Some of the Wayne boys are getting tired of paying their money out riding to Norfolk with the hope of being able to enlist in the army and not even being examined.

The statement of the receipts and expenditures of the city for the year ending May 2, 1898, which appears elsewhere, is certainly a good one and reflects credit upon the city officials.

The Cuban question and political issues sink into insignificance with the man who suffers from piles. What he most desires is relief. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cures piles. L. P. Orth.

The following is a list of letters, etc. remaining at the post office for the week ending May 11: Emil Anderson 3, Miss Pearl Bruce, Almeron Newman, Richard Noll, Wm. Ross, Mrs. Lucy Koche, Box 35. When calling for above please give date when advertised.

August Loberg, a well-to-do farmer residing nine miles northwest of Wayne, near Carroll, fell from the car onto a bridge while in Chicago on Monday, breaking two ribs and his left arm, also receiving other serious injuries. It is a very unfortunate occurrence.

Don't forget to attend the entertainment given at the M. E. church next Thursday evening by Mr. O. King of Chicago and Miss Lucy Buffington of this city. Mr. King is one of the finest baritone singers in the country and the entertainment will be an exceedingly interesting one.

On Tuesday evening Rev. D. C. Montgomery was installed as pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city. The services were very interesting and impressive and were conducted by Revs. Giffen of Wakefield, Soudder of Emerson, Tongue of Madison and Sharpless of Norfolk.

All of the Wayne boys who have enlisted in the army have passed the examination except Albert Berry. Those passing are Elmer Landburg, Allen Riffes, Ralph Claybaugh, Company L; George Wilbur, Company M. Both the Nebraska regiments will be sent to the Philippine Islands. They will leave for San Francisco on Saturday.

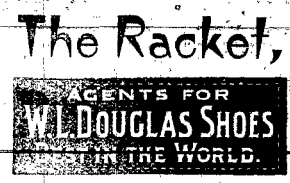

It is expected that Dr. May who spent some time in Cuba and was there at the time the Maine was blown up will be in Wayne next month and give his lecture on Cuba. On his return from Cuba Mr. May was called to consult with President McKinley and his cabinet in regard to affairs on the Island. His lecture will be worth hearing.

At the council meeting Monday evening F. C. Lergen was appointed water commissioner and city engineer, in place of Peter Coyle, the present water commissioner. Mr. Coyle has been a faithful servant of the city for a number of years and the only reason we can imagine that Mr. Lergen was appointed to succeed him is that the latter is an expert electrician, as such a person will be needed as soon as the electric light plant is put in. We do not believe that politics had anything to do with it as Mayor Ley is not built that way.

The saloon men pay an occupation tax, likewise the draymen, and there is no good reason why the insurance companies doing business in this city should not pay the occupation tax of $5.00 each per year, in compliance with the ordinances of the city. The tax thus paid is for the fire department and no company should refuse to pay it. A test case has been had and the validity of the state law made certain. Pay up.

Don't rush matters. It takes time to get important business matters through and so it is with the electric light plant. Just as soon as the bonds are returned from Lincoln, if they pass the inspection of the auditor, then they will be sold by bids and the indications point to their sale above par and it will be but a few weeks until work on the plant will begin; then Wayne will shine.

Postmaster McNeal received a letter from recruiting sergeant McKim of Norfolk, Monday afternoon stating that ten more men were needed and on Tuesday morning the following Wayne boys left for Norfolk: Harry Tharp, Jno. Hayes, Isaac Arvold, John Juhlin, Frank Bannister, Phillip Weller, Ray Reynolds, Joe Barley and Clyde Ferguson. In the afternoon five of the boys returned, only four having an opportunity to enlist. Those passing an examination and enlisting were Harry Tharp, Phillip Weller, Clyde Ferguson and John Juhlin. The latter returned home yesterday.

THE MILITIA IS MUSTERED IN.

The Examination a Severe one and Many Fall to Pass.

SURE TO SEE ACTIVE SERVICE.

One Regiment of Nebraska Boys to be Sent to the Philippines.

(FROM ELMER LUNDBURG.)

LINCOLN, May 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The two regiments of Nebraska militiamen who went into camp here two weeks ago have ceased to be of the Nebraska Guards. The examining surgeons and mustering officers have about finished the necessary work which transformed our state militia into a part of the U. S. army. Our company was marched to the mustering officers headquarters and sworn in this morning. Only one on the roll failed to respond and take the oath of allegiance to defend our country against its enemies, and obey the mandates of our President. This was about all required. Only a mere form, for it is but the inward determination of all our people at all times.

The physical examination was quite severe in many respects. Some of the companies lost over a fourth of their number, among them was the Omaha Guards and L. of Norfolk. The number lost out of the other companies varied from six to twenty men. It is hard to imagine the disappointment of the rejected ones, for not a few broke down and cried over it. In a majority of the cases, it was the enervated subjects of the cigarette, for the surgeons seem to think they were just a little too near the level of the Spaniard.

Nine failed in our company and among them was our Berry. He toed the mark in every requirement, but the second finger of his right hand was crooked and his joints stiff. This might hinder him in handling a gun, but if it had been straight or removed entirely he could have passed. If he don't get to go I shall be, so far as I know, the only Wayne county representative in the First Regiment. Geo. Wilbur, Ralph Claybaugh and the other Wayne boys are all in the Second. I might get a transfer, but have made up my mind to stay by the "Allen-Riffes" and their cheerful little Captain who is making a strenuous effort to get Berry in by special permission. So you see the valorous descendant of William Tell may yet march through the streets of Manila and help cheer the invincible Dewey in his own field of conquest. We hardly know when or where we will be sent, but hope it will be across the Pacific to the Philippines.

We were supplied with uniforms and rifles soon after our arrival here and will probably be fully equipped for actual field service in a day or two. The old style soldier cap which has served so long, have been discarded and the new regulation style issued to take their place. The new cap is more sensible in appearance and a greater comfort to wear. But these will also give place to a soft slouch hat for field wear.

The guards are very strict since mustering in commenced, and no soldier can pass at any time without the written permission of his captain countersigned by the colonel. One of our boys who had donned citizens clothes to go home said something disrespectful to the guard regarding the orders, which reflected on the officer of the day, and he was put in the guard house and compelled to stand forty minutes at attention. There is nothing harder than standing at attention for any length of time.

The usual large crowd of evening visitors were deprived of the privilege last night by the guards. Among those halted at the line was W. J. Bryan, while out taking his customary horse-back ride to camp. The corporal of the guard was called and while awaiting his coming quite a crowd gathered and cheered him, then called for a speech. He said he didn't know about talking across the line, but wished the soldiers good luck, and hoped they would capture as many ships and not get hurt, as did Dewey. Then he asked them what kind of ships they preferred to attack. Some answered "court-ships" but most of them loudly expressed their desire to "sink schooners."

Saturday and Sunday were gala days for Lincoln and her soldier camp. The two regiments, paraded the streets to the capitol grounds where Gen. Thayer in behalf of the G. A. R. of Lincoln, presented each regiment with a beautiful flag of the finest silk. Gov. Holcomb responded to the presentation. It was an occasion for inspiration and the ardor of patriotism beamed from every countenance of that gayly dressed crowd which held thousands of fluttering flags. Sunday the excursion trains emptied their loads and filled

Camp Saunders to overflowing. At dress parade the vast amphitheatre was jammed to suffocation, and the onlookers covered acres besides. The Exposition ground here never saw such a crowd before.

It seems strange to be amid these surroundings at times. Listening to the ringing commands of drill masters, mingled with band music, singing, bugles or the blending voices of soldiers singing the national anthems, I have to pinch myself once in a while and then try to feel very serious, in order to think this all means war.

Latest War News.

Twenty-five ships have been chartered to transport 30,000 troops to Cuba for the immediate reduction and capture of Havana. Gen. Miles will have charge of the invading army.

President McKinley has determined to make an attack all along the line and bring the war to a speedy close.

Admiral Dewey has sent word that he captured 10,000 tons of wood and that he has plenty of food left.

It is believed now by a great many that the war will be over within sixty days, and it is the plan of the President to be able to issue a peace proclamation in time for a rousing Fourth of July celebration.

It is reported that the long-looked-for Spanish fleet fearing to meet Sampson, has returned to Cadiz. If this proves true Sampson will no doubt turn his guns loose on the capitol of Porto Rico this week, and take possession of the island.

Gen. Wesley Merritt of the regular army, has been appointed by President McKinley as commander of the volunteers to invade the Philippines. He has been proclaimed governor-general of the islands, and as soon as possible will establish his position as such at Manila.

Gov. Holcomb has been officially notified that one regiment of the Nebraska troops will be sent to the Philippines. Captain E. H. Tracy of the Norfolk company, has been appointed to the position of Major in the 2nd regiment.

DEWEY'S VICTORY.

The following is a summary of Commodore Dewey's excellent work up to date:

Monday April 5.—Received news of the declaration of war. Quit British waters.

Wednesday—Sailed for Manila at the fastest speed that could be made with the coal supply of the ships.

Saturday night—Passed the batteries at the entrance of Manila Bay.

Sunday—Sunk, burned or captured all the ships of the Spanish squadron. Sifted and destroyed three batteries.

Monday—Occupied navy yard. Blew up six batteries at the entrance to the bay. Cut the cable. Established blockade of Manila. Drove the Spanish forces out of Cavite.

Tuesday and Wednesday—Swept the lower bay and entrance for torpedoes. Gave crews well earned rest. Prepared official dispatches.

The losses of the Spaniards include ten war ships, several torpedo boats, two transports, navy yard, and nine batteries. Including the losses ashore, about 1,200 Spaniards were killed or wounded.

The estimated value of the Spanish property destroyed or captured is $5,000,000.

On the American side the total loss is eight men wounded and $5,000 damage to the ships.

The members of the school boards contiguous to Wayne and throughout the country, if they so desire, are requested to allow the teachers and pupils a holiday on May 30, so they can all take part in the Decoration Day exercises. MISS C. M. WHITE, Superintendent.

Many Killed or Wounded. Dispatches indicate that the crisis in Spain has become intensified. The queen regent is rapidly losing the little popularity she has, and is now insolently referred to as "that Austrian woman."

The outbreak in Madrid grows darker every hour that passes. Reports of rioting are coming from the provinces, and in most cases there has been bloodshed. A serious disturbance occurred at Caceres, and a still more violent demonstration took place at Leon.

All these disturbances are due to economic causes, to the great dearth of wheat and the consequent advance in the price of bread, and the closing of factories and workshops, owing to the complete paralysis of trade and the prohibitive prices of coal and raw materials.

The government is adopting drastic measures to keep food in the country. A bill passed the cortes, to come into immediate operation, totally prohibiting export of wheat, flour and potatoes.

President Dole has sent a long communication to President McKinley offering to transfer the Hawaiian islands to the United States for purposes of its war with Spain, and to furnish American ships of war in Pacific waters with large quantities of coal, supplies, and ammunition.

There is a general sentiment in Congress favorable to the acceptance of the offer, and a Washington correspondent says that when it is formally received it is probable that the President will send to Congress a message recommending the passage of a bill granting him authority to act.

Spanish Fleet Destroyed Without Loss to the United States.

Having Disposed Of the Enemy's Battleships, the Successful Naval Commander Turns His Attention to the Forts at Cavite, Which He Demolishes with His Guns—Spaniards Suffer a Loss of at Least One Hundred and Fifty Men—Only a Few of the American Force Injured—5,000 Troops Sent from San Francisco.

The extraordinary silence of the deep was broken early Saturday morning when Commodore Dewey, hero of the Philippines, dashed beneath the oceanic depths for which 70,000,000 Americans had anxiously waited, in mingled hope and fear. Half encircling the earth, the message which officially reports one of the most remarkable naval victories of modern times was dropped into the palm of Uncle Sam before he had finished his early morning nap.

Notwithstanding the fact that everybody for several days had been in momentary expectation of cable advices from Commodore Dewey, Washington was thrown into the wildest excitement early Saturday morning by the receipt of news announcing the arrival of the McCulloch at Hong-Kong with dispatches for the government from Commodore Dewey. The publication of newspaper dispatches telling of terrible mortality among the Spanish and the escape of the American forces, men and ships, from serious injury added to the excitement and to the intense satisfaction with which the long-expected news was received.

The State Department had the honor of receiving the first news. It came in the shape of a cablegram of three words from United States Consul Wilham at Hong-Kong, and was as follows: "Hong-Kong, McCulloch, Wildman."

That is the usual form in which naval movements are reported by cable. The naval officials were promptly notified and awaited with intense interest the dispatch which soon came from Commodore Dewey.

In brief, Commodore Dewey states that he silenced the batteries at Manila completely, that he cut the cable himself, and that he has the bay and everything else completely at his mercy. He has, however, been unable to take possession of the town of Manila for lack of men. Dewey's report further says that he destroyed eleven ships, that none of his men was killed, and few injured, and that the American fleet was not injured at all.

STORY OF THE BATTLE.

Details of the Greatest Naval Victory the World Has Ever Known.

A New York newspaper correspondent who was with the American fleet during the engagement cables from Hong Kong the story of the fight, as follows: When Commodore Dewey arrived off Manila bay he decided to make a dash into the inner harbor. From his flagship, the Olympia, he signaled the commanders of the fleet to follow him and with all lights on the squadron of sea fighters steamed into the bay with the crews at their guns. As they passed the fortifications at Corregidor the order of the vessels was as follows: Olympia, Baltimore, Raleigh, Petrel, Concord, Boston.

Eight o'clock had just struck when the steady flagships steamed steadily past the fortifications that command the entrance to the bay, and in spite of the fact that the moon was shining brightly the fleet was well up the harbor before the Spaniards on watch were aware of its approach. Corregidor lay a mile behind them when the first gun boomed its warning that the enemy was at hand.

One heavy projectile screamed over the floating ships and plunged into the water far away. This was followed by a second, which dropped astern. Instantly the Raleigh, the Concord and the Boston accepted the challenge. A third from the Concord described a long curve and apparently landed exactly inside the shore battery, which fired no more. Slowly the squadron edged its way toward Manila and the moon, worn with long watching, were allowed to drop behind their guns for a nap on deck. So closely had the arrival of the fleet been timed that at twelve o'clock the Spanish fleet, which had been sighted by the Spanish squadron, Admiral Montojo's flag was seen fluttering from the cruiser Reina Christina.

The vessels moved down to the attack in single file at a uniform speed of eight knots, and as they passed in front of Manila three great batteries mounting powerful guns opened up at a distance of five miles. Suddenly the Concord's guns boomed out a reply. For a moment there was silence and expectation. Commodore Dewey signalled not to attack these batteries, for fear of sending his shells into the crowded city.

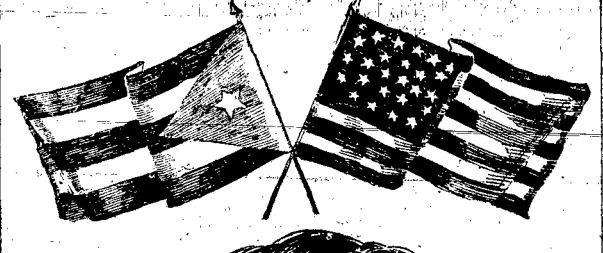

Veering up the bay, he passed slowly in front of Cavite, where two powerful submarine mines were exploded ahead of the flagship. The commodore coolly glanced at his watch as he stood impassively on the bridge and called the attention of one of his officers to the fact that it was exactly six minutes past 5 o'clock. As the mines let go a smile flitted over his face, because of the fact that the Spaniards, in exploding the mines had misjudged the position of the flagship. As it was, tremendous volumes of water were hurled into the air. But there was no hesitation. Dewey evidently had no fear of the mines. He signalled the ships to steam ahead, and in a moment he was within range of the guns of the batteries of Cavite. By this time the Spanish gunners had got the range and the shells began bursting close aboard.

The Spanish vessels also opened up with their guns, and the missiles flew all about the flagship, which was evidently the mark at which they were directing their fire. Aboard the American fleet the heat was intense. The men, stripped to the waist, stood at their guns waiting for the signal to open up.

At nineteen minutes past 6 the starboard eight-inch gun in the forward turret of the Olympia belched forth a welcome to the donuts at a distance of 5,500 yards. The firing was taken up by the Baltimore and the Boston in turn, and shell after shell from their great guns was sent hurtling toward the Castilla and the Reina Christina. At first it was all guess work. The Spaniards, knowing the exact distance, fired rapidly. Their guns, ashore and afloat, were making it warm for the American squadron. Shot plumed and screamed about the vessels, while the shells burst in the air, their fragments lashing the water till it splashed all about their hulls.

Encouraged by the small amount of damage that was being done by the guns from the Spanish ships and batteries, the flagship turned and steamed majestically

ADMIRAL DEWEY, THE HERO OF MANILA.

DISPATCHES SENT BY DEWEY.

Secretary Long gave out the following to the newspaper correspondents as Dewey's dispatch: Manila, May 1.—The squadron arrived at Manila at daybreak this morning. Immediately engaged the enemy and destroyed the following Spanish war vessels: Reina Christina, Castilla, Ulloa, Isla de Cuba, General Lezo, the Duero, Correo, Velasco, Mindanao, one transport and the water battery at Cavite. The squadron is unimpaired and only a few men were slightly wounded. The only means of telegraphing is to the American consul at Hong-Kong. I shall communicate with him. DEWEY. Cavite, May 4.—I have taken possession of the naval station at Cavite on the Philippine Islands. Have destroyed the fortifications at the bay entrance, paroling the garrison. I control the bay completely and can take the city at any time. The squadron is in excellent health and spirits. Spanish loss is not fully known, but is very heavy; 150 were killed, including the captain of the Reina Christina. I am assisting in protecting Spanish sick and wounded. Two hundred and fifty sick and wounded are in hospital within our lines. Much excitement at Manila. Will protect foreign residents. DEWEY.

up within 2,000 yards of the enemy's vessels. At this range even the quick-firing six-pounders were found to be effective and a perfect storm of projectiles was poured in upon the unfortunate Spanish fleet. Three vessels were set on fire and their men were forced to abandon the guns.

Satisfied with the work thus far accomplished Commodore Dewey gave the signal and the fleet steamed slowly out of the range of the batteries in order that the crews, which had been continuously at the guns for more than two hours, could go to breakfast. For three hours they remained out of range of the enemy's guns and then the signal for action again fluttered at the helms of the flagship. This time the Baltimore was given the place of honor. She opened up with her guns on the Spanish ships and batteries as coolly as if at target practice. The Raleigh, the Boston, the Concord and the Petrel were directed to break into the inner harbor and destroy every hostile ship in sight. The gunboat Petrel, with

HAS NO EQUAL.

Dewey's Feet Without a Parallel in History.

The officials of the Navy Department were simply amazed at the extent of the mortality inflicted upon the Spanish admiral by Admiral Dewey—for, from the moment when Secretary Long sent his dispatch of congratulation, the commodore became an admiral. Never before, save where some terrible accident, such as the blowing up of a ship had occurred, was there any record of such a result. The opinion was expressed by strategists that with superb judgment Dewey absolutely smothered the fire of the Spanish batteries and ships under the weight of his metal before they had an opportunity to make any effective response.

Admiral Dewey speaks of the Spanish sick and wounded hospital "within our lines." There can be but one interpretation placed upon this, namely, that the admiral has occupied Cavite, a considerable town about seven miles toward the mouth of the bay from Manila. He has thus, supposing he goes no farther, secured a naval base for the naval fleet which will serve through the remainder of the war at least. An important feature of Admiral Dewey's cablegrams is the statement that he destroyed the fortifications at the bay entrance. This refers to the strong forts at Corregidor Island lying at the entrance to the bay and insures the admiral against any interruption in the line of communications with the outside world.

As soon as the news in the cablegrams had been fully absorbed by the officials they turned their attention to the future. It was already in contemplation to send some troops to relieve the squadron of the necessity of occupying Manila and the surrounding batteries should call for them. Secretary Long stated that without waiting further the Government would send troops to re-enforce Admiral Dewey with all promptitude. Secretary Alger and Gen. Miles were communicated with on the subject and they immediately planned all necessary arrangements for the sending of an expedition from San Francisco.

TO OCCUPY THE PHILIPPINES.

Troops to Be Sent There to Hold What Has Been Taken.

Washington special: The administration has decided to occupy the Philippines with a strong military force as soon as possible. For this purpose, Pacific slope troops will be used, and it is expected that at least 5,000 will be en-route within the next ten days. They does not seem to be any doubt as to the government's purpose to hold these islands pending a final settlement with Spain, when they will be used as a collateral to secure the payment to the United States of a war indemnity. High officials are of the opinion that none of the powers will seriously dispute our right to make such final disposition. In any event, this government will be prepared to contest any point which may be raised on this score. Commodore Dewey's great victory has thrown a burden on the United States. What shall be done with the Philippines ultimately? If the United States holds the islands this government at once becomes a factor in all the controversies of the Orient. Many prominent public men are adverse to this if it can be avoided.

SEIZED AND FREED.

FRENCH STEAMER LAFAYETTE HALTED NEAR HAVANA.

Big Liner Taken to Key West, Where Released Quickly Follows When It Is Learned She Had Special Permission to Land in Cuba.

Washington special: Failure of the commanding officers in the blockading squadron off Havana to receive orders sent out by the Navy Department several days previous resulted in the seizure on Thursday evening of the French steamer Lafayette. The ship was halted near Havana by the gunboat Annapolis and after being warned not to enter that port was allowed to proceed. She sailed directly toward Havana, however, and she was again stopped and escorted to Key West by the Wilmington. It was then learned that special permission to enter Havana had been granted her at the request of the French government, but the blockading officials had not been notified of the fact. She was thereupon released and left for Havana immediately.

Uncle Sam on Friday ordered 2,000,000 rations sent at once to Chattanooga from Chicago. This amounted to about four train loads of bacon, hard bread, sugar,

IN A COMMISSARY WAREHOUSE. coffee, beans, salt, pepper and vinegar, which are the component parts of the soldier's bill of fare. The item of bacon alone amounted to twenty-seven carloads, 300,000 pounds. Each of the items of principal food in the list of a ration's constituents was shipped in quantities represented by six figures and the total weight of the whole 2,000,000 rations is 1,500,000 pounds net. Last week there was shipped 1,500,000 pounds of bacon, the packing houses at the Chicago stockyards running night and day to keep up with the demand. The whole amount of bacon required by this big order was the death of 9,000 hogs.

GOING TO CUBA.

War Department Has Plans for Invasion All Completed.

It was learned by a Washington correspondent Monday from very high authority that between 60,000 and 80,000 men will be landed on Cuba, not to invade, the first section of the army to arrive Cuba will be the 15,000 or 18,000 troops that are now assembled at New Orleans and Tampa. They are all regulars, and most of them are men who have seen actual fighting on the plains. They will be followed at once by another army of 50,000 volunteers, who will be concentrated at Southern ports as quickly as the trains can carry them and will be transported as fast as the necessary ships can be collected. It is estimated that it will take at least 300 vessels to carry this immense army to Cuba. Nearly everything that floats has already been secured by the Government.

Fired 140 Tons of Projectiles. There are some very interesting figures as to the amount of firing done by our ships during the battle in Manila bay. The Olympia fired 1,764 shells, aggregating twenty-five tons in weight. The Baltimore did even heavier firing, being called upon to reduce the forts after the first engagement, and sent no less than thirty-five tons of metal into the Spanish ships and the land batteries. The remainder of the fleet shot a total of eighty tons of metal, making a grand total of 140 tons.

Cutting the Cable.

In regard to the cutting of the cable, Admiral Dewey regarded the action as necessary. He sent word to the governor by the British consul that if he was permitted to send his dispatches to the United States Government the cable would not be cut. The governor refused to promise and Admiral Dewey decided to stop all communication between Manila and Madrid.

Ship Junitions of War. Eighteen carloads of munitions of war were shipped Thursday from Rock Island, Ill., to Southern and Atlantic seaports for the army. The shipment includes gun carriages, caissons, Springfield rifles and nearly 3,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

PATRIOTISM TURNED LOOSE!

As soon as it became known that Commodore Dewey's official report had been received, some of Wayne's patriotic citizens fired anvils during the afternoon while others prepared for a demonstration at night, and the latter was a success in every particular. Promptly at eight o'clock the water works, mill and brick yards whistles were turned loose, bells rung and three anvils boomed forth simultaneously, and in less than three minutes Main street was a mass of people. The Wayne Corn Palace Band marched up and down the street playing patriotic air, while the people hollered, boys yelled, and patriotism was visible every where. It was genuine patriotism un-corked. Two big bonfires added to the scenes and all that was lacking was some one to make patriotic addresses. All parties vied with each other in showing their patriotism.

And about the coolest man in the nation today is President William McKinley.

The combined silver forces will meet with a surprise party this fall that will remind them of the "blow that almost killed father."

When Uncle Sam gets through with Spain we'll have her ships and money too—at least, enough of it to pay the expenses of the war.

Fighting Bob Evans has been duly notified that the beginning of hell is in Manila Bay. Its quite a distance from here, but its coming this way.

Follows who have the nerve to still talk about the "free silver forces" ought to be frescoed and painted, and placed an exhibition at the Trans-Missip.

The Exposition at Omaha opens the first of next month, and there'll be music in the air. It will be a great place to celebrate the joyful war news.

Everybody has been all around the globe of late. Geography is a great thing and it is being studied 16 to 1 times more today than for several years past.

Dewey's great victory was no doubt due to Bryan's lectures on the free coinage of silver which he did not deliver since wheat struck $1.25 and then jumped to $1.70 per bushel.

It's too bad the country is going to the dogs, all on account of the war, but it isn't, and about three-fourths of the political parties are living on something worse than hard tack.

Spain's vessels must not get in range of Uncle Sam's guns. They're loaded, and when they go off something must drop. For particulars, see Spanish fleet in the hole in the bay at Manila.

Wheat reached $1.70 per bushel in Chicago last Saturday. Strange how wheat and silver have so widely separated. The old silver song will be a good thing to lay away with the Spaniards. At this time, it can do no harm to speak of the dead.

It's amusing to hear the populists ampoune the republican party principles and dam the party, and in the next breath talk of fusion with democracy, "free silver republican," or any other old thing, and whoop'er up for fusion. Great principle that—the principle of anything for spoils.

When Mark Hanna said there would be no war, the pops thought he was running the government. From events that have since occurred, it is clear that he was venturing an individual opinion, and missed the figure as completely as Hicks does in the majority of his weather prognostications.—State Journal.

Geo. D. Melkiejohn, assistant secretary of war, is already being spoken of in the newspapers as "General" Melkiejohn. Thus do some men, born under lucky stars, fairly leap up the ladder of fame. To be advancing to a general ten days after a declaration of hostilities is glory enough for one war.—Fremont Tribune.

The Madison Reporter thinks McNeal and Beebe of The Herald had better enlist before they do so much worrying about W. J. Bryan not doing so. Bryan has, however, tendered his services to President McKinley, to go to war in any capacity that might be required of him.—Democrat.

As soon as the editors of the Reporter and Democrat enlist, we'll be a close second. The editor of the Herald can truthfully remark that he has already had war on his hands. His partner, Mr. Beebe, was determined to enlist, likewise the clerk at the post office, while the foreman in the Herald office has enlisted, and we have been kept pretty busy holding the boys until they were needed, let alone enlisting.

The Spanish fleet has returned to Cadiz, Spain. They were not looking for the American fleet. In fact, they don't like the sausage making process of the "American pigs."

The Democrat says "Bryan and Dewey in 1900." This is the worst pun sprung on Dewey yet. Commodore Dewey is a republican and hail from a red hot republican state, and we are pleased to inform the Democrat that he belongs to the same party Lincoln and Grant did.

Senator Thurston informs the Journal that he has been working for two weeks to secure the acceptance of an additional quota of troops from this state, with the desire of mustering in the Nebraska artillery battalions. There is, in his opinion, no possible chance of receiving a further call for men, as every state is clamoring for additional allotments and ours already exceeds the quota justified by the population. This will prove a severe disappointment to large numbers of Nebraska men who wish to go to the front with artillery and cavalry organizations.—State Journal.

The probability is that Judge Norris will be the republican candidate for congress in this district this fall. The republican politicians had no further use for the Judge nor honors to bestow upon him when the party was in a dominant state, but since the silver forces have combined and a republican nomination means almost certain defeat, Judge Norris may be allowed to receive the nomination. He is an able campaigner, a forceful orator, a ripe scholar, an honest man and popular with the masses of the common people, therefore his party will doubtless turn to him in its hour of dire dismay. These facts make it imperative that the silver parties select for their candidate in the coming campaign an orator and a campaigner that will wage an active contest all over the district.—Wisner Chronicle.

Bro. Kenower should not worry so much about the republican party in its "hour of dire dismay." The republican party proposes to place in nomination just such men as Judge Norris this fall, a thing The Herald has long since wished to see, and in all probability the Chronicle will discover the free silver dogma is about as dead as any issue can be. Yes, as the Chronicle admits, Judge Norris is an able campaigner, a forceful orator, a ripe scholar and an honest man, and that he is popular with the masses of the common people will be appropriately demonstrated at the proper time.

S. C. P. Jones, Milesburg, Pa., writes: "I have used DeWitt's Early Risers ever since they were introduced here and must say I have never used any pills in my family during forty years of house keeping that gave such satisfactory results as a laxative or cathartic." Orth.

"I would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for its weight in gold," writes D. J. Jones of Holland, Va. "My wife was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. I tried various patent remedies besides numerous prescriptions from physicians, all of which did no good. I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which promptly relieved the cough. The second bottle effected a complete cure." The 25 and 50 cent bottles are for sale by L. P. Orth, druggist.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.
The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys; the second is from careless local treatment of our diseases.

CHIEF CAUSE.
Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder was created for one purpose, and if not doctored too much is not liable to weakness or disease, except in rare cases. It is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly see to it that the urine is free from sediment or settling indicate kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At druggists, fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail, upon receipt of three two-cent stamps to cover cost of postage on the bottle. Mention The WAYNE HERALD and send your address to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, 77 Canton St., New York. This paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

Doctors Can't Cure It!

Contagious blood poison is absolutely beyond the skill of the doctors. They may dose a patient for years on their mercurial and potash remedies, but he will never be rid of the disease; on the other hand, his condition will grow steadily worse. S. S. S. is the only cure for this terrible affliction, because it is the only remedy which goes direct to the cause of the disease and forces it from the system.

I was afflicted with Blood Poison, and the best doctors did me no good, though I took their treatment faithfully. In fact, I seemed to get worse all the while I took every so-called blood remedy, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and had no effect whatever. I was almost despondent for it was felt that I would never be cured. At the advice of a friend I then took S. S. S. and began to improve. I continued the medicine, and it cured me completely, building up my health and increasing my weight. Although this was ten years ago, I have never yet had a sign of the disease to return.

It is like self-destruction to continue to take potash and mercury; besides totally destroying the digestion, they dry up the marrow in the bones, producing a stiffness and swelling of the joints, causing the hair to fall out, and completely wrecking the system.

PLAYING THE PENALTY

matter of the gravest importance. Lang Sellers, our great detective, to accompany him. I am completely at sea.

"Ah, there is some one at the front door now. Yes, and here comes Chloe. What now, Chloe?"

"Mrs. Amos, Doctor Strong and another gentleman is call to see you. I see it's Mrs. Sellers, the detective, and he's powerful tall and he eyes look mighty sharp."

"Show the gentlemen into this room, Chloe. I was expecting them."

"A moment later the doctor and his companion entered the library. "Good evening, doctor. Good evening, Mr. Sellers," exclaimed Amos, rising to his feet and extending a hand to each of his visitors.

"I have been trying to compare up in my case with your case, and I find them very similar. But will give it up. Why, you look as sober as a judge. Even the countenance of our great detective appears perturbed something unusual."

"I doubt not," said the doctor, "that what I feel it a duty to state to you tonight will greatly surprise you. I have a revelation to make that should have been made before. Indeed, I feel that I have been remiss in a grave duty that confronted me. I brought Sellers with me that we might have the benefit of his experience and counsel."

"Well, well," replied the doctor, "bring the doctor from the sideboard, a pitcher of water, glasses and sugar. If I am to fortify myself, Ah, here you come. You may go now, Chloe. Close the door behind you. Now, gentlemen, join me in a toddy, and then for your revelation."

"Amos proceeded to mix the toddies, the three men disposed of them; the doctor advanced to the library door, turned the key, and seats were resumed. "Oh, that was an unnecessary move, doctor," said Amos. "There is no danger of interruption."

"We must be sure," was the reply. "Also must be certain that our conversation will be heard by none save ourselves."

"I declare, I begin to grow alarmed," said Amos, "but rest assured that you will be safe."

or two, then, dropped back lower than ever. The case was very peculiar."

"Wait! Thus the case progressed. Each time he called I believed he was on the safe road to recovery, each time I was disappointed; without apparent cause he would suddenly lapse back into the old condition. This, as you are aware, time passed on one day I was encouraged over his condition. The next day, discouraged; but never did I consider this case truly alarming."

"On the evening of May first, in returning from a visit to a patient, I thought I would call in and see Andrew. As I passed the gate, Earl came out of the house but in hand.

"I was just going for you, doctor," he said. "Mr. Kellogg has another relapse. I hastened to his bedside and found him in convulsions, his wife seated beside him, wringing her hands. In five minutes he was a dead man. I was appalled. His wife seemed heart-broken."

"I immediately notified you of his death. That night I paced the floor of my office until dawn, and when I left the house had determined that Andrew Kellogg had been murdered—that he had met death at the hands of a second Lucretia Borgia."

"I realized that I had been made a dupe—I had been misled in my treatment of his case, and resolved that an inquest should be held over his remains at once. I doubted not that a post mortem would justify my conclusions."

"I made all haste to the residence to view the corpse before calling on the coroner. At eight o'clock I was there. Andrew Kellogg had been but ten hours a dead man. His body had been already embalmed."

"I am perfectly satisfied," said Amos, "that your brother died from natural causes. As you have stated, there may have been many peculiarities about the case, but of one thing I assure you—Ellis Kellogg was a devoted wife, and in your statements you are doing her the greatest injustice. As for Earl—pshaw, doctor! this is all rubbish. But why did you not go on and hold the post mortem?"

"Of what use? The body of Andrew, I stated, had been embalmed. Embalming fluid is composed of the most deadly poisons. The cavities and blood vessels of the frame were filled with it. I was too late. Now, why such haste in embalming the body of her husband, unless to destroy proofs that he had been poisoned?"

"Oh, you are wild, doctor, wild! I myself ordered the undertaker to embalm the body not an hour after you had notified me of his death."

"At whose suggestion?"

"At that? Oh, well, wife and I were at the house twenty minutes after you had notified me. We found Ellis bowed down with grief, and no wonder—the lady had lost her second husband. I stated that I had found the body of her husband in the grave. Between her sobs Ellis asked me if it would not be well to embalm the body. The weather otherwise, you know, would have precluded preserving the remains for any length of time. I judged it would be best and ordered it done at once."

"And yet Stephen was not present at the funeral. How could he have been when the body was interred two days later?"

FROM A RUSTIC BIBLE SCENE

Dr. Talmage in this sermon draws practical and inspiring lessons for all classes of people. The text is Exodus 11:1. "Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro, his father-in-law, the priest of Midian."

The southeastern part of Aenash is a man sitting by a well. It is an arid country and water is scarce, so that a well is of great value, and flocks and herds are driven vast distances to have their thirst slaked.

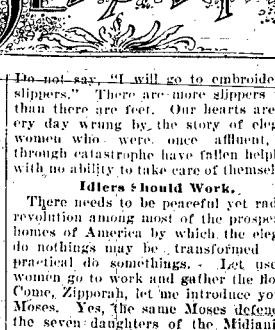

Jethro, a Midianite sheik and priest, was so fortunate as to have seven daughters, and they are practical girls, and under their care driving the sheep and cattle and camels of their father to the watering. They lower the buckets and then pull them up, the water splashing on the stones and chilling their feet, and the troughs are filled. Who is that man out there sitting unconcerned and looking on? Why does he not come and help the women in this hard work of drawing water? But no sooner have the dry lips and panting nostrils of the flocks begun to cool a little in the brimming trough of the well than some rough Bedouin shepherds break in upon the scene, and with clubs and shouts drive back the animals that were drinking and frighten the girls until they fly in retreat, and the flocks of these ill-natured shepherds are driven to the troughs, taking the places of the other flocks. Now that man sitting by the well begins to color up, and his eyes flash with indignation, and all the gallantry of his nature is aroused. It is Moses, who naturally had a quick temper anyhow, as he demonstrated on one occasion when he saw an Egyptian oppressing an Israelite, and gave the Egyptian a sudden clip and buried him in the sand, and as he showed afterward when he broke all the Ten Commandments once by shattering the two granite slabs on which the law was written. But the injustice of this treatment of the seven girls sees him on fire with wrath, and he takes this shepherd by the throat and pushes back another till he falls over the trough and aims a stunning blow between the eyes of another as he cries, "Begone, you villians!" and he hoofs and kicks at the sheep and cattle and camels of these invaders and drives them back, and, having cleared the place of the desperadoes, he told the seven girls of this Midianite sheik to gather their flocks together and bring them again to the watering.

Cares of Home. The fact that it took the seven daughters to drive the flocks to the well implies that they were immense flocks and that her father was a man of wealth. What was the use of Zipporah's bemoaning herself with work when she might have relied on the hillside near her father's tent and plucked buttercups and dreamed out romances and sighed idly to the winds and wept over imaginary sorrows to the brooks? No, she knew that work was honorable and that every girl ought to have something to do, and so she starts with the beating and lowing and bellowing and mighing droves to the well for the watering.

Around every home there are flocks and droves of cares and anxieties, and every daughter of the family, though there be seven, ought to be doing her part to take care of the flocks. In many households not only is Zipporah, but all her sisters, without practical and useful employments. Many of them are waiting for fortunate and prosperous matrimonial alliances, but some longer like themselves will come along and after counting the large number of father Jethro's sheep and camels will make proposals that will be accepted, and neither of them having done anything more practical than to show chocolate caramels the two nuptials will start on the road of life together, every step more and more a failure. That daughter of the Midianite sheik will never find her Moses. Girls of America, imitate Zipporah! Do something practical. Do something helpful. Do something well. Make the best of your fathers with great flocks of absorbing duties, and such a father needs help in home or office or field. Go out and help him with the flocks. The reason that so many men now condemn themselves to unbalanced and solitary life is because they cannot support the modern young woman, who rises at half past 10 in the morning and retires after midnight, one of the trashiest of novels in her hands most of the time between the late rising and the late retiring, a thousand of them not worth one Zipporah.

There are questions that every father and mother ought to ask the daughter at breakfast or tea table, and that all the daughters of the wealthy sheik ought to ask each other: "What would you do if the family fortune should fail, if sickness should prostrate the bread winner, if the flock of Jethro should be destroyed by a sudden extension of wolves and bears and hyenas from the mountain? What would you do for a living? Could you support yourself? Can you take care of an invalid mother or brother or sister as well as yourself? Yea, bring it down to what any day might come to a prosperous family. Can you cook a dinner if the servants should make a strike for higher wages and leave that morning? Every minute of every hour of every day of every year there are families flung from prosperity into hardship, and, alas, if in such exigency the seven daughters of a father can do nothing but sit around and cry and wait for some one to come and hunt them up a signpost for which they have no qualification. Oh, if anything useful; get at it right away! Do not say, 'I were thrown upon my own resources, I would become a music teacher.' There are now more music teachers than could be supported if they were all Mendels and Wagners and Liszt's.

TRAVIS'S SERMON

TRAVIS'S SERMON

Do not say, "I will go to embroidering slippers." There are more slippers now than there are feet. Our hearts are every day wrung by the story of elegant women who were once affluent, but through catastrophe have fallen helpless, with no ability to take care of themselves.

Idlers should work. There needs to be peaceful yet radical revolution among most of the prosperous homes of America by which the elegant do notings may be transformed into useful women go to work and gather the flocks. Come, Zipporah, let me introduce you to Moses. Yes, the same Moses who fed the seven daughters of the Midianite sheik, who afterward rescued all nations.

Why, do you not know that this is the way men and women get prepared for special work. The wilderness of Arabia was the law school, the theological seminary, the university of rock and sand from which he graduated for a mission that will balk seas, and throw armies, and follow the cloud of fire by night, and start the workmen with bleeding backs among Egyptian brick kilns toward the pasture lands that flow with milk and the acres of Canada dripping with honey. (Glorious God, teach all the people this lesson!) You must go into humiliation and retreat, and hidden closets of prayer if you are to be fitted for special usefulness.

For Good or Evil. No one realizes how great he is for good or evil. There are reachings out and rebounds and reverberations and elaborations of influence that cannot be estimated. The fifty or one hundred years of our earthly stay is only a small part of our spiritual life. The day of the winged destroying angel that smote the Egyptian oppressors, the wash of the Red sea over the heads of the drowned Egyptians, were all fulfillments of promises four centuries old. And things occur in your life and in mine that we cannot account for. They may be the echoes of what was promised in the sixteenth or seventeenth century. Oh, the prolongation of the divine memory!

Notice also that Moses was 80 years of age when he got this call to become the faithful deliverer. Forty years he had lived in palaces as a prince. Another forty years he had lived in the wilderness of Arabia. I should not wonder if he had said: "Take a plunger man for this work. Eighty summers have exposed my health. My eyes are dim, my feet are weary, my hands are stiff. There are forty years that I spent among the overbearing youths of a palace, and then follow the forty years of wilderness hardship. I am too old. Let me off. Better call a man in the forties or fifties and not one who has entered upon the eighties." Nevertheless he undertook the work, and if we want to know whether he succeeded ask the abandoned brick kilns of Egyptian taskmasters, and the splintered chariot wheels strewn on the beach of the Red sea, and the timbrels which Miriam clapped for the Israelites passed over and the Egyptians gone under.

Do not retire too early. Like Moses, you may have your chief work to do after 80. It may not be in the high places of the field. It may not be where a strong arm and an athletic foot and a clear vision are required, but there is something for you set to do. Perhaps it may be to round off the work you are already doing, to demonstrate the patience you have been recommending all your life. Perhaps to stand a lighthouse at the mouth of the bay to light others into harbor. Perhaps to show how glorious a sunset may come after a stormy day.

If aged men do not feel strong enough for anything else, let them sit around in our churches and pray, and perhaps in that way they may accomplish more good than they ever did in the meridian of their life.

Let the aged remember that by increased longevity of the race men are not as old at 60 as they used to be, not as old at 70 as they used to be, not as old at 80 as they used to be. Sanitary precaution better understood; medical science further advanced; laws of health more thoroughly adopted; dentistry continuing for longer time successful mastication; homes and churches and court rooms and places of business better ventilated—all these have prolonged life, and men and women in the close of this century ought not to retire until at least fifteen years later than in the opening of the century. Do not pit the barbeques of the past against the more fireless ones of the present. Think of Moses starting off his chief work an octogenarian; forty years of wilderness life after forty years of palace life, yet just beginning.

exact proportion as had Moses, and God, who makes no mistake, found the right man for the right place. Do not fear you will be overlooked or that when you are wanted God cannot find you.

Still further, notice that the call of Moses was written in letters of fire. On the Sinaiite mountains there is a thorn bush called the acacia, dry and brittle, and if easily-gone down at the touch of the flame. It crackles and turns to ashes very quickly. Moses, seeing one of these bushes on fire, goes to look at it. At first no doubt it seemed to be a botanical curiosity, burning, yet crumpling no leaf, parting no stem, scattering no ashes. It was a supernatural fire that did no damage to the vegetation. That burning bush was the call.

Your call will probably come in letters of fire. Ministers get their call to preach in letters on paper or parchment or type-written, but it does not amount to much until they get their next call in letters of fire. You will not amount to much of usefulness until some near you find a burning bush. It may be found burning in the hectic flush of your child's cheek. It may be found burping in business misfortune. It may be found burning in the fire of the world's scorn or hate of misrepresentation. But hearken to the crackle of the burning bush!

Oh, what a fascinating and inspiring character this Moses! How tame all other stories compared with the biography of Moses! Oh, instead of infatigating men like ourselves and circling round and round, let us look up and take some starry guide like Moses and follow on until we join him amid the "delectable mountains." You say you cannot reach his character. Oh, no. Neither can you be guided by its heavenly pointing.

Bovine Valor. The editor saw a deed of valor lately that was worth recording as well as seeing. A herd of cattle, among them two cows accompanied by their calves, were grazing in tall, dead grass when the calves became separated a little from the rest of the cattle, and some wolves started in pursuit of them. After running about 200 yards the calves came to a high, five-wired barbed-wire fence, and, being small, managed to get through it. On the other side of the fence was an open pasture.

The wolves quickly followed the calves through the fence and were rapidly running them down on the other side, when the two cow mothers discovered what was going on. Each uttered a loud bellow, hoisted her tail and started for the rescue.

It appeared to be a hopeless chase, for the wire fence intervened, and the cows were certainly much too large to get through it. They knew well enough that it was there, and could, beside, see it plainly; but both cows plunged straight into it. The watching editor, horrified, looked to see them lurid back, frightfully wounded; but, instead, one of the posts gave way under the onslaught, the wires sank down, and in another moment the mothers were on the pasture side of the fence, badly cut and bleeding, but still able to charge the wolves successfully and put them to flight. Soon the cows were licking the rescued calves affectionately, and the coyotes were howling a disappointed duet from the summit of a knoll near by. Condon Globe. When the soldier boys passed through our town last Friday all the school children were marched into the park and formed a pleasing spectacle of youthful patriotism if the boys had gone slow enough to see them. Our band and many citizens helped the children shout and wave flags as the train went roaring by.

The better class of our citizens have become more and more conscious of the existence of a den of iniquity which has been growing up in our midst, so that it will soon become necessary for them to take legal means to suppress it. Until such means are availed of it is not thought wise to mention any persons connected with it.

The pupils of Mrs. Cora A. Beels gave a recital at the residence of A. T. Chapin May 10. The music was of the highest and most pleasing kind, the performers very well drilled, and the two pianos used were in perfect accord. The many guests present enjoyed the music to the utmost and it was evident not only that Mrs. Beels is an excellent teacher but also that she has found latent talent in Winside which has been developed by her art. Mrs. M. Chapin and Kathryn Chapin played such music and rendered it in such a manner that the result would have been worthy of celebrities who make music their whole study and work.

OBITUARY.
LONGE—After an illness of over 12 weeks Mrs. Augusta C. L. Longe passed away on the 3rd of May at 9 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Longe was born in Germany in 1824 and was married to Frank Longe in 1857. Ten children were born to them, eight of whom are living—six sons and two daughters. Besides her own family she leaves 22 grand children and a large circle of friends to mourn her death. She devoted her life to her home and children, by whom she was held in a most kind and loving mother, and therefore their sorrow is not a short or light one. The usual church services were held at her residence on Thursday, the 5th inst., being Hebrews 4, 9-11. There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God. For he that is entered into his rest, his sins shall cease from him, and he shall be at ease. Let us labor therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief. (A large concourse of friends attended the burial of the remains in the family plot in the Leslie cemetery.)

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their kind assistance and sympathy during the last illness and at the death of our beloved wife and mother.

It doesn't take much knowledge of mathematics to figure out the fact that that dread disease—consumption. Statisticians long ago demonstrated that one-seventh of all the deaths in Christendom each year may be safely attributed to consumption and allied diseases.
There is an almost certain cure and a positive preventive for this fatal disease if taken in time. The story of what it will do is told in the following letter:
"About two and a half years ago, when I was at Flat Lick, Ky., writes J. W. Jordan, Esq., severe pains in the chest, after which I began to spit up blood and was also troubled with night sweats. I began using it and it acted about six bottles. I began to see that it was helping me, so concluded to continue its use. I did so and have improved both in strength and in weight. I have not had the phthisis, nor spit up any blood since last spring."
This great remedy—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—cures 98 per cent. of all larynx, bronchitis, throat and kindred affections which are neglected lead up to consumption. It strengthens the stomach and makes the appetite keen and hearty. It invigorates the liver and aids the natural processes of secretion and excretion. It makes the assimilation of the food perfect. It is the great blood purifier and flesh-builder. Honest dealers will not urge you to take a substitute said to be "just as good."
Send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. FREE. Enclose 21 one-cent stamps to cover mailing only to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy.
