But when that sermon does come, there will be a thousand gleaming seimitars to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men how to preach, themselves not knowing how, and I am told if a young man in some of our theological seminaries says anything quaint or thrilling or unique, faculty and students fly at him, and set him right, and straighten him out, and smooth him down, and chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the coming sermon of the Christian church arrives, all the churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged. The world wants spiritual help. All who have buried their, dead want comfort. All know themselves to be mortal and to be immortal, and they want to hear about the great future. I tell you, my friends, if the people of these great cities who have had froughe only thought they could get practical and synthetic help in the Christian church, there would not be a street in Washington or New York or Boston which would be passable on the Sabbath day, if there were a church on it; fer all the people would press to that asylum of mercy, that

The Screw.

"The small size of the screw," says a noted shipbuilder, "is not due, as you might think, to the perception of any faventor of its great effect as compared to a larger one. When I first engaged in the machinery business, screws for steamers were made as large as possible, tibeing the theory that the greater the diameter, the higher the speed. A vessel was sent to see with a screw so large that it was deemed best to cast each blade in two parts and then weld them together. During a storm all three blades of the projedler broke at the welding reducing the diameter. three bades of the properer byte after the welding, reducing the damerer by more than two-thirds. To the supprise of the captain, the vessel shot forward at a speed such as had never been attained before. Engineers then experimented with small propellers, and at once discovered that they were much more effective than large ones."

For some time Louise experienced an indisposition which she would not make known to her parents, for fear they would have her reinain from school. Herebead-ache soon became unendurable, and was noticed by her teacher. She had by this time grown pale and weak.
One-day she became suddenly sick as school, and was taken home.
For several weeks she suffered from a fever, and the physicians could not raily her. A neighbor urged them to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People, which they finally did with splendid results. Louise began getting better at once, and by the time safe had consumed ten boxes of the pills she was cured.

"Thoughtless Folks Have the Hardest Work, but Quick Witted People Use

It is distasteful to many people to see their names in public print as indorsers of proprietary remedies. They feel a natural aversion to having their ailments published in the newspapers. At the same time a feeling of humanity prompts them now and then to say something that may lead to such relief of other sufferers as they have themselves experienced. This was the case with one of New York City's merchant princes, a man who stands at the head of his particular line of trade. Not long ago he de-clared that Ripans Tabules were "simply admirable" for correcting disorders of the digestive organs. He found that they sweeten the stomach, that they gently move the bowels, and that they give quick relief from the distress that accompanies indigestion. This gentleman says that he will never again allow himself to be without a supply of Ripans Tabules.

Rree From Furniture! Rheumatism

If the people generally knew the true cause of Rheumatism, there would be too such thing as himments and lictions for this painful and disabling disease. The fact is, Rheumatism is a disordered state of the blood—it can be reached, therefore, only through the blood. But all blood remedies cannot cure Rheumatism, for it is an obstinate disease, one which requires a real blood remedy—something more than a mere tonic. Swift's Specific is the only real blood remedy and promptly goes to the very bottom of even the most obstinate case. Like all other blood diseases, the doctors are totally unable to cure Rheumatism. It feet, the only remedies which they prescribe are potush and mercury, and though tomporary relief may result, these remedies produce a stiffuess of joints and only intensify the disease. Those who have had experience with Rheumatism know that it becomes more severe each year.

The case of Mrs. James Kell, of fix Ninh Street, S. M., Washington, D. C., should convinue everyone that it is useless to expect doctors to care Rheu-matism. Under recent date she writes: "A few months ago I had an attack of Sciatic Rheumatism in its worst form

"A few months ago. I had an artack of Sciatic Rheumatism in its worst form. The pain was so intense that my nervous system was prostrated, and I was for a long time perfectly helpless. The attack was an unusually severe one, and my condition was regarded as being very dangerous." I was attended by one of the most able doctors of Washington City, who is also a member of the faculty of the leading college here. He told me to continue his prescription and I would get well. After having it refilled twelve times and receiving not the least benefit, I declined to take it longer.

"Having heard S.S.S. (Swift's Specific) recommended for Rheumatism, I decided, almost in despair, to give it a trial. After taking a few bottles I was able to hobble around on crutches, and very soon had no need at all for them, for S.S.S. cured me sound and well. All the distressing pains have left me, my appetite has returned, and I am happy to be again restored to perfect health."

S.S.S. never disprojunts; for it is made to cure these deep-rooted diseases which are beyond the reach of all other remedies. It cures permanenty Rheumatism, Catarrh, Cancer, Scrofula, Eczema, and all other blood diseases. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed.

Where in Wayne county is there a man whose heart does not render up thanks this week for the change that has come over the country during the past six months, a change which has brought happiness and prosperity to many a home where a year ago there seemed naught but desolation. The official figures from the Kansi election are giving the republicans even more pleasure than the unofficial returns received on the day following the balloting. They show that the total republican vote this year, taking the average cast for the six candidates, and leaving out a county or two not in the table, amounted to 138,470. The fusionists polled only 129,351. This gives a republican majority over all of 9,116, a gain of 23,177 since 1896. In due time Nebraska will do the same thing and we look for it to occur next fall. Mark the prediction.

Three-fourths of the voters in this country are really interested in politics only to secure good government. They expect to be, but they have rish they wish to enjoy unmolested and property that they want protected. The real office of the government is to do that for them and no more and that is all they want of it. When they feel secure in these they have very little in-terest in politics, forgetting that even these things, that seem so natural and easy, have to be looked out for and con-stantly guarded. Great Britain's yearly imports have increased £70,500,000. How has this happened? Simply because while Great Britain devoted herself to manufacturing and poured goods into many nations with ceramics both of the cheap and of the world, other countries to the highly artistic varieties. There is their industries by Protection; till, beore Great Britain was aware of it, American and Garman manufacturers mills, their foundries and their looms into the markets of Great Britain broad, and then of Great Britain at home. In their eagerness for new markets and extension of trade, the manufacturers of the Old Land have spent all their energy in acquiring trade with disregard for their home market, while the manufacturers of dermany and the United States, under Protective Tariff, have attained technial and economic perfection that fit them for competion. Despite the expense of transportation today, we find that the products of American manu-Great Britain, while British manufac-turers of the same articles are hunting for fresh foreign markets. It is announced from Grand Rapids. Mich., that an advance of 20 per cent. has been granted to all the boys employed in the Nelson Matter Furniture Company of that city; that a restoration of the men's wage schedule to the for mer figures is expected in January, that Hobeke & Co. have added $1 per week to the wages of their men, and that cing wages. The manufacture of furni ids, and an increase of 15 to 20 per cent improved business conditions will ignore the Grand Rapids case, or will declare that the rise in wages is in to way due to the influence of Protection upon the general business of the country. For them to acknowledge the truth of the matter regarding better vages and better times would be to and confess that they have been in the wrong all these years that they have been preaching that Protective Tariff never raised wages, and that, after all, the surest way to prosperity was the re-duction of wages to the European level

Nevertheless, the fact remains that vages are being gradually raised all over the country. It will take some time for the increase to become general but the business of the country is on the up grade, and is rapidly recovering from the blighting results of four years of Free-Trade. As the earning capacity and purchasing power of the workers increase, business in general will more and more feel the stimulating effects of the changed conditions, and the permanency of the policy of Protection will be more and more assured for a long term of years. That is what the country needs. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished.—American Economist.

KETCHAM CASE MYSTERIOUS.

Developments Look Bad for the Mitlionaire's Alleged Widow.
Several peculiar phases have developed in connection with the death of Millionalre John B. Ketcham in Chiesgo. The dead man since being divorced from his first wife was supposed to have remained single up to the time of his death. He was a victim of chronic alcoholism and his associates knew him to be rapidly declining. About a month ago he disappeared from the Auditorium hotel, where he had made his home, and it was an nounced that he was in the care of friends. Afterward came the announcement of his death at the residence of Mrs. Mabel Wallace-Walkup, who also claims the tame Ketcham, the woman asserting that the dead broker married her in Milway walkes shortly before his death and the sun to the shortly he come he will be missed in the woman asserting that the shortly he come he was heartly and the shortly he can be a shortly he care he was heartly he can be a shortly he care he was heartly he can be a shortly he can be a shortly he care he was heartly he can be a shortly he was a shortly he can be a shortly he was a shortly he can be a shortly he was a shortly he wankee shortly before his death and

The sick man utterly disregarded this injunction and the officials are now wondering why he was not compelled to leave liquor alone in view of the doctor's unqualified order. From all reports it is evident that Ketcham had no medical attendance during the last week of his life, excepting the day he died. These facts have but strengthened the intentions of the Ketcham family to contest the will. Criminal proceedings are threatened against the alleged widow and several sther persons whose names have not been divulged, but who John Borden Ketcham's relatives will charge were associated in what they characterize as a conspiracy. Attorney James 6. Purnell, representing the dead banker's family, said that enough evidence relative to John B. Ketcham's two brothers and two sisters will also deny that their brother was legally married to Mabel Walkee-Walkup. They will claim that he was entirely incapable of making any kind of a contract at the time of the alleged marriage, or indeed for nearly a year previous. Attorney Jumes E. Purnell, who has charge of the case, says he has abundant proof that John B. Ketcham has been mentally unsound for almost a year, and that there has been no proof of a marriage with Mrs. Walkup offered by the alleged wife. The attorney served notice on the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank to restrain Mrs. Walkup from having access to the safety box.

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CON DENSED FORM.

Engineer's Coolness Saves the Live of a Half Hundred Passengers Near Chadron-Two Engines and Two Cars a Total Loss.

A Bad Wreck.

The coolness of Wm. Cooley, engineer of the eastbound passenger train, November 15, saved the lives of a half hundred passengers. Through freight No. 27 bound west, in charge of Conductor Wolders and Engineer Conners received passengers. Through freight No. 27, bound west, in charge of Conductor Woldorf and Engineer of Conners, received orders to meet No. 4, the eastbound passenger train, at Borreaux, a flag station seven miles east of Chadron, but Engineer Connors misconstruct or forgot the orders and came tearing down the hill towards Chadron a few minutes after 12 o'clock—midnight. No. 4, which leaves Chadron at 12:01, was on time, and the engineer, Wm. Cooley, had his train under full head way, when suddenly the headlight of the freight flashed before him not fifty feet away. Calling to his freman to jump, he reversed his engine, set the air brakes and leaped from his cab. The two trains came together, with a terrific crash, but the application of the lair and the reversing of the engine that arrested the motion of the passenger, and when the collision occurred it was beginning to move in the same direction as the freight. Both origines are a total loss, and two cars of merchandise and two cars of miles were completely demolished.

Beyond a slight jolting the passengers suffered no injury.

As has been seen Thanksgiving day for the first sixty years of its existence was a hit-and-miss affair as to time and place, and even after it had settled down into an annual autumi festival if the people did not feel particularly encouraged the observance of it was liable to be omitted, and it did not assume its national character till during the revolution, when Congress recommended the yearly appointing of such a day. In spite of this, thoughin the years intervening between 1784 and 1789 there were no Thanksgiving days. In 1789 Washington Issued a Thanksgiving proclamation in view of the adoption of the Constitution and after that to the time of Lincoin, the example of the first President was intermittently followed by his auccessors.

like some fair oak tree that requires many years of storm and sun to bring it to its full beauty, Thanksgiving, the Sunday of our national year, is now an imperishable monument of the faith, the benevolence and the softer graces so often averred to have no existence in this practical work-a-day American world.

"The state dinner of the occasion—the real Thanksgiving dinner—took place on Saturday, the last day of the celebration," writes Clifford Howard of "The First Thanksgiving Dinner" in America, in the Ladles Home Journal. "Natwithstand-the Ash hitchens of these wilderness. ing that the kitchens of these wildernes homes were sadly wanting in many of the most common essentials of cookery, there o lack of good things nor of appetiz was no like to good makes not the earth, the air and the water had yielded or their bountiful, supplies, and the good dames had done honor to their skill and ingenuity the air and the water has yet the bountiful supplies, and the good dames had done honor to their skill and ingenuity by setting before their hungry guests and companions a repast, as sumptuous and tempting as it was varied and delightful. Foremost of all there was roast turkey, dressed-with beechnuts, then came rare, remison, pasties, savory meat stews with dumplings of barley flour, delicious overtexs (the gift of the Indians, and the first ever tasted by the white men), great bowls of clam chowder with sen biscuit floating on the steaming broth, roasts of all kinds, biolied fish; sainds, cakes and plum porridge; while the center of each of the long tables was adorned with a large basket overflowing with wild grapes and plums and nuts of every variety.

"It was the time of the Indian summer. The soft, mellow sunlight shone warmly through the drowsy haze, illumining the somber woodland with a rich golden light, while the gentle winds of the south, laden with the sweet perfumes of the forest, came as a lingering dream of summer to add to the doy and brightness of this Thanksgiving feast. Upon the beliny airross the hum of many voices and the merry music of laughter, as the Pilgrims with their Indian guests partook of the feast that the Provider of all things had given them."

An Electrical Letter Carrier. A very clever mail delivery box has been placed in a number of the larger buildings at Geneva, Switzerland, by an enterprising electrician. This mail box has a compartment for each of the stories of the building, and when the letters are deposited on the ground noor the carrier delivers them as required. The deposit of a single letter makes an electric contact, which starts a bell going on the respective floor, which does not cease ringing until the letter is taken out.

At the same time it opens the faucet of a tank on the roof of the house, which causes water to flow into the cyl-inder forming the counterweight of the mail box elevator until the weight is simultaneoulsy. As the box passes each story the mail intended for it—letters papers and small packages—falls into boxes in the corridor on that floor. This spring at the bottom of each compartment in the elevator mail hav which causes the bottom of the compartment throws out even a single piece of paper thinner than a postal card into the sta-tionary box provided for its reception.

By its own weight the box descends to its place on the ground floor. Should by any mischance a single piece oppoper have remained in the elevator by any mischance a single piece of upon striking the bottom it will once go through the same series movements as before.-New Evening Journal. The Wires Crossed.

SWEPT BY FIRE.

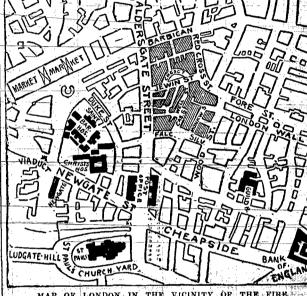

London Scourged by a Visitation of Flames.

Ope of the most disastrous fires in London's history since the great fire of 1668 broke out in a large block of buildings lying eastward of Aldersgate street and between that thoroughfare and Red-Crossstreet, just after 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Over 100 warehouses were destroyed and the loss will probably exceed £3,000,000. The flames were famned by a strong wind and were fed by highly inflammable stocks of Christmas fancy goods and flimsy dress materials of all descriptions that filled every floor of the descriptions that filled every floor of the six-story buildings in the old street. Consix-story billiamgs. In the out speech con-sequently the conflagration gained head-way with surprising rapidity and was soon far beyond the possibility of being checked by the few engines which were arly on the spot.

For four hours and a half the flames For four hours and a half the flames had their own way, and it was only after more than a hundred engines had worked for an hour that the chief of the fire brigade sent out the signal that the fire was under control. At 11 o'clock at night the fire was still the scene of great excitement. Fifty engines were playing upon the ruins, and tons of water were pouring into the fiery debtis.

Thousands of people tried to penetrate the cordon maintained by a thousand policinen, se enforcements for whom were the deaths have been 5,123.

Seventy-three years of peace cost not much more than half the lives lost in one year of Spanish war. And the dead victims of Weyler's hate were not rebels. At Artemisa deaths continue eight to ten per day. No food is being issued by the authorities, as there is some there. In Madriga during October 422 people died. The town had 3,500 inhabitants. At Guines there is shelter neither for the troops nor for the non-combatants, and both are dying fast. The "reconcentrations" have absolutely nothing to eat. Mr. Sabine declined to conduct the funeral service, and when asked by Mr. Jefferson and his companions if he could tell them where they could get a clergyman, he remarked that "there was a little-church around the corner," where they do such things. The dead actor's friends went to that little church and were received with kindly consideration by Rev. Dr. Houghton. This incident formed a live theme for talk all over the coughtry, and it established "The Little Church Around the Corner" firmly, in the affections of the public, as well as or the theatrical profession.
