Homestead: In order to get any-thing out of a place or a location it must either be there in the beginning or it will have to be put there. No one can get more out of a measure than is placed in it. In order to get the most and the best out of the farm it will have to be put there. Fertility, if not there originally, will have to be pro-vided in some manner. No great yield can come from infertile land. The sooner farmers are made to see this the better it will be for them and the farms upon which they reside.

C. E. Lewellyn, special agent of the free Rural Delivery was in the city last Thursday and Friday. He went over the three routes petitioned for and established them with a few changes. Carriers have been recom-mended and it is expected that the routes will be in operation early in November. Route one lies to the northwest of Wayne, Route two to the southeast of Wayne and route three to the south-west. A route to the northeast will probably soon be established. Homestead: Good, other than the rest can be obtained from a vacation. When a hard working farmer goes on a vacation he can mingle business with pleasure if he so desires. He will be enabled to see how others do and live and will be better fitted for his own operations when he returns to his work. One can scarcely ride to town without learning something along this line. Going to town by a new road is very often advisable just for this reason.

Dr. R. B. Crawford, the hustling traveling passenger agent of the Louis-ville & Nashville railroad, with head-quarters at Chicago, was here Thurs-day and Friday in the interest of that railroad. The doctor had intended to deliver an address at the fair grounds Friday afternoon on the merits of the southern lands along the route of that line of railroad, but the rainy weather prevented. However he mingled with the crowd during the day, working in-dustriously.

An exchange says that a bachelor is a coward and a failure. He shaves and primps, but is too cowardly to put his arm around success and press it to his bosom. He resolves to marry every day for forty years, but when the hour for the duel arrives, when in the pres-ence of trembling, rosy cheeks, when beauty shakes her curls, his courage oozes and he flies the field without even learning the cowpath that leads to matrimony. Better be old darkey 'Rastus in his cabin who holds old Dinah's hand and asks, "Who's sweet?" and Dinah drops her head on his shoulders and says, "Bofe of us."

"Third Notice." Every editor has received them. The postmaster is not to blame. For instance there is a man named Tim Short who sent us three no-tices to stop his paper; he did not want it any longer. We wondered what was the matter says an exchange. Upon investigation of our subscrip-tions, we found that Tim was Short $2.50. He had never paid a cent yet and stopped his paper as a matter of economy—to us. A few evenings ago we stepped into the church and Tim's melodious tenor rang out clear in the soul stirring song "Jesus Paid it All." Next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment of his liabilities.—Item.

Norfolk News: About fifty people went to Wayne yesterday to take in the county fair. They were particu-larly attracted by the announcement that there would be a swift horse race but bring back the report that it was a de-clared frost and they were sorely dis-ap-pointed. The track was in good con-dition and a horse that did a mile in 2:14 at Lincoln was given the race, the best time made being 2:30. The opin-ion formed was that it was all fixed be-forehand. One of the gentlemen who went over said he could find more gen-uine enjoyment in the speed put up by Norfolk colts under training. He was of the opinion that there were not many more than 250 people on the grounds.

The News has greatly exaggerated the size of the crowd from Norfolk. Not over ten at the outside were in at-tendance at the Wayne county fair, and furthermore there have not been 60 Norfolk people in Wayne in the past six months or more.

Our 2nd Anniversary!

Two years ago we came to Wayne and we have met with greater success than we had reason to expect. We came with a new, well selected stock. Our trade was good at the start and has been increasing every day since. To meet an increasing trade we have put in more than double the stock we had last year. We now have the largest and best selected stock of clothing ever brought to Wayne county. Our stock would be a credit to a town twice the size of this. The class of goods we sell has induced people to come from neighboring towns to trade with us. When we located in Wayne we believed there was room for a first class, one-price, cash clothing store and we are glad to state we were not mistaken. Our success has proven that the people appreciate our efforts. Some of our competitors predicted that we would be here about six months; others said that one year would satisfy us that Wayne would not support an up-to-date clothing store such as we are conducting. Our method of buying and selling goods has proven that the old way of sell-ing clothing on long time cannot compete with us. The class of goods we sell cannot be bought outside of a city. We can prove to your entire satisfac-tion that you need not go to Omaha or Sioux City for good clothing for our prices are lower and our selection will please you. If you have not looked at our clothing it will pay you to do so before you buy. Our goods are all marked in plain figures and we sell strictly at one price. If you should change your mind after you have bought the goods you can return them and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Mens' Suits.

We sell the Kuppenheimer Suits for men. This line of suits is a high class, tailor made clothing. It has a guarantee sewed in the pocket, and if not satisfied you can bring it back and get another suit. No other line of clothing made in America has this guarantee. It fits

Men's and Boys' Under-wear.

In this climate you need good wool un-derwear. We sell the celebrated Staley underwear. This is different from any other line sold in this part of Nebras-ka. If you have had trouble with your un-derwear, you will be satisfied to buy your underwear of us. If you want all-wool un-derwear for your boys, we have it. Come to us and see our Staley un-derwear. No matter if you are not ready to buy, it will pay you to see this line. We have sold this line for over 20 years and we know we can sat-isfy you if you will only come and see.

Boys' and Children's Suits.

This is where we excel all other stores. We make it a rule to have the latest things in boys' and children's suits. We get trade from all the neighboring towns for chil-dren's clothing. If you want nice, clean clothing for boys and children, come here and you will be pleased with our line. Our prices will please you. Our goods are the best in the market, entirely dif-ferent than is sold in dry goods stores. Our children's depart-ment has pleased the ladies of Wayne and surrounding towns and our stock is now com-pletely up to date. Marked in plain figures and sold at one price only. If you take it home and change your mind, bring it back and get your money.

Men's and Boys' Shoes.

We are expert shoe men and have a complete line of men's and boys' shoes. We sell only the best and warrant every pair to give satisfaction.

We have a line of Little Gents' shoes for boys that wear 2 to 18. Made to fit a boy's foot, with low, broad heel. No old, out-of-date style to show. Lowest price and latest style. Try us for shoes and get the best.

Young Men's Suits.

Young men like nice clothing, like stylish clothing. We make special effort to please the young men. We have the latest things out, cut single and double-breasted vest, in all late pat-terns of cloth. We have a line of suits made ex-pressly for young men. Nothing like it can be bought outside of a city. We can please you. If you are particular give us a chance to fit you. Price, $10 to $18. Also a nice line of cheaper suits at from $4 to $10.

Men's Pants.

We carry a complete line of separate pants, and pants that fit and wear and look well. The beat them all for fit and wear. You will find this warranty sewed in every pair: "WARRANTY.

"You buy a pair of Dutchess all-wool trousers at from $2 to $5 and wear them two months, for every suspender button that comes off we will pay you 10 cents. If they rip at the waist band we will pay you 50 cents, if they rip in the seat or elsewhere we will pay you 1 dollar or give you a new pair."

We are headquarters for Men's Fur Coats and can save you money on fur coats. All coats are warranted. See us before you buy.

We feel grateful to the people in Wayne and adjoining counties for their liberal patronage during the past two years. With the largest stock in Wayne county, and lowest prices, we hope to increase our trade the coming year. You are invited to call and we will be pleased to have you look at our goods, no matter if you are not ready to buy.

It is now President, Roosevelt.

The great steel strike is ended and the men of the Amalgamation Association have gone back to work.

Wm. McKinley will live in the hearts of his countrymen throughout all time. His is one of the greatest lives of all history, the greatest among the great of loyal Americans.

The fusion state convention at Lincoln does not seem to have been a swell affair, at least it was not swelled in point of numbers in attendance, and a feeling of utter hopelessness prevailed.

President McKinley has gone, but he leaves behind the richest legacy the American people ever possessed. His whole life was filled with good deeds. He was a great president and a model citizen, and husband, upright, courageous, chivalric, and faithful to every duty.

Theodore Roosevelt of New York, was sworn in as President at Buffalo Saturday afternoon, his advancement being made necessary owing to the death of President McKinley. Had he come in under different circumstances he would have received his full honors but under the circumstances they will come later.

GOVERNOR SAVAGE ON ANARCHY.

In an interview given out this afternoon Governor Savage urges the passage of laws making the advocacy of anarchistic doctrines high treason and providing that a mere membership in such a body shall be sufficient for conviction.

"The mailed and iniquitous hand of anarchy has fallen with terrible force and effect upon the American people. William McKinley, the most patriotic of their citizens, the abler of their statesmen, the holier of their hearts and one of the greatest and most obnoxious of all their presidents has been laid low."

"Surely this is a distressing affliction to be visited on a nation of law-abiding people and to think that this sad bereavement is the fruition of treasonable conspiracy and devilish ingenuity is to face a condition well calculated to stir vengeance to its center."

To shoot down without provocation, not alone the chief executive of the nation but a man through bis veins coursed the blood of sympathy and love for all his fellowmen is to commit an act as monstrous as to challenge adequate retribution. Even though the assassin should pay the penalty with his life that would poorly compensate the nation for its loss or to any appreciable extent meet the exactions of outraged public opinion.

"The spectacle at Buffalo is both pathetic and impressive. In one part of the city the president lies dead and in another all the means of organized society are employed to protect the life of the one who committed the atrocious deed. Surely this is an impressive lesson for those who are preaching the doctrine of rapine and murder. If in the presence of this awful crime organized society is so sensitive of its duty as to exhaust its power in both defending the person of the criminal against violence and in maintaining the majesty of the law then what excuse is there for the existence of such an iniquitous evil as anarchy? If society is so jealous of the right as to shield a criminal until he has been duly tried and convicted, even though his guilt is beyond question, why should any one fear that a public wrong by an individual or collection of individuals will be tolerated or permitted to go unatoned? In other words, on what ground does anarchy portend to justify its existence, even when to anarchists it is made plain that organized society is quick and determined upon the maintenance of law, order and good government?"

"The assassin of President McKinley is in jail and a cordon of police and two companies of militia are there to see that he is not harmed or the law transgressed. Is this not an impressive lesson, even to anarchists?"

"The assassin of President McKinley is in jail and a cordon of police and two companies of militia are there to see that he is not harmed or the law transgressed. Is this not an impressive lesson, even to anarchists?"

"But anarchy yields no place to reason. It is a staff that has risen out of iniquity and to exist it must feed on human woe. It panders to the baser passions and finds comfort alone in shocking outlawry. Its sordid indifference and utter lack of respect for law and order make it a public evil no longer to be tolerated. Organized society must assume an aggressive position and prosecute anarchy to final extermination. Let it be written in our statutes that the advocacy of anarchistic doctrines shall be deemed treasonable and that a mere membership in such a body shall be sufficient to extend the law against treason to such a case. Let this be done without temporization or partiality and the days of anarchy in this country will soon come to an end. We have given them the best government in the world and we have invariably chosen our best men to administer the affairs of said government. We have done more, we have been maintained an asylum for the persecuted and aggrieved of all nations and through the most liberal immigration laws we have faced the whole world with open arms. Our charity has been abused. We must amend our immigration laws to the extent of inhibiting the admission whose sentiments on questions of government are incompatible with and irreconcilable to the organic law of our land. At the same time we must move with relentless vigor and firm determination against those who have already sought our shore and make no pause until every sign of anarchy is blotted out."

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The crowds in attendance at the Fair, which was advertised very little, evidences the fact that with a special effort on the part of the citizens an excellent show could have been provided at little cost, and a big crowd could have been attracted here. As it was the attendance was splendid and the show well worth the price of admission. In spite of the gloomy rainy weather Wednesday morning people began taking exhibits to the fair and by noon Thursday a great many cattle and hogs had been entered for premiums. There were small displays of farm products and the poultry exhibit was very good. In the large tent provided for the ladies there were some excellent displays of fruits, canned and otherwise, butter, bread, etc., also several fine exhibits of millinery and fancy work.

The German band from near Hoskins furnished music and on Friday afternoon a remnant of the Wayne Corn Palace Band got out and rendered a few pieces at the fair grounds that sounded pretty good.

Thursday afternoon Winside and Wayne played a game of ball, the game resulting in favor of Wayne by a score of 10 to 1.

The 2:35 race was about as pretty a race as was ever seen here. The first heat was a dead one between F. W. Brown's Geo. W. and Frank Strahan's Cap Medium. The next three heats were won by Geo. W. Cap Medium 3d, and Jim Hurst's Guy Medium 2d. Time 2:27 1/2.

The 3/4 mile dash was won by Sheba, Lizzie Duster 2d, Mattie P. 3rd.

In the novelty race, trot and run, Neils Anderson's black horse won. Messrs Graves, O'Gara and Gaortner had horses in this race.

Friday morning it began to drizzle again and it looked as though the fair was doomed. Nevertheless it cleared up some and a good crowd was at the grounds by 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon. Wayne and Winside played another game of ball for a purse, Winside winning, score 6 to 3.

In the free for all trot or pacing race, Frank Strahan's Union Medium won 1st, Geo. W. 2d, Cap Medium 3rd. Time 2:29.

In the free for all mile running race Willie P. won 1st, Paywood 2d. The secretary informs us that the fair was a financial success, after all premiums being paid, there still remained some money in the treasury.

E., was well attended considering the stormy appearance of the weather. Some excellent music on harp and piano by Misses Minnie and Fannie Norton opened the program and was followed by the fine old song 'Rock of Ages,' illustrated by stereopticon views, which were beautiful. Then the scenes of Ben Hur were successively thrown upon the canvas, followed by another illustrated song, 'Abide with Me.' The scenes accompanied by their description were beautiful and portrayed vividly the scenes of that famous story. Mr. Adams has an excellent machine, which he operates with skill.

Market Reports.

Sept. 18, 1901
From NYE & BUCHANAN CO.
Receipts of cattle are coming stronger. Three-fourths of the offerings are western rangers and there is a scarcity of corn fed cattle. Beef steers—Demand is active for fat cattle and prices are from 15 to 25c higher than first of last week. Cows and mixed stock—The supply of cows and heifers is very fair but demand is active and prices rule steady to strong with last weeks quotations. Good to choice stock is scarce and sells readily at stronger prices; medium grades are steady to weak and common and canning grades sell as well as at any time. Stockers and feeders—The receipts in this line are very liberal but demand from all sides is good and market can safely be quoted a quarter higher than last week for desirable kind both heavy and light. The medium and common grades have not advanced as much but everything sells in good season. Western grass beef packs with good demand from all packers and on anything killers can use market is active and strong.
Hog receipts still moderate although some heavier than last week and market is booming. Today with about 6500 on sale market opened 5 to 10c higher, grew ten higher, closed easy. Range $6.60 to $6.85 bulk $6.70 to $6.75 The advance carries the market nearly 25c higher than last Wednesday. Sheep receipts very heavy, market fully a quarter lower.

Crossland, 1st, Miss Cora Morr 2nd, and Mrs. Simon Foltz 3rd. There were 21 competitors, and the display of bread was as fine as ever saw at any fair, evidencing the fact that flour of the Wayne Roller Mills is not excelled by that manufactured anywhere and this fact is becoming known throughout this section of the state. No better bread can be made of any brand of flour than the exhibit we speak of. It would make any man hungry to see it.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM M'KINLEY IS DEAD.

Bullet of the Assassin Finally Does Its Dastardly Work.

Death Comes After Just One Week of Suffering and Hope.

President's Condition Takes a Critical Turn Early Friday Morning.

First Apprehensions Caused by Failure of the Heart to Respond to Stimulation.

Physicians Administer Oxygen and Make Every Effort to Rally Their Patient.

Change for the Worse Comes Without Warning and Carries Consternation to Doctors and Friends.

President McKinley died at 2:15 o'clock Saturday morning. His last breath passed calmly and almost imperceptibly. He had been unconscious for several hours before the end and his death was free from pain. The members of the family, with the exception of the bereaved wife, were at the bedside. Mrs. McKinley was in an adjoining room. Mr. Rixey was the only physician present.

The immediate cause of the President's death was at the time undetermined, but it was said to be heart failure as a result of complications from the wound and digestive organs. The President suffered a serious and dangerous relapse early Friday morning from which there was only a slight recovery. He was perfectly conscious and seemed to fully realize his condition. "I prefer to surrender," he said with great emotion. "I will not give up now while life remains. I shall fight to the end."

All night the President battled with death. At 10 o'clock he was alone in the combat. Science, skill, infinite tenderness were beaten and hopeless. Surgeons and physicians measured his life span by moments. They had no hope and offered none. Mangled, buried and defeated, they stood aside and left the President alone to face the inevitable.

Meanwhile the nation—the world—stood watching for the final word. Buffalo, where the President was assassinated, stood a scene with horror and rage. Doctors of knowledge and heralded cunning were summoned from all available quarters. They came by special trains and were rushed into the presence of death and its unyielding victim.

The wires were hot with summonses for the New President, for the cabinet, for the friends nearest the dying man, and they came. From all quarters men who have known the dying man as a man first and then as a leader of his people came rushing, pale, sad-eyed and hopeless.

It was 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the first wild rumor that the President was dead spread through Buffalo. Heart failure, the first ominous sinking of a mighty physique, had given the doctors warning and their foreboding spoke from the white faces as they came and went in the Milburn house.

There was no hope then, and in five minutes the waiting world knew it. But the victim of the assassin's bullet did not know it. Conscious of impending danger and fearless of it, he asked for his wife. She came to him, and, taking his hand in speechless grief, gave to him the new courage which drugs and physic could not give. The clock spun round and round, and the doctors, waiting in gloomy groups, wondered that he lived so long.

"GOD'S WILL, NOT OURS, BE DONE."—President McKinley.

His symptoms grew worse. He rattled and faltered by turns. Oxygen and digitalis had but slight effect upon his pulse and respiration. He did not live, but would not die, and his people and the world wondered.

As unconfirmed stories of the President's death drew from mouth to mouth in Buffalo, an enraged and sorrowing multitude gathered and swept toward the prison where his assassin lay. Barriers were hastily thrown across the streets, mounted policemen, State troops and marines were hurried to the scene, and for hours after night fell the jail was like a threatened fortress.

In the streets, cafes and public places men met and talked with bated breath. All day they talked of the President's struggle, of his patience, his cheerfulness. But when they knew that those were all in vain they raged silently and forgot everything but revenge.

The President was practically without nourishment all day. His serious relapse of Thursday night, said to have been caused by food administered dur-opened his eyes, and, looking out of the window opposite his bed, said: "It is not as bright as yesterday."

His heart rattled a little in the morning hours, and from then on until noon he held his own, and the anxious doctors told the world in guarded words that there was yet hope.

It was past midday Friday when he entered upon his final struggle. The thousands gathered at the Pan-American Exposition, the nation and the outside world were not prepared even then for a realization that the worst was at hand.

A furious rainstorm was sweeping Burthe house of death. Cabinet officers and members of the President's family began to arrive, and the beginning of the end had come.

At 11 o'clock Friday night the wife had paid her last tribute to her dying sweetheart of thirty years. Dr. Rixey led her into the room, and as she laid her head alongside his she sobbed: "I cannot let him go."

She knew that the President was dying then, and in the dim silence of her adjoining room she waited and wept as the hours sped and the doctors wondered at the mighty battle of the dying man.

But the President, now faintly unconsciously and weakly, but faintly struggling on, at midnight, 1 and 2 o'clock found him wavering on the verge, and the men of science could but stand and marvel at the wondrous but hopeless fight which he had maintained so long. Intervals of apparent consciousness came upon him. Sometimes he opened his faded eyes and gazed calmly around.

At 2 o'clock the dim, gray light began to fall across his shrunken face, and then—death.

First Ominous Words.

For several hours Thursday evening the doctors attending President McKinley were seriously disturbed and waiting for a change in his condition, but at midnight the President had seemingly regained his lost ground. He was given solid food for the first time during the morning and it had been agreed with him. The hoarseness which he gave to the doctors was giving some trouble, also the heart, was giving some trouble, also the heart, was giving some trouble.

The food given to the President was not properly assimilated and the administration of food by the mouth was discontinued. The President continued to complain of fatigue. His pulse increased to 128, entirely too high for his temperature. One of the consulting physicians said that judged by medical records his pulse should be 90. The acceleration of the pulse was attributed partly to the revulsion of the stomach against the food.

The first alarm came from the Milburn house at 2 o'clock, two hours after the encouraging official bulletin after the midnight consultation of the doctors. The signal of fear was the sending of messages to all the doctors to return to the house which needed no words, but uttered a sinking spell. At 3 o'clock it was authoritatively admitted that the President was in an extremely critical condition.

Scene is Dramatic.

The scene about the house and in the street, which had been storm swept, was dramatic in its action and setting, and the spirit of the tragedy was on those who looked upon it. A messenger who darted into the rain and was whisked away in an electric cab gave the outside watchers the first intimation of the ill news from within. At the same moment news lights burned within the windows of the Milburn residence. Soon the word was passed out that the President had partially collapsed and was critically ill. It was a confirmation that was hardly needed for the fact had been established by action that needed no words at all.

As the telegraph instruments rattled away with their forlorn story early in the morning the hastily aroused physicians began arriving. An automobile racing at top speed brought Dr. Myner first. He did not stop to speak, but rushed into the house. Dr. Mann came almost on his heels, and he, too, ran down the street. Neither stopped for a word as they rushed into the house. After them came Abner McKinley, pale and agitated.

He had left the house scarcely two hours before and had departed with the assurance that the tide had turned in the case of his distinguished brother.

Secretary Wilson and Secretary Chief Cook, in grief at the peril of their chief, arrived within a few moments. Neither knew the true state of the President at that moment and in silent fear they quickly entered the house. Another hurrying visitor was Dr. Washin, whose arrival completed the circle of physicians, and another was Mrs. McWilliams, the friend of Mrs. McKinley.

The physicians, after their consultation on the examination of the patient, could offer little encouragement. He was very weak and his heart was so feeble that they feared his life might not last any time. The bulletin they issued at 2:50 told of the very critical condition of the President.

GRIEF AT THE CAPITAL.

Every household in Washington is mourning.

Every household in Washington is mourning. From the pinnacle of hope brought by the cheering tidings brought from Buffalo by returning envoys, the people, within twenty-four hours, were cast into the depths of grief. The sorrow is complete. Large crowds assembled about the bulletin boards early Friday evening, eagerly awaiting the latest news, hoping against hope that something would happen to spare the President.

According to a correspondent the oldest citizens cannot remember when a greater sorrow has befallen the national capital than such profound grief. The excitement

NATION'S NEW CHIEF.

Personality of Theodore Roosevelt, Who is Now a President.

Born New York City Oct. 27, 1858. Entered Harvard College 1876. Re-elected to Legislature 1883. Re-elected to Legislature 1885. Member National Civil Service Commission 1885. New York police commissioner 1894. Assistant Secretary of Navy 1897-98. Governor New York 1898-1900. Vice-President United States March 4, 1901. President United States Sept. 15, 1901.

Theodore Roosevelt, now President of the United States, is the fifth Vice President of the nation to succeed the President with whom he was closest to office. John Tyler was the first, succeeding William Henry Harrison. Next came Michael Filmore, who succeeded Zachary Taylor. Andrew Johnson succeeded Abraham Lincoln and Chester A. Arthur succeeded James A. Garfield. Three of the five Vice Presidents owe their appointment to the assassin's bullet.

Mr. Roosevelt is better known to the nation than was Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson or Arthur when the latter became President. Roosevelt has come with such force to the nation's public eye that he has been called a legislator, an

CHIZOGOSZ OF SOLID FOOD.

Physicians Say He Was Made.

Several adverse conditions have been added to the President's condition by the doctors before the relapse came. The President's relapse is admittedly the result of the failure of his digestive organs to assimilate the solid food which he had eaten. Important bodily functions became impaired. The blood which was sent to the stomach had receded to the heart, and the heart was unable to pump it. They were preparing for the worst, which came. The food had generated a gas and the pressure had increased the action of the heart. This was the startling message which was given to the world.

Dr. Rossell said: "The President was not given solid food before he could eat it. He was perfectly able to assimilate the food given him, had it not been that the impoverished blood affected the heart."

TO STAMP OUT ANARCHISM.

Authorities Throughout the Country Are Determined.

The determination of the authorities, national, State and municipal, to stamp out anarchy in this country is shown by the fact that the leading cities of the New York State have been ordered to arrest all persons known to be anarchists. The police of Philadelphia and other large cities have their detectives out. At Pittsburgh two important arrests have been made which may supply the missing links in the chain of evidence connecting Emma Goldman with the attempt on President McKinley's life. The federal authorities arrested near Silver City, N. M., Antonio Maggia, who predicted that the President would be assassinated before Oct. 1. Arrests have also been made at Omaha and other cities.

The federal authorities at Washington believe they have discovered the name under which anarchists may be tried for conspiracy. In all parts of the country men who express sympathy for Chizogosz are being dismissed from their positions or summarily punished by their neighbors.

NEWS OF THE ANARCHISTS.

Chicago Poles denounced Chizogosz. War on anarchists has been taken up by the police of the entire nation.

Former Attorney General Griggs advocates imprisonment for life for anarchists. Chief of Police O'Neill of Chicago refused to release suspected anarchists on bonds.

Prince Kravtchin, the Russian revolutionist, calls Chizogosz a common murderer.

The secret service bureau has the name and description of every anarchist in the United States.

Legal authorities assert that both the Illinois and federal laws cover the case of Emma Goldman fully.

The National Life Underwriters Association has recommended making professional anarchy a crime.

A Wyoming man who expressed sympathy with the assassin was tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail.

Emma Goldman, arrested in Chicago, has been held on a charge of conspiracy. She believes the shooting of the President and denies acquaintance with the assassin.
