SCAPEGOAT FOR ILLS.

POLITICAL DEMAGOGUES BLAME GOLD STANDARD.

Those Who Would Foment Discontent Attribute Every Moral and Material Ill to the Gold Standard. Bimetallists Routed in Their Own Field.

Not all the unfortunate are shiftless, but shiftlessness are all unfortunate. The shiftless man does not recognize his shortcomings. It is his own fault that he is shiftless. In one respect the shiftless man is the incarnation of poverty.

Beneficial to the Country. It is the gold standard that has done more for the country in the past than any other standard.

Fact vs. Fancy. The politico-trade newspapers are still denying that there is an improved tendency of the times and contending that the "infamous gold standard" is grinding the people into the dust of poverty.

Success of the Popular Loan. The announcement from Washington that the bond sale has been allotted to 300,000 bidders demonstrates the full success of the popular loan.

On one occasion, when the Duke of Sussex of two generations ago presided at a dinner of virtuosi, a distinguished diplomatist among the company produced a snuff-box set in precious stones, the gift of a crowned head to one of his ancestors.

The war loan is one of the best results of the conflict with Spain. In the first place it has added a large army to the number of bondholders.

When the general office of Edison's company was first started in New York, says the Ladies Home Journal, there was always a box of good cigars on the inventor's desk.

There are many indications that the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, as a political issue, is passing. With Mr. Cable and other gold Democrats on the Democratic State Committee in Illinois, by a vote of the convention, it is evident that a decided change has taken place.

ANECDOTE AND INCIDENT

A query in the Paris edition of the New York Herald, asking if the in house is pronounced, recalls the classic story of the self-made M. F., who got up in his seat in Parliament and asked Mr. Speaker: "What is before the 'Ouse to-night?" and was met with the answer: "An H, sir!"

The fact that Dr. Creighton, the Lord Bishop of London, rolled and smoked nineteen cigarettes the other day, while talking with a newspaper man, recalls the story of the big, burly bishop and the little curate in the compartment of a railway car.

Lord Carrington, when governor of New South Wales, made his first public appearance at the mayor's dinner at Sydney. Having committed a few words to paper, he delivered them in reply to the toast of his health.

Among a party in Speaker Reed's room at the Capitol, a few months ago, was General "Joe" Wheeler, whose diminutive stature and agile movements are hardly less remarkable than his military record as a cavalry leader in the Confederate army.

A Maine editor who wrote up a wedding which had not taken place this very neatly explains matters: "Apology is due to the parties concerned. We don't often get caught in this way, but this time we were told so confidently by honest folks that the wedding was a fact that we took the bait and wrote the item."

The populist party seems to be fast out-living its usefulness—if it ever had any.

The young man will have to go a good ways west to grow up with the country now.

If you don't believe the republicans are sanguine of coming out victorious this fall, just watch the fight they put up in the state.

We presume the great dry goods box statesman will hold the fort persistent ly until he gets the grave questions growing out of the war, settled.

Nothing makes the average democrat "hotter" than to call him a populist. Nevertheless, he'll snub a populist thumb no matter how bitter it may be, if there is any show of getting a plum.

The present republican state ticket is the best all around ticket ever placed in nomination by any convention in the state. It ought to be a winner, and if the voters will stop and think and not vote their prejudices there will be no question as to the result.

It took some work of all of the leaders of the pops and popocrats to swing things into line for Judge Robinson for congress, but when the votes are counted next November, it will be found that they didn't swing the voters into line.

There are very few populists getting any pap out of the fusion deals. They seem to have their slaves well in hand but there is an opportunity for a free ballot at the polls, and the independence of the voters will eventually triumph over those ostering for the spoils of office, instead of principles.

So far as The Herald is concerned its columns will not be used to personally attack the nominees of any party, but it will be our earnest effort to set forth facts concerning the republican administration that will be made so plain that fair, thinking voters will realize that the party of prosperity is the one to vote for and that this is no time to vote against business and the administration.

There are quite a number of republicans who become deluded by the cry of "free silver" and stray away from the party fold but this fall there has been an awakening and many of them have returned and boldly proclaim their renewed allegiance to the party of progress and prosperity, and the nation's savior; while others are quietly returning to their first love and will vote a clean republican ticket on the day of election.

The Herald News states that "there's lots to get before Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii, Luzon, Yap, Guam, and the rest of 'our islands' are Americanized—but this, patience, pluck and common sense will do it."

If Judge Jno. S. Robinson is elected to congress the democrats will get cherries and plums, and you can imagine what the populists will get. However the people are about to elect Judge W. F. Norris instead of Robinson.

Under the Republican administration Nebraska state warrants were at a discount. Today, under the "democratic" administration, Nebraska state warrants are at a premium of 1 1/2—Leader.

The Leader man seems to be his old tricks again in trying to bolster up the cause of fusion in this state by lying about the republican party. State warrants were always at par or premium under a republican administration until the hard times set in. Then they fell like warrants from other states and also U. S. bonds. Since President McKinley was elected these bonds and state warrants have risen. But, the populist party now have the audacity to claim that it is due to their administration of affairs. They might as well say that the election of a populist governor and legislature in Nebraska is the cause of the good times in the United States. It would sound about as consistent.—Pierce Call.

T. L. Mathews of Fremont, nominee for auditor, is forty-eight years old. Like all other nominees of the convention his personal character is above reproach. He is a Pennsylvanian by birth, but spent his youth and early manhood in Illinois. He has been in Nebraska a portion of the time for fifteen years, having made his home at Fremont eight or nine years. He is in the real estate and loan business. Mr. Mathews organized the first state bank in Illinois under the new law. He was eight times elected city clerk of Beardstown, Ill., served three years as deputy collector of revenue in Cass county Illinois, served five years as deputy county clerk, was editor and proprietor of the leading county paper for two years, was a member of the assembly and helped organize the celebrated Logan still hunt. He was a lay delegate to the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church held at Cleveland, O. He is a member of several fraternal organizations and served as deputy grand master of the Workmen in Illinois.—Fremont Tribune.

In the country every morning of the year brings with it a new aspect of springing or fading nature, a new duty to be fulfilled upon earth and a new promise or warning in heaven. No day is without its innocent hope, its special providence, its kindly gift and its sublime danger and in every process of wise husbandry and every effort of contending or remedial courage. The wholesome passions, pride and bodily power of the laborer are excited and exerted in happiest union. The companionship of domestic aid, the care of serviceable animals soften and enlarge his life with lowly charities and discipline him in familiar wisdoms and unobtrusive fortitudes, while the divine laws of seed time, which cannot be recalled, harvest, which cannot be hastened, and winter, in which no man can work, compel the impatience and coveting of his heart into labor too submissive to be anxious and rest too sweet to be wanton.—John Roskin.

It is apparent that the popocratic fight against Judge Hayward is to be based on his alleged declaration that the railroads would not let him run for congress. It is not easy to discover how this, if true, can work him an injury in the eyes of the great producing class of the state, the great common people. The result of the republican state convention at Lincoln demonstrated that the railroads did not want him to run for governor, either. Douglas county, which is the head and center of the railroads and their political power in this state, was not for Hayward. The one hundred delegates from that county were at the convention to support, first and last, another candidate for governor. Inasmuch as the delegates from the farm and ranch, from the thickly settled portions of the state and from the sand hills, were there in a solid body for Hayward the only just inference is that Hayward is not a man who can be used by the railroads against the best interests of the people, as, in fact, he cannot be. It is a strong endorsement of the man, and fairminded people are bound to accept it as such.—Fremont Tribune.

Judge Monroe L. Hayward will be fifty-eight years of age on the 22nd of next December. He was born in Willsboro, Essex county, New York, but came to Nebraska in 1867, settling at Nebraska City, where he has resided ever since, practicing law, in which he has been most successful. He has long been recognized as a man of great ability, an excellent orator, and had he sought political preferment in the past would doubtless have been much honored. He was a delegate to the constitutional convention in 1875, and has presided over several state conventions. He served as a district judge of the Second judicial district, but declined to enter the competition for re-nomination. Besides the law he has also engaged in farming and stock raising, and is well posted on the needs of the farmer. He served two years as a soldier, enlisting at the first call for troops in 1861 in the Twenty-second New York infantry and served afterwards in the New York cavalry, in the Fifth regiment. He was honorably discharged for inability, read law and after a year spent at Whitewater, Wis., came to Nebraska.—Lincoln Journal.

THE THREE PLATFORMS.

The combined platform of the three ring circus in this state make several feet of solid printed matter, and owing to their everlasting tendency to put everything in that might catch the unsophisticated voter, coming and going, the several planks (some tall in a very clumsy and unworkmanlike manner. For instance, if the three rings are in earnest about anything, they are eternally opposed to the issue of bonds for any purpose whatever and especially for the purpose of carrying on a war. They "view with alarm" and most emphatically "denounce with indignation" the issue of $200,000,000 in bonds by the government for defraying the extra expenses of the war with Spain.

This by itself sounds very well indeed and is not inconsistent with the general intelligence of the outfit in demanding, as it says it did, that the war be declared, and then refusing, to provide the requisite cash to buy powder and guns and pay the volunteers called out to meet the Spaniards in battle array. Let the government pay the soldiers in 50-cent dollars or in unredeemable paper or any old thing that costs little or nothing, but let no bonds be issued.

But when we go down a little farther and read that if the three ring circus is given the offices and allowed to run the country it will take for the use of the people all the railroad, telegraph and telephone lines in the country and run 'em with a few hundred thousand federal office holders, it strikes us that if it is proposed to acquire these great properties it must either contemplate the issue of several billions of bonds or else wholesale robbery. Which is it?

For a party that a couple of years or so ago was talking of a sub-treasury in every state in the union, from which were to be issued all the bonds that were necessary to enable every farmer to fund his land at two per cent, interest and get the cash advanced on the nail, there seems to be something very sudden in their wholesale denunciation of bonds.

However, the pops and popocrats are compelled by the exigencies of the times to make exceedingly short turns from time to time. If the three ringed circus could only meet and make a new platform today, barely two weeks later than the date of its last platform, it would hasten to swallow its fool bull against "expansion" and its fool talk about a "war of conquest" and get in out of the wet with a welcome to Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Isle of Pines and the Philippines as a very welcome addition to Uncle Sam's domain.

That is where the Texas and Missouri popocrats hold the age on the short-sighted Nebraskans. About two conventions a month are necessary for the pop brethren to keep up with the rush these times.—State Journal.

WAR DRIFT.

All Americans are prouder than ever of their country since the war.

The conduct of the war was glorious.

There will be more veterans now.

Two year men were not needed in the late war, according to the Spanish idea of satisfying Spanish honor. It doesn't require much time, but our people are in no way sorry.

Nebraska is too large and her people too liberal minded to put a prohibitionist in the governor's chair. Poynter will receive a pointer from the voters of Nebraska this fall and the indicator will not be toward the capitol either.—O'Neill Frontier.

WATERING FARM ANIMALS.

All farms are not amply supplied with stock water. All farmers do not water stock as they should. A great many of the ailments of farm stock come from improper feeding and watering, and very often many of them are traceable to the latter. If the supply is a little short or unhandy the stock are sometimes out a little short of the quantity they should have at that time, and are supposed to lay in a supply when water is handy. We believe there is just as much in the quality of the water for farm animals as there is for the family. An animal will drink filthy water if it must. There is no good reason why the horse or cow should drink water that is not good for the human being. A veterinarian says many diseases are traceable to the manner of watering and the quality of the water given to stock. If you have a well that contains typhoid fever germs, you do not want your family to drink it, but it may be given to the cow, which converts it into milk, and you let the family drink the milk. We plead for plenty of water for the stock, and it should be convenient and of such a condition that will admit of its use by the family. By having it handy the stock will be watered regularly and there will rarely be any trouble by giving too much water. Where it is possible we believe the automatic waterers should be supplied. Stock running at large will then water themselves when they desire.

The quantity of water is very important. No animal will drink too much water if it has plenty at will. There is no reason why an animal should be deprived of water for a long time. There are horses so constituted and habituated that they should not drink very much water while they are very warm. There are others that will receive little or no injury by being watered when warm. Horses at rest should be watered three times per day in the summer time and twice in winter. If they are running at large they will seldom drink oftener than this. As a rule we believe the practice of watering work horses after they have taken their dinner is not to commend. If they have plenty before they have been fed, they had better not have any more water until digestion has been completed.—Iowa Homestead.

Randall, not many months since, in a speech made at the court house, boasted of how populism had swallowed democracy, but judging from the recent nomination of the fusion deal in this congressional district, there is nothing visible of the populist rag in this district but a small piece of the tail, while the free silver republicans have been shown the door.

President McKinley will visit the exposition at Omaha during the month of October, and he will be most heartily welcomed.

Wayne has a few heavy men that President McKinley should call upon at once to settle the great issues of the day.

POLITICAL POINTS.

John M. Thurston will be the pride of the republican party as long as he lives. No detraction and no words of discredit can affect his hold on the hearts of the people. He has made his own greatness and popularity without the help of anyone and he needs the help of no one to retain it.—York Times.

General Lee will enter the senatorial race in Virginia and most every American, aside from party politics, will hope that he will be successful.

Judge Robinson is a pretty good man and so is Judge Norris. Therefore, if you are in favor of prosperity and wish to continue the party in power that restored prosperity, and that can and will uphold the United States as one of the foremost nations of the earth, vote for Judge Norris, and give your sanction to the present administration.

The editor of the Madison Reporter should bear in mind that there are others who used money that did not belong to them, and that only out of sympathy were they saved considerable grief, when it boldly asserts that Hayward if elected, would liberate Bartley. The Reporter knows it is false. Bartley will serve his term out to the bitter end, and there is not a single republican in the state who has a spark of sympathy for the cur that betrayed his trust.

Col. Hay, ambassador to London, has accepted the office of Secretary of State to succeed Secretary Day.

The Madison Reporter boldly asserts that Judge Robinson worked in a glass factory to earn the money to obtain his education. Well! Is this one of the great things the Judge has done for his country? We supposed every man had the privilege of doing that same thing.

Maxwell was all right once, but he won't do now.

Nebraska is too large and her people too liberal minded to put a prohibitionist in the governor's chair. Poynter will receive a pointer from the voters of Nebraska this fall and the indicator will not be toward the capitol either.—O'Neill Frontier.

Priceless Pain

"If a price can be placed on pain, 'Mother's Friend' is worth its weight in gold as an alleviator. My wife suffered more in ten minutes with either of her other two children than she did all together with her last, having previously used four bottles of 'Mother's Friend.' It is a blessing to any one expecting to become a mother," says a customer.

Time writes Henderson Dale, Druggist, of Carmi, Ill., to the Bradford Field Regulator Company, of Atlanta, Ga., the proprietors and manufacturers of "Mother's Friend." This successful remedy is not one of the many internal medicines advertised to do unreasonable things, but a scientifically prepared liniment especially effective in adding strength and elasticity to those parts of woman's organism which bear the severest strains of childbirth.

The liniment may be used at any and all times during pregnancy, up to the very hour of confinement. The earlier it is begun, and the longer used, the more perfect will be the result, but it has been used during the last month only with great benefit and success.

It not only shortens labor and lessens the pain attending it, but greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists at $1.00, or sent by express on receipt of price.

THE FAMILY STORY

THE civil war had been over just ten years when Glory Price was born.

They called her Glory because, when her soldier father had, with awkward tenderness, first taken the warm little bundle into his arms, he had glanced up at the bullet-ridden flag that always hung above the family mantel and said softly: "Margaret, I nearly gave my life for 'old glory'; and you all but gave yours for baby; suppose we call her 'little Glory?'"

"HEARD THE NEWS?" HE INQUIRED, EXCITEDLY.

ty sleeve and look up to the weather-beaten face she loved so well and wonder "what a little girl like Glory Price could ever do to serve her country."

WHAT THE LAW DECIDES.

The inability of a juror to read or write the English language, which is not known to the defendant in a prosecution until after the trial, is held, in State vs. Pickett (Iowa), 39 L. R. A., 902, to give no right to a new trial.

FROM MACATAWA BEACH, MICH.

A Former Wayne Clergyman Writes a Brief but Interesting Letter for Publication in The Herald.

MACATAWA BEACH, Mich., Aug. 16, '98.
 Dear HERALD: I am enjoying my summer vacation on the eastern shore of Lake Michigan, and am quite convinced that for a good time and "heap eat" this country is hard to excel. I was here about a year ago, and now as then am with old time friends in one of the very many summer cottages. This is quite an extensive summer resort; over seventeen hundred people in the cottages and six hundred or more in the hotels.—Chicago people predominating.

As I sit on the broad veranda of my temporary abiding place and catch the invigorating breeze from grand old lake Michigan and listen to the undulating swell and swish of the sporting waves and note the white sand hills on the right and left, which with their pine-clad tops have stood sentinel over this part of nature's forces for centuries, I am inclined to object to just one part of St. John's description of heaven; when he says: "There shall be no more sea." I fear I should be loathsome on earth or in heaven without some broad expanse of water. With this exception I heartily endorse the vision of the seer of Patmos.

The hottest day is cool on Macatawa Beach. To me this place has peculiar charms. It was here, where, thirty years ago, before this was a summer resort, wife and I climbed these hills when we were boy and girl. It is here we often shot out in frail skiff or canoe and navigated the broad inland bay, or sometimes ventured out into the big lake and rested on the silvery beach to pick blackberries or gather wild grapes. It is here too among these sylvian shades that my life took on its form and definite future. So you see I am at home, meeting familiar faces. Can see here and there too evidences of wrecked and stranded souls in the faces of old time acquaintances. Commonplace boys and girls, on the other hand, have made places for themselves in life's vast beehive. The faces of erstwhile happy boys and beautiful girls have grown anxious and care-worn and faded. But I must not moralize, for as soon as I finish this and a basket of Michigan peaches, a handsome steam yacht is waiting to give me a ride on the broad bay.

Think of it, ye Waynites, a big basket of peaches for ten cents! And fish—pickered, silver bass, perch, trout galore. Besides the food for the outer man we have a large auditorium where we can listen to some noted speakers.

Yours truly,
 F. P. BAKER

entirely through his body. As this sort of rifle is rare here it is thought that the person who fired the shot may be discovered.

Deck Pittenger of Albion was in Windsor the first of the week. It is reported that the Pittenger family are about to return to live among us again; they are old settlers and would be welcomed.

Mr. McElreth, formerly manager of Turner & Brenner's Elevator here, worked in Trenn's meat market from Thursday to Monday night when he and his wife started to Coleridge, driving a team and leading their cow.

Hayden Hutchinson and wife started Saturday with four horses for Omaha where they intend looking at the exposition, thence they will visit relatives in Iowa and perhaps in Missouri returning home in about one month.

Mrs. E. E. Olds hitched her team in front of Waldo Smith's residence on Monday and as the post to which she fastened them was rotten, they pulled it up and ran away, being frightened by the dangling post. They were caught about a mile from town, having smashed the wagon to pieces but not being seriously injured themselves.

NORTH NEBRASKA NOTES.

Supt. Panabaker and son, Earl, visited the summer school of Althods at Sioux City Wednesday and Mr. Panabaker a meeting of the committee of Northeast Nebraska Teachers' Association to arrange and make arrangements for the association meeting to be held Thanksgiving week at Wayne.—Hartington Herald.

Frank Gartner met with a very painful accident last week while cutting grain. The seat on the binder accidentally broke, letting him fall with his whole weight on an oil can which was directly under the seat, forcing the nozzle of the can some three or four inches into the flesh. He writes home from Norfolk where he is receiving medical treatment that he is getting better slowly.—Bloomfield Monitor.

The Randolph business men—some of them—were roped in by a couple of windy and smooth fellows who were around the town recently, talking up an advertising bulletin. They went around and worked a lot of business men for $5 apiece and placed their ad on a fancy bulletin board that will remain in use about two or three months and be read by about half of the town people. The business men couldn't afford to advertise in the home paper—doesn't pay, you know. How much benefit will they get out of this deal they have been worked into?

CARROLL.

Crops are looking fine. Fall plowing has already commenced. Mrs. Beach left Thursday morning to attend the exposition. Mr. Manning's elevator is now completed and in working order. Miss Abby Manning was the happy recipient of a beautiful piano Monday. A hayrack load of young folks enjoyed a ride to the Welsh settlement last week. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Swartz, Mary and Harry Gardner, were visitors in Wayne Wednesday. Ellis Cox returned to Carroll bringing with him a bride. We welcome Mr. and Mrs. Cox to Carroll and wish them a perfect union of happiness and peace. The patriotic entertainment given by Chas. Morris' class in the hall Saturday evening was well attended and enjoyed. The receipts were given to the church.

THE COMMISSIONERSHIP

As the time for the commissioner's convention in this district approaches republican candidates for nomination begin to come to view. We understand that M. S. Moats, of Sherman precinct, would accept the nomination. It is also rumored that E. C. Brooks of Garfield, is a candidate, but of this we cannot speak positively. As to Commissioner Harrigfield, we are so far wholly in the dark. First we hear that he wants the nomination, then that he will not be a candidate, etc. Hence, in view of these conflicting rumors, and in the absence of any declaration from the gentleman so far as we know, we are at a loss to know whether he is after the nomination, or would refuse if tendered him. There has been a little undercurrent of talk here about a candidate from this place, but no definite conclusion has yet been reached as to whether or not there shall be a candidate, or who he shall be if there is. The Tribune is not particularly concerned as to what locality furnishes the candidate, but is anxious that harmony and good feeling shall prevail, and that whoever is nominated shall have the united support of his party in all parts of the district. We don't want to fuse with the populists, or democrats, but we do believe in a fusion of the friends of all candidates in the republican party, as such fusion is for principle, not for spoils. We have heard nothing said as to whom the opposition will put up, but if we were to venture a guess we would say it is likely to be E. W. Cullen, if he will accept the nomination.—Windside Tribune.
