Married, Alvin G. Wert and Maggie M. Lindquist at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lundy, three miles northeast of Wayne on Wednesday, Oct. 3rd, 1900, Rev. C. R. Welden officiating.

The Henderson meeting here Tuesday night was no doubt due to the earnest efforts of Col. J. E. Simpson of Norfolk who is much interested in the election of John R. Hayes the republican nominee for congress.

Peter Mertou has sold his home place near Altona to a gentleman from Iowa, the price being $40 per acre. It is one of the best improved farm homes of that locality and was sold cheaply enough.—Winer Chronicle.

W. E. Peoples, one of the leading citizens of Fender, in fact the founder of that city, died at his home on Tuesday of last week of cancer of the stomach after several months illness. He was a prominent figure in state politics and was also a member of the Republican State Committee. In business circles and in Fender, Mr. Peoples was recognized as an honorable man and a true friend. He was supervisor of the census in this congressional district.

It is fair to presume that any fair minded man who heard Mr. Henderson Tuesday evening is now thoroughly convinced that the republican party is not for but dead against "imperialism" and "militarism." In addition to this they know more than they did in regard to Bryan's position on trusts. Can any man in the face of these facts vote for Bryan or John R. Robinson for Congress, or Tawney for Senator, or Cahler for representative, no matter if they are "good men?"

A SPLENDID RALLY.

Hon. D. B. Henderson Delivers a Clear and Forceful Address on the Issues of the Campaign.

Tuesday evening was a red letter time for the republicans of this section. It was a beautiful night and by eight o'clock the street was thronged with people coming in from every direction, though prior to supper there was little indication of the coming event, but the pent up enthusiasm of the republicans could not much longer be held in check, and it broke forth in all its splendor when the McKinley club of Wayne, together with the McKinley & Roosevelt club of Hunter, and a portion of the Rough Riders club of Plum Creek went to the depot to meet the train bearing the speaker, Hon. D. B. Henderson of Iowa, Speaker of the House of Congress. The train arrived about 7:30 and the parade was at once formed and marched to the opera house, escorting the speaker in a carriage. The Wakefield band led the procession, the Wayne band bringing up the rear. Nearly 300 torch bearers and rough riders were in line notwithstanding the fact that no particular effort at a demonstration had been made. At the opera house people hustled and jostled each other endeavoring to get a seat until 12:00 were packed in the building, while large numbers were unable to get in and failed to hear the speaker. The Wakefield Glee Club under Prof. O. H. Ellis rendered a campaign song which made a hit, after which J. D. Kipp in a few well chosen remarks introduced the speaker, one of Iowa's great sons, the Hon. D. B. Henderson. Mr. Henderson is a pleasant speaker, and in his opening remarks soon had the audience at ease. During his hour and a half address he was listened to with marked attention, though his remarks were frequently interrupted with outbursts of applause. The only persons ill at ease were the fusionists who could not relish the splendid manner in which the speaker handled and discussed the questions before the people and the manner in which he riddled the weekly paramour issues of the right Hon. Wm. J. Bryan. The speaker said that Bryan's paramour issue one week was expansion, another week militarism, another week imperialism, another week protection, another week trusts, and last week it was to the effect that the republican party was raising a great campaign fund to purchase votes, but that this week he didn't know what Bryan's next paramour issue would be. The hypocrisy of the leaders of the present democracy was shown up in a clear and forcible manner to the unbiased person, and it is certain that the meeting was a success and that the republicans have been aroused from the lethargy into which they had fallen. At the conclusion of Mr. Henderson's address, John R. Hayes, the republican nominee for congress from this district, was introduced and made a few telling remarks that were well received by the audience. The meeting closed with a song by the Wakefield Glee Club.

PEACE NOW IN SIGHT.

AGREEMENT IS LIKELY ON CHINESE QUESTION.

Germany's Change of Policy Indicates a Desire to Come Into Line with the Other Powers.

It appears that there is a close approach to an understanding among the powers in regard to the Chinese question. Friday brought important developments, and it seems not too extravagant to say that the basis of peace and agreement upon the basis of peace and agreement is at last in sight.

The point which William proposed, which was the one which was agreed upon, was that China must surrender its guilty officials to the powers, who were to be the judges of their guilt and determine the penalty therefor.

TO RESTORE OLD IRONSIDES.

All patriotic persons will have an opportunity to contribute to a fund for the purpose of rebuilding the old frigate Constitution, which is now lying in the Charlestown, Mass., navy yard.

The frigate old frigate had been lying for years at the navy yard, Portsmouth, gradually going to decay. At a public meeting, held in Faneuil Hall, Feb. 22, 1897, the friends of the vessel brought to Boston for the celebration of the 100th anniversary of her being built.

The clerk gravely took my message. I paid as much for its transmission as if it had been directed to somebody in the most remote corner of the British Isles.

OLD IRONSIDES—HISTORIC FRIGATE.

The work undertaken by the Massachusetts State Society, Daughters of 1812, was described in the report as "more than a work of patriotism; it is a labor of love and reverence, and they feel that they have a legitimate claim to the honor of carrying it out, because many of them are the direct descendants of the men who helped to build the ship.

TO RESTORE OLD IRONSIDES.

It is Now Proposed to Rebuild the Frigate Constitution.

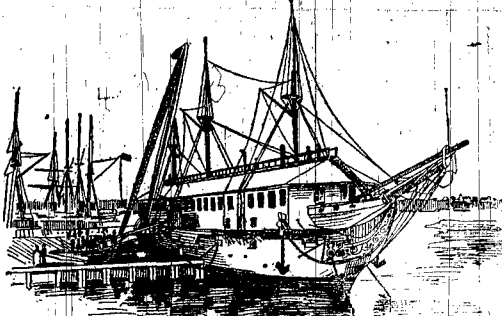

All patriotic persons will have an opportunity to contribute to a fund for the purpose of rebuilding the old frigate Constitution, which is now lying in the Charlestown, Mass., navy yard.

They expect that at least $100,000 will be raised in Massachusetts for the purpose. Misses Kassar, Treabury & Co., Boston, have consented to act as treasurers of the fund, and the president of the society, Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, of Atlantic, Mass., will give any information necessary for those who intend to aid in its accomplishment.

If the election were to be held today there would be no doubt of the election of Chas. A. Dietrich of Governor as Nebraska by a majority of from 5000 to 8000.

The campaign in Nebraska this year is the hottest one made by republicans for years and there is now but little doubt that McKinley will receive the electoral vote of the state.

Chairman Jones has carried the country "already yet," though he is careful not to specify what states have been won for Bryan, nor whether it is necessary to win any for Bryan in order to carry the country.

An Example of Bryanism.

The assault upon Governor Roosevelt at Victor, Colo., is an example of the spirit of Bryanism which should command the serious attention of every American citizen who respects law and order. There should be no mincing of words in speaking of this outrage. It is the natural result of the teachings of the Bryanite party, of its appeal to the passions and the prejudices of the people. Four years ago, when this appeal was more persistently made than it has been this year, there were numerous evidences of its bad effect upon the public mind. In Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and elsewhere orders were committed by the supporters of Bryan, who thereby justified every charge of revolutionary and anarchistic intent that was made against them.

The attack upon Governor Roosevelt at Victor is the first demonstration in the present campaign of the intolerance of the Bryanites, but it may not be the only one. It bears evidence to the desperate character of some of the Bryan supporters and also of the dangerous influence of Bryanite teaching. Mr. Bryan says there can be no justification for a report to violence in this country, yet he teaches that which incites violence. In arraying class against class, in inciting the poor to antagonizing the rich, in telling labor that capital is necessarily its enemy, Mr. Bryan creates a feeling that inevitably finds expression in such outrages as that at Victor. The truth is that the whole spirit of Bryanism is revolutionary and the Bryan supporters in the Colorado town simply gave expression to this spirit, which imbues the party everywhere.

As an illustration of the true character of Bryanism, the Victor incident is important and it will not fail to impress the entire country. It will lead law-respecting people to ask themselves what might reasonably be expected if the Bryanite party were in control of the government.—Omaha Bee.

Louis Smithberger, the republican nominee for this representative district is well known to our citizens and is simply able to look after the interests of this district in the legislature, having served one term and become familiar with the work. A man should have a second term if he desires it and in view of the fact that Mr. Smithberger made a splendid representative he should be re-elected by receiving every republican vote in the district.

W. W. Young, you don't want to forget in the republican nominee for state senator in this district and you want to remind your friends of the fact that he is the man to vote for by all means. No able man has been nominated in any district for the state senate than he. His qualifications are unexcelled and if elected, the eleventh senatorial district will be prominent in the state senate.

In the struggle to get down the ballot when you are marking it, don't forget to mark your X after the name of A. A. Welch for county attorney and August Wittler for county commissioner. No better men could be elected for these positions and they need no commendation.

AGAINST LOCAL MERCHANT

State House Ring Diverting Trade to Their Pets at Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln Then and Now—Bryan Seals the Populists.

Omaha, Oct. 8.—It is observed that the (business) men are not enthralling very much over Governor Poynter. Especially is this true of the business men in the towns where state institutions are located.

The merchants in these towns have had anything but a pleasant experience under the Poynter administration. Trade and patronage of the institutions which should properly go to them, has been gradually diverted to pets and favorites of the state house ring at Lincoln, until finally little of it goes to the local merchants. Tons of groceries and supplies have been shipped from Lincoln to the various institutions during the last year and only such trade has been allotted to the local business men as could not well be diverted to Lincoln.

Then, too, the administration "fixers" have been very exacting in dealing with the local merchant and very liberal in dealing with their favorites at Lincoln. If they treated them both alike there would be less cause for complaint, but the contracts are juggled in such a way that if a local merchant secures one he is compelled to furnish goods at almost cost price, whereas the Lincoln dealers are allowed to make one bid on all the supplies and in addition are given other advantages denied to others. Everybody knows that bids on a dozen or more contracts at the same time, meaning the supplying of goods in carload lots, can be made at a lower rate than for only one contract involving only the supplies for one institution. This is one advantage.

HOLDING UP VOUCHERS.

Another advantage shown the Lincoln dealers over the country merchants is the holding back of vouchers and warrants. It is a notorious fact that bills for groceries from the country merchants by sometimes for weeks before they are passed upon and allowed, while those of the favorites are promptly paid. In the mercantile trade 30 or 30 days' credit is the same as cash and if merchants succeed in converting their goods into money within that time they are enabled to make considerable of a saving in the way of discounts. In many instances the country merchants have lost the benefit of their discounts through the failure of the Board to pass upon bills and remit promptly.

It is openly stated that this failure is only part of a plan to discourage the local merchants in these towns from bidding in order that the pets of the state house ring may enjoy greater profits.

Some may infer from this that the state is deriving benefit from such manipulations. This is not true. The records in the auditor's office show that the expense of maintaining the lower end of these discounts over what it was, and is greater now than at any time in the state's history.

Governor Poynter will close his term with the enormous shortage or deficiency of $100,000. Not one of the various institutions has been properly kept up. The grounds, outbuildings and the like have been sadly neglected. Not a dollar has gone for labor in this direction. All the money appropriated has been expended, but how, nothing short of a legislative investigating committee can explain.

Dr. Tracy of Milford, the physician in charge of the Soldier's Home, who was caught paying house rent and office rent in groceries taken from the state, has resigned and left the state. His resignation promptly followed the exposure.

CRAWFISHING ON EXPANSION.

It is a matter of history that nearly every Democratic president from Jefferson to Buchanan expressed a desire for the annexation of Cuba to the United States.

Monroe while president expressed himself in favor of annexing Cuba, so did Polk and so did Pierce.

In 1840 President Polk made a proposition for the purchase of Cuba. From Spain for $100,000,000. Six years before that, or in 1834, what is known as the Ostend Manifesto was issued, and that asserted the right of the United States to take and annex Cuba, should Spain refuse to sell.

The "white alien" is a serious matter to the Democrats. A message is being sent to the steel workers to return to work.

Mr. Bryan's Warning

"If there is any one who believes the Gold Standard is a good thing or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his vote for me, because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it."—W. J. Bryan at Knoxville, Tenn., September 16, 1896.

FAVOR MCKINLEY AND CONTINUED PROSPERITY

Peculiar Position of the Southern Business Men.

Emphasis in Favor of Sound Money and Protection, and Are Satisfied to Let Well Enough Alone.

The South is becoming thoroughly awakened to the fact that the policies of the Protection party—protection, expansion and sound money—are those that will best promote the industries of that section of the country.

The Standard of Money must be maintained, expansion of currency is to be avoided.

A. S. Reed, cashier, Breckenridge, Texas. While a very large majority of people in this section will vote for Bryan for President because he is their party nominee, they still the honest conviction of the best business men is that they would sooner vote to elect McKinley than to elect Bryan.

H. F. Scherer, cashier First National Bank, Denton, Texas. I firmly believe that Bryan's election would bring financial disaster over our people.

L. W. Shoverler, assistant cashier, Bank of Commerce, Dallas, Texas. McKinley and Republican both are those that are better more than ever before in the country's history.

Joseph S. Davis, cashier First National Bank, Dallas, Texas. McKinley is the best standard for a nation's currency and for the world's economy.

W. E. Scatterfield, cashier People's National Bank, Fort Worth, Texas. McKinley has never been so prosperous as now, since the election of Mr. McKinley.

G. W. Saxon, president Capital City Bank, Dallas, Texas. McKinley is the party that maintains an honest, stable currency with open doors for foreign trade.

EARLY A.M. TEN PLATE

REPRODUCED AT THE STRIKING INSTANCE OF THE VICTIMS OF THE TAINT.

The Democrats have a fair chance of winning the election if the McKinley law is passed.

Today nearly all the business of the country is done in the McKinley law.

The United States Treasury and the United States Bank have been in operation since 1862 to 1898, inclusive, have been in operation.

Production, Imports, Exports. 1892... 1893... 1894... 1895... 1896... 1897... 1898...

Prices have gone down as the result of home manufacture.

Domestic Imports. 1892... 1893... 1894... 1895... 1896... 1897... 1898...

The creation of the tin plate industry in this country has been a success.

What we can learn from this is that the McKinley law is a success.

FARMERS NOT DECEIVED BY BRYAN'S ARGUMENTS

The total increase of the value of farm animals between 1896 and 1899 was $601,444,474.

The total increase in crop values represents an enormous gain.

MASSACHUSETTS SENATOR AGAINST BRYANISM

No Confidence in a Party that Denies Self-Government.

NATIONAL HONOR OVER COLORIAL QUESTIONS.

Why Judge Hornblower Declines to Support Bryan.

Opinion of a Leading New York Jurist—Where Evidently the Supreme Bench Was Regain by D. B. Hill.

By Judge William B. Hornblower of New York.

Judge William B. Hornblower of New York was nominated to the Supreme Bench of the United States at a public hearing in the Senate for personal reasons by David B. Hill. He has made the following statement which, as a Democrat, cannot support Bryan.

I have been repeatedly asked during the past few weeks in my judgment, in the duty of a good Democrat who is also an ardent patriot. The question is by no means a simple one and I can only make such men as Mr. Schurz, Mr. Shafter and Mr. O'Connell my own, but however, I am not a Democrat. The same reasons which would induce me to oppose Mr. Bryan in 1896 would induce me to oppose him in 1897. All the heroes, idealists and idealists, which were embodied in the Democratic party of 1896, are now embodied in the Republican party of 1897. The Democratic party of 1896 is expressly redefined and redefined in this of the assistance of Mr. Bryan. I am not a Democrat. I am not a Democrat. I am not a Democrat.

SOUTHERN PROGRESS UNDER PROTECTION.

Improvement Directly Traceable to Protection.

The South is the result of the tariff. It is the result of the tariff. It is the result of the tariff. It is the result of the tariff. It is the result of the tariff.

AMERICANS ARE NATURAL PIONEERS.

We Must Advance Commercially, Being Producers.

Must Seek Markets Elsewhere and Create New Outlets for Our Goods—Expansion Natural in a Nation's Life.

By John C. Eames, of the H. B. Clark Co., New York.

How any man at all interested in the country can avoid the question of the tariff is more than I can understand. Expansion means protection, or at least that would be the result. We seek markets for our goods outside of our own country. We are a commercial nation. We are a commercial nation.

WHAT REPUBLICANISM HAS DONE IN WYOMING.

Miners and Stockraisers Are Better Off—Receiving Good Returns.

Senator Warren Tells Why the West Will Return Good Majorities for McKinley and Roosevelt This Year.

By Hon. Francis H. Warren, United States Senator.

The people of Wyoming are vitally and intensely interested in the outcome of the present campaign. Wyoming has been a State but a little over eight years, and of this period four years of Democratic and Republican government have passed. The first period was during the Democratic administration from 1890 to 1894, in which we suffered from a severe depression. The second period was during the Republican administration from 1894 to 1896, in which we enjoyed a period of prosperity.

CONSOLIDATING RAILS ASSISTING THE EMPLOYEES.

Better Chance for Railroad Men Than Ever Before.

A Return to the Old System of High Freight, High Fares and Jerky Water Railroads is an Impossibility.

By William H. Baldwin, Jr., President of the Long Island Railroad.

To appreciate the significance of the value of railroad consolidation to the public, it is only necessary to attempt to conceive of a return to former conditions. The small independent railroads, with their relatively small number of employees, each road with its own standards of equipment dependent upon the idiosyncrasies of its principal officers or directors; each road with responsibilities to the public as a carrier only to the extent of its own short line—all these conditions suggest a local independence which would result in the railroad the employment of labor on the basis of "snipity" for its small demands.

Artificial Diamonds. Moissan and others who have endeavored to produce diamonds artificially have discovered that it is necessary to employ very high pressure with the carbon in order to "force the latter to crystallize. An Italian, Quinte Majorana, announces to the Roman Academy of Sciences a new method of crystallizing this substance. Carbon, having been heated to red heat, is suddenly subjected to a compression from gases generated by explosives, equivalent to 5,000 atmospheres.

Crossing of the German Emperor. The German Emperor has not yet been crowned, although he has reigned for twelve years. It has now been decided that the two hundredth anniversary of the foundation of the Kingdom of Prussia is to be celebrated at Königsberg by the coronation of his majesty and the Empress, and the festival will last for a week. All European sovereigns will be invited to the ceremony which will be of a magnificent description.

MILLIONAIRES IN GERMANY. Their incomes would be small in American and England. The differences in the unit of money in different countries make a considerable difference in the practical meaning of the word "millionaire." Webster's Dictionary defines a millionaire as "one whose wealth is counted by millions." In popular use one who has a million is regarded as a millionaire. In the United States it would be $1,000,000. In England it would be £1,000,000 sterling. But as the pound sterling is worth $4.86 and a fraction in our money, the Englishman would require nearly five times as much actual capital as the American before the Englishman could take rank in the noble army of martyrs known as "millionaires."

The Paris Bill Poster. The bill poster of Paris is a more picturesque personage than his brother of New York. He piles his trade in all winds and weathers, and he is nothing daunted by the assignment of a bleak suburban district on a rainy day. He ties his posters in a canvas bag and carries them across his back. He mounts his bicycle. Then he opens his umbrella for his in an expert whooping, and can manage it and his wheel at once. All over the umbrella are advertisements in little form of the article or the event which he intends to advertise in large by his posters. So his entire route is placarded, and he himself is a living advertisement.—Chicago News.

Relative Importance of the Letters. To those who have never considered the subject, it might appear that each letter is of equal importance in the formation of words; but the relative proportions required in the English language are these: a, 8; b, 16; c, 30; d, 44; e, 120; f, 25; g, 17; h, 64; i, 80; j, 4; k, 8; l, 40; m, 30; n, 50; o, 80; p, 17; q, 05; r, 62; s, 80; t, 100; u, 34; v, 12; w, 20; x, 4; y, 20; z, 2. It is this knowledge of how frequently one letter is used compared with others that enables cryptogram readers to unravel so many mysteries.

Dimensions of the Capitol. The dimensions of the Capitol at Washington are: The length, 751 feet 4 inches; breadth, from 121 to 324 feet; covers 453,112 square feet. From base line of building to the top of statue, 257 feet 11 inches. The height of the dome above the base line on the east front is 257 feet 6 inches.

Attempt on the Life of the Shah in Paris. The attempt on the life of the Shah in Paris occurred just outside the Palais des Souverains, at the Champs Elysees, where the Shah was staying. A man named Francois Salson, who wore the wide trousers, hat and coat which characterize the working carpenters in Paris, concealed himself between some vehicles standing near the entrance to the Palais, and as the Shah entered his carriage dashed forward, and knocking over a policeman who was preparing to accompany the Persian sovereign's equipage on a bicycle, jumped on to the step of the carriage. He pointed a five-chamber revolver at the Shah, but before he could fire Gen. Parent, the French officer in attendance, struck aside the weapon and the man was immediately arrested.

Siberian Exiles. The most conclusive evidence as to what the life of the average convict really is is furnished upon the best evidence by the convicts themselves, who certainly ought to know when and where they are well off. Not more than one-fourth of the exiles, when their time has expired, elect to return to Russia, whether they are attracted by the love and attachment to homes so strong in every human breast, so particularly strong in the Slav. The fact is that they have found life in Siberia pleasanter, the road to base, a competency, and even to wealth less rugged, less crowded with competitors; so they will and choose to remain in Siberia, throwing their fortunes in with the destiny of the poor land, and I know nothing of the conditions of life which obtain in Russia, think they do well.—Harper's Magazine.

An Eye for Retaliation. The new reporter in his story of the wedding wrote: "The floral display stretched from the chancel rail to the doors of the church." The city editor, in a mild manner, as the custom of city editors with new reporters, suggested that "the floral display stretched from the chancel rail to the doors of the church." "Couldn't you have used a better word than 'stretched'?" Say the floral display "nodded," or "twined," or something like that—some word more suggestive of bowers.

Drawing a Fine Distinction. "Janus," said the boy to his new boy, "do you see what I'm doing?" "Yes, sir," replied James, "you're pouring water into the mill." "No, no, no, James," said the boy, "I'm pouring milk into the water—so if anybody asks you if I put water into the milk you can tell 'em no. Allers s'ide to the truth, James. Cheatin' is bad 'mongh, but lyin' is wuss."—Pick-me-Up.

Big Expenses of the Railroads. The railroads of the United States expended in a year a sum more than $100,000,000 in excess of the total expenditures of the United States government, and this computation does not include nearly $250,000,000 paid in the form of interest upon railroad bonds or guaranteed stock, and from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 paid in the form of dividends to stockholders. The railroads, indeed, are the great disbursing agencies of the country, handling never less than $1,000,000,000 in a year and disbursing it all, or practically all, for railroads, as a rule, do not keep large bank accounts and do practically a cash business, turning money rapidly.

The Indians of the United States. There are 250,000 Indians in the United States, distributed throughout twenty-five States and Territories, the largest number, 72,000, living in the Indian Territory, with 35,000 in Arizona, 18,000 in South Dakota, 13,000 in Oklahoma, 12,000 in California, 10,000 in Wisconsin, 5,200 in New York, and 2,400 in North Carolina.

Every mother possesses information of vital value to her young daughter. That daughter is a precious legacy, and the responsibility for her future is largely in the hands of the mother. The mysterious change that develops the thoughtless girl into the thoughtful woman should find the mother on the watch day and night. As she dares for the physical, well-being of her daughter, so will she woman be, and her children also.

When the young girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she experiences headaches, dizziness, faintness, and exhibits an abnormal disposition to sleep, pains in the back and lower limbs, eyes dim, desire for solitude, and a dislike for the society of other girls, when she is a mystery to herself and friends, then the mother should go to her aid promptly. At such a time the greatest aid to nature is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It prepares the young system for the coming change, and is the surest reliance in this hour of trial.

The following letters from Miss Good are practical proof of Mrs. Pinkham's efficient advice to young women.
