Homestead: It looks hot along the fence rows and one feels as if he had better let the tall weeds grow there since they are not in the way of the crops. Mow them down before they go to seed and soon there will be but few of them to mow. The tenant who will not mow the fence rows had better get ready to move.

Nonfolk Times Tribune: The students of the Wayne college have none but words of praise for that institution; there is no snobbery or nonsense allowed about the place, no hampering red tape rules or regulations, by which those who are bright and progressive are held back and discouraged, no favor of distinction shown anyone because they happen to be the son or daughter of so and so, no 400 set into which the humblest may not be admitted. From the President down thro' all the list of employees all take special pains to make every student feel at home and happy. These are some of the reasons why all of the students are at their best at all times and doing their best work. President Pile and his estimable wife are both untiring workers in the cause of education and they infuse their spirit of industry and enthusiasm into every member of the institution as well as the students. No young man or young woman can pass through a course of study at that college without having their ideas quickened. Their aspirations for acquiring knowledge increased and their mental faculties strengthened, and that without the affection and snobbery which is too often the result of attending many of the so-called higher institutions of learning. We say this about the Wayne college because we believe it to be true and because we believe it to be not only a safe place to send our boys and girls to acquire their knowledge but the place where they will get the most good for the money invested.

A letter from Mrs. William Miller, dated at Cheban, Wash., June 35, 1901, to a Wayne county friend, is partly as follows: "I received your letter and was so glad to hear from you again. Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Helen and Nellie came home with Mr. Miller Saturday evening and stayed until Monday morning and we all had a good visit. Mr. Russell is well again. He was quite sick with liver trouble and was in bed a few days. We have two good doctors here now. Mrs. Russell was tired and about sick when they came but after resting she has been better than usual. She told me the children were all real well and none of them have been sick. Mr. Richards has a nice little business in the restaurant. Mrs. Benson is real well. Dook Russell got a place at Wanatstein in the depot. They like him and he is doing nicely. Mr. Russell has told you, I suppose, that he is a land agent. They all seem to like it here. I think they might have got home sick at times but have not had the least idea of going back. They report we are going to have a rail road. If we do nobody will want to leave for this is a fine place to live. I forgot to tell you that Myrtle Benson had been elected as teacher in the Primary part of the Obelan schools for next year beginning next October. Pearl stays at home with us as I can not walk, only with help. We had 28 quarts of strawberries so far and will have lots of raspberries and black berries and have a good many cherries, 11 trees quite full but they are only four years old. Mr. and Mrs. Benson were up over Sunday once. He has taken a place with lots of timber. I hope you will not believe everything you hear about us for it is not true."

THE FIRE FIEND.

Sunday afternoon as the sun's rays beat down on humanity in a manner that caused oceans of sweat, the siren sang of the fire whistle burst forth to warn a languishing people of Wayne, that there was still a hotter place not far away. In some manner a blaze started in a pile of rubbish near the alley just north of Olmsted's ware house which was soon communicated to an out house, then a small barn and soon the interior of the ware rooms of E. P. Olmsted's hardware and implement establishment. An alarm was given but owing to the dryness of everything and a stiff gale the fire got under pretty good headway, but the fire lads were soon on the scene and they did the city proud, for in a remarkable short time they had the fire under control and confined it to the ware rooms. About 10 gallons of gasoline was in a tank close to the back door of the brick part of the store, but fortunately it did not explode although the soldering had melted on the top of the tank. Had it exploded this story might have read different today. But the boys fought the fire with an energy that would have won praise from veteran fireman. The implement house of J. W. McGinty caught fire but was promptly extinguished before a great deal of damage was done. The buggies and some machinery were removed from the building but Mr. Olmsted estimates his loss at $2,500, wholly insured. The loss to buildings owned by Robt. Mellor is estimated to be from five to eight hundred dollars. Diving the fire H. O'Connell and Gen. Stinger were overcome with heat but soon recovered.

Homestead: A guarantee on some things and from some men is not worth much. A friend of mine bought a vehicle that was warranted for a year. It was not warranted hot to break, but it was warranted to be made of good material and any giving away of the parts occasioned by poor material or workmanship was to be made good inside of twelve months. One of the wheels gave way and he went back to the dealer, who sent it to the factory. The manufacturer said the guarantee on the vehicle was one year from the time it was sold to the dealer, and the time had long since expired. Of course the dealer would not stand for it. This is a new catch in a guarantee.

The Conservative is gratified because of the general interest manifested by the press of the state in the road question. It is generally conceded that the common roadways of Nebraska are too wide. An ordinary road by our law is sixty-six feet in width. Passing for a half mile between two quarter sections it takes thirty-three feet each quarter. That is to say, it takes four acres for a highway for a half mile. This area ought to be reduced to two acres. Sixteen and one-half feet of each quarter section on either side of the road, instead of thirty-three feet would reduce the thoroughfare to a practical breadth. This would preclude the weed culture along the roadside. If, however, a law cannot be passed which shall permit the county commissioners of each county to sell sixteen and one-half feet an either side of the road to adjacent owners, then there ought to be a law which shall compel the planting of the trees for at least sixteen and one-half feet on each side of every road in the state of Nebraska. It is a wicked waste of valuable fertile soil—two acres to each half mile—under our present road system.—Conservative.

A. B. Kittredge of Sioux Falls has been appointed by Governor Herrick to fill the vacancy occurring by the death of United States Senator Kyle.

It is mid winter down where the Hoers are making things lively for the British. That's some consolation when the hot weather of the past week is taken into consideration.

A Supreme Judge and two regents is the number of state officials to elect this fall, but nevertheless the republicans should put forth their best efforts to win in the contest.

Fifty-four plants are closed and 74,000 steel workers idle on account of the strikes in the mills of the American Tin Plate Company, American Steel Wheel Company and American Sheet Steel Company.

David B. Hill admits his candidacy for the presidency in 1904, but one William Jennings Bryan is anti-David, making it a sure thing for the G. O. P. four years hence, although it was a sure thing anyhow.

The Ohio Democracy is going to see what it can do in the way of doing without William Jennings Bryan, and its method of doing so is one that will not commend itself to William Jennings Bryan's advertising agent.

Wm. Wheeler sold the Wakefield Republican last Thursday to F. L. Shoop, of Parker S. D. Mr. Wheeler has been editor of that paper since 1890. Mr. Shoop is an experienced newspaperman. The paper will continue to be republican in politics.

Last week the thermometer was having all kinds of fun with itself, trotting every day in about the swiftest heats known to mankind. In fact the human race, with one accord, agreed that the thermometer was always in first at the finish in the hottest race of the season.

The prognosticator of fusion politics is having a difficult time solving the present condition of that organization. They are at sea and their beloved Bryan is very much in the same sea since the passage of the resolutions by the Ohio Democratic state convention, and Dave Hill smiles a beautiful smile.

Ex-state treasurer Joseph Bartley has been granted his liberty from the state penitentiary on a 60 day parole by order of Governor Savage, who intimates that if the exacting conditions imposed on the paroled embezzler are fulfilled they will fully justify his actions and meet with the approval of tax-paying citizens of Nebraska. For the best reasons, the republican press of Nebraska will hope the Governor is right.

Governor Savage is up to date and is one of the people nowad henceforth. He has adopted, or rather introduced, the new and approved idea of modern times, and made a Fourth of July oration at Columbus in just twelve minutes. Put him down as the next Governor of Nebraska by fifteen thousand. The Governor's style strikes a responsive chord in the hearts of a starchy and chauvinistic people.

Here is populist logic for you! Why not ask the Nebraska farmers to explain how it comes that eggs get hard or the longer they are boiled, while all other substances expand by heating? Will they reach a melting point? Would it not be much more pertinent for the chief exponent of populism to explain to Nebraska farmers why their products sell at high prices for gold standard money in spite of the fact that we have no free coinage and silver is not for the mints at the ratio of 30 to 1.—Bee.

The attention of Governor Savage of Nebraska, was directed to the bull fighting at South Omaha. The governor went there to see it for himself. He says the protests are ridiculous. "There is no bull fighting in South Omaha," says the governor. The most brutal thing he saw was when a gorilla arrayed individual threw a spear over a bull's horns and brushed away the flies. In the exhibition he witnessed, represented as a fair sample, there was no brutality, no cruelty, nothing degrading and not a particle of danger for man or beast. "Why," said the governor, growing animated, "I wouldn't hesitate to enter that arena and with a feather duster shoo the flies off any one of those bulls."—Sioux City Journal.

When we consider how the treasury of the United States contained $77,000,000 surplus at the end of the fiscal year, June 30th, it is realized how utterly false was the declaration of anti-republicans that the revenues of the country would fall short of requirements. It is true the demands were excessive. The war expenditures ran high. Pension appropriations were very large. Rivers and harbors were liberally treated. Postal affairs needed $110,000,000. To those who really entertained a wish the country might run in a hole, that condition seemed highly probable. But there was such a healthy and healthful condition of trade that revenues ran high. Revenue measures were fully as productive of good results as their authors had reason to expect. Therefore a surplus of $77,000,000. Therefore, whether for the sixteenth time, complete refutation of the democratic prophecies of evil.

Obligations. Parents who are constantly finding fault with their sons and daughters because of their non-recognition of their filial duties are generally themselves to blame. Every man and woman holding the office of parent ought to realize the fact that children are drafted into the battle of life by volunteers, not as conscripts. The fathers and mothers of the land are responsible for the existence of the children, and the obligation is largely upon the parents to so develop, physically and mentally, those children as to make them good citizens. Under our modern school system, the duties of parenthood are very much lessened apparently by the attempt of the state to act as parent general for all families. Thus the common school system, together with the purchase of the textbooks for pupils, has in a manner, released the fathers and mothers of the country from a natural duty and obligation.

The common-school system of the United States ought to be amended so that only those should be schooled at the public expense whose parents will declare under oath that they are unable to pay for the education of their offspring. There is too little cooperation between parents and teachers. The latter are paid out of the general fund and the former are unopposed to having any responsibility either towards paying, or co-operating with the latter. That which costs nothing in this world is not esteemed. Education has been made so cheap that there is nothing cheaper to be found than the cheap common-school system of the country. It needs revision.—Conservative.

Why Bryan Lost 100,000 Votes.

The State of Colorado is inevitably associated in the mind with mining, and there are not a few people who think that that is the only industry in the State. Such is decidedly not the case, however. Colorado is a great fruit and vegetable raising State, as well as a great mining State, and it has been estimated that the agricultural products of the State equal in value each year the value of the output of the mines. The products are not raised for export, and the prosperity of the agricultural interests in Colorado is absolutely dependent on the home market. It is of vital importance, therefore, to the people of the State that the home market be a good market. In view of this situation, then, it is not at all surprising that Mr. Bryan's majority in the State in 1900 was a hundred thousand less than his majority in 1896. President McKinley stood, as he stands now, for the policy of protecting the American market by making foreign producers pay a price to enter it. Under that policy mills are running overtime. Factories are crowded with orders, workmen are earning good wages and have plenty of money to spend for the products of American fields and farms. Colorado has gone after strange roads in the last two presidential campaigns, but there seems to be little doubt that the next four years will continue the good work which has been begun and that 1904 will find the State again following along in the straight and narrow way which leads to Protection and prosperity.—Economist.

A Courteous Campaign.

The Ohio campaign promises to be entirely courteous and amiable, so far as the republican and democratic candidates for governor are concerned. Governor Nash and Colonel Kilbourne are warm friends and each speaks in the highest terms of the other. Nash says that he and his democratic opponent always agreed in everything but politics and declares that he always entertained for him the highest respect and personal regard. There will be none of what they call "personalities" in the campaign, says Governor Nash. Colonel Kilbourne is not less cordial in his expressions of friendship for the republican candidate. "I regard Governor Nash as a man of the highest character," he said, "with an honest purpose in both official and private life. Whatever he does is always in the belief that he is right. Neither the campaign nor the election can in any degree modify the personal attitude we have always maintained toward one another."

This is as it should be. Political campaigns in Ohio in recent years have not been characterized by the personalities which were common at an earlier time, so that the one of this year will not in this respect be a departure, yet it is pleasing to know that the candidates for chief executive of that state will discuss each other's claims to the confidence and support of the people in a thoroughly friendly spirit. It will be a wholesome example.

While political zeal is not less ardent now than in former years, there is not so much of asperity and bitterness in our political contests, and there is no question that the change is for the better. The parties in Ohio will not be less active and aggressive because the candidates are good friends whose respect for each other's character will not permit them to indulge in deprecatory remarks.—Bee.

A. O. U. W. and D. of H. Picnic.

The Third Annual Picnic of the Northeast Nebraska A. O. U. W. and D. of H. Picnic Association will be held at Hartington, Neb., August 13 1901. The committees having in charge the preparations for this important event have been actively at work for several weeks and arrangements for an interesting and attractive program are rapidly being completed. Already we can promise a special train from Sioux City connecting at Wakefield with Norfolk and intermediate points. The excursion rate though not yet announced will be a low one.

Grand Master Workman Jaskalek has promised to be with us and we also have the assurance of an address by Deputy Grand Master Workman O. J. Vanduyke. Members of the A. O. U. W. and D. of H. and all others are most cordially invited to come to the picnic for a day of recreation and pleasure.

Newspaper Enterprise.

During the six weeks preceding and the one week the Modern Workmen national convention was in session in St. Paul, Minn., the St. Paul and Minneapolis papers devoted altogether over 150 pages of interesting reading matter to the society and its affairs. The convention, it is freely admitted, was given all the newspaper mention its importance demanded. In addition, the featuring of the society was splendid advertisement. Figuring on 150 pages of advertising at $300 per page—a very reasonable figure—and the press of St. Paul and Minneapolis presented the Woodman with the equivalent of $45,000 cash.

The newspaper press of Kansas City where the national convention was held in 1899, did not give the society any mention, comparatively speaking. About 20 pages, all told, was filled in and incidental advertising value $6000 would more than fill the bill. At the same time, he it said, the press of Kansas City gave more attention to the Woodman than had ever previously been given the society.

One particularly pleasing feature of the St. Paul and Minneapolis newspaper reports of the convention was the out work. Half-tones were used almost exclusively and the different papers must have expended $2,000 or $3,000 in preparing for this feature alone.

Market Reports. July 27, 1901.

The dry weather has been the most important factor in the market the past week, causing liberal receipts at all points of both cattle and hogs and market is demoralized.

The best thoroughly finished steers are scarce and wanted at a little lower price but beginning with the secondary grades and down there has been a decline that is hard to describe. Sales have been from 30 to 50c lower than a week ago. Cows and butcher stock in liberal supply and as compared with a week ago prices are from 50 to 75c lower except on the best grades which are only about a quarter off. Receipt of stock cattle heavy and a good many stale cattle in the yards making little chance for improvement. Country buyers are slow to take hold owing to uncertain condition of crops and prices are 75c to $1.00 lower than week ago.

Hog receipts the heaviest in seven years and situation bearish. The decline in the past five days has amounted to nearly 40c. Today with nearly 14,000 on sale market opened 10c lower but closed a little better. Range is from $5.40 to $5.75 with bulk of sales $5.55 to $5.60. Prospects are not flattering for balance of week.

Sheep have not suffered the decline at this point like other stock owing mostly to the limited receipts but that are from 15 to 25c lower than a week ago.

The Galloping White Hears.

It was in the dark of the evening, and the streets were thronged with men and women on their way home at the end of the day's work. At Thirty-fourth street, where Broadway and Sixth avenue cross with a network of tracks, the usual platoon of gongs, the shouts of newsboys and the roar of the elevated trains filled the air, while myriad electric lights sparkled like so many stars.

Suddenly out of the gloom came a little white hearse, being driven rapidly home. Its sad day's work was over, and the little horses were probably anxious for their dinner. Still it gave one a shock to see them galloping so. Even more pathetic it looked when they came than with its precious little burden. The very emptiness spoke of the vacant little chair at home, the unused toys, the unworn frocks folded away for some woman to cry over on a rainy day.

Fathers hurrying home to their own little ones felt a sudden lump in the throat, mothers leading their children grasped the little hands with a quick access of tenderness, and a strange, sad sense of loneliness came to the heart of the passerby who had no child to lose. Just a little white hearse, seen only for a moment in the gathering darkness by the hurrying throng, but what a world of pathos it suggested.—New York Mail and Express.

Artificial Legs.

The most lifelike and serviceable artificial legs in the world are manufactured in America. Enormous quantities of these limbs are shipped to Europe every year.

The first great boom in the artificial leg business was brought about by the civil war. Since that time railroad and trolley car accidents have kept up an ever increasing demand. Another factor has been the general use of antiseptics. The mortality among those who have their legs amputated is far less than formerly, and a large proportion of the survivors become patrons of the wooden leg factories.

The old fashioned peg leg is practically a thing of the past. The modern artificial leg shows a great advance over the old forms. Every improvement has been with the idea of greater simplicity.

The main object of the manufacturer is to improve the fit of the legs. The best models now cost $100. It costs from $35 to $25 a year to keep one of these in order.

Few women wear artificial legs. On the other hand, it is becoming more common to fit limbs to children. Legs are made for children sometimes before they can walk. They are fitted as soon as the child learns to stand and make it possible for it to develop symmetrically.

Where Was the Swindler?

"Ethel," said Lionel Bertram Jones as he dropped his slice of bread in the plate with a noise that set the canopy in the gilt cage overhead chirping merrily. "Ethel, I have something to say to you."

They had been married only four weeks, and the time had not arrived when she did all the saying.

"Do you remember the day on which I proposed to you?"

"Yes," she replied. "I will never forget it."

"Do you remember," he went on as he abstractedly drilled a hole in the loaf with the point of a carving knife, "how when I rung the bell you came to the door with your fingers sticky, with dough and salt you thought it was your little brother who wanted to get lit?"

"Yes."

"Oh, Ethel! How could you? How could you?"

"How could I what?" she responded as a guilty look crept into her face.

"How could you make me the victim of such a swindle?"—London Tit-Bits.

Excursion Rates to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

It was said when the World's Fair closed that this country would not see its equal in fifty years. In all that the space occupied, however, the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo this year will excel the great show of '93. This means that more can be seen in the same length of time at the Pan-American, and with less fatigue and weariness that was unavoidable at the World's Fair.

The exhibits will be varied, interesting and instructive, and the improvement in their selection and the manner in which they are displayed, due to the experience gained by exhibitors at the recent great Expositions, will be very noticeable. In the variety, quality, novelty and number of its entertainment features, the Buffalo Exposition will surpass all others.

There are different rates for tickets with these different limits, and if you expect to visit Buffalo, and will send your address to the undersigned, the rates now in effect will be quoted you, and you will be kept advised of any changes.

An artistic booklet, beautifully illustrated and giving a concise description of this great Exposition, will be mailed free to all inquirers.

It would take a different fellow than a Philadelphia lawyer to tell just what the real condition of and the prospects for crops really is, judging from the various reports gleaned from the farmers and others who have been out through the county. Therefore, for the present, there is nothing to do but wait and see. Republican: Will Sears received the sad news on Saturday of a very painful accident happening to his brother, Frank A. at Omaha, in which the latter lost a foot. It seems the gentleman was crossing the tracks of the Missouri Pacific at the point named on a bicycle and in some way or other was thrown from his wheel in front of an approaching freight and before he could get out of the way was run over and his left foot mangled in such a manner as to necessitate amputation.

Frank is a member of Beach & Bowers' orchestra and had an enjoyable visit with his parents while here. He went to Norfolk Tuesday morning to continue on the road with the show. Rev. Shirey of South Bend, Indiana, preached at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning and evening, and although the attendance was small in the morning, those present were privileged to listen to an eloquent and decidedly interesting sermon by an able minister—is our opinion. Rev. Shirey occupies the same pulpit next Sunday. "It is only a week since Nebraska had a good soaking rain," says the Fremont Tribune, "yet for days people have been sounding the alarm and shaking their heads and muttering about a probable drought and saying if this hot weather keeps up forever there'll be no corn, and the devil will be to pay. When Mr. Bryan was in congress he a speech showing by what narrow margins great events in history have taken place; how a vote here and a slight change there would reverse the order of events. When he was unreeling his peroration Tom Reed arose. In his squeaky voice he said 'I'd like to ask the gentleman from Nebraska a question.' 'Certainly!' said Mr. Bryan, stopping for breath. 'Do I understand the gentleman to say,' continued Reed, 'that if things had been otherwise they would have been different?' The house fell down and Mr. Bryan roared with the rest. The Nebraska farmer is a great fellow to have things otherwise, but they are seldom different, just the same; nearly always the same kind of a bumper crop (Nevertheless it is a nice thing to have good rains during a drought.)"

A good five room house to rent. Call on E. R. Surber. Mrs. Wm. Vincent goes to Glidden, Iowa, tomorrow, for a visit with her daughter. Halle Bonn, who has been visiting with Mrs. H. S. Welch returned home to Osceola this morning. The potato crop does not promise to be larger than ever before, but there is a surplus of hay round here. A large amount of binding twine has been going into the country the past few days and harvesting has begun. A nice rain fell early this morning freshening up vegetation and doing considerable good to the corn crop in this vicinity. Roy Surber not only writes your insurance but he will adjust your loss. He doesn't have to wait 60 days for a special agent. Omaha will hold a big carnival Akarben week in September. It is to be a big event without any of the bull fight attachments. L. L. Lush returned home from Kansas Friday, where he had been summoned on account of the illness of a brother, who died on Wednesday. Attorney Geo. Wiltse of Randolph, was in the city yesterday afternoon on his way home from the Black Hills, where he and other Randolph friends had been on a fishing trip. A merry-go-round has located on the Orout and Fisher lots west of Roe & Fortner's meat market, and the youngsters are having a merry good time. It was well patronized last evening. The drought in Kansas and the southwest part of this state is broken. Heavy rains fell there yesterday afternoon and a corn yield of not less than 50,000,000 bushels is assured. Fremont Tribune: The newspaper men of Custer county have formed an organization, one of the purposes of which is to quit cutting the liver and living out of each other in rates. Mrs. Parker, who has been visiting here for some time with her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Pingrey, went to Hayward, Iowa, yesterday to visit for a few days before returning to Colorado. Denver Post: The Baptists and Methodists of Missouri are praying for rain and when the precipitation begins to descend it is feared there may be a live-ly denominational chime first caught the eye of the supreme speaker. S. E. Auker, who has just returned from a three weeks' trip, says that in several counties in the southern part of the state the crops are practically gone, spring wheat, all gone or shriveled up and corn yellow and drying up. He says this country looks like a Garden of Eden in comparison with considerable of the southern part of the state. Pender New Era: We had the pleasure of witnessing a few hours' work in the recitation rooms of the Wayne Normal last Monday, and found excellent work being done, despite the hot weather. Wayne college has an efficient corps of instructors and its attendance is the largest in the history of the school. We heartily recommend it to anyone seeking a normal education. New cement walks will be laid by J. T. Bressler in front of the post office and Harrington's clothing store. The cement walk has proven to be the best that can be constructed and should be put in front of every business house in town, for they are much the cheapest in the long run, in addition to adding much to the appearance of the business part of the city. No one in Wayne has done more towards building up and making substantial and permanent improvements than has Mr. Bressler. Wakefield Republican: Wheat is ripening fast this week and some of the fields of wheat and barley are about ready to cut. The weather has been reasonable for all kinds of grain to mature well. With a week to ten days more of good weather, Dixon and Wayne counties will harvest the largest grain crop in history; quality and price on the market also good. A good many fields of winter wheat in Dixon county are now safely in shock, secure from hot winds. The yield is estimated all the way from 35 to 40 bushels per acre. A larger amount of winter wheat was raised here this year than for several years. If the thrasher tally justifies the present estimate more will be raised another season than there was this. Last Saturday night Frank Kruger had one W. S. Lane of Wakefield, arrested on a charge of gambling, both having been playing a game of cards. The plaintiff went to Judge Hunter and had papers made out for the arrest as above stated. The sheriff soon had his man who, demanded a hearing at once or bail, as he was on his way and did not propose to be put in jail. He accompanied the sheriff to Judge Hunter's, who got up and made out the appearance bond, though he had no official notice of the arrest of the prisoner. They then left to get the bond signed. On the way up town they met Kruger, who called Lane to one side and talked with him. In a short time after, the complaining witness called on Judge Hunter at his residence and requested to withdraw his complaint. There was no court held nor was the Judge at his office, and he could not do otherwise than he did, Sunday or no Sunday, as Kruger paid what costs had occurred as a result of the arrest. If there is any explanation to make, Mr. Kruger is the man to explain. Nebraska has a good many laws that were passed by the legislature on Sunday, though the clock's hands had been turned back again and again. The attack on the Judge by our contemporary seems wholly unwarranted. Can there be a motive back of it?

F. A. Dearborn and Carl Burdick went to Norfolk this morning. C. O. Fisher is building a cement walk along the south side of his residence property. The hot weather spell seems to be broken at last, a thing suffering humanity will greatly appreciate. Mrs. McLeod, who has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. M. A. Spears, returned to David City this morning. The chirruping of new born chicks among a chaos of boxes, crates and barrels was one of the incidents that broke in upon the monotony of life at the Northwestern depot Wednesday afternoon. It would be difficult to conceive of a less favorable place for a foul of tender years. It was a wilderness of bales, box cars, trunks, smells and noises; no baby chick could legitimately be within half a mile, still there was the faint "peep, peep, peep," of a newly hatched chicken. Work was suspended for the time being, while foreman and gang searched for the "nest." The quest was in vain. As near as the employees could tell the noise came from a barrel, full of a commodity warranted to be "genuine older vinegar." Meanwhile Charles Oline, a delivery clerk, had been handling a truck laden with cases of eggs. Suddenly he cried "I've got it!" Everyone ran to see what he had and Oline began ripping madly at the boxing of the top case. The slats torn away, he carefully removed layer after layer of the thirty dozen specimens of hen fruit within. As he pulled away the pasteboard that covered the very bottom strata in one compartment of the case four husky little buff chickens came to view, standing each in its small cardboard square where the egg it had recently discarded had been originally placed. The broken shells were crushed down under tiny feet. Three of the birds were but just out of the shell, while the other was big in the starved pride of a two days' hungry growth. As soon as the sunlight struck them for the first time in their lives the chicks started up their chirp again and with vigor and began to grow combs at once. This curious hatching aroused the greatest interest and curiosity about the freight house, a similar case having never been known. The eggs were shipped from Phoenix, in Dixon county, Neb., to Omaha a few days ago, and were unloaded here yesterday. That the warm weather alone could have caused the incubation seems improbable, and the most likely theory is that the eggs were removed from under a hen when she had been sitting on them two weeks or more and were shipped directly here. The chickens would then have already had a good start, and the 101 degree weather, which is just the heat required for incubation, did the rest. One might man, however, is firm in a belief that Old Sol did it all and says he will shortly start a crate of unset eggs on a ten days' trip to the south and back to see what results may be accomplished along the line. All four of yesterday's featherless wonders found eager owners to claim them. FOR SALE. No. 1.—Good 8-room house, fine location, well finished. $2000. No. 2.—Good 6-room cottage and large barn, 75 foot lot. $1875. No. 3.—Good 5-room house and lot, house new. $1300. No. 4.—Good improved, 160 acre farm 6 miles from Laurel, 10 miles from Wayne, at $5500. A bargain. No. 5.—Ranch of 640 acres in Boyd county, good buildings. $10 per acre. Dozens of other good bargains for people who mean business. E. R. SURBER. COLLEGE. J. B. Cash, of Elk City, and an alumnae of the class of 1900, is the latest to register for work this term. Misses Claybaugh and Richardson, two of Wayne county's successful teachers, renewed acquaintances at the college Wednesday. Editor Fennell of the Pender New Era, ex-county superintendent of Thurston county, "did" the College Monday. The New Era will tell the rest. The new dormitory now only awaits the interior work of the carpenters for completion, the plastering, exterior painting and walk laying having been finished this week. Miss Mohler of Columbus, finds it necessary to go home on account of examination this week. She is an excellent student and will be missed by students and teachers. Rev. Ringer conducted chapel exercises Wednesday morning and was followed in a wholesome and helpful talk by Rev. Shirey, the candidate for the Presbyterian pulpit in this city. About once in two years a member of the board of trustees of the N. N. O. makes a visit to the college. Such an event occurred Wednesday when J. A. L. Tucker dropped around for chapel exercises. He was accompanied by A. J. Ferguson, and both made excellent talks to the students. Come again gentlemen. On account of the literary contest to be held Saturday night there will be no regular meeting of the literary society on Friday, but an ice cream social will be held on the college lawn instead. Students have been not a little in evidence in similar social functions recently given in the city, and reciprocity on the part of Wayne citizens on this occasion would be in harmony with the spirit of present political tendencies. Home Recommendations. Another chapter has been added to the large book of the well pleased patients of Dr. J. C. Clark, eye specialist from Sioux City. Mrs. D. S. McVicker, the wife of one of our well known and responsible business men, says: "I had suffered with eye trouble for a number of years, my eyes were red, swollen, inflamed and I could not maintain vision without my eyes watering and my head aching. I have been to a number of persons who claimed to understand the eye, and have had glasses fitted several times, and my eyes got gradually worse. I consulted Dr. J. C. Clark in April last and he assured me he could furnish me with glasses that would relieve my trouble. I had previously been imposed upon so many times that I was somewhat afraid, but Dr. Clark had been coming to Wayne for a number of years and I had heard him highly recommended. So I employed him to take my case and my eyes began to get better from the start and are apparently well now, and with the use of my glasses I have perfect vision and can read, sew or do any kind of work with perfect comfort." Miss Dickson, refined and respected young lady of Wayne, says: "I have had eye trouble for years and have worn glasses, but my eyes would become red and swollen in the lids and irritated me greatly. I consulted Dr. J. C. Clark of Sioux City and he told me the whole trouble was because my glasses did not fit and I had him fit me with a pair and my eyes are better and I can do my work very much easier. The swollen condition of the lids and redness have entirely disappeared." Such recommendations as the above certainly reflect credit. Dr. J. C. Clark of Sioux City has made regular visits to Wayne for the last three years and his practice here has grown to a wonderful size, but that is easily accounted for. His patients all recommend him. The Dr. guarantees all his work to give perfect satisfaction. His next visit to Wayne will be July 29.

The general social religious movement was started in Portland, Me., twenty years ago. The Rev. Francis E. Clark, pastor of the Congregational church in Portland, was its originator.

The better element in the modern industrial development of vast cities has been anticipated in these young people.

The Chicago City Council has adjourned to Sept. 23. Three large steel mills, Balboa, Spain, will consolidate.

TEMPERATURE GOES TO 102.

All Records for Heat in Chicago.

Wednesday was the hottest day Chicago ever experienced. The thermometer in the Auditorium tower registered 102.3 degrees at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the highest previous maximum temperature being made on July 16, 1887, when 99.8 degrees was registered, but which went into the printed record as 100 degrees.

One of the features of the day's heat was the wind that blew over the highest prairies of Illinois and Iowa. It started at a ten-mile gait at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the mercury began to climb at the rate of 3 to 4 degrees an hour.

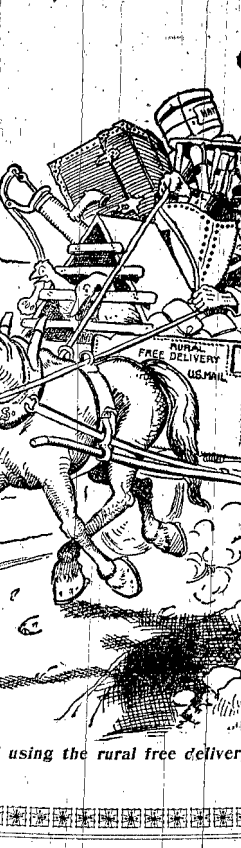

The hot wave Wednesday extended over Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio and part of Michigan. The highest temperature recorded during the day was 104 degrees at Dubuque, Des Moines and Keosauqua.

According to the estimates of these officials, it is claimed that the two Dakotas and Minnesota alone will harvest between 185,000,000 and 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, against 170,000,000 bushels last year.

There is some talk of using the rural free delivery for merchandise also.

During the recent hot spell city harness dealers were unable to keep enough horse sunbonnets on hand to supply the demand.

According to the secretary of the Missouri Humane Society, the horse sunbottle has my approval. It is a humane instrument, and every horse owner who cares for the comfort of the animal should procure one.

WEST PRAYS FOR RAIN.

Farmers of the Great West and Corn Belt See Crops Withering.

The people of the middle West are praying for rain. They are praying simply and for the good of the crops.

The only way the farmers now hope to save their crops is to have a heavy rain. Kansas is burning up. In 50 per cent of the counties the crops are entirely ruined.

A communication was sent from Marion to Gov. A. M. Dockery of Missouri, asking that he set apart a day in the immediate future, prohibiting a day of hunting and prayer, requesting every one to move to the fields and pray for rain.

The suggestion for fasting and prayer was made by the Rev. George W. Sharp, a well-known preacher of North Missouri, who is pastor of the Methodist church in the town of Kirksville.

The Rev. Mr. Sharp is confident that this is the appropriate thing to do to secure relief in time.

OVERBURDENED.

The Egyptian woman looks greatly overburdened, and yet the physical burdens she carries will not compare with the burdens borne by many an American woman. There is no burden like the burden of disease. The woman who suffers from inflammation of ulceration, bearing-down pains, weak back and nervousness, bears a burden which crushes her very life.

Every woman should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures the womanly diseases which cause weakness and feebleness. It quiets the nerves, cures the aching head and throbbing heart, and gives strength for wifely cares and maternal duties.

"When I first wrote to you I was in a bad condition, and had almost given up," says Mrs. Della Shiner, of Wilkesville, Winton Co., Ohio. "I was suffering from female trouble of the worst kind; I couldn't eat anything without suffering great distress; throat hurt me by spells; I was nervous and weak. Had numb hands and arms, heart trouble, pains all through my body and aching head and neck. It seemed that I could not work at all. I got Dr. Pierce's medicine and took it as directed, and the first week I began to feel better. I took three bottles and am glad to say that it did me more good than all the other medicine I ever took. I feel better than I have for years."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth bound volume is desired, send 51 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"A Bird in the Hand is Worth Two in the Bush."
(A Fable.)

Once upon a time there was a beautiful woman. She was the belle of the town and all the young men were dead struck on her says the Western Economist.

She could have her pick for a husband, but she was a wise girl and knew a thing or two.

So when a suitor proposed, she would say:

"How many lodges do you belong to? I am afraid you will be out nights too much attending lodge."

And the youth would then respond: "Have no fear. I don't belong to a single society, and I promise you I never will so long as I live."

Then she would respond: "My dear boy, I will take your case under advisement and let you know in a few days."

Then in a few days the youth would receive a highly scented missive, in pink envelope addressed in latest style of perpendicular orthography which he would open with trembling hands, only to learn that the fair maiden promised to be a sister to him the remainder of his born days.

And in this way the beautiful and smart young lady soon had more brothers on her string than any girl in town.

But one day she got a different answer, and her fate was sealed. Also his.

When she asked this young man if he now, or in the future, did or ever would join any secret lodge society and stay out late at nights, he replied:

"You bet your life! I belong to the A. O. U. W., the Wild and Woolly Choppers, the Modern Woodmen, the Royal Bunkers, the Busy Bumble Bee Boys, The United Order of Hoodoos, and the Knights of the Golden Opportunity. I attend one of these lodges every night in the week, and when I am taken away by the cruel hand of disease they will, jointly and severally, pay to my weeping widow $25,000 and a tombstone. Besides they will all come out to my funeral with a brass band and wear spangled regalia and—"

"Say no more!" exclaimed the overjoyed damsel. "You are the huckleberry I have so long waited for. Come to my arms."

And he came.

Dr. Geo. Ewing, a practicing physician of Smith's Grove, Ky., for over thirty years writes his personal experience with Foley's Kidney Cure. "For four years I have been greatly bothered with kidney trouble and enlarged prostate gland. I used everything known to the profession without relief, until I was induced to use Foley's Cure. After using three bottles I was entirely relieved and cured. I prescribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles, for I can honestly state I have prescribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success. NAPOLÉON'S WISDOM.

THE GREAT GENERAL UNDERSTOOD THE VALUE OF DISCUSSION.

It Does for the Brain What Exercise Does for the Muscles—The Mighty Corsican's Ideas on Religion and the First Great Cause.

Man exercises his muscles to improve them. He competes muscularly with his fellows, and rivalry of muscle ends in muscular improvement all around.

What exercise does for the muscles discussion does for the brain.

The importance of discussion Napoleon appreciated thoroughly.

And when he discussed, he discussed like a big man, selecting questions to exhaust the mind and lead far away into fields of conjecture and widest speculation.

His was no dreamer's brain, giving to speculation the time needed for doing. First came the real work of the day or hour—the planning and finishing of details, from the disposing of army corps to the smallest final arrangements.

Then, free from actual work, seeking relief from concentrated application, his brain sought rest in talk worth while.

On his voyage to Egypt, determined to waste no time, he organized serious discussion as methodically as he ever organized a fighting plan.

The discussions were regularly appointed affairs.

Needless to say, Napoleon arranged everything and controlled everything.

He selected the subject for discussion, he chose the three or four on each side to support and oppose any given proposition.

These were his favorite topics: First, the art of war; second, the art of government; third, religion.

From his point of view his chief subjects for discussion were admirably chosen. They represented the only two things he cared for here below and the final question affecting his fate hereafter.

But his field of thought, like the scope of his ambition, was unlimited.

Once he asked his chosen debaters to decide whether the planets are inhabited.

Again, he discussed this earth's probable ending, by fire or water.

He discussed also the meaning of dreams and the value of "presentiments."

In practical life he discarded everything save realities, but in discussion allowed questions interested him.

It may interest you to know that in general he denied positively the existence of hell—perhaps that was caution on his part—and maintained that no man should die without confessing his sins:

"Only a fool says that he will die without a confessor. There is so much we do not know and that we cannot explain."

It is deeply characteristic of Napoleon's thought that he should have declared for Mohammedanism in preference to Christianity.

He admitted the religion of Mohammed "because it conquered one-half the world in ten years, whereas it took 300 years for Christianity to establish itself."

The old French king became converted because he thought the Christian God beat his pagan god in battle. Napoleon had not traveled far beyond that old king.

The man who seeks for all sorts of wisdom in Napoleon will be deeply disappointed when he comes to analyze the great fighter's religious thought.

But for the hero worshiper there is comfort in this:

Napoleon trifled with everything except the first great cause.

On the deck of his ship on a fine night there was much irreverent, flippant, materialistic chatter. The revolution had made stupid/inhonest fashionable.

But Napoleon was impressed by the calm light, the blue, dark water (and the beautiful stars shining down in cosmic rebuke of the tiny blasphemers below.

He stopped very abruptly the prattle of atheism.

Toward the stars he pointed the short, thick arm soon to rule this little planet.

"You may talk as long as you please, gentlemen, but who made all that?"

There was no answer, and there was no more atheism that night.

The man who was to build up the code Napoleon could appreciate the force and necessity of law. His mind realized the feebleness of man, coping even with little problems of earth.

He felt the great laws and a Great Lawgiver must swing and direct those millions of silent workmen above.

When Napoleon was still a Corsican, the great Paolisaid to him: "Napoleon, you are not a modern. You talk like the heroes of Plutarch."

Earnestness of the old kind was indeed Napoleon's characteristic—as emperor, planning to rule Asia from the back of an ornamented elephant, or as a poor, half starved lad, talking off his muddy shoes to enter the presence of the matronly Mme. Permon and listening to her stories of descent from the emperors of Constantinople.

Napoleon in his hours of work was a doer, and in his hours of leisure he was a discussor.

He exercised constantly the two sides of his brain, the practical and speculative.

Jones—Yes; but it's a satisfaction to know that Smith didn't win anything.

HOW QUAILS HIDE.

Although the Man Could Not See the Bird the Pup Was Right.

We are all more or less inclined to dispute the unusual incidents reported by observant brother sportsmen and if persuaded will excuse the bigotry shown by saying, "I never saw any such thing." The claim has been made that a quail will lay a dead leaf over its back when "laying close" in the woods, and this I have always thought an appropriate extract from a pretty fairy tale and piled any one who could be galled by such a very transparent fable.

One day while hunting quail a covey flushed wild and scattered in the woods. My companion took the old dog and the pup, and we proceeded to beat up the cover. The first point the pup made was at the foot of a small tree, where the trees stood thick, but where the ground was stony and was covered only with thin patches of dead leaves.

Taking the direction of the dog's eyes, I passed close by his head and, brushing by the tree at the foot of which he stood, walked on 10 or 15 feet, but flushed nothing.

Going back to the dog, I carefully took the direction of his eyes and looking closely discovered sitting between the roots of the tree within a span of my foot the bird, and lying well over its back was a large dead oak leaf placed in such a manner as to convince me beyond all shadow of a doubt that the bird had placed it there.

My reputation for veracity is fairly good, but I wish that pup could also make a statement in this case, for he and I were the only witnesses of this to me, strange and interesting incident.

P. S.—We got the bird.—Lewis Hopkins in Forest and Stream.

"THE MAN WITH THE ADZE."

How the Butcher's Chopping Block is Kept Smooth and Neat.

A constructive rather than a destructive force implied by the name is "the man with the adze," who is sometimes seen by early comers to the meat markets.

Most persons have doubtless observed the large blocks upon which butchers trim their steaks and chops. The top of the block is usually as smooth as glass, but the constant chopping of most of the rougher surfaces becomes eventually "the covered sea surface to be that the butcher keeps the block smooth by merely sawing off the rough section. Such, however, is not the case. Specialism has even entered here.

The man who makes a business of smoothing the butchers' blocks appears at the meat markets early in the morning before the customers arrive. He rolls the big block to the sidewalk, then mounts to the top of it, adze in hand. Bringing it down swiftly from a vertical position above his head, the blade is made to pass between his legs, skimming the surface of the block with great dexterity.

At each stroke a thin layer of the rough wood is removed. The operation is continued sufficiently to satisfy the butchers' requirements. Some three or four times a day, nearly consumed in the operation, and at the end of that time "the man with the adze" finds himself richer by $1.—New York Times.

Photos That Would Pay.

Everybody is trying to make money quickly nowadays, and photographers, amateur and expert, form a goodly percentage of the total included in "everybody." Here are a few subjects that would fetch very high prices:

A house being struck by lightning. We have photos of lightning flashes, but no picture of the kind which shows a flash actually striking a house.

Two trains in collision! Photos of wrecked trains are common enough, but a snap shot at the very occurrence of the smash remains unrecorded.

The crew of a lifeboat in the act of rescuing the sailors of a sinking ship in a fierce storm.

A negative of an Atlantic liner battling with an ocean tempest. If you could take a snap shot of this subject from the deck of another liner it would be worth a good sum.

A photograph of a sprightly earthquake in Japan or some other country which is troubled in this way. It would be well to hang up your camera and make it work automatically, as earthquakes are not to be played with. Such a picture would be jumped at.

A Day Suggestion.

On the last night of a series of "protracted meetings" in the Methodist church of a little southern California village the visiting evangelist was making a special effort to obtain a showing of anxious souls. He had preached his best sermon and reached an emotional fervor that he had seldom equaled. But nobody responded to his invitation. They sang a hymn, and then the evangelist rose again and entreated upon the congregation to "enlist for the service of the Lord."

A battle scarred, wooden legged veteran who had dropped into the back seat watched the proceedings with interest. For the third time the bespoken evangelist rose and asked, "Is there no one willing to enlist in the Lord's army?"

Then response came from the back seat. "Draft 'em, parson; bang 'em, draft 'em!"

Nature's Crowning Work.

As for the woman, she found the chief wonders of creation not in the culminating vertebrate, but in the lowliest ordering life form.

"The jellyfish, for instance," exclaimed the woman. "How was it ever got to jelly so beautifully?"

Now, the others thought they could understand her awe, although none of them, as it transpired, had ever put up any preserves.—Detroit Journal.

Swindled.

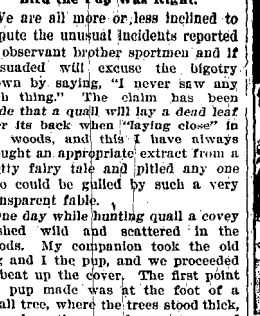

"The saddest, most blighted life case I ever knew," said the major, "was that of a woman who received a life pass over a new railroad."

"Why was that?" asked the colonel.

"Why the pass was issued before there was a rail laid, and then the road was never built. He has felt swindled ever since."—Indianapolis Press.

EGZEMA'S ITOH IS TORTURE.

Eczema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is hard, dry and fissured. Eczema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes and other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.

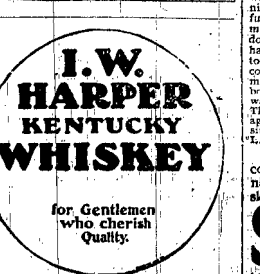

For three years I had Tetter on my hands, which caused them to swell to twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores, with pain, and causing much discomfort. Four doctors said the Tetters had progressed too far to be cured, and they could do nothing for me. I took only one bottle of S. S. S. and have never since seen any sign of my old trouble."—MRS. S.
