile is also held by that road and train, being one mile in 32 seconds, or at the rate of 112.5 miles an hour.

WHAT IS IT?

How Is It Made?

Linseed oil is made from flaxseed. In making the oil it is necessary to clean the flaxseed, then grind by iron rolls, then it is heated to a high temperature and finally placed in hydraulic presses for the purpose of extracting the linseed oil. The ground flaxseed under great pressure gives up its oil and as gum a form of linseed cake, which when ground is called "Ground Linseed Cake." This is the "old process," as used by us. There is no nap ha or benzene or other foreign deleterious agents employed in our method.

What Is It Used For?

A million tons or more is fed annually to the domestic animals. It is the best food known for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs and chickens.

While the mills of the United States turn out the third of the world's production of linseed cake, until a recent period all but a few thousand tons have been exported, mostly to Great Britain, where the experience of 100 years has shown the wisdom and firmness its intrinsic value as a food for all live stock. The past few years have witnessed a great increase in the demand throughout our country. The most progressive and wide awake feeders of live stock are constantly increasing their orders. This is a

RIPAN'S TABLETS

Miss Lucy W. Lewis, of Randolph, Mass., a well-known and highly respected lady, writes under date of Jan. 22, 1895: "I can speak only in praise of 'Ripan's Tablets.' I am troubled by what my physician has called Nervous Dyspepsia. My work, that of a school teacher, often brings on a state of intense nervousness, which prevents digestion and results in severe headaches. I have found that by watching my feelings, and taking a Tablet with meals—as I feel myself becoming tired and nervous—I get relief at the time and prevent further trouble. I have derived much benefit during the time I have used them, and do not intend to be without them."

Ripan's Tablets are sold by druggists or by mail for the price of one dollar a box. The Ripan's Tablets are made by Dr. J. C. Ripan, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York. Sample Box, 10 cents.
