In almost every married life, there comes a time when a readjustment of earlier ideals is necessary. It may come suddenly with the first quarrel or it may gradually dawn on the husband or wife, and on the resulting adjustment the entire future happiness of the family often depends. Lavinia Hart discusses in a brief essay in The Cosmopolitan for October the shattering of immature ideals evolved from the haze of romantic dreams and the building of new ideals on the firmer foundation of common sense.

One of the marked evidences of progress is that thus early in the new century the bicycle had been wanted to such an extent that the bicycle trust is in the hands of a receiver. This indicates that the machine is being relegated to its proper place, as a convenient vehicle for speedy locomotion over short distances and good roads, when nothing more comfortable or speedy is at hand, and that the fad is played out and other means of transit are sought for recreation. It is well that it ends thus easily.—Homestead.

The weather was propitious and the day was made one of huge enjoyment by the pioneer gathering.

The "Boss" show at Norfolk during the carnival last week proved to be a very interesting one of its nature. The platform erected around the den of snakes and their hungry devourer gave away, and mid the screaming of women and the rattling of snakes, Bo-co stayed calm. What would have taken place had such a thing happened in Wayne is not known, but it didn't, and our father sex are rejoicing.

MY STRENGTHENER.

My strength is a daily little maid, my eyes of brown and hair of gold; my smile she has for me, my dimpled cheeks, four years old; and when I feel cast down, with clouds of doubt before my view, she looks in my troubled hair, and says, "I love you, papa, yes, I do."

Oh, when the world seems all awry, and I would fain have peace and rest, I look I seek I always find, within this little maid's breast, she'll wipe a tear from my cheek, and strength is given to me anew, and I will smile and sing, and say, "I love you, papa, yes, I do."

I do not exchange for wealth of kings, nor honors of a hero's name, the love which cannot be computed, for which my boy's attention bends, for which my heart's desire is bent, and strength I feel I must receive, that love, sweet love, I turn to you, "I love you, papa, yes, I do."

A Ride for Life

GOING to the upper end of the creek, the stout lumberman of the Wolf Creek Lumber Company used a road which made Dave Rhodes pause, fiddle in hand, and ask in amazement, "You, here?"

"Oh, nothing much. Only I don't like the looks of these clouds up yonder, that's all."

Dave turned his gaze to the mountain peaks above him, where a range of gray clouds had begun to gather. He smiled and shook his head. "You're easy to scare, Dave. I see nothing up there to worry about."

"Well, may be there isn't anything. But you remember last spring's flood, Dave?"

"Rather! It made us tremble enough. It is too early for the floods now, Elm."

"Sorter early, that's true. But I tell you, Dave, the sky just above the dam looked just like that sky up yonder. You sleep with your eyes open tonight, and if it looks like that, let me get down fast as Billy can fetch you."

"All right, I will. Look after the light again, Elm, and see that the bell's order goes out first thing in the morning. I may not be down before noon."

"I will, sir."

As Dave rode on up the steep road he was thinking: "I know what Elm Miller's notion is. He thinks the dam isn't safe, and I believe he's right. I'll get a party to work in it tomorrow, before anything does happen."

band and voice, and they began to go carefully down the slope. Road there was none, sand and rocks were already washed together, and so slippery that the stout little horse could scarcely keep his footing.

"Hold hard, good boy! Hold hard!" Dave had always talked to Billy as he would to a comrade, firm in the belief that the little fellow understood every word, as no doubt he did.

"Hold hard, Billy!" remember the boys are waiting for us, there's no one else to warn us. Keep it up a little longer, most of all now, when we cross the bridge it won't be quite so steep."

But could they cross at all? He knew what force Wolf Creek could gather, as it was raging tearing, leaping down the wild mountain ravines, he feared that the bridge might be swept even before they could reach it and then?

With a groan that for those, but for the men standing in the lower camp, the sound of the dire death rushing so swiftly down to devour them, he put the spurs to his gallop, fiddle to hand, and the thunder crashed and echoed through the bushes, but Dave was steady, and the lightning played almost fearlessly, for William, his gang-leader, both would have been stranded in deep darkness.

A gun round the rocks, and Wolf Creek bridge was just before them. As the fiddle fell in up his sky, Dave gave a loud cry of alarm. Before there was time to mount in pieces on that wild torrent, and when mortal man drew near the raging flood? Yet, brave, true-hearted Dave did not draw rein one instant, even that they speak of time must not be lost now.

"Christ save us!" he breathed fervently, as a sudden prayer as ever went up in the mind of the stoutest, earthiest, though unlearned alone in the echoing aisles of the rugged mountain at dead of night. "Then to Billy, with an encouraging pat of his neck under his hand, he said in his kindest tones:

"God bless you, little fellow, and help us get over! We can both swim, and you know, go on! You'll cross, or die together. Go on, boy! Steady now!"

Billy uttered the harsh scream of a terrified animal, and obeyed Dave's will, and they plunged into the billowing water. On the top of the mountain the wind roared, and the water roared, once or twice struck by some piece of floating timber, which threatened to part them, and hurt them both to instant death.

But Dave clung to Billy with desperate strength, and they kept on. Suddenly Billy gave another cry, and Dave felt him struggle, while at the same instant his own little limbs were caught and held prisoner with clutching arms.

"We're trapped in the neck! It's all over now!" he roared, then with frantic energy he shouted aloud: "No! no! Billy, don't do like that! Pull, pull, pull! We must save the boys! Pull, leave follow! That's what I do!"

But if Billy did not himself, Dave knew he would be jerked from the saddle, for one of his feet was fast in the submerged logs which were drawing them both down stream.

One day the superintendent of the company was down, and Dave went around with him, riding Billy, of course.

"Rhodes," said Mr. Palmer, "that is rather a nice little beast you have there."

"I think he is," answered Dave, quietly. "I'm looking for something like him. What will you take? I won't kick on a fancy price."

"Mr. Palmer," said Dave, "if you were to offer me the best mine in Colorado for this little horse, I wouldn't look at it. He's like to me once, almost to the death, and now while we both live we will never be parted."

"If that's the case," said the superintendent, "I don't blame you for refusing a big price for a little fellow." The superintendent.

How to land a Line Flying Through the Air-Off the Reel. The style of angling the most fascinating is probably that known as bait casting. This consists of casting a live or an artificial bait to as great a distance as one's skill allows and then retrieving it by winding up the reel.

It is better by far to watch some one actually making casts than to rely on written instructions, but if so situated that you must go out alone on your first attempt, try it somewhat after this method: Wind in the line until the bait touches the tip, take your rod in the right hand, grasping the grip with the fingers and allowing your right thumb to rest lightly on the barrel of the reel; swing your rod away and backward from you, with tip pointing downward; swing around the rod to a half-circle, in front of you and upward; start slow, increasing the rapidity of the action toward its close.

When the rod-point has described a half-circle and points upward and slightly in front of your left shoulder, release most of the pressure on your reel and let the line go. The momentum of the rod and the weight of the minnow, or whatever bait you are casting, will do the rest. The bait will leave the rod tip in a parabolic curve, carrying the line with it, and fall more or less gradually in the water at a distance from you determined by the amount of skill you have shown in the operation. If you have kept too much pressure on the reel the length of your cast will be shortened; if you have let it revolve too freely the spool will spin around faster than the bait travels, and the result will be that the line will be wound up in an opposite direction on the reel. This is known as back-lashing and will create a beautiful snarl.

The whole art of bait casting lies in releasing the line when the rod tip is in the proper position and so regulating the pressure with your thumb on the spool that the reel will revolve just as fast as the bait travels, not too slow so that it retards it, and not too fast so that it snarls. It sounds easy, but Country Life in America, and after a little practice you will find that there is more fun in catching five fish by this method than twice the number by trolling. After the bait has touched the water let it stay for a couple of seconds, then slowly reel it in toward you, to attract any fish that may be lying in your vicinity.

NEED OF MONEY IN CUBA. People Gay and Happy, but Finances in Desperate Condition. The truth about Cuba? It is not as it is presented by the resident agent of one of the largest New York life insurance companies.

"The situation in Cuba to-day is unprecedented," he declared. "Never before in the history of life insurance has it been equaled. It is actually true that the need here is so great that we have loaned money on 80 per cent of the policies we hold in the island."

While I was in Cuba a number of tourists visited Havana, making in the majority of cases the round trip of ten days from New York, which gives from Wednesday until Saturday ashore. I met several of the visitors at the Inglaterra. Said one to me, with a sweep of his arms toward the Prado: "No one need tell me the Cubans are not prosperous. Look at the crowds out there on the promenade. Do you find people better dressed on Broadway? And the carriages. Seems to me even the beggars ride here. I was down along Obispo street to-day. It would be credit to Paris. And all the shops were filled, too. People buying as if they had money to burn. Yet we are asked to reduce the tariff on sugar, and all that. Humph! I don't see it."

OLD FAVORITES

And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold; And the shoon of their spears was like light on the sword. When the blue wave rolls nightly on deep Galilee.

Like the leaves of the forest when summer is green, That host with their banners at sunset were drawn; Like the leaves of the forest when autumn has blown, That host on the morrow lay withered and brown.

And there lay the steed with his nostrils all wide, But there rolled not the breath of his pride; And the foam of his gasping lay white on the turf, And cold as the spray of the rock's bearing surf.

And there lay the rider, distorted and bent, And the long web all silent, the banner alone. The trumpets unblown, the trumpet unblown.

And the widows of Ashur are loud in their wail, And the idols are broke in the temple of Baal; And the bright of the Gentile, unsuited to the sword, Hath melted like snow in the glance of the Lord.

Nearer to Thee, Nearer, my God, to Thee, Nearer to Thee! E'en though it be a cross that I must bear, Still my soul has found a rest, Nearer, my God, to Thee, Nearer to Thee!

Though, like the wanderer, The sun gone down, Darkness be over me, My rest a stone, Yet all my soul's desire I lean to thee, Nearer, my God, to Thee, Nearer to Thee!

Or if on joyful wing, Gliding the sky, Sun and stars forgot, Toward I fly, Still all my soul's desire I lean to thee, Nearer, my God, to Thee, Nearer to Thee!

None on Board Ship. The party in the smoking-room of the steamer was talking of Irish wit and the quickness thereof. Several gave personal experiences, and one man, to his sorrow, tried to use an old story. Then spoke the agent for an exporting house, says the New York Tribune.

"I was coming up the South American coast on a sailing ship last winter," he said, "when this happened. There was a Norwegian in the crew who was absolutely fearless aloft. He did a number of tricks for us one afternoon, and as a grand finale stood on his head up top of the mainmast. We held our breaths until he swung himself back into the rigging."

"I would like to see any of you do that," he boasted when he reached the deck. "I can do it," said a little Irishman, one of the kind who will never be "stumped." "I can do it," and forthwith he started up the mast.

"We could see from the way he clattered that he knew nothing about climbing about aloft, and the captain looked at him through the megaphone to come down before he killed himself. He hauled back that he was going to stand on his head first. He reached the top, and was actually putting his heels into the air, when the ship heeled and down he came. We held our breaths until he struck the sea."

Pushing the Pigeon-brother. Mrs. Haskins: "I saw your husband today in a bicycle suit. I didn't think you'd let him ride."

And Mrs. Strong said: "My dear, that was not a bicycle suit, although it might properly be called a 'wheeling suit.' You see, I want him to be appropriately garbed when he takes Baby for an airing." Philadelphia Press.

A Hard Struggle. When you have a bad back, a back that's lame, weak or aching, it's a hard struggle sometimes to find relief and cure; but it's a harder struggle with the dangerous least form of urinary disorders and frequent urination, retention of the urine with all the subsequent pains, anonyanaceous sufficing. There are many medicines that relieve these conditions, but you want a remedy—a cure. Read this statement: It tells of a cure that is being placed in the hands of the people.

A FREE TRIAL of this great Kidney medicine which cured Mr. Heller will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address: Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists, price 50 cents per box.

Her Favorite Day. Mistress (to her maid)—Well, Mary, I've tried to apportion my different duties for each day of the week, so that you may have variety in your work. You've been here a month now. Just tell me which day you like best? Maid—Indeed, mum, my day out—Punch.

Winning His Way. Nell—I have been assigned to read a paper on "Ideal Woman" at the next meeting of the club. Jack—Well, all you will need to do is to stand upon the platform and let them look at you.—Somerville Journal.

Badly Frustrated. He was giving the young man some good advice as they hung on two strings in the trolley car and fode down town together. "You must plan your feet carefully," he said, "and know just where you are going to step. Do nothing by impulse. Be calm and deliberate. Don't hurry and always be sure you're right before going ahead."

A Catch in the Back. Grand View, Iowa, Sept. 20th.—Mrs. Lydia Parker, of this place, says: "I was troubled with backache all the time for years. When I would stoop and a catch would take me in the back and I could not straighten up for some time. I tried everything I could think of but got no relief till I sent and got DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. I used one box and part of another before the trouble all left me, but how I am well and strong and I have not been troubled with my back for some months."

"I believe my cure is a permanent one and I am very grateful indeed to Dodd's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me. I would most heartily recommend them to anyone suffering with lame back, for I believe they will cure any case of this kind."

Nothing is more noble than identity, Faithfulness and truth are the most sacred excellences and endowments of the human mind.—Cicero.

Strictly Innocent. The 10-year-old daughter of a party lady scented overjoyed when her mother promised to take her to a concert on the following evening, and, rushing off to her little writing desk, produced a dainty diary and made a few notes in it.

"I should dearly like to see what the darling girl has scribbled to her diary," said the mother to her husband, when the child had gone to bed. "What do you think?" "Oh, read it by all means," he answered. "It's sure to be something sweetly innocent."

PUTNAM HARMLESS DYES are fast to light and washing. "Aren't you glad you are living in this age of invention?" exclaimed the thin man with a wart on his nose. "Can't say that I am," said the bald-headed man. "You see, I married a widow, and she had a platinum watch and a few other things, and she told me that her first husband made"—Brooklyn Eagle.

Amorosa. "Amorosa has crossed Europe," cried the foreign politician. "Oh, yes," responded the American tourist. "You will find that even our alarm clocks are far superior to those of European manufacture." Chicago News.

"I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor to stop my hair from falling. One-half a bottle cured me."
J. C. Baxter, Braidwood, Ill.

Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly the most economical preparation of its kind on the market. A little of it goes a long way. It doesn't take much of it to stop falling of the hair, make the hair grow, and restore color to gray hair.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

STATE.
For Governor, JOHN H. MICKEL, of Omaha.
For Lieutenant Governor, E. G. MCGILTON, of Omaha.
For Secretary of State, GEO. W. MARSH, of Lincoln.
For Treasurer, PETER MORTENSON, of Omaha.
For Auditor, CHARLES WESTON, of Lincoln.
For Attorney General, FRANK N. PROUT, of Lincoln.
For Com. of Public Lands and Buildings, GEORGE D. FOLLMER, of Lincoln.
For Superintendent of Public Instruction, WILLIAM K. FOWLER, of Blair.
CONGRESSIONAL.
For Congressman, Third District, J. J. MCCARTHY, of Ponca.
COUNTY.
For County Attorney, HARRY E. SIMAN, of Winnside.
For Commissioner, 1st District, RICHARD ROSSSELL.

The Herald learns that Secretary of the Treasury, Leslie M. Shaw, will speak at Wayne some time during the fall campaign.

The weather bureau has played havoc with most of the cornfields and street fairs this fall and latter part of the summer.

Tom Johnson the great orator man of Ohio, says he always was a Bryan man but was never in favor of the free coinage of silver. Now wouldn't that make coal?

Wood would be a good thing as well as an old fashioned fire place this winter. This is a place where the many have to pay for the dampness of the few.

The citizens of Boston propose to make it hot for the coal baron and as a result have asked for a receiver for the principle coal mines in Pennsylvania, and they propose to see that the mines are run.

"Tim" Sedgewick of the York Times, says that "populists are now knocking because the cornstalks have two ears. They are afraid they will hear about the price of beef and pork and go republican."

At the democratic representative convention held at Winnside on Tuesday, Jim Britton of this city was placed in nomination for representative for the district comprising Wayne and Stanton counties.

The fusionists propose to make a desperate effort to regain the state of Nebraska at the coming election, and Bryan will lead the forces in the fight throughout the state, but the morning after election will be very chilly for them.

There is no argument against Mr. Mickey except that he doesn't get drunk. The fusionists are working that for all there is in it. Men who like to see a governor good and drunk on all public occasions should not vote for Mickey.—York Times.

According to reports from all over the state, the news for republicans success in Nebraska this fall is very flattering and it is expected that the old time majority of 25,000 that used to occur with the holding of an election will occur again next November.

If the press in the third Congressional district is any criterion and the Herald believes it is; J. J. McCarthy will prove an easy winner in the coming congressional contest. There are some good reasons why Wayne county should give Mr. McCarthy a handsome vote.

"J. J. McCarthy, candidate for congress, has not only the very important feature of being a republican and in harmony with the administration to emphasize the importance of his election, but he is likewise a very able and energetic subject for the consideration of the voter."—Says the Wisner Free Press.

Congressman Littlefield of Maine announces that he will be a candidate for speaker. Among the younger members of Congress he is recognized as a man of talent, but he will have to wait until Uncle Joe Cannon, the veteran statesman of the House, gets through with the speakership. By watching Uncle Joe preside Mr. Littlefield can lay up a large stock of valuable knowledge about national legislation and solid Republicanism.

"I have known John Mickey, the Republican candidate for Governor, for nineteen years," said W. F. Shank to the Journal, "and no man can convince me that he is not all right. He is as much of a farmer as he is a banker; he lives on a farm just a mile from his banking house, and the cattle that he raises are the wonder of Polk county. No one can truthfully say that he makes hard deals with a poor man. Quite the contrary is true, for there is no one in this part of the state who is more charitable in a quiet, nonobtrusive way."—Supper Journal.

Control of this country.

The Hon. W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, with his free silver heresies still rampant; the Hon. Jim Griggs, of Georgia, who thinks free trade is the thing; the Hon. Ed Carmack, of Tennessee, who wants to run away from the Philippines because we have a hard job on our hands; and the Hon. Senator Patterson, of Colorado, who thinks our army is worthy Nero's time. Shades of Thomas Jefferson, what is the good old democratic party coming to, anyhow?—Nebraska City Weekly (Dem.)

It seems now that the "firing of the cauteen" in the army was a great mistake and General Funston is one of the many who says so, and gives substantial reasons to sustain his opinions. In his annual report for the department of Colorado he points out that trials by court martial have nearly doubled during the past year and a large share of the responsibility for this condition he lays to the fact that since the abolishment of cauteens, saloons of the lowest type have been established just outside the military reservations where they are not subject to any sort of regulations. Soldiers who would be satisfied with a glass or two of beer at a cauteen, will go to these dives and remain until all their wages are gone, overstay their leave or engaged in an altercation. The owners of these resorts are in business for the soldier's money and they do not hesitate at the depths of debauchery to which they are compelled to resort to obtain it. A janteen under army regulations, the receipts of which go toward the benefit of the soldiers, are moral institutions in comparison. Reformers should make a note of it.

The Des Moines "Capital" calls attention to the fact that there is not much difference between the tariff revision plans of the platform adopted this year by the Democrats of Illinois and the Republicans of Idaho. Both call for revision on the ground that the present tariff shelters trusts and monopolies. The Idaho platform concedes all the points raised by the Democrats and is essentially Democratic. The tariff revision plank of the Iowa Republican platform faces in the same direction, though not so candid and outspoken in its concession of the Democratic claim that trusts are fostered and sheltered by the Dingley tariff. On this point the "Capital" says:

Republicans will find that if they educate people to believe that a little tariff revision is right the people will conclude that entire tariff revision is right and will vote the Democratic ticket. Every man now advocating tariff revision, no matter what his reasons are, is helping to give the Democratic party a new birth.

This statement is one of simple fact. There is no case on record in which inter-party tariff agitation has led to disastrous results to the party in power. The reason is plain. When a party begins to exhibit distrust as to the soundness of its own principles and to raise a hue and cry about the need of "reform," the practical working out of reform is always intrusted to another party. Persistence for the next two years on the part of the "progressive" in their clamor for tariff reform will unfailingly result in the defeat of the Republican party in the Presidential campaign of 1904. Even now the mischief makers have garvly imperilled the success of the Republican party in this year's Congressional elections. If they keep up their agitation the finish of Republicanism and Protectionism is not hard to see.—American Economist.

8 Cents

Eight cents a pound is what a young woman paid for twelve pounds of flesh.

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing, for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little free.

COLLEGE.

Mr. Dufur of Fairfax, S. D., Mr. Hibbs of Cherry Co., Mr. Bell of Wayne, and Mr. Powell of Pierce, are recent marriagates.

A. E. Little came in from Carroll on his wheel Saturday. He is enjoying his work in the Carroll school and therefore we may expect good reports from that quarter.

John Wilson, principal-elect at Belden, dropped in on college folk Saturday. His work at Belden begins next week, the school building at present receiving some modification.

Miss Anna Meek leaves for Omaha today where she will remain a few days and then go to her home at Hicksville, Ohio. Her going is a matter of sincere regret in the N. N. C. household.

G. A. Hall writes from Atlanta that his school year there has opened up satisfactorily. With twenty-one classes to handle, we expect the turf will fly even more vigorously in G. A.'s territory than it did during his N. N. C. days.

J. G. Miner on his recent return from a visit to Yellowstone Nat'l Park, brought a number of mineralogical specimens which he kindly turned over to the college cabinet. Such remembrances as this are always appreciated.

Mrs. E. B. and Howard Young were present at chapel exercises last Thursday. The latter gave a most excellent talk, more than sustaining the reputation he had acquired as a chapel talker, when a few years ago he spent some months in our city.

President Schell, of York college, spent a few hours Tuesday inspecting the dormitories. They contemplate the erection of a structure of that kind at York soon, hence this visit to the N. N. C. plant. Prof. Schell pays high compliment to the courteous department of our students.

"Ah, if only I were beautiful how happy life would be!"

Many a forlorn maid has said this as she looked into the mirror. For beauty is the one possession in the lottery of human life which women would not refuse.

BRADFIELD'S Female Regulator

For young girls on the threshold of womanhood, has been invaluable. When they become pale and languid, the eyes dull, aching head, feet and hands cold, appetite gone or abnormal, obstructed periods and painful menses, and their systems generally run down, they need building up, and this is particularly valuable and useful owing to its tonic properties to build up the system and act as a regulator of the menstrual flow. Painful, obstructed and suppressed menstruation permanently relieved and all diseases peculiar to her genital organs are cured by it.

Regulator clears the complexion, brightens the eyes, relieves the appetite, removes mummy and blotched conditions of the skin and cures sick headache to a certainty by purifying the blood.

Of druggists $1.00 per bottle.
"Perfect Health and Happiness" is free and will be mailed on receipt of address.

The Rev. C. N. Dawson, who has served longer in Omaha than any other minister of the evangelical denominations, has been transferred from the Seward Street, Methodist Episcopal church, to Wayne, Neb., where he assumes charge of the finest church building of the faith in Nebraska outside of Omaha and Lincoln.

The Rev. William Gorst, presiding elder of the Neligh district, and for twenty-three years a Methodist minister in Nebraska, has been assigned to the Seward Street church. The two ministers and their families will make the change during the next fortnight.

The Rev. Mr. Dawson came to Nebraska from Illinois as a young man, sixteen years ago. For fifteen years he has been an active clergyman in Omaha, having charge of the Tenth Street church three years, South Omaha First church five years, Walnut Hill five years, and Seward Street church two years.

He built the first church in South Omaha, and under his pastorage debts were paid from the Tenth street and Walnut Hill churches. The membership of the South Omaha church was increased from 110 to 425; that of the Walnut Hill church from 100 to 300; and that of the Seward Street church from 287 to 400 during his incumbency. — Omaha Daily News.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT!

A glass of beer for 2 cents, worth 5 cents; 34 pounds of sugar for $1, worth $2; a ton of coal for $3.50, worth $7, 12 spoils of thread for 25 cents, worth 50 cents; kerosene oil, 7 cents a gallon, worth 15 cents; sirloin steak six cents a pound, worth 12 cents; wheat 25 cents a bushel, worth 50 cents.

If you saw an advertisement in the Omaha papers like the above would you believe it. We know that no one would believe a merchant that advertised these goods at half price. Why will anyone believe that they can buy clothing at half price? If you go to Sioux City or Omaha and want to buy any of the above goods they will ask you as much as do the Wayne merchants. If you go to a clothing store you will see goods on display marked at half price. Did you ever stop to think why they sell goods that you cannot tell the value of at half price, and charge just as much for staple goods as Wayne merchants do? The fact is, they sell clothing no cheaper than we do and often you will find our price less. We stand ready to duplicate any article you can buy in Sioux City or Omaha or at Montgomery Ward's, at the price it will cost you to send for it. Of course if you prefer to buy away, that is your own business and we have no reason to complain, but it will be a pleasure for us to show you our goods before you send away, even if you decide after seeing our goods to buy elsewhere. You may have failed to get what you wanted in Wayne heretofore, but this store is now so complete that you will find what you want. No matter if you have traded here, we ask you to call and see this store since we have enlarged it. If you have never been in our store step in and see what we have. You need not buy anything unless you want to, but we are anxious to have you see our store. It will do you no harm and it will please us to see you in this store. You are invited to visit us. Will you come?

MINERS ARE STILL CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

The strikers are hopeful and look upon it as only a matter of time when the operators will be compelled to yield.

As the result of disturbances in Lock-Awanda County, where non-union miners were attacked by strikers, the Thirtieth regiment of the National Guard was called out to suppress the growing lawlessness. Attacks upon non-union men have become frequent in the district. Strikers, feeling that the situation was becoming too serious for them to deal with, appealed to Gov. Stone for the militia. The Thirtieth regiment of Scranton was immediately ordered out.

Throughout the entire anthracite region there is a very bitter feeling against the operators. The miners have refused to work and their families. A strong boycott is applied wherever practicable, and the boycott enters into every phase of life. Thus in Wilkes-Barre, Sunday the members of a Sunday school class refused to sit on the bench with a girl whose father is "locking" it. Children have refused to attend school for some what similar reasons, and applicants for the position of teacher have failed of appointment for the sole reason that they belong to families some of whose members were working in the coal mines.

Members of the Women's League in an effort to help the miners, are distributing leaflets to the miners as well as to the general public. The leaflets are distributed to the miners as well as to the general public. The leaflets are distributed to the miners as well as to the general public. ### Some idea of the needs of the party convening at the headquarters of the party in New York is gained from the fact that when the dining car was started on its travels it was stocked with or took on afterward a total of 250 pounds of beef, 100 of lamb, 75 of ham, 25 of tongue, 120 of chicken, 50 of goose, 35 of turkey, one bushel of chops, three crates of potatoes, 100 pounds of butter, several gallons of cream. The list is well nigh interminable. Ten gallons of spring water are drunk every day and about 100 gallons of water are used in cooking.

One of the five cavalry regiments now in the Philippines has been ordered home on the suggestion of Gen. Chaffee, who says it can be spared. The War Department is in a quandary as to where to put the returning troops, as all the cavalry posts are crowded in consequence of the organization of a large number of additional battalions of artillery authorized by the War Department. Until more barracks can be built the cavalry will be housed in tents.

The new 10-cent stamp which the Postoffice Department is about to issue will bear the likeness of President Harrison. The new stamp is demanded by the numerous libraries in foreign countries and will satisfy a long felt want. # NO GOVERNOR ELECTED. The Unique Political Situation That Exists in Vermont.

Vermont presents a unique political situation in consequence of the failure of the electors to cast a majority of their ballots for any of the four nominees for Governor. The law requires a majority over all candidates; in other States a plurality is sufficient. The defection from the regular Republican nominee, McCallough, to the bolting Republican, Clement, and the large number of Democratic votes cast for the latter, which surpassed all expectations, gave Clement within a few thousand of the number of votes needed by McCallough. Add to his vote that of the prohibition law, and also that of the Democratic nominee, McCallough, and the large number of Democratic votes cast for the latter, which surpassed all expectations, gave Clement within a few thousand of the number of votes needed by McCallough.

THE POLITICAL KID.

Gov. William A. Stone of Tennessee in an interview has advocated compulsory arbitration of labor disputes.

In an interview given in Cleveland, Mayor Tom L. Johnson emphatically declared having no aspirations for the Presidency.

A meeting in Faneuil Hall, Boston, called to urge the settlement of the coal strike by mediation, ended by passing and endorsing resolutions endorsing government ownership and operation of the mines.

The registration of votes in Alabama, under the new anti-fraud provision, shows that 50,000 negroes were disenfranchised while an increase of nearly 80,000 white voters indicates that the new law has accomplished its purpose.

Senator Morgan of Alabama, in a letter to the Washington Post, strongly advocated the taxation by Congress of all engaged in combination to control prices and injure the public welfare.

In a speech delivered before the Utah Republican State convention, United States Senator Beveridge spoke of the advantages of trusts, saying they are necessary to meet modern requirements, and denying that they were fostered by art.

As a result of the failure to elect a governor in Vermont a change in the election law is being agitated. The present law requires a candidate to get a majority of all votes cast and in consequence a number of towns are now without representation in the Legislature.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, in a speech at Portland, Me., advocated that the tariff be taken off the list of subjects to be brought up at the next session of the Senate.

Those St. Louis hoodlums did a very foolish job of robbing the city. Speculatively they were the only ones who exhibited at the world's fair for 40 in their town in 1904.—Charleston Post.

Before Mrs. W. J. Bryan's death she had a will for the association that she never would be buried in the same grave as her husband. The majority of women are quite particular in this point.—Pittsburgh Times.

The latest fad of trusts is a combination of manufacturers of candy with a total of $9,000,000. This is a case of a trust's sweetness long drawn out, or enough. Will it stick?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

President Roosevelt must be growing a physical dimorphism at an enormous rate. The Chicago reports that "at present" the President is "a little over six feet tall" and "a little over 150 pounds."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Gov. Hogg and ex-Senator Towne, once foes of the common people, have merged their oil properties. The style of the corporation may be either Hogg-Towne or Towne-Hogg and still be appropriate and melodious.—Baltimore Herald.

It is not only in the coal regions that the fight will be more bitter than anywhere else. The water approach, every day it is becoming harder and harder on the householders of every community relying on anthracite for heat. Still President Baer says there is nothing to arbitrate. Who is entitled to a second thought?—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ROOT TALKS AT PEORIA.

Secretary of War Star Order at Republican Rally.

Ellis Root, Secretary of War, was the star speaker at the Republican rally at Peoria, Ill. He devoted his speech to a defense of the administration policy of the Philippines and an appeal to support the President's re-election to Congress this fall.

"Our position in the Philippines today is far better than the most sanguine American could reasonably have expected in those days when the United States Democratic press and Democratic leaders were joining with the Republicans in the declaration that the insurrection must be put down."

"Before the American people determine whether they will withdraw from the Philippines, which has done these things the power to maintain its effective action, and hamper it by an adverse majority in the House of Representatives, I would like to have them understand and consider what part the Democratic party has played in this history."

PUPILS BRING OWN FUEL.

Milwaukee School Children Carry Two Stacks of Wood Back.

In the city of Milwaukee, Wis., the school children are being led to such an extent that the children have been compelled to furnish their own fuel. Wood boxes have been placed in the back yards and the teachers have asked each child to bring two stacks of wood each day so that the barracks may be heated.

In Philadelphia a herd of wild geese, estimated to be 1,000, was seen on the Schuylkill river. The birds were put up to $15, and there were many demands for the price. Many customers were waiting to buy the geese. The birds were put up to $15, and there were many demands for the price. Many customers were waiting to buy the geese.

CEAR AND THE TRUSTS.

Mr. White conceived the idea of an international conference.

Mr. White, the Russian minister of finance, is credited with being not only the greatest believer in Russia, but also the greatest believer in trusts.

Mr. White says the United States is something to Americans, no representative of whom, by the way, was invited to the conference. In our dealings with the trusts we are not familiar with "depression in prices." On the contrary, we are familiar with "depression in prices." # Contagious Blood Poison

Is the name sometimes given to what is generally known as the BAD DISEASE. It is not confined to dens of vice or the lower classes. The poorest and best people are sometimes infected with this awful malady through handling the clothing, drinking from the same vessels, using the same toilet articles, or otherwise coming in contact with persons who have contracted it.

It begins usually with a little blisters or sores, then swelling in the groin, a red eruption breaks out on the body, sores and ulcers appear in the mouth, the throat becomes ulcerated, the hair, eye brows and lashes fall out; the blood becoming more contaminated, copper colored spots and pustular eruptions and sores appear upon different parts of the body, and the poison even destroys the bones.

Ten years ago I contracted a bad case of Blood Poison. I was under treatment of a physician until I found that he could do me no good. Then began taking S. S. S. I commenced to improve at once and in a very short time all evidence of the disease disappeared. I took six bottles and today am sound and well.

R. M. Wall, Morristown, Tenn.

S. S. S. is a Specific for this loathsome disease, and cures it even in the worst form. It is a perfect antidote for the powerful virus that pollutes the blood and penetrates to all parts of the system. Unless you get this poison out of your blood it will ruin you, and bring disgrace and disease upon your children, for it can be transmitted from parent to child. S. S. S. contains no mercury or potash, but is guaranteed a strictly vegetable compound.

Write for our free home treatment book and learn all about Contagious Blood Poison. If you want medical advice give us a history of your case, and our physicians will furnish all the information you wish without any charge whatever.

A Missouri editor went on a vacation and left a minister in charge of his paper. A day or two later a letter came from "a way back" subscriber, which read: "You know I well I paid my subscription the last time I was in your town. If I get another letter will come down and mail hell out of you." The minister answered "I have been trying to mail that thing out of him for years, and if you really come down and mail it out of him, then my dear sir I have twenty members of my church you can operate on."—Ex.

Every one who has a taste for adventure—and there are few who have not—will be interested in an illustrated article "Climbing the Scotch Alps" which appears in the Cosmopolitan for October. Mountaineers are wont to complain that most of the well known peaks are so closely patrolled by guides that the risk and the necessity for self-reliance which form so large a part of the pleasure of a climb, are done away with. In the rugged Scotch Alps described by the author, the fascination of Nature unadorned may still be found.

Friday's State Journal had the following to say of Niessenfeld, the Pierce county murderer. "It was reported from the penitentiary yesterday that Gottlieb Niessenfeld, the Pierce county murderer, was much better. He is not suffering a great deal of pain, but his wounds trouble him much when he moves in his bed. He is confined in the hospital. He is willing to talk about his crime, but thus far the attendants have not encouraged him to do so. He has not been questioned a great deal. One of the prison attendants called on him the other day and asked about his wounds. Niessenfeld did not show much concern over them. He calmly turned down his bed covering and exhibited the marks of the bullets fired at him by his captors.

It is said the danger of blood poisoning is rapidly passing and the belief is expressed that he will get well."

Wanted

erate bargain-busting woman in the world would not look for a bargain baby. She would want the best baby that could be bought, regardless of price.
Every woman naturally craves a healthy, handsome child, and her craving can be gratified if she will but remember that the child's health is her own gift, and to give health she must have it to give. Mothers whose babies have been weak and puny have nursed in strength their first strong child after using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the best preparative for maternity, encouraging the appetite, quieting the nerves and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.

"My wife had been sick nearly all her life," says Mr. E. F. Fricke, of Petersburg, Menard Co., Illinois, Box 307, "and after trying everything I could think of, made up my mind to try 'Favorite Prescription.' I got six bottles, with my wife took a tablespoonful three times a day, until the baby came. She felt better after taking the first bottle, and when baby was born he weighed nine and a half pounds. Today he is six months old and weighs twenty-two pounds. He is as good a child as any one could wish. The doctor says he is as healthy as any baby could be, and also says the use of your 'Favorite Prescription' was the cause of such a healthy baby."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best and safest laxative for the use of delicate women.

When some one you dislike uses your name often in speaking to you, don't you learn to hate it!

Look Out For Fever

Biliousness and liver disorders at this season may be prevented by changing the system with DeWitt's Little Early Risers. These famous little pills do not gripe. They move the bowels gently, but copiously, and by reason of the tonic properties, give tone and strength to the glands. L. P. Orth.

The girls named Lillie never agree on the spelling. Some spell it Lilly, others Lily, and others Lillie.

America's Famous Beauties

Look with horror on Skin Eruptions, Blisters, Sores, Pimples. They don't have them, nor will any one, who use Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanishes before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains. Infallible for Piles. 25c at L. P. Orth's drug store.

If you spend all your time talking about the other fellow's dishonesty, he will score before you get to first base.

Forty Years Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might well cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. L. P. Orth.

Over-kirts are coming back. This is a fashion note that should be broken gently, the same as the announcement of a loss of money.

Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have in my store," writes druggist C. T. Smith, of Davis, Ky., "is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from Throat and Lung diseases, who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best physicians prescribe it, and L. P. Orth, guarantee satisfaction or refund price. Trial bottles free. Regular sizes, 50c and $1.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Grandall, of Troy, I. T., writes: "For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers from indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. L. P. Orth."

We hope that in the rush to celebrate a corn crop, the importance of making good corn bread will not be overlooked.

His Life In Peril

"I just seemed to have gone all to pieces," writes Alfred Bee, of Welfare, Tex., "illness and a lame back had made life a burden. I couldn't get to work and felt almost too worn out to work when I used Eucalypti Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sticky, run-down people. Try them. Only 50c at L. P. Orth's drug store.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

The following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Nebraska, as hereinafter set forth in full, is submitted to the electors of the State of Nebraska, to be voted upon at the general election to be held Tuesday, November 4, A. D. 1902.
