WAYNE COUNTY SCHOOLS.

A report of the schools of Wayne county for the year beginning July 12, 1898, and ending June 27, 1899.

There are now in the county, seventy-eight districts employing ninety-two teachers. There are 3,433 children between the ages of five and twenty-one.

Of these there were 2,285 enrolled in the schools, with an average attendance of 1500. There was expended in the county for all school purposes $43,421.48.

Deducting from this $1283 spent for house-building, leaving a balance of $42,138.48, and dividing by 1500, the average attendance, we find it cost us almost $28 per pupil for tuition during the year. There were three new school houses built.

We had five teachers' meetings during the year; twice we had to withdraw our appointments owing to contagious disease in the town. I have not the Secretary's book so can not give the average attendance at these meetings; but I know the coldest day last winter there were thirty-five teachers present.

Forty-three of the schools, a little over 50 per cent, employed the same teacher during the year.

We had one week of Institute work with an attendance of 147, and for the first time in the history of the county the teachers paid no institute fee, nor was there any money received from the county. The county superintendent made 127 visits to schools during the year. C. M. Warrick, Sup't.

Republican Committee Meeting. Pursuant to call of chairman, F. L. Neely, the republican county committee met at the office of A. A. Welch Saturday afternoon for the purpose of electing delegates to the state and judicial convention and to name the time for holding the county convention.

The following committees were present: Chairman, F. L. Neely, secretary, Bert Brown; committee on Bryan precinct, E. T. Kenneke; Chapman, G. A. Lewis; Garfield, E. C. Brooks; Hoskins, Louis Ziemer; Hunter, Benj. Wellbaum; Strahan, C. C. Brown; Leslie, J. E. Russell; Sherman, J. H. Porter; Wilbur, A. M. Jacobs; Winside, F. J. Tracy; Wayne 2nd ward, A. T. Witt; 3rd ward, F. M. Northrop. The meeting was called to order by chairman Neely and the roll called by the secretary showed the following:

On motion the following delegates were elected to the state and judicial conventions:

State—J. T. Bressler, F. M. Northrop, A. A. Welch, J. H. Goll, W. H. McNeal, M. S. Moats, E. Cunningham, E. C. Brooks and Wm Gue.

Judicial—J. H. Manning, B. W. McKean, F. M. Northrop, A. H. Carter, Louis Ziemer, J. H. Porter, J. D. King, J. T. Bressler, and G. A. Lewis.

The chairman and secretary were then authorized to fill any vacancy that might occur in the delegations.

The date for holding the county convention was fixed for Saturday Sept. 30th 1899 at 2:00 o'clock p. m. at the court house in this city, the business representation for each precinct will then be made in accordance with call which will be found elsewhere. The meeting then adjourned.

It was the opinion of most of the committee that the chances for republican success in the county this fall is exceedingly bright.

Life Insurance That Insures.

The revision of the Life Insurance laws of this state by the last legislature is having, as it ought, a stimulating effect upon the business of State Companies.

The two per cent. tax imposed upon the gross premium receipts of other state companies and exempting our own state companies was a good move in the right direction. The Security Mutual Life Insurance Company of Lincoln, Nebraska, being the oldest stipulated company in the state, is one of those most benefited. This company issues a contract of Life Insurance that inspires, for the reason that its policy contracts contain no misleading or evasive terms, no legal phrases that need the interpretation of a lawyer, no restrictions with reference to residing, travel, suicide, habits of life, or manner of death, and one does not have to die in order to derive benefits from the company. The Security Mutual issues policies strictly up-to-date, providing accident indemnity, for paid up and continued insurance, loans at 6 per cent. interest, and cash surrender values, and are absolutely incontestable and non-forfeitable.

Many of the leading business and professional men, and farmers of Wayne and vicinity are policy holders in the Security Mutual Life Insurance Company. Mr. F. W. Dismore, President of the company, and Mr. W. D. Gamble, general agent, are now in Wayne looking after the company's interests here; and we suggest that those uninsured in this company look over its plans if they wish to see a strictly up-to-date Life Insurance contract at the lowest premium rates charged for the same kind of insurance by any company in the United States.

City Council Proceedings. Wayne, Nebr., Sept. 11, 1899.

Council met in regular session with the following members present: Mayor Ley, Clementen Frazier, Strahan, Guertner, Pippenstock, Craven and Clerk Laughlin. Absent: Sherbahl.

On motion the following bills were allowed:

S. M. Sloan, draying, $8 00

F. Raymond & Randall, supplies, 1 30

Chas. Groves, month salary, 40 00

G. L. Miner, " " 50 00

Ordinance No. 117, the annual appropriation ordinance was read the second time, and on motion the rules were suspended by unanimous vote, and ordinance passed to its third reading.

On motion the rules were again suspended, ordinance No. 117 being put on the basis of $35, and on motion bill was allowed and ordered paid to the amount of $35.

On motion council adjourned.

A Word to Mothers. Mothers of children affected with croup or severe cold need not hesitate to administer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It contains no opiate nor narcotic in any form and may be given as confidently to the babe as to an adult. The great success that has attended its use in the treatment for colds and croup has won for it the approval and praise it has received throughout the United States and in many foreign lands. For sale at Raymond's drug store.

CLOTHING FOR FALL!

We shall have the most complete Clothing Store in Northern Nebraska within the next week. Our tables and shelves are being filled up fast. We are sending out as a starter for fall, a card showing two Suits and one Over Coat at $8.00. If you can match them in Omaha or Sioux City for $8.00, less than $10.00 we shall have nothing more to say. We are prepared this season to head off any catalogue prices. All we ask is a chance to show our goods. We will tell you later about our $4.00 $5.00 and $6.00 Suits and Overcoats.

Harrington & Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Miller are at the carnival in Sioux City today.

Mrs. A. F. Ernst and Miss Mary Nangle went to Stanton Saturday morning to visit with friends.

Miss Grace Ludeke returned from Ponca Monday where she had been visiting the past week with friends.

The Herald still has several extra papers of last week's issue on hand if there are any persons who desire them.

Joel Hancock of Carroll was in the city Monday on his way to Lincoln to attend the Grand Army encampment.

J. C. Harmon of Randolph, was in Wayne, yesterday morning on his way to attend the G. A. B. reunion at Lincoln.

Mr. Ritchey of Wyoming and Mrs. Cameron of Omaha were guests the latter part of last week at the home of Jas. and Geo. Bush.

Tweed & Reed, the new tailors, have an elegant line of samples for fall and winter suits and overcoats. They arrived the first of the week and are now ready for business.

Among the passengers for Sioux City this morning we noticed Mrs. Gilton, Ley, Williams, Philoel and daughter, the Misses Weber, Spargur and Austin, and Clyde Winterburn, Geo. Stringer and Chas. and Alex. Jeffrey.

The following letters remain uncalled for at the post office for the week ending Sept. 12: Mr. Hardy, John Price, Chas. Reise, Geo. N. Shepherd, W. C. Smith, Miss Myrtle Thomas. When calling for above say advertised.

The ladies Aid society of the M. E. church gave a party at the home of Mrs. Mason Monday evening in honor of Mrs. J. C. Ludeke. A large number of the ladies were present and a very pleasant evening was spent. The society presented Mrs. Ludeke with a set of solid silver tea spoons, a sugar shell and a butter knife. On Tuesday evening the members of the Minerva club gave Mrs. Ludeke a farewell party at the home of Mrs. J. D. King; and on this occasion she was presented with a beautiful souvenir spoon by the club. Mrs. Ludeke will be greatly missed by both the Aid society and the Club.

For Tailor Made Suits, a Jacket, a Golf Cape or Collarette go to Ahern's.

Subject of sermons at the Baptist church next Sunday: Morning—"Prayer." Evening—"Christ, the Light of the World."

The Herald acknowledges the receipt of a complimentary ticket to the Stanton county fair to be held at Stanton, Sept. 19 to 22

J. C. Ludeke and family went to Omaha this week where they will make their home for the winter. Mr. Ludeke expects to take treatment while there and his many friends here trust that he will be greatly benefited.

The Herald received a card from Geo. N. Bonds of Norfolk, yesterday, asking us to announce the fact that Edward A. Kimball of Chicago, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, would give a free public lecture on Christian Science at the Congregational church in Norfolk on Saturday evening

Norfolk News: Mayor J. E. Simpson has received the best one-half bushel of wheat grown in Wayne county and will send it to Washington where it will be prepared for the Paris exposition. The sample was grown by F. L. Neely and the crop raised averaged 2 1/2 bushels to the acre. The kernels are very good and plump and will no doubt average well with the grain on display from other parts of the county.

All members of the M. E. church and congregation should attend the church services next Sunday. This will be the last Sunday that the pastor will preach for this conference year and at the morning service he will give "Some Facts We Ought to Know" in regard to the different departments of the church work. The following Sunday the pulpit will be occupied by a Baptist minister. This will close the second year of Rev. Bibb's work in Wayne and it is the earnest desire of the church and congregation that he be returned for another year.

On November 16th and 17th, 1899, there will be held in this city a county convention of the National Woman Suffrage Association of America, under the auspices of the local committee whose names we have not learned. Three of the national speakers will be present, namely: Mrs. E. H. Belden of Iowa, Rev. Ida Hulton of Illinois, and Miss Laura E. Gregg of Kansas. The latter lady is now in Wayne in the interest of the association. As the convention will be the first of the kind held in Wayne, much interest will undoubtedly be taken to make it a success.

Republican Precinct Caucuses.

Notice is hereby given to all of the republican voters of the county that in all the county precincts, the caucuses for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention will be held at the usual voting place in each precinct at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening Sept. 27th 1899, and in Wayne and Winside Friday evening Sept. 29th. By order of precinct committees.

SETTLE YOUR ACCOUNT.

All persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm of R. W. Wilkins & Co. are hereby notified to call and settle their accounts as we have sold our drug store and desire to settle up our business. Yours truly, R. W. WILKINS & Co.

The State Grand Army Encampment and the State Reception to the returned soldiers of the gallant First Nebraska Volunteers is being held in Lincoln this week and it will be a red letter week in the history of that city. Quite a number of Wayne's citizens are in attendance.

The old Wayne Corn Palace Band that has played so many years at the Sioux City corn palaces and festivals is playing for the carnival there this week. So faithful have the band members been in doing their duty that the citizens of that city give the band the first show at any of the carnivals or other festivals.

J. C. Pawelski had his right arm broken between the wrist and elbow and his elbow and wrist dislocated while attempting to put on an elevator belt which had come off while threshing at Wm. Emicks. N. Cullen who was assisting him accidentally let go of the belt and in a second Mr. P's arm was wound up in two or three belts with the result above mentioned. Dr. Williams reduced the fracture and rendered the necessary medical assistance.

Mrs. Curry, the wife of A. J. Curry, lives in Dixon county in the Curry settlement about six miles south of New Castle. Mr. Curry is a well to do farmer and both he and his family are highly respected. Mrs. Curry says: "I was sick and very weak with kidney and liver trouble. I had the worst complication of female diseases known to women. Hearing my neighbors talk of Craig's Indian Remedies, how they had relieved so many, I tried them and after taking two treatments I am cured. The itching pain in my back is gone and I feel well every way. I most heartily recommend them to women suffering from these awful diseases."

Signed, Mrs. A. J. Curry, New Castle, Neb.

FOR INDIAN SUMMER.

FALL GOWNS ARE DESIGNATED FOR THAT SEASON.

Dresses that are simple and yet marked in their characteristics...

New York correspondence:

A LLING fall dresses Indian summer gowns...

The general aim with careful dressers is to make these suits jaunty and individual...

Several desirable simple costumes are pictured herewith.

The first is a shirt waist skirt, but with modifications of the summer sort...

"I feel that I must kiss you at once," says Miss Dysart, gravely, still standing.

"I have given you a home," continues Miss Dysart, in a tone that trembles a little.

"It runs through a fertile valley and a beautiful country."

"Somehow I had formed the idea that Siberia was, in the main, a mountainous, broken, barren and even sterile country...

"If so, you are indeed a man of great energy and enterprise."

"I have consented to adopt you," he goes on presently, his cold voice now cutting like a knife.

"Do you know," she says, "it may seem as if I do not think of you as a man to expect respect, much less love or regard."

"Oh! it is better not to speak like that," interjects Miss Dysart, in a low, shocked tone.

"And I know that I shall never forgive or forget the life he led you," says Griselda, with a certain angry excitement.

"This hall to do with our grandfather's will," says Miss Dysart, in a low, shocked tone.

"Oh, thank you," says Miss Dysart, leaning forward and addressing with earnestness the young man who had risen...

The effect that has been circulated to the effect that a large number of the new army was to be kept in this country.

The story reached the ears of Secretary of War Root. That official denied it emphatically.

Of course, it will be difficult to prove that a standing army engaged in putting down an insurrection on the other side of the Pacific ocean can be a menace to the people of the United States.

Hard Times for One Class. The effects of a protective tariff are probably felt nowhere in the country more than in Pittsburg.

WANTED—Laborers are needed in the harvest fields of Minnesota and especially in the Dakotas.

John Bull—We don't worry about merchandise balances so long as our deficit is made good by returns or foreign investments and profits on our own exporting trade.

Uncle Sam—Well, if you're satisfied we are; but what is to become of British industries if your American debtors keep on increasing their payments to you in the shape of raw materials?

The President's Policy. There spoke the uncompromising patriot, the intrepid champion of the nation's honor, the faithful conservator of the common weal.

It makes the President's meeting plain the duller can take it, and the most dissonant cannot any longer pretend to be in doubt about it.

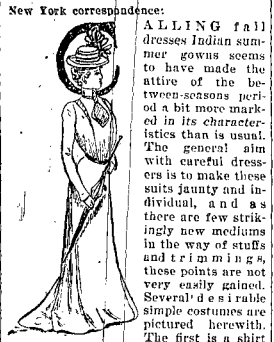

Northwestern Harvest Hands. The farmers of the Northwest are kicking again, and in a different kind of a kick from that of three years ago.

There is a brief statement of an enlarged and profound policy. It is the consideration of columns that have previously been written, and contains all the promises of the original proclamation to the Philippines.

How much bigger, and purer, and healthier is the tone of these exalted sentiments than the tricky and treacherous utterances of a Bryan who dares to slander the flag of his country by saying that it carries tyranny and oppression to the Philippines instead of the light of liberty and civilization.

There is nothing of equivocation here, and the candid, emphatic manner in which this declaration of the purpose of American loyalty and patriotism is made, coupled with the surroundings and the circumstances in which it was made, should silence for all time the carping critics who were so sternly rebuked—Baltimore American.

Bryan's Misjudgment. The American people have never yet discontinued a military enterprise undertaken to extend or enforce the national authority. They have never

You may run away from hydrophobia, because you can see it coming in the frothing tongue and the snapping jaws of the mad dog. But the diseases which carry off the greater part of mankind are sneaking away from you. They are insidious, and come as a thief in the night.

Six percent of the daily deaths are due to consumption. The name of the disease suggests the horror of emaciation, the labor of breathing, the hectic color, the night sweats which mark the struggles of the daily weakening victim.

To those with weak lungs, obstinate, lingering cough, bronchitis, and kindred ailments which, if neglected, lead on to consumption, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery brings hope, help and healing. Its cures have been many and marvelous. Thousands who had lost hope, have found permanent cure in "Golden Medical Discovery."

"Last spring I wrote you in regard to my health which at that time was very poor," writes Mrs. Nettie M. Barnes, of Gardiner, Pawnee Co., Kansas. "My trouble was bronchial affection. Symptoms appearing in the morning for five years, shortness of breath, raw and sore throat, loss of strength, at times almost loss of voice, irregular periods in fact I thought I was nearly going into consumption. I consulted you and you advised me to give Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a trial, which I did, and with happy results. I used two bottles of "Golden Medical Discovery" and health returned to me in a few weeks. I used three bottles more three times since I began using it. My periods are regular, strength returned, and I am almost as well as I know of a lady that was cured of consumption by this same "Golden Medical Discovery," and she always keeps her bottle handy.

"Some dealers may offer you a 'just as good' medicine in place of Dr. Pierce's, because there's more profit in the sale of the substitute. If any dealer thinks more of his profit than of your patronage, he's not entitled to your trade.

Winslow Tribune: The papers of this judicial district are beginning to mention A. A. Welch, of Wayne, as about the proper person for the republican nomination for district judge. The Tribune is in hearty accord with that sentiment. Ex-Senator Allen, who is now judge by appointment, will be the fusion nominee, unless he should refuse a nomination, which is not likely. With A. A. Welch to run against, Allen would have no walkaway, and would indeed stand an excellent show of coming out second best in the race. Or would Mr. Welch prefer to run against the Hon. S. Holcomb?

STONES CAST AT THEM

(Freedom, Manila, P. I., Aug. 2.)

If the statement made by two of the Spanish prisoners who escaped from the Insurrectos, when the American troops under General Lawton took Calamba, the outrages perpetrated upon the Americans who were captured by the Filipinos were of the most barbarous nature, and would possibly close the mouths of the lying, bigoted, ignorant coldfooted stay at homes who rant so much of ill treated Filipinos, and of the abuses practised upon them by the men of the Eighth Army Corps.

The escaped Spanish prisoners say that the Americans were brought from one city to another that the ignorant natives could have no opportunity to see some of the race who had come to despoil them of their rights. The women of these towns had previously been informed by the rebel leaders that when the Americans captured a town it was their practice to outrage all the women and to behead the children.

When the American prisoners entered a town in company with their captors the women and children threw stones at them and struck them with sticks.

The bodies of these poor, half-starved men who were barely able to crawl along, were literally covered with bruises of all sorts, and that in the towns between Taguig and Santa Cruz seven of these men died of their wounds.

One of the Spanish gentlemen who was formerly a captain in the Guardia Civil says that the treatment which the Spanish prisoners received was bad enough, but that it was nothing in comparison to the treatment which the poor American soldiers received.

The Spanish prisoners could not bear even to look at the inhuman tortures which these men were forced to undergo. This gentleman says that the rebels have no rice in Batangas, and that with the Americans in possession of the towns along the West and South side of the lake the rebels will be out short of all provisions, as rice and fish are the principal articles of food, both of which they receive from the lake.

The Theatre from the Inside.

That there are five thousand theatres in America, and that one million and a half people attend them each week-day night, spending seventy millions of dollars a year on theatre-going, are the surprising facts with which Mr. Franklin Fyles, the dramatic editor of the New York Sun, will open an important series in the next issue of The Ladies' Home Journal. The series will be called "The Theatre and its People," and will run through seven numbers of the magazine, lavishly illustrated with pictures made by twelve different artists. The articles will treat of every phase of the theatre, the play and the actor, from the inside, and will tell how a theatre is managed; the actual money which plays have made; how an actor is trained and what the actors are actually paid; how a play is rehearsed; the first night of a play; how the actresses "make up" and what they use; and in a minute way the two last articles will show what goes on behind the scenes on the stage during a performance. It is a curious fact that this will be the first time that the theatre and actor have been exhaustively treated in a magazine, and that there is no book on the subject in existence.

Making a Child Too Quiet.

Play is the proper and natural outlet for a child's thoughts. To restrain his motion is to drive back his living fancy into the recesses of his mind, and this results in his confusion and unhappiness. Some children who are forced to be still and passive when they are longing for action and relief in whistling over stories to themselves, but it is an unsatisfactory substitute for dramatic action. And it is also morally injurious, for the necessity of concealing one's ideas destroys after awhile the ability for fluent expression and brings about timidity and distrust of one's friends. Florence Hull Winterburn in Woman's Home Companion.

THE DEAD BEE.

Dead amid the daisy dower
Lies a honny little rover
Who could shoo his course afar
Without compass, without star.

Nevermore across the azure
Shall he sail in search of treasure;
Remember, when day is gone,
Howe shall be his glory.

From the journey's golden chalice,
And the tithy's warty palace,
And the violet's divine
Cups of white and purple wine.

Smile, smile of 'thou fatless summer,
To forget things early come,
Say if thou hast first departed,
Hark how shall be thy glory.

Had he still been merry hearted?
On the boughs in rapture swinging
Gaily the birds are singing—
I, who mourn thee, little bee,
Will pronounce thee elegy:

Be it meetness or unmeetness,
Thou didst garner up life's sweetness,
Worth than the ages wait,
Earth has one loss to deplore.

HIS WIFE'S ICY STARE.

Why It Was Taken on and How It Was Handled.

He is a prominent lawyer in this city. His daughter is 7 years of age and waited to the gate with him one day last week. The little girl kissed her hand to him until he turned the corner. He returned the salutation each time. That night when he came home his wife had an icy stare for him. He wanted to know the trouble, but she only answered, "Nothing." Any question from him received a short, sharp "yes" or "no."

After supper she called him into another room and said: "Mr. —, Mrs. —, our next door neighbor was over to see me this afternoon. She informed me of your conduct when you walked down the street, throwing kisses after his to her. She said her husband was not at home or he would shoot you. Will you please invent some plausible excuse that I can give to my neighbor to explain away your reprehensible conduct?"

He was up against the knottiest proposition of his life. He thought long and hard, and finally the light dawned upon him. He rushed frantically out of the room and returned with his beloved child in his arms. "Daughter," he said, "please tell your mother what you and papa were doing after dinner today."

"We was throwing kisses at each other until papa turned the corner."

So quickly was the proposition dismissed and in such a convincing manner that the lawyer swooned away when he thought of his narrow escape. Suppose the child had forgotten the occurrence! There would have been a hot time in town that night. But there's a decided coolness now between the two women—Owensboro Messenger.

Love at First Sight.

Believers in the possibility of love at first sight may feel a sympathetic interest, and perhaps find a Darwinian argument, in a story of the first meeting of two apes in the London zoo. We retell the tale from "Wild Animals in Captivity."

Sarah was sent alone in her cage when a new ape made his appearance in front of the bars. Instantly both animals uttered short cries, and bending toward each other, protruded their thin lips until they met across the bars of the cage. Then, as the keeper threw open the cage door, the apes rushed in, each other's arms and, squatting on the floor, hugged each other with comic affection. In a few seconds they rose and, standing erect, raised their arms above their heads, grasped each other's front paws and screamed and howled in mutual appreciation.

Let us hope that they lived happy ever after.

As to the Contrivance of Barbers.

"Every barber on earth," said the observant man, "has one habit that drives me to drink. He gets you neatly lathered up, strops a razor, carefully and then makes one sweep with the blade across your face. Then he looks at you inquiringly and suspends operations while he asks, 'Razor suit you, sir?' If you answer yes, he always turns around and strops the razor two or three times, or else he promptly changes the blade. Why he should do either when you say you are satisfied I cannot fathom. Lately I have always said that the razor did not suit, and in nearly every case the barber kept serenely at work with the same razor. I might add that that's the reason that I am now shaving myself."—New York Sun.

Bound to Kill.

A story is being told of a country doctor who is going his rounds one morning with a gun on his shoulder. He was a keen sportsman and was looking forward to polishing off a little game when his professional duties were over. A friend meeting him and seeing him with the gun exclaimed: "Where are you going, doctor, so early in the day with that deadly weapon on your shoulder?"

"I'm hurrying off to see a patient," he replied.

"Well," said his friend, "I see you are determined not to miss him."

"What is that?"

Special Convention.

The several counties comprising the ninth judicial district of Nebraska, are hereby requested to send delegates to a republican judicial convention to be held at Norfolk, Nebraska, on the 25th day of September, 1898 at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for judge of the district court of said district and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several counties are entitled under this act to representation as follows, based upon the vote for Hon. M. L. Hayward for governor of the state of Nebraska in 1896:

Antelope 10 votes	Madison 16 votes
Wayne 9 "	Knox 14 "
Pierce 6 "

M. D. TYLER, Chairman, A. A. WELCH, Sec'y.

Republican County Convention

To the republican electors of Wayne County, Nebraska:

Notice is hereby given that the republican county convention will be held in Wayne on the 30th day of September, 1898, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of putting in nomination a full county ticket and transacting such other business as may come before the convention.

The basis of representation shall be one delegate at large and one for every 20 votes or major fraction thereof cast for M. L. Hayward in 1896. The precincts are entitled to the following delegations:

Beerna	2
Chaplin	2
Garfield	3
Haskins	6
Pinn Creek	4
Lugan	2
Sherman	4
Wayne, 1st ward	4
Second ward	4
Third ward	5

The precinct caucuses of the republican party are recommended to be held on Wednesday evening, September 27th, at the usual voting places.

F. L. NEXLE, Chairman. BERT BROWN, Secretary.

When St. Heloomb gets through with Nebraska this year, with the thermometer turned upside down, he'll wonder what became of that 18,000 majority he once had. No $20 per month will save his bacon this time. House rent is too dear.

The greatest farce of the known ages was the Dreyfus trial in which the defendant was again found guilty and sentenced to ten years in prison. The whole world believes him innocent and it seems strange that justice should not be done him.

When Bryan got out in California he almost if not completely became an expansionist. Wouldn't that freeze Klondike nuggets? Bryan is getting to be almost as big a fake as the World Herald, and that sheet stands without a peer in that respect.

McClellan, the democratic nominee for governor of Ohio, by the grace of 1/2 of a vote, squirms and seeks to make the race in Ohio on state issues. He readily sees the impossibility of being elected on what his oratory-quilt platform says are national affairs.

Col. Tim Sedgwick says: "How would it do to send the gallant Col. Bryan to Luzon to displace Oles? Bryan is a crack-jack at war. The trouble with this plan would be no power on earth could get him farther than San Francisco. He is a long distance fighter."

DEMOCRACY AS A KICKER.

Dissatisfied with Everything Except Its Own Pauperized Progeny.

If, as the Democrats claim, the Dingley bill is the "mother of trusts," surely the Wilson bill was the father of trusts; for it paralyzed nearly every manufacturing industry of the country, burst a majority of the banks, drove two-thirds of the railroads into the hands of receivers, and sent a million workmen as supplicants to charitable soup houses. Unless recent sad experience has gone for naught, and memory has deserted its mission, democratic rule is synonymous with financial disaster and industrial ruin, and whoever is deceived thereby is not wise.

Democrats may get along passably well in running a city, because municipal corporations are in a certain sense amenable to State and Federal laws, and can suffer a whole lot of misgovernment without seriously affecting the surrounding country, containing the bone and sinew, the producing classes and conservative forces of the country at large. But Democracy has evidently been cast in too small a mold to fully comprehend either the magnitude, lofty mission, or magnificent destiny of this great and glorious republic. Its proper government is manifestly too big a contract for contracted minds—too large an undertaking for men of deep-seated prejudices and circumscribed intellects.

During the past thirty-five years, however, Democracy has practically distinguished itself as a high, irrepressible kicker, and as far as it has had opportunity, a national calamity breeder. It has invariably kicked at everything ever said or done by the party of progress and prosperity, and denounced every principle and policy not of its own creation and adoption. And it is still kicking—kicking at the gold standard, the Republican Protective Tariff law, the nation's unprecedented prosperity, every principle and proper appliance to national growth and territorial and commercial expansion—everything, in fact, except its own pauperized progeny—Bozeman, (Mont.) Avant Courier.

Mr. Bryan's horror of syndicates does not seem to have caused him to sever his financial relations with the great silver trust which put up such enormous sums of money in his behalf prior to and during the campaign of 1896. He posed during that campaign as a poor man, unable to live without active employment, yet nobody has heard of his legitimately earning a single dollar, aside from his inflection of his books upon the public, since the campaign of 1896 began. And his expenses in the meantime must have been something enormous, since he is constantly traveling and would not of course accept railroad passes. It seems not unreasonable, since Mr. Bryan insists upon the confidences of the people and appeals for their support for the highest office within their gift, and that the people should know how he has been supported in his last three years' candidacy for renomination, especially in view of the well-known fact that he was supported in the last campaign by the greatest trust ever known in this country, namely, the silver trust.—Madison Chronicle.

Col. Bryan is a proper man to represent labor. He never did a day's work in his life nor ever furnished a day's employment to any one else. He says he is worth $200,000. Why doesn't he put his money into some business that will furnish employment at good wages to some of the laboring men he seems to feel so much sympathy for? If every one in America thought and acted like Bryan, every manufactured article we use would be bought abroad and there would be no work at all for American labor. Senator Hanna employs thousands of men and not one of them has to work for him unless he chooses to do so, and yet Billy Bryan cannot conjure up enough mean things to say of him, in the interest of labor. Before he assumes to be more of a friend to the working man than Senator Hanna, he should furnish some of them work.—York Times.

The Country in Expansion.

"If there ever was a time in the history of the United States," says the Democratic Nashville American, "when the crane-like American citizen should show his love of country it is at this juncture. On the blood-stained fields of Luzon thousands of our countrymen are heroically battling under the stars and stripes." Many other Southern Democratic papers are taking an equally patriotic position. The Louisville Courier-Journal, the New Orleans Picayune, the Chattanooga Times, and other prominent papers in their sentiment are demanding a vigorous prosecution of the war until American sovereignty is recognized in all parts of the domain which Spain ceded to the United States in the treaty of peace.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, who returned to Washington the other day from a trip to the Pacific coast, reported that the entire West was solid for expansion. Expansion sentiment is evidently almost as widely diffused through the South. As has been shown, the leading newspapers of that region are for a vigorous assertion of the National authority in the Philippines, and in all the rest of our domain in which it may be resisted. Those papers must represent the sentiment of the community on this issue. There are good reasons for believing that the East is almost as earnest for expansion as the West or the South. The home of the Anti-Imperialist League in Massachusetts. That state is the home, also, of Edward Atkinson and William Lloyd Garrison. Yet Boston has furnished more soldiers, in proportion to its population, to the new regiment for the Philippines than any other town in the United States.

There can be no reasonable doubt that national expansion will be a winning issue for the Republican party in 1900. Shrewd Democrats see this, and will fight the insertion of an anti-expansion plank into their platform next year. They will be overruled by the Bourbons and the reactionaries of their party, however. The Bryans and the Stones will put a contraction declaration into their platform next year, despite all the warnings which the policy of their party in its great days and the lessons of the present teach. An anti-expansion plank will hit the Democracy harder in 1900 than did its 50c dollar in 1896. The whole country is for the assertion of the national authority over the territory which we gained in the war of 1898. The policy of the administration in pressing the war to an early and glorious conclusion will be indorsed by an overwhelming number of the American people. The Republican stands an excellent chance of getting in 1900 a larger majority than has been rolled up at any previous time since 1872.—Globe Democrat.

LEST THEY FORGET.

There ought to be no mistake made by the laboring men and business men and farmers of Nebraska this year.

They ought not to forget—while enjoying the present industrial activity, the advantage of high prices, the opportunity to work at increased wages—that it has been only two or three short years since they were deep in the gloom of a period of precisely the opposite conditions.

If they vote now to check the rising tide of prosperity, which is bringing them so many blessings, they do so at a great peril.

What reasonable excuse or apology can any laboring man or farmer offer for voting now in a way that will threaten the permanence of prosperity? Why should any of the rank and file, who may possess no ambition to pose as statesmen or to secure the honor and emoluments of office, be led into voting or continue to vote a ticket, the success of which can but retard business, unsettle values and bring nothing but evil to them? What they want are the comforts of life. These are real, tangible things and why should they be forsaken by the whole family merely that the head of that family may be a blind follower of a political prejudice?

The fight in Nebraska is a skirmish before the great battle of 1900. It is to be made to bolster up the fortunes of a presidential aspirant, who would revolutionize conditions and end this period of prosperity as certainly as night follows day. Let every man in Nebraska this year follow the dictates of judgment rather than the prejudice of politics. Let everyone of them be honest with themselves and act according to the light of their best knowledge. This done and the coterie now seeking to unsettle values and bring on another panic will be buried a thousand fathoms deep on election day.—Fremont Tribune.

Every republican in this county should make up his mind that for once he would vote the republican ticket from top to bottom and there are many democrats who should vote the same ticket. It will relieve your conscience.

The Herald is anxious to know just what methods our fusion friends will adopt to smash the trusts when they get into power—if they ever do. How would you bust up that greatest of all trusts—the silver trust?

Since Admiral Dewey declared himself in favor of the re-election of President McKinley, democracy has had an exceedingly unpleasant outlook. In fact many democrats are of the same opinion as Dewey.

The republican state convention will be held at Omaha Thursday, September 21st, at which time a candidate will be placed in nomination who will make it very uncomformtable for House Rent Sillas.

With Governor Roosevelt campaigning the state of Ohio, McClellan will feel the effects of having been struck with a red hot iron, and then having it pulled out again.

The Conservative says: "Bryan seeks a change."

He now confronts a changed situation. Our industries are all in action. Crops are good. Trade is brisk. There are but few idle who are able and willing to work.

"As an idler and a man with no vocation Mr. Bryan stands practically alone among the public men of the country. His old appeals to discontent are addressed to men too busy to listen. The panic has passed like a bad dream, and the country is opposed to bringing on another by any radical political experiment. Bryan has attempted to install himself in leadership of a partisan anti-imperial issue, but his dissonance of that subject is so shallow and puerile that it makes no appeal to the profound men who fathom all its depths. So he returns again and again to the line of appeal that he used in 1896.

The people may be careless in their choice of public officers in minor matters. They may turn a willing or a careless ear to the solicitations of the professional politician in choosing minor officers. But when it comes to electing a president they don't want a man without a calling. They have always chosen a different class of men. Planters and farmers, professional men who can earn a living without politics, or men who have mightily achieved for the country and won its gratitude by great deeds and sacrifices, are the beneficiaries of the ballot when a president is to be elected.

"If Mr. Bryan had settled down after 1896 in the practice of his profession and had been successful, had become known as a lawyer of respectable standing, and had made his living by the hard work which success in that profession requires, he would be stronger today than he is.

But he did not do this. He has made his bed and board in politics ever since and has lived on the sometimes generous bounty of his supporters. True, he may have made more in this way than he could have made by work, but after all, it is a species of charity that does not dignify him nor put him in the great mass of his countrymen who live by work.

These considerations appeal to the keenly practical men in his party and leave him with no whole-hearted support, except by spoils-hunters like Croker or revolutionists and reds like Altgeld. These two classes control the party organization and will exercise to the utmost rational limit the power to exclude all conservatism from the convention. Mr. Bryan will be nominated and will be again beaten, because his impassioned appeal will be made to a country in which prosperity and contentment have replaced the discontent and restlessness which were rife in 1896.

"The feeling in the South is such that at this moment it is probable that a majority of the Southern states will rebuke radicalism by throwing their electoral votes away from him, while at the same time they choose democratic state governments for the protection of their local position."

MALARIA AND FEVER.

At this season of the year the atmosphere teems with malaria. The germs that cause typhoid and malarial fever are not only in the air but in the water you drink. The weak and debilitated become an easy prey to these germs, as they have not the vitality to resist them. Now is the time to fortify yourself against these diseases. The following symptoms are Nature's danger signals: tired and weak, no ambition, loss of appetite, coated tongue, headache, indigestion, constipation, do not get restful sleep, and general run-down feeling. If you have any of these symptoms, beware! Do not delay, but attend to your case at once, before malaria or fever has fastened their grip upon you. Thousands have prevented a fever by timely assistance with Dr. Kay's Renovator, thoroughly cleansing their sluggish system from germs of disease, and impure matter, and avoided large doctor's bills. Quinine will not cure you, nor prevent a fever. Dr. Kay's Renovator will, as it renovates the entire system. It eliminates all malarial poison. By this process the blood becomes purified and every organ is toned up to a healthy and vigorous action. It takes now it may prevent months of illness. Just think how much this means for you. Dr. Kay's Renovator is sold by druggists, or sent by mail on receipt of price, 25c and $1.00, or six for $5.00, by Dr. B. J. Kay Medical Co., Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Send symptoms for free advice and free illustrated book.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Showing of Sheriff Farris in Saunders County Has Occasioned Considerable Excitement in that part of the State—Other Items.

Story of the Farris Shooting. The shooting of Sheriff Farris of Saunders County by Johnson last week has excited considerable excitement in the northern part of the county, the feeling being intensely bitter against Johnson. Threats of lynching were freely uttered, and had it not been for the day of the shooting, although it is thought that Farris will recover, the sheriff went to Johnson's place, five miles south of Fremont, to serve some papers. Johnson at once became very angry and his men had some boys ordered. Farris fled, the premises and the sheriff was in the act of leaving when Johnson shot him.

A dispatch received from another person of the shooting of Sheriff Farris, who was shot by Johnson seven miles west of Mead is as follows: Sheriff Farris was shot by Johnson on the 14th inst. Johnson shot Farris as he went to Johnson's place to serve some papers. Johnson at once became very angry and his men had some boys ordered. Farris fled, the premises and the sheriff was in the act of leaving when Johnson shot him.

Some years ago Johnson sold his farm to John Kline for part cash and some notes. Johnson had the mortgage made in his name, then Attorney Dettweiler of Omaha placed an attorney's lien upon the farm and the district court rendered a decree of foreclosure in both cases. In the meantime Johnson discovered that the mortgage was not recorded and now has a deed on record which he has just pronounced a forgery. The sheriff was looking upon the farm for the brother's mortgage and the Dettweiler claim.

TELLER AND $10,000 SHORT.

Official of an Omaha National Bank Short in Accounts.

The amount of the former railway teller of the Nebraska National Bank (Omaha), Fred H. Copeland, who has disappeared, has been traced to a small town in the state. He is said to be in the American Surety Company, by which he was bonded, and having nothing to do with the bank, he has returned to Omaha. It is said that he was short $10,000 after a settlement with the security company.

A man who doesn't know what to do with his money is somewhat of an anomaly, but James Healey, of New Mexico, who is worth $1,000,000 and whose annual income is $100,000, is such a person. Healey is an extraordinary man, whose counterpane is found scarcely to be found anywhere. He possesses land, cattle and copper pipes worth far above a million any day in the week, yet he lives in a rude board shanty that could be duplicated for $100. Out of his annual income of $100,000 he spends less than $800 of it on himself. He owns thousands of acres of land in the fertile spots of New Mexico, and still lives no better—not even so well—than a good part of the ignorant Mexicans he employs to help herd his cattle.

DIRT-CHEAP AT DAWSON.

"Everything is dirt cheap now at Dawson. You can get a square meal for $1," said a bronzed, mustached and well-travelled man the other day, as he branched into a hotel room at Dawson City. He was J. D. Dowling, manager of Dawson City. N. W. T. Corney, a lumberman of Winona and Seattle. Mr. Dowling's view of the Klondike is at present exceptional. He approves the Klondike. He believes that matters at Dawson are much as matters at Dawson should be. Food especially is cheap.

"Why sugar was $1.25 a pound a little while ago, but it's likely to get down to 50 cents. Butter is $1 a pound and a can of condensed milk is worth a little more. But you can get a pound of butter and a pound of sugar for 15 cents. People might say that sugar and butter are luxuries, but I've noticed that a man that eats but never has scurvy. But there isn't much scurvy at Dawson, nor much fever. The town has 5,000 people, with 45,000 near by, and there's comparatively little sickness.

THE BALD EAGLE AT HOME.

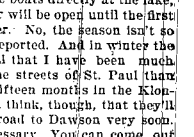

An old friend met me up on the shore, then drifted gradually down upon set plumes, tacking in and out like a yacht working to windward. It happened he was slanting shoreward when he passed, and at forty yards his snaky head and tall and broad brown face showed to fine advantage. We could see the polished yellow of his hooked bill and the fierce flash of his marvelous golden telescope eyes as he turned it upon us and then back to his fearless searching of the water and the waving along shore.

For years he has kept a heavy old bench under a tree in the woods where he sits daily for miles, seeking what the waters have cast up, for he knows he is not above accepting a ven carion. Many a dead fish and bird he gets for the trouble of picking them up, but he can hunt, too, when he feels so disposed. Season after season he and his mate have hatched the old nest and reared their eagles in peace.

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed.

Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the "sore of cancer" known as the Cancer may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed beyond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I knew how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Dool, Winston, N. C.

Our book on Cancer, containing other testimonials and valuable information, will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Miss Lily Horton of Ogalala has entered for a year and takes the teacher's course.

The enrollment is 40 per cent more than it was a year ago and new students are coming in each day.

A large number of students have entered the teacher's course while several have enrolled in the scientific.

Mr. Johnson of Casper Wyoming enrolled last week for a year. Some friends of his will be here to begin work next week.

Fred Lecrone who completed our teacher's course in '95 has returned to complete the scientific course. His home is at Gibbon where he has been teaching successfully.

Mr. Hadley of Shelby, Iowa, and Mr. Vaught of Stanton, are veterans of the Cuban war, who are members of our teachers' class. They are bright young men and strong students. They were in the Third Regiment.

Miss Chase has four classes in Short-hand. Some have positions awaiting them and are giving their entire time to that work so as to quickly prepare for their chosen work.

Miss Powell of Boyd county, Miss Cowan of Keya Paha county, Miss Hauff of Stanton county, Miss Gallagher of Great Falls, Mont., Miss Batchelor of Hicksville, Ohio, Miss Benshoof of Blue Grass, Iowa, Miss Wilson of Sherman county, Miss Walker of Platte county, Miss Callahan of Elk Point, S. D., are among the new students with a view to completing courses of study.

A number of the students who were here last spring and summer have returned to complete some one of the courses of study. The indications are that all the graduating classes for the present year will be larger than of any past year. The success of graduates is very encouraging to present students.

During the two weeks vacation the college building was much improved in appearance. The halls, library, chapel and commercial room were papered, the floors were oiled, the woodwork was painted. The buildings never were in better condition.

The following are some of the former students now enrolled: Mr. Griffith of St. James; Ben and Leslie Lamson, Page; Miss Johnson, Pilger; Mr. Munson, Belden; Miss Olson, Wausa; Mr. Chilcoat, Stanton; Misses Hattie and Alice McCurdy, Madison; Misses Amy and Nora Mullen, Rosebud, S. D.; Miss Lowder, Norfolk; Mr. McCorkle, Naper; Mr. and Miss Gibson, Dixon; Miss Stewart, Allen; Mr. Swanson, Newcastle; Miss Brown, Plainview; Miss Wilson, Ashton, and Miss Sherlock, Emerson.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Enrollment is 450. The school house has been painted on the inside and the floors oiled.

The organ of the High school has been repaired and looks like a new one but sounds just the same.

The extra large attendance this year has made it necessary to purchase more books in nearly all departments.

A large number of pupils are taking advantage of the free High School attendance law and are in from the county.

The crowded condition of the ward building has made it necessary to transfer several from the 4th and 5th grades to the main building.

The new library books are much appreciated by the pupils, especially the Cyclopaedias, and several hundred more volumes could be used to good advantage by the various departments of the school.

The High School literary societies have their program one week from Friday. The 9th grade will be divided into the Athenian and Hesperian societies and a program will be given every two weeks.

Since there were only four graduates from the high school and 35 pupils promoted into that room, some of them had to be seated in the Grammar room but they are brought together for recitations by use of a call bell.

WINSIDE.

H. B. Miller went over into Iowa Tuesday.

A. H. Carter went to St. Louis to purchase his fall stock of good, Monday.

W. H. McCluskey, G. H. Glaser, Mrs. Saling and Jennie Carter were passengers from here to Sioux City Tuesday.

A. W. Cross was in town a few days this week visiting his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Gue, and looking after his real estate in this vicinity.

W. I. Lowry's brother-in-law, from near Council Bluffs, Iowa, reached Winside Wednesday evening and will make W. I. and his father a visit.

John Mundy and his daughter, Mrs. Stella Cherry, went to Norfolk, Sunday where the latter, who has been very ill for some time, will take treatment in the hospital.

Charles Bamfeldt and his daughter, Mrs. Henry Horn, went to Oquas, Iowa, Tuesday, where Mr. Bamfeldt's brother was killed by stroke of lightning a few days ago. They expect to bring back with them the young son and daughter of the dead man.

The mother of W. I. Hooker returned from Mitchell with the letters wife and children on Thursday evening.

Harry Workman brought in a car load of horses Monday, having sold out the two car loads of mules and horses he had here last week.

John Matrey's sister, Miss Matrey, now of Omaha, made him a visit the latter part of the week; she will soon go to her old home in France and intends to be in Paris at the opening of the exposition next year.

Judge Norris' Letter.

"We arrived yesterday after a pleasant voyage, that is the weather was pleasant, but I was sea sick a large part of the time. I think you would have enjoyed the trip; don't believe you would have been sick, as hardly any one among the officers and civilians were except myself. It is a tedious trip, especially from Honolulu, but the sea air is good and most any time a cool spot could be found on the ship. Yesterday afternoon and evening the weather was cool and was considered a nice day at home, but at night it was warm and felt so close to me sleeping under a mosquito net, that it kept me awake. Before dinner I rode with a young officer on the Luneta and heard the band play. This road runs along the sea and is a very nice drive. This city looks like the pictures we see of it, water oxen with great broad horns hitched to wagons; women carrying stuff on their heads, Chinese, Filipinos, Spaniards, lots of soldiers and coconut trees. I expected to find the cheapest city in the world, in place thereof it is the dearest I have struck. The abandonment of farming by the natives, etc. the cause."

"I had a talk with Gen. Otis this morning and he was very pleasant and seemed glad to have me in the legal department. There are likely to be great questions of law arise, in fact the Judge Advocate submitted one to me this morning."

"I wish you could ride with me through the streets, there is such a motly throng of Chinese, natives and such squalid byways and alleys. The means of locomotion are little carriages drawn, generally by one pony. You help up your hands to the driver who if not engaged stops and takes you in and drive off. The street is sometimes full of them and it's a wonder they don't lock wheels. The little horses are generally fast and often go off like astrak. I now have the use of one of the government rigs when I leave the palace. The Quartermaster has a livery of them drawn up in front, I go to the sergeant he gets me one and I ride away in it. I am going to see if he will not send one to the hotel that I may use it. In about an hour I shall take a ride out to the post Ermita, where I hope to mess soon, to have the tailor fit my new white suit which I want for Sunday as I intend going to the great cathedral."

"I have been about the city but little but it is said to cover a great area. I wish we could ride about it together, but as I have explained it will not do for you to come until society and conditions change. It is not at present a desirable city for residence, but if affairs take the right course it may be at no distant time."

"I haven't tried much fruit yet, all that I have eaten here are bananas, a small kind about as good as those at Wayne, but slightly acid, am told the best ones are scarce on account of the war. Very little fruit as to what I expected in a tropical city and as a rule not extra nice looking. I suppose the natives do not cultivate it. The pine apples do not compare in appearance with those of Honolulu."

"Ed. Smith did not under estimate the flower girls of Honolulu, 'tis hard to do justice to their ugliness. We have a pleasant breeze this afternoon. They have music at the hotel this evening and entertainment. Often a Philippine band plays during dinner which begins at 7:30. It is a string band and plays nicely. I have been busy this morning attending to various matters and have not been to the Palace and will not go until after lunch. I am hoping to get into a mess here soon. This gives the privilege of the commissary which is better food and cheaper. The weather so far has been cool summer weather in Wayne. A cool breeze is fanning me as I write. I notice a little tent marked 'Y. M. C. A.', don't know that the salvation army have been here. I presume if we retain this country, the Protestant churches will be represented. Here is a field 'white for the harvest.' The officers have been very kind and friendly, including Gen'l. Grant, Young and particularly Col Daggett, who is a Presbyterian."

Road Notice.

The commissioners appointed to locate a road commencing at or near the N E corner of the new 1/4 of section 4, twp. 27, range 1, east, on county line, running thence along the north side of the right of way of the northeast Nebraska R. WONDERFUL CURE OF DIARRHOEA

PROMINENT VIRGINIA EDITOR HAD ALMOST GIVEN UP, BUT WAS BROUGHT BACK TO PERFECT HEALTH BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY.—READ HIS EDITORIAL.

(From the Times, Hillsville, Va.)

I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but noticing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and also some testimonials how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble, and I wish to say further to my readers and fellow-sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man today, and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. R. MOORE. Sold by Ed J. Raymond, druggist.

STRAYED.

From my farm 4 1/2 miles east of town on Sunday, Aug. 27, a light sorrel horse, bald face with light hind feet, and had halter on; weight between 1000 and 1100 lbs. A reward offered for return of animal, or information regarding same. Ed. ALFRED JOHNSON.

Commissioners' Proceedings. Wayne, Neb., Sept. 12, 1899. Heard met pursuant to adjournment; all members present.

On motion the contract with Messrs Ziemer & Johnson for bridge building for 1899, was accepted, signed and placed on file.

To the Board of County Commissioners of Wayne County, Nebraska: The Undersigned, Ed Owen and John Owen, respectfully represent that on the 11 day of September, 1899, they paid to the County Treasurer of said Wayne county, Nebraska, the sum of $54.75 on account of personal tax for the year 1898, entered on the books against them, of which sum $3 paid they paid the sum of $17.99 under protest, the grounds for which the protest is as follows:

The statement is in effect as follows: That there were assigned 120 head of cattle at $600 and 50 head of hogs at $75 which were not liable to taxation for the reason that at the time of such assessment nor on the first day of April, 1898, was the property owned by protestants, and that the schedule was raised. The above amount after it had been signed and sworn to, after hearing the evidence the Board decided as follows:

Allowed the county treasurer to offer to refund $17.99 so paid under protest.
