Wayne County in 1897.

HAPPENINGS OF THE PAST WEEK.

The sun shines once more
The assessor will get you if you don't watch out.
It is remarkable how "the few" must have grown.
The HERALD has been having a nice run of job work.
Do you want a Corn Planter. I have them. Eli Jones.
No. 1 Irish Mackerel, ten pound kits, $1.25 at Sullivan Bros.
Episcopal services will be held at K. P. Hall Sunday evening.
Attorney Welch went to Randolph on legal business on Friday.
Perry & Porterfield shipped four car loads of cattle to Omaha Tuesday.
Rev. Theobald goes to Hartington Saturday in the interest of Foreign Missions.
You know our goods and prices are right, bring in your eggs at 7c per doz.—The Racket.
Rev. J. U. R. Wolf of Hartington, will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday. You are invited.
Some good quartettes will be given at Y. M. C. A. Hall next Sunday. Dr. Blair leader of the meeting.
Mrs. Wm. Mears went to Ponca yesterday to attend a meeting of the ladies missionary society of the district.
James Washob, a former Wayne boy, filled assistant cashier Chace's position at the First National during his illness.
J. F. Wheelock & Co. have purchased the Wilder & Co. stock of goods, a large portion of which will be sold at public auction.
We want a car load of eggs in exchange for anything you need in our line. This week and next 7c.—The Racket.
Alex Terwilliger and Rev. Millard went over to Concord this morning and they expect to return with a fine lot of ducks.
Dr. and Mrs. Neiman will entertain a number of the young people this evening in honor of their guests, Misses Abbott and Mackey.
Watch our south window this week. We have some handsome things in Mens', Boys' and Childrens' Suits, Harrington & Robbins.
The roads have been almost impassable the past few days. In fact, they have never before been so bad in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant. Main street in this city, has been a terror.
Just as the dray of Hogue passed over the crossing near the First National Bank, yesterday, a piano he was taking to the depot, fell out of the wagon but fortunately no damage resulted to the instrument.
Dr. Wightman started for Fred Thompson's Tuesday night, making three unsuccessful attempts before he succeeded in reaching the place, breaking three buggies. Mr. Thompson's daughter is very low with the measles.
The north approach to the bridge across the Logan near the creamery was placed in a dangerous condition by the high water Saturday night and teams were unable to cross it on Sunday. It took but a short time to fix it with a few loads of dirt.
As a result of the heavy rains last week, many bridges and culverts were washed out and the farmers have suffered many inconveniences therefrom. The worst trouble seemed to arise from the fact that the tiling in many places was too small to carry off the deluge of water that poured into them and in consequence the dirt approaches were washed out in several instances.
We notice by the Sioux City Journal this morning that Frank Coleman, son of Patrick Coleman who resides southeast of Wayne, and Alfred Jastram, a brother of Will Jastram of this city, graduated at the Sioux City College of Medicine last evening with high honors. Mr. Jastram was valedictorian and delivered an able and eloquent address. At the banquet, Mr. Coleman responded to the toast, "The College and Faculty."
The insurance question is an important one to farmers. In Iowa they have solved it by organizing mutual companies. They are wonderfully successful and save their members hundreds of thousands of dollars every year. Wallace's Farmer, Des Moines, Iowa, is the official paper of these companies. It is a general agricultural paper published weekly at $1.00 per year. We will send Wallace's Farmer and the Wayne HERALD both for one year for $1.50. You can get a copy of Wallace's Farmer free by writing for it.

A beautiful line of spring wraps and capes just in at Ahern's.
Studebaker three seat, spring wagons, to be sold at a bargain. Eli Jones.
We need your eggs, you need our goods. 7c per doz.—The Racket.
T. B. Heokert, Dentist, over Miller's.
Look at the best suit of clothes in the world for $3.50, sizes 34 to 42; at Harrington & Robbins.
Nathan Chace has recovered from the measles and has again assumed his duties at the First National.
Emil Weber and Alex Terwilliger returned from the Platte, Saturday, having had a fine time among the geese and ducks.
Mrs. Dan Harrington entertained a number of friends Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Griffin and Mrs. Weber, of Florence.
The largest stock of dry goods, shoes, hats, caps and notions in Nebraska in exchange for eggs at 7c per dozen.—The Racket, Wayne.
"Effects of the moderate use of alcohol on the human body"—by Dr. Blair at the Y. M. C. A. hall Sunday at 3:30. Come and bring a friend.
A. T. Witter is now investigating the property conditions of the citizens of Wayne. The HERALD hopes he will find them in possession of "gobs" of it.
There will be a union meeting of the young people of the various churches at the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. Subject: "Sowing and Reaping."
With the advent of spring we are prepared to serve our customers with Fresh Vegetables and everything in the line of Groceries. Goods always fresh. Brookings, opposite the post office.
The garden rake is now one of the most useful articles. The rubbish is being raked into piles and sponges up in smoke. Let the good work go on as Wayne has the reputation for being one of the cleanest and prettiest cities in the state, and it must not be said that she is retrograding.
Following are the advertised letters, etc., remaining in the Post Office for the week ending April 8, 1897: Emma Anderson, N. Enjoh, Wm. Elliott (3), Thomas High, Gage Robbins, F. Sullivan, A. P. Willburg, Miss E. I. Williams, Miss M. E. Williams, J. E. Wilson, Dit Vincent. Give date when advertised when calling for above. A. F. C., 2. M.
Dorr H. Carroll has sold the Winside Tribune to B. W. McKean, formerly of Randolph. Mr. McKean is an experienced newspaper man and a practical printer and The HERALD wishes him unbounded success. Mr. Carroll will go to Gothenburg where he will probably engage in the journalistic field. His Wayne county friends will wish him success wherever he may go.
The harness men are having their hands full these "dusky" days, mending harness and selling new. Even the wet weather makes business good for some people. But when the tariff bill is in force and the farmers raise about 15 to 18 bushels of wheat per acre and harvest it this fall, the gulf of three years of innocuous desuetude, or something else, will have vanished and all will have business.
Jennie Davidson passed through this city last Saturday. She is twelve years old and lives six miles southeast of Randolph. The courage she has exhibited is surely worthy of mention. Eight weeks ago she went, bag and baggage, to wait on a sick aunt who lives at Craig. After her aunt's recovery, Jennie went to Omaha and spent a couple of weeks at her grandmother's home and while there decided also to visit some friends in Council Bluffs. On account of the high water, she did not reach that place until after dark, but unaccompanied, found her way safely to her friend's residence. Last Saturday she returned home, quite an experienced lady. She had to change cars three times on the return trip, and at every change be treated to astounding accounts of disastrous floods on the road ahead. One conductor refused to accept her half-fare ticket, but on being sharply told by the little miss that he was the only one who had "kicked" on the whole trip, he refrained from further controversy and allowed her passage. She made the whole journey alone, bought her own tickets, and checked her own baggage. She is full of anecdotes and narratives of her travels and is very entertaining to the many friends who welcome her back. How many ladies of her age can relate as much?

Anniversary Celebration

The fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Presbyterian church of Wayne was appropriately celebrated on Sunday, April 4th, and Monday evening, April 5th, and to those who participated it is an event which will be remembered as one of real virtue and pleasure.
Sunday morning at 10:45 Rev. Wight preached an excellent sermon, his text being taken from I Sam. 7:12 and I Sam. 21:8. He emphasized the importance of activity on the part of Christian people, and also spoke of the success of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary societies of the church.
In the evening the C. E. society also observed the day with a special program. The meeting was one of benefit, a history of the society being read and nearly every member participating.
The evening church service was probably the most interesting service of the anniversary. Greetings were extended from the Baptist church by Mr. C. D. Martin and from the Methodist church by Mr. J. D. King who also read a short history of the M. E. church. Letters were then read by Mr. F. E. Nangle from the following former pastors and members: Rev. G. M. Lodge, Iowa City, Iowa; Rev. F. P. Baker, Sheldon, Iowa; Rev. A. F. Ernst, Carroll, Iowa; Dr. W. A. Love, Carroll, Neb.; John Heftli, Jerico, Mo.; J. A. Lindly, Uniontown, Kas.; Thompson Washob, Alleghany City, Pa.; John Connor, Fort Scott, Kas.; Frank Bennett, Stanton, Neb.; N. E. Bennett, West Point, Miss.; N. A. Epler, Olive, Fla.; C. B. French Jr., Sioux City, Iowa; and Prof. W. C. McClelland, Shippensburg, Pa.; each of whom extended congratulations at the success of the church, and expressed a sincere hope that it might increase in numbers and spiritual life. In a few of the letters was noticeable the inability of the writers to forget Mr. W. O. Gamble who was described by one of them in this way: "If measured with a tape line he was the smallest man in town, but if measured with any other kind of a line, he was the largest."
Following these letters the history of the church was read by Mrs. N. Chace. It was a complete and graphic account of the church from the time of the first service was held in Wayne, to the present time. On September 13, 1881, Rev. G. M. Lodge of Shelby, Iowa, held the first religious service ever held in Wayne in the unfinished business house of J. L. Merriam. His text was Acts 26:28, subject: "Almost Thou Persedest me to be a Christian." As a result of this service a church organization was effected in December of the same year when the following persons enrolled as members: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindly, Mr. and Mrs. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Merriam, Dr. and Mrs. Love, Mrs. Wilbur, Miss Julia Hardenburg and Mrs. Arina Maxwell. Soon after Rev. Lodge became the first stated supply, preaching his first sermon on Sabbath, April 2, 1882. In the winter of '82-'83 the present church building was erected and dedicated, with the aid of several contributions. On April 1, 1887, pastoral relationship was dissolved and in the fall of that year a call was given Rev. F. P. Baker of Wisconsin. The call being accepted he was installed on Nov. 6, 1887. During his pastorate the church became self-supporting and the parsonage was also purchased. He remained four years and soon after his departure Rev. A. F. Ernst of McCormick Seminary became pastor and for three years labored faithfully in that field. He was followed by Rev. E. Van Dyke Wight who is now in charge.
During the fifteen years since the church was organized the membership has grown from 13 to 246, and several auxiliary societies have been organized. The music furnished for the anniversary was very good throughout and several selections were very pleasing.
An anniversary manual containing many things of interest to the members, had been printed and each member of the congregation received one as a reminder of the occasion.
A large number of the congregation gathered at Mellor's Hall Monday evening where they were munificently entertained by the ladies of the church. Conversation was the main feature and many happy and pleasing reminiscences were related.

COLLEGE.

Harry Fisher visited college Monday.
Oh rain! but thou art a thinner of classes.
The classes are now all organized and in running order.
Prof. Conn visited the association at Norfolk Thursday.
Prof. Pile went to Norfolk last Friday where he attended the Association.
The Misses Williams and Miss Ryan, graduates of '96, were college visitors Wednesday.
The Crescent Literary Society gives its program next Friday. All are invited to attend.
Mr. Wilson, a former student, enrolled Saturday. He has been teaching the past year in Stanton county.
A social will be held at the college Saturday evening by the literary societies. All students and ex-students are invited to attend.
Rev. Wight of the Presbyterian church was a college visitor on Tuesday and conducted chapel exercises, giving the students a very pleasant talk.
Arrangements have been made by Prof. Pile with four new teachers to assist in the summer term. Many students will then be enrolled and will be well received.
A class in vocal music has been organized under Miss Stewart, and now every evening at 5 o'clock melodious strains like birds of eve with "healing in their wings" permeate the stern heart of the mathematician begrimed with scratches from the waving x's & y's and even the raging conjugation stops its ancient tongue to fall into a dreamy reverie.

THE CITY ELECTION.

A Larger Vote Polled Than at Any Previous City Election, Caused by the Contest for Members of the School Board.
The city election has been held and the "cruel war" is over. The vote was one of the largest ever polled in a city election in Wayne, brought about, no doubt, by the interest taken in the election of members of the school board. The officers elected are good men who will look well to the interests of the city.
That it was a hard question for the people to decide as to the Mayor is shown by the close vote, Mr. Ley having only 5 majority. Mr. Stringer has been a painstaking official and will leave the office knowing that he has performed his duty.
For members of the school board for the three year term Dr. J. J. Williams and C. O. Fisher received a majority of the votes and were elected. For the two year term John P. Gaertner defeated E. D. Mitchell by a majority of 59. A. F. Brenner was also elected for the two year term, and W. H. Bradford defeated R. C. Osborn by a majority of 66 for the one year term.
Eyrelet Laughlin and Will Rickabaugh ran neck and neck for city clerk, the count giving Laughlin a majority of 3. For Treasurer, Roe received a majority of 51 over Grimsley.
In the first ward Henry Goll defeated C. B. Owens for member of the city council by a vote of 55 to 23. D. C. Main was elected councilman from the third ward to succeed himself, and R. Frazier was elected from the second ward. The vote by wards was as follows:

	1st	2d	3d	Tot'l
Brenner	40	62	92	208
Fisher	42	43	65	150
King	28	43	52	122
Lewis	33	24	35	92
Williams	34	56	70	160
Gaertner	57	55	61	173
Mitchell	27	60	53	140
Bradford	39	58	72	169
Osborn	83	29	41	153
For Mayor, Ley	50	47	52	155
Stringer	30	52	69	150
Clerk, Laughlin	28	57	67	152
Rickabaugh	58	40	51	149
Treas. Grimsley	38	38	48	124
Roe	44	59	72	175
Pl. Judge, Witter	76	83	107	266

It is reported that "Harry Phillips" received three votes in the Third ward. The clique couldn't down Williams, Gaertner and Bradford and were met with an avalanche of votes. It doesn't pay to be hoggyish.
The members elect of the school board, Dr. J. J. Williams, C. O. Fisher, A. F. Brenner, J. P. Gaertner and W. H. Bradford, The HERALD predicts will work diligently to place the schools of Wayne well to the front, and the shabby appearance of the High school building will probably be remembered, at least it should be.
The signal defeat of E. D. Mitchell and R. C. Osborn should convince a few people that the "rule or ruin" potty has gone out of date, and that it does not pay to hound men who have lived in Wayne since the beginning of the town, and who have done more to up-build the town and county than the whole clique combined.
No. 1 Lake Trout, 3 pounds for 25c. at Sullivan Bros.
Congress appropriated $200,000 yesterday for the flood sufferers in the south.
The cheapest place to buy and highest place to sell. Egg 7c per dozen.—The Racket.
The battleship Iowa is queen of the Navy, having won the title by her official trial performance.
Watch our north windows this week. We have some handsome things in Shoes. Harrington & Robbins.
Norfolk was hooded again Monday and the tracks between the bridge and depot on the C. St. P. M. & O. were washed out. The Norfolk train arrived at Wayne Tuesday with the engine pushing the cars.
A SAD DEATH.
The death of Miss Ruby Wallace, aged 22 years, occurred very suddenly Friday morning at the home of Mr. Harry Wright. Miss Wallace had been attending the Normal the past few months and was taken down with the measles about a week before her death. She had been a member of the Presbyterian church for more than a year and her death is a sad loss both to the family and to her many friends.
Card of Thanks.
We extend our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to the many friends who so kindly and tenderly assisted and comforted us during the time of the sickness and death of our own beloved daughter and sister.
M. E. AND M. R. M. WALLACE AND FAMILY.

Dr. Mettlin of Wayne county, an old time friend of Judge Lauer, was in the city the first of the week looking for a location. He is highly recommended as a physician and an excellent gentleman.—Bloomfield Monitor.

Wakefield Leader: Elmer Lundburg returned Monday from near Hoskins where he has just closed a most successful term of school. ** H. L. Kimball, one of Wayne's most popular and enterprising young lawyers, came down last Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Wakefield.
Those who were out to the Childs district report the entertainment given by Miss Nellie Spears and Miss Helma Peterson first class in every respect. There were three that graduated, Miss Blanch Weaver being one of them, the other two we were unable to find out.—Wakefield Journal.

The rainfall for this section from April 1, '96 to April 1, '97 was 30.5 inches. These figures do not include the time intervening between November 20, '96 and March 15, '97, during which time it is safe to say the sleet, snows and rains easily amounted to 6 inches of precipitation making the total precipitation for the year about 36 inches.—Republican.

SCOVEL GETS MARRIED

FAMOUS CUBAN CORRESPONDENT WEDS IN ST. LOUIS

Summoned by His Paper to Go to Athens at Once, the Ceremony is Hastily Performed—Miss Frances Cabanne, the Happy Bride.

Sylvester Scovel Marries.

St. Louis: Sylvester Scovel of Cleveland, the Cuban correspondent of the New York World recently released from prison on that island, was married on the 5th to Miss Frances Cabanne, daughter of S. A. Cabanne. Her father is a member of an old and prominent family.

BIG DEMOCRATIC GAINS.

Results of Municipal Elections in Ohio and Michigan.

CINCINNATI: Although local issues controlled most of the municipal elections on the 5th, yet the general results throughout Ohio show Democratic gains along the lake shore, the river counties and in the interior counties. This gives the Democrats control of most of the machinery for the election next November of state officers and members of the legislature.

DETROIT, Mich.: Returns from the state indicate the re-election of Judge Chas. D. Long, Republican, as justice of the supreme court and the defeat of Geo. L. Ohapel, fusion candidate, Wm. C. Maybury, Democrat, was elected mayor of Detroit Monday by about 1,000 majority over Capt. Albert E. Stewart, Republican.

FIGHT PICTURES A FIZZLE.

Man Who Took the Views at Carson Says They Are a Failure.

NEW YORK: If the statements made by E. J. Recker are true there is a dark future, or, rather, no future, ahead for the kineoscope views of the recent fistic encounter at Carson. Recker avers that he is not worried about the views of legislators that will cripple the business of giving peep-hole exhibitions of the prize fight.

Union Pacific Foreclosure.

OKLAHA, Neb.: Gen. John C. Corwin, special counsel for the United States government in the foreclosure suits of the government against the Union Pacific Railway, says that he can see no obstacle in the way of foreclosure, but thinks that event will come along as quickly as the necessary legal papers can be issued by the courts. It is difficult to tell the exact date, but the decree will undoubtedly be issued in May.

Charged with Embezzlement.

KANSAS CITY: J. H. Aldrich, for several years cashier and paymaster in this city for the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis Railroad, has been arrested, charged with embezzling $27,000 of the company's money. He quietly submitted to arrest and says he will plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court.

Train Goes Through a Bridge.

PITTSBURG, Pa.: A span of the north approach of the Ohio Resound bridge collapsed under a Fort Wayne freight train. Thirteen cars were precipitated fifty feet into McClure Avenue. Fireman William Haggerty was killed, and Engineer William Graham fatally injured. The engine and all the cars were demolished.

Tragedy on the Diamond.

EVANSVILLE, Ind.: In a game of base ball Monday between two clubs of negroes, a dispute arose over a decision and resulted in a fight between George Snaden and Robert Campbell. Snaden, it is alleged, was in the line of argument and fatally beat his opponent over the head. Snaden was arrested.

Chicago Bank Assigns.

CHICAGO: The Globe Savings Bank has assigned. The last statement, February 15, showed deposits of $142,000 and savings of $188,000. The bank had a capital of $200,000. This bank had no connection with the Globe National Bank.

Refuse Consul Tazigi's Petition.

WASHINGTON: The United States supreme court has refused to grant the motion of Joseph Tazigi, late Turkish consul general at Boston, for writ of habeas corpus releasing him from arrest on the charge of embezzlement.

Bryan Calls on Hobart.

WASHINGTON: William J. Bryan called on Vice President Hobart Monday to pay his respects.

Hornhead Record Broken.

PHILADELPHIA: Harrison K. Cane and Tristan C. Colket, two well known society men of Philadelphia, covered the distance from New York to Philadelphia on horseback in the remarkable short time of 6 hours and 52 minutes. This breaks all records.

Maker-Sharkey Fight.

NEW YORK: Warren Lewis of the Greater New York Athletic Club, has practically completed arrangements for a meeting between two heavy weight boxers, Tom Sharkey and Peter Maher. The contest will take place May 31.

JACKSONVILLE, ILL., MURDER

Body of a Prominent Citizen Found Terribly Mutilated.

JACKSONVILLE, Ill.: The murder of Charles L. Hastings, who was found dead in the office of Judge Kirby, his body terribly cut and mutilated, continues to be the greatest sensation this city has experienced for many years.

Lightning's Queer Freak.

Current Passes Through Ten Men and Kills the Eleventh.

St. Louis, Mo.: During the flash of lightning, after passing directly through ten men here, killed Frank Dent, who was the eleventh in a row of that many men. Dent was a convict and was on a chain with ten companions, when death came suddenly, without any warning.

Warship Ordered to Hawaii.

Admiral Beardslee Ordered to Proceed to Honolulu Without Delay.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.: Rear Admiral Beardslee has received orders from Washington to proceed at once with the flagship Philadelphia to Honolulu. The greatest excitement prevails on board, as intimations have been given that trouble is expected between the Americans and Japanese.

Chinamen Make a Protest.

NEW YORK: There is excitement in Chinatown, where the merchants have just learned that the benefits intended to be accorded by the retroactive clause of the Dingley bill are confined exclusively to "American Citizens."

Shoots Three Women.

KANSAS, Kan.: George Miller, who was recently released from an insane asylum, shot three women who were with himself dangerously wounded while resisting arrest. He had called to see the Kirby sisters at the Berley House, and being refused admission broke through the door and shot down the three women as they attempted to escape.

Fatal Fendal Fight.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.: A feud which has existed between the families of Bud Harvill and Jack McComb, prominent farmers of Callman, over the location of the division line between their properties, resulted in a battle between Harvill and one of his farm tenants named John Atwell on one side, and McComb and his 18-year-old son on the other.

Seed Grows in Her Stomach.

St. Louis: Surgeons at St. Mary's Hospital here, Mo., have extracted an incipient orange from the stomach of little Miss Anita Griffin. The child, 19 years old, several weeks ago she accidentally swallowed an orange seed. Three days ago she was seized with intense pain. A consultation of surgeons was held and an operation decided upon.

Haltstones Weigh Ten Ounces.

Mr. Vernon, Mo.: Haltstones weighing ten to twelve ounces fell in great profusion here during the recent storm, and not a house escaped injury. Stock of all kinds suffered greatly and trees were badly damaged.

Powder Mill Blown Up.

SEAMORIS, Pa.: All the buildings of the Shamokin Powder Company were wrecked by a terrific explosion early Saturday morning. No lives were lost, all the workmen having gone home. Bowlders weighing 200 pounds were thrown through houses half a mile away.

Denver to Call an Iowa Divin.

DENVER: The elders of the Central Church here have decided to recommend the congregation to elect Rev. B. O. Aylesworth, president of Drake University of Des Moines, Iowa. This recommendation will undoubtedly be confirmed.

GREAT FARMERS' TRUST.

Secret Order of Tillers of the Soil Is Being Organized.

CINCINNATI: A special from Toledo to the Commercial Tribune says: A gigantic farmers' trust is being organized in this country. The order is strictly outbanded. It originated at Lancaster, Pa., and was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey as the Agriculturalists' National Protective Association.

AN HEIR FOR LORD SHOLTO.

Young Man Is Now Reconciled with the Marquis of Queensberry.

SAN FRANCISCO: The Marquis of Queensberry, a western grandee, and Lord Sholto has a son and heir. The little stranger came Friday afternoon to the home of Lord and Lady Sholto Douglas, in Vancouver. It will be two years in May since the youngest son of the Marquis of Queensberry married the attractive little girl and dance artist, Lorretta Addis.

Great Strike Threatened.

NEW YORK: The master steamfitters hold a long conference Saturday and rejected the overtures of the walking delegates looking to a settlement of the Columbia College strike and the general lockout, and decided not to take any of the locked out men back in their employ except as individuals.

Will Succeed Rivera.

NEW YORK: Gen. Julio Sanguilly, hero of the ten years' war in Cuba, a military tactician of acknowledged ability, the peer of Gomez as a general and of Maceo as a fighter, will probably succeed Gen. Rius Rivera as the commander of the army of the west, and his advent will cause a change of policy in the conduct of the campaign in Pinar del Rio, in which province the only aggressive movements of the Spanish forces are now being made.

Demand an Eight Hour Day.

CLEVELAND, Ohio: Five thousand union workers connected with the building trades will make a demand for an eight-hour day, coupled with a demand that only men having union cards shall hereafter be employed.

Fred Grant Declines.

NEW YORK: Col. Fred D. Grant has declined to decline McKimley's offer of the position of first assistant secretary of war.

FLOODS IN S. DAKOTA

Rivers and Creeks Are Full from Bank to Bank—Railroad Bridges in Great Danger and Many Have Already Been Carried Away.

Flood Situation in Dakota.

Melting snow and rain have filled the rivers of South Dakota from bank to bank, and in many sections the prairie is covered with water for miles. At Sioux Falls the Sioux has got in its work. That city is cut off from the country on the north, south and west, all roads being impassable from washouts between bridges and flooded roadways.

The Milwaukee railroad bridge at Vermillion is in great danger. A dispatch from that city Sunday stated that it was likely to be carried out at any moment. Thus far the greatest amount of damage by the overflow of water in the Sioux, Vermillion and Jim River valleys has been done in the Sioux. The water came with greater rapidity and took the people living along the stream completely by surprise.

Shot by His Wife.

W. N. Buck, a farmer living ten miles east of Lyons, was shot in the shoulder by his wife because he tried to enter his house. For several weeks Mr. Buck has been forced to sleep and eat in the barn, his wife refusing to allow him to enter his house for any purpose whatever.

NEBRASKA CONGRESS

DAILY REPORT OF WHAT IS BEING DONE.

Many Measures of More or Less Importance Being Introduced at the Present Session of the Golden Rod Legislature.

Wednesday.

Following are bills on third reading acted upon by the house on March 21st: Senate file No. 108, Beal's deficiency judgment bill, which was passed over Tuesday on account of house amendments not being passed, was read and after a call of the house was passed by a vote of 68 to 24.

The senate Wednesday made an earnest effort to clear away the large accumulation of business on the general file. The day was commenced with the usual attempt to advance favorite bills to immediate consideration, but the effort failed in future.

Thursday

The senate put in the forenoon of the 1st passing bills, most of them senate files, which have yet to run the gauntlet of the house. Some comment is heard over the passage of three important bills at a day so late in the session when their fate in the house is doubtful, because of the near approach of final adjournment.

The first senate file No. 31, taxing the express companies, was passed by a vote of 17 to 2. Senate file No. 876, providing for the taxation of telephone companies, was next placed on its final passage.

The first work of the house Thursday morning was to advance senate file No. 40 to third reading. It is the bill to authorize the organization of mutual hail insurance companies. Under the regular order of business bills on third reading were taken up in the order of 77 to 0.

At first the watch was about the size of a desert-plate. It had weights, and was used as a "pocket clock." The earliest known use of the modern name occurs in the record of 1552, which mentions that Edward VI. had "one harem or watch of iron, the case being likewise of iron gilt, with two diamonds of lead." The first watches may readily be supposed to have been of rude execution.

Friday.

As soon as the senate was ready for business Friday morning special action was taken on a number of bills. Senate bills No. 295, 303, 301, 292, 281 and 282 were advanced to third reading.

COMPENSATION FOR PERSONAL INJURIES RECEIVED BY THEIR EMPLOYEES IN THEIR SERVICE, AND TO PREVENT THE MAKING OR ENFORCEMENT OF CONTRACTS OR AGREEMENTS LIMITING OR IMPAIRING SUCH LIABILITY.

The bill failed to pass. Senate file No. 244, amending the irrigation bill, was read the third time and passed. House roll No. 203, appropriating $300,000 to the wing of a new building to be erected on the campus of the University of Nebraska for a school of Mechanical Arts, was passed and sent to the governor.

House roll No. 254, a pro forma bill appropriating the matriculation fees of the State Normal School to the use of the institution, was passed. Senate file No. 61 was read the third time and passed. This is the bill introduced by Mr. Ritchie placing the management of the Industrial Home for Fallen Women at Milford under the management of the board of public lands and buildings.

Saturday.

The following bills were acted upon by the senate on the 8th: Senate file No. 292, introduced by Mr. Spencer of Lancaster by request, was passed. It amends the law governing the practice of medicine in Nebraska. Senate file No. 189, introduced by Mr. Beat of Custer, was passed. This bill pertains to the appointment of clerks of district courts.

Immediately after the reading of the journal Saturday Stebbins of Lincoln County offered a resolution which had for its aim the paying of all employees of the house straight time instead of for actual amount of work performed. A motion to lay the resolution on the table prevailed.

The First Watch.

At first the watch was about the size of a desert-plate. It had weights, and was used as a "pocket clock." The earliest known use of the modern name occurs in the record of 1552, which mentions that Edward VI. had "one harem or watch of iron, the case being likewise of iron gilt, with two diamonds of lead." The first watches may readily be supposed to have been of rude execution.

TARIFF BILL PASSED.

THE DINGLEY MEASURE GOES THROUGH THE HOUSE.

Receives 205 Votes Out of 348—Republicans Present a Solid Front—Amendment Adopted to Affect All Future Imports—Lively Scenes.

Washington special: Amid great enthusiasm on the floor and in the galleries the House of Representatives Wednesday passed the Dingley tariff bill, and the duties imposed by the bill are now in force and the Wilson law is a thing of the past if the last amendment attached to the bill before its passage in the House fixing April 1 as the day on which its provisions should go into effect shall be held to be legal by the courts.

As the hour for voting arrived the excitement increased. Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, was recognized for five minutes to close the debate for his side. He briefly reviewed the "extraordinary" methods by which the bill was being brought to a vote.

Mr. Dingley then took the floor and closed the debate in a ten-minute speech. He spoke of the extraordinary circumstances which produced the exigency which Congress had been called in extra session to meet.

TAKE OUT A MILLION.

How the Bucket Shops of Chicago "Work" the Country. John Hill, Jr., chairman of the committee on gambling of the Chicago Civic Federation, has been at Eldora, Iowa, before the Hardin County grand jury.

It is claimed it has been proved to the satisfaction of the grand jury that a certain produce and stock exchange of Chicago is doing a bucket shop business. It is claimed there that the institution—acting for the Chicago concern—took $38,000 out of Hardin County in one week last January, and has secured from the people of Iowa over $1,000,000 during the last four months.

Mr. Hill has the names of many losers, as well as evidence in the cases. He claims that agents of the bucket shops are traveling over Iowa systematically organizing the business, and that the main evidence is to the effect that two former members of the business are only carried on the books of the company and not in the market.

A suit has been commenced in the courts by W. E. Beck, an attorney charging fraud. One of the reasons of the grand jury confining this investigation was in order to obtain positive proof whether the commission company is an authorized agency of the Chicago institution.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAW-MAKERS.

A Week's Proceedings in the Hall of Congress—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—An Impartial Resume of the Business.

The National Solons.

The House Monday, without a quorum, continued debate of the tariff bill, but made little progress. The Senate resolution appropriating $250,000 for immediate use on the Mississippi, amended so as to carry $140,000 for clerk hire for members to July 1, $20,000 for miscellaneous expenses of the House and $1,000,000 customs deficiencies, was adopted, and at 5:25 the House adjourned.

Tuesday was the last day for debate of the tariff bill in the House, and no other business was done. A number of amendments were adopted, but not one-third of the whole bill had been considered when debate closed.

The House Wednesday adopted the Grosvenor amendment to the Dingley tariff bill, and then by a vote of 205 to 122 passed the bill itself. The amendment gives the bill immediate effect, thus making the measure retroactive upon imports already here.

In the Senate Thursday four Cuban resolutions were presented. The most important, by Mr. Morgan, declares that a state of war exists, and announces the policy of this country to accord both parties to the conflict full recognition as belligerents.

Most of the members of the House have gone to their homes and some of them do not expect to return until the Senate has passed the tariff bill. At present Speaker Reed is determined to enforce the program of having the House meet every three days and immediately adjourn without attempting to transact any business.

Notes of Current Events.

After a bitter debate and many stormy scenes, the Manitoba Legislature ratified the settlement of the Roman Catholic parochial school question.

Lord Salisbury has left London for Riviera. He is expected to break his journey at Paris for an interview with M. Hanotaux on the Cretan situation.

Charles F. Houghton, principal owner of the Corning Glass Company and reputed to be worth a million dollars, shot and killed himself at Geneva, N. Y.

The claim of Edward J. Ivory, the alleged dynamite conspirator, for $200,000 damages against the English Government for false imprisonment, has been forwarded to Secretary of State Sherman.

Joseph Blanthier, the murderer of Mrs. Langfield in California, committed suicide while in jail at Meridian, Miss., by taking poison. Officers were expected the same day to take him back to California.

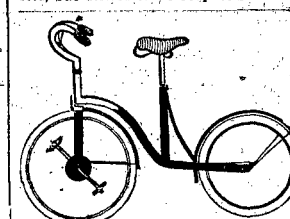

Articles of incorporation were granted in New Jersey to the Composite Typebar Company, with an authorized capital of $100,000. The company is to manufacture machinery and objects used in the art of printing.

The strike on the Erie canal at Pendleton, N. Y., assumed a serious aspect when the stone masons were attacked by sixty Italians because they refused to quit work. Sheriff Kinney ordered the Italians to return to their cabins.

BICYCLE NOVELTIES.

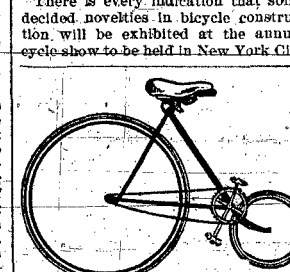

Wheels of Queer Designs and a Chainless Machine.

At the recent cycle show held in London several novelties in bicycle construction were exhibited. The front driving bantam wheel which was shown excited universal comment, and expert riders believe that it will prove a success.

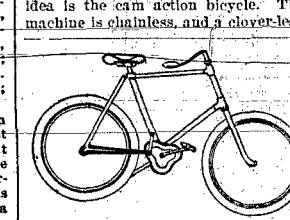

A FRONT-DRIVING SAFETY.

The man's wheel except the dropped frame. The wheel is a sort of reproduction of the old ordinary bicycle on a reduced plan. The demand for chainless wheels this year should make the bantam popular.

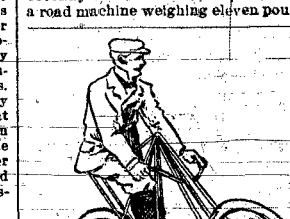

A NEW TRIANGULAR MODEL.

next month. A New England firm has produced a model with a triangular frame for the '07 market which will prove a decided innovation. The construction is decidedly novel.

A NEW CHAINLESS DEVICE.

slipped crank wheel actuates two connecting rods, which will give three revolutions of the driving wheel for each full turn of the pedals. This bicycle is sure to excite considerable interest among the chainless cranks.

NOVEL LIGHT-WEIGHT BICYCLE.

has been built. The frame is constructed on the cantilever principle, and consists of twenty-one perfect triangles. This idea is hardly likely to gain popular favor.

Ericsson's Drawing Board.

An engineer in the department of docks, New York City, thinks that he has discovered the old drawing board on which Ericsson drew the plans for his famous Monitor. The wood is stained by age, and it is filled with holes from the thumb tacks that have been driven into it.

Our Arbitration in the Past.

The list of arbitrations between the United States and other powers which Mr. Sherman laid before the Senate the other day has been printed. It is not complete, and there is no indication as to how nearly so it is. It embraces thirty-eight cases within almost exactly a century.

Reforms Need More than a Day. To bring them about, and more always made complete and lasting when they proceed with steady regularity to a consummation.

The floods throughout the country this spring have been the worst ever known.

The verdict in Tuesday's election was decisive and the will of the people is supreme.

Carlton H. Harrison, democrat, was elected Mayor of Chicago, yesterday, by a large plurality.

Henry Ziegenhein, republican, was elected Mayor of St. Louis by a large plurality at the election yesterday.

To the pop legislature: Since your pay has stopped paying, why in the name of common sense don't you pop stop popping?

When the next republican legislature convenes in Nebraska, and it won't be long, Wayne may expect to secure a state Normal.

If the populists are determined to seat two Supreme Judges by a fraudulent recount of the constitutional amendments, they will have sown but to reap a whirlwind.

With all their juggling with the ballots the populist legislature failed to find enough votes to seat the two pop Supreme Judges, and there is weeping, wailing and gnashing of teeth.

The Sioux City Journal says: "Chicago and St. Louis had elections yesterday and demonstrated that interest in municipal affairs is not at all secondary to interest in national affairs."

Senator Thurston will so shape the affairs of the state that the worst kickers, if there are any, will be compelled to admit his wisdom, when they see Nebraska roll into the republican column again.

The Nebraska Maximum Rate case is being tried before the U. S. Supreme Court at Washington and the proceedings will be watched with interest, as it will materially affect railway freight rates, if the state wins the case.

While you are pouring over the papers reading the news of cyclones, floods, and the distress they have wrought, it will be well to remember that in order to make sure that distress will never visit our community, a beet sugar factory is a necessity.

Who expected the populists to approve the Dingley tariff. It would not be in keeping with their policy to approve of anything good. Aside from this fact, they do not want prosperity for with it's advent many of the populist leaders will be out of a job.

Doc Bixby of the State Journal, thinks that a man should not wear his life out in saving up money for his heirs to quarrel over. Maybe not, Doc, but what about the fellow who wears his life out "blowing" all he makes so that it can't be of any benefit to his heirs? Which is the better man?

Neligh and West Point have both completed arrangements for sugar factories which are to be built this season.
Wayne's factory seems to have floated off during the recent high water, but the farmers of that county are going to plant 300 acres of beets anyway. If Randolph only had a factory of this kind along side of her new creamery, wouldn't she be in it? Randolph Times.

The new wall map issued by the Burlington Route is three feet four inches wide by 4 feet long; is printed in 6 colors; is mounted on rollers; shows every state, county, important town and railroad in the Union, and forms a very desirable and useful adjunct to any household or business establishment.
Purchased in lots of 5,000 the maps cost the Burlington Route nearly 20 cents apiece, but on receipt of 15 cents in

Rambling Thoughts
BY NEMO.
(COPYRIGHTED.)
Our country is so vast, and its range of products and of climatic conditions so extraordinary, that the greatest safeguard up to this time against a fatal sectionalism has been the tendency of both early and late immigrants to move from one place to another, subjugating new territory, and forming new states.
Nature decrees that the material interests of Montana, for instance, shall differ from those of the sea-board states, but the travelled condition of many thousands of Mountains guarantees an expression of opinion on their part regarding public affairs, distinctly more national than could be expected from a population narrowed to views purely local. For a small nation, restricted in both space and possibilities, great patriotic results may come, from inhabitants who do not choose to wander; but for us, not crowded by neighbors, nor measured in any direction by less than ten hundred miles, the best promise of enfranchisement is found in increasing knowledge of one another's deeds and problems.

We have been subjected to such a tremendous influx of foreigners and children of foreigners, in the past thirty years, that we easily find another great gain from the restlessness of our mixed population. Notwithstanding the fact that the inhabitants of some European nations have come here by hundreds of thousands, it is impossible to place the finger on any one portion of the country and say "Here public questions are entirely settled by voters who are more foreign than American in the ideas."
Regarding the country as one great body, it is safe to assert that no condition except this one of mixing, would have enabled it to digest, and safely dispose of the millions who have come to it from every nation under Heaven.
While there is still much to be desired in the direction of unity, nationally we have accomplished a task that might well have been regarded as impossible;
the quiet, orderly, practically complete absorption of over three times as many immigrants as there were inhabitants at the birth of the United States. Each wanderer has come promptly in touch with persons who cherished the spirit of Freedom and has become so imbued himself that we are still one Union; in separable forever, let us hope and believe.

In Yorkshire, (England) it is a comparatively rare thing to find a man whose sons are scattered through the other countries; let us say, for illustration, in Kent, Cornwall and Northumberland; but of our old American families, both rich and poor, there are thousands, conditioned like an editor of my acquaintance, whose blood relations are spread from Vermont to California, and down to Louisiana. The unconscious influence of such connections works upon the imagination of the child so situated, they are legion, until his fervid fancy overleaps the farm fences, the valley walls, the rolling prairies, the beetling mountain-sides and our country becomes "My Country" to him in a much wider sense than with a child whose relations are grouped close around him.

But we have by no means exhausted the advantages that have arisen from our restless spirit. Among other things it has aided in the maintenance of one language in general use. The children of immigrants in our public schools learn the language and deeds of Washington and Jefferson, of Webster and of Clay. The home training in the tongue of the foreign fatherland is a trifle compared with the American influence of school books, and the play-ground; for it is hard to exaggerate the ties of language. There have been instances in our history where whole counties in the Northwest are exclusively Scandinavian; but the condition lasts only for a time, by reason of the children's learning our general tongue. Strange though it may sound, there are fewer definite dialects in our whole country than can be found in Great Britain—a kingdom that could be almost packed away in one state, New York. In that small country a Dorset man of low rank could not understand a Scotchman, and a Cornishman would be practically a foreigner to both; but the national life in the most remote corner of our Texas is the same that courses in the piney woods of Maine, and the language is the same. A wise and travelled Englishman who landed in this country for the first time a few weeks ago, stated to me that nothing impressed him here so much as the fact that a journey of 3,000 miles overland, and 8,000 miles around brought him to the same language, while a journey of one hour to the continent of Europe, carried him into entirely strange conditions.

But the extension of territory and the forward movement of the people will come to an end. In fact the end already is in sight, and the tide of population is settling back upon the older states like the back-writer of a flood. A new century and new conditions confront us.
The call is for those who feel deeply and think broadly, to guide our destinies as we stretch forward to the unknown.

Now territory alone is insufficient for the continued greatness of any country.
A concrete example is China with a vast area and teeming millions; all holding together like a pile of brick, simply by reason of weight and not because of any actual union between them. Wealth also is no guarantee; for if so, why are we cuffed on to record the almost complete decay of Spain, though wealthy beyond hearts desire two centuries ago?
The Hindoo princes, puppets in power, swaddled in the lap of wealth and surrounded by the flashing glories of gems illustrate again the foolishness of resting on wealth for perpetuity. Territory is nothing without national character.
Wealth is as much. Furthermore, they that have relied upon the sword have perished by it. Alexander, the Great, made no permanent enlargement of Grecian territory—the Hebrews under David gained the full limits of their territory and enjoyed it only during one reign; the Roman Empire crumbled from mere weight as soon as unselfish devotion was withdrawn. Any widely read reader can multiply confirmations.

The wise will consider these things in their hearts as well as their heads.

CHAPTER XXIV.

He had slightly loosened his hold. Kingscott wrenched his hand free and thrust it into an inner pocket. The report of a revolver rang out to startle the silence of the lonely hills. To the man who fired that shot it seemed as if its echo would never die away. Although the lonely lane in which he stood was far removed from the habitations of man, he could not but fancy that the sound would rouse the avengers of blood and bring them from scores of nooks and corners to punish the murderer for his crime.

For Hannington had fallen to the ground and lay there as one dead, while for a moment or two, Ralph Kingscott crouching beside him—watched and waited for any sign of life. But none came. He turned away and strode hastily up the lane. He did not want to be seen in the high-road now. He would strike across the fields, and take a devious route toward Blaingowrie, thence to the nearest spot of his way to Spain.

When Hannington awoke to conscious ness, he was dimly aware of a faint familiar face—was about him. He had been carried to Torresmuir, for the man who had discovered him knew that he had married Mr. Moncrieff's daughter, and had taken it for granted that he would be nursed at his father-in-law's house.

He lay for the most part in a dreamy state, not suffering much pain, but growing weaker every hour. It seemed to him that he was wrapped in a sort of mist, from which faces occasionally emerged with puzzling distinctness. They were all kind and friendly faces, but he had not energy to respond much to the kindness. Now it was Stella's soft eyes that rested on him pityingly; he roused himself to ask her to forgive him for all that he had done. Then Alan Moncrieff bent over him and asked him some questions, and to these he did his best to reply. But it was hard to fix his attention, to call his mind back from the hazy mists in which it was enveloped.

"Had Ralph Kingscott anything to do with this?" Alan asked. There was a pause, for the feeble answer came. "It was all my fault."

"All your fault?—you had quarrelled?" "It was about—Molly. I can't tell you now. She never robbed you, nor did I believe that it was Kingscott."

"Yes, I believe that it was Kingscott." "You know that it was not Kingscott?" "I know—I am sure of it."

"That's right," said Hannington, in a tone of weary relief, and then his eyes closed and the mist seemed to have engulfed him once again.

When he opened his eyes they rested on Molly's white, worn face. She was sitting beside him.

"Molly," he said, feebly. "Is it really Molly?" "Yes, dear Jack."

"Will you forgive me, Molly?" "I forgive you, as long ago, Jack. When baby came I forgive you."

"You'll let me see it—the baby—before I go?" "She is here," said Molly.

"I can't see it. Everything is so dark." She guided his hand to the little head of the child which was now given into her arms. Then he asked if he might kiss it.

Moncrieff read this letter with a feeling of rage and shame of which he found it difficult to rid himself. A search was made for the stone, but proved unavailing. It must have become imbedded in the earth and overgrown with vegetation, and probably would never be found at all. He declared that he had no superstitious feeling about it in the very least, but Stella fancied that she could read a little regret in his honest eyes.

Molly mourned her husband bitterly, but she was young still, and her heart had, after all, not been broken. There came a day when Captain Rutherford, after two years of patient waiting, found her alone in the garden at Torresmuir, and asked her if she could trust him to make her life happy, and if she could ever consent to be his wife. And Molly did not say no.

In the days that were to come, when a troop of children made gladness in Rutherford's house, and Molly was proud of their beauty and their noisiness and their mirth, even then John Hannington's foreboding was not justified. His child was never neglected, never set aside for any of the newcomers. Her mother and her stepfather had indeed a special tenderness for her; she was their darling, and in due time their helper and their comfort. But they never grudged her to their old and true friend, Lady Valencia. In her house, little Valencia Hannington spent many weeks every year; she was Lady Val's greatest interest in life. Many people said that Lady Valencia's great wealth should some day be left to her namesake, and that John Hannington might yet be one of the richest women in England, but that day does not seem likely to dawn just yet. For Lady Val is as strong and brisk and active as she ever was, and the only trace that her great sorrow has left upon her is a wistful sadness in her beautiful eyes, and an ever-increasing tenderness for the lonely, the sorrowful, the weak—and perhaps, we may add, the wicked—of the earth.

With one more scene from the life at Torresmuir, our story will fitly end. It is a bright summer morning, and Stella and her husband stand on the terrace, discussing their plans for the day, reading their letters and opening their newspapers, after the pleasant fashion that obtains at Torresmuir on sunny mornings when the post comes in. Presently Stella turns her head, and laughs for very happiness. A stately little fellow, with great brown eyes, comes stumbling and putting up the slope of the hill toward the terrace, with something tightly clasped in his dimpled hand. Master Alan makes his way straight to his mother, throws himself upon her with exuberant affection, and then displays what his hand contains. It is an oddly shaped stone—something like a lump of dull glass—and at sight of it Mr. Moncrieff utters an exclamation of pleasure and surprise.

"Where did you find that, my boy?" he asks.

Alan the younger explains in broken English that he found it in the grass, and that he thought it "pitty," and wanted to "ting it to 'muzzer."

"It is a good omen," said Alan Moncrieff, with a smile. "Stella, this is the stone that was lost. The boy has found it at last."

Stella, with her child in her arms, turns to him, smiling also.

"So he has brought back the luck of the house," she exclaims.

But Alan suddenly looks grave. "No," he answers, in a softer tone, as he puts his hand upon her shoulder, and looks into her eyes. "That came long ago, when you, my star, brought us your sweet presence, and the love that has brightened all our lives. Then you brought back to us Stella, 'The Luck of the House.'" (The end.)

Colds.
A person in good health, with fair play, easily resists colds, but when the health flags a little and liberties are taken with the stomach or the nervous system, a chill is easily taken and according to the weak spot of the individual, assumes the form of a cold or pneumonia, or it may be jaundice. Of all causes of cold probably fatigue is one of the most efficient. A jaded man coming home at night from a long day's work, a growing youth losing two or three times a week, a young lady heavily doing the season, or young children overfed and with short allowances of sleep, are common instances of the victims of cold. Luxury is favorable to chill taking.

Very hot rooms, feather beds, soft chairs create a sensitiveness that leads to catarrhs. It is not, after all, the cold that is so much to be feared as the antecedent conditions that give the attack a chance of doing harm. Some of the worst colds happen to those who do not leave their house or even their beds, and those who are most vulnerable are often those who are most exposed to changes of temperature, and who by good sleep, cold-bathings, and regular habits preserve the tone of their nervous system and circulation. Probably many chills are contracted at night or at the far end of the day, when tired people get the equilibrium of their circulation disturbed by either over-heated sitting-rooms or underheated bedrooms and beds. This is especially the case with elderly people. In such cases the mischief is not always done instantaneously or in a single night. It often takes place insidiously, extending over days or even weeks.

A Long Bridge.
A bridge forty-one miles long would certainly be a novelty, and yet that is the kind of a bridge they are talking of building across Poikis strait, to connect the island of Ceylon with the mainland of India. The strait is forty-one miles across in some places. Surveyors have been at work and the cost of construction is estimated at some 28,000,000 rupees. The plan of the work contemplates the connection of the ends of the bridge by 145 miles of railroad with Colombo, the great harbor of Ceylon, and by ninety miles of road with Modura, the nearest point of the Indian railway system.

He Resolves to Reform.
Brown—That was a very sensational sermon the minister preached last Sunday.

Robinson—Was it indeed? I must try to keep a wake after this. Truth.

BUILDING THE CITY.

TALMAGE ON NEHEMIAH'S RIDE IN WRECKED JERUSALEM.

The Enchantment of the Moonlight and Nehemiah's Resolve—Love of the Church of God—Ruin and Redemption.

Our Washington Pulpit.

From the weird and midnight experiences of one of ancient times Dr. Talmage in this sermon draws lessons startlingly appropriate. His text was Nehemiah ii. 15. "Then went I up in the night by the brook and viewed the wall and turned back and entered by the gate of the valley, and so returned."

A dead city is more suggestive than a living city—past Rome than present Rome—ruins rather than newly frescoed Cathedral. But the best time to visit a ruin is by moonlight. The Coliseum is far more fascinating to the traveler after sundown than before. You may stand by daylight amid the monastic ruins of Melrose abbey and study shafted oriel and rosetted stone and mullion, but they throw their strongest witchery by moonlight. Some of you remember what the enchanter of Scotland said in the "Lay of the Last Minstrel":

Wouldst thou view fair Melrose aight, Go visit it by the pale moonlight.

Washington Irving describes the Andalusian moonlight upon the Alhambra ruins as amounting to an enchantment. My text presents you Jerusalem in ruins, the tower down. The gates down. The walls down. Everything down. Nehemiah on horseback by moonlight looking upon the ruins.—While he rides there are some friends on foot going with him, for they do not want the many horses to disturb the suspicions of the people. These people do not know the secret of Nehemiah's heart; but they are going as a sort of bodyguard. I hear the clinking hoofs of the horse on this way and that into this gate and out of that, winding through that gate amid the debris of once great Jerusalem.

Rebuilding the City.
Now the horse comes to dead halt at the tumbled masonry where he cannot pass. Now he shies off at the charred timbers. Now he comes along where the water under the moonlight flashes from the mouth of the brazen dragon after which the gate was named. "Heavy hearted Nehemiah is riding in and out, now by his old home desolated, now by the defaced temple, now amid the scars of the city that had gone down under battering ruin and conflagration. The escorting party knows not what Nehemiah means. Is he getting crazy? Have his own personal sorrows, added to the sorrows of the nation, unbalanced his intellect? Still the midnight exploration goes on. Nehemiah on horseback rides through the fish gate, by the tower of the furnaces, by the king's pool, by the dragon well, in and out, in and out, until the midnight ride is completed, and Nehemiah dismounts from his horse, and to the amazed and confounded and incredulous bodyguard declares the dead secret of his heart when he says, "Come, now, let us build Jerusalem." (What, Nehemiah, have you any money? "No." "Have you any kingly authority?" "No." "Have you any eloquence?" "No." Yet that night, moonlight ride of Nehemiah resulted in the glorious rebuilding of the city of Jerusalem. The people knew not how the thing was to be done, but with great enthusiasm they cried out, "Let us rise up now and build the city." Some people laughed and said it could not be done. Some people were infuriated and offered physical violence, saying the thing should not be done. But the spirit went right on, standing on the wall, trowel in one hand, sword in the other, until the work was gloriously completed. At that very time in Greece Xenophon was writing a history, and Plato was making philosophy, and Demosthenes was rattling his rhetorical thunder. But all of them together did not do so much for the world as this midnight moonlight ride of pining, courageous, homesick, close-mouthed Nehemiah.

Love of the Church.
My subject first impresses me with the idea, what an interesting thing church affection. Seize the bridle of that horse and stop Nehemiah. Why are you risking your life here in the night? Your horse will stumble over these ruins and fall on you. Stop this useless exposure of your life. No, Nehemiah will not stop. He at last tells us the whole story. He lets us know he was an exile in a far distant land, and he was a servant, a cupbearer in the palace of Artaxerxes Longimanus, and one day, while he was handing the cup of wine to the king the king said to him: "What is the matter with you? You are not sick. I know you must have some great trouble. What is the matter with you? Then he told the king how that beloved Jerusalem had broken down; how that his father's tomb had been desecrated; how that the temple had been dishonored and defaced; how that the walls were scattered and broken." "Well," says King Artaxerxes, "what do you want?" "Well," said the cupbearer Nehemiah, "I want to go home. I want to fix up the grave of my father. I want to restore the beauty of the temple. I want to rebuild the masonry of the city wall." "How long shall you be gone?" he said to the king. "The time of absence is arranged." In hot haste his seeming adventurer comes to Jerusalem and in my text we find him on horseback in the midnight riding around the ruins. Let us discover the ardent attachment of Nehemiah for sacred Jerusalem, which in all ages has been the type of the church of God, our Jerusalem, which we love just as much as Nehemiah loved his Jerusalem. The fact is that you love the church of God so much that there is no sport on earth so sacred, unless it be your friends.

Viewing the Ruins.
The church has been to you so much beloved that you cannot see it in ruins without that it makes you so irate as to have it talked against. If there have been times when you have been carried into captivity by sickness, you longed for the church, our holy Jerusalem, just as much as Nehemiah longed for his Jerusalem, and the first day you came out you came to the house of the Lord. When the temple was in ruins, like Nehemiah, you walked around and looked at it, and in the moonlight you stood listening if you could hear the voice of the dead organ: the comes the most ferocious opposition. He crosses the piety and patriotism of the people, and in less than two months—namely, fifty-two days—Jerusalem was rebuilt. That's what I call busy and triumphant sadness.

The Design of Trouble.
My friends, the whole temptation is with you when you have trouble to do just the opposite to the behavior of Nehemiah, and that is to give up. You say, "I have lost my child and can never smile again." You say, "I have lost my property, and I never can repair my fortunes." You say, "I have fallen into sin, and I never can start again for a new life." If Satan can make you form that resolution and make you keep it, he has ruined you. Trouble is not sent to crush you, but to arouse you, to animate you, to propel you. The blacksmith does not thrust the iron into the forge and then bring the hot iron out on the anvil and beat with stroke after stroke to ruin the iron, but to prepare it for a better use. Oh, that the Lord God of Nehemiah would rouse up all broken-hearted people to rebuild! Whipped, betrayed, shipwrecked, imprisoned, Paul went right on. The Italian martyr Algerius sits in his dungeon writing a letter, and he dates it, "From the delectable orchard of the Leonine prison." That is what I call triumphant sadness. I knew a mother who buried her babe on Friday and on Sabbath appeared in the house of God and said, "Give me a class. I have no child now left me, and I would like to have a class of little children. Give me a class off the back street." That, I say, is beautiful. That is triumphant sadness. At 3 o'clock every Sabbath afternoon for years in a beautiful parlor in Philadelphia—a parlor pictured and statuetted—there were from ten to twenty destitute children of the street. Those destitute children received religious instruction, concluding with cakes and sandwiches. How do I know that that was going on for sixteen years? I know it in this way: That was the first home in Philadelphia where I was called to comfort a great sorrow. They had a splendid boy, and he had been drowned at Long Branch. The father and mother almost idolized the boy, and the sob and shriek of that father and mother as they hung over the coffin seemed to be no use of praying, for when I knelt down to pray the outcry in the room drowned out all prayer. They had a Lord comforted that sorrow. They did not forget their trouble. If you should go any afternoon into Laurel Hill, you would find a monument, with the word "Walter" inscribed upon it and a wreath of fresh flowers around the name. I think there was not an hour in twenty years, winter or summer, when there was not a wreath of fresh flowers around Walter's name.

But the Christian mother who sent those flowers there, having no child left, Sabbath afternoons mothered ten or twenty of the lost ones of the street. That is beautiful. That is what I call busy and triumphant sadness. Here is a man who has lost his property. He does not go to hard drinking. He does not destroy his own life. He comes and says, "Harmless me for Christian work. My money's gone. I have no treasure on earth. I want treasures in heaven. I have a voice and I want to serve God." You say that that man has failed. He has not failed—he has triumphed.

"Oh, I wish I could persuade all the people who have any kind of trouble never to give up! I wish they would look at the midnight rider of the text, and that the four hoofs of that beast on which Nehemiah rode might cut to pieces all your 'discouragements and hardships and trials. Give up! Who is going to give up when on the bosom of God he can have all his troubles hushed? Give up! Never think of giving up. Are you borne down with poverty? A little child was found holding her dead mother's hand in the darkness of a tenement house, and some one coming in the little girl looked up, while holding her dead mother's hand, and said, 'Oh, I do wish that God had made more light for poor folks.' My dear, God will be your light. God will be your shelter. God will be your home. Are you burdened down with the bereavements of life? Is the house lonely now that the child is gone? Do not give up. Think of what the old sexton said when the minister asked him why he put so much care on the little graves in the cemetery—so much more care than on the larger graves—and the old sexton said, 'Sir, you know that 'of such is the kingdom of heaven' and I think the Saviour is pleased when he sees so much white-clover growing around these little graves."

Do Not Give Up.
But when the minister pressed the old sexton for a more satisfactory answer the old sexton said, "Sir, about these larger graves, I don't know who are the Lord's saints and who are not, but you know, sir, it is clean different with the babies." Oh, if you have had that keen, tender, indescribable sorrow that comes from the loss of a child, do not give up. The old sexton was right. It is all well with the babies, if you have them, and the saints and sinners are buried in the same ground, but you are not to give up. Perhaps there may be in this house one that could truthfully utter the lamentation of another: "Once I was pure as the snow, but I fell. Fell like a snowflake, from heaven to hell. Fell to be trampled as filth in the street. Fell to be scoffed at, spit on and beat. Praying, cursing, wishing to die. Selling my soul to whoever would buy. Denial in shame for a morsel of bread. Flating the living and fearing the dead."

Do Not Give Up.
Do not give up. One day, when I was a boy, I came to you today, saying, "Go and sin no more, you will be open out to your assailants." Let him that is without sin cast the first stone at him. I have no reason why any one in this house, by reason of any trouble or sin should give up! Are you a foreigner and in a strange land? Nehemiah was an exile. Are you penniless? Nehemiah was poor. Are you homesick? Nehemiah was homesick. Are you broken-hearted? Nehemiah was broken-hearted. But just see him in the text riding along the sacrilegious grave of his father and by the dragon well and through the fish gate and by the king's pool, in and out, in and out, the moonlight falling on the broken masonry, which throws a long shadow, at which the sun has shined, and at the same time that moonlight kindling up the features of this man full of courage and hope, the enthusiasm of a man who knows that Jerusalem will be rebuilt. I pick you up to-day, out of your sin and out of your sorrow, and I put you against the vain heart of Christ. The eternal God is thy refuge, and thy strength is the everlasting arms."

The Manufacture of Dolls.

Dolls are now manufactured in large quantities in this country, the business having been established on a permanent basis. Until the last five years all dolls, except the home-made rag specimens, were imported from Switzerland, Tyrol, Steyermark and the mountain districts of Germany, where the industry has been carried on for centuries. The china-heads are made of the same material employed for a fine quality of plates, and are painted and glazed previous to baking. The tiny china dolls are molded. The bodies of the better class of dolls, of the Four Hundred, if such an expression may be decreed to such a use, are made of cotton, linen, canvas or kid, and are stuffed with sawdust, cotton or some other suitable substance.

How One Dog Got Fresh Eggs.

Bob is a fine 2-year-old mastiff, with head and face of massive strength, heightened by great mildness of expression. One day he was seen carrying a hen very gently in his mouth to the kennel. Placing her in one corner he stood sentry while she laid an egg, which he at once devoured. From that day the two have been fast friends; the hen refusing to lay anywhere but in Bob's kennel and getting her reward in the dainty morsels from his platter. There must have been a bit of canine reasoning here. Bob must have found eggs to his liking, that they were laid by hens, and that he could best secure a supply by having a hen to himself.

THE TALK OF THE TOWN.

From the Advertiser, Clinton, Iowa.

Your reporter has been making inquiries of local parties as to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, their merits and sale in this community. Dr. E. Snyder, the local druggist in Lyons, Iowa, was consulted first. He says they rank very high, that he has sold them for years and has no hesitation in saying they have no superior as a nerve and blood pill, and that in an instance so far as his knowledge extends have they failed to benefit those who have used them. Mr. Snyder says that many cases of rheumatism have been cured by the Pink Pills, and for derangement of the stomach, nervous prostration, etc., they are invaluable.

Another case, Mr. John E. Cook, one of the pioneer settlers of Iowa, a prosperous farmer, now retired and living in Lyons, was waiting for a cure to a sickness with a combination of stomach trouble and rheumatism. After trying almost everything without benefit, finally gave Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial and is today as well as strong as ever. His family unhesitatingly attribute his recovery to the Pink Pills.

Another case of rheumatism with which the writer is personally familiar is that of Mrs. John Crasner, formerly of Lyons, Iowa, but now of Davenport, Iowa. Mrs. Crasner was an intimate friend of the writer's family. About four years ago she was prostrated with inflammatory rheumatism and nothing seemed to do her any permanent good. They were confined as far as money was concerned, and nothing was left undone to relieve her and effect a cure. The best medical skill the city could furnish was provided in the vain attempt to conquer the stubborn disease. All to no purpose. She continued to get worse until finally she was entirely helpless, not being able to turn herself in bed, and her life was almost despaired of.

Just when the case was in its lowest and most hopeless stage, a "Good Samaritan" neighbor, who had witnessed in other persons the great good they had derived under similar circumstances through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, urged them to try just one more remedy. Their faith in the pills was very weak, as it naturally would be after trying so many other medicines and continually growing worse, but finally concluded to give them a trial and by the time the first box was used they began to improve.

Mr. Crasner was in Lyons a few weeks ago and I inquired how his wife was getting along, and to my surprise he said she was nearly well, and then went on to tell me of the wonderfully good effects wrought out by the Pink Pills, and argument can convince them now that there is another medicine in the wide world that can begin to compare with the magical Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are the most specific for all diseases, as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of the grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

STYLES FOR SPRING.

TO FIND SOMETHING NEW IS NOT SO EASY.

Neither Capes Nor Jackets Are Newly in Favor, So a Fashionable Trick Is a Blend of 'Em—Spring Garments that May Be Worn Next Fall.

New York correspondence: A REPLY it is so difficult a task to pick out a suitable spring wrap as it is this season, for during the past few years women have gaily skipped from fashion to fashion, till the heads of the designers are almost inside-out in their effort to keep pace with feminine fickleness. We have had capes till we are tired of them, unless we can be shown some every good reason for being pleased with some individual cape. Jackets are rather more attractive, but even there we are not easy to please. We won't have big sleeves, those frightful melon shapes, and we won't have tight plain ones, the ugly things, so the distracted maker exhausts his ingenuity, and a lot more cloth than you would believe possible in amplification of sleeves that shall not recall the hated micron.

All sorts of cape-like drapery is resorted to, frequently with very good effect. Handkerchief-like squares are shaped into the armhole after the manner shown in the initial cut, so that there are no bulky folds on the shoulder, and yet there is a very graceful fall of points to the elbow. Breadth is still suggested by frills and folds at the sleeve tops, and yet the lifted arm shows its natural outline almost to the shoulder, and the trig jacket fit is not interfered with. Some ingenious jackets, usually made of delicate materials, come with sleeves adjustable under the cape-like shoulder scolding, and when hot weather comes the sleeves will be whipped out, and a new jacket results by the contrast of the dress sleeves thus exposed.

Three new designs of outer garments are presented by the two-column illustration, each model standing for a distinct sort of outer garment.

burst pleating is used by first-class milliners and makers whenever possible, and is most becoming to all sorts of figures. A little while ago the pleating appeared only on made-to-order garments, but it is shown now on the high-priced made gowns and jackets, the latter more rarely.

Brilliantly changeable taffetas are thus used and all sorts of lovely cashmere and laddie-cloths, silk poplin, too, lends itself charmingly to this model of jacket. Many of them are made with the shoulder cape finish adjustable, and this little cape, which lies merely around the shoulder line fastening at a mere tip of contact front and back, makes when worn alone a dainty finish to a dress where street effect is desired without additional warmth. The girl who has on a jacket of this plan can afford to carry her head high, for she wears a "high-class exclusive," and every one of her friends will know it at the first look. The daintiest millinery and the prettiest delicate spring gown will match charmingly with such an overgarment. After all, the most important garment in the half season is the outer garment, so it is well to secure one at once for the intermediate months; the gown can wait till later. It is only fair to add to the spring look of the streets by getting off the winter wrappings that all of a sudden in the strong yellow sun look dingy and ugly.

As an accessory to her spring wrap, the trickily demure damsel adopts a scarf pin that recalls the graceful draperies of days long past. When adjusted it seems to be merely a long scarf-piece laid over the shoulders, and knotted carelessly at the waistline, the ends hanging to the knees, but it is not as simple as that. It is really all in place and not a bit dependent upon the chance of happen-so-folds. Still in spite of being made after a pattern, it does not look the least bit self-conscious when it is on. A great many spring gowns are being made with a "fichu cape," which is the pretty name of these little garments, to match, and the demure, poetic and romantic girl cannot find anything to suit her more charmingly. A gown of dark violet, lined with a violet and pale-blue silk, a fichu cape lined to match the lining showing as the shoulder fold turns over, is as pretty a combination as possible, and is not so much like the stage heroine after the death of all her relatives, except the bad uncle as is a combination of gray.

FROM GRANDMOTHER'S DAY. ruff. Bisuit-colored smooth cloth over a bronzy peacock green is about as dressy a combination as you can select. The girl with an eye to make-over will feel herself willing to pay for one of these new designs, because the accordion-pleated under cape is sure to lend itself to other uses. It is the really economical girl who astonishes her friends when she does buy, by getting something that seems very dainty and not at all like what the thoughtless expect an economical person to get.

The surplus of the middle figure, too, will hold over nicely to autumn, while the lace at its collar, which gives a dainty spring look now, will later blend with a lace and muslin frock and make the garment seem a special summer one. These pretty affairs come in all sorts of materials, and in many cases are made to match the dress. In gendines and open weaves over silk, garnished with really handsome lace, they are distinctly dressy. They come finished with high collar, or with merely the crossed surplus effect at the throat, in which case the gown shows at the neck. Worn with a tailor gown they impart a spring-like airiness to the costume, and used as a little reception wrap over an elaborate gown they take on festive elegance.

Then the sort of empire jacket seen at the left in this picture, there is nothing newer. It is of sun-pleated smooth cloth, its cape drapery collar of plain cloth. These empire affairs refuse to be downed. They have appeared in cheap ready-made affairs and looked the ugly, shapeless fakes they were, but the truly well-proportioned and graceful empire remains and is none the less stunning. They are either cut very short—some of them bob up deliciously at the back—or else they are just below the hips. Much of the effect depends on the correct length. Sun-

One of Mrs. Pinkham's Talks

Concerning a Mother's Duty to Her Young Daughter. Together with a Chat with Miss Marie Johnson.

The balance wheel of a woman's life is menstruation. On the proper performance of this function depends her health. Irregularity lays the foundation of many diseases, and is in itself symptom of disease. It is of the greatest importance that regularity be accomplished as soon as possible after the flow is an established fact.

Disturbance of the menstrual function poisons the blood. In young girls suppression develops latent inherited tendencies to scrofula or consumption; and no time must be lost in restoring regularity. Many a young girl goes to her grave because this difficulty has been thought lightly of, and mother has said, "Time will bring about a cure; she is young, I don't worry about her."

Mother, when you see your daughter languid and indifferent to things that usually interest a young girl, when you note that flush on her cheek, that glassy appearance in her eyes; when your daughter tells you that even the weight of her dress waist oppresses her, and that she has terrible pains in her stomach shortly after eating, don't ignore these signs! If you do, you will be following your daughter to the grave, for she will die!

This is gospel truth—she is developing consumption of the bowels! Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest regulator known to medicine. Make haste to use it on the first appearance of the tell-tale symptoms; it will restore all the female organs to their normal condition. Miss Marie Johnson's letter to Mrs. Pinkham, which follows, should interest all mothers and young ladies. She says:

"My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I would have the headache so badly that everything would appear black before my eyes, and I could not go on with my studies. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity. Words cannot express my gratitude, and I cannot thank you enough for your kind advice and medicine."—Miss MARIE F. JOHNSON, Centralia, Pa.

The village doctor felt the boy's pulse and then said: "Let me see your tongue!" When that was shown he said: "It's white! It's coated!" and then he gave the mother half a dozen little things that looked like chocolate lozenges. "Let him take one now and another before he goes to bed to-night." FOUND DEAD.
Why did he do it? He had everything to live for—happy home, wife, friends, money, but he shot himself through the heart. Why?
He couldn't have given a good reason himself. But everything looked gloomy to him. He was in a gloomy frame of mind. It was the way he looked at life that day. He had been living in too much of a hurry, rushing and driving at business, hustling through his meals, cutting short his sleep. His nerves got on edge; his stomach and liver got out of order; he grew dyspeptic and melancholy.
When the digestion is out of order there is little use trying to look on the bright side of things, practically there isn't any bright side. This is a dangerous condition to get into. Yet it is easy to get into and mighty hard to get out of it, unless you go about it in the right way.
There is a remedy that has pulled thousands of people right out of this depth of despair. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the stomach and liver. It restores their natural capacity to nourish and purify the system. It purges away bilious poisons, feeds the nerve-centres with healthy, highly vitalized blood, and drives out the "blue devil" of melancholy and nervousness.
J. E. Warner, No. 1000 O Street, Sacramento, Cal., writes: "During the last five years I have been doctoring with as many as six different doctors here and in San Francisco for diseased stomach; but none of the doctors gave me even temporary relief. Two years ago I completely collapsed, and had to give up all work. I have felt many times that I would like to leave this world. In looking over the ads in the San Francisco Examiner I ran across yours, and I now owe my life and present good health to Dr. Pierce's medicine. I have taken fourteen bottles of the "Golden Medical Discovery" and four little vials of "Pleasant Pellets," and I am entirely well of all stomach trouble. Can sleep nine hours every night, and am now ready to go to work again."

A Furnace
FOR
$30.00
Is something almost unheard of in the history of heating but we have been making a Splendid Economical Furnace for that money for three years with a steadily increasing business. Over thirty of them in use in the city of Norfolk and every one of them working satisfactorily. We make them in three sizes—small enough for a cottage or large enough for a church or store building. It does not make any difference whether your house was arranged for it when it was built or not. If you want to heat the second story of your house and do not want the large hot air pipes going to the upstairs through your rooms, we will heat the second story with one of our combination Hot Water and Hot Air Furnaces. We will give you net price on your heating plant complete. All you need to do is to "touch the button." Correspondence solicited.
