Judge Hunter has in his possession
quite a curiosity in the form of a newspaper printed on wallpaper. It is a reprint copy of the Grant edition of the Vicksburg citizens set up for print
July 2, 1863, and ordered printed July 4 after he had captured the city. The reading is very interesting.

Republican. While shelling corn for Nels Orcutt Friday W. S. Brown met with what has proven to be a very painful accident. He was engaged in cutting a steel key with a cold chisel to fit some part of the machinery of the sheller when a chip of the steel flew off and imbedded itself in the ball of his right eye. He felt it scratch but didn't think it was anything serious and went about his work and didn't go and have it removed. By Saturday morning the eye had become much inflamed and pained him intensely when he went to Dr. Leisnering and had the offending steel removed and is now getting better.

or less demolished and some of the

Mrs. Steen received a letter Saturday which contained the information that her brother, John Bryan had fallen with a scaffold from an elevator on which he was working, some 24 feet to the ground, and that as a result he had sustained a broken wrist and a number of ribs, besides sustaining
other injuries.

At the three-tinged convention held at Omaha on Tuesday ex-governor Holcomb was nominated for Supreme Judge, but with considerable dissatisfaction from the democratic end of it.
W. V. Allen might have been nominated had he not positively declined to accept. He is wise, the hand writing is plain, Nebraska is a republican state
this year.

The county central committee of the populist and democratic parties held meetings at the court house on Saturday afternoon. Delegates were appointed to the state and judicial conventions as follows: Dem (State)— Gay R. Wilbur, Phil Kohl, F. O. Johnson, Ed Reynolds, Thos. Lott, Frank Berry, Pat Coleman, and C. A. Killian;
Pop. (State)—H. B. Miller, D. Homer, J.
P. Neff, James Britton, John Coyte, L.
F. Rayburn, C. J. Rundell, and James Elliot. The delegates to the democratic judicial convention were C. E.
Berry, J. M. Pile, Ed. Cullen, T. E. Hill, Ed. Carroll, Griff Garwood, Oscar Milliken, Theo. Barnhardt, Populist—W.
E. Wallace, Henry Kellogg, A. Hoeneke,
John Heerin, Levi Diltz, A. A. Childs, Robert Perrin, and Chas. Seifkin. The question of county conventions was then taken up and Sept. 23rd fixed as the date for holding them. Fusion or no fusion was discussed and finally democratic committee recommended fusion and that the officers be fixed for the parties on the same basis as 1897, but the populists took no action in the matter. A merry time is looked for in the near future, about the time the fusion county conventions are held.

The Weisenborn Fence Machine

Is certainly a success, over 125 machines having been sold here by the representatives, also hundreds of rods of their fence are being put up by the best farmers in Wayne county. The following are testimonials from a few of the citizens of Wayne as to what they have to say and think of the fence
and machine:

Wayne, Neb., Aug. 18, 99.
We, the undersigned citizens of Wayne, Wayne County, Neb., having seen the practical working of the Weisenborn Fence Machine, do hereby recommend it to the general public as for cheapness, durability and practical working, to be the best machine on the market, and best fence. N. O. CURTIS,

NELS NELSON.

Discovered by a Woman.
Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she pined incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night, and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs.
Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bot-

The writer had the pleasure of meeting Judge Dickinson of Takamah, the present probable republican nominee for Supreme Judge, at Lake Quinnebough last week, and we have no hesitation in stating that if the Judge is as industrious on the bench as he is at fishing, he is certainly the right man for the place.
"Coin" Harvey claimed in his address that a British syndicate owned 80,000 acres of Nebraska land. After the speech was over he was questioned closely on the whereabouts of the land. He said it was just west of "Jefferson county" and we find Thayer county first, Nuckolls second and Webster third. These counties are known to be well settled and the property owned largely by the people living on it. Of course it wouldn't do for "Coin" to say this land was out in the sand hills and the desert for that land isn't worth half the taxes and in that event Uncle Sam would be getting the better of Johnnie Bull and in "Coin's" politics that would never do.—Blair Pilot.

Wayne has indeed fallen from grace when she will allow a beer garden with a dance pavilion and vaudeville stage in connection to start up in its midst. But such is the case and the worst part of it is that the majority of the citizens seem to be in favor of it and are giving the promoters all the encouragement necessary. The old Presbyterian church has been purchased and will be used for one of the buildings in the garden. Surely there is an splendid field for missionary work in the little city of Wayne.—Hartington Herald.

W. H. Harvey, known as "Coin" Harvey and one of the leading exponents of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and the author of "Coin's Financial School," containing the principal arguments used in the campaign of 1896 when Bryan was hopelessly defeated, delivered an address to a good-sized audience at the Van Camp building Thursday night, on Law and Civilization. The night was exceedingly warm but the speaker was given close attention throughout. The silver question has been hashed and rehashed until it has become a dead issue, and in the minds of most people has been settled one way or the other. We challenge Coin Harvey or any one else to show us a single person that changed his politics as a result of the address who had been a republican prior to that time. Mr. Harvey also left a challenge to the republican papers defying them to answer it, but in less than five minutes he had answered it himself. It was to the effect that the balance of trade in favor of the United States from 1873 had been 4,000,000,000 dollars, but that this country had never seen a dollar of it, and in less than five minutes admitted that during the past year the balance of trade had resulted in a cash balance of 132 millions of dollars in favor of the United States which had been sent out through the West and which was one of the chief causes for the present prosperous times. It was an open confession, but was not so intended. Mr. Harvey did not mention the vast improvements in building, railroads, etc., that have been made and which represents the balance of trade for which he said this country had never received a cent. However his statements, so preponderous, are only his own, and no established proof that they are true was shown. Nor can he prove them regardless of manufactured statistics.

The "Terrier."
A document known by the name of a "terrier" is supposed to be kept at every old parish church setting forth the sources of the income of the benefice—especially glebe lands; hence the derivation from the Latin "terra." Ignorance of this purely technical term led a clergyman into a curious mistake. He was a sporting parson and had just been appointed to his first living. During the early days of his incumbency he received a form from the bishop which he was required to fill up. Among the questions asked was "Do you keep a terrier?"
"No," wrote the cleric in reply, "but I have two well bred pointers, and your lordship is welcome to one if you care to have it."—St. James Gazette.

ARE WE A BANKRUPT NATION?

According to "Coin" Harvey the United States of America has been a bankrupt nation for the past ten years and if the figures of the apostle of free coinage could be accepted as gospel truth the United States never will be able to pay its debts unless its creditors can be forced to settle at 50 cents on the dollar. In the campaign of 1896 Harvey publicly asserted that the debt of the United States aggregated forty billions, while the assets, based on the census returns of 1890, aggregate only twenty-four billions. In the lecture Coin Harvey is delivering in Nebraska towns this summer he repeats these figures, which fact in itself is a dead giveaway upon the apostle of finance. If it was true that the debt of the nation in 1896 was forty billions and its assets were computed at sixteen billions less than its liabilities, some change has certainly taken place in both within the past three years. It is known to all men, including Mr. Harvey that hundreds of millions and possibly billions of bonds and mortgages have been paid off since 1896 and it is equally true that a very marked advance has taken place within that period in property values. On the one hand hundreds of millions of bonds have been sent back to America from Europe in exchange for American products and the market value of railroads and industrial plants that are capitalized as corporate property has increased enormously, while the western farmers and owners of town property have paid off millions upon millions of debts since 1896. But delusionists like Harvey close their eyes to all these stubborn facts and persistently keep on repeating the exploded notions concocted for political effect.

They talk as glibly of forty thousand millions of dollars as they do of forty thousand dollars and scarcely seem to be aware of the fact that it would take a man ten years of ten-hours-a-day work to count one billion of dollars in ten-dollar gold pieces. The true figures of the actual debt of the United States would fall at least twenty-four billions short of Coin Harvey's estimate. The largest portion of this debt is that of the railroads, computed at about six billions. The debt of all other corporations, exclusive of banks, will not exceed two billions. The national debt of the United States and the debt of all the states, counties and cities of the United States do not exceed two and a half billions. The debt of the banks to their depositors and the debts of individuals are less than five billions. The most extravagant estimate of all the liabilities, public, corporate and individual, does not at this time exceed sixteen billions instead of forty billions, as is claimed by Harvey, and the resources of the United States at the lowest estimate must have increased at least 25 per cent since 1890, which would make the total assets thirty billions. In other words, the ledger so counts of the United States shows a balance of fully fourteen thousand millions on the credit side. Estimating the population of the United States at seventy-five million, the wealth of its people after deducting all debt, national, state, county, city, corporate and private, would be $186 for every man, woman and child. But that amount does not represent the actual wealth. It must be remembered that the bulk of all the debt, public and private, is owing to the American people. Of the sixteen billions of debt less than 25 per cent is held in foreign countries. The greater proportion of the national debt and the bonds and mortgages issued by counties, cities, corporations and individuals is held by American investors. The bank deposits, which aggregate about three billions, are all owned by individual home depositors, the national government and local governments. Instead of being a bankrupt nation, as Mr. Harvey contends, this is one of the richest nations on the face of the earth and its colossal debt in reality represents what its own people own in the form of bonds, mortgages and bank deposits.—Bee.

The Bee says that "According to Colonel Bryan property did not set in until six months after the election of McKinley, when the Klondike gold mines began to be heard from. From the Bryan standpoint this may be true. But it is certainly true that calamity would have set in the day after election had McKinley been defeated. The menace of free silver would have precipitated a crash such as no country had ever seen before and prosperity, instead of being deferred six months, would have been deferred as many years. As a matter of fact the Klondike gold discoveries were a mere drop in the ocean. The restoration of confidence in the stability of our monetary system was worth more than all the gold mines. The reopening of the mills and factories, giving re-employment to hundreds of thousands of idle workmen, was the inevitable consequence of republican supremacy in the national government without which the tide of prosperity would not have set in."

Governor Poynter returned to Chairman Frost of the senate investigating committee the report filed in his office. He sent it by mail, and Senator Prout refusing to receive it, it was returned to the governor. He refused to accept it, and it is now in the hands of Post Master Bushnell at Lincoln. He will advertise it as "unsealed for" and then forward it to the Dead Letter office at Washington, where it will be opened and read and returned to the writer. The Dead Letter office is an appropriate place for the document. The report smells as if there was something rotten in Nebraska, and the fellows it touches upon are really dead. The report promises to become historic in many ways. It seems as difficult for it to find permanent lodgment as for Aguirre to establish a fixed place for a capital.—Fremont Tribune.

If the present administration is one of despotism the great American people will pray that such despotism may continue. When has there been prosperity more pronounced than now? When has there been so many people employed in this country? Will Coin Harvey answer that question?

The republicans of the Eighth Missouri congressional district, formerly represented by Hland, propose to carry the district this fall, and as a result the calls for Bryan in that section by popocracy have been extremely strong, but it will avail naught.

The day of conventions is here and the work of doing and undoing men and things goes merrily on ward.

It may not have occurred to some people that McKinley is president of the United States and not of the republican party. Such is the case, however.

The First Nebraska Volunteers will be given free transportation home and will be provided with special trains, the required amount having been raised.

The people throughout this section will be extremely gratified to learn that Senator Hayward was struck on with aplenty at Broken Bow last week, has about recovered.

Ex-Gov. Holcomb must feel proud of his $20,000 record. It looks pretty speckled, but if Bryan nominates him for Supreme Judge his record will become more spotted than the hide of the old spotted cow Speck.

Down in Kentucky they have placed in nomination two democratic tickets. This is only done to show to the world that the present administration is acceptable, by thus giving the republicans a sure cinch on the state.

Douglas and Pierce county populists have held their county conventions and refused to fuse with democracy for the spoils of office and propose to go it on their own merits. The populist cause seems to be lost forever.

The Democrats of Nebraska are going to let Sias A. Holcomb have the nomination for supreme judge, because they must not because they want to, after which democratic editors are expected to get in line and whoop it up for the hero of old Speck $20 per month rake off on house rent, and they will.—Stanton Picket.

Where is there a nation on the face of the globe that treats her soldier boys better than this government? There is none. Uncle Sam leads in this respect. The volunteer army now being mustered out at San Francisco are receiving pay for clothing, boot pay, two months extra pay and traveling expenses. Thus will the gallant First Nebraska be treated when mustered out, and they, too, will be returned to Nebraska at the expense of an admiring people. Well do they deserve it.

The Hastings Tribune, Dakota City Eagle, Wayne Herald, Blair Pilot, Broken Bow Republican, Grand Island Independent and Lyons Sun are a few stalwart republican papers of Nebraska that second the Tribune's nomination of Judge Chas. T. Dickinson for justice of the supreme court. They all appreciate his quality and recognize the advisability of nominating a candidate of conceded strength and popularity in Omaha, in which judicial district he has served as Judge most acceptably four years.—Fremont Tribune.

During the course of his political harangue the other evening Coin Harvey alluded to strikes, inferring that they were the result of a republican administration, but he didn't mention the difference between the present time and the time when Coxey's army was marching on to Washington "striking" for a job during the good "old democratic times," while at the present time any man can get lucrative employment if he wants it, and men are employed receiving for their labor $2.00 per day and upwards, but through agitation by such men they are induced to strike for $2.50 or $3.00 per day and upwards. Will Coin Harvey explain the difference in the strikes?

S. S. S. GOES TO THE BOTTOM.

Promptly Reaches the Seat of all Blood Diseases and Cures the Worst Cases.

In every test made S. S. S. easily demonstrates its superiority over other blood remedies. It matters not how obdurate the case, nor what other treatment or remedies have failed, S. S. S. always promptly reaches and cures any disease where the blood is in any way involved. Everyone who has had experience with blood diseases knows that there are no ailments or troubles so obstinate and difficult to cure, very few remedies claim to cure such real, deep-seated blood diseases as S. S. S. cures, and none can effect such prompt and reliable evidence of merit. S. S. S. is not merely a tonic—it is a cure. It goes down to the very seat of all blood diseases, and gets at the foundation of the very worst cases and routes the poison from the system. It does not, like other remedies, dry up the poison and hide it from view temporarily, only to break forth again more violently than ever; S. S. S. forces out every trace of it, and kills the system of it forever.

Miss T. W. Lee, Montgomery, Ala., writes: "Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and in my great extremity I prayed to die. Several prominent physicians treated me, but all gave me seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to try Swift's Specific. I improved from the start, as the medicine seemed to go direct to the cause of the trouble and force the poison out. Twenty bottles cured me completely." Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD
—is the only remedy that is guaranteed purely vegetable, and contains no mercury, potash, arsenic, or any other mineral or chemical. It never fails to cure Cancer, Eczema, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Pimple, Pills, Carbuncles, Sores, etc.

The Dangerous Stage.

The gentleman had rung the bell several times before the servant let him in. He was looking surprised and a trifle apprehensive when Mrs. Blykins came into the room.
"I called," he explained, "to inquire about your husband's health. He and I belong to the same organization, and several of the members desired me to call to see how he is getting along. We were very sorry to hear of his illness."
"A very kind of you," she answered.
There was a crash which shook the chandelier.
She paid no attention to it.
"I think it will be only a day or two before he is able to get out and go down town," she added.
The slamming of doors echoed heavily through the house.
"Has he been dangerously sick?"
"Not until today."
"But I understood you to say that he was convalescent."
"I think I may say that he is so. He wasn't well enough to be dangerous till this morning. But before noon he had discharged the trained nurse, quarreled with the cook, smashed a rocking chair against which he had stubbed his toe and thrown the canary bird out of the window. Those are always hopeful symptoms with him, and I feel fairly justified in saying that he is convalescent."—Washington Star

His Manner of Bath.
At a little cosmopolitan gathering in a hotel on the North Side the company were discussing the matter of a bath at Chicago for flattening the letter "a," when the girl from Boston remarked as she perched serenely over her glasses.
"We always give it the continental accent. For instance, we say bath."
"Bath?" said the New York girl, shrugging her handsome shoulders.
"That isn't continental. That's New England. Now, we always pronounce it bath."
"You're away off," retorted Miss Chicago, going into the subject neck and collar. "We are the most correct people in the world with all the up-to-date knowledge there is, and we give it the full value—bath."
"There's a Londoner among us," suggested one of the company. "Got him to pronounce the word and notice what he does with the 'a.'"
So they tackled the bewildered Englishman, without letting him know their motive, but asking him solemn questions about his opinion of the bath. After regarding them with a sphinxlike stare through his monocled eye the gentleman from London said:
"Quite so. I always tub in the morning."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Dickens Was "Loud."
In the memoir of the late J. H. Friswell there is a glimpse of Dickens which will seem familiar to those Americans who remember the somewhat flamboyant dress of the novelist. "On one occasion," wrote the author of the "Gentle Life," "we were walking down Wellington street and just passing the office of Household Words when a hansom cab stopped and out stepped a gayly dressed gentleman. His bright green waistcoat and vivid scarlet to any one would have noticed, but the size of the nosebag in his buttonhole riveted my attention. My father introduced me, and I, who had only seen engravings of the Maches portrait and photographs, was astonished to find myself face to face with Charles Dickens."
She Swept the Street.
A newly arrived Irish servant was installed in the home of a family on the west side last week, and on the first morning of service she was told to go out and sweep the sidewalk.
After an absence of something like an hour the housekeeper went out to see what had become of the new servant. She was seen way down at the end of the block hard at work. She had gone the block's length, and she said she didn't know where she was to stop.—New York Sun.

Brothers and sisters ought to be glad to give and receive mutual assistance.
"You show such bad taste in the selection of your medicines, Horace," said the older sister of a youth in his teens. "They always look so wrinkled and shagbared too. You ought to let me buy them and tie them for you."
"I'm willing, sis," he answered, looking at her pinched waist. "If you'll let me buy your belts and fasten them around you."—Youth's Companion.

The Lamb—The thing has gone down until it isn't worth a cent on the dollar. And yet you told me it was a good investment.
The Wolf—And so I still think. The trouble is that we look at it from different points of view, that's all.—Boston Transcript.

Not a German.
"Did you enjoy the German the other night, Miss Daisy?" asked Tinkleton.
"He wasn't a German, Mr. Thidleton," answered Daisy impudently; "he's an Englishman."—Harper's Bazar.

In the island of Banquet there is a tribe of Dunsons differing widely in language, religion and customs from other tribes bearing that name. Marriages are performed in the forest in the presence of two families. There is no public gathering or feast.
The rite consists in transferring a drop of blood from a wooden knife in the calf of the man's leg to a similar cut in the woman's leg. After marriage the man takes the bride to her home, where he resides in future as a member of the family.
