WAYNE COUNTY NEWS

Events of the Week in the City and County as Gleaned by the Herald's News Gatherers. On pursuing the stock dealer and questioning the grain and produce merchants today we find that Wheat is 44 cents. Oats 10. Corn 15. Flax 7. Butter 8. Eggs 10. Potatoes 20. Hogs, 3.40.

Take Notice.

T. J. Steele & Co. will buy and sell cattle and hogs. Stock cattle a specialty. 11-Smo. Ran Frazier, Agent. Tomorrow is the 1st day of May. The farmers are rapidly getting ready to plant corn. The Herald is printing the commencement programs for the graduating class. A great many farmers came to town Saturday afternoon and the merchants did a good business. The first double decked car of hogs ever shipped from Wayne were shipped to Chicago Saturday afternoon by Ran Frazier. Ran Frazier has moved into the residence in the north east part of the city which he recently purchased of Dr. Leisenring. The audience in attendance at the Nashville Students Saturday evening was well pleased with the entertainment. It was a fair sized audience. The Nebraska Central Building and Loan Association are prepared to make desirable loans on town property and close same at once. Everett Laughlin, Agent. At Furchner, Duerig & Co.'s, 1900 dozen eggs were taken in Saturday, while many hundred dozen were received by other merchants. The egg crop is all right. The young people of the Baptist church will serve ice cream and cake three doors north of Furchner, Duerig & Co.'s store Friday evening from five to ten o'clock. Ten cents. There is considerable talk of putting in a sewerage system and nothing is more needed in the city. It can be put in at a remarkably low figure and is a step further in the line of progress and prosperity. We notice in the Omaha Bee of Monday that Charles O. Freeman of Decatur, and Miss Nina Tallman of Wayne, were granted a marriage license at Omaha. Miss Tallman is a daughter of D. B. Tallman of this county. The ladies of the Monday club and their husbands perpetrated a pleasant surprise on one of the members of the club, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Thursday evening last, in honor of her birthday. A beautiful present was left as a token of esteem in which club members are regarded. The M. P. F.'s met at the pleasant home of Mrs. E. P. Ellis last Friday afternoon. The first prize was captured by Mrs. Heckert and Mrs. F. L. Neely took the booty. The ladies will end the season next Wednesday by giving a banquet and colonial reception at the home of Mrs. R. J. Armstrong. Dr. C. E. Welden, of Randolph, was stricken with paralysis at his home last Thursday during the absence of his wife who discovered him on her return in the afternoon. Medical aid was at once summoned and after several hours they were enabled to revive him. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker of this city were summoned. A merry company of young people gave Miss Leona Hunter a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Dormann last Thursday evening in honor of her birthday. The occasion was made very pleasant with music, games and refreshments. Miss Hunter received a beautiful book of poems as a present from the gentlemen.—Wisner Chronicle. The numerous friends of Ran Frazier will be pleased to learn that he has decided to remain in Wayne county, a county that no man has done more for than he. Mr. Frazier has become general manager for Wayne county for the stock firm of Steele & Co., a company that will engage extensively in the stock business, and elsewhere in this issue you will find a notice to that effect.

The Womans Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Anderson on Thursday, May 7th, at 3:00 o'clock. The fruit prospect is the best this spring that it has been for the past five years. Nothing but an unusually late frost can destroy it now. Miss Anderson the milliner, has moved into the building recently vacated by Hood the baker, where she will be pleased to see all former customers and many new ones. A meeting of the High School Alumni will be held at the home of Miss Clara Stringer Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of arranging the entertainment for the class of '96. All members earnestly requested to be present. The person who is attempting to kill a dog last Friday morning, sent a bullet through the window at the residence of Geo. Gilder and which brought up against the hard coal stove should be more careful. There is an ordinance against shooting inside the city limits. Not less than two inches of rain fell Tuesday morning. In fact it was the heaviest rain that has fallen here this spring, since which time all nature has done its most beautiful array. Fruit trees are in bloom, fragrance fills the air, and the crop prospect was never brighter. Norfolk came very near having a disastrous fire Monday morning. The liquor house of John Zwight was discovered to be on fire, but the flames were subdued before a great deal of damage had been done. Mr. Zwight places his loss at about $4,000 or $5,000. The fire is supposed to be the work of incendiaries. Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Moran entertained about twenty of their friends on Tuesday evening. The hours were spent very pleasantly in playing whist until 11 o'clock when the hostess served light refreshments, assisted by Mrs. J. Coyle. Mrs. Del Blanchard was given a china lunch set and Mrs. E. M. Smith a pocket book, as proof that they had played their cards well. At the democratic convention held at the court house Monday afternoon, Guy Wilbur was elected chairman and A. P. Childs secretary. Mitchell and A. L. Howser. George Wilcox was doing some painting for Henry Kloppling last Thursday afternoon, and as he stepped into the barn one of the horses became frightened at the white suit he had on and kicked him in the back knocking him against the side of the barn. He struck against an old pitchfork cutting a gash an inch long just above his mouth which required three or four stitches to set it up. The "Daughters of the King" gave a party at the K. R. hall last Friday evening. Socially and financially it was a grand success, and surely they deserve success, for all their earnings are used for missionary work. Just before refreshments were served the following program was given: Vocal solo, Mrs. Gil Harrison; recitation, Mrs. Frank Fuller; recitation, A. P. Childs; piano solo, Miss Bertha Armstrong. After refreshments games of all kinds were played, and the young people danced until near midnight. The Daughters will give another party next month.

Tower & Benschhof. Another rain fell Saturday night and the small grain crop is growing at a rate which insures an early harvest. S. B. Soace shipped three car loads of cattle to Chicago Monday, and Ran Frazier a double-decked car of hogs. W. C. Bonham is papering several rooms at the county jail this week and is doing the work up in first class style. Daisy Gamble left yesterday afternoon for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. McFarland, of Wycliffe Ohio. Ten members of the Junior society of the Presbyterian church were received as active members of the senior Y. P. S. C. E. The Wisner Chronicle, one of the brightest and best newspapers in north-east Nebraska has entered upon its eleventh year. Long may she wave. An adjourned meeting of the Nebraska Presbytery was held in this place Tuesday for the purpose of ordaining Messrs. Souder, Hayes and Griffin. Next Sunday is "Pastor's Day" at the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Subject, "If a Man Die Shall he Live Again. Don't miss this meeting; it will be one of the best; be sure and attend. Homer Graves who resides northeast of the city had the two first fingers of his left hand crushed last Friday while loading a water tank, which slipped and unfortunately his fingers were caught beneath it. Tonight at the opera house the beautiful cantata, "David the Shepherd Boy," will be presented by Prof. Keller of the Nebraska Normal College and a corps of able assistants. It will be well worth hearing. The Wayne and Wakefield youngsters played ball for all they were worth—to speak—at the fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The game resulted in favor of the Wayne boys by a score of 45 to 12. The cantata of Queen Esther will be presented at the opera house Monday evening, May 11, under the directorship of Prof. M. S. Davies. Costumes have been sent for, and one of the best entertainments of the season is promised. The Wayne Creamery is now running full blast. About 2800 pounds of milk is received daily and the churn of butter amounts to about 95 pounds. The managers expect to double the amount before the close of the first quarter. St. Mary's Guild had a very pleasant meeting with Mrs. Haley Wednesday afternoon. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Blanchard; vice-president, Mrs. Gilder; treasurer, Mrs. Moran. The Guild will meet with Mrs. Blanchard next Monday afternoon at two o'clock. Quite a bicycle craze seems to have struck Wayne recently. Last Thursday evening eighteen or twenty riders were at the fair grounds practicing, and every evening when the roads are in condition bicycle riders may be seen in every direction. Old men and boys, women and girls are all learning to manage a wheel, and it looks like our bicycle dealers might be doing a good business. Rev. Mr. Wight of Wayne, conducted communion services at the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning. In the evening a large audience listened attentively to his discourse on "The Power of Influence." His sermon impressed the notable truth that every individual exercises influence which accomplishes something for either good or evil. Conspicuous among his remarks, was a brief allusion to the story of Othello, which was given in illustrating the power one man yields over another. Iago, jealous of the promotion of Cassio by Othello, succeeded by his artfully applied influence to bring ruin and death to the latter's household. The illustration shows the machinations of one who masquerades in the roll of fidelity and goodness. It shows in an extreme degree the power of influence for evil. The sermon was a scholarly effort, full of logical and interesting thoughts, and elicited many laudatory expressions from those who heard it.—Ponce Journal.

Tomorrow night the Chicago Ladies Quartette will appear at the Presbyterian church. The entertainment will be the finest of the kind ever given in Wayne and to miss it will be to miss a treat. Last Friday afternoon as Mrs. Louis Ulrich, who lives southwest of the city, and another lady were on their way to Wayne, the team became frightened and ran away when near the Ran Frazier place and the ladies were thrown out of the buggy, Mrs. Ulrich sustaining a broken arm. Dr. Leisenring was summoned and reduced the fracture. Wayne county has begun to occupy a position of prominence. Last week Senator Bressler was elected district delegate to the republican national convention, and yesterday our fellow townsman Frank A. Dearborn, was elected district delegate to the national democratic convention by the state convention held at Lincoln. While Mr. Dearborn is of the wrong political faith, yet the citizens of Wayne regardless of politics, will extend to him congratulations on having been successful in securing this position of honor.

COLLEGE CHAFF.

New students are coming in thick now. Mr. Roy Snow, a former student, made the College a short visit last week. Prof. Pile gave a lecture in Allen, Neb., Saturday night for the benefit of a church society. Prof. Conn attended the Teachers' Association at Beemer Saturday. He met many former students and reports a most pleasant time. The Philos give the literary entertainment this week. A well selected program has been prepared. Everybody cordially invited. Rev. Wight conducted chapel exercises Monday morning. Rev. Wight is a most welcome visitor for he always has words of cheer and good advice for us all. One of the popular classes this term is the Literature taught by Miss Bymer. This class recites at 1 p. m. and would amply repay one to make it a visit. Rev. Powers, an M. E. Evangelist, made the college a visit Monday forenoon. We were sorry he was late for chapel as he is a jovial, sympathetic friend of young people. Misses Heal and Linsion have been re-elected at Alliance, while at Pierce Misses Batchelor, Cunningham and Carr retain their places. This must be gratifying to Prof. Pile. Among the new students enrolled this week we notice Misses Stella Vollar and Stilla of S. Dakota, Mr. Walker of Howells, Neb., Mr. Smith, Wayne. Several others have enrolled whom we failed to meet. Prof. Conn has been experimenting with X rays. The experiment has been a success. In the near future an exhibition of this wonderful discovery will be given to which the friends of the College will be invited. The Teachers Class have Drawing this term. As many of them take the Primary work next term, Mrs. Pile is giving the class a most thorough drill in Primary Drawing. She is certainly a most practical teacher as is evidenced by the large number in this class and the interest maintained. Mrs. Pile left Wednesday for a two weeks trip to Hicksville, Ohio, the home of her birth. She certainly has earned a short vacation if anyone is entitled to one. Messrs. Sands, Goodsell and Putman take charge of her classes until her return. Master Fred accompanied her and will remain until September. The reception given by the Scientifics Saturday evening was one of the most enjoyable events of the kind this year. The class showed that they are capital entertainers. These receptions are limited to students and ex-students on account of the large number, but strangers are made welcome, although we do not consider it the polite thing for one who has never been a student to hang around outside smoking cigarettes. "A word to the wise is sufficient"

FARM AND GARDEN.

BRIEF HINTS AS TO THEIR SUCCESSFUL MANAGEMENT:

Improvement in Currants—Directions for Planting Trees—Plow Corn Ground Early—Advantages of Wide Tires and Low Wheels.

A New Currant. While for many years there has been but little improvement in currants—and this came almost exclusively from the other side of the Atlantic—within recent years American fruit growers have realized the great importance of this fruit as a market crop. Several intelligent experimenters have made a specialty of currants, and have succeeded in producing some new varieties of unusual excellence. Mr. Jacob Moore, of Wyoming County, N. Y., the originator of the Brighton grape, the Bartlett-Seckel pear, and other valuable fruits, has in recent years devoted himself particularly to the improvement of the currant, of which, by judicious crossing, he has produced several excellent varieties, the best of which he considers the Red Cross. As seen in our illustration, the clusters are long and well-kept, and the berries very large. Prof. Beach, of the New York experiment station, describes the fruit as "of large size; stem long between cane and bunch; fruit a shade darker than Fay, but lighter than Cherry; averaging larger than Fay; very mild; subacid for a red currant; cluster larger than Cherry. The flavor is less sprightly than either Fay or Cherry."

Planting Trees. As many trees are destroyed each year through carelessness in transplanting them, it is in order to say a few words on this subject. In the first place all the bruised roots, as well as those torn apart and left rough, should be cut off, leaving a clean, straight cut. If the roots have been exposed to the air their ends should also be cut, as the fine points will be dried so that they cannot take up the water which they should. As little time as possible should elapse after the trees are taken from the soil before they are set into it again. Have the holes into which they are to be placed dug a little lower than the trees are to be set. The loose earth should be thrown back again so that the tree roots may be left with a few inches of loose soil under them as well as above them. It takes two to properly set a tree. One holds the tree in place while the other carefully throws fine soil among its roots, packing and pressing it down after enough earth has been put on to cover the roots. Even with the tree roots in place it will be necessary to secure some other soil than that dug from the hole to fill it up again. It should be slightly mounded, so as to allow for settling as the soil becomes more compact. The tree should be watered by sprinkling slowly a whole pailful of water for each tree. It should not be poured in, as it will wash the soil and make vacant spaces around the roots. After watering, mulch the soil and cut back the top of the tree to the few buds that are needed to form its first branches.

Work for Hens While Eating. One of the advantages of giving hens a wide range is that they get a greater variety of food and have to eat more slowly. They are also obliged to take a good deal of exercise to secure what they want. Both of these advantages can be secured to hens confined in yards. In winter grain of different kinds, oats and wheat may be mixed with cut straw, and the hens be allowed to scratch for it in the hen house. In spring and summer a small place should be plowed; sown with grain and the grain harrowed in. Here the hens should be allowed to exercise themselves until they get all the grain sown, or so nearly so that scarcely a spear appears above the surface. The insects and worms which the hens will pick up on this plowed piece of ground will make a welcome addition and variety in their diet. Hens so managed will keep on laying until hot weather, when the moulting season comes on, which every hen must pass through once a year. The earlier it is over the better it will be for the poultryer's profits.

Early Plowing for Corn. Corn ground should always be plowed early and left in the furrow a few days to be warmed by the sun and air before being harrowed down. If, however, it has been plowed too wet, the harrowing should be done before it has thoroughly dried. Some farmers put off plowing their corn ground, thinking to get a larger growth of grass or clover to turn under. But the warming of the furrow is worth more than the small amount of green manure that can be grown before a later plowing. Besides, on any old soil it is very important to have it begin to rot as early as possible. This is best secured by early plowing and thorough surface cultivation. When the soil begins to rot it furnishes considerable warmth to the soil above it, which is just what the corn plant wants.

Timothy for Lawns. Timothy grass is reckoned rather coarse for lawns, but it makes a soil so much quicker than do the finer grasses that it should always be sown to hold the soil while the other grasses are coming in. By cutting frequently, with the lawn mower the timothy will be kept from growing too rank. In a year or two under such treatment the timothy will have run out, and the lawn will be much better than as if it had not been sown at first. It is very hard to get lawn seed that is free from seeds of weeds, while it is not difficult to secure pure timothy seed.

Wide Tires and Low Wheels. The farmer who has never used a low-wheeled wagon cannot understand how much more convenient they are than a high-wheeled wagon to husk corn in, haul manure or hay. They are right down by the side of you, and not up as high as your head. Everybody knows how handy it is to load a sled, it is the same with a low wagon. Some contend that they pull heavier than high wheels, but my experience is that they pull just as easy with the same kind of a load, even up hill; on very rough ground the high wheels may be best.

If wide tires were used our Iowa roads would be improved by every vehicle that went over them. We use a four-inch tire on one wagon, and in hauling loads through the fields, instead of cutting ruts in the soft places, and leaving lumps to pull over in hard places, it makes a broad, smooth track. If a road has ruts it is like the rails of a street-car track, and a team has to walk just so to pull easy, or else give an extra pull to get out, while a wide tire runs on top and follows the team easily and does not have any ruts to keep it exactly in the same track. It makes a wider track in proportion than narrow wheels.—Correspondence Wallace's Farm.

Starting Egg Plant. Although the egg plant is generally considered a difficult crop to raise, it is on the contrary quite as easily grown as the tomato if rightly managed; and persons having a surplus over and above what is required for their own use will find the sale of the eggs quite profitable. In most markets they bring from 5 cents to 25 cents apiece in a small way. The seed should be sown in flats about 15 inches square by 3 or 4 inches deep; fill the boxes nearly full of rich finely pulverized soil, sow one-eighth of an ounce of seed to the square foot and cover down firmly upon the seed. They require to be kept in a temperature of 70 to 80 degrees during the day and about 10 degrees lower at night. When they begin to crowd, thin to 2 inches apart. They should be set, boxes and all, in a cold frame to harden off before planting out of doors. It is not best to plant too early in the season. Pull the plants up with plenty of soil adhering to the roots, and set in rows 2½ feet apart and 18 inches between the plants in the row, pressing plenty of fine moist dirt firmly around the plants, and they will grow off nicely with very little check from the operation.—American Agriculturist.

Home-Made Cheese. It has always been a surprise to us that more cheese was not made by farmers with small dairies for use by their own families. There is no more nourishing food than cheese, especially for furnishing strength. With two good cows in full flow of milk a fair-sized cheese can be made, mixing the night and morning milk together. With vat and press there is no more labor about this than there is in butter making, and in hot weather the cheese will be of better quality than the butter, and bring more if put on the market.—Exchange.

Feed for the Young Pigs. Sows do not give large amounts of milk, but what they do give is very rich. By the time pigs are two weeks old they will need additional rations, and these should be provided in a trough where the young pigs can feed by themselves. Give only what can be eaten quickly and entirely. If milk is used make it warm as new milk from their dam. Sweet milk thus warmed will be quite as good for them as would new milk, as the last with what they get from their dam will tend to fatten them too much.

Enriching the Garden. The garden is never so rich that it will not be benefited with more manure or fertilizer. Keep it always up to the highest degree of fertility, and begin the war on weeds as soon as they begin to appear out of the ground. Never use poor seed in a garden, as you cannot afford to take the risk of failure in germination, and as early vegetables should be an object, every week is important in the spring, for the crops should get a good start before the dry season sets in.

Seed Potatoes. There are more than the usual number of new varieties of potatoes offered this season, and it is safe to claim that the majority of them will drop out of sight next year to give place to another batch of new varieties, all of which are "the best introduced." It is well for farmers to test new varieties, but this may be done to advantage with one or two potatoes. For your general crop stick to the kinds that you know are adapted to your soil and climate until you are sure that some new variety is better.

Etching. The art of etching from glass was discovered by a Nuremberg glass cutter. By accident a few drops of aqua fortis fell upon his spectacles. He noticed that they became corroded, and softened where the acid had touched. That was his hint enough. He drew figures upon glass with varnish, applied corroding fluid, then cut away the glass around the drawing. When the varnish was removed, the figures appeared raised upon a dark ground.

A mistake avoided is better than two corrected.

HALF MILLION A DAY

THE PRESENT DEFICIT UNDER THE WILSON LAW.

Democratic Financiering Is Flung—Uncle Sam Into Debt at the Rate of Over One Thousand Dollars a Minute—Facts for Farmers to Read.

Revenues Still Short. Half a million dollars a day is a pretty large deficit. But this is just what the Wilson law is doing at the present time. The first eleven days of April produced a deficit of $6,084,803. Counting only the business days the daily deficit for the month was $600,000, or to be absolutely accurate, $608,480. Counting eight hours a day, for that is the number of hours the government allows for a day's work, Uncle Sam has been plunged into debt at the rate of $70,000 an hour, or over $1,000 a minute all this month. This is an interesting state of affairs for the people who predicted twenty months ago that the proposed new law would "do what your McKinley law has not done, produce sufficient revenue to meet the expenses." It is interesting to see how those gentlemen have kept their word. It is now a little less than twenty months since the McKinley law was repealed and the Wilson law took its place. During that time the receipts

Will Vote for It in November. Tariff for revenue only, the cry of the Democratic party in years past, is an utter failure as applied by the existing administration. It has not even been for revenue only; but an approach so near to free trade that it not only failed and still fails to afford sufficient revenues, but has torn down industries, closed factories and taken honest work from honest hands. In this latter respect it has been a success, but its success has been gained at the suffering of thousands of honorable, worthy and willing men and women all over the country. have been $490,612,095 and the expenditures $572,854,774, making the deficit up to the end of the last week $82,243,749. The receipts under the McKinley law in the first twenty months of its operation were $589,237,402, or a round $100,000,000 more than those of the Wilson law in the corresponding number of months. The expenditures were, in round numbers, $569,000,000, leaving a surplus of a little over $20,000,000. This is the way the comparison of the first twenty months appears:

Wilson law, first 20 months, deficiency . . . . .	$82,248,794
McKinley law, first 20 months, deficiency . . . . .	20,287,462

Possibly some friends of the Wilson law may assume that it is unfair to compare the operations of the first twenty months of its existence with the first twenty months of the McKinley law, when the country was in the flood tide of prosperity. They certainly will not object to comparing it with the last twenty months of the McKinley law, which include the period of extreme depression which followed Democratic success at the polls in 1892. Here are the figures for the last twenty months of the McKinley law, compared with the first twenty months of the Wilson bill:

Wilson law, receipts . . . . .	$490,612,025
McKinley law, receipts . . . . .	560,121,553

It was in the months which succeeded the meeting of the Fifty-third Congress, with its promise of tariff reduction, that the receipts of the treasury fell under the McKinley law to the lowest known point up to that time. In the course of the months of the meeting in special session of that Congress, until the country knew just what the tariff would be, the importations fell to almost nothing and the receipts of the treasury to less than they had been known in a quarter of a century. Those memorable months of shortage under the McKinley law were from August, 1893, to May, 1894. Yet the receipts of the new tariff law, with everything in its favor, are actually less in the twenty months of its existence than they were in the twenty worst months of the McKinley law.

Facts for Farmers. In the following tables the exports of farm products in the last fiscal year prior to the repeal of the McKinley law are compared with those of the first calendar year after its repeal. It will be seen that in many cases the exports fell off greatly in quantity, while in cases where there was an increase in quantity there was a decrease in the cash received therefor:

Those Sages in Wall Street. The wonderful economists who devote their mighty intellects to editing the trade and financial journals of New York City are all predicting good times upon the success of the recent bond issue. They fail to explain precisely what they mean, but the assumption is that they think the deeper the government goes into debt and the heavier the interest burden imposed upon the people becomes the more likely the country is to prosper. They may be right, but if they are it is a pity the fact that running into debt beats productivity and thrift was not discovered long ago.—San Francisco Chronicle.

So much has this become a matter of habit with them that, while the most poisonous looking water agrees with them admirably, pure running water will make them violently sick.

TRUE SOLDIER OF FORTUNE. Enrique Morgan Traveled Far and Died a Major General. In Girardot, a little village on the eastern bank of the Magdalena River, in Colombia, South America, there died on December 2 last a true soldier of fortune, Enrique Morgan, a major general in the Colombian army, but a native of West Virginia. During the war of secession in the United States he had been a favorite "orderly" with the Confederate General Loring—one-armed Loring, as he was called—and, when the latter subsequently went to Egypt, Morgan followed him there, and became a captain in the Khedive's army. Tiring of military inaction, he joined a party of Greek surveyors in the Soudan, with whom he learned something of practical engineering, but contracting smallpox and supposed to be dying, he was abandoned by his companions. Upon his recovery he found that the natives had robbed him of everything, and he became a "tramp" in Northern Africa and Southern Europe. Too proud to apply to diplomatic or consular officials for assistance, he walked to the coast, worked his way across the Mediterranean Sea and thence through Italy and France to the port of St. Nazaire. Seeing a ship advertised to sail for America, he offered to work his passage across the Atlantic, which offer was accepted. The vessel landed him penniless in Barranquilla, Colombia, where he enlisted as a soldier. By dint of hard work and close attention to his duties, he was successively promoted through all the grades of corporal, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, major and colonel, and finally was appointed brigadier general and chief of engineers. In this capacity he constructed, with the labor of troops, the greater part of the railway between Girardot and Junta de Apulo, as well as the difficult cart road through the cordillera of Quindio. During the revolution of 1885 he captured the important place of Tunja, with its extensive armory, for which service he was made a major general. To a very great degree he possessed the confidence of the government. He took no part in its political affairs, and this lack of party affiliation, his unswerving loyalty and his well known disposition to obey all orders, were qualities which endeared him to his superiors.—New York Herald.

Objectionable Epitaphs. Spite and venom are not always buried with the dead, and for this reason a censor of gravestones is employed in a big London cemetery. He has had to stop many gross libels on the living that people proposed to put on the stones. Not long since the wife and friends of a tolerably well-known jockey wanted to have the dead man's saddle, whip and cap laid in a cover over his grave, and on the grave of a man killed in an accident the relations gravely contested his right to stop an inscription which said, "Murdered by His Masters." Sometimes, at their own wish, of course, those who pay for gravestones and monuments induce the stone-cutter they employ to endeavor to smuggle inscriptions through, but he exercises the most rigid scrutiny. Cases have been known where stunk letters have been filled with putty or cement, with a view to this being quietly picked out afterward, when the letters would, of course, show. One of the coolest proposals was that made by the heir of a manufacturer of sweets. The deceased man, it seemed, made a special kind of "butter-scotch," and the heir proposed that small packets of this should be placed on the grave daily for the refreshment of visitors to the cemetery. What He Thought. "Do you think the bicycle is wicked?" asked the earnest young woman. "My dear sister," answered the minister, who had only taken three lessons, "the thing is positively depraved."

Itching, Burning, Eczema

Is the external indication of a condition of the blood which produces a fiery irritation almost unbearable. It is a mistake to think that this local irritation is the disease itself—it is simply an evidence of a disordered condition of the blood. The seat of the disease is in the blood, and this is why the various salves and ointments usually applied have no effect whatever. They cannot possibly reach the origin of the trouble; only a blood remedy can do that. S. S. S. is without an equal for blood diseases, and promptly and permanently cures Eczema and removes all taint.

Much torture could be avoided if the first itching symptoms were heeded and a course of S. S. S. taken promptly, as apparently insignificant skin irritations usually develop into the worst form of Eczema unless properly treated.

It matters not what other treatment has been tried in vain, S. S. S. always gets at the seat of the disease, and forces it out.

Mr. William Armstrong, an old resident and highly respected citizen of De Pere, Wis., writes on April 1st, 1896.

MR. WILLIAM ARMSTRONG.

"I have been a sufferer for eight years with that horrible disease, Eczema, at times all over my body, and no person can describe the burning and itching I had to endure.

"The extent of my sufferings can be appreciated when I state that my condition was such that I could not take my bed, and for three months I never laid down, but was compelled to sit in my chair when not moving around. I was treated by the best of physicians with no success, and tried all the patent medicines recommended for Eczema, without any good results. I then went to the Indiana Mud baths, with the same results, and then to Mt. Clemens, the celebrated medical resort, where the treatment partially helped me, but the disease shortly returned. I went to Florida, thinking that a change of climate and water and the citron fruit might cure me, but found no cure.

"I then tried S. S. S. and after three days the burning and itching subsided, and I continued to improve steadily until I was well—entirely cured. After commencing S. S. S. I never put an external application to my limbs or any part of my body. You may refer to me any person suffering from Eczema. I will always keep the S. S. S. in my house, for I consider it the best blood medicine of the present age. I am seventy years of age and am now in perfect health."

For real blood diseases relief can only be obtained by using a real blood remedy. So many people who are sufferers from an obstinate or deep-seated blood disease make the mistake of taking remedies which at best are only tonics and cannot possibly reach their trouble. It is in just such cases which other so-called blood remedies cannot reach that S. S. S. has made some of the most wonderful cures.

S. S. S. cures permanently Cancer, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Eczema, Tetter, Contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, and all other diseases having their origin in the blood. It is a

HOW THEY DINED.

The Methods of the English at Table in the Seventeenth Century.

The old English had three meals a day, of which the chief meal was taken when the work of the day was finished. The first meal was at 9, dinner was about 8 o'clock, and supper was taken just before bedtime. The Normans dined at the old English breakfast time or a little later and supped at 7 p. m. In Tudor times the higher classes dined at 11 and supped at 5, but the merchants seldom took their meals before 12 and 6 o'clock.

The chief meals, dinner and supper, were taken in the hall both by the old English and the Normans, for the parlor did not come into use until the reign of Elizabeth. Breakfast did not become a regular meal until quite lately, and Dr. Murray, in the Oxford Dictionary, gave 1468 as the date of the earliest quotation in which the word occurred. The meal did not become recognized until late in the seventeenth century, for Pepys habitually took his draft of half a pint of Rhenish wine or a dram of strong waters in place of a morning meal. Dinner was always the great meal of the day, and from the accession of Henry IV to the death of Queen Elizabeth the dinners were as sumptuous and extravagant as any of those now served.

Carving was then a fine art. Each guest brought his own knife and spoon, for the small fork was not introduced into England until Thomas Coryate of Odoembo published his "Cruities" in 1611. Pepys took his spoon and fork with him to the lord mayor's feast in 1668. The absence of forks led to much stress being laid upon the act of washing the hands both before and after meals and to the rule that the left hand alone should be dipped into the common dish, the right hand being occupied with the knife.

The perfect dinner at the best time of English cookery consisted of three courses, each complete in itself, and terminated by a subtlety or device, the whole being rounded off with pyrras, after which the guests retired into another room, where pastry, sweetmeats and fruit were served with the choicer wines. The English were essentially meat eaters, and it was not until the time of the commonwealth that pudding attained its extraordinary popularity. Indeed, the first mention of pudding in the menus of the "Backfeast" at St. Bartholomew's hospital did not occur until 1710, and in 1712 is an item of 6 shillings for ice.—London Times.

Stately Dances of Old.

The minnet is already known to many, were it only through the innumerable pictures executed by pastellists, now dead but still celebrated. The dainty gestures, the graceful steps, the sweeping courtesies, are no secret to us, but the saraband and the pavane we do not know much about, although they are well worth being studied. The saraband is what one might call an almost religious dance, for it is so deliberate, so solemn and yet so gracefully beautiful. The cavaliers, when they bend before their fair partners, literally sweep the floor with their plumed hats, while the ladies' brocades and laces flutter around them like the wings of some bright hued butterfly about to take its flight. The promenade—a sort of polonaise—which follows, the couples marching with imposing demeanor behind one another, is, beyond everything else, becomingly dainty, although somewhat strait laced, but one cannot be anything but enchanted by something so entirely removed from the hurry and scurry seen in our saloons when dancing is written on the cards of invitation.

The pavane is sprightlier, more like the gavotte, and brings into constant play fans, well managed trains and again plumed hats, the tout ensemble making up a tableau of unsurpassed charm and aristocratic motion. The essential qualities of all these dances are simplicity and grace, for they afford no opportunity for displays of gymnastics, of hurried athleticism, no force of biceps, no pushing or jolting or elbowing. They are the very essence of easy gliding and of keeping time to strains of melody, which remind one involuntarily of the evanescent odor of some rare old perfume like those we still find in the silk sachets made by our great-grandmothers.—Exchange.

The Barisal Guns.

In the delta of the Ganges a mysterious sound is sometimes heard, to which the name of "Barisal guns" is given, because of its resemblance to the dull report of distant artillery. Similar noises are well known to the lighthouse keepers and fishermen of Ostend and Boulogne, who call them the "mist puffers, or fog dissipators, and generally hear them on the evening of a hot day in summer. Although the sounds are compared to the detonations of guns, they are not very like these, and they occur at irregular intervals. Their origin is enveloped in mystery, but some physicists regard them as electrical detonations, such as might be produced by flashes of ordinary lightning or the explosion of globe lightning, while others refer them to the shocks of fluid matter in the bowels of the earth or the rumbling of slight earthquakes.—Public Opinion.

A Question of Honor.

She is young, happily married and prosperous. A short time ago she lost her purse in the street, and immediately upon discovering her loss went to a newspaper office and put in an advertisement, offering a reward for the return of the missing article. The following day a poor man brought the purse to her house and claimed the reward. Leaving him standing at the door, she disappeared, presumably to get the promised amount, but in reality to send one of her servants for a policeman, doubting she had no good reason for doubting the man's statement that he had picked up the purse in the street. He was not arrested, but he got no reward. This sort of thing is rather discouraging to persons with honest intentions.—New York Journal.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How To Cure Yourself While Using It.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is to sever a shock for the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Curo" is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Boston physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Baco-Curo." It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 100 per cent. interest. "Baco-Curo" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.—Gentleman: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Curo" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition. Yours respectfully,

RAISING AND FEEDING CATTLE.

The following is a portion of an article written by R. H. Gibson, and printed in the Nebraska Farmer April 26. We would be glad to reproduce the entire article but space forbids.

Before making a selection of any animal the purchaser's mind must first be made up as to the purpose the animal is intended for.

Find this kind of a cow and with large milk veins and square set udder, carried well forward, teats of good size and wide apart and you will have a cow that you will always feel kindly to because of her winning form, good sense and abundant flow of milk.

The points I mention in the female are much the same to be sought for in the male, but in selecting the male, choose one of good carriage, noble masculine bearing, lusty and vigorous, possessing a broad, smooth framed body, on low shapely legs and of gentle disposition.

Calves should not be confined in pens, especially in summer or in pens of stagnant air in winter.

The thoughtful breeder will always keep in view early maturity. He will also keep in view breeding to uniformity—same in symmetry and in color and must do this without in-breeding injuriously.

To control an animal stronger than ourselves, we must either control his mind or control his muscle and when in our power not abuse.

Now about steer feeding I have this to say: Keep them in a dry clean lot. If need be bed it all over with straw.

The raising of pure bred stock should be encouraged by low assessment and liberal premiums because of its wide spread good.

"Well, I don't believe any class of men can beat these Washington negroes when it comes to drinking strong liquor.

"All right," said the bartender, "where is your bottle?"

"I don't want no bottle. Jest hand out a glass, huh?"

"The liquid was measured off in a big beer glass, and without taking it from his lips he swallowed the contents, not even deigning to take a drink of water when he had finished.

Why the Puller Up the Carpet. That there are people in the world who haven't yet learned that there are safer places for depositing large sums of money than old stockings and holes in the wall was demonstrated recently while the roof of a Fall River house was burning.

The department was called out, and a squad of officers in command of Lieutenant Hineckley was on the scene.

There was no great danger, and in reply to a question said that her furniture was insured for $700, but she kept at work just the same and finally pulled out a roll of bills containing $1,700.

Then she went out to the street to watch the progress of a blaze that consumed a loss of $10.—Boston Herald
