VICTORY FOR GREEKS

TURKS DEFEATED IN A BLOODY BATTLE AT REVENI.

Edhem Pasha, Turkish Commander, Nearly Taken Prisoner During the Engagement—Turks Reported to Have Lost 7,000 Men.

A Victory for the Greeks.

LARISSA, April 20.—5 p. m. The Greeks have defeated the Turks at Reveni, and two Greek brigades have entered Turkish territory in different directions and penetrated to Damasi, northeast of Zarkos.

Another division is trying to flank the Turks who are retreating in disorder. Heavy fighting is in progress at Grizsovaldi.

9 p. m.—Gen. Smolentz, ex-minister of war, is in command of 14,000 Greeks at Reveni, not far from Trynova, west of Larissa.

At this point Edhem Pasha, closely pressed, was nearly taken prisoner. His plan was to force the pass of Reveni, enter the plain of Larissa, cut off the retreat of the Greek army with his cavalry, and thus take Larissa without opposition.

This plan was defeated. Gen. Demopolis, at the head of one Greek division, forced the Turkish line at Boughash close to Trynovo, and Gen. Mavromichale broke through at Konikos.

The news of this success at Reveni and of the imminent fall of Preveza has changed the dismay caused at Athens by the loss of Midpuna into the wildest rejoicing.

Capt. Tagaride, who was wounded at Grizsovaldi, shot himself in order to avoid falling into the hands of the Turks.

The Greeks report that the Turks lost 7,000 killed and wounded at Reveni, but estimate is probably excessive. The Greek engineers constructed a bridge at Pachlykiki to enable their troops to cross the river.

It is stated that the Turkish forces attacking Reveni numbered more than 10,000 men.

CRUEL WAR BEGINS

The Greeks and Turks Meet in Deadly Combat.

FIGHTING IS GENERAL

Thirty to Fifty Thousand Troops Engaged.

Prevesa Bombarded by the Hellenes—Sultan's Batteries Open Hostilities by Sinking the Greek Steamer Macedonia—Turkey Notifies the Powers that She Is Forced to Fight—Diplomatic Relations Between the Two Nations Formally and Completely Severed—Contestants Fight Like Demons.

War has broken out between Greece and Turkey. Bitter battles have been fought at Karyi, at Miloussa Pass and at Prevesa on the Gulf of Aeta. The most desperate battle was fought at Miloussa Pass, where 20,000 men fought more than thirty hours without food or sleep. Diplomatic relations between the two nations have been severed. Turkey insists that Greece has provoked the conflict by her aggressive attitude on the frontier of Macedonia. On the other hand, Greece insists that Turkey has been the aggressor. Crete, which was the original cause of the conflict, seems now to be overlooked.

human life before the quarrel is settled. Theoretically and under the precedents of international law none of the powers comprising the European concert is at liberty to intervene between the two combatants. The war is between themselves, and beyond the recent effort to prevent hostilities the so-called concert of powers has no right to intervene. Whether the nations will defer to this unwritten law, however, and keep hands off is a question which time alone can decide. Every one of the

The heavy dot on the southwest coast indicates the location of Prevesa, where the Turkish flotilla was situated which sank the Greek steamer Macedonia, and which were subsequently destroyed by the Greek warships. larger European powers is more or less directly interested in the affairs of the Levant. Greek subjects in Constantinople will probably remain under the protection of Mr. Terrell, the American minister. A dispatch to the London Chronicle from Athens says the Greeks have captured Menax after severe fighting. The Turkish losses were very heavy; the Greek comparatively light. The correspondent adds: "The Greek fleet has destroyed half the fortresses at Prevesa and silenced the guns. The Greeks have captured Ana and Miloussa along the Thessalian line. European powers have done nothing for several weeks, because they have hoped that Greece would be either financially ruined or soundly beaten by Turkey. If Turkey gets Larissa she will remain there until Greece evacuates Crete. It was Germany that urged Turkey to declare war."

Does Not Seek Conquest.

The correspondent of the Associated Press understands that Turkey has no idea of territorial conquest, because she is aware that the powers would not sanction an advance to Athens. The idea is that she will first attempt to capture Larissa, and then march on Trichala and Phanari. If these also are captured Turkey would be in a position to compel Greece to comply with the demands of the powers. The Turkish fleet, however, is still in the Dardanelles, where it is likely to remain as long as the Greeks continue active.

It is reported that the powers, so far from blockading Greek ports, will even allow Col. Vassos and his army to return to Greece if he decides to do so. In any case, the Greek fleet would be able to harass Turkey at many points, besides in addition keeping open the supply of provisions and munitions for the Greek army. The latest advices from Acta show that the vessels have been followed by three days of hot, fine weather, and the river Araksoos, which alone separates the two hill roads are improving in condition. It is at this point that the severest and deadliest fighting may be expected.

Another question of dominating influence is whether the Greeks can engineer an uprising in Macedonia and the Sporades islands. Russia and Germany are meanwhile content to see Greece and Turkey crippling each other for many years to come, so long as the other Balkan States are kept quiet.

What War Will Mean.
The war between Greece and Turkey means much more than appears in the newspaper dispatches, and, in the opinion of the wisest diplomats, it will end with the dismemberment of the Turkish empire. Russia has for years been trying to involve Turkey in hostilities in order that she might have an excuse to conquer and annex the sultan's dominions, and that purpose is so well known in Europe that the Christian powers have declined to interfere forcibly in Turkish affairs because they know that sooner or later such interference would involve them with Russia. The agents of the czar provoked the massacres of the Armenians with the hope and expectation that England, Germany and other nations would intervene. When they refused to do so the massacres ceased and Russian intrigue sought another field of action, which was found among the discontented Cretans. The fighting Greeks and Turks must make a battleground of their own provinces, which are notoriously disloyal, and are surrounded by nations whose sympathies are entirely with her enemies, and the sultan knows very well that the big paw of the Russian bear is likely to fall upon him at any moment.

ABDUL HAMID, SULTAN OF TURKEY.

TARIFF BILL BEING PUSHED IN SENATE COMMITTEE.

Both Field and Factory Are Making Themselves Heard in Its Support—Comment on the Measure—The Bailey-Bryan Feud Grows Apace.

Washington Political Gossip.

Special Washington correspondence: The Senate Financial Committee, which is considering the Dingley bill, finds the chief opposition to it coming from importers, and its chief support coming from farmers and workmen. "The factory hands have had their way," said one of the framers of the tariff bill, talking to your correspondent about that measure. "People who assume that the working men and women of the United States are not pleased with the Dingley bill show that they know very little about what has been happening in this country in the past few weeks and months. No class of citizens was so widely represented and so fully heard by individuals or representatives before the Ways and Means Committee as the working men, unless, perhaps, it may be the farmers. Those two classes of the community not only had their say, but had their way, and the free-traders who are throwing stones at the bill now in the attempt to create dissatisfaction with it among the voters of the country, show very poor judgment and are paying anything but a compliment to the intelligence of that class of citizens."

"Do you find any opposition to the bill now that it has been thoroughly digested by the public?" "Yes. Solemn protests are being filed with both committees by the importers and such other people as the importers can influence. And that is all. The importers, of course, are against the bill, for it will cut down their business and start the factories of this country at work. As a result they are fighting it by every process. Each separate interest is working its separate class of citizens. The tobacco importers, for instance, have sent out ready-made protests to the manufacturers of the country, and in this way are getting certain working men, who have not had an opportunity to personally examine the situation, to sign these formal protests. It is so apparent, however, that these people are being "worked" for the benefit of the importers, that the effect is not appreciable, and there is little prospect that the bill is going to be materially changed. Of course there will be minor changes, but the thoroughly protective features of the bill for which the working men in the manufacturing and fields have asked are going to be retained and even strengthened."

Warehouses Crowded with Imports.

Reports from New York show that the warehouses of that city are overflowing with foreign goods and importers still seeking for more storage capacity. It is by this process that the free trade Democrats hope to put not only many millions in their own pockets, but cripple the Dingley law and render it unpopular in the first months of its operation. By importing enormous quantities of foreign goods before the Dingley law goes into effect they expect to be able to reduce its earning capacity during the first year of its operations.

Japan and Silver.

Mr. Bryan, who has been here this week, admits that he and his silver associates were in great luck during the campaign period. Had the events of the five months since the election occurred in the five months preceding it, the collapse of their silver proposition would have been much more complete and crushing than it was. Japan, Russia and China, to which they constantly referred as the chief props in support of their silver theories, have all, since the election, announced their desertion of the silver standard. This leaves Mexico and the South American countries about the only ones now maintaining the standard of the white metal and several of these are making preparations to go to the gold standard as quickly as possible.

$100,000 a Day Gained.

One hundred thousand dollars a day is a neat sum to add to the earnings of the working people of one State, in six months' time. The Labor Bureau of Pennsylvania reports 100,000 more men employed in that State to-day than were so employed prior to the election of McKinley. This means $100,000 a day increased earnings by them, to say nothing of the increased wages paid to those who were employed, or working on short time. Multiply this by the number of States or by their proportionate populations and you get a practical demonstration of the improvement going on in business since the election of last November, which assured a protective tariff and increase in employment.

Our Heavy Loss.

Few people in the United States are aware of the fact that the carrying capacity of American vessels in the foreign trade of the United States—that is to say, the tonnage of our own vessels carrying our own imports and exports—is less in 1897 than it was in 1897. Such is, however, the fact. The value of the imports and exports of the United States has increased twenty-fold, and yet there is a slightly less aggregate of American tonnage in our foreign trade now than there was ninety years ago. Such comparisons as this strikingly convey to our minds what a fearful loss the nation suffers from the lack of doing its own carrying in its own ships, in its own foreign trade.

Protection to Shipping.

Gradually we excluded foreign ships

A GOOD DOG.

tive tonnage does and finally in 1817 we absolutely prohibited, by law, foreign vessels from engaging in any trade between American ports. The consequence of this more than century-old prohibitive protection of our domestic shipping is that we have the largest domestic water-borne commerce in the world, our freight charges for inland water-borne transportation are lower than anywhere else in the world, and the magnitude of our shipping is only equaled by its utility, its safety and its beauty. Why not do as well by our foreign shipping?

THE DINGLEY TARIFF.

Commentation on Republicans and Responses to Democratic Criticism.

The Democratic contemporaries that refer to the measure as a poorly digested piece of legislation do not point out that the Ways and Means Committee had been at work on the measure fully three months before the bill was reported. They forget, also, to state that during its consideration by that committee everybody sufficiently interested to seek a hearing on the subject was given a hearing by the committee, and that the long period from the time the committee began its work until it reported was one of practically continuous suggestion, comparison and discussion.—Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

Commenting on the Dingley bill, the full text of which has been published in Germany, a leading Berlin Journal says:

"If this bill becomes a law Europe, especially Germany, must feel it to be an intentional blow in the face. A large part of our exports are thereby prohibited and another part are rendered extremely difficult. Many of our industries will be forced to reorganize completely their system of production, raise the quality of their goods and specialize. This will require a period of experiments and delays. In the meanwhile much of the commerce and industry will be lost."

This is pitiful, indeed, from a German standpoint, although it does not much differ in horrors from what the enemies of the bill say about its effect here at home.—St. Louis Star.

What Professor Wilson has to say concerning the tariff is of interest to no one, except possibly, himself. His own district repudiated him in 1894, and at the same time the country repudiated the theories and imbecilities of the whole "cuckoo" school. Mr. Wilson is in a political graveyard, and he should observe the proprieties of the place by keeping silent.—Commercial Advertiser.

There is a general opinion among them that the duties on the raw material are unnecessarily high. But it must not be forgotten that tariff legislation, like most other legislation, is, after all, in the nature of a compromise of conflicting interests. The wool growers, or rather those of them for whom Judge Lawrence of Ohio is a mouthpiece, have asked for even higher duties than they have received.—Boston Journal.

It is believed that this schedule on the basis of the present imports will produce a revenue of $44,000,000. But revenue is by no means the only objective. The increase in the duties on raw and lowering of those on refined sugar is proposed for the specific purpose of encouraging the beet sugar industry in this country, and as a slap at the sugar trust. In spite of very strenuous attempts on the part of the trust to have the present rate retained, and a still more determined effort for the retention of ad valorem duties, under which very general fraud is said to have been practiced, the committee has pursued a course openly and avowedly hostile to the trust's interests.—Pioneer Press.

JAMAICA'S MONGOOSE TRIAL.

To Free the Island from Rats—The Pest Exterminated.

The introduction of the mongoose into Jamaica marks one of the standard instances of unexpected results following upon an attempt to artificialize the process of natural selection, and takes rank as a warning with the plague of rabbits and "chickies" in Australia. The mongoose was introduced from India, in 1872, in order to abate the pest of rats, which infested the sugar canes, and after performing the salutary duty of increased and multiplied to such an extent that not only the rats and mice but most of the living species of the island were threatened with extinction. Poultry suffered first, but the depredations extended to young pigs, kids, lambs, newly dropped calves, puppies and kittens. Game of all kinds was attacked, both living and in the egg. The marauder ate even fish, and made such a specialty of snakes, ground lizards, frogs, turtles and land crabs that many kinds of these entirely disappeared. Finally the mongoose developed a ravenous desire for bananas, pineapples, young corn, avocado pears, coconuts, and the sugar canes which it had been called in to protect, winding up its tastes with an appetite for salt meat.

The result was a wholesale disappearance of species. A few birds, like the ground dove, had the sense to shift their breeding places to the tops of the prickly cacti, where they were safe; but other animals, and the reptiles in particular, suffered so severely that many kinds were believed for years to be extinct. As a consequence, there arose yet another plague. Insects, like the ticks and "jiggers" (or chigors), which used to be kept down by the snakes, increased so overpoweringly that men and cattle were grievously infested. One could not walk without being covered with them.

The victory over the island remained with the tick and the mongoose, until, within the past year or two, a fresh stage set in. The mongoose suddenly began to be less plentiful, and it was found that he had fallen victim to the tick. The results of the diminution are shown in a gradual reappearance of other beasts, birds and reptiles. Among the snakes there is a very marked increase, and even the ground lizard, supposed to be quite extinct, has become common again. "The balance of life has begun to reassert itself and naturalists will watch with curiosity for a complete reorganization of the previous fauna. The renewed depredations of rats are hailed as an advent of salvation, and, odd as it may sound, the increase in numbers of the crocodile is taken as a happy omen. The Jamaicans are not likely to take further experiments in this interesting domain of natural history, but will adhere in future to such present evils as they have. For them, at any rate, it has been no "imaginary mongoose."—Academy.

The "Fast" Young Man.

In the Ladies' Home Journal Edward W. Bok writes of the "fast" man, and the duties of fathers to their daughters. In placing him where he belongs and warning them against him, Mr. Bok believes that if it is said of a man that "he has seen the yellow" in other words, is "fast," there is instantly a singular glamour about him in the eyes of young girls—girls as good and pure as were ever created. There is a scent of danger about such a man, and there are girls for whom danger, even of this sort, has a singular fascination. "The girls know that these men are bad. But so long as they respect me and treat me as a lady where the harm" says the young woman when she is called to account for her company. "As a matter of fact, the exact things which a man does to earn the reputation of being 'fast' are neither known nor dreamed of by the girls for whom such a reputation has this glamour. The trouble lies in the fact that our girls are brought up under a system, which hesitates to call a spade by its right name. We are afraid of offending or of shocking certain fancied sensibilities; whereas, in reality, we make the greater mistake of making diamonds out of spades and giving our girls a wrong idea of actual things."

It is all very well to be tender in our regard for the feelings of our girls, but there is a limit, a point at which discretion becomes a crime. And that point has been reached when girls are allowed to know and associate with such men all unconscious of the danger. When every mother or father, or person with whom the duty may rest, classes the "fast" man where he belongs, and portrays him in his true light, it will be better for our girls. It is high time that some of them should know that the man who leads any thing but a pure life buys, in every instance, that experience at a distinct sacrifice to himself and at a tremendous cost to the girl who marries him.

A Safe Risk.

A "species of insurance" is one of the British terms for discriminating duties. It is a pretty good term, too, and we should like to see a "species of insurance" for the protection of American shipping, put into effect without delay. It would be a first-class risk, covered by a good policy, with the premiums payable by foreigners.

What Labor Wants. Labor cares not a jot for the rate per cent of a tariff schedule. Labor is only interested in knowing that it is high enough to enable work to be done here. Make it so.

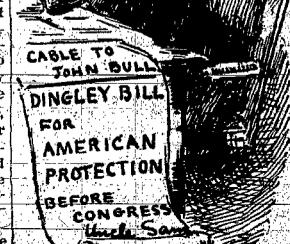

It's All Right.

The Dingley bill is all right. Its rates are not too high. In some cases they are too low and may fall to protect American industries.

Democracy has talked against a protective tariff before, but the age for fooling the people all of the time has passed. It took its departure on the Wheat only went up 4 1/2 cents per bushel Saturday. That's all. The men who raise wheat this year and properly preserve it will be able to do business at the old stand continuously.

Now that the legislature has done so much (?) we may expect to see the people loaded down with gold and silver shekels as a result of the work performed by the grand old reform party.
Whew!

The war between Turkey and Greece is on in full blast and while it is to be deplored, it will be well for the farmers of Wayne county to raise a big crop of wheat. It will sell and the silver dollar will have nothing to do with the market price.

The legislature of Nebraska, recently adjourned, may have done a great many things, but just what good it did is difficult to ascertain. The only redeeming feature is that the pops failed to carry out the pledges made to the people before election.

pledges of the platform.

The democrats in Congress, especially in the House, are now divided. This knocks Col. Watterson's statements in the head when he averred that the democratic party was never united except against the opposition. They are not even united in this respect now and yet they are the minority party in Congress.

It is no use for the democrats to make any further efforts to create dissension in the republican ranks. The House and Senate are a unit. The Dingley tariff bill will become a law and it will have been a law long enough before another presidential election to demonstrate whether or not the republican doctrine is right; and it is.

The President has appointed Hon.
Jno. T. Bressler of Wayne, government director of the U. P. railroad. This is a very creditable appointment and one that will be endorsed by the people generally. Mr. Bressler resides at Wayne, Neb., and was a leading member of the State Senate two years ago.
He is a cool, level-headed business man of good attainments and unblemished
character.—York Times.

Secretary Wilson is an American Secretary of Agriculture from a to izzard.
And the American farmer is to have an opportunity for his life. The secretary is going into the butter and egg business and proposes to manufacture all of the sugar used in the United States.
"Tama Jim" is the right man in the right place, and knows the American flag when he sees it. Wayne is in the center of the best beet growing country in the United States and if our good people let another two years go by without having secured a beet sugar factory it will be a shame and a disgrace to an enterprising and intelligent community. Capital is looking for investments in this line, and red hot indications should be offered.

Rambling Thoughts
BY NEMO.
(COPYRIGHTED.)

If I were to question each reader
there would be very diverse answers as to what constitutes the greatest power in the world. Electricity, steam, dynamite, volcanic eruptions, would all doubtless be prime favorites. But I name a greater than these.—AN IDEA.
Ideas are silent but their power no
rending flash of lightning ever equals.
To speak of material things even:—the house you inhabit, the clothes you wear,
the prepared food you eat, the monuments you admire, are nothing but ideas materialized. Far back in the ages some poor shivering savage added
a riven piece of wood to the front side of his cave as an extra-protection. Another of these forgotten benefactors found fire and conserved it by ideas that held it in subjection, so that it no longer destroyed, but warmed, cheered and lengthened his days. Then again one of these ancestors of ours thought how to add strength to his arm by means of a club at the end of it. And since ideas are orderly,—much as stairs
by which we climb—the higher one possible because the lower one has been passed, so these early discoverers are the actual precursors of the home comforts we enjoy and the machinery that puts puny man above all powers of nature organic or inorganic. The old methods may pass away, both of protecting ourselves from the inclemency of the weather and of entering into conflict with opposing forces but the new methods are simply built upon the old that have served their purpose and led to higher things.

But when we come to ideas that are not merely material but mental and spiritual, the power to turn and change and reform is even more remarkable and wonderful in its silence and its might. The government to which you owe allegiance, the peace and orderliness of life, the spiritual impulses that sway us are all the outcome of ideas that have taken their origin like some mighty stream in an obscure and hidden spot that leads on to growth as it flows.
Take the idea of God, for instance,— when the savage saw the power of the wind and the water and the seasons his idea was that they were living beings who could be pleased or irritated, and he named them variously and worshiped them. But gradually grew up the conception in the national mind, of a power over and above these material signs of power and that was worshiped as the God over all other Gods. Yet while the tribe or the nation remained stationary God was for it alone and not for other peoples. Each nation pre-empted to itself the right and control of the true God or Gods. For longages the thought of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man did not so much as dawn upon the human mind;—not even the Hebrew mind. But when fierce wars, followed by peaceful administrations broke down the walls of partition between nations, the idea gradually began to grow among thoughtful minds that it was possible for nations to cooperate with one another and this very tendency to co-operate paved the way for the prevalence of the All-Father idea that now entered the human mind.
And now is sweeping through the heart of the world, the feeling that God and his revelation is in some measure found among all peoples and all religions.

What further ideas are yet to be regarding the length, the breadth, the height of God's nature of mercy and tender interest, no man can yet tell. But this we know, the human mind is growing broader, and the human heart is warming into brotherliness in our day; we also know that you and I are living NOW, and it is ours to live, think, and act broadly as becometh the dawn of a new century.

Again look at our government. We strive here for the maximum of liberty and the minimum of restraint upon the individual, but it would be absolute foolishness to assert that the breadth of our constitution is all due to the clear vision and emancipated minds of the founders of the Republic. Rather let us acknowledge that the ideas they had were simply an orderly development from thoughts that had been stirring human hearts for ages under all sorts of diverse conditions;—back to Magna Charta, back to Alfred the Great, back to Charlemagne, back to Caesar, back to Homer, back to Moses and even to prehistoric imaginings and aspirations.

How thrilling to exercise the power of thought and our share in it. When first we come to realize that we have an identity of our own we eagerly seek out other peoples ideas and take them to ourselves as part of our mental and spiritual-outfit; but as years go by and our individuality becomes more decided, coyly at first ideas of our own force themselves upon us, based upon other ideas that we have learned. Let us never close our minds against these ideas originating within; for so long as humanity lasts and so long as each human differs from every other one new ideas have a right to life and there is no reason why your idea and mine
should not have in it prevailing power.
However, to know how ideas originate is to understand all the mysteries of our minds—and that understanding is not yet. We can merely say that they are the evidence of originality in a man;

and that as far as the ideas are new he is a creator. I repeat again, how thrilling to have a share in the world of ideas and to be weaving ideas of our own with broad and useful purpose.
What we call public opinion—a most mysterious and fantastic thing,—passes through its vagaries because of this operation of ideas. The strange swaying of the public mind are explicable
only by understanding how an idea operates from individual to individual with a power that will not be denied.

The Scriptures tell us that no man should think more highly of himself than he ought to think, from which we may certainly deduce that no man should think less of himself than he ought to think; and that he should so venerate himself as to associate his mind only with ideas that have the benefit and gain of the human race wrapped up in them.

CHAPTER III.—(Continued.)

There is a long silence as Eric Llewellyn ceases speaking, and the twilight deepens... CHAPTER IV.

A curious sense of mortification at his own mistaken theories respecting Miles O'Hara's sister, is the emotion which succeeds first one of astonished admiration in Eric Llewellyn's mind.

And before Major Llewellyn can utter a word of the coldly polite remonstrance which rises to his lips against disturbing Miss O'Hara's repose...

CHAPTER IV.

A curious sense of mortification at his own mistaken theories respecting Miles O'Hara's sister, is the emotion which succeeds first one of astonished admiration in Eric Llewellyn's mind.

"Yes, I will," said Miles, with a smile, "I will do my best to be a good man, and to be a good man is to be a good father."

"I didn't want to offend Muriel," said Miles, "but I thought she might like to see a diamond star pendant for Muriel."

Mary Magdalene by the Refined Sarcophagus.

Rev. Dr. Talmage Preaches the Week-Long Day Christ in Common Apparel—Glorious Thoughts Inspired by the Resurrection of Christ.

There are three or four things which the world and the church have not noticed in regard to the resurrection of Christ.

There is a man seven devils—devil of avarice, devil of pride, devil of hatred, devil of anger, devil of falsehood, devil of treachery, devil of impurity.

A Blessed Mistake.

Our Washington Pulpit. This sermon of Dr. Talmage will set its readers to thinking on new lines and will make this season of Easter more inspiring than ever.

Hope for Great Sinners.

Another thing which the church and the world have not noticed in regard to the resurrection of Christ is that he made his first post-mortem appearance to one who had been the seven devils Mary Magdalene.

There is a man seven devils—devil of avarice, devil of pride, devil of hatred, devil of anger, devil of falsehood, devil of treachery, devil of impurity.

Double-Twist Hand Shake.

The newest handshake is called the "double twist." It was born at the horse show, but it is such a complex performance that it is only just reaching perfection. The title is more than unattractive; it is ominous, and the uninitiated may well beware of it. A concert of action is as necessary to shake a successful and artistic "double twist" as it is to make a successful stage fall. This is the way the shake works: Two persons meet and clasp hands in the ordinary way. Then, still holding hands, there is a perceptible pause of a few seconds, and each is apparently inspired by a sudden impulse to make the greeting more cordial and less conventional. As though by an afterthought, the two draw each other closer and give each other's hands a hearty squeeze. A very perceptible interval between the clasp and shake is indispensable to the proper carrying out of the new greeting. That's where the trouble comes in. If one shaker understands this and the other doesn't, a bumped nose, bruised head, or twisted back is liable to follow the sudden jerk. But if both understand what might well be termed the glad hand, things are somewhat equitized, and nothing more or less than a healthy vibration of the whole body results.—New York Sun

A WOMAN'S BODY.

What Its Neglect Leads to. — Mrs. Chas. King's Experience.

A woman's body is the repository of the most delicate mechanism in the whole realm of creation, and yet most women will let it get out of order and keep out of order, just as if it were of no consequence. Their backs ache and heads throb and burn; they have wandering pains, now here and now there. They experience extreme lassitude, that don't-care and want-to-be-left-alone feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness and the blues, yet they will go about their work until they can scarcely stand on their poor swollen feet, and do nothing to help themselves.

These are the positive fore-runners of serious and womb complications, and unless given immediate attention will result in untold misery, if not death.

L Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will, beyond the question of a doubt, relieve all this trouble before it becomes serious, and it has cured many after their troubles had become chronic.

The Compound should be taken immediately upon the appearance of any of these symptoms above enumerated. It is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and stimulates the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the case of any sick woman as it did with Mrs. CHAS. KING, 1815 Rosewood St., Philadelphia, Pa., whose letter we attach:

"I write these few lines, thanking you for restoring my health. For twelve years I suffered with pains impossible to describe. I had bearing-down feelings, backache, burning sensation in my stomach, chills, headache, and always had black specks before my eyes. I was afraid to stay alone, for I sometimes had four and five fainting spells a day. I had several doctors and tried many patent medicines. Two years ago I was so bad that I had to go to bed and have a trained nurse. Through her, I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I never had anything give me the relief that it has. I have taken eight bottles, and am now enjoying the best of health again. I can truthfully say it has cured me."

POLITE INDIANA CAT.

Doffa Its Hat When It Meets Ladies on the Street.

Mr. Hooker Cline, a blacksmith of Greensburg, Ind., has a cat that is attracting considerable attention. Mr. Cline has taught it a number of tricks which it does to perfection. Besides the more ordinary feats of standing on its hind legs and putting out a paw to be shaken, it always makes a bow as a friendly greeting. The cat can dance, and goes through a waltz and twostep with the music. Often at a Sunday afternoon the cat is taken down town by its master for an airing. On these occasions it wears a stylish suit of clothes, walks in its rear legs and doffa its hat to the ladies. The cat, however, is not devoid of bad habits, having acquired the vices of smoking, chewing and drinking. It smokes cigars and delights in an occasional chew of tobacco. It drinks beer with the greatest relish and prefers lager to a glass of milk any time. The cat seems proud of its accomplishments and will not associate with others of its kind. The most peculiar thing, however, is that the cat will not catch mice or rats and turns away in disgust when they are brought to it. Pickles, the sourer the better, it eats greedily, and can get away with half a dozen at a time.

Oysters for Nothing.

Not long ago, at a Parisian restaurant, two customers were served with a dozen each of oysters. Just as the last oyster was about to disappear, one of the companions put his hand to his mouth with a cry of pain.

"Ah, I nearly broke my tooth," he cried. "See, it is a pearl from the shell, and a very fine one, too."

The other convict took it, admired it, but did not return it.

"It is mine," he said; "the oysters were ordered at my expense."

"Oh, pardon me, but a treasure belongs to the finder."

The dispute went on civilly but obstinately, and at last M. Potage, the proprietor, who was hovering near, and had seen the whole occurrence, was called up to determine the matter. He examined the pearl, admired it, and thought how it would please his wife, if handsomely mounted.

"Gentlemen, it shall be valued by my neighbor, the jeweler, and I will purchase it for the price he fixes."

"Oh, as for that," cried the finder, liberally, "take it if it pleases you. You shall serve us with another two dozen of oysters, and we are quits."

His companion agreed; the restaurateur was content; the oysters were eaten; and the customer departed. But when M. Potage took the jewel to be set, his neighbor, the jeweler, smiled. It was an imitation pearl that had never been in the shell of an oyster and was not worth a sou.

Wood Stronger than Steel.

According to some recent experiments, when the comparison is based on equality of weight instead of equality of size, several kinds of wood are actually stronger than steel. Comparing a bar of "struck steel" and bars of pine, ash and hemlock, of a given weight and length, the pine will sustain a weight half as great again; the ash more than twice as great, and the hemlock almost three times as great as weight as the steel. But, unfortunately, the wood in each case occupies ten or twelve times as much space as the metal does.

The Best Apple Sauce.

"And we had the best apple sauce," said a young girl when telling of a visit to a dear old aunt.

"Wherein did it differ from all other apple sauce?" the mother queried quizzically. For the mother thought she knew all there was to know about apple sauce.

"Well, I don't know," said the young person, "but it was the best, and she put the sugar in it before she cooked it, and it was so different from any other."

It so happened that the mother had occasion to make some apple sauce for tea, and not to be outdone by any aunt, however worthy she might be, the mother also put the sugar in before she cooked the apple, but the young person said it wasn't a bit like aunt's.

Now I happened to know just how this aunt really did make her apple sauce, and will tell you, besides giving you another way, too.

Peel tart apples and quarter them; if very large cut the quarters once in two. Have two quarts when peeled, and put them into a granite kettle; pour over them two cups of sugar and set on the back part of the range, when there is a fire in it. Let them cook slowly until perfectly clear. Cover them closely.

I didn't say anything about the water? No, and that is just where the difference comes in; the apples are cooked in their own juice, and this, combined with the sugar, makes a rich and most delicious syrup, which will almost melt when cold.

Don't be afraid of their burning to the kettle, though they will if put over the hot fire at first; it will not take long for enough juice to exude to cook them and they may be stirred until smooth or the pieces may be left whole. They must be cooked until they look clean and translucent.

For the other recipe, use red apples if you can. Cut up a couple of quarts of apples, or have a couple of quarts when they are cut. Do not pare them. Put them into a small stone jar, put over them two big cups of sugar and cover closely, place in the oven and let them remain for four hours at least. The oven should not be very hot. The apples will come out looking as red as rubies clear through, and tasting so delicious they would tempt even a non apple sauce lover to try them.—The Household.

Two Remarkable Statements from Anamosa, Iowa.

From the Euireka, Anamosa, Iowa.

A reporter for the Anamosa Euireka called upon Mr. S. Wm. Walton, the popular marble man, to inquire as to the success he had had in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, having known that Mr. Walton's wife had been ill for several years and for the last year had improved rapidly and was able to attend to her household duties. Mr. Walton made the following statement:

"My wife has been poor her health for years until recently, having suffered from a cancerous growth, which she had removed. The operation left her with shattered nerves, frequent headaches, her bowels constipated and her system generally run down. We expected her recovery would be very doubtful, and you remember you mentioned in the Euireka that she could not live. The physicians attended to her and she recovered from a course of medicines, until finally I sent for a package of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She began taking them and the result was phenomenal. The effects of the pills had been seen for the first time in ages. She began to regulate her bowels, the headache disappeared, and her system was generally toned up, and at present we would just as soon think of being without butter in the house as without the pills. She not only takes them, but I take them and all of my children take them.

"You know I travel a good deal looking up business, and when away from home I get on a hot chair or feet and find me being constipated, or from rheumatic pain, caused by riding in the country, I go to the nearest drug store and get a package of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I never find it necessary to buy another package before I feel as good as new. We have had as high as fourteen boxes of them in the house at one time. I have recommended them to a number of my friends, and I am sure that the pills have done as well for them as they do for me. Yes, we continue to keep them on hand for immediate use."

(Signed) S. Wm. WALTON. Sworn to before me and published in my presence this 8th day of April, 1900. C. M. BROWN, Justice of the Peace.

Another remarkable endorsement is the case of Mrs. C. E. Bell, wife of the popular Mr. C. E. Bell, of the well-known firm of North & Co., the leading hardware merchants of Jones County. Mrs. Bell is about 35 years old, and for the last twenty years of more has been terribly afflicted with all kinds of unbearable headache, continuous ache, but came on periodically, and when she had one of these spells her sufferings were intense.

She tried everything she saw advertised after exhausting the doctor's treatment. At last she heard of the result her husband had seen them highly advertised. She procured a box, and when she felt the symptoms of returning headache she began the use of the pills, and the result was phenomenal. Her headache is cured and she and her husband are loud in the praise of Pink Pills and keep them constantly on hand.

Mr. Bell says there is no question whatever but that these pills are the best thing for headache he has ever tried. Mrs. Bell says she could not think of being without them in the house under any circumstances. Mrs. Bell's case of headache was not known by the world, until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, having seen them highly advertised, she procured a box, and when she felt the symptoms of returning headache she began the use of the pills, and the result was phenomenal. Her headache is cured and she and her husband are loud in the praise of Pink Pills and keep them constantly on hand.

On the 31st day of April appeared before me, Walter F. Lake, to be personally known, and swears that the above statement was read to Mr. Bell, and he said the facts contained therein were correct.

(Signed) WALTER F. LAKE. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 18th day of April, 1900. C. M. BROWN, Justice of the Peace.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, paralytic neuralgia, vertigo, dizziness, sciatica, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills can be obtained from any druggist, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, if they are never sold in bulk or by the 100; by addressing Dr. Williams' Med. Co., Schenectady, N.Y.

A Foreigner Shocked.

Here is the terrible indictment which a Frenchman who recently visited America brings against our institutions in the inevitable book: "I stayed in one house in Chicago where a small box was pointed out to me as containing blacking and brushes, and with my own right hand did I burnish up my boots." It is really saddening to contemplate. He did not fare so well as Matthew Arnold did one night while lecturing in a small college town in the West. He stayed—"stopped" of course he called it—with the venerable college president, a man of learning, culture and refinement. When the guest retired he sat his boots outside the door as usual. It was not the custom in that democratic village, where every one blacked his own boots, but the host had traveled and knew the ways of the world; "with his own right hand" he polished the boots of his eminent guest, who went on his way unsuspecting. Large Movement of Settlers.

The first week in this month witnessed the largest movement of settlers to North Dakota known in the history of that state. It is doubtful if a larger number of actual settlers was ever before moved at one time to that territory than this. The Great Northern Railway took out of St. Paul on April 29. The train consisted of 152 cars of passengers, household goods, farm implements, etc., and was divided in five sections. The total number of men, women and children was 1,587. They came from various states, Indiana, Virginia and Missouri contributing more than any other. Many of them are known as Dunkers, or German Bayliff Brethren, and are the same as previously located in the Purple Mountain and Devil's Lake regions of North Dakota, where their brethren have been very successful. Many of the newcomers will locate on government land, of which millions of acres still remain open to settlements. The Dunkers are American born and English speaking, an industrious farming class, and have already proven themselves an important addition to the population of North Dakota. They have now along the Great Northern Railway no less than seventeen settlements in that state.

Why They Suffer.

"I am glad you were there, my boy," said Mrs. Stormington Barnes in exultation. "I'm glad you were there! I had the audience spellbound, didn't I?"

"Why—or—it seemed to me that they didn't applaud very much."

"That's just it. I had 'em so interested in what I was saying that they didn't even dare applaud for fear they'd miss some of it."—Washington Star.

To Be Measured.

"I shall have to take little Emerson downtown this afternoon," said Mrs. Bostling to her husband at the breakfast table.

"What for?"

CURE YOURSELF!

Use Big C for unnatural conditions or ulcerations, etc. Use Little C for general ailments, etc. Use Little C for general ailments, etc.

When an innocent man is jailed by mistake he prefers to come out the same way he went in. He may break jail and be caught and put back again. He'd rather have the door unlocked and walk out and stay out.

A man is a prisoner in the jail of disease; he has gone in by some door of carelessness or neglect or irregular living, and he must unlock this same door by careful, sensible habits if he wants to be a free, well man again.

If dyspepsia and indigestion or constipation is the way he got into disease, he has got to overcome just those troubles before he can get out.

The majority of diseases begin with some trouble of the digestive organs or of the liver, which prevents the supply of proper nourishment to the system. The best remedy for these troubles is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, because it gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to assimilate food and transform it into pure, nourishing blood, vitalized with an abundance of oxygen.

It acts directly upon the liver and gives it capacity to filter all the impurities out of the circulation. It builds up solid, muscular flesh and healthy nerve-force.

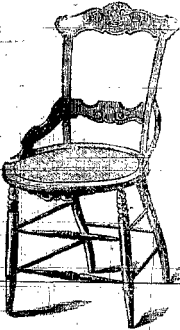

In obstinate constipation the "Discovery" should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the most natural and thoroughly scientific laxative ever devised. The Pellets regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One is a gentle laxative; two act as a mild cathartic.

"My wife had suffered for seven years with dyspepsia, sick headache and constipation," writes Mr. Alonzo D. Johnson of Huntington, Merrimack Co., N. H. "We tried many doctors and many kinds of medicine, but all were of no avail. I purchased six bottles of your Golden Medical Discovery, which together with the Pleasant Pellets has entirely restored my wife's health, and we cannot say enough in thanks to you for these valuable medicines."

CORRESPONDENCE.

BUSH UNION.

Miss Deila Cook was the guest of Mrs. Henry Bush over Sunday.

Rev. Miller preaches next Sunday at 2:00 o'clock. Sunday School at 3:00.

Mr. Summer of Wayne, is teaching the spring term of school in the Ahern district.

The merry buzz of the seeder and the cheerful whistle of the farmer are to be heard all around.

Chas Morris was on the sick list a few days last week, but was able to be at the Easter service at Carroll, and conducted it in a pleasing manner.

All are highly pleased with the manner in which Mr. Berry of Carroll, conducted a trial at the lyceum on April 10, and much valuable information was learned.

Missionary Young of Wayne present last Sunday and gave a very interesting talk to the Sunday school. The following officers were re-elected: Supt. W. L. Robinson; Assistant, Mr. Shay; Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Ida Martin.

CARROLL.

Mr. Davis visited at his old home in Dakota one day last week.

Doc Moore returned from Blackfords, Idaho, Wednesday afternoon.

W. L. Robinson has purchased a new top buggy and we suppose he will enjoy many a ride with his sweetheart.

We understand that Mr. Shafer will take possession of the Carroll House about May 1st.

Miss Lena Hitchcock is now getting up her spring and summer class. Anyone desiring musical education would do well to see her.

We are glad to say that Carroll has two competent dressmakers, Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Sterns. There is an opening for a good milliner.

Walt Hurburt is a very tall man and is somewhat taller now than usual, the cause being a 10 pound daughter, the first born. Three cheers for Walt.

This is beautiful weather.

Mr. Van Horn is in Norfolk this week.

Some new members were taken into the Workman lodge Saturday night.

Our merchants have been kept pretty busy this spring. Carroll has had its share of trade.

Mr. Shafer and family ate Easter dinner with his father-in-law, George Shirts of Winside.

Carroll has been without oil for some days, Mr. Osborn being unable to get here on account of the roads.

Charles Morris and wife and Miss Minnie Robinson, ate Easter dinner with B. W. Wineland and family.

Arthur Krebs left for Emmetsburg, Iowa, Monday, where he will spend the summer with his aunt and uncle.

The old town board met Tuesday night and settled up all accounts, and there is still some money in the hands of the treasurer.

The Baptist young people rendered a very appropriate program Easter Sabbath evening. J. R. Manning conducted the meeting and C. James was music leader. It was splendid.

The new board of trustees, consisting of James Baker, Joe Beldon, G. Wills, C. H. Wolf and H. Basford, has been sworn in. James Baker was chosen chairman at their first meeting. They meet again Friday night.

The Easter service was well attended and the programme was well executed under the management of Chas. Morris and W. L. Robinson. It being a Missionary day those having the Missionary wheels were nearly all filled.

There was a meeting of the shareholders Thursday evening for the purpose of forming an organization and to settle on a place to erect the creamery which will be erected at once. Good for Carroll and the enterprising citizens and farmers surrounding the town.

COLLEGE.

Many new students are coming in now.

Mr. Tompson who was in attendance last term, was a visitor Friday.

Messrs. Skiles and Graves, former students, were in the audience last Friday night.

Mr. Wilson has been dangerously ill the past week, but by skillful care is now recovering rapidly.

Mr. Muffin of Madison county, enrolled Tuesday. He will be in attendance the two following terms.

Miss Gertrude Culler, a former student who has been teaching north of town the past winter, visited chapel Monday.

O. L. Taylor, a graduate of the Scientific class of '86, who has been teaching with success in Montana the past year, visited College Friday.

The program of the Philo Literary Society was very well rendered last Friday evening and seemed to be enjoyed by the audience. Next Friday the Crescents give their program, and everyone is invited to attend.

HUNTER.

A. F. Chacon sold a load of fat cattle last week.

Tramps are getting a little too numerous throughout these parts.

If the festive fruit tree agent comes around you, shoot him on the spot.

The farmers of this vicinity are still sowing grain but have hopes now of getting done some time.

There is to be a dance at Joe Chacon's on Saturday evening under the management of Sloan Skiles, which insures it being a success.

B. Franklin Skiles returned to Knox county Saturday to resume teaching, after spending a week's vacation with his parents in this city.

Some parties in this vicinity shot a heron last week and broke its wing, and succeeded in capturing it alive. They presented it to Dr. Leisuring who will have it stuffed. The heron is a bird rarely seen in this locality and is quite a curiosity.

Matthew Fox, a young man who works for A. F. Chacon, had a lively experience last Saturday and one which might have resulted seriously. He was working four horses on a disc when they became unmanageable and ran away throwing him out backward and hurting him a bit, and one of the horses was also out quite badly.

Do you want a Corn Planter. I have them. Eli Jones.

Death of Maude Buskirk.

Miss Maude Buskirk, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buskirk, living north of town in Wayne county, died last Wednesday afternoon of congestion of the lungs, following an attack of measles. Miss Buskirk was one of the successful teachers of Wayne county and a young lady who was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her death brings a double load of affliction to the mother who was absent from home, having been called to Wisconsin last week to attend the funeral of her father. She was unable to reach home until last evening after the funeral which made the circumstances peculiarly sad to her.

The funeral took place yesterday from the Congregational church, Rev. J. W. White conducting the services, after which a large concourse of friends attended the burial of the remains in the family plot in the Wisner cemetery. The Chronicle voices the feelings of the entire community when it expresses heartfelt sympathy with the members of the sorrowing family in their deep bereavement.—Wisner Chronicle.

In the municipal elections held in Illinois on Tuesday the republicans repeated their victories of last fall.

If Carter H. Harrison had believed that free silver was the issue that elected him mayor of Chicago he would have made a different cabinet for himself. He put but one silverite on his board of official advisers, and wholly ignored Altgold, chief of the silverites in Illinois.—Sioux City Journal.

The populist papers may refer to Hon. Geo. D. Meiklejohn as "Gentleman George" all they please, but they will hardly deny the fact that he was gentleman enough to knock the "whey" out of the pope twice in succession in the Third Congressional District, and he isn't through with them yet.

It is believed by many that the new ballot law of Nebraska will prove a good thing. It requires that all names appearing on the ticket shall be printed under a designated party head and emblem, and that the voter in order to vote his party ticket, simply mark his cross in the circle at the head of the ticket. The first ticket on the ballot will be of the party casting the highest number of votes at the previous election.

President McKintley shook the patronage tree last week and Nebraska gathered three nice plums, as follows: Hon. John T. Bressler, of Wayne, as government director of the Union Pacific railroad, to succeed J. N. H. Patrick, whose term has expired; W. H. Michael, of Grand Island, as chief clerk of the state department under Secretary Sherman; ex-Congressman Geo. D. Meiklejohn as assistant secretary of war. Every one of these men will do their positions proud and the Eagle congratulates them on their appointments and believes no mistake has been made by the chief executive.—North Nebraska Eagle.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

The Docket Contains a Larger Number of Cases for the April Term Than Ever Before.

FIVE OF THEM CRIMINAL CASES.

Rash, the Murderer of his Wife and Babies, Gets a Change of Venue to Pierce County. The Trial to Take Place the Second Week in June. Cases Disposed of.

The April term of District Court convened Monday afternoon and a large number of the cases on the docket have been disposed of.

Last evening, Frank Fuller, attorney for defendant in the case of the State vs. C. K. Rash, filed a motion for a change of venue, and although there was little evidence introduced the motion was sustained by the court and the case taken to Pierce county where the trial will occur the second week in June. The HERALD is of the opinion that Rash would have received a fair trial in this county and a large amount of expense would have been saved to the county thereby.

The following cases have been continued: Wightman vs Lauman, Stone vs Bostrom, Hilder vs Hilder, Mittlestadt vs Kruger, Mittlestadt vs Eokman, County of Wayne vs Russell, Sohmill vs Erickson.

Eokhorth & Carlson vs Slaughter, judgment for plaintiff sum of $294.74.

Settled, Benton County Bank vs R. Tracey; Whitton vs Lewis.

Frank Kruger vs. Wayne National Bank, judgment for plaintiff in sum of $792.30.

In the case of the State of Nebraska vs. John Brant, a statutory rape case, the defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to a term of three years in penitentiary, the minimum sentence.

The case of the State vs Eugene Mueller, charged with shooting with intent to kill or wound, resulted in the conviction of the defendant, who was found guilty with intent to wound. Sentence has not yet been passed.

Henry Boyd vs Meller, verdict for defendant.

In the two cases of B. F. Feather vs. Wayne county the Judge decided in favor of the plaintiff. They were cases wherein two of the county commissioners, Harrigfield and Jacobs, who had appointed themselves overseers of the poor, had filed claims for caring for paupers and for mileage. Mr. Feather, justice of the peace, appealed the claims and the cases were decided in his favor, or rather in favor of the county, as the cases when in court became Wayne county vs. Harrigfield and Jacobs. The court further held that the commissioners have no right to appoint themselves overseers of the poor and receive compensation therefor, and that if they perform the work it must be gratuitously.
