Our Music Business

rests upon a solid foundation. We handle such instruments as WEBER PIANOS. The highest recommendation today without exception has been given this piano. We handle only instruments first in their grade—the best to be had for the money. We meet all reasonable competition—you are mistaken if you think you can do better in the large cities. We are dependent upon the kind of instruments sold for our reputation. We cannot afford to sell a poor one.

REVIVAL STILL ON.

The meetings conducted by Messrs Jamison and Whitteker still grow in interest and attendance. Mr. Jamison wears a speaker and the people are now getting a hold of the songs, or rather, the songs are getting hold of them. Mr. Jamison has held meetings this year in South Omaha, and in a number of towns in South Dakota. He has raised money to liquidate the debt on five different church plants since January 1st, 1901. In the three and one-half years since he retired from a regular pastorate where there was an addition of nearly 600 to the church during his ministry there, he has held meetings in nearly a hundred towns and cities in half a dozen different states. He began Evangelism in his boyhood in the eastern states and Canada. While a pastor in Sioux City where he still makes his home, Mr. Jamison says the greatest work he ever engaged in was his "Peoples' Mission" work in the building known as the "Lizzie Turner hall," where gospel and temperance meetings were held for nearly a whole year, the aggregate attendance being between 100,000 and 200,000. Messrs Jamison and Whitteker go from here to Browns Valley, Minn., and will return to Nebraska early in the summer and will probably spend most of the fall and winter in this state.

JAMISON POINTS

It's just as big a sin to grumble as it is to swear. It's mainly to acknowledge your blunders and go ahead. It is as bad to be smothered in luxury as to perish with hunger. To make new mistakes is just human but to make old ones is foolish. The religion a fellow lives is all he has no matter how much he professes. Talk of weeping for your sins—better quit your meanness than weep all summer. There is more honest fame in the drying up of a single tear than in shedding seas of gore. Wonder how some mortals ever expect to get to heaven by sighing and grunting all the time. No man hath seen God, nor no man hath seen gravitation, nor hath any man seen his own brain. Many souls are more anxious to be smothered in abundance than to be filled with righteousness. Great movements always have originated in individual minds. What is God going to do through you?

REV. W. R. JAMISON.

Your wife cannot keep the commandments for you or do your religion any more than she can eat for you.

You plucked a rose and the thorn pierced your hand. Did you make more ado about the thorn than the rose?

It is a pity one would not begin the Christian life early. Every day a man spends without the touch of Christ is a real and eternal loss.

It is hard to begin to trust God when the grip of calamity is on, but if you know Him you will in any storm find the way to His presence.

It is live fish that can swim against the stream—dead fish float with the current on the surface. Some mortals float about with every bad.

Man and woman were made for companionship, to help each other, with equal rights. Alas, the day that one takes advantage of the other.

Some Christians(?) can be at home in any church because they are no good anywhere. Some are harder to transplant because their roots are deep.

If you really expect to go to heaven you ought to cultivate some of the heavenly mind here. One needs a goodly amount of heaven to take him there.

I'd rather be a blundering, hammering, positive mortal—whole-hearted if not clear-headed—than a reverend gentleman meek as milk and water and as soft as boiled squash.

It's a bit strange that men would not want a perfect guide, a perfect sample or pattern—would not want to come in touch with a person, the light of whose great personality dispels the gloom from every dark problem that mortals meet.

Faith bears the same relationship to works that lightning does to thunder.

Peace is sometimes won on an awful battlefield, but its cost only adds to its value.

It is only when we add to the burden of today the load for tomorrow that it is more than we can bear.

The fire-fly only shines when on the wing. So we, as Christians, are brightest when faith is in action.

We need today mountain top Christians who can descend into the lowlands of life with light and love.

God never intends a round fellow to fit in a square hole. When you do God's way, you will fit the place he puts you.

Christ is bigger than any man's need. That is the reason he is every man's Saviour, for he is larger than any man's needs.

Jesus did not say you be made better, but with you be made whole. It is the whole man that Jesus works through and for.

The man in any line that will rise to higher success in his occupation must rise to a higher plane of sacrifice. No cheap works will bring rich rewards.

The best thing to make a good complexion is inward light. Moses had it when he came down from the mountain—"He wist not that his face shone."

The man that does not want Christ is playing the hypocrite at an awful rate. As if he did not need help to be better, or power outside his own weak will to keep him right.

I am afraid there are thousands who would not want Christ for their pastor if he were again in the flesh, and there are many towns that would not elect Him to the most petty office it has.

A French infidel said to a simple peasant: "We will tear down every church and picture and demolish everything that will remind you of God." The peasant said: "But you will leave us the stars."

Very often a man will hear a hundred good things and never notice them while one thing that was not pleasant to him will set him to grumbling. It's a fine thing to learn to get the wheat and let the chaff go.

Love is the only thing that wins. We would rather have one smile than a thousand kicks. It's a fine thing in the home and the only thing that wins in business. Christ's great record lives because it is a record of love.

A man told me that once he got two pigs that were not his own, though his sin and greed did compel him to claim them. It was in this way it came about: From his herd of swine one morning he missed two pigs. He immediately set out in search of the lost swine. He found a neighbor had two extras in his herd, and these the searching man took for his own, while as he said, "I knew that these were not mine but some other man's property. I persistently argued they were mine while I knew they were not. By and by it came up that another neighbor had lost two pigs and it then appeared that I had the other man's pigs—this I knew but I would not own up to it. Years came and went and these two black pigs kept rooting at my conscience every day." "What did you do about it?" I asked. He replied: "I went down today and paid the owner for his pigs, with interest. He did not want to take money, but I persisted and he yielded and took the money and I came home a happy, relieved man." "Didn't you know about that?" "No," said the man, "I could not have stood my wife punching me on the side and the pigs rooting me on the other all ten years." Verily a conscience and a good wife make it hard for a man to be mean.

Mr. Alfred T. Whitteker, the singing evangelist who is now with Dr. Jamison, tells how he was led to take up the Gospel singing. Mr. Whitteker was carefully trained as a concert singer at his home in "Old Kentucky," and during a revival in his own church a gospel singer was employed who sang "Some Day," which touched Mr. Whitteker very deeply, and as the meetings went on more and more he was impressed with the thought of how much good could be done with a gospel song sung from the heart and backed up by the power of the Holy Spirit. He began then to sing the "Gospel." One night he was asked to go and sit up with an old man who was dying with consumption, but who knew not Christ for he claimed to be an infidel and would not permit anyone talking of Christ. Being very fond of music a friend of the man's asked Mr. Whitteker to sing, which he did with a glad heart for he soon saw the old familiar songs were making a way into the man's heart. Mr. Whitteker was requested time after time to "sing," "sing" by the man, every time he woke up—which amounted to almost the entire night. Just as the morning light was breaking through the darkness the man was heard to say "Jesus." A soul was won that night for the Master. Mr. Whitteker said if God could use him to save one man, He could to save many. A definite consecration of his voice was made to God. He soon took a special course in evangelistic singing and choir and congregational training at the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, where he now makes his headquarters, and where he has won favor among the professors and students for his honest, earnest work.

ANNAPOLIS CADETSHIP.

Madison, Neb., April 24, 1901. Whereas, a vacancy now exists at the U. S. Naval Academy, for a Cadet from the Third Congressional District of Nebraska, and it being incumbent on me to nominate a suitable person to fill said vacancy, and also an alternate, therefore:

On consideration, I have determined that a public examination shall be held by a committee, and that the recommendation of candidates made by said committee to me will be approved.

The examination will be held in the High School Building, City of Norfolk, Madison County, Nebraska, beginning on June 12, 1901, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time the Committee will announce the program of examination and pass on the proofs of residence, and certificates of good character and physical qualifications.

On June 13, 1901, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the examination for mental qualifications will commence, and may be written in part, and oral in part, as the committee may determine, but all shall be public.

Each applicant for examination must present a statement in writing and upon oath that he has been an actual and bona fide resident of the Congressional District for at least two years immediately preceding June 12, 1901, and a certificate of good character signed by the County Judge of the county of his residence.

A copy of the "Regulations Governing the Admission of Candidates into the United States Naval Academy as Cadets" is now open for public inspection at the offices of the several County Superintendents of Public Instruction throughout the District.

The following named gentlemen have consented to act as committee on examination: Hon. C. W. Crum, of Madison; Prof. D. C. O'Connor, of Norfolk; Dr. J. H. Mackay, of Norfolk.

Notice is given that the Government officials are very exact in their examination, both as to the physical and mental qualifications required under the head of "Examination," as set forth in the "Regulations," and that is for the best interests of the persons selected to attend a preparatory school and do honest, faithful work, to the end that they may be able to make a good showing at the Government examination.

He is an applicant for reappointment. H. C. Wolf and G. W. Yarran were here between 12 and 1 o'clock Tuesday morning enroute to Omaha where Mr. Wolf shipped cattle. Why wouldn't it be a good plan for the State Department to take hold of the matters and give a rousing celebration this year. Wayne didn't celebrate last year. Everybody smokes the Wayne Leader manufactured at home by Wm. Dammeier. Why? Because it is the best nobby cigar in the city and most smokers who have tried them say so. Glasson, formerly of this city, a ten year franchise for an electric light plant. He expects to run the plant in connection with his mill. The hail storm in the vicinity of Baird Bros. in Brenna last Friday stripped the fruit trees of blossoms and leaves and did much damage. The bridge in 32 was swept away by the high water in Plum Creek precinct, and Mr. Baird got a bunch of cattle from one pasture into another just in time or some of them would no doubt have been lost.

No More Gray Hair

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over thirty years and can testify to its wonderful merits. It has kept my scalp free from dandruff and my hair soft and glossy. And it has prevented my hair from turning gray. —Mrs. F. A. Soule, Billings, Mont.

Not a Dye

There is this peculiar thing about Ayer's Hair Vigor: It's a hair food, not a dye. It doesn't turn your hair suddenly black and make it look dead and lifeless. But gradually the old color comes back to your hair, — all the rich, dark color it used to have. And it stops falling of the hair too.

PRICES HERE AND ABROAD

Why Some American Products Are Sold Cheaper Abroad than at Home.

My first can ask questions, any ill-conceived question, and neither the question nor the answer can be answered without a long and tedious explanation. I have had such questions many times and many times. For the past three months the Free Traders have been asking me questions about the prices of our goods. I have been answering them as best I can. I have been told that the prices of our goods are sold cheaper abroad than at home. This is a question that has been made up by the Free Traders and is in general without any attempt at specific analysis or amount. The few instances of goods that have been sold at a discount to a foreign market are as follows:

This question of export discounts was thoroughly investigated ten years ago and we were not satisfied at that time when it was made a question of the day. It is a question that has been made up by the Free Traders and is in general without any attempt at specific analysis or amount. The few instances of goods that have been sold at a discount to a foreign market are as follows:

There is one thing to be said for the fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets.

Such a policy has been slow. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets. It is a fact that our goods are sold at a discount in some foreign markets.

The cow and the hen. The price of the dairy and the hen in the United States in the year 1909 amounted to $77,000,000. It will be interesting to compare this with the value of some other principal products.

Michigan's Example. These Democratic and so-called independent newspapers who are difficultly seeking to find a few grains of comfort out of the spring elections in the West are invited to take a look at the State election which occurred in Michigan Monday. The returns from the State are not all in yet, although it is certain that the total vote will be much below that cast last November, probably not two-thirds as large. But even on this diminished vote the Republican majority was over 70,000, or about three-fourths as large as it was on a full vote in the Presidential election. This does not look much like a Democratic revival.

Beef Sugar Production. The statistics of the beef sugar industry, as shown up in a census bulletin, show that after many years of manufacture on a small scale, it has assumed large proportions. In the census year more than one-third of the country's sugar production was obtained from the best. This quantity of sugar 70 per cent of which was suitable for immediate consumption, was produced in a year of extremely unfavorable agricultural conditions in the best districts. The yield of beefs per acre was less than half that of an average season. The factories could readily manufacture more than two and one-half times the quantity of sugar produced, if supplied with sufficient raw material.

Mr. Bryan Has Yet to Learn. A defeat has not proved him of his illusion; he still insists that there is no Democracy but

A Spanish newspaper would have been a good deal more than the limit of Manila in forty-eight hours. Our Governor may be a good Savage but he's no dead Indian.

It is a poor town in Nebraska that does not boast a postoffice fight these days.

The hospitality extended to President McKinley by the southerners could not have been more generous.

Railroad stocks and bonds make some men rich in less than 24 hours but at the same time many another man is made sick.

The saloon keeps down in Kansas to longer fear Mrs. Nation though she still seems to be the leading issue in the Sun Flower State.

The generosity of the great American people is again demonstrated by the assistance that is pouring into fire destroyed Jacksonville Florida.

Up in Boyd county a new town has been named Kinkaid in honor of Judge M. P. Kinkaid. There ought to be no doubt of the town being O. K.

The Wisner Free Press issued a special trades edition last week, illustrated and containing an excellent write up of Wisner and Cumming county.

Jacksonville, Florida, was visited by a disastrous fire on Friday which caused a loss of between 10 and 15 millions of dollars. Over 180 blocks were destroyed.

The farmers are not going to experience any low prices on farm products of any kind, whatever, very soon. In fact, the farmer is about to become his own financier, and why not.

Regular government stamps in continual use are about the only thing that sell at face value these days, and yet there are many kinds of stamps that sell for a "heap" more than their face value.

If anyone doubts that McKinley is recognized by all the people of this country as their president, let him follow the President on his present tour. He will receive one grand ovation from a patriotic and devoted people.

The work of reducing the army goes steadily on because it is not needed. Now and then that fustian must thus be given another body blow, but business is business and McKinley's administration is a business one.

Democratic politicians have again taken up the discussion of the tariff question. The difference between the present times and those of low tariff under a democratic administration is a more potent argument than all the academic discussion.—Bee.

David B. Hill devotes a large portion of his time talking about "Jefferson, Jackson and Tilden the great leaders of Democracy," and yet Grover Cleveland never comes in for a word. Of course Grover is dead, too, but David only seeks to evidence the fact by not mentioning it.

It is reported that the Union Pacific railway has come under the control of Vanderbilt. Whether it has or not the stock has gone sky high and the road is on a paying basis. It ought to spread out all over Nebraska where it could do a magnificent service to the sturdy farmers of this commonwealth.

The Younger brothers, Cole and Jim, who have been serving a life sentence in the Minnesota penitentiary for participation in the Northfield (Minn.) bank raid and the killing of the cashier in 1876, after serving more than 25 years of their sentence have been paroled. Bob Younger died in the penitentiary.

The Dakota City Eagle celebrated its silver anniversary last week. A noteworthy feature of the paper is the fact that Allee Hart, the present editor and owner, founded the paper and has been with it ever since the start. He has made it a good newspaper and it has made him a comfortable home, a good living and a surplus not to be sneezed at.—Fremont Tribune.

If the crops in Nebraska this year are fair where on earth will there be a more independent people than the farmers, especially those who own their farms. They will become the dictators, so to speak. Already they have a large percentage of the immense amount of deposits in the banks of Nebraska, and in fact are now in a position to carry their own insurance, bank money, etc. and with another year of McKinley's prosperity see where they will be. Isn't it a pleasant situation for the one Bryan state to be in?

State Treasurer Stoffer always has recourse to figures when he is beset by people who claim that he is investing too little of the school money that lies permanently in his hands. He smiles and gets out a few big books and foists up a few columns and shows that while his predecessor in office may have made a good record for his time, the days are progressive ones and that he has a record to make for himself and is making it at a rapid gait. With the limited means at hand for investing state money, a state treasurer, if he desires to get the funds changed into paper, must rustle about like a broker.

Prefer a Surplus to a Deficit.

There are some people who are always worrying about the cares and troubles of the rich. They worry much more about them than about the sufferings of the poor. It is to this class that the Free Traders belong. They are infinitely more worried lest the National Treasury should show a surplus than they are at the prospect of an increase in the national debt, or over the poverty and want which would inevitably come to American workmen as a result of the withdrawal of Protection from American industries and the closing of American factories. It was the surplus revenue which our protective policy had been rolling up which gave the Free-Traders their keenest anxiety in 1884 and in 1888. The spectacle of a country whose most pressing problem was what to do with the surplus of revenue in its treasury aroused the attention of and called forth comment from foreigners who were traveling in this country, notably from Max O'Rell, who more than once alluded to the remarkable fact in his lectures. The problem was solved temporarily in 1892, when the election of a Free-Trade President was accompanied by the election of a Free-Trade Congress. The problem of what to do with the surplus gave way to the problem of how to meet the ever growing deficit in Government receipts, until the problem was in turn solved by the restoration of our Protective Tariff policy in 1897. Of the two problems, the American people prefer the problem of a surplus rather than that of a deficit, and the Free-Traders will be wise in their day and generation if they do not dwell too much upon the evils flowing from a surplus of national revenue, such as that which the country now owes to Dingley law Protection. Strange as it may seem to the Free-Traders, the American people prefer to worry along under the burden of plenty rather than to be on a continual hustle in an effort, often in vain, to keep the wolf from the door.—American Economist.

Some of the "reform" organs are beginning to talk about publishing the names of all rebel leaders who are caught in the act of conspiring with corporations. They argue that it was the faithless of certain officers in this respect that led this party to defeat last fall, and consequently the guilty ones ought to be punished. If the erring brethren had been successful in their attempt to play both ends against the middle everything would have continued lovely and they would have saved the Union from the humiliation of the public exposure. The papers that are making the threats seem to figure it is all right to be dishonest if you don't get caught at it.—St. Paul Republican.

CORNER STONE LAID.

The corner stone of the handsome new Methodist church of this city, which will be one of the handsomest structures in North Nebraska, was laid this afternoon with impressive ceremonies before a large crowd of people. The corner stone of the M. E. church was laid at 3:00 p. m., by Rev. G. M. Sisson of Norfolk, Neb. The following program was carried out. The ceremony began with introductory remarks by Rev. Thos. Bithell, and was followed with the singing of a hymn and prayer by Rev. D. C. Montgomery. The first lesson from Psalm 132 was read by Rev. C. E. Welden, and the second lesson from 1st Cor. 3:2-23. Then came an address and the laying of the corner stone by Dr. Sisson, and the ceremony was concluded with song, a prayer by Rev. Ringer, and the benediction.

The following is a portion of the dedicatory address of Rev. Sisson: Friends and Neighbors: We are assembled today to perform a pleasant and important duty, lay the corner stone of a new church. I say pleasant, because it shows a mark of progress and appreciation of God's goodness. Important, for the church is to life of the home, government and commerce with all that come with them what the sun is to the solar system. * * * We rejoice in our magnificent democratic government, it stands in modern history the forerunner and propagator of the idea of government, for the people and by the people, but the church its teachings makes it possible, for law does not reform. * * * We boast and rightfully of our magnificent public school system, but how long do you think it would stand if every church bell should cease to ring, every song of Zion cease to be sung, every pupil be come silent and every veyr become vacant. Yonder high school would soon be the habitation of bats and owls, yonder Normal College would soon be a silent monument to mark the resting place of the idea of a higher education. * * * We place under this stone a box containing a bible, names of Junior Leagueurs who have contributed one dollar or more toward the building fund, copies of Wayne papers, Central Christian Advocate, Omaha Bee and World-Herald, the Wesleyan of Lincoln, and the names of presiding elder, pastor, building committee and trustees. But not only do we bury these but we pray that this stone shall ever be a mark of God's goodness and that under this stone all selfishness and strife in this immediate branch of the kingdom may be buried, as well as all that might mar the general church. We trust that the super-structure builded hereon may ever stand as a monument to God's glory and as a beacon light to those who are tossing on life's sea, a rock of safety to all weary travelers across the desert of life, and a home for all God's children. * * *

Among those present from out of town we noticed Rev. Griffith of Stanton, Rev. Gray of Lyons, Rev. Carter of Dakota City, Rev. Main of Norfolk and Rev. Drusler of Emerson.

The Free Attendance High School Law. At the last session of the legislature a new high school law was enacted. There have been two such laws passed by previous legislatures and both have been declared unconstitutional on technical grounds, but it is believed that the present law is so framed that it will stand the test. The other two laws were instrumental in inducing nearly four thousand country boys and girls to attend the graded high schools of the state and in addition to all of this created a sentiment for a higher education and broader culture in the rural schools. Although these laws have been unconstitutional they have done an inestimable amount of good toward turning the attention of those country boys and girls who had completed the work of their own schools to the advantages of the high schools. It filled the missing step in the educational ladder whereby the rural pupil might go from the country school to the high school, college and university. The result of the impetus given to higher education is that there is a very much larger number attending all higher institutions of learning in Nebraska today than ever before. The present law requires, in order to be effective, that at the annual meeting the legal voters of each district shall vote whether their district will participate the following year in the provisions of the act. The benefits of the law depend entirely upon the action of the people in the rural districts. A majority vote will entitle the pupils of rural schools to free attendance at each school from the time they enter the primary grade until he completes the university. So it behooves every voter to see that the law is not made inoperative by mere neglect, to express a voice in the matter. U. S. CONN.

Lightning Rod Swindlers compelled to Move. Editor Herald: I desire, through your columns and those of other newspapers in Nebraska, to warn farmers against lightning rod swindlers that are in the country and at the same time relate a little personal experience with the fellows.

On May 1st I made a verbal contract with a man who claimed to be Edgar Wilson of Ponca, and who, claimed to be working in the interest of the Security Lightning Rod Company and the amount of the bill agreed upon was $27. The next day two other men came to put up the rods. I didn't like their appearance and asked to see their contract when one of them produced a contract with my name attached whereas I agreed to pay $216 for the job. This set my blood boiling and I told them to get off the roof, but they refused. I got a rifle and got far enough from the building so they could not reach me with their revolvers which were plainly visible in their pockets. My hired man threw the ladder down and conducted one fellow, who claimed to be an attorney, to the road, while his chum was on the roof, 18 feet from the ground, and then picked up the rods and took and put them in their wagon and took the team to the public highway. I then allowed the man to get off the roof and gave him a pretty interesting talk. He tried to settle with me and finally threatened to sue me for snatching at them, but I am of the opinion they will not show up here again, but will go elsewhere to try to swindle somebody else. CHRIS WISEHOPE. Wayne, May 3, 1901.

The sad news was brought to town yesterday noon of the death of Jacob Bruggers. Dr. Zellner of Hooper will hold a post mortem today to see cause of his trouble and death.

IT MAKES WOMEN HAPPY. "I had been a sufferer for many years from nervousness with all its symptoms and complications," writes Mrs. O. N. Fisher, of 1861 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. "I was constantly going to see a physician or purchasing medicine. My husband at last induced me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. After taking one bottle and following your advice I was so encouraged that I took five more bottles of 'Favorite Prescription.' I continued taking it and felt that I was improving faster than at first. I am not now cross and irritable, and I have a good color in my face; have also gained ten pounds in weight and am one thousand pounds of comfort for my own and my husband's sake, and your advice and your 'Favorite Prescription' is the cause of it."

The Success or Failure of a mercantile business is in the question of profit. If goods are constantly sold below cost, failure is bound to come. If prices are marked away up, the people will not come more than once and trade is light. Too high or too low prices mean failure. Just where the turning point is between too high and too low prices, is difficult to determine. In marking our stock, we have gone low instead of high when we were in doubt where the turning point was. We give the Public the benefit of the doubt and sell the stock cheaper. You can prove this by examining our stock. Furchner, Duerig & Co. Highest Market Price for Produce.

A Shirt with a Tale!

There is a tale that might be told of every shirt made, and the story ought to prove interesting to every man, for a shirt is man's nearest friend. Where it is made, who made it, how it is made, is it made right, is it made in a clean factory, is it clean, will it fade, will it wear, does it fit, is it in style, and is the price right? All these are interesting subjects to a man that wears a shirt. To answer all these questions in one advertisement would make our shirt story too long, therefore we simply say we would be glad to show you at our store that every shirt we sell will prove to answer all these questions to your entire satisfaction. We take special pains to know that every shirt we sell is made in a clean factory and free from any contagious disease. We realize you can buy shirts in nearly all stores, but the shirts we sell are made better, fit better, and are entirely different than you will find in other stores and the price is less. No matter how big you are we have shirts to fit you. Don't pay sixty-five cents for a shirt when you can buy a better one of us for fifty cents. Remember our stock is the largest, our prices the lowest, and our shirts are the only satisfactory ones. We have the latest styles in all prices from 50 cent to $2.50.

Wisner Chronicle: Clayton & Emley sold the Roger Torpey quarter in Blaine to George Lehmkuhl of Wayne county, consideration $4,000. Biskirk went to Keya Paha county Monday to spend a few days looking over the investments which Mr. Biskirk made in land last fall. S. H. McLain met with a painful accident while papering at the home of True Prescott southwest of Wayne yesterday afternoon that will lay him up for some time. In stepping on to a carpenter's horse, the legs on one side gave way, and in falling, the large shears he was using struck the floor just before him, upon which he fell, one blade of the instrument passing entirely through his leg just below the hip and the other entered his hip to a depth of two inches or more. An attempt was made to pull the shears out but to no avail. Dr. Leisner was at once summoned and succeeded in removing them and at once dressed the wounds which he says are of a very serious nature.

You don't observe any idlers to speak of around Wayne these days, for this is a place of employment for all who will work. Every carpenter, brick layer or laborer, whatsoever, is busy, busy as bees, for, while Wayne is not booming there is building, painting and repairing going on in all parts of the city. The man who cannot see any improvement in the present times is lost to reason. Why buy high priced farms when you can secure good agricultural lands in Wisconsin at prices and terms within the reach of almost everyone? I have a large list of choice lands to select from, at prices ranging from $5.00 to $10.00 per acre, on very easy terms. These lands are located about 100 miles from St. Paul and Minneapolis, with their combined population of over 400,000 people, and Chicago, the center of the world's grain and stock markets is less than 400 miles distant, and to Duluth, with its immense lake carrying craft, it is only about 100 miles. In view of their great market conveniences and choice quality, it will be readily seen that these lands will advance in price rapidly. This is a rare opportunity to make a good investment. Cheap rates of transportation offered. For full information call on or address R. H. JAMES, Wayne, Neb. It was announced yesterday by the Omaha that an extension of the road from Rice Lake to Birch Lake, Wis., has been authorized and that contracts for the work will soon be awarded. The new road will enter a hardwood timber region which will furnish valuable traffic for the road as well as opening up a new section of land to cultivation.—Sioux City Journal, Apr. 4. The proposed road mentioned in the Journal runs through the country mentioned in the article just above.

EXCHANGE NOTES.

Norfolk Times: Mrs. W. D. Hammond of Wayne is visiting at the home of Charles H. Johnson on Madison avenue.

It is reported that one of the jurors who cleared Callahan, the Cudaby suspect, of the charge of kidnapping, said after the trial his opinion was that young Cudaby had been out having a good time and that he concocted the cook-and-bull kidnapping story to let himself down easy with the "governor."

The Norfolk News presents the following that many here might well read: "If people could realize how little they owe to foreign houses in the way of improvement it would be sufficient to convince them that they should spend their money at home. It isn't probable that the catalogue houses will add a dollar's worth of improvement to Norfolk this year, while the home merchants will improve their property as rapidly as their trade will allow them. Patronize home institutions."

Pierce Call: A traveling man on our streets this week expressed his surprise that Pierce was without water-works and a good lighting plant. He said there was not a town in the state, with the enterprise of Pierce, but what was making a move for either electric lights or water works. He said that Wayne probably had one of the best and most satisfactory waterworks system of any town in northern Nebraska and advised our citizens to make a close and thorough inspection of that town's plant, thus gaining from their experience.

Homestead: Were I to believe all I read in the several farm papers about keeping the boy on the farm, I would believe him to be a very slippery individual, indeed. Almost every farm paper has some advice as to the best way to keep the boy on the farm. That is easy. Make the farm and home attractive to him and it will require no effort to keep him there, provided his ambition runs that way. If it does not it may be a mistake to try to unduly influence him. If the boy fits the farm and the farm fits the boy there will be an amalgamation; otherwise there will be, as there should be, an estrangement.

Columbus Times: It does not require argument to establish the fact that the products of the world belong to the producer, neither does it require argument to convict as thieves in the minds of all rational people, the men who are depriving these producers of the full benefit of their productions. As the law is now administered the burden of taxation falls heaviest on the shoulders of the producing masses of this country. The man who has an income of $10,000 or more a year may be able to avoid taxation entirely—and it is an undeniably fact that very many of them do so at least—but the man that eases but a day, the laborer that can at least afford to, must pay every cent of the burden, and no evasion is permitted.

York Times: There are not many suicides compared with the number of people who become tired of life at one time or another. And there would be far less if every person who fully decides to destroy his own life would wait a month before actually doing the job. When a great calamity suddenly overtakes a person he sees no way of escape at first and is overwhelmed by the severest storms do not last the longest and if he possesses his soul in patience the sun will find a rift in the clouds before long and the way will become brighter. And so with long continued adversity. Every road has a turn some where and one is sure to

Old Soldier's Experience

M. M. Austin, a civil war veteran of Winchester, Ind., writes: "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills, which worked wonders for her health. They always do. Try them. 25c. Raymond's."

Skin affections will readily disappear by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Look out for counterfeits. If you get DeWitt's you will get good results. It is a quick and positive cure for piles. L. P. Orth.

reach it sooner or later if he perseveres and does the best he can. There are times in the most cheerful life when the way seems dark and the most gloomy have their hours of joy and hope. If people would be patient in adversity and say to themselves what they would say to others under the same circumstances, there would be very few who would take their own lives.

Conservative: When it comes to marriage, the great social reformer of our men, Heron, is not so much opposed to plutocracy as his words have implied. Like the Irishman, who had taken the pledge, when offered his favorite drink, accepted, saying: "Yes, I am temperance, but no dom tauntic."

The following dispatch from Concord was printed in several eastern dailies, so it must be true: "Hiram Brooks, the Wayne county 'granger' who poked three dollars into the county treasury for spitting on the depot platform some time ago was again 'called up' in Judge Mitchell's court Monday for disturbing the peace. Brooks addressed a small crowd of joshers Sunday afternoon in which he severely 'roasted' the whole 'Carrie Nation' push. This was the cause of his arrest. In court Brooks pleaded with the Mayor for a discharge claiming that he was a 'popular and winning man' at home, but the court thought otherwise and Brooks was taxed four dollars.—Concord Call.

Tekamah Burlington: The editor made a trip to Wayne this week and while there had the pleasure to meet editor McNeal of the Wayne Herald. Through the kindness of Mr. Neal we were taken through the club room at that place. This room is for different sports and the club consists of the best people of the city. You can go in and enjoy yourself with games, or they have a choice line of books that you may sit down and spend the evening in reading. The room is very artistically arranged and is a credit to any city. We would suggest that Tekamah take steps toward the same line as we believe it would draw many of our young men there instead of at the season.

Rather Outspoken.

"When a man in the west likes not another," said a British Columbia man, "he is in no way disposed to hide that fact under a bushel basket or to conceal it from either the gentleman disliked in particular or the rest of the community in general."

"I remember an example of this trait that came under my notice some years ago in Idaho. A certain old fellow named Haas ran a paper there, and he and Judge Buck, the judge who rendered the celebrated decision in the famous 'Door' case; Tiger litigation, were sworn enemies, and should I tell you named Cheney disliked Haas and Buck and had it in for them both."

"One night at Wallace a dinner was given, at which Buck, Haas and Cheney were present, and at a late stage in the proceedings Cheney was called upon for a speech. I don't remember the topic he chose or how he brought it in, but when he got through Cheney left in the minds of his hearers no manner of doubt as to how he felt toward the other two."

"Gentlemen," said Cheney as he hung unsteadily to the end of the table, for the wine had been passing freely, 'old man Haas says Judge Buck is a perjurer and a blackmailer and Judge Buck says old man Haas is a thief and a liar. As both the gentlemen are extremely well acquainted with each other and should know whereof they speak, I do not feel inclined to dispute either statement.'"

"And then he sat down amid tumultuous applause."—New York Tribune.

Doing the Glazier a Kindness.

A traveling linker out of work bemoaned his hard luck to a sympathetic glazier.

"I'll soon put that right for you," said the glazier. "Just come up to that big hotel over there in half an hour's time, and you'll find work."

Accordingly the linker made his appearance at the appointed time and found himself in great request as all the good wife's pots and pans had mysteriously sprung leaks.

Needless to say the glazier had shrewdly operated on them to provide a job for his acquaintance.

Having finished his work, the linker trudged off, full of gratitude, and soon arrived at a wayside schoolhouse.

A happy thought striking him, he determined to repay the glazier's kindness, and, arming himself with stones, he speedily smashed every window in the house.

Returning, he intimated to his friend the service he had rendered him, but was amazed to see the man of glass become convulsed with rage.

"You're a Scott man," shouted the latter, "you're vulgar and mean! I repair the windows of this school by yearly contract!"—London Answers.

Teeth Put to Many Uses.

All Estimios have good teeth, but they are subjected to severe usage, being used for plunchers, vices and fluting machines.

The teeth are employed in drawing bolts, untying knots, holding the mouthpiece of a drill, snapping bolt soles, stretching and tanning skins. When they become uneven from hard usage they are leveled off with a file or whetstone.

Scrofula

THE OFFSPRING OF HEREDITARY BLOOD TAIN.

Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood Poison and Consumption. The parent who is tainted by either will see in the child the same disease manifesting itself in the form of swollen glands of the neck and throat, catarrh, weak eyes, offensive sores and abscesses and other ailments while swelling—sure signs of Scrofula. There may be no external signs for a long time, for the disease develops slowly in some cases, but the poison is in the blood and will break out at the first favorable opportunity. S. S. S. cures this wasting, destructive disease by first purifying and building up the blood and stimulating and invigorating the whole system.

J. M. Beck's 115 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn., says: "Ten years ago my daughter fell and cut her forehead. From this wound the glands on the side of her face became swollen and burst. Some of the best doctors here and elsewhere attended her without any benefit. We decided to try S. S. S., and a few bottles cured her entirely."

S. S. S. makes new and pure blood to nourish and strengthen the body and is a positive and safe cure for Scrofula. It overcomes all forms of blood poison, whether inherited or acquired, and no remedy so thoroughly and effectively cleanses the blood. If you have any blood trouble, or your child has inherited some blood taint, take S. S. S. and get the blood in good condition and prevent the disease doing further damage.

Heating an Avalanche.

One of the most exciting Alpine adventures on record was Mr. Tuckett's race with an avalanche on the Eiger glacier in 1871. He was ascending the glacier with two friends and a guide, Sava (Swiss).

The glacier sloped somewhat steeply, and on the upper part, above the climber, a mass of loose, freshly fallen snow had collected. Suddenly the travelers heard a thundering noise and perceived a huge mass of snow and ice sliding down toward them. They could only try to reach the rocks at the side of the glacier, hoping to do so before the avalanche should sweep them away. Through the knee deep snow they ran for their lives.

"I remember," said Mr. Tuckett, "being struck with the idea that it seemed as if the avalanche were sure of its prey and wished to play with us for awhile. At one moment it let us imagine that we had gained on it, and the next, with mere wantonness of vindictive power, it suddenly rolled out a vast volume of grinding blocks and whirling snow, as if to show us that it could outthink us any moment it chose. "Nearer and nearer it came, its front a slightly wave about to break. It moved straight at us, swift, deadly, implacable. The next instant we saw no more. A wild confusion of whirling snow and fragments of ice, a frozen cloud, swept over us, entirely concealing us from one another. But still we loved to be caught, and still we ran."

"Another half second, and the mist parted. There lay the body of the monster, whose head was still careering away at lightning speed far below us, motionless, rigid, harmless."

The Attention of Today.

The attention of the late the year round and, whenever the weather will permit, in the open air. As the heated season advances the dinner hour is set later and later until in August it is 9:30 or 10 o'clock the common thing. Fancy going to the theater after that? You the open air performances are liberally patronized, and they do not begin, of course, until after dinner. The legend "Curtain rises promptly at 9" is a snare and a delusion, as many a foreigner has found to his extreme annoyance.

The put of door dining and the sky roofed theaters are so typically Greek that they serve as a link between modern and classical times. The old Greek, as everybody knows, was an outdoor man, his house serving as little more than a sleeping place and store room. The Athenian of today dines in a garden, on his terrace or in a park. If he is too poor to possess any of these accessories, he sets his table upon the sidewalk. Many of the cheap restaurants appropriate the walks for dining rooms. One is often compelled when dining an evening stroll to dodge in and out among dozens of tables crowded with reasonably clean, linen and lighted by means of candles, whose flames are protected from the wind by means of glass globes.—Scribner's.

Doctors' "Cat Naps."

The "cat naps" indulged in by the late Dr. William Pepper constituted a standing joke among his intimate friends. He had the faculty of going to sleep at will and waking up when he wished. He would sometimes when under a mental strain keep a roomful of patients waiting while he slept soundly in his private office for three minutes or five minutes, or as long as his duties demanded. Then he would resume his duties greatly refreshed.

Another prominent physician has a queer habit of napping, although he only takes one a day and that directly after luncheon, which with him is a hearty meal. He repairs to his office and throws himself in a chair at a point where the polished wood floor is not covered by the rug. He holds a bunch of keys between the forefinger and thumb of his right hand, which is allowed to hang loosely over the arm of the chair. Then he dozes off, but it is never more than a doze, for the moment his fingers relax the keys drop to the bare floor, acting as an alarm clock. It is scarcely a nap—just a brief relaxation of the mental and bodily faculties. The doctor calls it his siesta, and if he misses it he says he doesn't feel quite himself for the rest of the day.—Philadelphia Record.

May Know Too Much.

"Do women who have had the advantage of advanced education make good wives?" asked the bachelor thoughtfully.

"At this benedict took him to one side, where he could speak confidentially.

"If you ever marry," he said, "and find occasion to frame up a real good excuse for a protracted session at the club, you will discover that it is possible for a woman to know too much."—Chicago Post.

Scrofula

THE OFFSPRING OF HEREDITARY BLOOD TAIN.

Scrofula is but a modified form of Blood Poison and Consumption. The parent who is tainted by either will see in the child the same disease manifesting itself in the form of swollen glands of the neck and throat, catarrh, weak eyes, offensive sores and abscesses and other ailments while swelling—sure signs of Scrofula. There may be no external signs for a long time, for the disease develops slowly in some cases, but the poison is in the blood and will break out at the first favorable opportunity. S. S. S. cures this wasting, destructive disease by first purifying and building up the blood and stimulating and invigorating the whole system.

J. M. Beck's 115 Public Square, Nashville, Tenn., says: "Ten years ago my daughter fell and cut her forehead. From this wound the glands on the side of her face became swollen and burst. Some of the best doctors here and elsewhere attended her without any benefit. We decided to try S. S. S., and a few bottles cured her entirely."

S. S. S. makes new and pure blood to nourish and strengthen the body and is a positive and safe cure for Scrofula. It overcomes all forms of blood poison, whether inherited or acquired, and no remedy so thoroughly and effectively cleanses the blood. If you have any blood trouble, or your child has inherited some blood taint, take S. S. S. and get the blood in good condition and prevent the disease doing further damage.

He is certainly a splendid type of the Percheron family, being only three years old yet weighing a ton, and is an animal with splendid action and abundance of life and good disposition. We believe that in Colmar we are offering to the breeders of this section of the state of Nebraska a horse they will appreciate and we have faith to believe that he will prove himself a noble sire.
