Sheriff Cherry found a small hole through the window screen at the jail on Tuesday, and suspecting all was not just right, got Marshal Miner to assist him in making a search through the jail, with the result that two saws and a file were found secreted in one of the bunkers. Evidently the occupants had been receiving assistance from outside parties, but their plans were nipped in the bud.

Stanton Picket: Last Saturday we visited the much talked of Wayne county court house and was surprised at its impressiveness. It cannot be classed as a handsome structure but it has some merits. When the people of that county are through with it, it will make a fairly good cow barn. In fact there are some worse barns in this county than that old house would make. Then, too, it would be convenient for some defaulting official who wanted to obliterate all traces of his misdeeds after the fashion of Louis Spear, the democratic ex-clerk of Dodge county, some years ago. The old pine shed would make an excellent blaze and would not be difficult to ignite. Just a little effort on the part of one so inclined would create a big blaze and rid the county of a lot of cumbersome records. Then there is no grass to keep off of or trees to be ruined by stock or fence to be defaced by jack knives. After considering these virtues we are surprised that the Wayne county press should be everlastingly clamoring for a new court house. It strikes us that the boys are just a little aesthetic and overly particular.

UNDUE ALARM.

There is no need of becoming alarmed on account of the few cases of diphtheria that have appeared in the city. They are of a very mild form and due precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

Only five cases have developed: two at Mr. Fling's, north of B, F. Feather's, the little daughter of Robt. Mellor, and the little sons of A. A. Welch and T. W. Moran. These residences have been quarantined, and if every family will observe proper caution there need be little fear of the appearance of any more cases.

MARRIED.

Tuesday, Oct. 11, 1898, at the home of the bride's parents in this city, occurred the wedding of Mr. Ralph Grier, of Blunt, S. D., and Miss Lena Hitchcock, of Wayne, Rev. Thomas Bitball of the M. E. church performing the ceremony.

The above parties are two of the brightest and most worthy young people who ever took the marriage vows. Mr. Grier held a position in the First National Bank here for a number of years, and no more trustworthy or efficient young man ever stood behind the counters of a bank. He is at present located at Blunt, S. D., where he has an excellent position in the Hughes County Bank. Miss Hitchcock is one of our most accomplished young ladies and for the past three years has been engaged in teaching music in Wayne and adjoining towns. She will be greatly missed by her pupils and also by the M. E. church where she has acted in the capacity of organist for a number of years. Among the many presents received by the young couple was a set of silver knives, forks, and spoons, presented by the church as a token of the appreciation of the services rendered by Miss Hitchcock as organist.

Mr. and Mrs. Grier left on the afternoon train for Omaha where they will visit the exposition a few days, returning to Wayne to remain over Sunday. The first of the week they go to Blunt, S. D., and will begin housekeeping at once. THE HERALD joins with their many Wayne friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

Among those from other towns who were present at the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Baker, of Marshalltown, Iowa, A. T. Chapin, and family of Winside, Mrs. Cameron, Don and Marie Cameron, of Haman, Mr. Drake of Decorah, Iowa, and Mrs. Fred Hoffman of Randolph.

Teacher's Association.

WAYNE, Neb., Oct. 5, 1898.

Meeting was called to order by Miss C. M. White, acting as temporary president. The attendance was good, there being about fifty teachers present, even though a number of them were visiting the carnival or the exposition.

Rev. Lemon not being present, Miss White conducted the opening exercises, after which the association proceeded to the election of officers. Miss White was chosen president, Mr. Frank Nangle, vice president, and Nellie Miller, secretary. The program was then taken up. The first subject was "Mental Arithmetic." Opening discussion was led by Anna Hansen, who deserves credit for the manner in which she brought out the importance of this, too often, neglected subject. In fact many of the teachers were free to express their opinion on the importance of this "lost art."

Mr. Bright having had his subject postponed until afternoon, the meeting adjourned until 1:30 p. m.

After dinner Mr. Howard talked on the subject of Augsburg drawing as Mrs. Pile was not present. Many went away in search of Augsburg's text after the meeting closed, probably owing to the manner in which he presented the subject.

Next came Mr. Bright, who had prepared a very interesting paper on the subject, "World of Matter." He spoke of many simple and instructive experiments which might be performed in any school with very little cost or trouble.

As Mrs. Wolf was not able to be present, the last subject was not spoken on. The association decided to meet again the second Saturday in November. NELLIE MILLER, Secretary.

A Correction.

Editor Cunningham's reference to Mrs. Wagner and the Merchants' Carnival in last week's Republican was slightly misleading, and I deem it proper that the facts should be stated just as they are. This is no defense of Mrs. Wagner, for if she failed to represent the matter properly to the business men she needs to be censured. However, Mrs. Wagner did not carry away $75.00, and furthermore the Ladies' Aid Society received more than $25.00. Thirty-two firms were represented in the Carnival, only twenty-nine of which paid the required dollar and a half, making $43.50 that Mrs. Wagner received. Two firms paid their money directly to the ladies' aid. The proceeds at the opera house amounted to $47.00, half of which Mrs. Wagner received; adding this to the amount received from the merchants, equals $67.00. Mrs. Wagner was here two weeks, and paid out to Wayne people of the money she received, nearly thirty dollars in opera house rent, board, printing, etc. Instead of carrying away $75.00 the lady actually took about forty dollars, and she did all the work in drilling the girls and getting up the entertainment.

Come, Ephraim, stick to your oft declared motto, and "be just."

Tuesday evening as the lamps were being put out, in the dining room at the Boyd, one of them fell to the floor, and a blaze started. It was thought for a time that it would be necessary to turn in a fire alarm, but fortunately the immediate action of a traveling man put out the fire before much damage was done.

W. C. Kelly, a prominent farmer living south of the Shields ranch, died last Wednesday and was buried Sunday at Hastings. Mr. Kelly was bacheling, and was taken sick from the effects of eating a lot of boiled eggs and meat at a late hour one night. He was a very hard working man, and his death will be a great shock to his friends.—Wayne Democrat.

THE WORST IS OVER

LEECK LAKE INDIANS ACCEPT BACON'S TERMS.

Redskins Informed That the Offending Pillagers Must Be Given Up—Runners Sent Out to Notify the Hostiles—Other Items of Interest.

Council with Chippewas. A special from Walker says the council with the Indians was held Tuesday afternoon. Gen. Bacon told them that the pillagers must give up the men for whom warrants were out and must themselves return to the agency. The terms were well received by the chiefs and runners sent out to notify the pillagers. It is thought that the hostiles will accept and that the worst is over.

Washington. Officials of both the war department and the interior department are inclined to believe that the seriousness of the Indian uprising in Minnesota has been exaggerated. They are not disposed, however, to take any action for granted. Adjt. Gen. Corbin telegraphed Gen. Bacon that he could have about 1000 men in the field in a few days to quell the demonstration of the hostiles. The fourth infantry, now at Columbus barracks, has been placed at Gen. Bacon's disposal. Both regiments are prepared to move to the scene of the uprising at a few hours' notice.

FRIENDLY DINNER IN CUBA.

United States Evacuation Commission Act as Hosts.

Havana. The members of the United States evacuation commission gave an elaborate luncheon to the members of the Spanish evacuation commission at the Hotel Trocha el Prado. The Spanish commissioners were all present. There were twenty-eight persons at the table. The center piece was a large bouquet of flowers of the colors of the Spanish national banner. All the speeches were carefully avoided politics. After luncheon the American commissioners entertained their guests in a friendly conversation, no allusions to the war, the evacuation, or the political situation being made. When the Spanish commissioners left the hotel to take the train for Havana several of the American officers accompanied them to the station.

SPANISH PRISONERS TO BLAME

Report on the Trouble on the Cruiser Harvard.

Washington. Col. Dudley, assistant judge advocate general, has made a report to the secretary of war on the trouble which occurred on board the Harvard soon after the arrival at San Antonio. At that time some 400 or 600 Spanish prisoners were on board this ship under the guard of Massachusetts and Michigan volunteers. A riot occurred among the prisoners and the soldiers shot several of the Spaniards before quiet was restored. Col. Dudley sustains the contention of the American officers and soldiers and places the blame for the trouble upon the Spanish prisoners.

BUYS THE DRUMMOND PLANT

American Tobacco Company Pays $3,475,000 for the Property.

St. Louis. The rumored sale of the Drummond Tobacco Company's plant to the American Tobacco Company was confirmed today. The cash price was $3,475,000, paid by the American Tobacco Company in certified checks drawn to the order of Harrison I. Drummond, president of the now defunct plant. The sale of the Drummond Company was outright. There were no stock considerations. The American Tobacco Company simply paid $3,475,000 in cash for the real estate and plant, buildings, stock in hand and the good will of the Drummond plant. The stock of the latter ceases to be of value. The deal was consummated between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday evening by the signing of the various necessary documents and the delivery of the certified checks to Mr. Drummond, who represented the property to other stockholders. The American Tobacco Company immediately took possession of its new property and Monday morning the employees began working under the new management.

At first he took the usual household remedies, but was not relieved. At Hendricks arrives he will have to live on predigested foods, such as will not require the action of gastric and stomachic juices.

At this place is concentrated about all that remains of the Spanish army of occupation of the Philippines outside of the few troops on the island of Luzon. In dispatching troops from Spain to the islands, the Spanish government has raised the direct question as to the right to reinforce troops not engaged in actual hostilities with the insurgent forces. The weight of opinion here is that this action is permissible and does not constitute a breach of the terms of the protocol suspending hostilities. A good deal, however, may depend on whether the Spaniards confine their operations to other stockholders. The details to carry on an offensive warfare against the insurgents.

The ship to which Admiral Dewey referred is the Spanish transport Buenos Ayres, and it has been reported later that it is laden with 7000 men, and instead of troops. Still the principle at stake is said to be the same as if troops were concerned.

ITINERARY OF PRESIDENT M'KINLEY'S WESTERN TRIP.

IN THE GRASP OF FEVER.

Yellow Jack's Tentacles Spread Over Mississippi.

Without the intervention of fresh supplies of yellow fever, the entire state of Mississippi seems to be in the grasp of the fever. Each night's report indicates how surely and rapidly the disease is getting the whole state into its clutches. The continuance of the present warm weather will guarantee a further spread, which the resources of the State Board seem unable to stem. The disease is firmly seated in all the different sections of Mississippi, and its appearance in counties adjoining those already in the grasp of the fever is only a question of a short time. The State Board of Health has, of course, long ago despaired of confining the infection, and now directing itself more to the general work of relief and securing of supplies for the places that are stricken. It is still waging a stubborn but hopeless fight against the rapid advance and whenever a new place is reported a State inspector is sent at once with orders to isolate and quarantine the town. As a general thing, however, the exposure has usually been too widespread to render this inspection of any great value. The appeal of the Governor of the State to the Federal Government for relief had the effect of arousing neighboring States to the necessities of the situation. About $200,000 has been distributed in aid of general distribution of the supplies of food and supplies. The helpless disposition of negro reprobates confined in Jackson and other towns without material alleviation. They crowd as close to the guard lines as possible when any one goes down near the confined district and the negroes have no supplies. Many without families have no means of support and away from hopeless, ignorant creatures, they cannot understand why they should be sacrificed for the general good. The executive department of the State government is located at Brandon, Miss., a small station on the Queen and Crescent road, twenty miles from Jackson. Jackson is the largest city in the state, and the center of the disease among negroes has demonstrated that they are no more immune than white people. The mortality remains small, only five deaths having been recorded to date at the State capital. In the smaller towns, however, new cases are reported daily in totally unexpected quarters. Reading that its efforts were unavailing, the Mississippi State Board of Health has appealed for aid to the Federal Government. Since the spreading of the yellow fever into districts and even towns with a small population, the condition of affairs has rapidly grown gloomy. How that gloom is deepening to official figures are in absolute want of food, not to mention the necessity for the nurses. The worst stage that the infection has reached is proved by the official appeal for aid to the President of the United States issued by the State Board of Health. A grotesque illustration of the state of public feeling was reported by Dr. Harrison, health officer of the city of Philadelphia. A tramp entered the neighborhood of Phillips, a small inland town in that country, three days ago. He was taken sick, and sought refuge in a small house. He died in a few days before he was discovered, and his sickness diagnosed by Dr. Harrison as yellow fever. The whole neighborhood was in a panic. Jackson was wired for an expert to come and confirm the diagnosis. None of the citizens would go near the patient, who was in a dying condition. Dr. Harrison was compelled to leave his house for a few hours. When he returned the church was in ashes, and the tramp consumed in the flames. The yellow fever reports show a total of 465 cases in Louisiana this summer, and thirty deaths and 351 cases in Mississippi and thirty-five deaths.

DATE NOW FIXED.

Spaniards Must Give Up All the Cuban Custom Houses on Dec. 1.

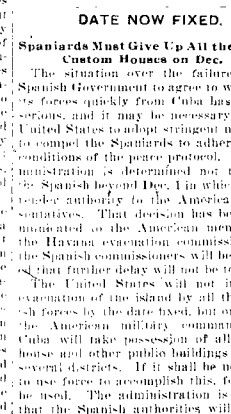

The situation over the failure of the Spanish Government to agree to withdraw its forces quickly from Cuba has become serious, and it may be necessary for the United States to adopt stringent measures to compel the Spaniards to adhere to the conditions of the peace protocol. The administration is determined not to grant Spanish beyond Dec. 1 in which to surrender authority to the American representatives. That decision has been communicated to the American members of the Havana evacuation commission, and the Spanish commissioners will be informed that further delay will not be tolerated. The United States administration has an examination of the island by the Spanish forces by the date fixed, but on Dec. 1 the American military commanders in Cuba will take possession of all custom house and other public buildings in their several districts. If it shall be necessary in use for to accomplish this, force will be used. The administration is hopeful that the Spanish authorities will bow to the inevitable which they have learned that the United States Government proposes to do, and all trouble will be averted. From reports of the American commissioners it is evident to the President and his cabinet that the Spanish commission is not a genuine one, and that the sole purpose of holding on to the revenues of Cuba as long as possible. With the exception of Santiago, the principal ports of Cuba are still in the possession of the Spaniards, who hold the custom houses and collect duties. The president's attitude of the Spanish commission is such, however, that they may attempt to make trouble if American troops are landed at Havana and other important ports. Although the administration is confident that this defiant disposition will change when the Spaniards realize how determined the government is, every preparation will be made to meet any emergency that may be presented. Maj. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's Seventh army corps will be in possession of the city of Havana long before the date on which the custom house there must be surrendered. His troops will go into camp on the outskirts of the city, but will peacefully await the arrival of the Spaniards when they arrive.

In 1857 he entered the service of the Illinois Central, and later that of the Rock Island, and was afterward employed by the Government in the service of the Pacific Railroad. About this time Gen. Dodge established the banking and trading house of Baldwin & Dodge at Council Bluffs, Iowa, and he has never given up his residence in that city, although he spends much of his time in New York. Gen. Dodge went to the civil war as colonel of the Fourth Iowa infantry, and was severely wounded in the Missouri campaign. When he recovered he was made a brigadier general of the Illinois Central, and later that of the Rock Island, and was afterward employed by the Government in the service of the Pacific Railroad. After the war Gen. Dodge was REPUBLICAN TICKET.

STATE.

For Governor—M. L. HAYWARD, Otoe County. Lieutenant Governor—GEO. A. MURPHY, Gage County. Secretary of State—GEN. DURAN, Saline County. Auditor—T. L. MATTHEWS, Dodge County. Treasurer—PETER MORIENSEN, Valley County. Supt. of Public Instruction—J. F. SAYLOR, Lancaster County. Attorney General—N. D. JACKSON, Antelope County. Com. Public Lands and Buildings—G. R. WILLIAMS, Douglas County. Senator, 11th District—JOHN R. HAYS, Madison County. Representative, 17th District—LOUIS SMITHBERGER, Stanton County.

CONGRESSIONAL.

For Congressman, 3rd District—W. F. NORRIS, Wayne County.

COUNTY.

For County Attorney—FRANK M. NORTHPROP, For Commissioner, 3rd District—M. S. MOATS, Sherman Precinct.

Judge Norris has it all his own way so far as Robinson is concerned in the congressional race.

Northrop is gaining rapidly and to all appearances will be elected county attorney by a handsome majority.

The voters of Wayne county do not propose to be fooled this fall and the republican majorities will range from one to two hundred.

Stout City's great Carnival is over but it will long be remembered as one of the most successful events her business men ever undertook.

Louis Smithberger, the republican nominee for representative of this district, is one of the best men who ever accepted the nomination for any office. He is a practical farmer, and knows the needs of that class of people. He will make an ideal representative and one whom the farmers can depend upon to look after their best interests. You will never regret it if you vote for Smithberger.

Judge Norris made many friends by his recent visit here. He is an able campaigner, a forceful orator, a ripe scholar and a man above reproach. It would be a credit to the district and state to have him represent us in congress. He has no private deals to champion, his whole energy and efforts would be put forth for the best interests of his district, state and nation, and he would work in complete harmony with the McKinley administration.—Burt County Herald.

There are other questions in this campaign besides the election of a United States Senator, but some of the populist sheets have lost sight of everything but the return of Wm. V. Allen to the Senate. In this senatorial district they are urging the people to vote for Hale because he is a strong Allen man. Yes, and that's about all he would be able to do if elected. But he is not going to be elected. Hon. Jno. R. Hays will represent this district and while he will vote for a republican U. S. senator he will also look after the interests of the farmers of this district. If you want a senator who will be able to accomplish something vote for Jno. R. Hays.

It looks to an outsider that the arrest of Senator Quay on the charge of conspiracy to break a bank in Philadelphia in connection with the late state treasurer of Pennsylvania was a political blunder as everybody acknowledges it was done by those who are fighting against his re-election to the senate. The treasurer had a large amount of state funds in the bank and Quay had borrowed some small sums from the same institution. The bank was robbed by its own officials and forced to suspend, but the state has recovered its deposits and Quay promptly paid back his loans. The friends of Quay claim that he will certainly prove his innocence in the matter, and if he does, the reaction against the people who named his arrest in the midst of the campaign will be memorable. Americans like to see fair fighting.—State Journal.

Col. Roosevelt, in making a speech at the opening of the republican campaign in New York, said: "I should ask the people of this country to support the administration of President McKinley, if for no other reason than because, say what you like, the victory at the polls of the men who are opposing and denouncing his administration in this election will be interpreted abroad as meaning, on the part of America, a repudiation of the war from which we have just emerged triumphant. It will result in the partial undoing of what our army and navy have accomplished. It will mean the chance of great complications and the likelihood of our meeting obstacles when it comes to reaping the fruit of our triumph. Above all, we must do nothing to give the feeling that we may reverse our attitude in the question of a sound and stable currency." The voters of this state can assist in the support of the administration by voting for republican representatives and senators. A United States Senator is to be elected by the people and he must be a republican. In commenting on the above portion of Col. Roosevelt's speech the Chicago Inter Ocean says: "The more this argument is weighed the more momentous it seems. A democratic victory in the congressional and state elections this fall will mean not only the repudiation of the war policy, but the impelling of all that was accomplished in the war. We achieved during the war more than we had achieved in the previous twenty years. If the republicans are defeated this fall we shall lose all the prestige gained, and our second state will be even less satisfactory than our first. We shall lose ground that it will take us twenty years and ten times the effort of the last nine months to recover. If the republicans are defeated at the polls November 8, Spain will be encouraged. There will be resistance instead of acquiescence in Cuba, and anarchy in the Philippines. Not only may we lose our hold on the West Indies and in the Asiatic Pacific, but we may lose control of the Nicaragua canal. Never since the great elections of 1864-68 has so much depended on the vote of the people as this fall."

BLIND CONDUCTORS.

There are few men who would risk traveling on a railroad train drawn by an engine in charge of a blind engineer and a blind fireman. There are few lovers of music who would entrust the conduct of an orchestra to a deaf and dumb leader. But a railroad train managed by the blind and an orchestra led by a deaf man would be as safe and successful as a financial system founded by the fanatics of free silver sixteenth to one. Only those who can see may manage engines and run railroads. Only those who can hear and speak may conduct orchestras. Only those who have learned by diligent study and experience that the circulation of a country must be pure and sound as an essential precedent to national health and prosperity may be permitted to prescribe laws relative to money. No man that dreams or talks in his sleep, to the effect that law is the sole creator of money and that law can evoke value from nothingness should be elected to any legislative body in America. No man who has thought enough and read enough to know that in all its civilized career the race has never successfully used for money anything which did not have value as a commodity before it became money is fit to help to make laws in this country. Too many blind men, too many deaf men have been running the law-making business and leaving the industrial music of the United States. Only men of merit whose eyes have carefully reviewed history and economics ought to be elected legislators and all those deaf to the voices of the past which recite the woes of flat finance from France to Mississippi should be excluded from the lists of law givers.—The Conservative.

About the only charge made against Judge Norris is that he was once nominated by both the Populist and the Republican parties and was elected to the responsible office of district judge. We fail to see where there is any discredit in this. Having attended that Populist convention we know that the nomination was made on a strictly non-partisan basis. It was distinctly understood at the time and throughout the campaign that Judge Norris did not become a Populist in order to accept the Populist nomination neither did the Populists ever ask him to. Wilbur F. Bryant was the populist candidate for the nomination and the Cedar county delegates stayed by him to the finish. They voted against the motion to make Norris' nomination unanimous but Bryant fell in line in a speech supporting the nominee which was highly magnanimous on his part, considering all the circumstances. He wouldn't do it now. It was tough on Bryant but no reason why the opposition of Judge Norris should now mis-state the facts. Bryant was turned down by his own party for reasons they best know, and Norris nominated simply because they preferred him to Judge Crawford. If this is all the opposition have to bring against W. F. Norris they are certainly running out of ammunition early. Nominated and elected by two parties! Well, this year he will have to be satisfied with being nominated and elected by only one.—Wayne Republican.

After a contest extending over two years, the legislature of Oregon has elected a United States Senator. Last Saturday Hon. Joseph Simon, of Portland, was elected to fill the vacancy which has existed since March, 1897. He received the vote of every republican in the legislature.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler, one of the most efficient officers in the old Confederate army, was the first witness before the war investigation commission. He gave evidence regarding the Santiago campaign and the conditions at Mankin, emphatically denying the charges of starvation and mismanagement. At Santiago he considered the supplies abundant except in a few instances and in these cases the deficiency was only temporary. He said the regulars suffered much less from sickness than the volunteers, and that the suffering among the volunteers was due to the ignorance and inexperience of the officers and soldiers. "If there were any camp horrors," said Gen. Wheeler, "the commander of the camp was responsible, for he had the authority to get a list that was needed for the comfort of the men."

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart of Gordon, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined I could not stay with my friends on earth. I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all 8 bottles. It has cured me and thank God I am now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Wilkins and Co's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Three Doctors in Consultation.

(From Benjamin Franklin) "When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place, on in the second place, what reason (i. e. Theory) says is best to be chosen in the last place. But if you can get Dr. Invention, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together they will give you the best advice that can be taken." When you have a bad cold, Dr. Invention would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, because it is and pleasant to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. For sale by L. F. Osh, Druggist.

Priceless Pain

"If a price can be placed on pain, 'Mother's Friend' is worth its weight in gold as an alleviator. My wife suffered more in ten minutes with either of her other two children than she did altogether with her last, having previously used four bottles of 'Mother's Friend.' It is a blessing to any one expecting to become a mother," says a customer.

This writes Henderson Dale, Druggist, of Carlin, Ill., to the Bradford Regulator Company, of Atlanta, Ga., the proprietors and manufacturers of 'Mother's Friend.' "This successful remedy is not one of the many internal medicines advertised to do unreasonable things, but a scientifically prepared liniment especially effective in adding strength and elasticity to those parts of woman's organism which bear the severest strains of childbirth. The liniment may be used at any and all times during pregnancy up to the very hour of confinement. The earlier it is begun, and the longer used, the more perfect will be the result, but it has been used during the last month only with great benefit and success."

It not only shortens labor and lessens the pain attending it, but greatly diminishes the danger to life of both mother and child, and leaves the mother in a condition more favorable to speedy recovery. 'Mother's Friend' is sold by druggists at $1.00, or sent by express on receipt of price.

A Dangerous Secret.

FLORENCE MARYANN

CHAPTER XIII.

Dr. de Blois is in his consulting room, which is also his surgery, compounding some mixture for the benefit of his patients, and thinking deeply the while.

More than once he has spilt the mixture he is brewing by adding wrong quantities to the mix and to throw the whole mess away. His brows are contracted, and every now and then he pushes his glasses up to his forehead and rubs his eyes in a puzzled and perplexed manner, as though he would make his mental sight clearer.

He is engaged in this way when Gabrielle pushes the door open, and, finding her father alone, walks boldly into the surgery.

"You there, my child?" says the doctor, peering at her above his spectacles. "Why are you not off to your convent? It is past time."

"Yes, papa, I know, but I wanted to see you. I thought you might be coming up stairs again, papa. I wanted to ask you something very particular—something about August."

"Gabrielle, did August Moray accompany you home from the convent yesterday?"

"He did, papa."

"Well, you must discontinue the practice. You must not walk with August anywhere from to-day. Do you understand me?"

"Yes, papa! I cannot help my daughter talking about because she walks out with a young man who is no relation to her."

"Felicite Duprez walks with August. Has she ever seen him?"

"Yes, papa. I saw him. He is a very good fellow. That makes all the difference."

"But if it is—fathers poor Gabrielle again. If I were fiancée to August, papa—"

"Gabrielle," says Dr. de Blois, walking up to the girl and looking her straight in the eyes. "You will never be fiancée to August Moray. You must understand that plainly. I have let you see a great deal of me another because you have played together from childhood, but now that you are growing up, I must be altered. I will have no more name linked with his. I have other views in the future for you."

"Very good, papa," says the poor child, sorrowfully, as she turns away and commences her walk to the convent.

Meanwhile August is walking with a jaunty, not to say conceited, air in the distance of the convent, and is in the distance of Dr. de Blois is still in his consulting room, as August taps lightly at the half-opened door with his cane, and then, without further preamble, steps into the room.

The young man, as he stands there with his handsome features flushed by excitement, in a light gray suit, almost bridal in his dandyism—and a rose in his buttonhole, makes so pleasant a picture that the doctor forgets for a moment what he has to say to him, and recalls it with a bitter sigh.

"May I come in, doctor? You are alone."

"Certainly, August. You are early this morning, my boy—anything unusual going on at the office?"

"No! everything condensed, with it goes as smoothly as possible, thanks to the character of the good abbe was pleased to see me. You are in a light gray suit, and I have been selected to lay the new line of railway between this and the Wallon? It is an excellent appointment, and will bring me in nearly double pay during the period it will occupy. Dr. de Blois, impetuously continues August, "do not think me presumptuous; but will you, will you be in a hurry to choose for Gabrielle's husband, choose me to fill that position? She is not too young to love me—she has told me so!"

The doctor tries to affect surprise at this appeal, but signally fails to do so. He is no actor, so he only knits his brows fiercely together and says:

"You have mentioned the subject, then, to my daughter?"

"Forgive me! I could not help it."

"August," says the doctor slowly, "I cannot give you my daughter."

"You will not give me Gabrielle?" cries August Moray, his face bright with hope.

"There are reasons, many and grave, which render such a marriage impossible."

"Has it anything to do with my income?"

"Nothing whatever! I never coveted riches for my children, then?"

"No, August. No one has a word to say against that in Bruges, or elsewhere."

"What is the mystery, then? I am young, active and healthy, and I love her like my life!"

"Poor boy! poor children!" says the doctor, with a sigh, something very like "I feel for you both deeply. But I will never give you Gabrielle. I will let her up in a convent first."

"At least you might let me on what score I am condemned?"

"Does she know?"

"She ought to. If not, she cannot fail to guess. August, my dear boy, do not blame me too much for this. I am shocked, grieved and upset by it all. It is with a clear conscience toward myself, and toward you, that I do this. I would rather see you in a convent than see you married to a girl who is not your own."

"Enough, Dr. de Blois," says the young man, straitening his belt to his full height. "I understand your indignation, though I have no notion of the cause of it. I and my mother have been considered good enough for you to associate with and make use of when it suited your convenience to do so, but when it comes to a question of marrying her, you refuse by marriage, you profess to think us beneath yourselves, because, I presume, we came to Bruges without our pedigree in our hands, had we taken no trouble to hasten it. But I would have you know, Dr. de Blois, that the name of Moray stands as high in the world as any name in a great city. Bruges, the city of De Blois in Belgium. I feel that you have cast upon my mother's connections and my own more deeply still; and I shall never forgive it, nor forget it to my dying day."

"And with this poor August, unable longer to trust his voice or his eyes, rushes abruptly from the surgery into the open air. Dr. de Blois looks after him with a troubled air.

"Poor boy!" says he, regretfully. "Heaven knows I would have shared him if I could, but it was quite impossible. How could I have married her if I have never seen her? I shall never forgive it, nor forget it to my dying day."

FOR LACK OF VESSELS.

FREIGHT FOR ASIA REFUSED ON THIS ACCOUNT.

Why President Hill, of the Great Northern Railway, Was Obligated to Decline the Haul of Cotton and Steel for China and Japan.

A correspondent of the American Economist, referring to a recent expression by James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad, in favor of a bounty of $2 per ton on all export tonnage as a means of reviving the American merchant marine, makes the following caustic comment:

"It seems that J. J. Hill is merely a subsidy hunter and an advocate of free ships. Our steamship people are all that kind, pretty much. All they want is support for their lines, and let the nation go to the dogs. They don't want too many lines in competition with theirs, even if American. Now, what we want is the national interest attended to first, private enterprise second. Subsidy is monopolistic. Three great corporations comprise most of the German steam marine. That will never do in the United States."

There is much force in these observations. A national sentiment in favor of a fair open field for individual enterprise will not take kindly to the policy of subsidies, free ships and marine monopolies. That is not the kind of a merchant marine to suit the people of the United States. Subsidy carries on its face the fact of favoritism, and an export tonnage bounty is only another name for subsidy.

If American shipping were as effectively protected as the overseas traffic, President Hill would not now be refusing the transportation of permitted to run his meetings in his own way. He did not make stump speeches, he did not non-parade for hours on free silver. The Republicans who believed that he was more interested in silver than in the Democratic party will suspect now that he is more interested in the Democratic party than he is in silver.

To the politicians of both parties the appointment will signify that the old stand-by contributors to the Democratic campaign fund have tightened the purse strings and that the managers have come to the pass-around-the-hat stage of raising campaign funds. As the moneyed men of the party will not open their purses if silver is to be made an issue in the next campaign, and as Alford and Bryan insist that silver be made an issue, Harvey, as the friend of silver, will pass the hat. This means that the farmers of the West, who were carried off their feet by the silver craze, will be assessed to bear the expenses of an anti-war, anti-expansion, and anti-American campaign.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Should Regard Early Attention.

If Congress passes a bill to give the same protection to American shipping that it does to American manufacturers and farmers and mechanics, there will be profitable business for the investment of the millions now going abroad at low rates of interest. We shall eventually save the three hundred millions now annually being paid for foreign ship owners for carrying our foreign trade, besides building up the greatest industry in this country—shipbuilding.

It would be no more difficult to build up American shipbuilding and give to our people the profits of our carrying trade than it was to build from nothing the tin plate industry which now supplies the country and has almost entirely shut out the foreign product.

Section 22 of the Dingley bill was intended to do this work, but it was faultily drawn. However, the Ellkins bill, or any similar enactment, providing for discriminating duties in favor of goods carried in American bottoms, would do the trick. Something in this line should receive the early and earnest attention of Congress. All sections of the United States are interested in the success of such a measure, but none more so than the Pacific Coast States.—Tacoma Ledger.

Declining Woolen Imports.

The enormous decline in the imports of woolen goods during the past year is a clear demonstration of the beneficent effect of the Republican tariff of 1897. During the last year of the Wilson tariff measure, the imports of woolen goods reached the enormous sum of $49,100,000, which drove woolen manufacturers in this country to despair. The fiscal year just closed has wrought a great change, the total imports being less than $15,000,000. This means that during the last fiscal year the American people consumed nearly $35,000,000 worth of American woolen goods in excess of the last year of the Wilson bill. In other words, American woolen mills and American labor was benefited to that extent. This is an industrial improvement that cannot be denied.—Kansas City Telegraph.

Right sort of Annuities.

A strong protest was made by the free traders when the Dingley tariff imposed a duty on the wearing apparel of returning tourists purchased in foreign countries. They said it was petty and annoying and the revenue that would be derived from it would not amount to enough to pay for the collection. The record shows that during the last year under that head $343,518 was paid, as against $87,425 the previous year. It might have been annoying to the wealthy tourists who paid this snug sum, but Uncle Sam is that much richer, and none of it came out of the pockets of the laboring people. Let us have more such annoyances.—Roma (N. Y.) Citizen.

Pointing with Pride.

We point with pride to our fulfillment of the promise of tariff reform. With a return to protection there has come a change in the balance of trade. Under Cleveland we were shipping millions of goods to Europe in exchange for goods bought from foreigners. Under McKinley Europe is shipping millions of goods to us in exchange for our products and manufactures. We point with pride to the revival of trade, the increased demand for labor, the advance of wages, the improved condition of the agricultural class that we predicted as a result of return to Republican policy. The coming winter will make no call for free soup houses for the hundreds of thousands of unemployed.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Let Us Have a Merchant Marine.

All in all, just 1,702 ships passed through the Suez canal last year, of which 1,195 were British. How many, do you suppose, were American? Only four, and no more—only four! It is time for the American merchant marine to get into the water and begin to do business.—New York Mail and Express.

Curious Kind of Ruin.

The record of failures for the month of August in this country is the best in five years. And the financial, currency and tariff conditions have been identical with the conditions that Bryanites have claimed were plunging this country into hopeless ruin.—Keokuk "Gate City."

Five per cent farm loans are advertised in Kentucky. The gold standard, there as elsewhere, has brought the cheapest money ever known.

DIGGING UP A "GENERAL MANAGER" FOR THE DEMOCRACY.

The appointment of W. H. (Colo) Harvey as financial manager of the Democratic party will come as a shock to the Bourbons and the silver Republicans. To the former it will seem like the appointment of a receiver and the beginning of the end in winding up the affairs of the old party. To the latter it will be a loss of faith in the non-partisanship of the silver question. Two years ago Harvey would not train under the Democratic flag unless he was ### Growing Erect.

In the pictures by Gibson and others of that class depicting social life, it is remarked that the women are sitting, with heads erect, in stately carriage, or standing in stately attire, tall, graceful creatures, while the men, almost invariably appear round-shouldered, hunched down in their chairs until they lose the benefit of their extra height, and often appear shorter than their well-poised companions. Why cannot the new man rise to his full height, either sitting or standing, and assume "the splendid poise of the new woman? It may be the reason that the girls now are taller than they used to be, that emphasizing all the height they have their stature increases. At all events this matter of the difference in carriage between most men and women has been remarked by the observant ones in our audiences this winter.—Boston Traveler.

Never before in history was there a case where a defeated and captive enemy received such generous treatment as we give the Spaniards. Equally astonishing are the cases brought about by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Never has there been so successful a medicine for stomach and liver disorders like dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness and constipation.

The Great Northern road alone has been compelled to refuse the shipment of 60,000 tons of steel rails and 30,000,000 pounds of cotton—all demanded by Asia—simply because there are no water facilities by means of which this merchandise may be transported to Atlantic ports.—President J. J. Hill in a recent interview.

steel rails for Japan and raw cotton for China because of lack of ships to carry the freight across the Pacific ocean. He has already solved this problem as regards rail and lake carrying, and he would solve it as readily in the matter of rail and ocean traffic if the conditions were the same. The trouble is that while the lake carrying trade is amply protected from alien competition, the ocean carrying trade is wholly without protection.

Cause of Humiliation.

It is humiliating that the United States, which can furnish a navy to match the world's best, as compared man for man, should possess no merchant marine worth speaking of. It is doubly humiliating when we consider that the fault is wholly our own; that the only cause of our lack of a merchant marine is the failure on the part of our legislators to apply the same doctrine to our commerce which they have applied to manufacturing industries; that it is due to their failure to give protection to American shipping as they have given protection to American industries. By protecting American products we have put the United States at the head of nations industrially. Let us put the United States at the head of nations on the sea. Proper protection to American shipping will do it.

BANQUETS OF A FRAUD BANKER.

After Amazing Europe by His Extravagance, M. Hope Dies in Poverty.

Princess De Sagan of Paris, with whom her husband, the prince, recently renewed relations after a long separation, occupies a house with a history, though a new one. It was built by Hope, the banker, out of a part of the profits he realized in helping the Government of Louis XVIII. to pay off the war indemnity which the invaders of France demanded in 1815. Hope had united his destiny with that of a beautiful Arlesienne, who became by her second marriage Mme. Hipp. To draw company to her house to entertain her he gave Lucullian banquets. His chef was the first to cook canvas-bag ducks in Paris. They were brought over alive in tanks from Maryland to Havre, and fed on the way with wild celery and other vegetables, they liked. At a ball that he gave one winter there was 30,000 francs' worth of forced straw-berries. He refused to say whether they came from Perpignan or the Riviera. Somebody said to Baron James Rothschild:

"It is now your turn to trump Hope."

"I can't afford such Lucullian feasts," said the baron.

Hope never was cheapsparing about small expenses. He one day found an error in his club accounts of 2 francs, and went back to claim the money. The cast-off house linen was always sent to the auction mart and Hope went himself to look after the sale. He died in relative poverty, and his house was sold for a fifth of what it cost to the army contractor, Sellere, father of the present Princesse De Sagan.—London Daily News.

Bildad's Sleightride.

There once lived in Vermont a young man who was not much more than half-witted, but who, like many other people who are lacking in intelligence, always wanted to do just as other and more gifted people do. In the town there was a lady, Mrs. Moray, who owned a sleigh. It was a very nice sleigh for an enterprise that depends largely on the resources of others.

One winter when the sleighing was good, and all the young swains of the town were taking their young lady friends to ride, Bildad was impressed with the desirability of organizing an expedition of this sort on his own account. But he had no "rig," and no money to hire one with.

Nevertheless, he came one afternoon to a worthy young lady of his neighborhood and asked her to sleigh-ride that evening.

"But, Bildad," she said, "you haven't any horse."

"John Miles, he's promised to lend me his."

"Why, John hasn't got any harness, and 'Pete-Coffin' goes to let me take his."

"What are you going to do for a sleigh?"

"Mrs. Beals, she said I could take her."

"You can't go sleighing without a string of harness."

"Nathan Page's goes to let me take his string."

"You've got to have a buffalo robe."

"John Currier, he said he'd just as soon I'd have his old one; and, by gorry, I can cut a whip myself."

The young lady said that under the circumstances she guessed he would have to borrow some other girl. Nevertheless he persisted in his search for a partner until he actually found one, and went on the sleigh-ride in fine style.—Youth's Companion.

Mr. William Moray is standing by the window, picking his teeth.

August stands on the threshold bare-headed, and William Moray cannot but observe, with greater force than yesterday, the striking likeness he bears to his dead father.

"There's no question about his being poor Jim's son, whether his mother was married or not," he thinks to himself, as he turns round slowly and regards him.

"Well, and so you've kept your appointment," says the young man, in the unpleasantly unpolished tones he uses to everybody.

"Monsieur desired me to call upon him. I should not have dreamt of intruding otherwise," returns August, with a touch of his mother's pride.

"Ah, well—it's the same thing. You're here as the lady, Mrs. Moray," continues the stranger, with a jerk of his head toward his recumbent partner.

"I trust Madame has recovered from her late indisposition," says August.

"The lady does not deign to notice the observation of the 'lactress' myself," except by a solemn nod, performed with closed eyes, but her husband answers for her.

"Yes, she's better. I had a long talk with your doctor yesterday. He speaks English wonderfully well for a foreigner."

"He does," replies August, with a deep sigh, as the allusion recalls the misery of the morning.

"He is an old friend of yours, he tells me."

"A very old friend, monsieur."

"So am I. You needn't stare. I dare say you have forgotten me, but I know you long before this Dr. de Blois did, and a nice fellow I had of my acquaintance with you, too."

"Monsieur overwhelms me with surprise," says August.

"Your father, James Moray, was my brother, and I sent for you here that I might tell you that you've no more right to be here than I have. You were the wife of a down-stairs laundress. So you may put that in your pipe and smoke it!"

"No, that you haven't—no more right than a hindled hen to salvation!" interposes Mrs. Moray from the sofa.

"August, thinks the portly Englishman must be traveling for the good of his mental health. He does not understand him. He is to be told by a stranger that he has no right to bear the name of his own father and mother! The man must be mad to think of such a thing! and August manages to get a chair between them before he ventures on a reply.

"I don't know by what right you address me in such a strain, monsieur, and I can only imagine you must have mis-

THE ROAR OF THE RENEGADE.

Wilbur F. Bryant spoke at Czech's Grove July 6th. There was a good crowd. We attended hoping from the well-known ability of the speaker, to hear something good. The occasion was the anniversary of the martyrdom of John Huss. Judge Bryant spoke for an hour, twenty minutes of which were devoted to John Huss, and the other forty to W. J. Bryan and the Populist party. This may be a legitimate way of getting in political work among the Bohemians, but we don't believe it. Last fall, when this man was stumping the state, we said, and we now repeat: "Of all things commend us neither to the apostate in religion nor a renegade in politics." This man of Protestant extraction, and educated for a Protestant minister, appears now as the apologist of the Catholic church and lays the martyrdom of Huss at the door of Shligmann of Hungary, who, he says, is "like Pope's Cromwell." "Dammed to everlasting fame." This same W. F. Bryant in 1886 stumped the First Congressional district in the interests of the Republican party. The Utioa Herald published a speech he made in Seward county. We have the speech. Here is an extract: "An election is now about to take place. Two parties for your suffrages. Which will you choose? Anything is democratic doctrine, for that party has been on both sides of every public question which has been before the American people in the last hundred years. The must have been right sometime, no doubt about it. I said there were two parties. That is true, everything not republican is democratic. It makes no difference what they call themselves, greenbackers or what not, it is the old snake with a new skin. The voice may be the voice of Jacob, but they stretch out the hairy hand of Esau. It is the skin of the lion and the bray of the Democratic jackass. Young men, don't let the political ignis fatul beguile you into deserting the only decent political party the world ever saw, that party, the history of whose life fill the most brilliant pages in American history, the party that saved the Union and redeemed the nation's credit; yes, the party that made this country a nation, in fact as in name. The party that will remonetize silver, if you will give them half a chance. Don't follow the zigzag trail of such political jumping jacks as Jim Weaver."

Ah, Wilbur, that speech stands on record, your own most blasting witness.—Exchange.

Chauncey M. Dewey's speech at the auditorium on Jubilee day at Chicago was one which sounds the key note of the situation in this great, growing commonwealth. Men with ambition who desire to see the United States push forward to a leading place among the nations of the world, will vote the republican ticket this fall, or at least the essential part of it.

CARROLL.

Fine fall weather. Corn husking will begin next week. Guy Manning went to Omaha Monday. Cass Balford has opened a barber shop in Carroll. W. H. Swartz was a passenger to Wayne Monday. Mrs. W. H. Swartz left for Sioux City and Omaha last week.

A Mr. Newland was in Carroll last week looking after the interests of the W. A. Dean Piano Co., of Sioux City. The soldier boys left for Omaha Saturday where they have to report for duty. The boys say they have had enough of military life.

Some miscreant stole Elias Haines' dog last Friday night. Lias is now looking for some good reliable detective to help him find the culprit, also the dog.

Carroll is pretty well represented in the Wayne schools this fall. But on account of the diphtheria in Wayne, the boys are having a vacation of a week or two.

The free entertainment given by the Hoke Portrait Co. in the A. O. U. W. hall Monday night was well attended and everybody spoke very highly of the program rendered.

Major White who has been manager of the Edwards & Bradford Lumber yard at this place for the past few years, has been given the Blair office and expects to leave for that place in the near future.

Politics is rather quiet at present. Everybody seems to be of one mind and ready to vote the republican ticket straight. Well, they couldn't do a wiser thing as the prosperity ticket is a winner from top to bottom.

Crippled by Rheumatism.

Those who have Rheumatism find themselves growing steadily worse all the while. One reason of this is that the remedies prescribed by the doctors contain mercury and potash, which ultimately intensify the disease by causing the joints to swell and stiffen, producing a severe aching of the bones. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for twenty years—even the worst cases which seemed almost incurable.

Everybody knows that Rheumatism is a diseased state of the blood, and only a blood remedy is the only proper treatment, but a remedy containing potash and mercury only aggravates the trouble.

S.S.S. For Blood

being Purely Vegetable, goes direct to the very cause of the disease and a permanent cure always results. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other dangerous minerals. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.
