A WORD TO FARMERS.

The farmers of Wayne county will do well to be careful in selecting their seed corn. Many experiments have lately been made with the '96 corn and it has been clearly demonstrated that it is absolutely unsafe to use it for seed. And even the utmost care is necessary in selecting seed from the crop of '95, as it has been found that fully one-third of it will not grow. As the acreage will be greatly reduced this year the farmers cannot be too particular in securing a full stand of corn and it can't be accomplished by using corn grown last year, besides there will be no time for replanting.

Terrible Distress Is Being Produced - Children Dying in the Streets - Babies Found Dead in the Arms of Exhausted Mothers.

Starvation Her Weapon.

New York: Private letters from the interior of Cuba report wholesale starvation. Some of the cases are especially heartrending. Children are dying in the streets...

All these have been compelled to leave their farms and move into the cities and fortified towns. In some of the latter the streets are covered with the original population. They have no money, and if they had there is not enough to supply all who need it.

Under Weyler's policy of concentration the whole 350,000 persons are suffering, and 100,000 are doomed to die for lack of food, which they could easily obtain if allowed to work.

Large Percentage of the Crop Winter-Killed.

TOLEDO, Ohio: C. A. King & Co.'s report on wheat issued April 24, is computed from 1,495 replies from grain dealers and millers, covering every county in the six principal wheat states. The season is two or three weeks later than a year ago, when it was a trifle early. Very few complaints of insect damage."

Illinois looks the worst. The prospect there now is only a quarter of an average crop. About half there say it will be a total failure. Two-thirds of the acreage sown was winter-killed.

Indiana promises only a trifle over half a crop. Conditions lately are worse than two weeks ago. About one-third was winter-killed.

Misouri also looks bad. It promises less than two-thirds of an average. About a third of the acreage is being plowed up. Ohio has the best outlook. It now promises nearly an average crop. About 10 per cent. of the acreage was winter-killed.

Michigan looks now like nearly an average crop, but needs growing weather. Some acreage has been winter-killed, but it is early to tell definitely.

The members are Senors Marcos Garcia of Sancho Spiritus, Sportuno of Trinidad and Fernando de Cienfuegos. They sought to carry to the rebel chieftain a message that if he would end the war Spain would grant the most perfect autonomy to Cuba under the safe-guard guarantee.

Gomez sent word that they could not enter his camp. His sole exchange for peace was liberty and independence. The World correspondents saw Gen. Weyler on the deck of a steamer at Genas last Monday night, ordering soldiers to clear the pier of the crowd waiting to take the boat.

The soldiers clubbed the people with guns, but the crowd did not move fast enough to suit the general. Sensational Allegations as to the Hidden Murder in Kansas.

WICHITA, Kan.: About three years ago two cousins, Charles and Jesse Hibben of Paul's Valley, I. T., together with a cook named George Jones, left that place and went to Arkansas, their purpose being to trade horses for cattle. The Hibbens never returned, and Jones was suspected as their murderer.

Jones insisted that he was innocent, and on the scaffold declared that Jesse Hibben was a party to the murder, if not the principal. Jesse's bones, it was supposed, had been found in the ashes where the murderers had cremated their victims to cover up the crime.

It now develops that Jesse Hibben is alive and well, and is himself serving a term for violation of the federal laws against selling whisky to the Indians, he having been sent from the Fort Smith court. He has been going under an assumed name and manifested great uneasiness when recognized. It is said he will be charged with the murder when he is released.

KANSAS CITY: Interest in the trial of John Kennedy, the reputed leader in the Blue Cut train robbery, was quickened Thursday by the appearance of a relative of the James brothers.

Following the testimony of James Flynn, who confesses to complicity in the robberies, Miss Maggie Ralston was called. She is a sister-in-law of Frank James.

She testified that a few days after the last robbery Kennedy told her he had $82,000. The last robbery was committed on Christmas eve. The day after Christmas, Miss Ralston said, she met Kennedy in Independence, Mo., and he said: "We got 'em again."

Kennedy got into the young woman's carriage. During their ride he described the robbery minutely. During this testimony Kennedy's attitude was defiant and he frequently declared that the witness lied.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Ex-State Treasurer Joseph Bartley Has Been Bound Over to the District Court to Answer to the Charge of Embezzlement.

Bartley Bound Over. The trial of ex-State Treasurer Joseph Bartley began at Lincoln on the 16th inst. in county court on a warrant charging him with embezzlement of $500,000. Mr. Bartley waived hearing and was bound over to the May term of the district court in the sum of $50,000, which was furnished. Before court opened attorneys for the ex-treasurer visited Attorney General Smyth and asked that a motion for a continuance be not contested. The attorney general declined to grant the request, and was sustained by the county attorney in his refusal. It is now thought the trial, which promises to become protracted, cannot be delayed longer than May 8.

NEBRASKA CROP CONDITIONS

Spring Wheat About All Sown-Plowing for Corn Begun. The Nebraska weather and crop bureau, in its last weekly bulletin, says: The temperature has averaged about 3 degrees below the normal in the eastern sections and 1 degree below the normal in the western sections. Light frost covered on several days, but no damage was done to crops of fruit. The rainfall has everywhere been below the normal. Spring wheat is about all sown, and generally the acreage is reported as larger than usual. The early sown pieces are up and looking nice. Out seeding, is about completed in the southeastern counties and generally well advanced. The acreage will probably be less than last year. Rye wheat has improved, but many fields in the southeastern portion of the state will be plowed up. The winter wheat in the south central portion of the state is in a better condition. Tame grasses are starting well, and in many sections cattle get most of their living in the pastures. Plowing for corn is just commencing.

Chalmers Damages to the City.

A number of damage suits have been filed against the city of Kearney recently. During the boom there a few years ago many miles of wooden levee were laid, and in some cases it is now becoming defective. In three weeks three different persons claim to have fallen and sustained injuries on the walk because of these defects, and two have commenced suit against the city for damages. The city authorities are not disposed to settle these claims without a struggle, and will, if necessary, carry them to the supreme court before paying a cent.

First Shipment of '08 Corn.

The first shipment of new corn of any amount is now being made from Tokamah, Mitten, Nesbit & Mitten, merchants, who have been buying all winter, have sold 13,000 bushels, which they are shelling and shipping. They receive 10c cents per bushel for it. The corn is being shipped to Coffman to feed cattle owned by South Omaha parties. The corn comes out in fair shape, only a portion of the center of the crib being soft.

Large Acreage of Small Grain.

The acreage of small grain in and around Greeley promises to be the largest in the history of that county and is now practically all in. The crop of corn also promises to exceed in acreage that of any previous year. The spring has been very backward, but notwithstanding that, farmers appear encouraged and say that the ground is in fine condition and the season promises well.

Letter Gets Him Into Trouble.

B. C. Humphrey of Fairbury wrote a letter to the Rock Island officials at Chicago, charging their yardmaster with some serious offenses. Upon investigation the charges proved to be groundless, and now Humphrey is called upon to answer to the charge of criminal libel. Owing to some obscure expressions in the letter the postal department may take a hand in the matter.

Bicycle Road Race at Kearney.

The first bicycle road race of the season was run over the cotton mill course at Kearney Friday afternoon. There were fourteen entries and Frank Crick of North Platte won in 18:7, beating all previous records five seconds, and got first prize for both time and place. The track was quite rough in places, or better time would have been made.

Loses a Leg.

Dr. J. N. Stevens of Pawnee City went to Chillicothe, Mo., the other day in response to a telegram announcing that a brother had met with an accident, having a leg cut off while on duty as a railroad conductor. He had been with the road train yesterday.

Ten Wives and Two Dozen Children.

Jim Dick, an Omaha Indian, is one of the living curiosities of DeCATUR. He has twenty-three children in existence and has had ten wives. The oldest now is 73 years old, lives five miles from town, and walks in and back almost every day.

Heavy Losses from Hog Cholera.

The owners of herds of hogs in the vicinity of David City report large losses during the past week by cholera. One person reports sixty, another 100, and losses of smaller numbers are reported by farmers in all directions.

Honeycomb in Jail.

John Scott was arrested at Fairbury charged with wife beating, his wife filing the complaint. They had been married only two weeks, and the court gave him time enough in jail to use up the balance of his honeymoon.

Carroll Co-operative Creamery.

The co-operative creamery for Carroll is now an assured thing, the required number of shares having been secured. The erection of the plant will be commenced at once.

Injured in a Runaway.

Frank Underwood and wife were injured in a runaway at Nebraska City this other day. The horse took fright suddenly and, turning sharply, threw both occupants of the buggy violently to the ground. Mrs. Underwood suffered two broken ribs and a number of severe bruises.

Dies from a Fall from a Horse.

Henry Siegert, a young farmer in the vicinity of Winer, fell from his horse the other day and received internal injuries from which he has since died.

To Test Lincoln's New Charter.

The validity of the new Lincoln charter is to be tested in the courts. A petition has been filed by Frank A. Graham, mayor, Richard S. Grimes and Harvey B. Vaill, members of the excise board, setting forth that Addison S. Tibbets, Fred A. Miller and John H. McClay have usurped the office and authority of the fire and police commission without having been elected to the same. The petition asks that the said defendants be declared not entitled to the said offices, nor to act as members of the fire and police board, but that they be ousted therefrom, and that the said Frank A. Graham, Richard S. Grimes and Harvey B. Vaill be allowed to constitute the board.

Farmer Assaults a Collector.

An exciting affray occurred at the farm of Sylvester Andrew, one mile southeast of Friend the other day. An execution had been issued against Andrew and George T. Hainer, a local collector, deputized by the sheriff. Hainer went to Andrew's farm with three assistants with him. Andrew discovered Hainer while in the act of driving some swine in the yard and assaulted him with a ball bat, striking him three or four times over the head, and nearly severing one of his ears. When the assistants rallied to Hainer's rescue, a gun pointed in their direction caused them to retreat in good order. Hainer, while considerably wounded, is not seriously injured. Andrew gave himself up to the authorities.

Thousand Acres for Hemp.

M. Jerome proprietor of the hemp factory at Columbus, has a force of fourteen men plowing and they are turning over a large amount of ground each day. He will put in over 1,000 acres of hemp this season. He has seen enough of last year's hemp to keep the mill running until the 1st of July. This industry is fast becoming an important factor in DeCATUR county, and Jerome, who has been engaged in the business for many years, says the soil there is peculiarly adapted to this article. It is a fact that hemp will flourish like a green bay tree on soil where other crops cannot do so well.

Poisoned by Eating Gar Pike.

An itinerant fish peddler sold out a wagonload of fresh fish at Stella the other day. He had a large gar pike tied to the back of his wagon for an advertisement. He wanted to give it to a small boy to take home, but the boy refused. However, when he sold all his fish he left the gar lying on the ground. The same boy picked it up and carried it home. His mother, Mrs. George, cooked it for supper and during the night she and her six children were taken deathly sick. A physician was summoned and the sufferers are recovering.

Shortage in Postoffice.

The United States postoffice inspector was at Greeley Center last week and proceeded to check up the accounts of the retiring postmaster, T. H. Connell, and found him something over $2,300 short in his account. The postmaster then took charge of the office and C. C. McPherson was sworn in as temporary postmaster, until the commission of W. E. Morgan arrives. Connell has deeded his property to his bondsmen.

Make a Success of Oatons.

John Sheldon of North Loup, has again put a crop of oatons this season. Though he disposed of his crop last year, the market reached its tide, having received but 25 and 35 cents per bushel, he realized from them about $125 per acre. They have since sold for 80 cents per bushel and, had he not sold too early, he might have realized $250 per acre just as easily.

Carroll Ordinance at Kearney.

At the last meeting of the Kearney city council the Carroll ordinance was unanimously passed and the chief of police was instructed to see that it was rigidly enforced. The whistle on the waterworks station will be blown at 9 o'clock from now until the 1st of August, and at 8 o'clock from the 1st of August to the 1st of March.

Thomas McCormick Disappears.

On the day he left his home in the morning, as usual, ostensibly to go to work, but has not been seen since, and it is feared that he has been foully dealt with. His wife is much concerned as to his disappearance.

Shelby Has Electric Lights.

A large crowd of farmers and townpeople witnessed the turning on of the electric lights for the first time at Shelby the other night. The incandescent lights in the business houses and the arc lights illuminated Main Street very well. Wires have not yet been extended to residences.

Prairie Fire in Garfield County.

A terrible prairie fire raged north of Burwell last week and when the wind rose to almost a gale it spread over the surrounding country at a rapid rate, burning almost to the town, being stopped only by the Loup River. Considerable grain and nearly all of the wild fruit will be destroyed.

A thief entered a Bradshaw house and stole eighteen pounds of bacon and took the gasoline stove along to cook it with.

W. C. Lindley of Careeso says that from the thirty sows which he started in with one year ago, he has sold $1,180 worth of hogs, killed enough for meat for his family one year and has forty-one sows left.

C. Letour of Pawnee has in his possession a curiosity in the way of a calf, which was born blind. The eyes are in the front of the head, and which is to be repaired. It is a light gray substance. At last accounts it was alive and doing nicely.

SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAW-MAKERS.

A Week's Proceedings in the Halls of Congress—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—An Impartial Resume of the Business.

The National Solons. The Senate passed the Indian appropriation bill Monday. It is substantially the same as it passed the House, and on occasion little division save on the amendment opening the Uncompahgre Indian reservation. Resolutions of inquiry were agreed to asking the Secretary of State as to the operation of the reciprocity treaties made under the McKinley act. Mr. Vest introduced his resolution declaring illegal the recent order of the Secretary of the Treasury relative to imports arriving after April 1. After the executive session the Senate adjourned as a mark of respect to Representative Muliken, deceased.

Senator Morgan's resolution declaring that a state of war exists between Cuba was discussed briefly in the Senate Tuesday and then went over for a week. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed without amendment. A resolution by Mr. Hoar was agreed to asking the Secretary of State for comprehensive information as to the machinery of government of all foreign nations with which we have diplomatic relations, the taxes or excises and methods of collection; imports and exports; method of aiding the merchant marine; discrimination against American merchant vessels; public indebtedness, etc. Another resolution by Mr. Cullum asked the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the effect of the present internal revenue tax on the honest production of distilled spirits, to what extent illicit distillation had occurred, and all further information that will aid in protecting the Government against frauds. The resolution went over after a brief discussion. The House was not in session.

Senator Mason, of Illinois, made his maiden speech in the Senate Wednesday and signified it by some breezy criticism on the rules of the Senate. It was such a variation from the prosy debate of recent days that the Senator was accorded close attention and twice received the hearty applause of crowded galleries. Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, replied briefly, pointing out that the other branch of Congress was more open to

TURKS ARE DISMAYED

CONTINUED SUCCESS OF THE GREEK TROOPS REPORTED.

Turkish Battery at Ligeria Destroyed and Turks Driven from Nezeros and Rapsari—Greek Fleet Destroys Vast Quantities of Ottoman Stores.

Edhem Pasha Recalled.
Crown Prince Constantine has stirred Athens to a high pitch of enthusiasm over his reports to King George of Greek successes everywhere in Thessaly. The Hellenic troops, under the crown prince, have destroyed the Turkish battery at Ligeria. The Moslems have retired from Nezeros and Rapsari and are appalled by the destruction of all their stores at Katerina and Lithochorion. From Salonica comes the news that after a fierce battle the Greeks occupied Karyia, a small fortified town near Miloussa Pass. Osman Pasha has succeeded Edhem Pasha as commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies. Edhem Pasha has been recalled by the sultan and the hero of Plevna will try to rally the Moslem troops, who, it is conceded, even at Constantinople, have been outfought at all points by the Hellenes. At Constantinople the situation is regarded as serious, and the recall of Edhem Pasha is taken to be a rebuke to that general for the manner in which Crown Prince Constantine has apparently out-generaled him in all moves made on the Thessalian border since the first skirmish at Miloussa Pass. Ahmed Hifzi Pasha

PRINCE CONSTANTINE, COMMANDER OF THE GREEK FORCES.

Prince Constantine, the heir apparent to the Grecian throne, is winning the warmest applause from the Grecian people by his gallant conduct in the present war. He is in command of the main army and is threatening the Turks with all sorts of disaster. Constantine was thirty years old, Grecian born, and is an ardent follower of the religion of the country. When he became a boy, in 1880 he married Princess Sophia of Russia, who is very patriotic and greatly beloved by the people. Constantine and his wife are very democratic. Princess Sophia goes about Athens unattended, and is distinguished in no way, outwardly, from any other lady in the town. Prince Constantine conducts himself with much freedom from ostentation, and if the Greeks had their way these two with their ancient names would be king and queen. Constantine went to school in Europe and had the benefit of the best military training that could be had in the big war camps of the continent.

More Troops Forwarded.

Seventy-two new battalions of Turkish soldiers—50,400 men—have been mustered in from the army reserves and prepared for instant service. Greece, too, has summoned all her landwehr, or militia, and will send them to Thessaly at once. Heavy fighting continues all along the border from Artia to Platamona. Everywhere the Greeks appear to have been victorious or else to have held their ground against the Turkish attacks.

Santi Quaranta has been reduced by the Greek squadron, which abandoned the bombardment of Prevesa and went to the former place, opening fire at once on the Turkish blockhouse there.

Later the squadron returned to Corfu, having on board eighty Christian refugees taken from Santi Quaranta, which was destroyed and the Turkish stores there burned. The citadel of Prevesa is reported to have withstood the furious bombardment of the Greek ships, but it is said the town is almost wholly destroyed. The Eastern Greek fleet, after bombarding Katerina on the Gulf of Salonica and reducing the town, landed a detachment and captured an immense quantity of stores, including provisions and ammunition destined for the use of Edhem Pasha's armies. Greek troops have forced the inhabitants to abandon Kafia and Kosnizade.

son, two fortified Turkish towns. The people fled in terror when the cannonading began and were forced to leave.

their possessions for the victorious Greeks. Terrific fighting is reported from Artia, where the Turks suffered repulses constantly while attempting to cross the bridge into the town. The Moslems were met at each onslaught by rifle volleys and were forced back in disorder. Again and again, under cover of heavy cannon fire, they tried to cross the bridge, but could proceed no farther than the center. Finally, in one assault, the Turkish commander was killed, and his men fell back in confusion, and made no more attempts to carry the bridge. Then the Turkish cannon were silenced. Athens advices say that the excitement there over the Greek successes everywhere is intense, and reports from Volo say that even women there are arming themselves to do battle with the Turks.

FRUIT INJURED BY FROST.

Reports Indicate that the Crop Has Suffered Severely.
Unseasonably cold weather during the last three days has created the gravest fears among the fruit growers in many sections of the country. Through Illinois and Indiana and the southern part of Wisconsin the cold has been especially severe, and the reports are anything but reassuring. The records of the weather department show that Tuesday's temperature was 14 degrees below the average for April, and that last Monday was 18 degrees colder than the normal.

C. E. Linnay, superintendent of the weather and crop service report for the Chicago district, sent out a bulletin which takes a cheerful look at the situation.

He is inclined to believe that the fruit buds in Illinois are not far enough advanced to be hurt by the cold weather.

WEEK OF CRUEL WAR.

END OF THE TROUBLE BELIEVED TO BE IN SIGHT.

Britain Takes the Initiative in Intervention—The Powers—Asks Their Cooperation—Favorable Answers Given by Germany, France and Italy.

Hellenic Spirits Drooping.
It is a week since the outbreak of war between Greece and Turkey was announced. And it was precisely a week after the campaign was formally opened before anything decisive was accomplished on either side.

The victory of the Turks at Mati and the subsequent evacuation of Tynaos and Larissa by the Greeks is probably the beginning of the end. The evacuation of Larissa leaves an open road for the Turkish invasion for nearly half the distance to Athens. This does not mean that the march to Athens will be an easy affair or speedily accomplished. The Greeks fight desperately in retreat, and when they have lost one fight they are ready to fight again. Under these circumstances—the reserves reaching the front and the whole population aroused and armed—even the Turkish victory at Larissa will simply mean more hard fighting along the new line of defense which Prince Constantine's forces have taken up.

An Athen correspondent believes that the situation is not yet desperate for Greece. A brave people that will fight as they have fought during the past week are unconquerable in a mountainous country like the Greek peninsula, except as the result of a long campaign with overwhelming forces. If Edhem Pasha's army follows the retreating Greeks to the

GHAZI OSMAN PASHA.

Pharsalia line of defense they will be still farther from their base of supplies and in a country whose every inhabitant is a deadly enemy.

But what is more likely to happen now than anything else is the intervention of the great powers. No doubt these powers have more respect for the Greeks than they had a week ago, and it has not been a part of their plan from the beginning to allow either Turkey or Greece to win a decisive victory. It is difficult from the tangle of conflicting telegrams to understand the exact position of affairs. Following the Greek defeat at Larissa, London opinion is almost unanimous that the end is in sight, and this view is probably shared by the powers, as they are already moving to intervene.

It is believed that intervention will first take the form of a suggestion of armistice, to which the combatants would no doubt agree. It is stated that the British foreign office has sent an identical letter to each of the powers asking for their cooperation, and that Germany, France and Italy have already returned favorable answers. As a condition, however, Germany insists that Greece must promise obedience in the future to any mandate from the powers.

News from the front is of a character unfavorable to the Greeks, and as a result a gloomy feeling is prevalent at Athens. The reverses of the last few days, say dispatches from the Hellenic capital, have caused a growing feeling favorable to the cessation of hostilities.

When the news of the fall of Larissa and the retreat of the Greeks was received in Athens a council of the ministry was hastily called, and as a result it is asserted a demand was made upon King George to make an immediate change in the command of the troops. The order to retreat, issued by Prince Constantine, is held to have been inexcusable, and his purely defensive tactics are blamed for the loss of Larissa. There is a revolution in popular feeling toward the royal family, and sensational news may soon come from Athens.

Late London advices say that reluctant admissions are now made at Athens regarding the evacuation of Larissa and Tynaos. The retreat, it is said, resembled a rout in some particulars, it being so hasty that a number of guns are said to have been abandoned. During the retreat Edhem Pasha is reported to have ordered repeated charges by the Turks, resulting in several instances in breaking through the Hellenic lines.

From Constantinople comes the news of concession to Bulgaria, which may quiet the malcontents there. The Sultan is reported to have promised that country three more herets when the war is over. Edhem Pasha has been partly consoling for being superseded by Osman. The Sultan has softened the blow by conferring upon him high decorations. The commanders of the six divisions of the Turkish army now at the front have received similar honors.

News of Minor Note.

AN OLD LOG CABIN.

the Humble Home in Which Lincoln First Saw the Light.

Twelve years ago, the cabin in which Lincoln was born was torn down, and the logs were hauled to an adjoining farm, and used in the construction of another house. The old farm had practically been abandoned, and nearly all the people in the neighborhood had quite forgotten, a second time within a decade since the death of Lincoln, that he was born on the "Lincoln Spring Farm," as the place has always been called. The Lincoln birthplace is fifty-four miles southeast of Louisville. It can be reached from Louisville by going to Elizabethtown, in Hardin County, a distance of forty-two miles, and then taking another road from Elizabethtown to Hodgenville, a ride of twelve miles. The Lincoln Spring Farm is three miles from this quaint old town, on Nolla's Creek, directly on the public road leading from Hodgenville to Buffalo, a village six miles to the east. It is a pleasant twenty minutes' drive over a good dirt road, through a poor, but interesting, country.

The original Lincoln cabin had been torn down and the materials had been moved away, as stated, by a man named Tom Davenport, who used the logs in his own house.

Mr. A. W. Dennett, a New York gentleman, not long ago bought the Davenport house, recovered the logs, and, after much difficulty, restored the cabin exactly as it was originally, using the very same timbers, door, window, and frames. It occupies the former site, and is in much the same condition as it was when the Lincolns left it. The cabin is eighteen feet long, sixteen feet wide, and about twelve feet high, counting from the floor to the ridge-pole. There is only one door and one window—the latter an opening twenty inches square. A large, open fireplace, built in the most primitive way, occupies nearly the whole of one end of the cabin. The chimney is made of small logs, placed together just as log houses are built. Inside of it, flat stones placed on the ground made the hearth, and wide flat stones placed against the logs kept the fire within bounds and protected the wooden chimney. The inside, from the hearthstones to the top of the chimney, was thickly daubed with clay. The chimney reaches only half way to the roof of the house, and is rounded off with small sticks. This simple fireplace furnished most of the light, all of the heat, and the sole means for cooking the meals for the family. The cabin did not have even a loft, or second story, as have most cabins. It was built by Thomas Lincoln, father of the President, some time about 1804 or 1806, and was entirely constructed with an ax and saw, the simple tools of the pioneers. The clapboard roof was anchored down by small logs, laid lengthwise on top of the rows of oak boards. There were no nails or hardware. The door-hinges were of wood, and the paneled windows had an inside board-shutter, held in place by raw-hide thongs. There were benches and mud between the logs, and the puncheon floor was pegged down. It is probable that after Abraham Lincoln's grandfather was killed by the Indians at Long Run Meeting house, in Jefferson County, Ky., the family went further into the forest, and took up a section of land in La Rue, then part of Hardin County. Later, to better his fortune, Thomas Lincoln left this farm on Nolla's Creek, and settled on Knob Creek, a dozen miles from Hodgenville, and from there he went to Indiana, and later to Illinois.—St. Nicholas.

Still the Same.

Father (to son, who had just been in a bicycle race and lost)—So you didn't win that race, after all?
Son—No, father.
Father—Let me see; one of your pedals worked loose, didn't it?
Son—Yes.
Father—And your saddle came unscrewed?
Son—Yes.
Father—And your tire came off, didn't it?
Son—Ye-e-e-s.
Father—And you had a cramp in your leg?
Son—Ye-e-e-s.
Father—And that other fellow fouted you, didn't he?
Son—Why-e-r—yes. How did you know all this?
Father—Well, you see, when I was young it used to be just the same, and I was wondering whether things had altered since then.—Answers.

Leave Their Wives at Home.

It is a strict rule with the big transatlantic steamship companies that the wife of the Captain shall not travel in his ship. The company strongly prohibits its Captains from taking their wives aboard with them. The supposition is that, if anything should happen to the ship the Captain, instead of attending to his public duty, would devote his attention mainly to the safety of his wife. So that if the wife of a Captain wants to go abroad she must take passage in some other vessel. This rule also holds in many of the freight lines.

FANCIES OF FASHION.

GREAT VARIETY IN THE STYLES FOR THIS SEASON.

A Skillful Combination of Brilliant Hues—Plaid is to Be Very Popular This Season—Correct Styles in Jackets and Capes.

Dame Fashion's Decrees. New York correspondence.

ESPISTE all that has been said about the garishness of the currently fashionable colors, examination of the dresses into which these brilliant hues go discloses that they are so skillfully combined with softening shades as to leave them entirely free from such criticism. To be sure, if some careless woman rushes into purple, scarlet or bright green, she will likely enough devise a dress that will make the observer's eye ache to the back of her head, but occasional examples of bad taste are always on hand and never yet condemned a tasteful fashion. Very strong color effects are even now risked only for the boudoir by women of good taste, and while outdoors the bright colorings are plentiful enough good management kills all danger of loudness.

A fine example of this treatment of a bright color came in a dress of bright billiard green crepe cloth. Its texture was so soft, it was so closely covered with tiny crepe wrinkles that did not seem to ridge the surface, that the color took on a thousand lights and made the green harmonize with any shade of green put with it, and with any other color, too, as a leaf does on a rose-tree. The skirt was made over black satin, the breadths rounded short at waist, and hem to show the satin. A deep facing of plaid silk reached the knees on the under side of the skirt, the plaid showing dark blue, dark green, and lines of scarlet and light green, a tiny streak of daffodil yellow striping here and there as inconspicuously as a streak of sunshine on a lily pad. One bodice for this skirt was plaid silk crossed in a lot of folds over the front, and fastened under a big full roll from shoulder to belt. The belt was wide, fitted, and from black satin. A green cloth bolero, that fastened also at the side with a series of straps between which the frill of the silk bodice showed, was for wear over this silk bodice. The trick can be done, too, when the variety of colors is not great, and when the dominant one is very brilliant. Scarlet was the color of the dress goods of the costume pictured in the initial. The skirt was serge, and had a row of applique black braiding at the hem. The bodice was celste taffeta, was tucked between the bretelles, gathered at the waist and held by a belt of scarlet foulard. The bretelles of scarlet silk were trimmed with applique braiding, and a full ruching of black chiffon finished the neck. Even when worn with a scarlet hat of turban shape trimmed with black tips, this dress will not seem too striking or too high-colored, so effective is a little black in softening the brilliancy of reds. The proportion of black is much greater than this in many cases, and women who are fond of quiet effects will be pretty sure to use more. They need not, however, for scarlet is to be so abundant that a dress like that just described will not seem assertive. With greens, too, the softening trimmings are often of considerable quantity, and the second picture is an illustration of this point, as it shows a jacket bodice of almond-green taffeta, freely trimmed with applied black velvet. The cut of this handsome bodice, however, was the source of its originality. The vest was plain green silk, and sailor collar, revers and the oddly slashed basque were of the same material. The collar matched the basque, a small button trimming each tab and a lace collar showing from beneath. As yet there is no reason to doubt the truth of last winter's prophecy that forested high collars and neck swathings for summer dresses.

The plaids now offered are an attractive lot, and because of the current standards in coloring they may be much more freely used than is the case in some seasons. Plaids, of course, stand for brilliancy, for, plentiful as the quieter sorts may be, there are sure to be many of the striking sort. But the hideous ones that fairly give out an echo are happily few on the counters, and are even fewer on women. It was a very pretty combination of green, red and blue that in light weight cloth gave the original of the artist's third contribution here. A piping of green cloth finished the skirt at the hem, and a sleeveless green cloth jacket was worn outside the simple gathered bodice. The medall collar was in one with the jacket, which was fastened with large gilt buttons, and was confined at the waist by a handsome belt composed of gilt links. While a liking for elaborations of all sorts prevails in dresses made from most spring and summer stuffs, plaids escape this fancy, being considered, apparently, sufficiently removed from plainness, to make highly wrought effects unnecessary.

A favorite resort of those who are a bit fearful of overdoing bright colors is to mask them with a sober but semi-transparent material. This method of making is highly fashionable, as by it the two chief characteristics of the season—bright colors and elaborateness—can be combined in one dress. Besides this point, it has much to recommend it. Beauty of result is strongly on its side, and then it affords a fine chance for her who is ingenious as well as of sound judgment in dress matters. From the standpoint of economy there is, perhaps, less to say in its favor. True, there is a host of beautiful transparent fabrics that are stylish and inexpensive, but what of saving is scored up by these is all wiped out by the outlay necessary for the silken lining. In these circumstances it is some comfort to remember that new styles are very seldom favorable to economy, and after taking all possible solace from this fact the next thing is to consider how to do the trick inexpensively. There are many models that tend toward this end, and a very pretty one is chosen for the fourth illustration. Its skirt was black grenadine over salmon silk lining, three small ruffles of the silk trimming it near the foot. Shirting on the back and front of the bodice supplied a yoke effect, and from this hung a plating of salmon chiffon. The sleeves were gathered to the elbows, ending in chiffon frills, salmon chiffon and black chiffon were combined in the collar, and very handsome figured salmon ribbon gave the belt and the bows at the shoulders that saved the outlines there from bareness. Tight sleeves may be coming; indeed, they can be seen not infrequently, but seldom without some elaboration at the shoulders to take the place of the departed puffs.

The Trans-Mississippi Exposition is now an assured fact, and work has begun on the grounds and buildings.

The people of Greece have set an example for the civilized people of the world. And everybody admires the little nation.

That the Turk is a fighter must be acknowledged, yet there are few people who would not have rejoiced with Greece in victory.

South Dakota butter now occupies first place being quoted 1/2 cent higher than Elgin butter which for years has been the standard of the United States.
Nebraska joins South Dakota and sometime morning the citizens of that state will take the cake.

Says the Chicago Times-Herald: "Ignatus Donnelly says that the Mississippi floods are caused by sun spots.
We feel confident that Mr. Donnelly will discover, if he goes into this matter
more thoroughly, that the whole trouble has been brought about by the gold conspirators who perpetrated the crime of '73."

It may seem selfish to hope to prosper
by the misfortunes of others, but Uncle Sam is not responsible for the war in the old country, yet his sturdy farmers stand ready to lend a helping hand by supplying the warring elements with all the food products they may need and at the highest market price.
We're loaded with products.

Almost to a man the Greeks are leaving this country for the fatherland to join the army of Greece in the struggle against the fiendish Turk for right and justice. It is a sample of patriotism which the people of Uncle Sam's domain admire as they, too, have inherited from their forefathers the spirit of patriotism which burns brightly in the heart of every loyal American.

T. L. Ackerman of Stanton, has been appointed Deputy U. S. Marshal by Marshal Thummell for the district of North Nebraska. Mr. Ackerman was one of the leading candidates for the position of Marshal and the selection made by Mr. Thummell is one that will greatly please the republicans in this section. Mr. Ackerman is in every way qualified to fill the responsible position.

Prof. Lawrence Bruner of the University of Nebraska, for some time a special agent of the agricultural department and a well known ornithologist and entomologist, sailed from New York Sunday, for the Argentine Republic to investigate the best means for ex-terminating the grasshoppers which have proven a great pest to the farmers there. He goes in the interest of a large syndicate.

The famine which is spreading in Cuba as a result of Weyler's policy of driving the people from the rural districts into the cities, is terrible. Had they been left alone they could easily have provided means of subsistence, but as it is, children are dying in their mothers' arms, of starvation. Weyler's course should be condemned by the whole civilized world. Uncle Sam has a duty to perform.

The inauguration ceremonies of the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition were held at Omaha last Thursday. The corner-stone of the grand arch which is to mark the main entrance to the ground was laid by Grand-master Phelps of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Nebraska. The ceremonies were preceded by an imposing parade of civic, commercial and military bodies and secret societies.

Senator Mason of Illinois, in his maiden speech in the Senate, struck a responsive chord in the heart of a large majority of the people of the United States. He is fighting for a change in the rules of the Senate as will destroy,
 or at least impair the ability of the minority to obstruct legislation by purely dilatory tactics. The people are in no mood to be trifled with. If business they want transacted and they want it quick, yet nevertheless conservative.

The outlook for the farmers of Wayne county this year grows brighter with each succeeding day. The small grain crop is in and many fields have already taken on a beautiful hue of green. The husbandman is busy plowing and will soon begin planting corn, and in another thirty days the crops for this season will be planted. When the harvest season arrives, then will the good people of Wayne county feel that the era of prosperity has set in. It is bound to come.

Rambling Thoughts
BY NEMO.
(COPYRIGHTED.)

"How nice to have a flag over every school-house; it is such an ornament!"
 says one.

"What a good idea to decorate the graves of the dead; it makes the burial ground look so bright and pretty!" says
 another.

What a homely old scare-crow Horace Greeley's statue makes; the ill-fitting clothes and the great pudgy face, surmounted by a bald-head, are a blotch on Greeley Square!" says a third. And so on and so forth, until the heart grows weary at the large proportion of people who gaze only at the outer aspect of flags, public ceremonies and monuments. We need more of a national imagination, so as to look back of scenic effects and look deeper than the surface;
 then we are ready to be thrilled by the real things and the real sufferings typified in waving bunting or silent bronze.

Imagination blessedly broadens and deepens life; without it the past becomes almost silent to us. With it, the great are our companions and great deeds our native atmosphere. This inner sense of appreciation transforms the plain contents of a church into an altar for an eternal destiny. By this power the least memory of the city of Washington is that of rooms and buildings; the greatest, that of a place where mental conflicts, fierce and furious,
 have been fought out with mental weapons, sharpened and serviceable,—where national destinies have been made or marred by words, light as air and heavy with fate.

We Americans ought to make it a rule never to visit a monument without either before or after reading up the facts of the life portrayed before us.
 We shall then quickly free ourselves
 from the nonsensical elements of hero-worship, which impart to the hero strangely favorable circumstances and a condition of being with nobler possibilities than ours; and arrive at the conclusion that our heroes of the battle field and of Congress, of the pulpit or of commerce, are men who have been in every way tried like we are, disappointed often, cheered occasionally, determined ever. This same view of them will be the best view for gaining most of good from their careers.

Take as an example the celebration in New York this week. General Grant's tomb is practically complete; these days will witness its dedication and transference to the care of the city of New York. Thousands of soldiery and hundreds of thousands of citizens will be gathered near it for a few hours;
 martial music and impassioned speeches will thrill the hearers; and then the great crowds will melt away, each individual returning to his pleasures or burdens, leaving the tomb to its motionless vigil over the dead. Scenically the tomb is unique. It will always be one of the notable features of the city, raised in forcible shape where neither houses or commerce can ever hide it
 from view either by water or by land;
 and unnumbered living and those yet
 to live will come to it to gaze and pass on. Some will see it in less of grandeur than is possessed by the mausoleum of Hadrian in Rome, after which it seems undoubtedly to have been modelled;
 others will admire its stern, square simplicity standing sturdily alone and unmoved amid the restlessness of the tides before it and the turmoil of the city behind it; a few will think of Grant as a real person and see in his tomb the spirit of the man who endured hard duties quietly, met disappointments quietly, enjoyed triumphs quietly. It seems to me that all this pageantry and pride is the very last thing Grant himself would have approved; the thought of being idly stared at by sight-seers
 would have disquieted him.

The encouragement he gives to us ordinary individuals is great at every point. He was not a brilliant man but he was a forceful, persistent one, who just tried to do right and if unsuccessful just tried again. The thing that seemed a duty to him he would follow through thick and thin with the relentlessness of Death. His greatness consisted in doing one thing well, and that the thing he was best fitted to do.

It is no derogation from his usefulness as a model for the average life to say that he ceased to be really great as soon as the rumble of battle had died down. At that moment he rose to the zenith of magnanimity, when he declared "Let there be peace!" when he returned the horses to the vanquished
 officers because they would need them
 for plowing; and when he forbade either music or signs of exultation in the Northern Army while the arms of the Confederates were being stacked. From that time on, he was a very ordinary man; a poor judge of human nature
 while President; a hasty man in connection with one or two colonizing schemes, San Domingo, especially; a poor business man in associating himself even in name with a hair-brained gambling plan.

Yet like the light at eventide after a day of storm, which seems to call back

all the possible glories of the hours
 that are past, his sublimity of character re-asserted itself when the doom of death had been pronounced upon him.
 His last three months were grand in the extreme. Not even the long struggle of wounded Garfield, with Death could equal Grant's fortitude. Fully conscious that the angel whose belies-he had followed in the time of war, had now come for him; painfully aware of the shattered fortune he seemed forced to leave; nervously sensitive to the ignominious effect brought upon his life by those whom he had trusted in his unbusiness like way, he set his will to wrest victory from defeat. On—on —on while the sands of life were ebbing; on—on—on—even after his mind reeled under the strain, he pushed the completion of his biography, waving
 Death aside until the work was done.

Do not let us place him among the gods. He was not of their kind. We shall lose his helpfulness if we raise him above the level of the throng. He was a plain man, like thousands of others
 among us, who just bided his time,
 mourned a little over disappointments,
 (How much like ourselves!) never hesi-tated to acknowledge a mistaken plan, (How unlike us smaller men!) and was not deaf when the moment came that summoned him to definite, unswerving action.

The largest republican majority in the Omaha election was given for Edwards, the candidate for city treasurer.
 He was 1,900 ahead. The average republican majority turns out to be up to the old standard, notwithstanding the fusion of all the opposing forces, as it was about a thousand on general city officers. It is apparent, therefore, that the republicans have held their own at Omaha, notwithstanding the fact that the fusionists carried Douglas county last fall for the majority of their candidates.

The upset of the pops in South-Omaha will stop a good deal of fusion foolishness in that bailiwick, and the "free silver republicans" who thought they smelled a great "change" and wanted to get into the band wagon in time for a chance at the redistribution of the offices, will soon come home with their tails hanging down behind them after the fashion of those sheep of little Bo Peep. The redemption of Nebraska may be only a question of a few months.

The republicans of Nebraska, especially those of Northeast Nebraska, feel highly complimented on the appointment of Hon. Jno. T. Bressler of Wayne, as Government Director of the Union Pacific Railroad. No better selection could have been made and the Tribune
 rejoices with his many friends.—Ni-brara Tribune.

A YEAR OF SUCCESSFUL WORK.
Although the year closing March 1, 1897, has been marked by continued
 financial stringency, yet it has pleased God to give his abundant blessing to the missionary work of the American Sunday School Union.

Many new friends have contributed to its support, so that $2,464.80 more have been received from living givers than in the year preceding; and there has been an increase of $601.20 from funds invested by direction of the donors. But $13,469.50 less have been received from legacies, so that as the net result there has been a reduction in the receipts of the Society of $10,343.50. At the beginning of the fiscal year, however, in view of a possible reduction in receipts, the Board reduced the expenditures of the Society as a matter of precaution.

THE WORK ACCOMPLISHED.
There have been in the field 127 men under commission, of whom 86 were at work during the whole year and 41
 during a portion of it. Many of them have from 5 to 30 counties for their field. As one result of their labors, 1,603 new Sunday-schools were organized, with 61,600 teachers and scholars; 387 were re-organized; aid was given for the first time to 1,473 existing schools, with 113,976 teachers and scholars; and 5,858 visits were made to schools previously reported, with 326,168 teachers and scholars.

Six hundred and sixty-nine schools were aided also by gifts of literature
 from the home office in Philadelphia.

In addition to this large number of schools set to work and aided, the missionaries have been active in evangelistic labors, with the most successful results. It has often been impossible to obtain an exact statement of these results, only "numerous conversions" being mentioned, and only partial reports in many cases being given. And yet, excluding all such indefinite statements, the very large number of 8,533 hopeful conversions has been reported as resulting from the work of these energetic and faithful men. They also made 94,873 visits to families for religious instruction and prayer, and distributed 6,542 Bibles and 7,870 Testaments. The organization of churches has followed in 109 cases.

It is because of such results as these that this Society still retains its strong hold upon the good people of our country.

B. B. Young of Wayne, represents this Society in north-east Nebraska.

Vagaries of Russian Juries.
The most incredible stories are told of Russian juries. Thus the foreman of a jury declared he would not send a poor fellow to prison because it happened to be his (the jurymen's) birthday. Another jury had agreed upon a verdict of guilty, when the church bells began to ring. They revised their verdict because a holiday had begun. A burglar was allowed to go free because the man whom he had robbed had refused to lend him money. This, in the opinion of the jury, was a direct incentive to crime.

A Wonderful Statement

From Mrs. McGillis to Mrs. Pinkham

I think it my duty, dear Mrs. Pinkham, to tell you what your wonderful Compound has done for me.

I was dreadfully ill—the doctors said they could cure me but failed to do so.

I gave up in despair and took to my bed. I had dreadful pains in my heart, fainting spells, sparks before my eyes—and sometimes I would get so blind, I could not see for several minutes.

I could not stand very long without feeling sick and vomiting. I could not breathe a long breath without screaming, my heart pained so.

I also had female weakness, inflammation of ovaries, painful menstruation, displacement of the womb, itching of the external parts, and ulceration of the womb. I have had all these complaints.

The pains I had to stand were something dreadful. My husband told me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, which I did, and after taking it for a while, was cured. No other kind of medicine for me as long as you make Compound. I hope every woman who suffers will take your Compound and be cured.—Mrs. J. S. MCGILLIS, 113 Kilburn Avenue, Rockford, Ill.

Natives Gradually Returning to Their Kraals, and Quieting Down.

The pacification of Rhodesia is a lengthy business. In the Matopos the settlement requires repeated big palavers between Lord Grey, Sir Richard Martin, Mr. Rhodes, and the Matabele chiefs, but the natives are gradually returning to their kraals and usual domestic life.

BANKO, M'ILMO-ELECT.

Elsewhere, however, the rebels are more disposed to fight than to submit. There are still five other important strongholds to capture in various parts of the country. The scarcity of supplies checks much of the rebel resistance, but also hampers the British movements.

Grit publishes this week a photograph of Langaba, the Chief Induna at Mangwe. He was one of the chiefs who joined the present revolt. He was taken prisoner, and is now in Bulawayo. The young man standing at his side in the photograph is Daniel, who was secretary to Lobengula. He is in jail now, undergoing a long term of imprisonment for rebellion. Banko, a sketch of whom is also published in this issue, is half-brother to the late M'Ilmo, the Matabele "god" or priest. He was chosen as the M'Ilmo's successor when the latter was shot by Mr. Burnham, and is now a prisoner.

A New Point in Insurance.

The ingenuity of some insurance companies in devising ways and means for evading responsibility is equaled by nothing on earth. A claim was recently made against an accident insurance company for indemnity by a physician who had met with an injury in a very peculiar fashion. He had been ill as the result of an accident received some time previous, but was partly recovered. While driving he was seized with a spasm and great exhaustion overcame him. He stepped his horse and proceeded to administer a hypodermic injection—some powerful stimulant to which he resorted in such emergencies. Just as he was about to insert the needle his horse started. The needle was driven deep into the flesh, inflicting a severe and painful injury. He sued for indemnity, he being disabled for twenty-two weeks. The judge dismissed the complaint on the ground that the injury was not caused through external violent and accidental means in the intent and purpose of the policy. This decision will strike the average thinking individual as somewhat peculiar. If a mishap, due to the sudden starting of a horse, is not an accident, it might be interesting to know how the word could be defined.

Folly consists in the drawing of false conclusions from just principles, by which it is distinguished from madness, which draws just conclusions from false principles.

LITERARY LITTLEBITS

Max Pemberton's new novel, "Christine of the Hills," a Dalmatian story, has appeared in London.

Mr. Gladstone's forthcoming reply to the Pope in reference to the question of Anglican orders is expected to take the form of a magazine article.

Olga Nethersole, the actress, has turned her attention to writing, and will give advice of a practical nature to "The Girl Who Aspires to Eloquence." Her contribution will appear in the Ladies' Home Journal.

Aconagua has again been "scaled," this time by an Englishman named Vines, a member of the Fitzgerald expedition. E. A. Fitzgerald, the leader, after six desperate attempts to reach the summit, was again compelled to turn back upon reaching an altitude of 20,000 feet. The results of this interesting expedition will make one of the most important books of travel to appear during the present year.

Alphonse Daudet is working steadily at a novel, of which the title is to be "Soutien de Famille." M. Daudet expects that the book will be finished early in the summer. The name of Alphonse Daudet is at present being cried in every corner of Paris by the camels or street hawkers. The occasion is the issue of a popular edition of his works in parts costing only 2 sous each. The first part, which has just appeared, gives the opening chapters of "Jack."

Roberts Brothers will shortly issue a new book by Olive Schreiner, the author of "The Story of an African Farm," a book intended to teach England such a lesson as "The Century of Dishonor," by Helen Hunt Jackson, pointed for America. Trooper Peter Halket, a brutal soldier, standing upon an African hill, finds himself face to face with a Jew from Palestine, who asks him searching questions regarding the rights of the conquered natives. The story is said to have all the power of the first book of this gifted writer, who is among the few who has not written too much since her first success.

Mrs. Stowe's children object to the proposition to erect a statue of their mother. The Rev. Charles E. Stowe recently said: "If anything is to be done, why could not money be raised to found a library at Hampton, Elske, or Tuskegee? Such a memorial would, I know, be quite in keeping with my mother's taste, and far more useful to man and honoring to God than some brazen monstrosity scowling the unfortunate beholder out of countenance from its ugly granite pedestal. The ordinary bronze statue ought to be regarded as a terrible penalty, to be inflicted only on great offenders."

Very Glad of It.

A good story of a military officer is told. It appears that in the crush at the diplomatic reception at the White House he was pushed violently against a formidable-looking woman. She glared at him for an instant, and then said in a menacing way: "Be good enough to give me more room."

"Pardon-me, madam, but I cannot," answered the officer.

Whereupon the lady detached a long pin from her bodice and plunged it into the arm of the man. He braced himself and did not wince, and she drove it in again. After repeated attacks she remarked:

"I don't believe you can help it, after all, or you wouldn't allow yourself to be pricked in this way."

"I told you, I believe that I couldn't help myself," answered the officer. Later in the evening, when the officer was in the east room, the same woman made her way through the crowd and spoke to her enemy.

"It was a diamond pin, and I have lost it."

The officer bowed very low, and said: "Allow me to say, madam, that I am very glad of it."—New York Times.

The Skating Girl in Germany.

No one enjoys the skating season more than the unemancipated girl of Germany. The only time when she is ever alone with a young man is during those joyous hours when with crossed arms they skim together over the ice on some woodland lake or river. Hence German girls are devoted to the ice, and early learn to execute the most difficult and intricate figures on their skates. Her escort is always delightful, though he never skates half so well as she. If he is an officer, his trousers are too tight and his figure too stiff to make him a graceful object. But, then, the wonder of having him all to herself for one whole afternoon elates the maid, and she goes home with shining eyes and glowing cheek and a thumping heart, eager for a repetition of the experience.

A Typewriter Register.

A novel improvement in typewriting machines has recently been patented by Robert Haines in Victoria, Australia. It consists of a small apparatus fastened to any typewriter, which automatically counts the number of words or letters written on the machine, so that operators who get paid according to the number of words or pages do not need to count their work after they get through. The apparatus can be adjusted to furnish either the number of words, letters or lines.

Engene Field's Bust.

A bust of Eugene Field has been unveiled at Chicago, which is said to look as much like Field as it does anybody else. Let us hear no more of the crudeness of Chicago art.—Kansas City Journal.

Tennyson and His Pipes.

During the past season much has been written about Ed Hsu, Chang's method of smoking. The peculiarity in this habit of one nearer and dearer to us—Tennyson—is decidedly unique. A writer says of the great poet: "The common clay pipe was his choice. His den was at the top of the house. When he sat down to work in the morning a huge tobacco-jar, big enough for an ancestral urn, was at his feet, together with a box full of white clay pipes. Filling one of these, he smoked until it was empty, broke it in twain, and threw the fragments into another box prepared for their reception. Then he pulled out a fresh pipe, filled it, smoked it, and destroyed it as before. He would not smoke a pipe the second time."

An Appeal for Assistance.

The man who is charitable to himself will listen to the mute appeal for assistance made by his stomach, or his liver, in the shape of dyspeptic humors and uneasy sensations in the regions of the gland that secretes his bile. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may do you good—try it, as the case may be—what you require. Hasten to use it if you are troubled with heartburn, wind in the stomach, or note that your skin or the whites of your eyes are taking a yellow hue.

Golden Opportunities.

How lamentable that we should go through the world so misunderstanding one another; letting slip golden opportunities for glimpses into men's better nature, which might have drawn the veil of charity over faults which, in our blindness, seemed to us without a virtue to balance them. Angels turn sorrowing away from this soul-blindness of ours, and tend to laugh over the final fall of despair which our helping hand might at such moments have averted. Well for 's all it is that he who is Himself without sin, more merciful than man, sees gathering tears in eyes that we deem hard and dry.

Alabastine.

Chicago Inter-Ocean, Feb. 23: Readers of the Inter Ocean have often seen Alabastine prominently mentioned in these columns during many years past. The main counting room on the first floor of the building was neatly and beautifully decorated with Alabastine, both walls and ceiling, seven years ago, and has been nicely cleaned five times, though badly smoked each year.

The same room has been handsomely re-decorated in freehand. Alabastine muddling in the delicate tints and other Alabastine work, and the effect is very beautiful, even surpassing the original work of seven years ago.

The original Alabastine (the hot-water ready-made wall coatings throughout the whole of the United States for sixteen years.

Alabastine is the original except being in form adapted for use in cold water. Alabastine is a cement that forms permanent coats, admits of recoating from time to time without removing its old coats, and hardens with age.

Terms of an Oath.

The following curious oath was, until recently, administered in all the courts of the Isle of Man: "By this Book, and by the holy contents thereof, and by the wonderful works that God has miraculously wrought in Heaven above and in the earth beneath in six days and seven nights, I do swear that I will, without respect of favor or friendship, love or gain, consanguinity or affinity, envy or malice, execute the laws of this side and between partly as indifferently as the herring's backbone doth lie in the middle of the fish."

One of the most remarkable echoes in the world is that produced by the suspension bridge across the Menai Strait. The sound of a blow with a hammer on one of the main piers is returned in succession from each of the cross beams which support the roadway. In addition to which the sound is many times repeated between the water and the roadway, at the rate of twenty-eight times in five seconds.

Can Do Without Water.

Many animals never drink, but absorb sufficient moisture from their tissues. From the air, or from their foods. A parrot is said to have lived fifty-two years without a drop of water.—It is often said that rabbits in a wild state never drink. The fact is that they feed on the herbage when it is heavy with dew, and therefore practically drink when eating. In the autumn and winter, when sheep are feeding on turnips, they require little or no water.

Out into the Darkness.

What mother would turn her young daughter alone unprotected into the stormy night? Yet many loving mothers allow their daughters, who are just coming into the time of womanhood, to proceed without proper care and advice all unprotected and alone into the storm of this critical period.

Young women at this time often suffer from irregularity and weakness which may afterwards develop into dangerous disease and fill their whole lives with wretchedness.

It is a mother's duty not to pass over such matters in silence, but to promote her daughter's womanly health and regularity by every reasonable means.

These delicate ailments are easily overcome in their early stages by judicious self-treatment without any need of the obnoxious examinations which doctors uniformly insist upon. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for all diseases of the feminine organism.

It restores perfect health and regularity to the special functions and vital vigor to the nerve-centres. It is the only medicine of its kind devised for this one purpose by an educated, experienced physician.

During nearly 30 years as chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce has acquired an enviable reputation. His medicines are everywhere recognized as standard remedies. His "Golden Medical Discoveries" alternated with the "Favorite Prescription" constitutes a thorough and scientific course of treatment for weak and impoverished conditions of the blood.

Headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

Word and congratulations come from Prof. Fling that our High School has been placed on the accredited list of the State University. This gives us a standing among the schools of the state that we should appreciate.

Final examinations have begun and so far the work of the teachers is showing up well. The fact is becoming more apparent every day that the teachers are doing exceptionally strong work. There is not a harder working corps of teachers in the state.

The class in didactics is now spending some time each day visiting the different rooms of the school. They seem to enjoy this work and it will surely be a benefit to them, to know how other teachers teach, when they go out to take up the work for themselves.

Mr. Tower spent considerable time in the schools this week familiarizing himself with the work of the teachers. This is as it should be. The members of the board ought to be thoroughly acquainted with what is being done; only in this way can they perform their duty as the people expect them to.

It begins to sound like the end of the year. Commencement programs have been ordered, the graduates are practicing their orations, the little folks are drilling and all are busy getting ready for the closing event of the year. The 10th grade will give a public program during commencement week.

COLLEGE.

A penmanship class was organized last week.

James Ahern was a visitor at the College Friday evening.

A didactic class was organized at 7:20 last week under Prof. Pile.

Mr. Walker of Howells, a former student, was a visitor Thursday.

The Crescents gave a fine program Friday night; much enjoyed by all.

A social will be given by the two Literary societies next Saturday evening. All students and ex-students invited.

W. E. Miller, a graduate of the teachers' class of '96, has returned to school. He will graduate in the Scientific course this year.

Rev. Theobald conducted chapel exercises Friday morning, giving the students a witty talk on the deeply felt subject "Spring" which was well enjoyed by the them.

Next Friday the Philo's give their program; all being invited to attend. It is earnestly requested that all will be seated in the hall at 8 o'clock sharp, as the doors will then be locked. This much needed step is taken on account of the disturbance made by those entering during the exercises.

MT. HOPE.

Miss Gertie Culler was a Sunday visitor at J. M. Lloyd's.

Alex Jeffrey of Strahan precinct, is very ill with consumption.

Geo. Hofeldt had a fine horse badly cut in a wire fence last Thursday.

We thought the measles were going to give us the go by, but they are here. Mr. Benning and family were Sunday visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fred Hefti.

Some low-lived specimens of humanity entered the Mt. Hope school house Saturday night, built a fire in the stove and then knocked down the pipe. The school room has to be cleaned before school can be held.

FAIRVIEW.

W. H. Root is on the sick list. Mrs. Peterson's sister has returned to Iowa.

The farmers are hustling. Most of the seeding is done. Miss Allie Gifford of Beldon spent Sunday at Mr. Haines'.

June Durham expects to start for Idaho in about two weeks. Charley Jones of Carroll is putting up a fish house for Jas. Stevens. Hurrah for Jim!

There will be preaching at the school house next Sunday at 3:00 p. m. Sunday School every Sunday at 2:00.

Last week W. H. Root sold a fine bunch of fat cattle in his yard at $4.15. They averaged 1249 pounds and were bought by Cook & Lamber, of Wakarusa field.

The commissioners have been out to inspect our condemned bridge. We hope they will hurry up with the pile driver for when the pasture is closed up this road will be impassable.

Clara Haines and Della Black took a trip on horseback last Saturday. They went ten miles to visit an uncle. Their horse got stuck in the mud several times, and they found several roads fenced up, but managed to get through. They came back Sunday and report a jolly time.

The Turks have driven the armies of Greece back twenty-five miles into their own territory, from Larissa to Pharsala, Pharsala, the little Greek town to which the army of King George, has fallen back from Larissa and into which it itself, is now the decisive position of the war. On this historic ground, twenty centuries ago, was fought another decisive battle between Pompey and Caesar. The road from Larissa to Pharsala, or Pharsalos, as it is called by the Greeks, runs over a low and undulating plain. There are no trees or hedges upon the plain and but few signs of cultivation. The town nestles at the foot of a great, shaggy limestone hill upon which stood the Acropolis of ancient Pharsala. In the battle which was fought on this plain 2,000 years ago Pompey deployed his forces so that his right wing was protected by the rugged bank of the river. Scipio commanded the center and Pompey the left wing. Caesar, at the head of his legions, was opposite Pompey and Maro Antony held Caesar's left. Pompey, after the battle, retreated to Larissa over the very road along which the Turks are expected to march against the Greeks.

William J. Deboe, republican, was elected Senator on the 112th ballot by the Kentucky legislature yesterday, to succeed Hon. J. S. C. Blackburn, whose term expired March 4th. It has been a long drawn out contest as the legislature has been struggling for weeks with the problem. Dr. Godfrey Hunter was the first nominee of the republican caucus but could not be elected. The U. S. Senate is now composed of 88 members, 43 republicans, 33 democrats, and 12 populists and silver republicans. With Kyle the republicans would have 44, a tie, which with the vice-president would be a majority of one.

The Des Moines Cash Nursery Co.

From many testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection the following are presented: West Point, Neb., May 23, 1895. The undersigned hereby states that in the fall of 1894 I purchased of the Cash Nursery Co., Des Moines, Iowa, thirty-one pear trees, namely: One half Keifer and one-half Flamish Beauty. After receiving them I buried them in a trench and kept them so during the winter. In April of this year dug them up and found them in splendid condition for planting. Planted them and up to this date are doing well and all are in a very thrifty growing condition. So much so that I think to replace all dead trees in my orchard by pear trees in the future.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I bought fifty plum trees of the Cash Nursery Co., Des Moines, Iowa, which I planted on my farm two miles from Hooper. The trees bore fruit the second year, and I am so well pleased with them that I have bought 350 more. I can cheerfully recommend this Nursery for fair and square dealing. J. H. PHELPS, Wisner, Neb.

This is to certify that I bought a $50 orchard from C. E. Turnbull in 1893 and they are all growing but seven trees, and they were replaced according to contract. All those who favor the Cash Nursery Co., of Des Moines, Iowa, can depend on being fairly dealt with by them. GOPHIE SCHLAAP, Wisner, Neb. Beemer, Nebraska.
