Honesty. Now is a good time to study the shrinkage in corn. The problem will be whether to sell now or keep it until later. There is a scarcity of corn and the price will not slump much, and yet there is a tendency to go without it when prices get above a certain figure. The extent of this shrinkage without cannot be ascertained. The price is now very satisfactory to the producer and one will need to see what the shrinkage will be and use it as can afford to hold it.

Few parents appreciate the labor expended by primary teachers in the public schools in the efforts to make good citizens out of the troublesome urchins we send there for instruction. How many Columbus fathers and mothers have ever visited the primary schools to observe the manner in which their little ones are instructed? Not one in a dozen. With almost perfect confidence we send the babes to the teachers, never doubting their correct handling. An unknown Kansas exchange so aptly expresses the sentiment of the Telegram regarding the primary teacher, that we must reproduce the article, which reads: "Lift your hat reverently when you pass the teacher of the primary school. She takes the little bantling from the home nest, full of his points and passions, an ungovernable little wretch, whose own mother admits that she sends him to school to get rid of him. This young woman who knows her business, takes a whole car load of these youngsters, are more than a match for their parents, and puts them in the way of upright citizens. And at what expense of toil and weariness! Here's the most responsible position in the whole school, and if her salary were doubled she would receive less than she earns."—Columbus Telegram.

They were arraigned, pled guilty and were fined $150 each."

Editor Lynch of the "Daily Post" at Phillipsburg, N. J., has tested the merits of Foley's Honey and Tar with this result: "I have used a great many patent medicines in my family for coughs and colds, and I can honestly say that your Honey and Tar is the best thing of the kind I have ever used and I cannot say to much in its praise." Raymond's.

Stanton Register: W. W. Vaughn, who has been teaching school north-east of Stanton, has been elected as principal of the Winslow schools, beginning work Jan. 1st. He left for Wayne this week to attend the normal until his school work begins. Mr. Bright, the present principal, was elected superintendent of that county.

When taking a long ride in the cold, don't fail to make good preparations for the trip. It does not show good judgment to feel that one is tough enough to ride in the cold, and that to bundle up is womanish or foolish. It is foolish to try to ride in the cold without protecting one's self. See how the physicians bundle up and keep warm when riding in the country. Keep the feet, wrists and chest warm, and by so doing all the rest of the body will be warm in consequence.—Iowa Homestead.

Henry (Ill.) Republican: Dr. J. Sidney Goodmans, a dentist who married a (Tennessee) lady, a Miss Ioder, and moved to Pender, Neb., and was afterwards tried for her murder, and by some hook or crook was not convicted, moved from Nebraska, on account of his unpopularity, into the state of Washington, and again married, and was a few days ago lynched for the murder of the second wife. Many people believe that had justice been meted out to him in the first trial, one precious life would have been saved from the poisoner's hand.

Surgery on Snakes.
Snakes in captivity, it seems, sometimes find difficulty in getting rid of the skin which is shed every year. An Australian diamond snake in the Bonny Bay Museum, which appeared likely to succumb, was quite blind and refused all food. A European sympathizer therefore pressed the native snake-keeper into service to hold the snake, and himself, with a pair of sharp-pointed scissors, performed the delicate and risky operation of clipping away the membrane which adhered to the eyes.

Child Baptism in Early Days.
The following from the early court records of York County, Me., give an idea of the ceremony: "At a general court held at Saco Sept. 3, 1640, it is ordered by the court that the Worshipful Thomas Georges and Edward Goddard, candidates for this province, shall order all the inhabitants from this date forth to be baptized, which shall have the children unbaptized, as soon as the minister is settled in any of their plantations, they bring their said children to baptism; and if any shall refuse to submit to the said order that the party so refusing shall be summoned to answer their contempt at the next general court to be holden in this province."—*Devotion (Me.) SPIDER IS WEATHER WISE.
Insect in Yucatan Foretells Changes in Atmospheric Conditions.
Most birds and animals have the faculty of discerning the approach of a storm with more or less accuracy, but in Yucatan they have a spider that is a marvel as a weather forecaster. This insect is known as "am," on account of the effect produced by its poison. As far as its own conduct goes the insect is inoffensive and can be handled with impunity, but if anybody had the misfortune to get one mysteriously mixed with his food he is certain to die after a few hours, and, meanwhile, for some unexplained reason, will frequently ejaculate "Am! Am! Am!"—hence the name of the spider. Throughout the peninsula this is affirmed to be a fact, and if an "am" falls into fodder of horses or mules the animal that swallows it surely dies.

This spider is shaped like a crab, minus the claws, and is of a bright yellow color, with brown spots; the biggest could be accommodated upon a silver dime. Its favorite abode is among the leaves of the banana shrub—commonly, but erroneously, called "There it spins, with extreme rapidity, its web, which is prodigiously large, considering the size of its architect, and proceeds to devour flies that are unucky enough to get entangled in the meshes of this web. The spider's action, that is not satisfied with less than a dozen a day; that is to say, it consumes a good deal more than its own bulk. Its progeny are numerous, and appear, at first, like mere black specks, smaller than the smallest pin's head.

The sky may be blue and cloudless when suddenly the am commences taking in its silks, or, rather, gathering in its net, with neatness and dispatch, crumpling the whole of the material into its diaphanous body entirely out of sight. A few minutes completes the job and the spider takes up its position on the under surface of one of the great leaves, to be killed by the gentle swaying and shivering of the storm breeze. It is for this that the am has prepared, and never is it mistaken; when the web is taken in rain will certainly fall within an hour.

The moment the am is touched it begins death and legs itself drop, showing no sign of life until again placed upon a leaf or on the ground. Many a one has lain in the palm of the writer's hand, mere all its legs drawn close to its body, while it was examined at leisure, even being picked up in the fingers without its manifesting any life.

INCOME AND OUTGO.
WITH INCREASED DEMANDS THE PRICES HAVE INCREASED.
Dwindling to Added Consumption, Growing Out of Greater Prosperity, Values of Some of the Necessaries of Life Have to Some Extent Advanced.
With what marvelous regularity do free-trade writers seize the wrong-horn of the dilemma, and yet how serenely they bob up after the most disastrous fall. There seems to be an utter lack of discernment among these foes of the nation, especially when it comes to distinguishing between cause and effect. This peculiarity has manifested itself in a striking degree in numerous editorial commentaries on "Dime's" index number of Nov. 1st, which showed the cost of living to be at the highest point of the decade. Immediately thereafter, pretended friends of the downtrodden wage earner—flush forward with the cry that prices have been advanced by the tariff and the trusts until starvation threatens the people, for with the rise in expenses there has been no equivalent gain in wages.

As a matter of fact, it must be clear to any man of intelligence that it is due to the unprecedently high wages and full employment of all labor that prices advanced. Commodities would not long show a high level of values if no one purchased. The cost of the necessities of life naturally tends to advance just in proportion to the ability of the people to consume.

Boots and shoes now sell at about 90 per cent of the price in 1888; finished products of iron and steel at 73 per cent of the prices prevailing in 1887; woolen goods 59 per cent of the prices of 1889; and cotton goods 62 per cent of the level 11 years ago. In other words, while the active element sustains the general level of quotations at a high point, the very products of industry that have been developed by the insidious tariff are obtained at strikingly low prices. The late William McKinley pronounced that a protected industry would not only provide work at good wages for an army of men, but that in a few years the prices of the articles produced would be put below the level prevailing before the enactment of such helpful legislation. Records prove that these predictions have been most wonderfully fulfilled, and with true American energy not only the home market, but foreign markets are now supplied. In some cases the development has been slower than in others, and in the weaker industries it would be easy to precipitate disaster by adverse legislation this winter. But unfortunately the foreign sympathizers in this country are not taking a prominent part in the government, except from the editorial sanctum.

One point in the consideration of wages and prices is of considerable sociological and economic importance, yet it is generally ignored in discussions. Among a large number of American people there is a certain feeling that office work is more dignified than manual labor and socially superior. This is most noticeable in the families of artisans where the children have received a common school education. Their mothers advocate the boys accepting positions in banks, mercantile houses, etc., where the opportunity for advancement is slow owing to the enormous force employed. Bookkeepers and men in similar positions work all their lives at the same desk, never earning more than $15 or $20 a week, whereas in the lines of productive labor they might easily secure $4 or $5 a day, besides the healthful advantages of physical activity. Yet this feeling for social position puts up an obstacle which is becoming more serious every day, tending to overcrowd the cities even when all productive industries are handicapped by lack of men. It is no more difficult to learn bookkeeping and other office duties, and the difference in return should outweigh any mistaken notion of social equality.—American Economist.

making at best is disturbing to business. Margins of profit are involved in scores of industrial interests. Tariff changes often settle the question whether a factory shall keep on or close. A tariff contest in Congress induces, for the time being, inaction in business.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Are They Criminal?
Let us reason in this sugar tariff business. Was it not about the time it was proposed to put a protective tariff on plate that our Democratic tariff reformers were filling the air with protests? They alleged the thing itself was patent on the face, it could never be done. The thing was too vast and we never could get the skilled help so necessary. But the Republican party insisted and to-day there is a vast industry known as the tin plate industry, all established within ten years. Yet to-day coming from Republican sources are severe attacks upon the best sugar industry, an industry established by the very same tariff that established so successfully the tin plate industry. It is asserted this sugar business is so vast it can never be done and more of that sort of argument borrowed from our Democratic tariff reformers of years back.

There are Republicans clamoring for tariff reform, and for the very things the immense trusts now are ready for—their trade, and much of their labor is saved by borrowing from the Cleveland books of previous campaigns. The question may well be asked, in where have these beet sugar men become criminals, any more than have our citizens who have amassed fortunes in other protected industries? Rachin (Wis.) Journal.

Must Be Poor Farmers.
Farmers are getting pretty good prices for their products. But they are paying good prices for their necessities. Many of them think the balance of prosperity is against them.—Dallas Crescent.

The present must have in mind either mighty poor farms or mighty poor farmers. Probably they are what is known as "poor" farmers. As a matter of fact every one knows there is not a particle of ground for such a remark as the above. The present is falling into its old habits contracted in the days when it was selling for free silver and Bryan.—Bryan (Ohio) Press.

No Sentiment in Trade.
There is no sentiment in trade, and foreigners do not buy of us simply because we buy of them. That is amply demonstrated by our trade with South America. Brazil imports over $100,000,000 worth and the United States supplies about 10 per cent of those imports. The United States buys from Brazil five times as much as it sells to that country, and it carries on a one-sided trade of that kind with other South American countries.—Philadelphia Press.

Recklessness of Haste.
The country has had four years of marked prosperity under the existing (tariff) system; such being the case, it is wiser to ascertain what can be done without putting our industries in jeopardy than it would be to proceed with the recklessness of haste. The experiment of 1892 should not be forgotten, during one generation.—Indianapolis Journal.

The Dealer the Better.
The free-trader is not dead, but theories ought to be killed beyond the possibility of resurrection. The livelier they are the greater the stagnation of business in this country. The dealer they are the greater the prosperity.—New Haven Leader.

A Bookseller's Lowly Beginning.
George Robertson, the head of the book-selling trade in Australia, left personal estate valued at £17,000. According to local tradition, Mr. Robertson began business with a barrowful of books on the Queen's Wharf, Melbourne, in 1852. The above figures represent the head establishment in Melbourne alone; the value of the branches in London, Sydney, Adelaide and Brisbane has yet to be estimated. The eldest son of the deceased, Charles Melbourne Robertson, is now the managing director of the business.—Manchester Guardian.

Physicians Much Interested.
Northport, Mich., Dec. 9.—The medical men here are just now of nearly discussing a most remarkable cure of a severe case of Kidney Disease in this country. Mr. Byron O. Leslie of Northport for years been a victim of Kidney derangements with all the consequent pain and annoyance. He was gradually growing worse and as the disease advanced he became very despondent, often wondering if he would have to endure this suffering all his life.

But at last he found a remedy that cured him in Dodd's Kidney Pills. He was much pleased, but did not say much about it lest the local office, he experienced would not last. Now, however, after months of continued good health, he has concluded that he is permanently cured and his announcement of this has caused a profound sensation among the physicians and the people who knew of his apparently hopeless condition.

Miss Lillie Degenkolbe, Treasurer South End Society of Christian Endeavor, 314 1/2 Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill., Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—When life looked brighter to me I sustained a hard fall and internal complications were the result. I was considerably inflamed, did not feel that I could walk, and lost my good spirits. I spent money doctoring without any help when a relative visited her home. She was so enthusiastic over Lydia E. A full history of my case, to be sent at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began ringing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that, "only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear, could be lost forever." I then saw your advertisement, published in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days no ringing to your directions, the noises ceased, and today, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain, Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 720 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md. Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation. Examination and advice free. Representative Burk of Nebraska, was fortunate in being selected to a position on the agriculture committee of the United States senate.

A flood of bills were introduced in congress during the first week's session and there seems to be no let-up in the introducing progress this week.

Congress is not slow when it comes to introducing bills. Just think of $3,000 being introduced the first day. Isn't it a perfect demonstration of the Congressman's desire to be in for the killing.

Prosperity moves on at advanced strides, which is a marked indication that President Roosevelt's message with the universal approval of the people, and they are now standing up for Roosevelt.

The democratic editors of Nebraska will meet at Columbus on the 25 inst. to organize a democratic press association. Evidently the late elections in Nebraska led them to believe they were sadly disorganized since the Commener stepped into the arena.

Carnegie has offered to present the U. S. Government with $10,000,000 for the establishment of a University at Washington for higher education, to be known as the greatest educational institution of the world. Mr. Garage, apparently, is decidedly American.

The post office question in Nebraska will be settled in the near future, and of course all of the applicants cannot secure the offices—only one for each place. Therefore the other fellow or fellows will have to smile and look pleasant. It's a laudable ambition to serve Uncle Sam but there are not jobs enough to go round.

The popular press finds very much satisfaction in trying to make it appear that republicans are always fighting at the "vice county" when as a matter of fact, it only represents a whine because they, the popular press are not privileged to partake of pie, which they would greedily grab at the first opportunity.

The general approval with which President Roosevelt's message has been received by the press of the country, has doubtless never been exceeded by the message of any other president. These men who forced Roosevelt to accept the vice presidential nomination, buldied better than they knew and should be congratulated for having been successful. The president's ability is becoming more forcibly recognized as time passes by.

There is always reason, everywhere and under all circumstances, for gratitude to the kind providence that has watched over us, but there never was a time when the people of Nebraska had more occasion to return thanks to God than at the present. Such temporary prosperity was never known before, such rapid accumulation of substantial wealth, such universal enjoyment of plenty. But wealth is not the greatest blessing bestowed upon man. We are exempted here from death dealing disease. No serious epidemic prevails and those who use prudence and care, in the main, are in the enjoyment of good health. Still greater and higher than this the people are at the present enjoying greater opportunities for education and mental improvement. There are more and better schools, more libraries, more books and a greater desire for knowledge. There is also advancement in morals and religion, better education, and more zeal in the pulpit, larger churches and very noticeable decrease in blotting among christians and denominations and less doubt and unbelief than at the present. Such a state of affairs is the equal of any in moral and religious sentiment. For all of which we should be truly thankful, not one day alone, but every day of our lives.—York Times.

A MAGNIFICENT GIFT

CARNEGIE TO DONATE $10,000,000 TO UNITED STATES.

For a National University—An Institution of Higher Education to Be Located in Washington—Roosevelt Will Submit Proposal to Congress

The Washington Post says: President Roosevelt has received a letter from Andrew Carnegie in which the latter offers to make a donation of $10,000,000 to the United States. The letter will be referred to congress by the president in a special message.

Mr. Carnegie's gift is for the purpose of establishing in Washington a university for higher education. As far as his plan has been developed, it proposes a gift for the manner of the bequest of James Smithson, the Englishman who gave $1,000,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a university.

The amount of money to be given by Mr. Carnegie equals the sum of the present endowment fund of Harvard, and is considerably more than the investment fund of Yale.

NO DELAY WITH TREATY.

Belief that Hay-Pauncefote Pact Will Be Promptly Ratified.

The only measure of importance which the senate has on its calendar for the present week is the new Hay-Pauncefote treaty, making provision for the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty and opening the way for the unobstructed construction of an isthmian canal by the United States. Acting for the committee on foreign relations, Senator Lodge asked the senate to go into executive session Monday for the consideration of the treaty, and each day he will continue this action until the convention is disposed of.

It can be said that at this time the prospect is very strong that the treaty will be ratified, and it now looks as if this result will be secured after comparatively little delay. There will be some debate, and some features of the document will be criticised as undesirable, but there is no probability of captious opposition. The criticism will be along the lines indicated by Senators Money and Bacon in the committee on Friday last.

COMMERCIAL

While business in every line is in an extremely healthy condition there are many factors which always develop in prosperous times and which restrict manufacturing interests to a considerable extent.

The business of the country has grown faster than the equipment of motive power, and as a result of this the railroads have been unable to keep up with their recent additions.

The railroads have in the past found it is not advisable to carry extensive equipment, as their traffic has only been of the rush order for a few months at a time in the spring and fall, and during the winter months their cars had to be straggled to await a return of the next busy season.

The stock-taking period is at hand and all houses are busy. Mild weather has somewhat interfered with sales of heavy clothing, shoes, and hats.
