FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

Trumpeter Elmer Lundburg, Enroute Home to Wayne.
 Trumpeter Elmer Lundburg of company F, First Nebraska regiment, was in the city today on his way from Manila to his home in Wayne. His party across the water from the First regiment included 6 men. He and Cody H. Heimstead of Papillion being from company F, and four members company C whose homes are in Beatrice. They left home on the 14th of November and it required 23 days for their vessel to land them in Honolulu, Hawaii, where they had a good time being their own bosses and under no military restraint. Boarding a vessel at Honolulu they were eight days in reaching San Francisco, on arriving there the 80-day furlough on which they started had expired and they were compelled to wait until they got orders which were of a special nature and allowed them to go to their homes until they should be ordered to return, which Mr. Lundburg thinks will never come. They came across on the Santa and the gentleman says the voyage was very exciting, there being a mutiny of the crew and a shooting scrape enroute. He says that he was the envy of all when he boarded the vessel to return home and think there were but a few if any who would not like to have been in his shoes at that time. The boys are heartily tired of their experiences and anxious to return to Nebraska. He had a slight touch of malaria while on the islands and says there were but few who escaped with no sickness.
 Mr. Lundburg, who by the way is a gentleman and very well known, states that when they arrived in Manila it was a very filthy city, with dead animals lying around the streets. With the soldiers to make them work, the natives had improved it until now the city has assumed quite a tidy appearance and the streets are swept daily.
 The food of the soldiers is good and there is plenty of it, but it is rather heavy for the hot climate.
 He states that the Philippines have wonderful possibilities as far as they are for men with large capital, laborers and men with small capital not being in demand.
 There is plenty of tropical fruit but the boys think there is nothing in that country to equal the apple. Most of the fruit is grown wild and is very cheap some of it growing to an enormous size. Mr. Lundburg while there became the possessor of a banana which measures 11 inches in length and 3 inches through. He left for home on the 10 o'clock train for Norfolk on Monday.

 The residence of Wm. Longe in Leslie precinct was destroyed by fire Monday evening about six o'clock. The fire started from a defective chimney. The household goods were all removed.
 The county commissioners have been in session since Tuesday. The new commissioner, Mr. Carroll, takes hold almost like an old hand at the business and it is safe to wager that the Board will be just and equitable in all of its proceedings. Dr. Multhead of Winside has been appointed county physician.
 Hon. Louis Smithberger has introduced the following bills in the House: House roll No. 46—To amend sections 78, 79, 80, 82, chapter 78, statutes of 1897, fixing the amount allowed for pay for working on roads at $1.50 a day; House roll No. 47—To provide for the institution of a state normal school at Wayne.
 Elmer Lundburg arrived home Monday afternoon from Manila. The Wayne Corn Palace Band of which he was formerly a member, together with a large number of citizens, met him at the train on his arrival and heartily welcomed him home. He was among the first to enlist at the call of Uncle Sam almost a year ago. The First Nebraska was among the number of regiments ordered to Manila, and was in the battle at the time Manila surrendered to the United States troops.

A QUERY FOR P. V.

A few days ago one of our leading business men in the city informed a representative of THE HERALD that the firm of which he is a member have a large quantity of corn. Some time since they made a contract with the P. V. company whereby the latter purchased the said corn, agreeing to pay for the same 12 1/2¢ per bushel below the market price in Minneapolis between the date of contract and the first of May, option of delivery being with the seller. When corn was 2 1/2¢ cents per bushel on the market here a number of days ago, the firm having the corn would have received 28 1/2¢ cents per bushel for the corn if they had sold it to tender delivery of the same to P. V. The question then is: "If P. V. could afford to pay the Wayne firm 3 1/2¢ cents per bushel for the corn at that time, why was not the market price at that time 28 1/2¢ instead of 2 1/2¢ cents?" (This is one instance, at least, where one of the "niggers in the wood pile" appear. Evidently the railroad freight rate, out no figure in that instance. Public scales and a rattling good truck buyer at a salary of $100 per month, might remedy a wrong of which every business man in the city is becoming dreadfully tired, if they mean what they say.)

Attention! Woodmen of North Nebraska

The state convention of the great Order of the Modern Woodmen of America is to meet at Fremont next month. This is an important meeting and will be attended by Woodmen from every part of the state. It is an important gathering also in view of the fact that there the delegates will be chosen who will assemble at the national convention of the order which will meet at Kansas City next June. Here, as in other national assemblies, the legislative acts which will determine the future policy of our great order for the coming two years will be in the hands of the delegates there assembled, and we are proud to know that the Woodmen of our state have the opportunity of selecting as their leader at the national convention the Honorable Geo. E. Jenkins of Fairbury. This gentleman is both a loyal Woodman and one of Nebraska's prominent citizens, having represented his district in the state legislature in 1897. The delegates at this camp may justly feel proud of such a leader. To represent our state as delegates at large and we feel sure in saying that they will make no mistake in electing him as such. He has proven his fitness for the position and his interest in the welfare of our order by the prominent part taken in the interest of our order for Nebraska. His untiring efforts to our interests on the floor of the last head camp at Dubuque should recommend him to the favorable consideration of every loyal Woodman in Nebraska. Fraternally submitted, W. H. HOGUEWOOD, District D. H. C.

Odd Fellows and Rebecca

Last Monday evening the Odd Fellow and Rebecca lodges held a public installation of officers and the event will long be a pleasant one in the memory of the large assemblage. After the I. O. O. F. officers were all duly installed a very pretty solo was sung by Miss Lulu Cook which was much appreciated. This was followed by the installation of the officers of the Rebecca lodge. Mrs. G. Harrison then sang a beautiful solo, with Miss Bertha Armstrong accompanist. The floor was then cleared and the Rebecca's gave an exhibition drill, showing great skill and which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. This was followed by a sumptuous supper which disappeared like hot cakes before the jolly crowd. After supper the tables were removed and the Odd Fellows proceeded to give one of their team drills. They were all right but they were several points behind the ladies in drilling. Under the head of "good of the order" a number of interesting short speeches were listened to.
 District Deputy J. J. W. Fox installed the following officers of Wayne Lodge No. 2: E. G. N. I. Jublin, V. G. Ira C. Richards; Sec., Chas. Warner; Treas., Henry Ley; W. G. A. Bennett; C. Jas. ## CROSS EYES.

The Surgeons knife is not necessary in cases of cross eyes; 90 cases out of a hundred are caused by defective vision, and lenses perfectly fitted will remove the cause. This is what P. M. Lamarch of Jefferson, S. D., says: "My daughter, Alfonso's eyes are perfectly straight now since wearing the glasses you fitted her. We are much pleased with your treatment, her eyes were very badly crossed." I have many such recommendations.

HEADACHE.

The large proportion of headaches are due to eye strain and the patient is unconscious of it, in many cases taking medicine for stomach or nervous troubles. Read what some of my customers say:
 I had distorted for years and had three pairs of glasses fitted by opticians and got no relief. I was nearly discouraged when I went to you, I had headache, dizzy spells and at times could not see, and had to leave my work. The glasses you fitted me removed the whole trouble, and I am happy.

 The glasses I got from you have relieved my headache entirely and after being tortured by trying to wear those got from Dr. ————, you may imagine how thankful I feel to you.

 I find a great difference between glasses and medicine for headache. It is just as you told me, my headache is gone entirely since I got the glasses; your price is small compared with the relief I have got and I can cheerfully recommend you.

 A. W. IVENS, Homer, Neb.
 I have not had a headache since wearing the glasses you fitted me with and my vision is much improved.
 NINIE SWENEY, Sioux City, Iowa.
 I find a great difference between glasses and medicine for headache. It is just as you told me, my headache is gone entirely since I got the glasses; your price is small compared with the relief I have got and I can cheerfully recommend you.
 DAN R. HOLMAY, Sioux City, Iowa.

I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since I got my glasses and can read and sew as long as I wish to now, without my eyes blurring; my nervousness is also much less.

Symptoms of Defective Eye Sight.
 Smarting, burning, headache, lines running together when reading, blurring, dizziness, every condition of the eye-lids when opening in the morning, cannot see figures or writing upon the black board, eyes look red, inflamed by spells, prickly sensation, lids adhere to the eyeballs, often see double when looking at an object. All these are symptoms of defective vision, and can be corrected by lenses; if put off serious trouble will be the result.

School Teachers and Children.
 I shall only remain here a few days. I ungenerous student in the school to visit me while here. It costs nothing for examination and it is not every day you can be provided with such service as I am prepared to render you.
 There is not a school of any import in the land, but is fast coming to the knowledge that the cause of dull and backward scholars in most cases are caused by defective sight.
 The eye has a certain brain area to which is forwarded sensations of sight. This brain area contains countless brain cells, some of which are stimulated and developed by sight. The number of these brain cells raised up into activity depends upon the sense of sight. If the brain fails to do its normal amount of stimulus during their most important period, the period of childhood, they will not only fall short of their normal development, but can never after attain their full measure of activity. Nine-tenths of our sense knowledge comes through sight. A child whose vision is one-third below normal would therefore be compelled to construct his thought world out of three tenths less material than his normal brother. Think of the unfortunate child handicapped from the start by defective sight.
 I have examined the children of a great many school and the remarkable fact is that the average of 12 per cent of their eyes are defective. It varies from 10 to 20 in the tests that have been made in this country and Europe.
 Teachers, Parents, Children come and see me. It costs you nothing but a few moments time for examination and glasses furnished when required at moderate prices consistent with the requirements of the case.

Difficult and Unsatisfied Cases. I especially request any persons that are wearing glasses that are not comfortable to call upon me. No Charges for examination.

I recommend the study of optician 1883, have made it a specialty since and am thoroughly up to the times. Am prepared with the latest improved instruments and never fail to please my patrons. Don't think because failures upon failure has been your experience there is no hope for your eyesight. If you have a particle of vision left I can so adjust the lens as to stimulate and develop it and make you happy. It costs nothing to try. No medicine or medical prescriptions furnished.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago, and find a valuable remedy in Ballard's Snow Liniment; it will banish pains and subdue inflammation. Price 25c and 50c. Wilkins & Co.

The gripe seems to have tackled quite a number of the young people the past week, while some of the old folk have succumbed to the disease. Keeping too early hours was the probable cause for the influenza's attack upon the younger people.

S. A. Paehler, editor of the Miscopy (Fla.) Hustler, with his wife and children, suffered terribly from a gripe. One Minute Cough Cure was the only remedy that helped them. It acted quickly. Thousands of others use this remedy as a specific for the gripe and its exhausting after effects. Orth.

The business men of Fremont met the other evening and passed burning resolutions in condemnation of the scheme to boom the Omaha beer trade by continuing the midway distractions another year. Fremont people were liberal patrons of the exposition last summer, but like an overwhelming majority of legal electors outside of Omaha, they think they know when they have had enough.

What is good for Ponca might be good for Wayne. The Gazette of that city, says: Postoffice rules have been hoisted in a neighboring town that might be good in this city. Here they are: "No letters will be delivered until they've been received." If you don't get a letter or paper on the day you expect it have the postmaster look thro' all the boxes and deliver all also. It ought to be there somewhere and he likes to hunt for it just to please you. If your friend don't write cuss the postmaster. He is to blame. If he tells you there is no mail for you put on a grievous expression and say "there ought to be some." He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you come in two or three times a day. Ask him to look again.

Lovers of comedy were given a rare treat at the opera house last Saturday night in witnessing the production of "Old Farmer Hopkins" by Frank S. Davidson's excellent company. The play is full of wit and humor through out. In fact, it is a masterpiece of comedy. Frank S. Davidson ably originates the comedy role of Old Farmer Hopkins, and never has a more clever comedian held the boards in this city. He was ably supported by other members of the company. Miss Alberta Roy as "Daisy Lindon" an heiress, and "Jimmy Tott" on the Bowery, captivated the audience, while the handsome scenery contributed largely to the success of the entertainment. Every seat in the opera house was occupied and should Mr. Davidson and his splendid company again visit the city, they will not be greeted by even a larger audience.

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only using in bed a little over two days against ten days of the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being struck with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down." When Menstruation Comes.

Mrs. C. B. Smith's passion and delight is to conduct an orchestra, for which he himself says he has a natural talent. But what is more interesting is to watch Mrs. Smith composing his works. His wife, Signora Lina Mimi (his eldest boy), Dino (another son) and Estrella (his little daughter) all have their parts in it. When the maestro is feverishly writing notes and scribbling directions to catch an inspiration, his wife follows him to and fro, while the children clutch on his knees, he unconsciously running his fingers through their curls.

As soon as he has fixed on a melody he gathers the children in his arms, and they all roll back, ruminating on the floor, the shouts, bumps, laughter, tears, making such an uproar that at last Signora Mimi's patience, scolding her husband and telling him that a grave musician should give a better example to his family. She bundles away the children, and he returns to his desk, but a few minutes later the scene repeats itself.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Maharajah's Revenge.

The maharajah of Nepal committed suicide in honor of the displacement which an attack of smallpox had caused in her features. The maharajah, who was passionately attached to her, first wreaked his vengeance on the physician who had attended her in her illness. Then he flew at higher game. Out of the great temple he brought the heads placed around cannon before them and set them on fire. In terror at the proposed blasphemy they raised the temple and the maharajah hanged several of them. The survivors then submitted to a surgical operation and the heads taken to pieces.—Largest Missions Bulletin.

The God of Murderers.

In a certain mountain village called Lantak, on the northwest frontier of Burma, is a sacred pool, in which it is said to live a nat—a, a demon—called Shearpanial, who is the guardian spirit of murderers.

When a murder is committed anywhere in these hills, the water of this pool is reported to turn blood red.

Now, when this happens, it is a warning sign to the villagers, who are the wardens of the pool, to be on their guard lest the murderer, whoever he may be and from whatever village he may come, unobserved, succeed in reaching the pool, for the Chin law or custom is that if a murderer manages to slide the "avengers of blood" (who are usually some near blood relations of the victim) and the vigilance of the guardians of the pool and succeeds in getting it under, which has been the case, he escapes, resuming his usual appearance, (pretending that the god of murder is appeased, he is absolved from his blood guiltiness and is thereafter a free man, and no one may henceforth molest him.

On the other hand, if he were overtaken by his pursuers or were he prevented by the village guardians from reaching the well he would speedily pay the penalty of his crime with his life.—London Answers.

Bismarck and the Pope.

On another occasion—it was in 1893—Engen Witt, the well known traveler and writer, caused a visit to the prince, after having passed through Rome and having had an audience with the pope. "The pope asked me where I was going to on leaving Rome. I told him that I was going back home to Germany and that my first object would be to pay my respects to Prince Bismarck, who had in Rome always received me. The pope thereupon said: "Il Principe di Bismarck? He never forget to greet him from me." So, when I arrived at Berlin, I told the prince that I had greetings from Rome to deliver to him.

"Oh, indeed," said Bismarck. "I suppose you have paid a visit to the pope. How fares the health of the holy father? I must tell you that I always got on very well indeed with him. He even gave me his highest decoration, mounted in brilliants. It was only that confounded (verfluchte) little excellency (Witthors) whom I could not manage to get along with."—Sidney Whitman in Harper's Magazine.

The Editor on Carelessness.

"Yes," said the editor as he put his gun brush into the ink bottle and tried to paste on a clipping with his pen. "Yes, the fault of newspaper contributors is carelessness."

"Indeed," he continued as he dropped the copy he had been writing into the wastebasket and marked "Editorial" across the corner of a poem entitled "An Ode to Death," "contributors are terribly careless."

"You would be surprised," said he as he clipped out a column of fashion notes and labeled them "Fam," "to see the slipshod writing that comes into the editorial sanctum."

"Miscellaneous, unparaphrased, written on both sides of the sheet, illegible, ungrammatical stuff. Contributors are terribly careless. They are!"

Just then the office boy came in with that dictatorial and autocratic manner he has and demanded more copy, and the editor handed him the love letter he had just written to his sweetheart.—London Globe

Private Butler.

I am reminded of an incident on one of the Atlantic steamers which took place not long ago and in which a married couple of a family, to whom it is not necessary to allude, was a party. The husband and wife appeared at all meals, flanked on either side by a large fish of butter.

As it was an English ship and butler was not served at many of the meals, some who were neighbors were delighted to see that the boys d'ouevre had at last a place on the table. They helped themselves heartily to the butter.

At dinner they were surprised to see little sticks in the middle of the mound of butter with a peculiar card attached. The card read "Private Butler. Keep Off the Table."

It is needless to say that the butler was taken.—New York Journal

The Fate of a Sultan's Wife.

The latter of a sultan's wife in the English army says that at this point, after having had her 500th spent on the education of a public school and being arranged for her examinations by various tutors and about $1250 more spent on his uniform and Indian outfit, obtained a second bachelors degree, for which he receives the magnificent pay of $5. 3d. ($1.50 a day), a sum scarcely sufficient to pay for his washing, washing and scrubbing, or make his expenses and at last 2400 rupees. A balance to his left on the 1st of the year, which his British parent was to make good.—Exchange

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from the second attack of la grippe this year," says Mr. Jas. A. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only using in bed a little over two days against ten days of the former attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being struck with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting down." Mrs. C. B. Smith's passion and delight is to conduct an orchestra, for which he himself says he has a natural talent. But what is more interesting is to watch Mrs. Smith composing his works. His wife, Signora Lina Mimi (his eldest boy), Dino (another son) and Estrella (his little daughter) all have their parts in it. When the maestro is feverishly writing notes and scribbling directions to catch an inspiration, his wife follows him to and fro, while the children clutch on his knees, he unconsciously running his fingers through their curls.

As soon as he has fixed on a melody he gathers the children in his arms, and they all roll back, ruminating on the floor, the shouts, bumps, laughter, tears, making such an uproar that at last Signora Mimi's patience, scolding her husband and telling him that a grave musician should give a better example to his family. She bundles away the children, and he returns to his desk, but a few minutes later the scene repeats itself.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Maharajah's Revenge.

The maharajah of Nepal committed suicide in honor of the displacement which an attack of smallpox had caused in her features. The maharajah, who was passionately attached to her, first wreaked his vengeance on the physician who had attended her in her illness. Then he flew at higher game. Out of the great temple he brought the heads placed around cannon before them and set them on fire. In terror at the proposed blasphemy they raised the temple and the maharajah hanged several of them. The survivors then submitted to a surgical operation and the heads taken to pieces.—Largest Missions Bulletin.

The balloting for United States Senator begins next Tuesday.

The State Press Association meets in Omaha January 24th and 25th.

Chf. Roosevelt has been inaugurated and all indications point to his being governor of New York both in name and nature.

Porto Rico takes to Americanism just like a duck swims. The little girl knew it good thing when she saw it and is not undertaking any Spanish tricks.

John G. Sprecher of the Scripps Co. was appointed superintendent of the Kearney industrial school by Governor Poynter on Thursday, vice Hogue removed. This was the Governor's first official act.

At last the office of state treasurer has been taken out of the toils of politics to a large extent. State Treasurer Mieserve gave a bond to the state for one and one-half million dollars, upon which he paid a premium of $3,000 to the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland.

The attention of our fusion friends is called to the following appearing in last week's Burt County Herald: "The banks of this county refuse to pay interest on county deposits during the coming year. They have more money of their own than they can loan, given as the reason." Does it not smack of prosperity?

W. J. Bryan is pushing with might and main to bring the silver issue to the front in the next campaign. The great leaders of old time democracy see the inevitable, the re-election of McKinley, and they would a little rather see Bryan defeated again than any other man, therefore he may again secure the nomination.

Representative Louis Smithberger of Stanton, has been appointed a member of the following legislative committees: Finance, Ways and Means, Roads and Bridges, Public Lands and Buildings, Railroads, Labor. Wayne and Stanton county's representative promises to prove an active and energetic legislator who will be loyal and industrious in behalf of the welfare of the state and his constituents.

In due time Cuba will be annexed for the people will ultimately vote for annexation. When John Quincy Adams was Secretary of State he wrote to our minister to Spain averring that "Cuba forcibly disjoined from its unnatural connection with Spain, and incapable of self-support, can gravitate naturally toward the North American Union." It will not be many years before it will be demonstrated that he was correct.

The inauguration of Gov. Poynter and the incoming state officers occupied the attention of the Legislature last Thursday, and in the evening a reception was held at the state capital. The Senate was in session a short time Thursday at which time three bills were presented; one to prevent the name of any candidate appearing more than once on the ballot, and another for the establishment of a state normal at Wayne. The latter was introduced by Senator Hale of Madison county.

Mose Warner, the Methodist temperance exhorter of the Lyons Mirror has followed his mountain lion and big snake stories with the statement that he is personally acquainted with 10,000 people in this congressional district. We believe him. In fact we have become so accustomed to Mose's prevarications that we are more than ready to believe any whopper he can tell. Stanton Picket.

Have a care Elio, Mose might say one of his histories of Dakota county at you. From some cause or another, the best times and the largest run of prosperity with which this country is and has been blessed has occurred during a republican administration, and is now in evidence. Why is it? We leave the question for our readers to solve. It is an easy question to disseminate where prejudice and unbiased opinions are laid aside. What attitude will you assume when you have solved the problem? Certainly you can no longer pretend that there is no prosperity. It will never pay to cheat yourself by assuming an opposite position and to which is proving beneficial and lucrative to you. This is a question which every reader our weigh well. It will not kill you to change your political opinions.

None but a select few, and these the most influential of our public men, have any idea of the embarrassments to which our Government was subjected during our war with Spain, and the lack of preparation for such a disaster, therefore, many times, just on this account, the details of which cannot be fully disclosed. It is to prevent a recurrence of such a disaster that Representative Payne and Senator Hanna have introduced, in their respective branches of Congress, identical bills, the purpose of which is to grant to American citizens the foreign trade commission without for them to cope with the shipping of foreign nations now enjoying governmental aid aggregating much more than twenty millions of dollars each year. This bill ought to pass at this session.

A LOOK AHEAD.

A little less than a year and a half ago Capt. A. T. Mahan published in one of the magazines an article on the probable tendencies of international civilization in the twentieth century, which is worth recalling to show the rapid course of events in the year 1898, and also to show that questions of expansion were then actively debated as a certainty of the coming years. The subject ripened a great deal faster than Capt. Mahan anticipated, but he saw the road as clearly as the large majority of Americans see it now. He spoke of "a revived outward impulse," a world wide desire for new outlets, new territory and new markets, a tendency which statesmen would guide rather than control. The military spirit was preped in relation to preparedness and for representing more than ever before the will of nations rather than the purpose of rulers. With the outposts of Christian civilization on our Pacific coast the writer contended that the United States would see and feel its share of the common responsibility. The test seemed a long way off at that moment. But in less than ten months the Philippines were held by our fleet. Without mentioning them by name, Capt. Mahan spoke regretfully of the fact that the Spanish colonies in the West Indies were in hands "which not only never have given, but to all appearances never can give, the development which is required by the general interest." All that is radically changed. Another topic touched on was the necessity some day of annexing Hawaii and of controlling in the West Indies the approaches to the Nicaragua canal. But Capt. Mahan made one mistake. He deferred all this to the twentieth century. He will have to try again. It has slipped into the nineteenth. Much may happen in a few months in these times. The expansion foreseen in the dim distance arrived regardless of prophet or diplomat, yet in no respect, up to date, has the country proved unequal to it. - St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The make-up of the present legislature is as follows: Farmers 71, lawyers lawyers 19, merchants 10 and mechanics 10. This being true there can be no good reason why that distinguished body should fail to enact equitable laws regulating freight and passenger rates and especially the former. The people of this vicinity will know what it is to feel the effects of a discrimination of freight rates, and they desire this chance to their prosperity removed. The towns of Wayne, Winfield, H-skins and Wakefield do not get their share of the grain simply because there are sixteen stations on the company's branch lines where the freight rates would have to be lowered if they were in these four towns. Hence the C. St. P. M. & O. undoubtedly prefers to lose the grain business in these four towns while they are enabled to get the whole business in the sixteen where they have an absolute cinch. This works a gross injustice to the business interests of Wayne and two of three other towns, therefore they seek redress from the proper source, not in a spirit of enmity but with a feeling that justice should prevail. Aside from the grain business the C. St. P. M. & O. transacts more business from the station of Wayne than at any three other towns on its line. And in view of this fact, the business interests demand that freight rates will be established here such as will enable our grain dealers to meet competition on the lines of the Elkhorn and Short Line.

George D. Meiklejohn, assistant secretary of war, was very unfortunate when he recently rushed into the letter writing business to boom a certain candidate for the U. S. senatorship. Mr. Meiklejohn's friends in the North Platte country are amply able to take care of the political situation at home while he is devoting his time and energy to the war department in Washington. Mr. Meiklejohn's indiscretion in permitting himself to be used as a tool in this instance by designing politicians has driven several large sized malis to his political grave. - L. Bart Co. Herald.

Governor Holcomb's message was a warm one, and in length was almost equal to one of Senator Allen's long winded speeches, and there was much sleeping while it was being delivered to the legislators. Life is too short for man to be talked to death without hope of reward, even in the state legislature.

The business man who permits prudence to degenerate into parsimony may be able to acquire a great deal of wealth, but it never will do him any good. The generous man without a dollar enjoys more than a skinful with a million. - Bixby.

No Right to Uginess. The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, and a wretched complexion. Elbert's Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at Wilkins & Co.'s drug store.

His Life Was Saved. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hamilton, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In typical of his life he was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. His lungs became hardened; I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to succumb of consumption when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave me relief. I continued to use it and am now well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise. This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all lung and throat trouble. Regular sizes 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Wilkins & Co's drug store. Guaranteed.

The Herald family was made happy by the arrival of a bright, ten-pound girl at its home Wednesday morning. Mother and child are doing finely. We have been hoping for a boy if for no other reason than to be able to grow on the Wayne county editors, nearly all of whom have been blessed with girl babies recently. We shall have to forego the pleasure this time, however. Hartington Herald.

Mrs. Michael Henney, formerly Miss Sadie McCarrigan, died this morning at 2 o'clock at her home six miles north of the city from diphtheria complicated with pneumonia, and the funeral will probably be had this afternoon, and the remains buried in the Catholic cemetery near Battle Creek, this following her sister, Lettie, to the grave with but a three days' interval. It seems that a mistake was made when it was stated that Mrs. Henney communicated the dread disease to her sister, the latest history of the case being about as follows: Mrs. Henney got up from her bed, two weeks following the birth of her child and was taken sick soon afterward because she had overdone herself. Her sister was secured to nurse her, and soon after her arrival was attacked with sore throat which was not thought to be of serious nature until diphtheria had been well advanced, when a physician was called, but was unable to stay the ravages of the disease. Up to the time the doctor was called the two women, with the infant, slept in the same bed and as a result Mrs. Henney also contracted the disease with the complication of pneumonia, and it was not long until death also claimed her. The deceased was but 24 years of age and leaves a husband and infant child, the couple having been married but little more than a year. The baby is quite well, having not yet contracted the disease. The husband and parents are deeply grieved and have the sympathy of all their friends. - Norfolk News.

The husband of deceased is a brother of T. A. Henney of this city, who returned from Norfolk yesterday. Mr. Henney states that his brother, Michael, is also sick with the same disease.

Pabst Malt Extract - The Best Tonic. is a wonderful aid in the maintenance of health; it is an easily assimilable form of nourishment in illness, and is invaluable in restoring shattered nerves and in convalescence. A doctor writes: "I have found it especially valuable for persons convalescing from fever, and for nursing mothers. I am highly pleased with it and my patients could not do without it." Copper Colored Spots.

There is only one cure for Contagious Blood Poison - the disease which has completely baffled the doctors. They are totally unable to cure it, and direct their efforts toward bottling the poison up in the blood and concealing it from view. S. S. S. cures the disease positively and permanently by forcing out every trace of the taint.

I was afflicted with a terrible blood disease, which was in spots at first, but afterwards broke out in eruptions all over my body. These soon broke out in sores, and it is easy to imagine the suffering I endured. Before I had heard of S. S. S. the doctors could do no good. I had spent a hundred dollars, which was really thrown away. I then tried a patent medicine, but it did not reach the disease. My first bottle of S. S. S. was greatly improved and was delighted.

TOD SURE OF HER MAN.

He Came to Tell Her Important News, but She Beat Him Off.

"There's no use of your saying a word!" exclaimed the woman of the house as soon as she had opened the door and glanced at the man standing outside. "I know you."

"But, ma'am—"

"I recognized you as soon as I saw you. You can't!"

"Ma'am—"

"You're the man who sold me a washing machine six months ago for $5.50 that wasn't worth a nickel. It wouldn't wash a thing."

"All I wanted to tell you, ma'am, is—"

"It wouldn't wash anything. The longer you used it the dirtier the clothes got. You couldn't see anything now if you was to pay me for taking it. When a man fools me once he won't ever have the chance to do it again. I can tell you that. I'll sell this washing machine back to you for 50 cents."

"It doesn't make any difference what you've got to do. I wouldn't touch it with a ten-foot pole, and you can talk until you are gray. It won't do any good."

"Ma'am," called the man, who had been dining so impatiently, "your kitchen fire is blazing where that stovepipe runs up through it. That's what I stopped to—"

"Good land! Why didn't you say so! What did you stand there racking for when the house is burning up? Run over to that grocery store on the corner and turn in an alarm! First fire!"

RIGHT ABOUT FACE!

LADIES' WAISTS THE SAME FRONT AND BACK.

New and Attractive Garniture for Them—Street Gowns Remain Very Simple, but There is Much Detail in Their Trimming—A Beautiful Wrap.

New York correspondence:

UN the trimming of your dressy bodice around to the back if you want to. A fashionable woman these days can carry out the order "right about face" without making much difference in her looks about the belt. That is, there is no such thing as a change in the shape of a front, vest or waistcoat that is so often a part of the front scheme as it is in the back. Both in front and back the supply of trimming is most liberal.

Naturally with trimmings called upon to do so much, there is a demand for new ones and it is answered by a lot of new and attractive garnitures. One of the prettiest is a trimming of gathered lawn or chiffon, the edges finished with a tiny frill of the same, the frill, in turn, edged with ruffled baby ribbon. A very dainty fullness is thus made. Another trimming may be styled an all-over passementerie that has a lot of up-standing frill

Many Widely Different Tongues Spoken in the Various Provinces.

In the Austrian Alps the local dialects so vary as to be unintelligible from one district to another, and yet have been cultivated in passion plays and popular poetry. Over and above these dialects are scattered chiefly in Slav colonies, Czech, Slovaks, Croats. In Vienna itself the Czechs claim to be 150,000. Slovenians spread over three crownlands—Styria, Carinthia and Cariola—and dominate in the last, which contains also Usoks, Roman Catholic Serbs, but the Slovenians seem to be retreating before the Germans. Of these a remarkable group occurs in the Harz (Gottschee) region, southeast of Ljubach, only inhabited since the fourteenth century. It is against the wall, yet rich in tales and poetry. Strabo to say, the reawakening of the Slovenian race in the course of the last hundred years seems to have been determined by the first Napoleon, who replaced, German in the normal schools of the so-called Illyrian provinces (six in number) by Slovene and called forth the passionate admiration of the Slovenian poets, Tyrol and Vorarlberg, again, are divided between Germans, Italians and "Ladins" (Ladins), the so-called Romanians of Switzerland.

In the Tyrol also each valley has its own pronunciation of its own accent, its expressions unintelligible a few miles off. The Ladins were predominant in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries; toward the eighteenth century the Italians got the upper hand, but seem now to be becoming gradually outnumbered by the Germans. The Ladins form a curious little group of from 10,000 to 20,000 in Tyrol, with nearly 50,000 in Friuli (besides the 40,000 of the Grisons). Their language is nearer to Provençal or Catalan than to Italian. They chiefly inhabit the valleys, while the Germans climb the mountain sides, just as he has done in Bohemia, the Czechs mainly occupying the plains.—Spectator.

NERVOUS DEPRESSION.

[A TALK WITH MRS. PINKHAM.]

A woman with the blues is very uncomfortable person. She is listless, unhappy and frequently hysterical. The condition of the mind known as "the blues," nearly always with women, results from diseased organs of generation.

It is a source of wonder that in this age of advanced medical science, any person should still believe that mere force of will and determination will overcome depressed spirits and nervousness in women. These troubles are indications of disease.

Every woman who does not understand her condition should write to Lydia, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham for her advice. Her advice is thorough common sense, and is the counsel of a learned woman of great experience. Read the story of Mrs. E. S. Bennett, Westphalia, Kansas, as told in the following letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have suffered for over two years with falling, ungenerous and pleuritic of the womb, and this spring, being in such a weakened condition, caused me to flow for nearly six months. Some time ago, tired by friends, I wrote to you for advice, after using the treatment which you advised for a short time, that terrible flow stopped.

"I am now gaining strength and flesh, and have better health than I have had for the past six years. I wish to say to all distressed, suffering women, do not suffer longer, when there is one so kind and willing to aid you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's remedy for women's ills. More than a million women have been benefited by it.

How It Happened.

"My dear," said Mrs. Bennett to her daughter the other evening after Lydia Woodly had departed, "now in the world did your hair become so disarranged?"

"Why, mamma," replied the quick-witted maid, "I guess it must be from shaking my head so much when Mr. Woodly was trying to coax me to say yes."

"And the mother suddenly remembered that she had once been a girl herself."

SEVERE IN OUTLINE, BUT FAR FROM SIMPLE.

The black cloth overskirt appeared to be continuous with the bodice, and opened to show a skirt of red strapped with gray. The overskirt sloped to the foot of the skirt at the back, but rounded off at the sides. The stripes on the sleeves were red and the waist white silk.

There are countless variations of the pointed idea. A very odd one appears in the third of the accompanying illustrations. The gown would be a belted princess but for the curious cutting away of the bodice at the back and the skirt of the hips and just under the belt. The chemise dotted silk that showed here matched a yoke which the bodice opened to show. The dress would be a heavy wool more in full gray. Black chemise spots dotted white silk in the trimmings, and the embroidery was black chemise.

Such street dresses, as has been said above, constitute a temptation to ignore feminine lines. On the other hand, the most fashionable wraps are mighty fine feathers; never were they more beautiful. Certainly there is small danger of a woman living of them so long as they are so beautiful as the ones the artist puts here. It was not dull, but rather, with chemise embroidered, black, net, knowing that a deep dolman of the set, hung just short of the edge of the net, you will have an idea of the lovely color scheme. A tiny edge of chemise topped the dolman, and a yoke of the net had for finish a fold of the beautiful hood, which swept to the front. Skirt falls finished collar and hood, and the whole was lined with delicate blue silk. The cloak was fitted to her bodice, when the hood was lifted, it was trimmed of soft just back of the hair ornament.

Winter weather has brought conditions of pavements that have afforded the opportunity for studying the proper and the proper manner of holding up the long skirt. Street sweepers in which the new length of skirt, even with wearers of it. The study has resulted mostly in amusement, but it has also raised a hope that leaders or makers of women's fashions have not forgotten the graceful attitudes, and that they will bring to a pose for themselves and health the long skirt.

The young doctor and his friend, the young clerk, were sitting at the end window, when a richly dressed lady passed by.

"I can't afford it," replied the doctor, "she is too aristocratic."

HEALTHY HAPPY GIRLS

often, from no apparent cause, become languid and despondent in the early days of their womanhood. They drag along always tired, never hungry, breathless and with a slight tingling heart after slight exercise so that merely to walk up stairs is exhausting. Sometimes a short dry cough leads to the fear that they are going into consumption.

They are anemic, doctors tell them, which means that they have too little blood. Are you like that? Have you too little blood?

More anemic people have been made strong, energetic men and women by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People than by any other means they are the best tonic in the world.

Miss Lulu Stevens, of Gasport, Niagara Co., N. Y., had been a very fragile girl until about a year ago, when she grew weak and pale. She lost her appetite, was nervous and tired in the morning, and until she became so emaciated that her friends hardly knew her. The doctors declared the disease anemic, and gave her up to die. A physician who was visiting in Gasport prevailed upon her to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. She did so, and was benefited at once. She is now well and strong—the very picture of health.—Buffalo (N. Y.) Courier.

The genuine are sold only in packages, the wrapper always bearing the full name, for sale by all druggists or sent postpaid by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, fifty cents per box. Book of cures free on request.

Muslin sets in silver, gold and enamel are among the favorite presents. They are all carved and ornamented with beautiful designs.

The "augmented" button, which is a silk strap fastener instead of a button, is no longer desirable.

Open fans of fine line of silk mounted on tortoise shell or ivory sticks and decorated with delicate miniature paintings are much in vogue.

FREE WORDS IN MONTANA.

Homesteads and pre-emptions can be taken in the Milk River Valley and other parts of central Montana. The land is of daily rains on the Great Northern Railway. Sometimes the advertisements in German papers are really delicious. Witness this: "A medical student wishes to exchange a well-preserved skeleton for a bicycle." What an exchange! The proprietor of the skeleton little thought in his lifetime what he would come to one day and that, although he would not be a student himself, he yet would foster the rapid motion of others.

There was a dance at the opera house Thursday night under the auspices, we understand, of Benser and Chaplin. There were also two fights in the town that night so that affairs were pretty lively for a time.

Hans Holm who has been living north of Winside about 7 miles for some years, has just purchased 80 acres of Frank Kruger and Tom Lound south of town and expects to move to the place in the spring, thus we gain another good citizen as Mr. Holm formerly traded mostly in Carroll or Wayne.

An "Old Maids' Convention" was held at the opera house Saturday night. The performers were members of the Ladies' Aid Society of this place and the proceeds were used for the benefit of the church. The audience was large and appreciative and the performance first class. The ladies took in at the door for admission $32.50 which, considering the low price of admission, meant a large crowd for Winside.

Bert Tamplin and Louis Ziemer drove 12 head of cattle out to Mr. Baker's near Winside last Friday. They both walked and by their looks when they came back they were tired, for both were carrying their overshoes. Next time when they walk they will take a horse, even if they have to lead it.

Our mill is busy night and day grinding feed for our farmers. It is giving the best of satisfaction or it would not have so much work.

Some of Shannon's cattle that he is feeding, have got the tick. It commences at the tail and then works along the back until the hair is all off.

Some of our young folk attended a surprise party at the home of Mr. Olson of Soga, in honor of Andrew Lund on Wednesday and report a jolly time. An oyster supper and songs kept them until the wee sma' hours, when all returned home feeling good, but tired.
