One evidence of the prevailing pros-perity that cannot be denied or overlook-ed or sturred over is the record of de-posits in the banks, and particularly the savings banks, and the loan and trust institutions. The money in the State and additional banks is the working capital of the business community; that in the other institutions represents what the farmers, wage carners and the vast army of the provident possess.

The record in the Democratic year 1884, and the Republican year 1896 is below:

What American Would Give Up the Fruits of Our Former

Expansion Which Gave Us Such Big Returns

from So Small an Investment ?

Carried to their logical conclusion, Mr. Bryan's ideas about abandonment of the Philippines would involve the retrocession of Florida and our domain west of the Mississipi river to the original owners, and presumbly by them back to the Indians.

Let us ask a dair, straight question:
As an Anterican would you give up one foot of that territory?
The question scarcely needs the asking, and yet every stage of natural growth was opposed as strehuously as the Bryanites have opposed the retention of the Philippines.

The cost of these additions to the country and the value of property now in the land so acquired are below:

That, in a nutshell, is the difference between Democratic theory and Republican practice. While our exports have NEARLY DOUBLED, our imports are but slightly more than they were in Democratic days, and the increase is entirely due to the greater demand for manufacturers manufacturers manufacturers which are used is our busy mills where. American labor is actively employed at good wages.

COMMERCIAL EXPANSION AND WHAT IT MEANS TO US

"Our trade balances can not fall to give satisfaction to the people of the country. In 1898 we sold abroad $615,432,676 of products more than we bought abroad; in 1809, $529,874,813, and in 1909, $544,871,701, making during the three years a total balance in our favor of $1,489,779,190—neally five times the balance of trade in our favor for the whole period of 108 years from 1790 to June 30, 1897, inclusive."—William McKitaley,

Four great facts characterize the foreign commerce of the United States in the year 1900:

1. The total commerce of the year surpasses by $317,729,250 that of any precedling year, and for the first time in our history exceeds $2,000,000,000.

000,000.

2. The exports exceed those of any preceding year, and have been more widely distributed throughout the world than ever before.

3. Manufacturers' materials were more freely imported than ever before, and formed a larger share of the total imports than on any former occasion.

4. Manufactured articles were more freely exported than ever before d formed a much larger share of the total exports than on any forme

Right in these two tables is the story of the commercial expansion of the United States and of the benefit of protecting our own industries.

As compared with 1804, our imports have decreased and our exports have doubled.

The increase in exports has affected all classes of producers—farmers, manufacturers, tumbermen and miners have all had a share in building up this marvelous export trade of the United States. The increase by classes is shown in the following table:

The expansion of American foreign trade during the past three year has been the st postes and the envy of all other nations. American goods American energy, American enterprise are usable in every part of the civilized world. Whether it be in supplying food to Europe, logomotive to Aberla, electrical goods and machinery to Australia, mining machiner to South Africa, or bridging the Nite at Atbara. American genius and pusits everywhere to be seen.
Commercial expansion was begun under Republican policies.
It this was under Republican encouragement.
It enables home manufacturers and envisyers agrees.

It enables home manufacturers and emylogers generally to give to buildreds of thousands of men. It chables the producing classes to find bester and wider markets Do you want it to continue?

Do you want it to develop still money.

All that Remain Under Arms Are but Operillas and Bandits and Only a Fraction of the Whole.

Rear Admiral Watson, late communder of the American naval squadron in oriental waters, has returned to this country, probably from his last cruise. He thinks the time has come for him to speak more as a citizen than as a naval officer, and his opinion of the conditions in the Philippines is well worth reading. He says:
