The city clerk has notified almost everybody in the city in regard to repairing or building new walks, and it was the proper thing to do. Of course he received his instructions from the city council. If your walk had been repaired the notice did not apply and should be no cause for hard feelings, otherwise you will be expected to do your duty, nothing more.

So far as the HERALD is concerned it does not propose to in any way try to dictate who the party nominees of the republican party shall be this fall though it is rather early to talk about it now. Neither do we propose to threaten the party that it must do so and so for we are not posing as a dictator, but there is one thing certain and that is that the present county officers of republican faith have performed their duties well and faithfully and the HERALD sincerely hopes they will be renominated and elected.

The postoffice department is determined that the people of the localities served shall do their part, toward making the rural free delivery of mail successful. When a carrier is unable to make trips regularly on account of the condition of the roads, the service will be withdrawn and given to some other community. This is the strongest proclamation in favor of good roads yet made by the government.—State Journal.

Three routes from Wayne have already been regularly petitioned for and it will not come amiss if the patrons along these proposed routes begin to look up the road business before the proper officials come along to inspect the matter.

"I have always considered it doubtful propriety to let the live stock run in the stalk fields when the ground was very soft," says a practical farmer. "In this I have not changed my mind. I have very good reasons for this belief and believe others have also. At this season of the year there will be little else but exercise, and damage to the soil to be done by the stock. Prevent all this by keeping them up in a lot and giving some feed that will keep them growing and thriving. I would not recommend feeding high priced food that would preclude any profitable returns. There are conditions and conditions. If the cost of the feed they are to get would overbalance the damage done to the field, it would be better, perhaps, to let them go afield. No iron clad rule can govern this, no more than any other farm operations."

Congressman John S. Robinson has announced a vacancy in the naval academy at Annapolis to be filled by an appointment from the Third Nebraska congressional district. This vacancy is usually filled by a competitive examination in which young men between the ages of 17 and 21 years and not less than five feet and four or five inches in height are permitted to enter. The successful candidate must not only pass a good physical examination, but must show an ability educationally as well. The examination will probably be held sometime during June.

A long suffering postmaster in an eastern town has posted the following notice in his place of business: "No letters will be delivered until they are received." If you don't get a letter or paper the day you expect it, have the postmaster look in all the boxes and down cellar also. It should be there somewhere and he likes to look for it to please you. If your friend don't write, cuss the postmaster. He is to blame. If he tells you there is no mail for you, put on a grieved expression and say, "There ought to be some." He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you call for it two or three times a day. Ask him to look again.

No one will fail to find pleasant, profitable diversion in the May Ladies Home Journal. Its thirty or more contributors cover a wide range of interesting subjects. "When John C. Calhoun Went A-Wooing," the delightful romance of the great statesman, is no less engrossing than the "The Brilliant Social Reign of Harriet Lane" in the White House, or than Clara Morris's "Frank Sen," the love tale of a little Japanese girl. There is a wondrous fascination in the narration of "Some Remarkable Cases of Double Personality," and several thrilling stories are told of "When the Animals Escape from the Zoo." In "Summers of our Discontent" Edward Bok gives sound advice on summer vacations—doubtably good in telling what to avoid. "Preserving a Husband in Summer" and "Keeping Summer Boarders with Success" solve both problems. There are three architectural articles, and the usual contributions concerning work in and about the home, fashions, etc. The half a dozen or more notable pictorial features include "In the Field," the best photograph of the twenty-seven thousand submitted in the Journal's contest; a page reproduction of W. L. Taylor's painting, "President Lincoln's Call for Volunteers," and "A Glimpse of Picturesque Canada." By the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

The sales on the New York stock exchange Monday broke all previous records in the aggregate of sales and in the total sales for individual stocks. Speculators seemed to have gone wild.

The report of the secretary of the State Banking Board shows a very substantial increase in deposits and the volume of business. To the unprepared mind this would be an indication of prosperity.

The fashionists are having a hard time inducing the populists to come forth with cash to aid in liquidating the debts of the state committees, incurred last fall in behalf of a lost cause. The pops have had an eye-opener.

"There is not a sane man in America today," says the Columbus Times, "that believes, or ever did believe, that this country is in any danger of imperialism. The United States is now and ever will remain a republic in the fullest sense of the word."

It has now been decided by the President and Secretary Root to increase the regular army to 76,000 men and it will remain so unless the conditions in the Philippines should make a larger force necessary to increase it to the maximum of 100,000 authorized by congress, but it is not probable.

He is urging complete surrender and wants all insurgents to capitulate and take the oath of allegiance for he is of the opinion that sovereignty is better than independence.

Nowhere in this grand country has there been more evidence of prosperity than in the south, now, and for some time past. In view of this fact the people of the southern states are preparing to give President McKinley a royal reception. The south has several reasons for feeling grateful to the present administration for its largely increased prosperity. Of course in a large measure, the reception tendered the President will be due the chief executive from a loyal people, who have come to know that the immense increase in prosperity has been the result of putting into effect those splendid principles of government for which the president stands.

Free-Traders and Rainbow Chasers.

In view of the vigorous movement just now going forward on the part of out-and-out Free-Traders and semi-Protectionists for a heavy increase of our purchases of foreign commodities by means of a material reduction of import duties or by means of so-called reciprocity treaties, it is well to take a glance at the international trade situation as represented by the imports and exports of the United States. Three-quarters of the current fiscal year have passed, completing a record that must be gratifying to all American citizens who desire to see the balance of trade continue on the right side of the ledger, and a continued healthy growth in the commerce of the country. As the result of an examination of the commercial situation the fact plainly appears that, whatever other reason may be urged for any tariff tinkering whatever, little can be found to justify anything of that sort so far as the nation's foreign trade is concerned. The most ardent advocates of low tariff duties as a means of extending American commerce to foreign countries will not be able to demonstrate in argument from the theories he advances, anything that will approach in soundness of economic policy and satisfaction in results what has been accomplished under the Protective policy during the past four years. In the first three-quarters of the fiscal year ended in 1897 the aggregate exports of products from the United States were about $925,000,000 worth. For the first three-quarters of the fiscal year which will end on June 30 next the aggregate exports of products from the United States was $1,140,000,000 worth. These are remarkable figures, and must be accepted as demonstrating conclusively that the effect of the Protective policy is not only to retain to the domestic producers the markets of this country, but, by adequate protection to domestic industries, the production of commodities in this country is so encouraged and stimulated that our producers are able to not only support the domestic market more completely than ever before, but are also able to extend their trade into foreign markets.

The record for nine months just ended shows a surplus of exports over imports amounting to $540,000,000 in value. Thus it is that the result of four years of Protection has not only been to encourage domestic industry, but, it has been also instrumental in promoting foreign trade among our domestic producers to such an extent that we are now selling abroad practically double the amount of products that are being imported. Compared with the corresponding three-quarters of the fiscal year ended in 1900, the aggregate of goods imported free of duty shows a decline this year amounting to nearly $40,000,000 worth, the total of the decline in all imports, free and dutiable, for the same period, amounts to nearly $43,000,000 worth. For the same periods under consideration, there has been an aggregate increase in the exports of domestic products amounting to nearly $85,000,000 worth. The record for the nine months just ended shows an aggregate increase of exports over imports, compared with the corresponding period in 1900 of about $129,000,000 worth.

In times of business prosperity, such as this country has unmistakably enjoyed during the past year, the consumption of products of all kinds is naturally much greater than during times of business and industrial depression. The logical consequence of such increased consumption should be increased importations of foreign made goods. Such would be the case, undoubtedly, if the rates of customs duties were such as to invite importations of foreign made goods. But the fact is that with the tariff rates continued on Protection lines, and the domestic producers being better able to supply the domestic market, there is a decline in importations, and the domestic producers are not only able to supply the increased home consumption, but in the past nine months they have increased their sales abroad to the amount of $85,000,000 worth of domestic products.

But it is urged by the Free-Traders and their semi-Protectionist congeners that our sales to foreign countries would greatly increase if we were to reduce our tariff duties so as to admit a larger quantity of foreign products. We have been told the same thing for many years past, but it has invariably happened that in periods of adequate Protection our export trade has increased. At the best the Free-Traders and semi-Protectionists are guessing and theorizing when they assert that we would sell more if we bought more. What we know to a certainty is that under the Dingley Tariff we have for four years kept right on selling more without buying more, until our yearly trade balance is $650,000,000. What we also know to a certainty is that a sweeping reduction of tariff duties, either by outright repeal, or by tinkering scheme of revision, or by the roundabout method of special trade treaties, would displace domestic production and supplant domestic labor by precisely the increased amount of foreign commodities that found entrance to our market. Taking into account our splendid industrial and commercial position as disclosed by the foreign trade statistics for the first nine months of the fiscal year 1901, and keeping in view the vital interests of American labor and industry, Free-Trade movement under cover of foreign trade extension ought to be very adherent. Either the advocates of Tariff reduction are selling under false colors, or else they are rainbow observers pure and simple.—Economist.

Disputes from Topeka indicate the final disappearance of the bathroom issue from Kansas politics. Only a few years ago a successful populist candidate for Governor of Kansas won many votes by an attack upon Republican extravagance in placing bathrooms in the state houses.

But times have changed in Kansas, and the habitual use of the bathtub is no longer deemed proof of oligarchical tendencies. At least, we must so infer from the fact that Kansas has just purchased the finest dwelling in Topeka, containing several bathrooms, for her Governor's official residence. Altho Kansas has compelled her Governor and family to camp out in a boarding house. Now she is to house her chief executive in a mansion that cost $90,000 and is architecturally worthy of the progress, prosperity and dignity of the commonwealth over which he is called to rule.

With more intellectual keenness and less illiteracy per 1,000 population than almost any other state Kansas was long celebrated as the land of vagaries. Many Kansans have felt that the time had come to shake off this youthful reputation and to advertise to the world that Kansas had emerged from the era of Populism, and was ready to be ranked with the dignified and conservative states of the Union. The act of the Legislature authorizing the purchase of a Governor's mansion is avowedly in line with the new policy. Some years ago the Kansans decided that a man might wear socks and still be faithful to the spirit of democratic equality. Now they admit that he may possess a bathtub without being an enemy of the people. They even admit, in thus providing facilities for ablutions, that the state may properly encourage in its servants the quality which ranks next to godliness.

With a little more progress toward common sense and dignity, mankind will soon be established when asked: "What's the matter with Kansas?" and will wonderingly respond: "Nothing Kansas is all right!"—Inter Ocean.

Edgar Howard insists he took the proper measure of Senator Millard when he said he never had a heart-beat in sympathy with the common people. It is a little risky for an honest man to venture an opinion of this kind. The Heart-Beat Editor would want to be intimately acquainted with a man before pronouncing judgement on such delicate matters, for fear of doing an injustice. It would want to know Senator Millard better than Edgar Howard knows him to risk a judgement. If Edgar Howard knows Senator Millard well enough to do it, that of itself is pretty conclusive evidence that Senator Millard's heart does beat in sympathy with the common people, else how could one of the most conspicuous common people know him so well? It is true Mr. Millard has gone on the stump or rostrum and publicly lamented the woes of the unfortunate, or of the poor and improvident. Neither is it known that he has established a private walling place to weep over the failures and follies of those who have found the world too big and hard for them to conquer. He has only gone ahead in a quiet and unostentatious manner, doing his duty from day to day without proclaiming his expensive virtues from the housetop. He started poor, but failing to remain unostentatious of his opportunities he is not poor now. During years he accumulated a competence he did his "share" in public and private charities. So satisfactory has his conduct been that seventy-one men of perhaps ordinary intelligence were of the opinion he was worthy to fill the high office of United States Senator, and that without his asking them for their votes.—Fremont Tribune.

Market Reports.

April 24, 1901. Receipts of cattle were very heavy in Chicago Monday, 27,000, and prices there on steers broke 10 to 20 cents. This was felt to a certain extent in our market. We had just fair receipts and steer prices broke about 20 cents on Monday, were steady at the decline yesterday and are about steady today with bulk of sales from $4.75 to $5, top $5.30 and 3000 on sale. The cow and heifer market has kept fully steady. Prices are really higher on them now than any time this year, with the receipts coming lighter all the time, with quality improving which helps make the better prices. Stockers and feeders have been in rather more liberal supply and prices keep strong. Bulk of feeders selling at $4.25 to $4.50 with a little more money for something choice.

Hog receipts have been liberal and prices on the down grade. We have had over 30,000 for the first three days of this week and prices 15 cents lower than a week ago. Think there will be a lighter run the balance of the week and a steady market.

No change to speak of in sheep market. Nye & Buchanan Co.

The Norfolk News is enthusiastically correct when it says: "A town would soon cease growing but for home patronage, and the more it receives the greater it grows."

Sam Winsor has moved his wagon shop and annexed it to his blacksmith shop, which will give him much needed room and add to the convenience of the shop.

Republican: Mrs. Jenn Peterson and Mrs. Fred Thompson and daughter Clara, went to Epiphany, S. D., yesterday for the purpose of consulting the eminent Father Kroeger. J. H. P. Shumway, the Wakefield agricultural implement dealer, is in old Metro on business connected with a railroad the Everetts of Lyons and himself are interested in. Mr. Shumway has been tendered the position of general manager and may accept.

As the HERALD stated last week the quarantines have all been raised, also on Saturday evening the college was released and the city is now entirely free of contagious disease and no one need have fear of coming to Wayne to transact business. Due care has been taken to thoroughly disinfect everything at the college and the indications are that the attendance at the next term will be unusually large and as a result Prof. Pile expects to build a dormitory for boys.

About as happy and pleasant looking crowd of men as we have ever seen was the jolly crowd of bankers we noticed on the train Monday morning enroute for the association at Norfolk. Why buy high priced farms when you can secure good agricultural lands in Wisconsin at prices and terms within the reach of almost every one? I have a large list of choice lands to select from, at prices ranging from $5.00 to $10.00 per acre, on very easy terms. These lands are located about 100 miles from St. Paul and Minneapolis, with their combined population of over 400,000 people, and Chicago, the center of the world's grain and stock markets is less than 400 miles distant, and to Duluth, with its immense lake carrying craft, it is only about 100 miles. In view of their great market, conveniences and choice quality, it will be readily seen that these lands will advance in price rapidly. This is a rare opportunity to make a good investment. Cheap rates of transportation offered. For full information call on or address, R. H. JAMES, Wayne, Neb.

BANKERS IN CONVENTION

The northeast Nebraska Bankers association is meeting in this city today in fourth annual convention. Every incoming train during the morning brought representatives of the banking institutions of north Nebraska towns to the meeting, and all seem to be enjoying the visit to Norfolk, which partakes of the nature of both business and pleasure, for while they meet and enjoy the society of others in the same line of business, they gain ideas from the proceedings that will be valuable to them when they return home.

The meetings are being held in the Auditorium. After a short session this morning adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock, when the convention was again called to order and it is likely that the program will keep them until late this afternoon. Tonight a complimentary banquet will be tendered by the bankers and financial men of this city at the Mast hall which will be served at 9 o'clock by the Ladies' guild of Trinity church.

The convention was called to order at 11:15 President Bucholz in the chair.

Dr. F. M. Sisson, presiding elder of the M. E. Church was introduced, who led in prayer fervently beseeching the Father to bless the representatives of the financial institutions here represented.

Mayor Robertson being unexpectedly absent from the city, Mayor-elect Koenigstein gave a hearty address of welcome on behalf of the city. After referring to a little banking experience of his own at an early day he expressed the hope that the visitors would have a good time at this their fourth annual convention, and one which will make them want to come again. He said the city is theirs during their stay and he hoped they would make the most of it.

The response was given by John D. Haskell of Wakefield, who, on behalf of 75 banks, two and three-fourths millions of capital and six and one fourth million of deposits, thanked the mayor-elect for his cordial greeting and genial hospitality. He said that Norfolk's enterprise and hospitality are well known. In this town a bounty of $150,000 was raised to establish a beet factory. Beets are always a subject of interest to bankers, who do not make a business of cultivating them as do the farmers about Norfolk, but are constantly trying to weed them out. Speaking of the business of banks, he said that the chief industry just now in this land of prosperity is computing interest—not on the loans but on the time deposits. Since the echo of 18 to 1 has died away the conviction becomes settled that banks were not responsible for all the ills that flesh is heir to, and bankers are now rightly regarded as builders not destroyers of property. The mayor, banks and citizens of Norfolk were again thanked for the cordiality extended to visitors.

President W. H. Bucholz then presented the annual message, during the reading of which he was frequently interrupted by applause.—Norfolk News, April 22.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President, E. E. Gurney, president of the Merchants State Bank, Winside.

Vice-president, John Eberly, cashier of the Citizens bank, Stanton.

Secretary, F. G. Hoffman, cashier Randolph State bank, Randolph.

Treasurer, E. T. Rice, cashier Citizens bank, Bancroft.

The following named were chosen as trustees:

Ed Kearney, cashier Bank of Dakota County, Jackson.

H. F. Wilson, cashier First National bank of Wayne.

H. A. Cheuev, president Security bank of Creighton.

A. L. Neuman, asst. cashier Farmers and Merchants bank, Oklauid.

E. A. Luikhart, cashier Battle Creek Valley bank, Battle Creek.

Previous to the election of officers Gov. Shaw of Iowa, delivered an eloquent address that was the feature of the afternoon. In the evening the bankers of Norfolk tendered the visiting bankers a banquet which was an elegant affair. Hon. John R. Hays presided as toastmaster.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Randolph on Arbor day, 1902.

Nels Grimsley has been selected as one of the members of the federal grand jury.

Chinese Forces Ordered to Retire Behind the Great Wall.

In consequence of strong representations to the Chinese government, an imperial decree, dated April 16, has been issued...

The Chinese troops, whose withdrawal outside the great wall is ordered by imperial decree, are understood to be the force which the German and French expedition is preparing to attack.

Huai Lu is located in the cable district as southwest of Pao Tzi Pu.

The Chinese occupied a position within the limits of the territory which the military representatives of the powers had decreed as being under their protection.

A Paris dispatch says in consequence of the imperial decree ordering the Chinese troops to leave the territory considered under the protection of the allied forces, the Franco-German expedition has been abandoned.

France will shortly withdraw 10,000 troops from China.

United States treasury officials are concerned about the result of the speculation in Wall street.

A Washington correspondent says that they have reported the matter to the President and the influence of the Treasury Department is being exerted more and more to induce the New York banks to act in a more conservative manner.

The Treasury Department is not at all concerned about ordinary stock speculation, so far as it affects the operating element only.

The financial officers of the government have been preaching conservatism for some time.

They say there has been a large over-optimism in the market, and that a day of reckoning is certain when an effort is made to squeeze the water out of these securities.

The thing which is troubling the treasury officials is not the fact that they have been speculating in Wall street, but that they are doing so in a manner which is not in keeping with the principles which the works of Knopkin inspired in him.

It is not strange that while a few years ago the followers of Knopkin were hanged, now, in 1901, their leader and teacher is being entertained and welcomed everywhere.

MURDER IN IOWA.

John Jessor Killed by H. Steffen Near LeMars.

A bloody tragedy was enacted Sunday afternoon in Washington township, Plymouth county, Iowa, about eight miles from LeMars...

The damage to stores, stocks, residences and furniture in Pittsburg, Allegheny and towns and cities down the Ohio will probably reach $500,000.

The damage may reach $1,000,000. The railroads think they have lost $1,000,000.

Loss of wages to the army of workers in manufacturing plants up and down the Ohio will amount up to $500,000.

ANARCHIST PRINCE ADVISES.

Knopkin of Russia Consulted by Mrs. Parsons in Chicago.

In the interests of anarchists and anarchy Prince Alexievich Knopkin the Russian leader, and Lucy Parsons, an anarchist of Chicago, held a conference last Friday at the Hull House.

The presence of the prince in Chicago has not only excited the interest of the anarchists, but also that of the general public.

My husband is a very cunning and following the principles which the works of Knopkin inspired in him.

It is not strange that while a few years ago the followers of Knopkin were hanged, now, in 1901, their leader and teacher is being entertained and welcomed everywhere.

They say there has been a large over-optimism in the market, and that a day of reckoning is certain when an effort is made to squeeze the water out of these securities.

The thing which is troubling the treasury officials is not the fact that they have been speculating in Wall street, but that they are doing so in a manner which is not in keeping with the principles which the works of Knopkin inspired in him.

FACTS ABOUT THE CENSUS.

Over one-quarter of the entire population of the country is found in the large cities.

The population of Birmingham, Ala., has increased from 1,994 in 1880 to 38,417 in 1900.

Not counting the national capital there are 44 towns and cities having the name of Washington.

It is estimated that there are 11,000 persons in the service of the United States stationed abroad.

In 1900 there were 78 cities of 20,000 inhabitants or more as compared with 58 in 1880 and 35 in 1860.

New York city is growing in population at the rate of 20,000 a year according to the latest municipal figures.

The population of Greater New York is greater than that of all Missouri, the fifth State of the Union in rank of population.

Only one State has over 7,000,000 inhabitants—New York.

Massachusetts is alone in the class between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000.

In 1880 there were 20 cities which contained more than 100,000 inhabitants, but in 1900 there had increased to 28, and in 1900 to 38.

Pennsylvania and Delaware are the only ones among the original States at the present time holding the same relative rank in population as in 1790.

There are three States in the list of the 150 largest cities: Springfield, Mass., ranks 60;

EXCHANGE NOTES.

Wayne Gazette: Prof. U. S. Conn of Wayne, has had a windmill and a lot of fencing added to the improvements on his farm northeast of this city this week.

Randolph Times: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hyatt went to Wayne Monday for a short visit. George took his rifle along and will try a shot at any big game in the Wayne jungles.

Tekamah Burtonian: Bert Cook and L. C. Fitzworth of Wayne, who did some very good work painting here last fall, arrived here Thursday on the evening passenger. They will assume their duties here for the summer. The Burtonian wishes the boys success.

Ponca Journal: The M. W. A. Log Rolling association for this district is to be held at Wakefield this year. This is one of the greatest annual events of Northeastern Nebraska, and Wakefield will no doubt entertain the tall timber in a manner befitting the occasion.

Norfolk Tribune: S. M. Claybaugh of Wayne, was in the city Monday. Ed Reynolds was a Wayne visitor to the city yesterday. Ed Lundburg of Wayne, was a visitor to the city Sunday. Erank A. Dearborn of Wayne, was a visitor to the city Tuesday. Leslie Baker, recently of Hoskins, has purchased a barber shop in Stanton.

Windside Tribune: D. T. Roush was up from Wayne Saturday night and returned home Sunday. Russell Davis a cousin of Mrs. Geo. Colbert, was up from Wayne visiting over Sunday. C. M. Craven, the photographer of Wayne, has leased the photograph gallery of Mr. Geo. and about the first of May will be ready for business with the gallery refitted and remodeled.

Norfolk News: Mrs. G. F. Dupland and two children arrived from Wayne last night and will spend Sunday with Norfolk relatives. A Wayne woman wanted a black skirt so badly that she concluded to appropriate one from her neighbor's life about as dusk fell. She was not aware that the owner was watching and is probably now considering how she can return it gracefully.

"Whoever plants scabby seed potatoes will get scabby potatoes," states the Homestead. "The tuber is not the natural seed however. That is in the potato ball and this is the reason why they do not mix when set side by side as long as the tubers, which are only enlarged roots, are planted. Two varieties set side by side will mix if the seeds are planted. Keep the crop healthy by having healthy seed."

Dixon Tribune: Chris Wishoof was in the office Monday afternoon with a big silver dollar looking for the editor he said. It is needless to say that he found the editor, although the "old girl" tried to assume that role for the occasion, and the money was duly credited to his subscription. The Tribune is always pleased to see Mr. Wishoof and everybody around the office from the every morn'g down to the "devil" feel cheered after the jolly old soul has paid us a visit.

Stanton Picket: Al Marks has sold his barber shop, business and fixtures to Leslie Baker of Wayne and gave possession Friday. Al says he has no notion of leaving Stanton, but is thro' barbering for all time. What vocation he will pursue in the future is uncertain. For a while he will rusticate and look after his Union Creek farm and will buy a residence in Stanton if the right opportunity is presented. Mr. Baker is a pleasant appearing man with a decided business turn and will no doubt do a paying business here.

Wakefield Republic: Dixon after a mighty struggle has at last secured regular church services. We are truly glad to hear that and hope that Jonas Calhoun Becker will attend and resolve to lead a better life. However, we believe that our wind well is several laps ahead of his putty mine as a natural curiosity, and Jonas has no monopoly on wind even though he thinks he has on religion. Carrie Nation informs us that she will proceed to Dixon after she has thoroughly reformed Concord, and the mystery of Jonas' existence may at last be satisfactorily explained by his being made triumphant use of as a horrible example.

Carroll Index: John Gabler went to Wayne Wednesday morning to do some work for M. S. Merrill. Arthur Lundburg of Wayne, is in Carroll today looking after the insurance business. A barn on the Bressler farm 2 1/2 miles north of Carroll, burned to the ground Thursday night. Mr. Emrick, the gentleman occupying the place, lost a large quantity of hay and also a set of harness in the conflagration. How the barn caught fire is still a mystery, unless accidentally set on fire by a two year old child, who was discovered in the building after the flames were noticed by the mother, who lost no time in resuming the little one.

Laurel Advocate: At the Niobrara Presbytery meeting at Harrington, A. M. McIntosh was chosen moderator and Messrs. Bostrom of Elgin and Kunz of Wakefield were appointed clerks. The session was unusually well attended by both elders and clergymen. Thirty churches were represented. W. C. Axer delivered the Presidential sermon. Rev. Montgomery of Wayne and O. J. Ellis of Wakefield were elected to the General Assembly at Philadelphia in May. Dr. T. L. Sexton of Seward, and J. B. Currens of Omaha, addressed the body on the work in the state. W. D. Reaugh was ordained, the sermon was delivered by Rev. Light of Pender, and the charge by Rev. Sharpless of Norfolk. The constitutional questions were pronounced by Rev. McIntosh of Laurel.

GRAVE OF BLACKBIRD.

Last Resting Place of Washington Irving's Famous Hero.

Omaha has, within her city limits, an unknown and unnoted for historic spot, which, in a few decades, will be looked upon with far more interest than it has in the past, or is now. This spot, which has been forgotten and neglected by the city, is the grave of the famous Omaha chief and warrior, whom even Washington Irving thought worthy of a place in his writings. This chief lived in the latter part of the last century, dying in 1792. In those days, according to Irving, the Omahas looked upon themselves as the most powerful and perfect of human beings, and considered all created things as made for their particular use and benefit. The leader of this tribe, Blackbird or Washington-gun-sab-ba, was a warrior of the highest class. Early in life he had been taken prisoner by the Sioux, where he had his mettle tested. Under his leadership the Omahas attained a reputation among the other tribes that they never had possessed before. The Pawnees, having inflicted an insult on an Omaha brave, Blackbird led his men against their town and slaughtered many of its inhabitants and burned it to the ground. He also waged a fierce war against the Otoes, until peace was effected by the interference of the whites.

The Pawnees had raided the Omaha tribe, and carried off many of their women and horses. Blackbird took the field with sworn determination to eat up the enemy. So fiercely did the battle rage that the Pawnees began to take for mercy. A herald was sent out with a pipe of peace but he was shot down by Blackbird. A second herald shared the same fate. As a last hope the Pawnee's chief sent out his daughter, arrayed in all her finery and bearing the calumet of peace. Her charms conquered. A treaty was made and Blackbird married the herald. She became his favorite wife, but, nevertheless, in one of his ungovernable fits of rage, he killed her with a single blow of his knife.

No sooner did he see her lying dead at his feet than his anger left him, and for three days he sat by her corpse, silent, motionless and tasting no food. On the third day the people began to fear that he intended to starve himself to death, and entreated him to be comforted. He paid no attention to their entreaties; at last a warrior brought a little child into his presence and placed it beneath the chief's foot. This appeal brought him to himself, and, arising, made a speech to his followers and seemingly threw off his grief as easily as he had taken it on. In 1792, the small pox swept over Nebraska, and Blackbird was one of its victims. It was the dying command of Blackbird, that his tomb should be on the summit of this hill, on which he should be interred, seated on his favorite horse, that he might overlook his ancient domain and behold the birks of the white men as they came up the river to trade with his followers.

His dying orders were faithfully obeyed. His corpse was placed astride of his war steed and a mound raised over them, summit of a hill. On the top of the mound was erected a staff, from which floated the banner of the chief and the scalps that he had taken in battle. When the expedition under Mr. Hunt visited that part of the country (1802) the staff still remained with the fragments of the banner, and the superstitious rite of placing food, from time to time, upon the mound for the use of the deceased, was still observed by the Omahas.—Con servative.

Forewarned, Forearmed.

The liability to disease is greatly lessened when the blood is in good condition, and the circulation healthy and vigorous. For then all refuse matter is promptly carried out of the system; otherwise it would rapidly accumulate—fermentation would take place, the blood become polluted and the constitution so weakened that a simple malady might result seriously.

A healthy active circulation means good digestion and strong, healthy nerves.

As a blood purifier and tonic S. S. S. has no equal. It is the safest and best remedy for old people and children because it contains no minerals, but is made exclusively of roots and herbs.

No other remedy so thoroughly and effectually cleanses the blood of impurities. At the same time it builds up the weak and debilitated, and removes all the entire system of blood and skin troubles.

It cures permanently all manner of blood and skin troubles.

Dr. E. F. Kelly, of Urbana, O., writes: "I had become so on my hands and face for five years, would break out in little drops, pimples, crusts, and had a bad drop off, leaving the skin red and inflamed. The doctor gave me a prescription of all the medicinal soaps and salves without benefit. S. S. S. cured me, and my skin is as clear and smooth as ever."

Mr. Henry Steigfried, of Cape May, N. J., says that twenty-one bottles of S. S. S. cured him of Cancer of the Breast. Doctors and friends thought her case hopeless.

Richard T. Gardner, Florence, S. C., writes for years with boils. Two bottles of S. S. S. put him in good condition and the boils disappeared.

MR. AND MRS. J. H. GOLL.

The Cow and the Hen.
The product of the dairy and the hen in the United States in the year 1900 amounted to $875,000,000. It will be interesting to compare this with the value of some other principal products: Dairy and hen $875,000,000
Corn 751,000,000
Hay 446,000,000
Cotton (1899) 336,000,000
Wheat 323,000,000
Oats 209,000,000
Pigs 245,000,000
Pig iron (1899) 256,000,000
Coal (1899) 104,000,000
Gold and silver (1899) 142,000,000

Of this cow and hen product we export about 1 per cent, consuming 99 per cent ourselves. Here again is an illustration of an enormous home market. Add to the above pork, fruits and nuts, and we have a total of $800,000,000 practically all sold in the home market. Could our laboring classes use the eggs, the butter, the milk, the poultry, and the fruit which they do, if they were idle or their wages were reduced to foreign levels? That's the whole story.—Economist.

A Raging, Roaring Flood.

Washed down a telegraph line that Chas. C. Ellis of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had consumption and I could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles by E. J. Raymond. Price 50c and $1.

When a man borrows money from a woman, and pays it back, that settles it; he is honest.

A woman is always jealous in the same old way, and a man tries to lie out of it in the same old way.

After Baby Comes.

In the days following the baby's birth there is often a long up-hill struggle to recover strength, and the nurse busies herself in the preparation of jellies and broths for the invalid.

When Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used as a preparative for motherhood the baby's advent is practically painless, the mother's strength, to nurse and nourish the child, and a rapid recovery from the shock and strain inseparable from maternity.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of 21 South Regent Street, (See Park), Whitehorse, Vermont. "When I had those mishaps I began to think I would never have children for I had used almost break and I would get sick at my stomach, and I was so weak that I did not know what to do; they used to get me very crazy, and I used to dread to get up. I felt so bad then I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When baby was expected I took it all the time, and I felt fine all the time, and I never got those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. My baby is almost two months old, is now five weeks, and weighs 18 pounds, and a rapid recovery from the shock and strain inseparable from maternity.

CARD OF THANKS.

The Cow and the Hen.
The product of the dairy and the hen in the United States in the year 1900 amounted to $875,000,000. It will be interesting to compare this with the value of some other principal products: Dairy and hen $875,000,000
Corn 751,000,000
Hay 446,000,000
Cotton (1899) 336,000,000
Oats 209,000,000
Pigs 245,000,000
Pig iron (1899) 256,000,000
Coal (1899) 104,000,000
Gold and silver (1899) 142,000,000

Of this cow and hen product we export about 1 per cent, consuming 99 per cent ourselves. Here again is an illustration of an enormous home market. Add to the above pork, fruits and nuts, and we have a total of $800,000,000 practically all sold in the home market. Could our laboring classes use the eggs, the butter, the milk, the poultry, and the fruit which they do, if they were idle or their wages were reduced to foreign levels? That's the whole story.—Economist.

A Raging, Roaring Flood.

Washed down a telegraph line that Chas. C. Ellis of Lisbon, Ia., had to repair. "Standing waist deep in icy water," he writes, "gave me a terrible cold and cough. It grew worse daily. Finally the best doctors in Oakland, Neb., Sioux City and Omaha said I had consumption and I could not live. Then I began using Dr. King's New Discovery and was wholly cured by six bottles." Positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles by E. J. Raymond. Price 50c and $1.

When a man borrows money from a woman, and pays it back, that settles it; he is honest.

A woman is always jealous in the same old way, and a man tries to lie out of it in the same old way.

Persons who can not take ordinary pills find it a pleasure to take DeWitt's Little Early Risers. They are the best little liver pills ever made. Orth.

It makes no difference how well regulated a house is, you will find nearly everything that is missing in the top bureau drawer.

A man is always scared to death of a new position until he finds out that the fellow he is working with doesn't know any more than he does.

For the weakness and prostration following gripe there is nothing so prompt and effective as One Minute Cough-Cure. This preparation is highly endorsed as an unfailing remedy for all throat and lung troubles and its early use prevents consumption. It was made to cure very quickly. L. P. Orth.
