The supreme court has sustained the law requiring business together station tickets. For the time during which an assessor renders bona fide service he is entitled to three dollars per day, and the county board exceeds its authority when it undertakes to reduce the compensation defined by law. Moreover, the compensation provided assessors is per diem. The act of 1897 did not change the number of hours in a day any more than it did the length of the hours; no reason is perceived why three dollars per day is not just as adequate compensation for taking industrial statistics as it is for taking enumerations of property. If more days are required, the bill of the assessor will doubtless be that much larger. He would hardly need the encouragement of a special provision for compensation, to induce him to claim it.

Want Everybody to Know How Completely It Cures Indigestion.

This shows the unselfish disposition of Mr. Hodges of Orchard Cottage, Ippleden, New York, who, having been cured by Vogler's Compound, was ever after suffering from indigestion and was ever after cured by the use of this medicine. He tells his story as follows:—

"I was ailing and had a very bad case of indigestion, and could hardly get any sleep. I had tried dozens of remedies advertised in the newspapers, but they all failed. I was getting from bad to worse, when I had the good fortune to be recommended to take Vogler's Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say it made a new man of me. I should like other people to know the benefits and how completely it cures under the worst form of indigestion and dyspepsia." (Signed) GEORGE H. HODGES.

Why Is It? That St. Jacobs Oil always affords instant relief from pains, after all other remedies have signally failed? Simply because it is peculiar to itself, wholly unlike another remedy. It possesses great penetrating power, reaching the very seat of the disease, and sets the life magic. It conquers pain quickly and surely. It is an outward application, and is used by millions of people.

Good Reasons. Patent Medicine Salesman—Madam, did your husband use the bottle of "Faker's Blixir of Life" I left him? Mrs. Krape—Yes. It took immediate effect. Patent Medicine Salesman—Good. Then you can say that he'll use no other.

A Sensitive Soul. "I suppose you have said things you regretted," said the man with a heavy frown. "That isn't the point at all," answered Mr. Meekton. "I have been trying to figure out whether I ever said anything that I didn't regret."—Washington Star.

And They Were Sorry Afterward. "Why," said the man who does not believe in a large navy, "should we go to the expense of building more ships?" "Well," answered the man who does not jump at conclusions, "you know that in what Navy's neighbors said before the flood."—Washington Star.

Piso's Cure for Consumption promptly relieves my little 6-year-old sister, of whom I miss very much. 22 Fifth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 2, 1901.

Cultivation. "I suppose you have to make a very cultivated young man of your boy, Josh?" "Yes," answered Farmer Corntassel. "We cultivate him, like the other boys. Every boy and then we give him a rakin' over."—Washington Star.

CHAPTER IX. A long, sorrowful pause followed these last words. In Beryl Marsden's heart still troubled the gladness and brightness of the shock of that long-looked-for revelation. He had loved her all these years; loved her, served her, thought for her as no man on earth had ever done, never betraying himself, never dishonoring that true and steadfast friendship which had been so sweet and sure a thing to her. And now it was all over. The self-deception had been swept away in a moment. Never would they stand again in a moment. Never would each frank gaze and give to each other frank gaze and give to each other. The whole painful fabric they had raised was shattered at their feet. No wonder they could find no words, no wonder they dared not break the silence that seemed to hold their very lives in its brief, charmed pause, yet with each oblique moment bore slowly and surely away the frail bark of vanishing happiness, and the self-delusive sophistry which had so long hidden the shadows and rocks of a cruel fate.

Ivor Grant broke the silence at last, leading down the stairs with gentle hands the white, clasped fingers through which slow tears still found their way. "Do not cry any more," he said, gently. "You have shed so many tears of late, and it hurts me to see you."

"I am very foolish," she said, unobtrusively. "I am so sorry I ever came here. If I had known—"

"It would have made no difference," he said, quietly. "Sooner or later I should have betrayed myself. A man cannot play at indifference always, when his heart is aching with love."

"Is it right—it is fair to speak to me like this?" she said, pausing to the left of the stairs. "No, it is not," he said, with quiet conviction. "I never meant to do it; but it is so hard to keep words back. I would not hurt you, pain you, for worlds. I am aided, rapidly. 'Don't judge me harshly, and—don't look at me like that.'"

"I should like to ask you one thing," he said, growing very white. "You would not mind me, for even friendship gives me that right—the right to know if you are happy?"

"Does it need asking?" said Beryl, coldly. "Do happy women lead solitary lives like mine?"

"But you husband—he is so good to you. Did you not love him when you married?"

"Oh, do not ask," she cried, a hot, shamed flush creeping over cheek and brow. "I thought so; I thought my life would be safe and peaceful. I looked no deeper into my own heart, or his."

"Now things speak for themselves fairly well, I think," she answered, bitterly. "Not that I have any right to complain, or you any right to question. I was happy enough till—till my children were taken from me."

"You know me," he said, hurriedly, "and I think that your sorrow was to me well as a friend's consolation. Why, then, all this long, miserable, lonely time has followed. To think of the miserable, aching, dreary hours I have spent. No, don't speak—I don't reproach you. There is nothing for which you are to blame, except for filling my life to its very brim with the memory of a woman who had loved me before my memory. If you had been happy—beloved, loving—I would have been content, I think; but I know you were none of these, and the knowledge added and added to my love until the secret passed all power of will to keep it. I know you are sorry, but you could not help it, and an hour of quiet living here, that don't tell me so, don't pity me. Sky I am a brute, a coward, if you will; your scorn is easier to bear than your compassion."

"She spoke from her seat; her face looked like a marble, her trembling hands went out to him in one pitiful appeal of a woman's weakness. "Don't say more, I can't bear it. So long you have been my friend—the tenderest, truest friend that ever woman had, and now—now I must lose you, I have lost everything else. It does seem a little hard."

"Her grief unmaned him. He caught the trembling hands and held them to his beating heart, and an hour of quiet living here, that don't tell me so, don't pity me. Sky I am a brute, a coward, if you will; your scorn is easier to bear than your compassion."

"You will not lose me if it pains you, I will still be your friend." "After—to-night?" she said, slowly. "He dropped her hands. The blood rushed to his very brow. "You can't expect you to trust the single I can no longer trust myself, as I must leave you."

"Not just now," she cried, with a terror that brooked no concealment. "You could not leave me like this." "The sooner the better," he said humbly. "I have been said; it only remains to part for both our sakes."

"The dressing bell had rung long before, for dinner was to be an hour earlier on account of the tableaux, but neither of them had heard it. Beryl stood like one turned to stone. "What do you think best?" she said, speaking with slow and painful effort. "I—let me go to you. Sooner or later I know one of two things must happen. Your lips would speak my punishment of condemnation."

"But I love you," she said, quietly. "Do not think so hardly of me; only—only." "Only, all the same, our lives are severed," he said. "God bless you! Perhaps He will make you happy yet. As for me, I am content."

CROPS IN NEBRASKA

WINTER WHEAT CONDITIONS HAVE IMPROVED GREATLY.

Corn Planting Progressing—Pastures Show Good Improvement and Cattle Are Coming in Much Better Than Earlier in the Season.

Lincoln: United States department of agriculture, climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau, Nebraska section, for the week ending May 13 says: "The last week has been warm, with generous showers the first day of the week. The daily mean temperature has averaged about 2 degrees above the normal. The rainfall occurred on the first days of the week and generally amounted to between 0.75 of an inch and an inch. The past week has been a favorable one for the growth of all vegetation. Winter wheat has improved very much in appearance. In the southern counties the rain was sufficient to moisten the harrier fields, and the crop yield promises better than half the average crop. In a large part of the winter wheat belt, however, the prospect is that with favorable weather from nearly three months to a full crop will be realized. Grass in pastures and meadows has improved, but is still decidedly below the average condition at this time of year. (Oats, however, have grown well during the week. The soil is in excellent condition and corn planting has progressed rapidly. The early planted is coming up nicely. Fruit trees are blossoming very fully in northern counties; but are setting poorly in southern counties. The report by counties follows: Butler—Wheat looking well; some fields of oats thin, but generally fair; pastures poor; corn planting well begun. Cass—Winter wheat improved, looks healthy, but soil hard; some oats put in with press drills; rye heading short. Clay—Wheat improved by rain, but many fields are badly damaged; oats also somewhat damaged; corn planting progressing rapidly. Fillmore—Wheat looking much better; some fields of oats thin, but generally fair; pastures poor; corn planting well begun. Gage—Wheat not so much improved as expected, some fields heading, both stalk and head short; oats thin and poor; grass growing slowly. Hamilton—Wheat much improved and now in good condition; corn planting just beginning; grass greatly improved. Jefferson—Wheat has received and promises about half a crop; oats and pastures improved; corn planting well advanced. Johnson—Wheat improved by rain, but is beginning to head short; corn planting more than half done; oats and grass improved. Lancaster—Wheat short, but good stand and shows excellent color; grass and oats growing nicely; some early planted corn up. Nemaha—Small grain looking a great deal better, but wheat somewhat damaged; corn mostly planted, some coming up. The little maid received a sharp scratch. In surprise, pain and anger she announced that her naughty pet was "the dirtiest end that ever was."

TALE OF TWO LITTLE SINNERS. Humorous Remarks Made by a Pair of Infantile Offenders. This is the quaint story of two little sinners of one race. They have the same Chicago birthright and the same heritage of religious faith. It is perhaps just as well that their paths have never crossed.

The first in point of age is the 3 or 4 year old son of a clergyman widely known as a spirited denouncer of public and private wrongdoing. Last summer, at a seaside resort, this boy, as he passed by a fruit stall, coolly helped himself to an orange and proceeded to eat it with ungenerous enjoyment. His father, coming upon the scene, promptly paid for the appropriated fruit and then, taking the offender aside, talked to him long and earnestly about the duty of observing the eighth commandment. The child listened with attention, his eyes wide and thoughtful.

"And now, David," continued the father, feeling that the home sermon had done convincing work, "I have paid for the orange you took, but you must go to the fruit man and tell him that you are sorry."

"Yes, papa," said the boy, as he clambered listlessly down from his father's knee, "and I'll just take an other orange as I go, and then tell the man I'm sorry for 'em."

The other sinner is the tiny daughter of a professor in a theological seminary, a man celebrated for scholarship, polish of language and correctness of life. While playing recently with a pet cat—the day chanced to be Friday—the little maid received a sharp scratch. In surprise, pain and anger she announced that her naughty pet was "the dirtiest end that ever was."

Her mother heard the exclamation with amazement and horror. Proof was followed by a scolding out of the putting month and with the impressive command: Never, never, Adelaide, let me hear you talk in that wicked, wicked way again!"

The next week Aunt Marjorie came to visit the household, and to her was soon told in confidence the story of Adelaide's amusing command of language. This guest—who is young, unrepining and not easily shocked—resolved to make an experiment. Seizing her niece at play, and puss looking on, she said:

"That's a fine cat of yours, Adelaide." "No, Aunt Marjorie, it isn't," was the quick answer, resentment in the tone. "It's—"

"Adelaide!" cried the mother, who at this instant appeared in the doorway. "It can't be possible that you are going to talk again in that naughty, naughty way about your cat!"

"No, mamma," was the collected reply. "I was just going to say that it was the same kind of a cat it was last Friday."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Weak?

"I suffered terribly and was extremely weak for 12 years. The doctors said my blood was all turning to water. At last I tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was soon feeling all right again."
Mrs. J. W. Flata, Hadlyme, Ct.

No matter how long you have been ill, nor how poorly you may be today, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine you can take for purifying and enriching the blood.

Don't doubt it, put your whole trust in it, throw away everything else.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows it is the grand old family medicine. Follow his advice and you will be benefited.

The American navy will cost the people seventy-eight million dollars this year, but that's the kind of a navy your Uncle Sam supports.

When you are thinking of your trials and troubles just give a thought to those people on the Island of Martinique, buried beneath the burning lava. It is too horrible to contemplate.

A tornado at Gailad, Texas, on Sunday, caused the loss of 150 lives and vast destruction of property. The path of the funnel was about 250 yards wide in which not a life was spared nor a building left intact.

Uncle Sam was to the fore in sending assistance to the volcano victims. Congress at once appropriated $500,000 for that purpose in addition to vast sums given privately. Ship loads of clothing and food were shipped immediately.

W. W. Young seems to be leading the candidates for the republican nomination for Congressman from this district at present. Mr. Young is quite popular among the people of the "big third" and his nomination we believe would mean election.—Wausa Herald.

Tuesday, May 20th, the Island of Cuba became an independent republic, with Senor Palma as its first President. The Island's Natal day was a proud one for the people who sent greetings to the mother country. The United States troops were withdrawn and thus another pledge, made during President McKinley's administration, has been fulfilled to the letter.

Hon. John T. Bressler, who is a candidate for State Treasurer, is meeting with success from all sources and that he will receive the nomination there is little doubt. Mr. Bressler's ability and qualifications for filling the office are well known and he should receive the loyal and undivided support of the republicans of Wayne county. He will be the next treasurer of Nebraska.

BRITISH TARIFF ON GRAIN.
It Would Impress Upon Our Farmers the Value of the Home Market.
Even if the new British duties reduce our exports of flour and grain, it need not follow that this will be a dead loss to American farmers. It is true that most of this flour and grain would be thrown back upon the home market, but we can, if we will, expand the home market far enough to take care of all of it and more. If the western farmers can no longer sell their products to the workers in British factories, there will be added need that they shall sell them to workers in American factories. There will be a new and potent reason why more American factories should be established. There will be a fresh and convincing argument for the maintenance of the full effect of our Protective system.

The English workman may eat bread made from American or Russian or Argentine flour. It is all the same to him. These foreign products have an equal chance with our own in the British market. But in the home market of America it is different. No Russian wheat comes here; no wheat from Argentina. The American workman eats American bread and that only. Moreover, because he is much better paid and accustomed to a more generous scale of living, he eats more food of all kinds. Economists say that one American family is worth as much as a consumer of American farm products as from three to ten European families.

So, if our western farmers lose the British market, they will have a new and powerful reason for upholding an economic policy which will make up for this loss by creating a new market in America. If the men who work in English workshops will no longer buy American flour and grain, then that flour and grain must be sold to men who work in American workshops. And it is, therefore, absolutely essential to the prosperity of the western farmers that American workshops should be multiplied.

So long as our western farmers ship a considerable portion of their flour and grain abroad it was difficult to persuade them that they had much direct interest in the Protection and encouragement of American manufacturing. But now that these farmers see that their foreign market may be taken away from them, the home market looms up as of transcendent importance.—Boston Journal.

On the 8th day of May, 1902, the amount of gold in the United States Treasury was $549,429,860, the largest sum in gold coin the national money vaults ever contained. This gratifying condition exists after five years of McKinleyism, of Dingleyism, of Protectionism, or what ever you please to call it. It contrasts strongly with the conditions which existed six or seven or eight years ago under a Tariff reform or Free-Trade administration. Then we were selling bonds to make good our Treasury stock of gold, which had fallen to about $50,000,000, or, say, $500,000,000 below the present high water mark. No sooner did we exchange bonds for gold coin than the gold would be drawn out again in redemption of legal tender notes. So it went, that disheartening "endless chain" of taking in and paying out gold. McKinley broke the "endless chain," and it has stayed broken ever since.—Economist.

Senator W. W. Young of Stanton, an aspirant for the nomination of congressman before the republican convention of this district, was in the city Monday getting acquainted with republicans. The senator is a gentleman of ability and good standing in the state. He has been a resident of this district for over twenty years, has been an active republican, a good campaigner, a splendid orator and a man with the courage of his convictions.—Tekamah Herald.

"No sooner does he land in Cuba," says the Conservative, complimentary to Bryan, "than the adjacent ocean bed sinks half a mile, and the majestic volcano which have for a half century silently watched the peons peacefully tilling their cane, disgorge a molten mass of seething liquid destruction in a vain attempt to imitate the American style of oratory."

Bryan has run up against a snag in Connecticut by urging the nomination of Mayor Mulvihill, of Bridgeport, as the Democratic candidate for Governor. Mulvihill is the stoker who was nominated and elected Mayor by the labor organizations of Bridgeport after having previously served the town acceptably as a member of the Council. Bryan is reported to have said, "If Mulvihill can sweep Bridgeport, why can he not sweep the state?" But the Democrats of Connecticut resent the suggestion as gratuitous intermeddling on Bryan's part with their State affairs, and they propose to make their own selection of a candidate for the Governorship.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Constant motion jars the kidneys which are kept in place in the body by delicate attachments. This is the reason that travelers, trainmen, street car men, teamsters and all who drive very much suffer from kidney disease in some form. Foley's Kidney Cure strengthens the kidneys and cures all forms of kidney and bladder disease. Geo. H. A PLANTER

Is a machine that must be most carefully built and thoroughly tested, as farmers can not afford to use a machine that fails to do perfect work at the time. This time is not only valuable then, but there is the liability of loss of a crop. It must be Durable, Light, Draft, Easy to Handle, and have a Drop that is certain and accurate, so that the operator may at any time have no doubt about every hill going right to the spot. No planter will so nearly fill these requirements as the AVERY.

We Do Not BELONG TO ANY TRUST.

Some merchants belong to a society formed for the purpose of making prices. Some merchants are satisfied to sell goods as cheap as their competitors. Some merchants are satisfied if they buy goods at the same prices as their neighbor. Most merchants believe they must run their store on the old plan. Buy on time and trust anyone that asks for goods on time. We do not believe in that class of merchants. We are not satisfied unless we sell goods cheaper than any competitor. We make every effort to buy goods cheaper than other merchants. We conduct our business on the new and modern plan. We buy for cash only, and in case lots direct from the factory. We lose nothing by having bad accounts. We pay no rent and can make better prices than those that do. We make our own prices and make them to all alike. We sell the same goods at less price and better goods for the same price others ask. Now there is no way to convince some that we do all these things unless they will give this store a trial. It is impossible to make every one believe all we advertise unless they come in and see for themselves. This store is growing every day and we succeed in satisfying every one that gives us a trial, that this is the best place to buy clothing.

Is there any good reason why you have never been in this store? We will keep telling the same story until every one in Wayne county has given this store a fair trial. If we fail to please you that is our fault. If you fail to investigate this store and pay more than we ask, that will be your fault. It costs you nothing to try this store. Why not try it? You will lose nothing by buying here and you will surely gain something. You are invited to come in no matter if you do not buy.

Hart who was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary last winter and labor for having murdered her first husband, declared that Kimball, who she had married and who caused her arrest and sentence, knew she was married, and as a result he was arraigned before Judge Hunter on Monday and held for trial in the district court. Being unable to give bond he was placed in jail.

The engineer while giving an exhibition with the engine of the new steam threshing outfit on Tuesday, went back quite a distance and then made a straight shoot for the southeast corner of the Herald office, and he struck it, owing to the fact that the engine cut the line out off causing him to slip and he did not stop the machine within an inch of the building as he expected. DIED.

Rita Marie, the three month old daughter of Dr. Decker and Henry Monday, May 10, 1902. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Karpenstein of Wayne, at the residence of the parents, on Dr. Williams' farm six miles southwest of Wayne. Interment took place at the cemetery in this city on Wednesday, May 21st at noon.

Wm. C. Heinrichs who resided north of Wayne as a brother-in-law, and Fred Heinrichs, died at his home Tuesday night after an illness of a few weeks. He had been afflicted with small pox and in some manner caught cold which resulted in his death. The funeral was held this afternoon.

Mr. Heinrichs and his wife died a few weeks ago went to Missouri together a few years ago to reside, and returned to Wayne at the same time as they were brothers-in-law, and it is a peculiar incident that the dates of their death should be less than three weeks apart.

DEATH OF MRS. MARK STRINGER.

Mrs. Matilda Stringer, the beloved wife of Mark Stringer, died at her beautiful home in this city, May 18th, 1902, after an illness of several months.

Deceased was born in Canada and came to Nebraska in 1870. In 1890 and was married to Mark Stringer and moved to Wayne county in 1880. She has been a loyal and consistent member of the Presbyterian church since she made a profession of faith to her Savior Jesus Christ Jan. 14th, 1889. Her life had been a most beautiful one, and she was a devoted wife and mother, and one that all should try to emulate.

A very large and beautiful display of flowers indicated the love and friendship borne her by many friends. Her husband and her children are left in mourning but her departure is the services were held at the Presbyterian church where the former pastor, Rev. G. M. Lodge, reviewed briefly her christian life, after which the funeral service was preached by Rev. J. H. Karpenstein. The body was taken to the Greenwood cemetery for burial.

I feel grateful for your furnishing such a splendid medicine, and can honestly recommend it to those suffering from malaria, 50c bottle at E. J. Raymond."

W. E. Howard Writes Us A Letter

Waukon, Ia., May 17, 1902.
The Herald reaches me regularly, but last week when I tore the wrapper off I was at once impressed that something was wrong, for things were decidedly awry. Some of the lines ran due east, others northeast or east by south, while others ran no well defined direction, reminding me of a woodland path—now here, now there—wandering where ever fancy or caprice may lead; but the worst of all was that parts of many of the items of interest that had failed to make connection with the press. I fancy they fell over the edge of the machine and were swept out among friend Philleo's machinery. This week's paper, however, came in its usual form, and was read from start to finish. I want to assure you that one needs to make connections from home to fully appreciate the local paper and he notes carefully the doings of his old friends. In every community there seems to be a new line of names; some odd when first heard or seen; for instance, notice a few which I have had to write in making up the Stock Register of the Mining Company—Alyea, Allesse, Balt Diamid, Espersen, Huntoon, Kraft, and others equally new to me, but how about this one? Luigi Notine. I fancy sunny Italy must claim him. In connection with this I have had to add that out of about 500 names which I have recorded, 58 of them begin with H, while only five begin with J.

Speaking of woodland paths reminded me that the woods are becoming very beautiful. The oak leaves are about half grown and have a soft, velvety appearance. The hickory trees are shooting their buds, giving, as they unfold, a fantastic touch to the scene; but one of the most pleasing features in a wooded and rocky country is the clear, sparkling streamlet, rippling and sparkling along over the rocks and pebbles as it winds through the forest. How I wish that I could take all of my old pupils into a shady dell a short distance east of this place where such a brook flows, playing around or under the roots of some old oak or maple. Here and there I would find a broad, flat ledge of limestone, over which the water spreads. I think the first thing they would want to do would be to get with shoes and stockings and sit in.

On the hills on either side they come in the shape of ferns, violets, May apples, several varieties of crowfoots and others in season, such as lady-slippers and columbines, while here and there Jack-in-the-pulpit peeps out from under his canopy and preaches his little sermon of God's goodness to his children. It is such a place would help them more to understand many of their readings than perhaps a week in school. There are many beautiful places about here, but to reach them we cannot pass over the smooth roads that we have about Wayne. On no is a land of muck and gravel and rattle over the stones, or bump into or out of the clay ruts. So you see every section has some of the good things to enjoy and some evils to endure. There were two things that looked odd to me when I came, I am sure, was coming along with them in my boyhood days; one of the windows in the old houses having 12 to 18 panes, and the second to see a big pile of wood in nearly every back door yard. I am fond of walking and often go out for a walk before breakfast, at least in the morning, and I often see men out saving or splitting wood. I suspect in some cases they have to do so or go without breakfast, and as I contemplate the graceful hump they have as the saw moves up and down I remember the ease with which a coal bucket is filled, or a basket of eggs brought in.

Waukon has a system of water works quite similar to Wayne's, but they put the wells near the stand pipe on the highest part of town, putting down two six inch wells about 600 feet deep, each supplied with excellent water. The town seems larger than Wayne's, but the census showed 2158 to Wayne's 2119.

I noticed a few days ago that Mr. Gus of Winside, had been out to see the Hidden Fortune mines, and he reported them as being the best mining proposition in the country. The man in charge of our Bureau work at the mines in Oregon, and also a man who went out to examine them with a view of making an investment in the stock said identically the same thing about these mines, so I can do nothing but keep the books straight and let time decide which is correct.

Spring Alliments.

There is an aching and tired feeling; the liver, bowels and kidneys become sluggish and inactive; the digestion impaired, with little or no appetite; no energy for anything, and a feeling that the whole body and mind need toning up. The trouble is, that during winter, there has been an accumulation of waste matter in the system. Herbine will remove it, secure to the stomach, and give strength instead of weakness. 50c at Raymond's.

BIG STORM IN TEXAS

REPORT THAT 50 TO 150 PEOPLE WERE KILLED AT GOLIAD.

The Path of Tornado Was Narrow—In One Street of the Town Only a Single House is Left Standing—The Whole State is Storm Swept.

Houston, Tex.: Reports received here by telegraph and telephone indicate that the northern or western portion of the town of Goliad has been swept away by a tornado, and that from 50 to 100 people have been killed.

The long-distance operator at Houston was in connection with Goliad at 7 o'clock Sunday evening, and beyond that fact that part of the town had been blown away, and that many persons had been killed and injured, no other particulars were obtained.

Considerable damage has also been done at Beeville by high winds. Both towns are close to the gulf coast, and all telegraph wires by two routes are down.

A special to the Houston Post, from Goliad, Tex., says: At 3:45 Sunday afternoon a tornado struck the beautiful and historical town of Goliad, and left a death and desolation in its pathway beyond the power of pen to portray.

A correspondent reached the scene at 7 o'clock on a special train from Victoria, Tex., bearing doctors, nurses and medicines, friends and relatives of Goliad people, and left Goliad at 10:30.

The scene which met the eye on reaching the scene of destruction in the west end part of the city was appalling. Between Church and Prairie streets, which run north and south, a distance of a mile, only one house was left standing, and scarcely a vestige of many others were seen. Very little damage was done except within these boundaries, a width of 200 yards.

The tornado was preceded by a heavy hailstorm and a deep, rumbling sound, but no one had any premonition of the disaster, and there was no time to get to cover, as the tornado, dealing death and disaster, was all over in a few moments. The residence section suffered most.

DISPATCHER GOES INSANE.

Collisions on the Vandalla Road Narrowly Averted.

Brazil, Ind.: Frank Orrell, operator at the Vandalla depot at Knightsville, became violently insane Saturday. He nearly caused a collision between the east and westbound passenger trains and two fast freights. He ran up the main streets of Knightsville, and that the depot had been robbed, and brandishing a revolver. The engineer of a freight thought the operator was insane when he handed him an order, as it was not readable. The engineer made quick time to this city and reported Orrell's condition. Operators were sent out to work and stopped all trains until orders could be straggled out.

Wants End of American Rule in Cuba signalled by Clemency.

Havana: Beginning with the pardon of two Cubans who were to have been garroted Friday, Gov. Gen. Wood has issued many pardons to minor offenders. Gen. Wood, the pardon has been based upon petition.

German Hansa Line Steamer Went Down in Indian Ocean.

Part of the crew has been landed at this port. Busted for Opening Wife's Notes.

Boston, Mass.: M. D. Gibbons, of North Adams, was fined $50 by Judge Lowell in the United States court for opening letters addressed to his wife. Gibbons was intensely jealous, and suspected that his wife's love was waning. She complained to the postal authorities when her husband opened her letters, and Gibbons was arrested.

Big Mine Fire.

Honiton, Mo.: Fire swept this town Sunday afternoon. Aid was called from neighboring towns. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Several persons were badly burned.

BIG FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Many Persons Injured at Blaze in Lead Refinery.

Chicago: During the progress of a fire which Friday night destroyed the lead refinery of Armour & Co., in the Union stock yards, twenty-nine people were injured, seven of them in a manner which will probably cause death in a short time. The loss of the company is estimated by its officers at between $750,000 and $900,000. There were a number of accidents, one by far the largest number of those who were injured and their injuries by the falling of the bog runway upon which they were standing to obtain a better view of the fire.

The lead refinery had just been completed, and was considered by its owners the most complete establishment of its kind in the United States. It stood at the intersection of Forty-third and Center avenues, and was five stories high and 250 by 200 feet. It was filled with new and costly machinery and during the night 2,000 people worked within its walls. The night shift numbered 700 persons who were in the building when the fire broke out. It is thought all escaped, although the time allowed some of them was extremely brief.

The fire originated with an explosion of three lead tanks on the fifth floor of the building.

The fire attracted an enormous crowd of people who crowded all the narrow streets in the stock yards and swarmed by thousands upon the viaducts which pass through the yards at a height of twenty feet from the ground. The portion of the lead refinery which was destroyed by the burning building was densely packed and suddenly about 200 feet of a bog runway, extending from the viaduct north to the plant of Armour & Co., gave way, precipitating fully 1,000 persons to the ground. The firemen will probably abandon their work on the building and devoted their energies to saving the people. All were taken from the wreckage within a few minutes and placed in an improvised hospital in the plant of the German-American Provision Company.

A TITANIC STRUGGLE.

Anthracite Mine Workers Make Plans to Tie Up Industries.

Hazleton, Pa.: The anthracite mine workers in connection with the strike in this district have unanimously decided upon a plan that, if carried into successful operation, would practically tie up the industries of the country, paralyze business and inconvenience the people throughout the United States. It is their desire that a general national convention of the United Mine Workers of America be called as soon as practical for the purpose of endeavoring to have all the bituminous mine workers, both organized and unorganized, involved in the anthracite miners' struggle. This announcement was officially made Friday by President James White.

If the special national convention is called and the miners succeed in their object it would directly affect 4,000,000 men employed in and about the coal mines of the country. Coal would soon become scarce, and this would affect the entire country, as it is used in all sorts of industries that use large quantities of fuel.

The striking miners are enthusiastic over the convention's action, and most of them can see only success in the proposition.

An absolutely trustworthy source is authority for the statement that the special convention will be called, probably at Indianapolis, in the course of several weeks.

BOUCHER IS FOUND GUILTY.

Man Who Killed John Bellisle Sentenced for Eight Years.

Springview, Neb.: Joseph Boucher was found guilty of manslaughter in the killing of John Bellisle, and was sentenced to the penitentiary for eight years by Judge Wood. The closing argument occupied four hours, Attorney Harrington of O'Neill speaking for the defense, and Judge Genung of Glenwood, Ia., for the state. They both went over the evidence carefully. Harrington made a strong plea not to convict the defendant because he had injured blood in his veins.

The jury was out twelve hours. The case will be reviewed by the supreme court, and a retrial is now being prepared.

The case has been one of the most sensational ever tried in the courts here. The father of the defendant was much disappointed over the outcome. He feels confident his son is innocent.

Looting and Robbery.

Kingston: Advice received here say looting and robbery are on the increase at St. Pierre and elsewhere, and the authorities cannot cope with the conditions, especially as local political interests are being excited by the looting and robbery. There are 6,000 refugees at Port de France, and rioting is feared there.

Point Pleasant, W. Va.: The American Hotel and three adjoining buildings were burned Friday at Lees Ferry. Three other persons were injured. The loss is $30,000.

Fumigating Can Explodes.

Bloomfield, N. J.: An explosion occurred at the Bloomfield Hotel which nearly killed Mrs. Gump and Bridges. A man was taken from the hotel with indications of smallpox. The doctors were fumigating the hotel, and the fumigating can exploded. The top of the can was blown through the ceiling and tore large pieces of the casing from the door. Both the doctors were burned around the head and eyes.

BURNED ALIVE IN HOUSE.

Blaze at Laurel, Neb. Results in the Loss of Three Lives.

Laurel, Neb.: John Jacobson, wife and 2-year-old baby girl lost their lives in a fire which was discovered here at 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning and which completely destroyed the Jacobson place and the Jacobson residence in the same building. Mr. Jacobson was 40 years of age and his wife 30.

Mr. Jacobson was aroused from his sleep by the cries of "Fire." He left the building, not realizing it was his own place that was burning. When he saw the danger he rushed back into the house to save his wife and two children. He did not appear again.

Just after Mr. Jacobson re-entered the building to rescue his wife and children, a barrel of coal tar which was in the building caught fire, and with this added to the fire, the flames became very high into their air and the structure in a short time was little more than ashes.

Mr. Jacobson's hired man managed to save the Jacobsons' 5-year-old daughter, Mary, carrying her through the smoke and flames to a place of safety.

SEES HIS GIRL DIE.

Prayers of "Healer" Dowie Fail to Save Daughter's Life.

Chicago: Esther Dowie, daughter of Dr. Alexander Dowie, proprietor of Zion's church, died Tuesday night of burns. Mrs. Dowie was 21 years old, and was a student at the University of Chicago.

Thursday morning her hair caught fire from a gas jet and her head and face were terribly burned. Nurses placed saline on the patient's wounds, as the Dowie doctrine allows the use of medicine.

Meanwhile the "divine healer" was hurrying to her bedside from the new city of Zion at Waukegan. Upon his arrival the attendants were excluded from the room and Dowie sank to his knees in prayer. His supplications lasted all day. He refused to cease even to take nourishment.

The patient died at 9 o'clock in great agony, having returned to consciousness a short time before.

TRIED TO FREE FILIPINOS.

Carnegie Offered to Repay the $20,000,000 Debt.

New York: Through George F. Seward, president of the Fidelity and Casualty Company, a new evidence has been made public of the industry of Andrew Carnegie's opposition to United States occupation of the Philippines. Mr. Seward has offered to repay to the United States the $20,000,000 debt to Spain, if, by that means, he could be enabled to assist the Filipinos that their independence would be acknowledged ultimately by the United States.

Mr. Seward and Mr. Carnegie are old friends. The latter, thirty years ago, and believes the experience of Oriental peoples there gained by contract and observation qualifies him to speak with certainty about what should be this nation's treatment of the Filipinos and its attitude toward them.

RUSSIA'S STARVING HORDES.

Fifteen Hundred Peasants Are Arriving in Moscow Each Day.

St. Petersburg: Enormous numbers of starving peasants from central Russia are reaching the city daily. They are in frightful misery. Seven additional freight trains each bring into the city an average of 1,500 daily.

The proclamation of a state of siege in several districts in the province of Poltava has not had the expected result, and a new military movement may be expected. The expelled students are flooding a rising.

Charged with Robbing Wife.

CUBA AT LAST FREE

United States Bids Godspeed to Liberated Patriots.

A REPUBLIC IS BORN.

Transfer of Government Is Made and Palma Inaugurated President.

Realization of Hopes of Many Years Came When the American Colors Were Displaced by the Blue and White Lone-Star Flag of Cuba—New Republic Makes Its Initial Bow to the Nations of the Earth.

CUBA LIBRE is now an established fact. The United States has handed over Cuba to the Cubans and has with a wave of the magic wand on the island with all the paraphernalia of government which has been there since the war, May 20, 1902, will long remain an unforgettable historical event in the history of the world which has few parallels and marks the attainment of the end for which for centuries Cubans have fought. The spirit of the Teller resolution, which was adopted by Congress just previous to the declaration of war with Spain, has dominated all the acts of the United States toward Cuba since the first fleet of United States warships was sent from Key West to Havana to maintain a blockade of the port. Those resolutions pledged the United States to establish a Cuban republic dominated by a Cuban government and undertake all the obligations of the world which has for its purpose of annexing it to the United States have been fulfilled to the letter.

Upon the transfer of government and control to the President and Congress of Cuba, Gen. Wood, the retiring governor general, advised them that what was to be done was to do the best for the island and to do it with a clear conscience and with the approval of the people.

Gen. Wood's order further reads: It is the intention of the government of the United States that the government of the island will pass to the new President and Congress of Cuba as a going concern all the laws promulgated by the government of occupation (containing in force and effect and all the judicial and subordinate executive and administrative offices continuing in the lawful discharge of their present functions until changed by the constitutional officers of the new government. At the same moment the responsibility of the United States for the collection and expenditure of revenues and for the proper performance of duties by the officers and employees of the insular government will end and the responsibility of the new government of Cuba therefor will commence.

Constitutional Provisions. The Cuban constitution makes it impossible for the island government to enter into any treaty with foreign powers which will tend to impair its independence, to go in debt beyond its ordinary revenue receipts and to invalidate any acts of the United States during its military occupation. Cuba has given her pledge to keep up the sanitary condition of the island. The Cuban government has also agreed that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris upon the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by Cuba.

The Cubans have further agreed to sell or lease certain lands for coal stations and to omit from the constitutional boundaries of Cuba the Isle of Pines, the title of which is to be left to future adjustment by treaty.

With the exception of these few provisions the republic of Cuba enters upon its career of independent government as a free and untrammelled. During his occupancy Uncle Sam has spent millions of dollars on the island that he will never get back and has done a wonderful amount of work in bettering its condition. New roads have been constructed and old ones repaired, streets have been cleaned and improved, sewers have been built and parks laid out, the government machinery has been organized, the yellow fever has been stamped out all over the island, and its sanitary conditions have been so thoroughly improved that if the work is continued there will be no menace in the future from Yellow Fever either Cuba or the United States.

"The income of the island," says Brig. Gen. Wood, "is fully equal to its individual demands at this time, and I believe the Cubans will keep it so. There is $500,000 in the Cuban treasury, the people are loyal and law-abiding and will do all they can to support President Palma and his cabinet."

A RETROSPECT.

Brief Review of Events Coming Out of the War. The occupation of Cuba by the United States practically began with the landing of Shafter's army at Siboney on the island, and the American colors were displaced by the blue and white Lone-Star flag of Cuba.

Last Sunday it looked as if all the base ball enthusiasts in the county had gathered at Winside. Norfolk, Wayne and Hoskins each had a nine and a couple of games were played. Wayne and Winside had the first tilt which proved to be very exciting and resulted, according to our informant in favor of Winside by a score of 3 to 2. Then Norfolk and Hoskins played four innings resulting in favor of Hoskins 7 to 0. Next Sunday Winside and Hoskins had a game which was very close. We consider this Sunday ball playing bad and demoralizing, but if they are bound to do it and lose their souls, let us hope that Winside will come out on top. -Winside Tribune.

The Tribune's informant is off that all for the Wayne team won the above mentioned game. Now that's the first game Wayne has won from Winside since we can remember, so please give us credit. The score was 22 to 23.

An explosion occurred at the Midway hotel at Wausa Friday which nearly killed Mrs. Gaunig and Bridges. A man was taken from the hotel with indications of small pox. The doctors were fumigating the man, when the fumigating can exploded. The top of the can was blown through the ceiling and tore large pieces of ceiling from the door. Both the doctors were burned around the head and eyes. Dr. Bridges succeeded in getting down stairs but Dr. Gaunig was overcome by the escaping gas and lay with his face down buried in a pillow upon the bed. Prof. J. O. Prof. Clark was nearly suffocated, but managed to get downstairs. Dr. Gaunig was finally got down, and fresh air soon revived him. Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the means of life, and enjoyment of life to thousands: men women and children.

When appetite fails, it restores it. When food is a burden, it lifts the burden. When you lose flesh, it brings the plumpness of health.

When work is hard and duty is heavy, it makes life bright.

It is the thin edge of the wedge; the thick end is food. But what is the use of food, when you hate it, and can't digest it?

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is the food that makes you forget your stomach. If you have not tried it, send for a sample. Its agreeable taste will surprise you. It is sold by all druggists. Price 50c and $1.00 all druggists.

Times Change.

Fashions change—with a tailor always—with the ready-made clothing man if he sold his last stock. A man can be perfectly sure of entire clothing satisfaction only. There are no men alike. In one there is a little defect here—in another it is in an entirely different place. Tailor made clothing is the cheapest in every way man can figure. Style, satisfaction, finish and elegance all combined by

Holtz, the Tailor.
