KILLED AT A CROSSING.

J. H. Fisher, a Well Known Farmer, Meets Sudden Death. o o o

John H. Fisher, a prominent West township farmer, was instantly killed on the Lawrence crossing about two miles west of Red Oak last Saturday evening by passenger train No. 14. Mr. Fisher left Red Oak about 6 o'clock in the evening for home. It had begun to rain and he put up the side curtains. By the time the Lawrence crossing was reached it was raining hard, so he probably did not hear the whistle of the train or the ringing of the bell. The engine struck the buggy, cutting it loose from the horses, and carried it and the man on the pilot, where it was found when the train stopped. The body was taken to the baggage car and brought to Red Oak where it was turned over to Undertaker Herman.

Train No. 14, which was due at Red Oak at 6:45, was in charge of Conductor Chas. Flint, with Engineer Will Kelly, at the throttle. Mr. Kelly's regular run is the fast mail but at Pacific Junction he learned of the death of his mother and changed engines, arranging to take No. 14 as far as Red Oak. It was a sad home coming to him, for on his way to his dead mother his engine killed a man.

No. 14 pulled out of Hawthorne on time. At the usual place the engine whistled for the crossing and the bell was ringing also. Just before the crossing was reached the fireman called to Kelly to stop the engine and then, just before him he saw a buggy on the track. The next instant the engine struck it and carried it along. When the body was examined it was found that no bones were broken but there was a bruise on the forehead. The shock had caused instant death. The vehicle was smashed to kindling wood. The horses escaped with only slight injuries.

Coroner Kreidler held an inquest over the remains Sunday morning, the jury being composed of J. K. Dennis, Geo. Lombard and C. J. Bookwith. The only witnesses were W. E. Haines, who carried the body to the baggage car, and S. G. Hersman, who prepared the body for burial. In the afternoon the inquest was reconvened and the testimony of Engineer Kelly was taken. A verdict exonerating anyone from blame was returned.

The body was taken to the home of the deceased, near Sunday church in West township, Sunday evening. The funeral, which was held from the home Tuesday forenoon, was largely attended, over 50 teams being in the procession as they came into Red Oak on their way to the cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. W. G. Hoban, sexton.

John H. Fisher was born in Bedford county, Pa., Nov. 28, 1867, and was therefore in his 45th year. He was married Sept. 15, 1880, to Ellen M. Wookey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Wookey, of West township. They resided for sometime in Decatur county, where his father still lives. About 20 years ago they moved to Emerson, and for a year and a half he worked for Judge Tabbs. Then he moved to Wayne county, Neb., where he lived 12 years. After spending 8 years in Missouri he came to Montgomery county six years ago, settling in West township where he has since resided. Last spring he bought the home farm of 240 acres and had just completed a new $3000 residence. Just the week before his death he had purchased the J. T. Barn's farm of 27 acres near Emerson.

The deceased leaves a wife and five children, Loren J., age 20; Roy E., age 17; Ervin G., age 15; Cleo P., age 10; and Vera, age 4. He is also survived by his father, Wm. Fisher, of Beaconsfield, Ia., two brothers and three sisters, Wm. L. Fisher, and Mrs. Lottie Sowders, Wayne county, Neb.; Mrs. Kate Huff, of Albion; Isaac K. Fisher and Mrs. Mary Nagley, of Decatur City, all of whom were present at the funeral. Others who attended from abroad were Mrs. Anna Fisher, of Wayne, Neb., and Thos. Wookey, of Leon, sister and brother of Mrs. Fisher, and Fred and Harry Fisher, of Decatur City, nephews of Mr. Fisher.

The deceased was a member of the Woodmen and Yeoman lodges at Emerson, carrying $3000 insurance in the former and $2000 in the latter.

You cannot cover up a wrong at home by a gift abroad.

Frank Skeen went to Omaha Monday morning.

Dr. J. C. Clark, eye specialist, will be at Wayne Oct. 20.

Andy Brenner was here from Minneapolis over Sunday.

Mrs. Ell Jones went to Carroll Tuesday to remain a few days.

Wm. Stageman of Randolph was in Wayne on business Monday.

Fred Castle of Omaha, was the guest of Robt. Mellor a few days last week.

Frank Mettlan and family, of Winfield, Sundayed with relatives in Wayne.

J. Stimmerman and L. J. Hughes were down from Carroll Tuesday attending the carnival.

Mrs. McArthur of Sioux City, and Mrs. A. B. Clark of Wayne, visited Tuesday at J. Dineen's—Sioux Argus.

Perry & Porterfield received three more car load of feeders Thursday night which they disposed of in a very short time.

Dr. Seymour, eye specialist, will be accompanied by a noted ear, nose and throat specialist; consultation free. They will be in Norfolk Sept. 15 and 16 at Oxnard hotel.

It is practically conceded, that the wife is generally president of the household; the husband is secretary of the treasury and the duties of his office are very simple. All he has to do is to honor requisitions.

On September 25 Robert Sneath of Leslie precinct, southeast of Wayne, whose birthday comes on that date, will give an old soldiers and old settlers picnic at the grove at his residence, where everybody is invited and especially old soldiers and old settlers.

Wayne county will have a bumper corn crop this fall. The light frost one morning last week did no damage to speak of and most of the corn is now out of the way of frost. With good prices for grain and stock starting them in the face and food stuffs, such as potatoes, cabbage, etc., cheap there is no chance of anyone starving for many months at least.

The weather bureau has but up all kinds of papers during the past week, keeping the farmers guessing what they were going to do from day to day, out in spite of the fact that they have gone on patiently doing the best they could, and the prospects are that they will yet fare much better with their crops than was expected. The light frost last Thursday morning did very little if any damage and it is said by many to have been a good thing for a great deal of the corn.

Mrs. McVey of Wayne, spent Sunday with friends in this village. J. J. Moore went down to Wayne on Saturday. Judging from the way M. S. Merrill got off the train at Sholes Monday, some of the boys concluded he was practicing ground and lofty tumbling for the Wayne street fair; but as he is said to have lit so hard as to have received a discolored optic, it is very doubtful about his showing off his gymnastic accomplishments before the maddening crowd at Wayne—Carroll Index.

PASSED THE FORTS.

Five Ships Run Guns of Forts Adams and Wetherell.

A Newport, R. I., special says: Two cruisers and three battleships of Admiral Higginson's fleet ran the guns of Forts Adams and Wetherell, Friday night, getting within broad range of their guns before they were picked up by the searchlights of the forts.

When, aloft and ashore, the announcement was at its height the scene was one of grandeur.

The guns in the forts, after working the big guns for a few minutes, had to desert them, and quickly manœuvre the secondary batteries.

The five vessels kept in almost unbroken order Adams and Wetherell.

When the battle was over, the smaller craft were in no danger of entering the harbor.

The battle of the night, if such was the idea, was a smaller affair.

The army claims that not only would its guns have swept the ships, but its mines would have wrecked some of them in the narrow channel.

The population was said to be greatly alarmed and apprehensive of a tidal wave in the event of the collapse of Martinique.

Plans for a Yacht to Excel Columbia or Constitution.

A Bristol, R. I., special says: The members of the New York Yacht Club have opened negotiations with the Messersmiths with the purpose of placing an order for a defender of the America's cup.

Confidence between John H. Messersmith and representatives of the syndicate being formed, with J. P. Morgan at the head, was held and another meeting for New York in a few days.

It is learned that the new craft will have speed in excess of either the Columbia or Constitution.

Engineer Killed and Two Injured at Trout Creek, Mont.

A Missoula, Mont., special says: Overland passenger train No. 3, on the Northern Pacific road, which left Missoula Monday night, was wrecked at Trout Creek station on the Idaho-Montana line early Thursday morning.

Engineer Owens was instantly killed, and his fireman and a trainman stealing a ride were badly injured.

The train was running seven hours late. It is understood the rails speed, permitting the engine and four cars to slip over.

BOLD BANK ROBBERY.

Citizens of Fremont, Ind., Stood On by Armed Bands.

A Lagrange, Ind., dispatch says: The Bank of Fremont, east of this city, was entered by burglars early Friday morning and the vault and front of the building were completely wrecked by charges of dynamite.

"My mother was troubled with consumption for many years. At last she was given up to die. Then she tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was speedily cured."
D. P. Jolly, Avoca, N. Y.

No matter how hard your cough or how long you have had it, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best thing you can take. It's too risky to wait until you have consumption. If you are coughing today, get a bottle of Cherry Pectoral at once.

LEGISLATIVE CONVENTION.
The delegates of the republican party of the Seventeenth Representative District of the State of Nebraska, comprised of Wayne and Stanton counties are called to meet in convention at Wayne at 2 p. m., Thursday, September 15, 1902, for the purpose of electing in convention a candidate for representative, and for the transacting of such other business that may come before the convention. The counties are entitled to the following number of delegates:
Stanton ..... 12
Wayne ..... 9
For President, Committeeman
E. A. LUNDBURG, Committeeman for Wayne County.

The Bee and State Journal are not lovers. Anybody can see that. Well, well, it now turned out that Maine gave a republican plurality of over 20,000. How this must make Bryan feel, who was there, during the campaign.

The fusionists propose to put up a strong fight in Nebraska this fall. Bryan will stump the state all during the month of October, so 'tis said—but what of that?

Mont Pelée has again been on a "rampage" and hundreds of people succumbed to its horrors. Isn't it about time the people on the Island moved out?

The campaign is on and the republican party proposes to do up the business in Nebraska this fall in a manner that will settle for many years to come the political complexion of the grand old commonwealth of Nebraska.

The total Democratic vote in Vermont in Monday's election last week was 7200, the smallest the party has ever had for many years. Bryan's vote in 1896 was 10,637, and in 1900, 12,848. No doubt many Democrats voted for the bolting Republican, but they turn up on the losing side as usual.

There is a surmising of ballots in the air in the Big Third district, and they are gradually working toward the old reliable, clever, able and every day business man, the Hon. J. J. McCarthy. John knows a lot about law too, and it is in no way possible to persuade him to do anything unless he believes it to be right.

Maine went republican at the election held Tuesday by a plurality of 27,000, the largest ever known in an off year. The usual plurality in an off year is about 12,000. Evidently the people like Theodore Roosevelt for he had just made a tour through that state and killed a bear while on a short hunting trip. Evidently he was out for bear, at any rate the old Pine Tree state endorsed him in a hand, some manner.

Next Sunday, September 14, will be the first anniversary of the death of President McKinley and on the suggestion of the Cincinnati Times-Star it is planned to have every church in the land hold appropriate services at the regular morning hour. The Bee urges that this beautiful idea be at once taken up by all the prominent churches of Omaha and Nebraska and neighboring states. The memory of President McKinley will be forever sacred to the American people and suitable observance of the first anniversary of his untimely death will be set an evidence of their respect and of the great loss the nation suffered by its bereavement.—Bee.

The whole country rejoices in the escape of President Roosevelt from instantaneous death in a desperately dangerous accident. In so violent a crash the President might easily have been killed or terribly injured. A less robust man might have suffered a long time from shock or minor hurts. The President's courage under all circumstances is well known, and his high quality is exemplified by the fact, so clearly hoped by all the people that he will take no needless risks. His death in the frightful collision of Wednesday last week, would have been a great blow, a deplorable following of tragedy upon tragedy. As far as the details go, however, there were risks taken by the motorman. All the people trust that President Roosevelt will exercise prudence in his outings, and they tender this caution along with their thankful congratulations.

Good returning until and including Sept. 28th, fare $4.50; 2nd, 27th, good returning until Sept. 29th, amount President's Day $6.40; 3rd, Oct. 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, good returning until and including Oct. 6th $4.50.

A BAD Wreck.
A freight car of the Great Northern, carrying a car of wheat and a car of flour, was derailed over the ground. The first car was thrown off the track and the front end of the rear coach. Fortunately no one was injured. The wreck was caused by a broken axle on a freight car near the center of the train.

COLLEGE NOTES.
Mr. Owens of Waver, brought his daughter in for enrollment last Friday. Enrollment so far this term surpasses that of a corresponding date a year ago.
The senior scientific class for this year as at present organized enrolls nine members.
Prof. Pile went down to Omaha on business Friday evening and returned Sunday morning.
Messrs. Gamble and Holsten of Stanton were college eaters Saturday. They are expecting to enter school later on.
Mr. and Mrs. Woolhiser, of Keys Paha county, are spending a part of the present week with their daughter, now in school here.

An unusual number of old students have re-entered school this term, a goodly number of whom will remain throughout the year.
Mr. Lathrop comes to us from Montana having been directed hither by an old student, Mr. Sheldon, who may be remembered by Wayne people.
Miss Martineau of Linné Grove, and Miss Chiloat of Howells, came in Saturday, attended by their fathers. The young ladies have enrolled for work in review classes.

Miss Marian Hopkins came over to Wayne, Saturday from Emerson, where she is the principal of the High School. She reports the work as opening up in satisfactory manner.
Henry Raubach, a Scientific of this year's class, came down from Pierce, on his way to Tekama, Friday, where he took charge of a large district school near that place Monday.
Miss Mabel Griffith, who completed the musical course in the N. N. C. a year ago and has been an assistant teacher at the college the past year, goes to Boston to continue the study of the art which she is devoted to.
Miss Bertha Dennet of Laurel, a student here some three years ago, re-entered Monday. She spent a part of last year with her parents on a trip to England and has many interesting things to say of the historic land.

Jesse Griffith was an over Sunday visitor at the home of Prof. Gregg. He is teaching near St. James and has been doing some original work in arithmetic; grammar and geography in preparation for his teaching this year. We may expect to hear good reports of his work.

HOSKINS ITEMS.

Consumption
The only kind of consumption to fear is "neglected consumption."
People are learning that consumption is a curable disease. It is neglected consumption that is so often incurable.
At the faintest suspicion of consumption get a bottle of Scott's Emulsion and begin regular doses.
The use of Scott's Emulsion at once, has, in thousands of cases, turned the balance in favor of health.
Neglected consumption does not exist where Scott's Emulsion is.
Prompt use of Scott's Emulsion checks the disease while it can be checked.

And we're supposing that everyone who reads this is coming to the Carnival. We want you to make this store your headquarters—your loafing place—where you and your friends can come in, sit down and rest. We have three big floors of rest rooms—to say nothing of a half dozen cozy corners—full of good comfortable chairs—you are most welcome to use them. Plenty of toilet rooms and plenty of people to show you around. Another thing, we will check your baggage and parcels for you—there will be no safe-keeping until you want them. We go on the part of you that this store is every body's store—the people have made it; we are merely their agents. If we have anything you'd like to buy during your visit here, we can assure you we are showing the largest stock of fall merchandise ever shown in this city. Our prices form a substantial reason why parties desiring the best values should buy here—they are invariably the lowest.

You'll find our assortment of the following way beyond anything shown elsewhere. Our prices are always lowest. We but ask you to compare—quality for quality—price for price.

CARNIVAL OVER.

The carnival and street fair closed Saturday with a large crowd in attendance during the day and evening. The free performances given by the Central Carnival Company during the three days were entirely satisfactory to every respect including the splendid balloon ascensions. The Ferris Wheel also filled in a happy nick and run continuously all day Saturday and well into the night. The dances at the opera house Friday and Saturday evening attracted large crowds. The Carl band a young organization less than a year old with its 20 men played well, their music being much appreciated. Should they "stick" together, the band will soon become a popular organization.

The concert by Reeds Famous band of Sioux City was without exception the best attraction of all and the people were loud in their praises of the excellent music and the liberality with which this celebrated band, which is now recognized as the leading musical organization in the northwest, dispensed with their music.

The committee, Messrs Kohl, Craven, Raymond and Franks did well their part, and while the concessions were not what was expected, nevertheless the expenses were all paid with the subscriptions made. Sunday morning by ten o'clock everything had been torn down and the Carnival Company left for Stoughton. By Monday evening every evidence of the carnival and its apparatus and Wayne had resumed its normal appearance.

Billy Dammeyer was a Winside visitor Tuesday.

Walter Weber went to Norfolk Monday evening.

Saturday during the carnival, Judge Hunter issued in marriage at the county judges office, Chas. E. Lynn and Miss Anna Lund, both of Wakefield.

Miss Clara Philcox and Blanch Blenkron left yesterday for Los Angeles, California, the latter's home and the former to remain a year for her health.

Mrs. Candor who has been stopping with relatives here while her husband attended the funeral of his mother in Illinois, returned to Hopkins Tuesday.

Tickets will be on sale for the Fowler's lecture at Orth's drug store on Saturday and Monday. Prices for adults, 35 and 60 cents; under fifteen years of age, 25 cents.

The Wayne Roller Mills are paying 60 cents per bushel for good old milling wheat.

Regular services at the Baptist church next Sunday with preaching by the pastor. Subject of morning sermon, "The Christian's Race"; evening sermon, "Trusts and Labor Union."

Those who attended the dances given at the opera house last Friday and Saturday nights speak very highly of the most excellent music furnished by Reed's Band Orchestra, and it is said that it was the best ever furnished in the city.

A. B. Nicholas received a telegram Sunday evening from Ellsworth, Kansas, bearing the sad intelligence of the death of his father. Deceased was an old soldier having served three years in the civil war. He was a highly respected citizen of the city in which he lived.

S. C. Auker returned Saturday from Rushville with two carloads of cattle. He was taken ill when he first went there and was unable to do anything for two weeks. His doctor being summoned there to attend him. The latter returned home yesterday after a few days visit with friends.

A man who worked his way through schools, filled all kinds of positions in the church of his adoption, was president of the University at Evanston, Ill., organized Nebr. Wesleyan University, lectured in every continent except Asia, was in the convention that nominated Abe Lincoln for president, such a man is Bishop Fowler. Hear him at the Methodist church next Monday night.

FETTERED BY FATE

BY ALEXANDER ROBERTSON

"Jolite's Fate," "Little Sweetheart," "Little, the Sewing Girl," "Goldmaker of Dixon," "Wedded to Win," "Diana Thorne," "Nora's Legacy," Etc., Etc.

CHAPTER V.
Captain Grant had pursued sharply in a desultory manner. There stood the plumed, and as he looked upon her features it could be plainly seen that he gave quite a start, though immediately after he was started again, cool and collected.

"Who are you, girl, and what do you seek here?" he asked somewhat haughtily.

"I am Barbara Merriles, the girl," replied the girl, her eager eyes first fastened upon his face wonderingly, expectantly, and then with a disappointed expression turning upon his hand.

"Captain Grant had held his left hand behind him, seemingly in a careless manner. As yet she had not been able to catch even a glimpse of it.

"I am searching for a man," she continued.

"Ah, indeed. And may I inquire what success has attended your search thus far?" asked the Captain, into whose eyes came a most peculiar gleam.

That look betrayed him. He might disguise his features, alter his voice beyond recognition, but the eyes of hate are keener than those of love, and Barbara Merriles had seen that expression in his eyes too often to forget it. She knew him now.

"I have searched far and wide for him," she said, "the man who ruined my life, and killed my only mother through his heartlessness to me. I flattered myself that I would know him, no matter where or when I met him, such was my hate for him; but I was wrong. Once I thought I had found him, and only after my mother had just taken his life did I realize my mistake and cease my blindness. The man I had followed so long was not the Roger Darral who wrecked my life, but one to whom I owe much in the past. But my work is nearly done." The man who wrecked my life still lives, and I have found him. Heaven be praised for this moment. Hold out your hand, friend, scoundrel! Ho! the black goods! That is the last proof. Here the trail ends. For many weary months I have sought a demon in human shape, and now I have found him. You are the man!"

Her intensely black eyes were bent upon the form of the man before her, as if she would search him with the fire that was contained in them, while her right hand was raised, and the Dexter finger pointed at her enemy as if she would send a poisoned dart to his heart.

"Yes, you are the man, the fiend, the demon, the destroyer my peace. Deny it if you dare!"

The man laughed cheerfully.

"I have no choice left me, only to protest against the eulogizing adjectives you apply to my poor self. If you ask me plainly, am I the man who once thought he loved you, and finding out his mistake, deserted you rather than remain and bring you to more pain, I answer, 'am he'."

"Then you have pronounced your doom. Among the peaks of the Pyrenees I made my terrible vow to hunt you down to the death, even if it took years to accomplish it, and I have never forgotten that vow. For the long time that has elapsed since then, I knew that fate would bring us face to face again, and time has proven how wise I was in my belief."

The keen stilet of the spy's eye flashed in the sunlight. To many a man the sight would have been one full of horror, for the Captain stood so close to the edge of a precipice that it seemed as though a touch would send him over, and the enraged girl was half-crouched, ready to fly at him like a panther.

Not a nerve of his frame trembled, and yet he knew full well his danger. At such a time every faculty was needed to keep his wits, and the soldier could not afford to give way to trembling. He even smiled in his face.

"I see you are like a tiger cat, and seek my life. Before you set a stop for me, I wish to warn you, girl, that the consequences will fall upon your own head. For the time being, Barbara, let me tell you, if you come off, it will be to your death."

His face changed with the rapidity of lightning, and in place of the sneering smile came a savage look, while his brow was corrugated and his eyes flashed like fire.

"You waste your breath, Roger Darral, false lover, base fiend! Here I am resolved to avenge the past, and it is just as well for you, as I would never leave you in peace as long as I live. Here is Barbara Merriles' blow for her vengeance."

She knew that nothing she could say or do would keep her back; for the time being she was crazed with fury, and would have leaped at him had she known that certain death lay beyond, but neither by look nor movement did he let her see that he feared her.

As the terrible wrongs of the past were being washed over the young girl's mind, and she was overwhelmed by so that she hardly knew what she was doing, save that the object that had been the dream of her life for a long time back was in a fair way of being consummated.

She would have been no mean antagonist for any man in her present condition, for the fury in her heart had made her muscles like steel. Her life frame was drawn up to its fullest extent, and such a picture of supple grace could not well be found elsewhere.

With a cry like that of an enraged animal, the gypsy girl sprang forward. She had been closed to Captain Grant, and his movement would have been fatal to upon himself to convey all that he saw and heard in reference to Miss Carol to Roger Darral. He did not act in a hasty manner, but believing that his object was good, and that the end justified the means, he was continually on the look-out for something blinking on the case.

Thus the young master of Darral's Chamber was kept in the dark as to the fact that were transpiring at the Terrace. He learned, with great surprise and anger, of the plans that were being perfected for the speedy marriage of Carol.

Both the Captain and the young Richmond would have been amazed could they have learned how much of their mutual understanding was known. Roger was quite well aware of the fact that the soldier-dilettante possessed a secret which he held over the head of Carol's father, and that this same secret was to be the "one sesame" to the old gentleman's treasures.

He knew that Carol hated this Captain Grant, whoever he might be, and he became finally resolved that, if it must be the last act of his life, he would prevent the nuptial marriage. Since words would be of little avail, he was ready to proceed to still stronger measures.

He remembered the story of young Lockhart, who carried off his bride just when she was about to be married to another, and for the cause was far from being parallel, for in this instance there was a heart between them, and, even though he saved Carol from a fate, it would not bring them any closer together.

As suitable preparations were going on at the Terrace for the wedding of Captain Grant and Carol, the young girl had not spent enough just then to visit. Her only visitor had been Roger, but it had received a terrible shock, and she returned for a short while with the numb pain that filled her heart.

The preparations were not of a magnificent nature, for it was the Captain's wish that his obsequy should be quiet. What was his object in this, the man so full of display and love of ostentation, was quite another matter, but Lockhart Richmond suspected that he was afraid some one who had known him in the past might learn of his whereabouts. A friend with this idea, the Virginian public house to have an announcement of the coming marriage in several different papers of Washington and Richmond.

When some one of the Terrace had a little time to go to the press in reference to a vow the soldier had made years before, to always wear his left hand covered by a black kid glove.

"If that doesn't bring the Philistines down upon him, then all is lost," he said, the young girl turned upon him. He had a little time to go to the press in reference to a vow the soldier had made years before, to always wear his left hand covered by a black kid glove.

FARMERS' CORNER

Mounting a Grindstone.

For ordinary stones, says a Farm and Home correspondent, the frame should be built 18 inches wide, 30 inches high and 25 inches long. Make the ends of 3 by 8-inch stuff and the sides of 2 by 8-inch. Plane it up nicely, bolt it securely together and give it a good coat of paint.

One can buy very good sets of grindstone tools now for 50 cents, including a mandrel roller, bearings and crank. I have one very serious objection to the common grindstone mandrel, and that is that the crank does not screw on, but has a square end, on which the crank does not fit, but flops about "any old way" and very often causes the one who is furnishing

FRAME FOR GRINDSTONE.

The power to raise or sink his knuckle against the frame.

The first thing I would do with such a mandrel would be to take it to the nearest blacksmith shop, saw the square end off with a hack saw, run a drill through the square hole in the crank and make it round, run a tap through the crank and thread the end of the mandrel. By so doing you have a good, steady, easy-going crank with out any backlash. Fit a pipe of wood in the square hole in the stone and the exact center with your dividers; then bore a hole the size of the mandrel through the block. Use a piece of thick hacking across the fields.—M. E. Emerson, in Farm and Home.

Government White Wash.

The United States government uses a white wash mainly on light houses, that is brilliant and durable. Considerable white wash ought to be used on the farm. It is used on houses, and it may be used to advantage on fences. The recipe is as follows: Slake one-half bushel of lime with boiling water, covering it as soon as the water is applied. When slaked strain it and add a peck of sand, dissolved in fairly warm water, five pounds of ground lime. This has previously been boiled in boiling water in a tin pail, half a pound of Spanish whiting and one pound of clean gelatin which has been dissolved in warm water, mix well together and let stand for several days. The wash should be applied hot, using a brush or trowel if sufficiently thin so that it may be applied by a spraying pump.

To Stop a Sucking Cow.

To stop a sucking cow take a piece of half inch basswood six inches long and four inches wide and cut into the shape shown in picture.

THE POPULAR PULPIT

HOW TO BE POPULAR.

For by love our nation, and by God's truth as a synogue. Luke vii, 4.

Shall you be popular? Verily, yes, if you are a good man, beloved by public opinion, and the public beat of our times, by all classes thinking for themselves, ever ready to believe that should we ever show down for fellow-creatures, our part, exceeding will, to be well, and a general recognition, similar to that of the English, dearer than money, after we are dead. Be a true man.
