Too many people proceed upon the theory that policy is the best honesty. —Fremont Tribune. Yes, there are some of them in Wayne. The best way is to proceed to business on the square.

The heavy snow storms, blizzards, etc., that have been visiting the East and the South, never touched this portion of the country, which is now looked upon as a fair winter resort. We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the friends who were so kind to assist us in our sad bereavement and death of our wife and loving mother. W. S. Brown and Family.

W. J. White has secured a large tent in which to hold his sale on Tuesday, February 8th. Col. W. S. Sauke, a noted auctioneer of Iowa will cry the sale. Remember the date and don't fail to attend.

After doing business in Wayne for fifteen years I will retire from business on March 1st. I have left a few men's overcoats for $3.00 and $4.00. Boys overcoats for $1.50. Ladies jackets $1. Boys-knee pants 15 cents. Also two brand new sewing machines with drop head, each at $23.00. These are extra bargains. Wm. Soenneken.

The Republican admits that it has been "talking through its hat," there being little in it—the hat, when it failed to answer the Herald's question as to whether the present board would pay more for the county printing this year than the old board did each year the past two years. It well knows they will not, and it further knows that they will not pay more than one half as much as Cunningham's commissioners paid the Republican and Winside Tribunes two years ago.

A reception was given to Rev. Lemon and wife at the Baptist church Tuesday evening by the members of the church and congregation. A short program was given consisting of short talks and music. S. H. Alexander welcomed Rev. Lemon and wife on behalf of the church, Rev. Montgomery on behalf of the clergy of the city, and Rev. Bithel on behalf of the people at large, all of which were very much appreciated. A violin solo by Mrs. S. H. Alexander, a vocal solo by Mrs. Blair, and one by Mr. James, were also much appreciated. Miss Pritchard, representing Mr. Alexander's Sunday school class, presented Rev. Lemon and wife with a center table, and C. D. Martin for the members of the church, in a neat speech presented them with two rocking chairs. Rev. Lemon then responded to what had been said and done in an appropriate manner; after which refreshments consisting of sherbet and cake, was served.

The following program will be rendered at the Y. M. C. A. hall next Thursday evening by the class of '98 of the High School, an admission of ten cents will be charged: Duet... Small, born jealous rivals can sling mud to their hearts content—we're out of that business for the present and shall pay no attention to them—Republican, Jan. 19.

This week the Republican's belated editor omitted the following aged production: "If the protuberance on the top of our worthy postmaster's spinal column swells a great deal more he will have to use a long handled garden rake when he wishes to scratch it." If the above was not so aged it would almost tingle one to death. Ah, Eph, you must have had awake nights thinking of it.

The Republican further asserts that "the Herald's presentation of an excuse for the action of the county commissioners is a lame one." But what we said was the truth and the Republican can't deny it. The Herald was awarded the county printing by the old board, and we had no particular interest in the matter further than we believed everyone should be treated fairly, a thing the Republican knows not how to do, but it well knows the new board did the right thing in also selecting two more papers in which to publish the county's business. But say, Eph, what excuse can you and your commissioners make for offering the Herald one-third of the county printing last year providing the Herald would divide with the Republican the amount of money received from sheriff sale notices, which met with a prompt refusal. And when you found that wouldn't work then you wanted us to divide the proceeds from notices received through the county judge. Was this not a little more like a case of "hoodling" than anything the Republican has yet presented? A bartering of patronage for patronage? We wonder if the Republican editor didn't try his best to fill the position of that "good, grateful dog" he spoke of, and the only reason he didn't was because he was too much of a porker, a fact which is fast being realized by most citizens who believe in justice and fair play. The Herald offers no excuse for the board of commissioners in regard to the printing contracts, for none is needed, but we have endeavored to prove that so far as the Republican's claims of being a friend to the tax payer, it is a fraud, a demagogue and a hypocrite of the first water, and we leave the verdict this week with the citizens as to whether our efforts have been successful.

The "county printing" and the "printing of stationery and supplies" are two different things. For the former the law provides the amount to be paid, for the latter the printer sets the price, and when the Republican, in its last issue attempted, by taking from the Herald a portion of two different articles and running them together which made the meaning altogether different, to gain mislead the people in regard to the 800 which it was ready to take for printing the bar docket two years ago, more clearly demonstrates its hypocrisy, for it was ready then to croak the tax payers and cannot deny it. When we stated that commissioners Harrigfeld and Jacobs did not pay two much for having the printing done at that time, it was the county legal printing, not the stationery and supplies. The present board will pay no more for the printing than they ought to nor more than has been paid each year for the past two years.

Grandma Spahr is reported as being quite sick. Rumor says we are to have another wedding in this locality.

Mr. Atkins of eastern Iowa, arrived Wednesday for an extended visit with his son and family. Mr. Vaughn's father left for his home at Iowa City Wednesday, after a visit of several months.

John Bannister and wife are the happy parents of a baby girl which came to their home Saturday, Jan. 15th.

Gus Matten had a fine steer so badly injured by getting fast under a feed manger that it was necessary to butcher it. Gus seems to be having his share of bad luck having previously lost seven head of stock cattle.

An entertainment will be given at the Mt. Hope school, Saturday evening Jan. 20th; a fish pond being one of the pleasures in store for all. Five cents will be the price for fishing, but no extra charge for fish stories. Everybody come and enjoy yourselves.

Wheat advanced several cents the past two days in spite of the fact that a republican United States Senator was elected in Maryland on Tuesday.

The old soldiers are enjoying their annual basket dinner at the Y. M. C. A. hall this afternoon. The colored band travelling with Hall's minstrels serenaded the old soldiers about 1:30 o'clock.

DIED.

BROWN—At her home south of Wayne, on Friday night January 21, of heart disease, Mrs. W. S. Brown.

The deceased had been troubled some with heart disease but had been feeling unusually well for some time. No one thought of death entering their home that night, but before morning came the peaceful, happy home was transformed into one of sorrow and tears. The funeral services were held at the Methodist church Monday afternoon and according to a request made some time ago, Rev. Millard, now of Randolph, conducted the services.

Martha W. Mason was born in Ohio, March 7, 1844, and moved to Illinois with her parents in 1850 where she lived to womanhood, and on Sept. 20, 1866, was united in marriage to Orlando Hart. Three children were born to them, two of which survive her. On August 11, 1872, she was married to W. S. Brown. Ten children were born to them. She leaves to mourn a husband, ten children, one sister and a brother. She united with the M. E. church when sixteen, and was a faithful Christian, devoted mother, loving wife, and kind neighbor ready to give a helping hand to all who knew her. She was a member of the Grace M. E. church at her death. At night before retiring she read from Isaiah 58. She died Jan. 22, 1898, aged 53 years, 10 months, 15 days.

The triangular territory bordering on Carroll, Belden and Randolph, lacks the true elements required in the makeup of a prosperous section of country where free Americans can procure free homes and a livelihood by which to maintain the same. At least this was the verdict of a number of our neighbors a year ago. And in the same lively imaginations were pictures of social, educational and religious advantages, three hundred days work per year, high wages, sure pay, infallible markets, cheap lands, high living and general prosperity in every sense of the word. The scene of all these remarkable excellencies was Idaho. Idaho was the promised land, a paradise, a land of rest and riches; and some even dared to predict that Wayne county would some day be depopulated as parts of Western Kansas are.

Several families and single young men, yes, and single young women too, disposed of their possessions, often at a sacrifice, and hit the trail for Idaho the Eden beyond the Rockies. Many more would have been pleased to go along if they could have so arranged their business matters. We hope these pilgrims spoke more pleasantly of Wayne county in their new homes than they did in their old ones.

However, it seems that their dreams were dreams only; that their air-castles were built on air, and that the faults of Wayne county and the blessings of their beautiful garden of the sunset land were alike exaggerated. They have come to the conclusion that Wayne county is a few degrees better than perfection; just as some of our Missouri sojourners did two years ago; and are coming back—if they can get enough money to come on, so they write. At least most of them are. A very few, who would not return to a land so lately renounced, are going elsewhere to seek for all those grand things no one territory can possess, but which their dreams told them Wayne county ought to have. The following is the advertised list for week ending Jan. 26: Joe Brown, Tom Brady, Jno. Barman, Geo. Kruger, Dennis Killian, Etta Massie, C. T. Middleton, Thos. H. Pfenger, Dr. Ren. Joe Smith, Addison Veller. When calling for above say advertised. P. M.

What pleasure is their in life with a headache, constipation and biliousness? Thousands experience them who could become perfectly healthy by using De Witt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills.—L. P. Orth.

The Springfield (Ill.) Republican proclaims the following smart query to Mr. Dingley: "When wages are going up instead of down in the woolen mills why should not the higher duties operate in the same way, if not to an equally pronounced degree in cotton?" This sounds well. But the real facts are, the Dingley bill does not practically change the Wilson tariff on cotton fabrics. There are no increased "higher duties on cotton fabrics." The Republican should read the law before attempting to evolve such conundrums. A critic is always at a disadvantage if he doesn't know what he is talking about. Inter-Ocean.

During the past two years, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, wife of the editor of the Waynesboro, Miss. Times, has, in many instances, relieved her baby when in the first stages of croup, by giving it Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. She looks upon this remedy as a household necessity and believes that no better medicine has ever been put in bottles. There are many thousands of mothers in this broad land who are of the same opinion. It is the only remedy that can always be depended upon as a preventive and cure for croup. The 25 and 50 cent bottles are for sale by L. P. Orth.

Ballard's Horehound syrup is the best known remedy for consumption, coughs, colds, and all throat and chest troubles. Every bottle guaranteed. It is the best remedy for children. 25c & 50c. Wilkins & Co.

BIG GRIST OF BILLS.

OVER EIGHT THOUSAND AWAIT CONGRESSIONAL ACTION.

The Outlook for Hawaiian and Cuban Legislation—Talk About Bankruptcy Measure—General Appropriation Bills to Be Closely Scouted.

Now Hard at Work.

Washington correspondence: CONGRESS is now well down to its work, and the process of grinding out bills is in operation. Over 8,000 bills and 47 joint resolutions have been referred to the House committees, and 2,318 bills and 77 joint resolutions to Senate committees. The calendars are kept into which all bills are placed in the order in which they are to be taken up by the House. The House has sent out of the great up-gradation bills over to the Senate. They carry $102,000,000. Eleven others are to follow. These appropriation bills are the essential of legislation. Without them the Government is blocked. When the differences concerning them have been settled by conference committees, and they have passed both houses and received the signature of the President, Congress will be ready to adjourn.

It is evidently the intention of the leaders in the House to scule the general appropriation bills as closely as possible, and to force an adjournment at an early date. Under the rules other bills carrying appropriations can be buried without allowing them to come before the House. An appropriation bill is a privileged measure, and it is frequently used to shut off offensive legislation from the track. It has the right of way at all times, except when confronted by a contested election case or by a special order from the Committee on Rules. An appropriation bill can switch a contested election case from the track at any time by a vote of the House, but it requires unanimous consent to set aside a special order after it has once been sanctioned by the House.

Bearing this in mind, the question of the annexation of Hawaii becomes interesting. If the Senate fails to ratify the treaty by a two-thirds vote, a bill providing for its annexation will undoubtedly pass that body. If the leaders of the House are opposed to such a bill they can easily prevent its consideration by the House. It may be buried in the Committee on Foreign Affairs; and if reported from that committee, there is no way in which the House can consider it, except by a special order from the Committee on Rules.

The Cuban question is in a similar situation. The House has laid up by an application of its own rules. It three-quarters of the members favor the recognition of Cuba, they would have no opportunity to vote for it. The Senate resolution is still buried in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. If this committee should report it favorably to the House it is in the hands of the Lord. Mr. Lusk's wife, who jumped into a box that closed with a spring. It could not come up for consideration without the usual special order. Once on the calendar, it might be called upon suspension day, provided the Speaker would consent to recognize a member of the committee for this purpose. Then a two-thirds vote would pass it.

Bankruptcy and Currency.

There is much talk about a bankruptcy bill. The Committee on the Judiciary has reported a bill practically the same as the Torrey bill. Gen. Henshaw of Iowa is the chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He is also a member of the Committee on Rules. The bill will probably be brought before the House by a special order. If this is done the friends of the Nelson bill will offer that as a substitute, unless precluded by the terms of the special order. It seems safe to say that if the House passes any bankruptcy bill whatever this season it will be the bill reported from Gen. Henshaw's committee. There is no probability, however, that such a bill will pass the Senate. It can be amended in three ways to make it entirely unacceptable to the leaders in the House. The differences between the two bodies are apparently so great that they cannot be settled in conference.

The same is true of a financial or a currency bill. Men of experience in both houses agree that there is no probability of the passage of any such measure this session. If necessary, the appropriation bills may be used to send them away. At all events, there will be no Saline assimilation. The situation was aptly described by Senator Thomas H. Carter of Montana, who said that to ask the Senate to pass a financial bill based on the plan of the monetary commission would be like "squirting water against the wind."

The Committee on Rivers and Harbors is in session and giving hearings to those interested in such appropriations. It is clear that an effort to pass a river and harbor appropriation bill will be made before the end of the session. Such a bill has the same privilege, under the rules, as the other appropriation bills, and is usually so framed that it can pass the House by a two-thirds vote on suspension day, without debate. This was the case in the last House, and this House is equally as eager on the question of internal improvements.

Another bill of importance is what is known as the anti-scalping bill. It was brought before the House in the last Congress under a special order from the Committee on Rules. In the Fifty-fourth Congress it was put to sleep in the Senate. Its opponents had the benefit of the short session, when appropriation bills were crowding each other to the wall. They used these bills to defend their seats. They have no such opportunity in this session, for this long session, and Congress is not compelled to adjourn by the 4th of March. In strong contrast with this stand what are known as the letter carriers and postal clerks' bills. Both have reached the calendars in previous Congresses, but their friends have never been able to get a special order for their consideration.

Another bill attracting considerable attention is what is known as the Loud bill. It revises the rates for mail classes and carries these rates, making stringent limitations affecting the newspapers, and all

HELP FOR THE HOG.

Secretary Wilson Believes a Cholera Remedy Has Been Found. Secretary Wilson is well pleased with the results of the experiments that have been going on under his direction in Iowa and Nebraska during the last few months in the treatment of hog cholera by inoculation, for he thinks the discoveries that have been developed are worth $100,000,000 a year to the people of the United States.

The experiments were undertaken in Page County, Iowa, last spring, where several hundred hogs that were afflicted with a disease that has until now been considered fatal, were cured by the use of serum. It is perfectly healthy more that the serum were permitted to range freely among those that were diseased without showing any effects from the contagion. Eighty-five per cent of the sick were cured and the healthy protected. Similar experiments have been going on in Nebraska all summer, but the detailed returns have not been received. The serum is obtained in the same manner as the antitoxin that is used for diphtheria. A horse or a cow is inoculated with the germs day after day until no effect is apparent. Its veins are then tapped, a few drops of its blood injected under the skin of healthy hogs has the same effect as a preventive of cholera that vaccination has in smaller. There was scarcely a failure in several hundred cases, although the animals were exposed to the disease in every possible manner. The same treatment was equally successful in curing the disease when taken in the early stages.

Curiously enough, the cultivation of the serum does not injure the horse or the cow, and the animal can be used over and over again every year until it becomes aged, provided it is given plenty of those forms of fodder that supply and strengthen the blood. A single horse or cow will produce 1,000 doses of serum a year, and if ordinary economy is practiced, this will reduce the cost of treatment to 10 or 15 cents per hog. Hundreds of thousands of hogs throughout the United States that are now killed for their hides may be used to save the hogs, and their value will be increased by the demand thus created for them. The method of cultivating the serum can be taught at all the agricultural experiment stations and on the large stock farms, and with a little experience farmers may be able to furnish their own supply. The county agricultural societies can take up the matter, and by co-operation their members can reduce the cost and extend the usefulness of the treatment.

Secretary Wilson estimates the annual loss from hog cholera in the United States from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000. In the State of Iowa alone, where statistics of the mortality of the animals afflicted with this disease have been accurately kept, the annual loss is $15,000,000. He believes that nearly all this can be prevented.

IN AN ICY GRASP.

Great Damage Wrought by Snow, Frost and Wind in Chicago. Chicago was on Sunday a wrecked but a beautiful city. From underneath a tangle of telephone, telegraph and trolley wires its streets and rooftops sparkled white, while every tree stood out against the blue of the sky like a diamond cluster aglow in a turquoise setting. Thin itself was not hideous, for the sun gilded the icy coating of the fallen wires, as well as the interlacing snow and frost fringes of twigs and branches. Down looked upon a city as isolated from the world as if it lay locked in the heart of the arctic zone. It was walled at its outskirts by banks of snow which blocked every suburban street and made the tangled telegraph and trolley wires for broken telegraph poles and miles of twisted, useless wire.

Chicago suffered more than any other city included in a territorial storm area, extending from Wyoming, Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa on the west and north to Pennsylvania and New York on the east. Railroad and Western Union telegraph authorities agreed in the statement that the destruction of their lines was confined practically to the edge of the city circle. No lines were affected beyond a radius of 100 miles from Chicago, few beyond one of twenty-five.

Denationalization of telegraph service caused the principal trouble for railroads centering in Chicago and seriously interfering with the movement of trains. On many of the lines the wires were completely disabled and telegraph dispatchers came to a standstill until dispatchers could be sent from the main offices to outlying stations, where the communication was not so badly hampered. But the havoc wrought among the wires was not the only trouble that was met by the railroads. The heavy snowfall and consequent wretched condition of the tracks delayed trains and added an element of danger to their operation.

Chicago was for hours cut off telegraphically from nearly all the principal cities of the country, and the storm's havoc affected the city telephone and fire alarm service to the point of temporary disablement.

LUETGERT IN TEARS.

Sobs Convulsively as He Tells the Jury His Story.

With a smile on his face and the utmost confidence in his manner Adolph L. Luetgert took the witness stand in Chicago. The court room was packed and the stern eyes of Judge Gray roved constantly over the breathlessly expectant throng, commanding silence as they fixed face after face. A small army was denied entrance to the building. Slowly, impassively, Luetgert weighed the questions and gave back his answers until he was asked of his first wife—the first love of his strange career. Then to the astonishment, the utter amazement, of the great audience, the iron-hearted prisoner burst into tears. Covering his face with his broad palms he sobbed convulsively, his shoulders shook with emotion, and his hands clanked in his dress coat as he tried to go forward with his story. At the afternoon session the examination of the witness by Attorney Harnon was so slow that when court adjourned nothing pertaining to the alleged murder of Mrs. Luetgert had been brought out.

The United States Board of General Appraisers in New York has overruled the protest of Charles P. Coles of San Francisco against the assessment of a duty of 57 cents per barrel on an importation of coal which he claimed was entitled to duty free.

DEAD LINE IS PASSED.

DECEMBER REVENUES EXCEED GOVERNMENT EXPENSES.

Imports Beginning to Resume Normal Proportions and the Dingley Tariff is Vindicated, Both as to Protection and Customs Receipts.

Deficit Shouters Are Dumb. In the matter of the complete vindication of the Dingley law as furnished by the record of revenues collected during the month of December, 1897, the American Economist claims an especial right to say: "We told you so!" Strikingly, in season and out of season, the Economist has insisted that with the return of anything like normal conditions as to imports the law would yield ample revenue. In fact, the explicit prediction has been made in these columns that with the month of December the dead line of comparison between the Wilson and the Dingley laws would be passed.

The dead line was passed in December, the revenue for that month being more than $2,000,000 in excess of the revenue for December of the previous year. The revenue receipts for the first five months of the Dingley law and for the corresponding months of 1896 under the Wilson law are as follows:

August	$25,562,000	$19,193,000
September	24,584,000	22,562,000
October	26,282,000	23,890,000
November	25,210,000	24,970,000
December	25,857,000	27,931,000

*Exclusive of $31,000,000 received from the sale of the Union Pacific Railroad. The fact of enormous advance importations of merchandise under the no duties or the low duties of the Wilson law and their effect in diminishing customs revenues until these large anticipatory stocks shall be exhausted is too well known to need recapitulation at this time. The heavy falling off of revenues for August, September, October and November, 1897, tells its own story in that regard. During December imports of sugar and wool began to resume something like their normal proportions, though still below the volume they will reach when the anticipatory stocks shall be wholly used up.

As will be seen by the statement of Chairman Dingley in another column, the revenue for December shows a positive surplus without counting the money received from the Union Pacific Railroad sale. For the present month the Economist confidently expects that the Wilson law figures of January, 1897, will be exceeded by more than $3,000,000 in customs receipts alone, while the excess from all sources will not fall below $5,000,000 as compared with last January. Owing to the heavy demands upon the treasury in the shape of interest payments a surplus for January is not anticipated, but it is safe to look for an actual surplus in February and March.

RESIGNATION OF DR. HALL.

Surprise Over the Wealthy Minister's Retirement is General. The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York is the richest Presbyterian congregation in America. It has 1,200 members and the church usually contains 2,000 auditors at the principal service Sunday morning. Its spiritualizing influence is felt all over the mighty metropolis. Just now public attention is drawn to it by the resignation of its pastor, Rev. Dr. John Hall, who has served it thirty years and whose forceful utterances and zealous labors are known to the world. On a recent Sunday he announced his resignation and the congregation was deeply moved by the thought of severing the pastoral relations which had existed for so many years.

Dr. Hall is the fifth pastor of this church, which is ninety years old. He is an Irishman by birth, born in Armagh in 1829, and is of Scotch ancestry. He has filled three pastorates—at Armagh, St. Mary's Abbey in Dublin and the Fifth Avenue church. His salary is $15,000 and the other emoluments bring it up to $30,000. The splendid temple in which Dr. Hall has exercised his talents so effectively is one of the finest on Fifth Avenue. It is five blocks below Central Park on a corner, where its commanding proportions are set off to fine advantage, and is a favorite haunt of sightseers to the metropolis. Its grandeur can be outlined when it is known that more than $1,000,000 was spent in its construction.

Two boys applied a match to a spray of 34 issuing from a small aperture in the Standard Oil Company's pipe line from Sistersville and Mannington to Morgantown, W. Va. Fifty acres of forest and field were soon ablaze, and all the oil in ten miles of six-inch pipe, nearly 2,000 barrels, was consumed.

Three men were seriously and two fatally burned as the result of a boiler explosion in the Fidelity distillery at Louisville, Ky. The fatally injured are John Kenay and Phil Kirby.

GREAT MASONIC LIBRARY.

T. S. Parvin, of Cedar Rapids, the Conservator of a Unique Collection. Theodore S. Parvin is the name of the originator, builder, conservator and guardian angel of the great Masonic library which is now stored in its new fireproof home in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Mr. Parvin, for more than half a century, has been busy collecting books that pertain to Masonry, and the result of his labors in a library unique in the world of books. Every rare work on Masonry has gone, for years, to his collector. Book sellers in every city of the earth have watched and worked for him, and he has been the first to know about old editions turning up in the world's market through auction sales and other channels. The most valuable treasure in the collection is the Book of Constitutions—the first edition of 1722. For this and a few other the British museum would pay a small fortune. The library now has about 30,000 volumes—a complete collection of books on Masonry. Mr. Parvin has exhausted the field and there are no more rare books to get. He has them all in the Iowa library. The institution is not famed in America, but scholars all over the world know it. Students from the Orient, from India, from all the countries of Europe have come to Mr. Parvin to use the works unthinkingly patience has gathered together. The story of his life from the time he came to Iowa in 1838 as private secretary to Governor Lucas is the story of that collection of books. He has done nothing else, but that work has been thorough. The library is now in charge of Mr. Parvin and his son. The old bibliophile is drawing to his earthly end among the volumes he loves so well.

Prayer of the Pedestrian.

Keep me this day unharmed, I pray,
From wheelmen scorching up and down,
They never look nor care, not they,
They bowl one o'er and ride away,
And who they are, there's none can say,
And you with broken ribs and crown.

From reckless driving, I implore,
Guard me this day, I fear the boy
Who drives for some small, petty store,
(Each year their numbers grow the more),
They dash along with wild uproar,
And accidents fill them with joy.

But if it be ordained that I
Must meet to-day with hapning dire,
That 'spite of how I strive and try,
In spite of care and warning cry,
Am struck, run o'er and senseless lie,
Grant me the favor I require.

Let me, while yet I sigh and groan,
But have at least the luck or chance,
That that which breaks my collar bone,
Be carriage some rich man shall own,
Whose name and number will be known,
Ere I am in the ambulance.

Let me be bruised by cable cars,
Street railroads are the best to sue;
Or some great brewer's wagon jars
Be what shall make me first see stars
And leave me with the jury square,
Scars tell with twelve good men and true.

Keep me, I pray, unharmed this day
As I go forth where danger lies;
But if with harm or hurt I meet,
Let it be done, I pray, entreat,
By those responsible complete
For damages and compromise!
—St. Louis Star.

The Turkish Lady. We can hardly realize, writes a correspondent from Constantinople, the full monotony of a Turkish lady's life. Every woman, rich or poor, with the least regard to her character must be in her house by sundown.

Only think of the long, dull winter afternoons and evenings when no friend can come near them, as all their female friends must be in their own houses, and male friends they cannot have. Even the men of their own family associate but little with them.

On the Bosphorus their callouses are a great resource to the Turkish ladies, but in Pera those of the upper classes can only go out, in closed carriages, to the Sweet Waters, occasionally accompanied by their husbands' on horseback.

But they may speak to no one while driving; their own husbands and sons cannot even bow to them as they pass, and no one would venture to say a word to its own wife or mother when the carriage pulls up—the police would at once interfere. The highest mark of respect is to turn your back to a lady, and this is obligatory when any member of the Imperial harem passes.

Bobby's View. "I don't want to quarrel, mamma. But it's this way—don't you see? I can't agree with sister, and she won't agree with me."

We never knew a man who could keep a horse looking decent in winter time.

Some married couples are so quarrelsome that they dare not sit near the open window for fear of falling out.

Some men have as little sense about money matters as widows.

SHIH MARI IN CHINA.

Hang Chow, about 200 miles south of Shanghai, is a great silk emporium, not less than 7,000 hand looms being engaged in the manufacture of silk of the finest quality, all that is required for the imperial household being made here. Although opened to foreign trade only since the Japanese war, the natives are fully alive to the advantages of that trade, and foreigners are not subjected to the abuse heaped upon them in other parts of the empire. The city, which is thirteen miles in circumference, has ten gates, and is clean, prosperous and beautiful, with temples and pagodas placed upon the hills and embowered in honeysuckles and bamboo, while the surrounding country is well cultivated, especial attention being devoted to mulberry culture.

Practice vs. Precept. J. N. Gaffin, late Pop Speaker of the House, took advantage of the passage of the Dingley bill and bought a large flock of sheep. He has just sold 2,000 head, making a profit of an even dollar a head. And Gaffin, with his usual hypocrisy, will take part of that money, with some more of the same kind, and use it in his anti-tariff campaign for Governor next year.—Lincoln (Neb.) Journal.

An Effective Illustration. There are two Washington girls who were not only ardent believers in protection—in the shape of the Dingley bill —but had the courage of their convictions, by which they profited. Believing McKinley's election meant protection and consequently high prices for wool, last November they invested $1,840 in a band of sheep. A protective tariff law was enacted, prices of wool advanced, and the girls profited by their faith and good business judgment, selling $2,220 worth of wool this year, and receiving $5,220 for their sheep, a net profit of $5,600 on an investment of $1,840 a year ago. This is only a small illustration of the benefits of the tariff law to the farmers of this country, but it is plain and near at home, therefore more effective.—Tacoma Ledger.

A Return to Normal Prosperity. In the showing of business failures for 1897 there is made plain a marked reduction in the percentage of the commercial death rate as compared with every year since and including 1893. Comment to this effect is made by Bradstreet's in its review of the record of financial disasters for the year just closed. There is a heavy falling off, not in number and in liabilities, of those individuals, firms or corporations succumbing to the pressure of unfavorable circumstances, primarily indicating a return of prosperous conditions in general business.

The returns show for the year 1897 a total of 13,690 failures, against 15,112

Blood Poison.

Contagious Blood Poison has been appropriately called the curse of mankind. It is the one disease that physicians cannot cure; their mercurial and potash remedies only bottle up the poison in the system, to surely break forth in a more virulent form, resulting in a total wreck of the system.

Mr. Frank B. Martin, a prominent jeweler at 926 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D. C., says:

I was for a long time under treatment of two of the best physicians of this city, for a severe case of blood poison, but my condition grew worse all the while, notwithstanding the fact that they charged me three hundred dollars. My mouth was filled with eating sores; my tongue was almost eaten away, so that for three months I was unable to taste any solid food. My hair was coming out rapidly, and I was in a horrible state of mind. I had tried various treatments, and was nearly discouraged, when a friend recommended S.S.S. After I had taken four bottles, I began to get better, and when I had finished eighteen bottles, I was cured sound and well, my skin was without a blemish, and I have had no return of the disease. S.S.S. saved me from a life of misery. S.S.S. (guaranteed purely vegetable) will cure any case of blood poison. Pierce Leader: A large number of friends from Pierre, Wayne and Madison counties, assembled Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rohrke in eastern South Branch precinct, and assisted the worthy couple in celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Those present had a most enjoyable time and will long remember the day. A silver tea set was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Rohrke.

An editor of an exchange was evidently a little wrathful when he wrote the following: "It is indeed strange how fickle the memory is. We know men who can tell every hoof of stock owned by their neighbors; can tell the age of every child born in their vicinity for the last thirty years; can tell exactly in a moment how much is coming to them from other people, but to save them from Hades they can't recollect when their subscription expires."

Winslow Tribune: Miss Pearl Sewall, the teacher of the Prince school house, gave a very successful box social at the school-house last Friday evening. Eleven boxes sold for $10.00, and in taking up a collection to make "even money" the amount was run up to $14.50, which will be expended for a school library.

Norfolk News: W. H. McNeal of the Wayne HERALD, is the recipient of favors in about the same degree that A. A. Logan of the Creighton Courier experienced. Last Monday he received notice that his confirmation as postmaster at Wayne had been made, and the day following his wife presented him with a bouncing daughter. Some editors have more luck than a turkey cock that keeps his head through the holidays.

"I had the rheumatism so badly that I could not get my hand to my head. I tried the doctor's medicine without the least benefit. At last I thought of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; the 1st bottle relieved all of the pain, and one-half of the second bottle effected a complete cure."—W. J. Holland, Holland, W. Va. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is equally good for sprains, swelling and lameness as well as burns, cuts and bruises. For sale at Orth's drug store.

Omaha Druggist: R. W. Wilkins & Co., the popular and enterprising druggists of Wayne, Neb., have ordered from James W. Tufts of Boston, a magnificent soda water fountain built of the choicest varieties of Onyx imported from Old Mexico. The syrup cans stand upright on the back of onyx covered doors which swing out, allowing cans to be taken out for cleaning and the doors closed, leaving no objectionable opening in apparatus. The apparatus will carry a rich and artistic white and gold top, with French plate mirror. This is one of the first of Tufts new "Eskimo" construction placed in the state. The boys evidently appreciate a good thing when they see it.

"Why Women Cannot Sleep." The highly organized, finely-strung nervous system of women subjects them to nervous apprehension which no man can ever appreciate. The peace of mind, the mental poise and calmness under difficulties, which is necessary for happy womanhood is only possible when the sensitive feminine organism is in a perfectly healthy condition. If there be any weakness or derangement in this respect no remedy in the world so completely restores womanly health, nervous vigor and capability as the wonderful "Favorite Prescription" invented by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y. It purifies, heals and strengthens, insures functional regularity, provides physical reinforcement and sustaining power at periods of special weakness and depression.

It is the only medicine which makes the coming of baby safe and comparatively easy. In a recent letter to Dr. Pierce, Mrs. Marguerite Collin, of Cutler, Algoma Co., Ont., says:

"I was a sufferer and was cured by Dr. Pierce's wonderful medicine. When I commenced the medicine I could neither eat nor sleep. My hands and feet were constantly cold; I had a wasting, feeble frame; my nerves were weak, and my monthly periods were never regular. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in a few weeks I was able to do my usual work and the World's Dispensary Medical Association."

Assistant Secretary of War, Geo. D. Micklejohn is doing Nebraska great honor in the position which he now so ably fills.

The warship Maine, has been sent to Havana by President McKinley and reached there Tuesday. It is said no significance is attached to it. Time will tell.

The true friends of Cuban independence are not making too many speeches just now.—Sioux City Journal.

The Journal, like other papers, has taken a "tumble to itself."

Why is it that nothing but the 16 to 1 ratio will do the free silverite? He knows not why except that Bryan says so. Who is Bryan that he comes to make the people worship at the shrine of a free silver god.

A Cleveland, Ohio dispatch says that on his return to Columbus, Mark Hanna was received with a far greater demonstration than has been accorded any public man in that city in a decade. It was only the jealousy of too much Cincinnati that caused the rupture in Ohio, but in the result the city of Cleveland came out on top.

Who will be the republican candidate for United States senator to succeed Senator Allen? is the question that confronts the party in Nebraska. Next fall the election of senators and representatives occurs when in turn elect a Senator at the meeting of the state legislature in January, '99. Who will it be? It must be a man on whom the whole party can unite, and we believe the republican state convention should name the man.

The republicans all over this congressional district look upon Judge Norris as the most available candidate for Congress this fall, and there is no question but his name would command a much larger vote than any other man in the district. We do not know that the Judge desires the nomination. A nomination would be equivalent to an election. There is no abler man available, and should he desire and receive the nomination he would make a hot fight.—Ponca Gazette.

Why is it that Senator Allen is opposed to the annexation of Hawaii? Why, the senator has an eye for re-election. He well knows that a fusion legislature repealed the beet sugar bounty law. Nevertheless he is now aiding and abetting the Oxnard's and other interests, though he well knows it is in direct opposition to the wishes of the populists. However Senator Allen is the pop party and the populists are his followers. "Whatever Bill does is all right."

Detailed figures from the Bureau of Statistics will prove a source of comfort to the beet sugar farmers of the West, as they show that the Dingley law has absolutely exterminated foreign competition. In May, 1896, the imports of raw sugar made from beets amounted to the large sum of $8,961,874. Last November the only importation of raw beet sugar, was an insignificant one of 180 pounds, valued at $5, which came from Hong-kong, and probably was started before the new tariff law was passed. The drop from 400,000,000 pounds in May to 180 pounds in November is quite sufficient to explain the flurry in Europe, caused by the Dingley bill, with its retaliatory duties against bounty sugars.—Chicago Tribune.

HITT'S CUBAN SPEECH.

Mr. Hitt's speech, on Cuban affairs has the importance of the utterance of one who has long been chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, and who adds to an intimate knowledge of the matter under debate a thorough acquaintance and cordial sympathy with the purposes of President McKinley. It is a great pity that a pretentious gentleman who poses, though wholly without reason, as the interpreter to Chicago people of the President's intentions has used his newspaper to advise the vote upon the question that Mr. Hitt's speech finely illumed as "a conservative victory." In politics conservative means oligarchy, and President McKinley is not an oligarchy, nor is the Republican party an oligarchy. Neither is it true that the President is "resolved on a peaceful solution" of the Cuban question. He prefers a peaceful solution and hopes for it. Everybody does. But he will have a solution that is favorable to the interests of the United States and to the cause of freedom, by whatever means such solution may be attained. Were the President not a very strong man he would be in need of salvation from the pompous fellows who, pretending to intimacy with him, portray him as an inheritor of Cleveland's un-American policy. He is nothing of the sort. He is a stalwart American, with all that that implies.

Mc. Hitt did not declare himself to be speaking under presidential direction, but when he recalled to the House these last words of the President's message on Cuban affairs he doubtless did so in full consciousness of their import and of their relation to existing circumstances.

If it shall hereafter appear to be the duty imposed by our obligations to ourselves, to civilization and humanity, to intervene with force, it shall be without fault on our part, and only because the necessity for such action will be so clear as to command the support and approval of the civilized world.

The President may be trusted. The vote of the House upon the debate of which Mr. Hitt's speech was so important a feature was a vote of confidence in him. We shall not interfere against Spain until and unless, after negotiation, entreaty, and friendly remonstrance have failed to secure justice to all parties, the necessity for intervention becomes apparent to the whole civilized world. Events are hastening towards this climax.—Inter Ocean.

Chicago Times-Herald:—Mr. Bryan charges Mr. Gage with attempting to fasten the gold standard on this country, "a scheme commenced twenty-four years ago." The "scheme" was not commenced twenty-four years ago, but sixty years ago, and the man who had the most to do with its establishment was one Andrew Jackson, whose name and fame Mr. Bryan has been doing his best for years past to discredit and dishonor. If there was one thing more than another that Jackson believed in it was honest money, and his chief spokesman in the senate, Thos. H. Benton, won the nickname of "Old Bullion" because of his advocacy of gold. Mr. Bryan, however, doesn't care about such small matters as the facts of history. If they happen to be opposed to his theories, so much the worse for the facts!

Nebraskans must bear in mind that if the will of the majority of the voters of this state as shown at the polls in '96 and '97 is carried out there will be no protection to beet sugar raised in this state against Hawaiian cane sugar in the way of a tariff, and hence annexation would have no affect whatever on competition.

The popocratic and "silver republicans" branches of the Bryan party declared against the present tariff which is protective to sugar. The populist party adopted in its platform, last fall, a sneer at the "dear sugar" alleged to be produced by the tariff act of the present congress. So, when Senator Allen pretends to be defending the sugar interests of Nebraska in opposing annexation he is a traitor to the fusion outfit in this state.—State Journal.

A Great Sunday Paper Free.

The semi-weekly State Journal wants to get 5,000 new subscribers during the next thirty days, and as a special offer, one that is bound to bring new subscribers, will send the semi-weekly State Journal every Tuesday and Friday for a whole year for One Dollar, and as a special premium will also send the great Sunday State Journal, sixteen pages every Sunday, for three months free. Remember you will get the semi-weekly Journal a whole year and the great Sunday paper for three months all for one dollar. To get the advantage of this greatest of all offers you must send your dollar direct to The State Journal, Lincoln, Neb., and not through an agent. Never before has so much good reading matter been offered for One Dollar. The Sunday Journal contains more reading matter alone than many magazines. If you want to keep up with the world's doings, here is a chance such as has never been offered before. This offer may be withdrawn soon, so do not put off sending your dollar for fear you may be disappointed. One dollar does it all!

CHAINED!

When the digestive organs are out of order, you are like a man chained to a wall who cannot get at the food which is put before him. It makes no difference how good and nourishing it may be, if he cannot get at it, he will starve. No matter how much food is put into the stomach, nor how good it is, if your digestive organs have no power to take hold of it and act upon it and transform it into healthy blood, you will starve just as truly as if you were chained to a wall and couldn't touch food.

You may call this condition—dyspepsia or biliousness or nervous prostration.

tion or "general debility." If it gets as far as the lungs, you will probably call it consumption—but no matter what name you give it; it is just constitutional starvation.

Your system is starving because the digestive and assimilative organs are powerless to do their work. What is needed is to have these functions unchained, set at liberty, roused into free action. This is what Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does.

It liberates and vitalizes the nutritive functions. It frees the stomach and liver from poisonous torpifying elements which are chaining them down. It gives them power to act with healthy vigor, and to appropriate the full supply of nourishment needed by the weak nerves and wasted tissues.

It increases and strengthens the flow of digestive fluids; enables the blood-making glands to manufacture pure, rich, highly vitalized blood which builds up healthy flesh and muscular energy; and restores a healthy appetite, sound sleep, nerve force and cheerfulness.

For delicate and sickly women and children and invalids it is far superior to any malt extract or so-called nutritive, and far more reliable than cod liver oil emulsions in all wasting diseases, bronchial and lung difficulties, and consumption.

Only hard, healthy flesh which is the result of perfect nutrition, is created by the "Golden Medical Discovery"; it will not add one ounce of soft flabby fat above the standard of perfect health; for this reason it is the most effective tonic and blood-purifier for corpulent people.

Complete information regarding this wonderful "Discovery" and testimonials from hundreds who have used it, are embodied in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advisor, a standard medical work of 1008 pages, profusely illustrated, which will be sent free on receipt of 21 one cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only. This work is a complete family doctor book and should be read by both young and old. Address: Wm. D. Dr. Pierce's Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For a handsome cloth-bound copy, send ten cents extra, (31 cents in all).

During the past two years, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, wife of the editor of the Wayneboro, Miss., Times, has, in many instances, relieved her baby when in the first stages of croup, by giving it Chamberlain's Cough remedy. She looks upon this remedy as a household necessity and believes that no better medicine has ever been put in bottles. There are many thousands of mothers in this broad land who are of the same opinion. It is the only remedy that can always be depended upon as a preventive and cure for croup. The 25 and 50 cent bottles are for sale by L. P. Orth.

There are three little things which do more work than any other three little things created—they are the ant, the bee and DeWitt's Little Early Risers—the last being the famous little pills for stomach and liver troubles. Orth.

We are anxious to do a little good in this world and can think of no pleasanter way to do it than by recommending One Minute Cough Cure as a preventative of pneumonia, consumption and other serious lung troubles that follow neglected colds.—L. P. Orth.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate, or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

An Up to Date Farm Paper.

That sterling farm journal, the Iowa Homestead, seems to be improving every week, even after further improvements would appear impossible. We do not hesitate to say to the farmers of this county that they are not living up to their privileges if they fail to read it regularly, because nothing equals it as an agricultural paper for the western farmer, so far as our observation has gone, and our opportunities to judge have been unusually good. The special farmer's institute edition for February will accompany the regular issue for next week, and will discuss winter dairying, beef production, grain feeding and two interesting home topics. Everyone should read it, for remember that these discussions are not mere theory, but are carried on by actual farmers who live on the farm and give their own experience. The Homestead is only $1 which price includes the special institute editions monthly. Send subscriptions or requests for free sample copies to Homestead Co., Des Moines, Iowa.
